Mississippi Racial Demonstrations Subside

16,000 Gather for Meredith March in Jackson Sunday

Jackson, Miss. — Racial marches across Mississippi which were begun by James Meredith and precipitated others into action when he was ambushed along a highway, came to a climax here as some 16,000 marchers gathered in the state capitol here Sunday.

James H. Meredith told the Mississippi marchers Sunday "the fear that grips the Negro in America to his very bones" must be erased if civil rights are to be won.

He spoke at the climax of the marathon march behind Mississippi's Capitol, an imposing limestone structure ringed by heavily armed police and national guardsmen.

Officers estimated 16,000 Negroes and a few hundred whites finished the march and packed the Capitol grounds.

They were led by Meredith, the slender, intense man who is a hero figure to Mississippi Negroes, and a cluster of national civil rights leaders who included Dr. Martin Luther King.

Pleasure

Civil rights leaders, shouting out their pleasure at the crowd, said it ranked as the third largest march in civil rights history, behind the 1964 march on Washington and the 1965 hike from Selma to Montgomery, Ala.

A white man shoved a marcher—Justice Michael A. Musmano of the Supreme Court of Pennsylvania—from his lawn and then dashed into his house as more than a 100 Negroes surged toward him.

Thing in Miss.

Musmano, 68, who walked the entire 8 miles Sunday, said he stopped the chiding marchers, saying, "No, no, I'm grateful for that push. It was just what I needed to keep me going."

"There's a thing in Mississippi that is preventing white people from being decent," cried Meredith, speaking into a forest of microphones on a platform of a flatbed truck.

"That thing is white supremacy."

Michigan Law--Race Fairness in Textbooks

Lansing, Mich. — Michigan's schools must pay close attention in the future to the treatment their textbooks give minority groups.

Ethnic and racial fairness in textbooks became state policy under a law signed by Gov. George Romney Thursday, June 22.

The law states:

"Whenever the authorities of any private, parochial or public schools of the state are selecting or approving textbooks which cover social studies (they) shall give special attention to see that the textbook fairly includes the recognition of the achievements and accomplishments of the ethnic and racial groups."

School authorities are directed to "select those which fairly include such achievements and accomplishments."

The law, which grants the state no specific power to ban any books, provides no penalty and carries no enforcement clause. Its primary objective, supporters say, is moral persuasion.

Named by Vice-President Humphrey

Washington — Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey June 22 appointed Ofied Dukes, 33, a former Detroit newspaper man, to his staff to do policy and legislative research and writing.

Prior to coming to Washington in April, 1964, to join the staff of the President's Committee on Equal Opportunity, Mr. Dukes was Assistant to the Editor-General Manager of The Michigan Chronicle, a Detroit Negro weekly newspaper.

He was graduated from Wayne State University in 1958, with a B.A. degree in Journalism. From 1958 to 1961, he served as News Director of WCHB Radio in Inkster, Michigan.

With the President's Committee on Equal Opportunity, Mr. Dukes was Assistant Director of Information. Following the abolition of the Committee last fall, he served as an Information Officer with the government-industry sponsored Plans for Progress program. More recently, he has worked on the staff of the White House Conference "To Fulfill These Rights" as an Assistant Director of Information.

Simon Estes Takes Second in Contest in Moscow, Russia

Moscow, Russia — Simon Estes, Des Moines basso, who thrilled his large audience at a concert a month ago in his hometown, Sunday took second place in the Tchaikovsky International Music Contest.

The audience at the Sunday finals shouted "bravo" and "first prize, first prize," when Estes sang his last round of arias.

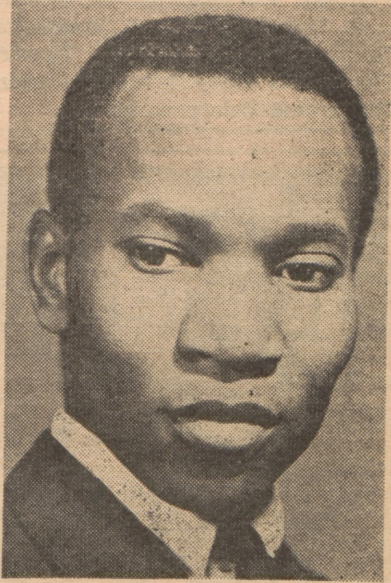

Estes won special favor for his rendering in Russian of an aria from Tchaikovsky's opera "Eugen Onegin."

Studied at U. of I.

He studied music at the University of Iowa at Iowa City and the Juilliard School in New York. He has sung with the Berlin and Rome Opera Companies and is under contract to the State Opera Theater in Luebeck, Germany.

Each finalist has to sing three arias — one by Tchaikovsky and two of his own choice.

Estes is the son of Mrs. Ruth Estes, 2502 Woodland avenue in Des Moines. He was reared in Centerville, where he was graduated from high school, and later attended the University of Iowa, Iowa City. He calls Des Moines his home town.

Ganaway Fatally Shot in Argument Over Car Damages

Fenton Kinchlow, 41, of 922 9th street, was arraigned on an open charge of murder Monday morning before Municipal Judge Howard Brooks. He is accused of the fatally shooting of Clifford Ganaway, Jr., also of the same address in a second-floor apartment. Kinchlow pleaded innocent to the charge and is being held in jail pending a preliminary hearing on July 14.

After the shooting which is believed to have taken place about 4:30 p.m. Sunday, Ganaway was taken to Broadlawn Polk County Hospital where he died about 2½ hours later, of a gunshot wound in the head.

An argument over car damages allegedly preceded the shooting.

When police arrived they found Kinchlow in the apartment and took him into custody for questioning. A .38-caliber pistol, believed to be the weapon used, was found in the apartment, police said.

While Swimming Back and Forth From Center Island With Two Older Boys

A 14-year-old Washington Irving Junior high school student drowned Wednesday afternoon, June 21 while swimming with two friends in the gravel pit at S.E. 30th street and the Burlington Railroad tracks.

Lawrence Edward Day, a ward of an aunt, Mrs. Marvella Durden, 915 15th street, had gone to the gravel pit across S.E. 30th from Sunset Beach with Mike Collier, 17, of 2742 Maury street, and William Forbush, 15, of 914 S.E. 27th street, according to Patrolman Max Claycomb.

Under Water

Dr. Leo Luka, Polk County medical examiner, was told that the boys were swimming to and from an island in the deep pit.

Mike and William told Claycomb they had started swimming back to the south bank of the pit, looked back and saw the younger boy was "under the water."

Police and a Fire Department rescue crew were called at 5:15 p.m.

Recovered Body

Patrolman Marvin Stookey, in a police rescue boat with Patrolman James Hoskins and Richard J. Bradford, recovered the body with a grappling hook in about 25 feet of water about 6:15 p.m.

Legal Defense Fund Takes Martin King Contempt Case to the U.S. Supreme Court

Washington — The NAACP Legal Defense and Educational Fund, Inc. has asked the U.S. Supreme Court to review the Birmingham, Ala. contempt convictions of Rev. Martin Luther King and seven other civil rights leaders.

Injunction

Legal Defense Fund attorneys seek to overturn an Alabama Supreme Court ruling that held that Dr. King and his associates might be punished for disobeying an injunction issued to prohibit demonstration marches.

The petition argues the key principle that, although citizens must obey an injunction, if it is valid, citizens should not have to obey injunctions which prevent the exercise of constitutional rights of freedom of speech and assembly.

Famous Case

The attorneys point to the famous case of the late John L. Lewis, former president of the United Mine Workers.

This present case grew out of the famous Good Friday and Easter Sunday 1963 demonstrations of the Southern Christian Leadership Conference and the Alabama Christian Movement for Human Rights.

Leaders

Convicted leaders, in addition to Dr. King, include Rev. Ralph Abernathy, Wyatt Tee Walker, A. D. King (brother of Dr. King), Fred L. Shuttlesworth, also J. W. Hayes, T. L. Fisher and J. T. Porter.

Legal Defense attorneys point out that Birmingham civil rights leaders did attempt to secure parade permits prior to beginning demonstrations. These were denied by Police Chief Eugene "Bull" Connor.

President Johnson Warns Hospitals To Obey the Civil Rights Law

Washington, (Special) — President Lyndon B. Johnson told medical and hospital leaders at a White House Conference Wednesday that the answer to problems that hospitals face in connection with the Civil Rights law is a very simple one: "Obey the law."

The President spoke on the problems that may arise as the Administration makes ready to launch Medicare. He said:

"One of them arises from compliance with the Civil Rights law. In some communities, older people may be deprived of Medicare benefits because their hospitals fail to give equal treatment to all citizens. We believe the answer to that problem is a simple one: "Obey the law."

Earlier the President indicated that a majority of the hospitals were ready to comply with the law.

The 15, identified by the FBI as Klansmen, were indicted on two counts each — conspiring to intimidate Dahmer and other Negroes because of their efforts to vote, and actually intimidating them.

The purpose of the march that I started three weeks ago today was to point up and challenge the thing at the base of the system—fear. A fear that grips the Negro in America to his very bones."

Didn't Stop

Meredith pointed out that he was shot on the second day of his march "but as you can see here, that didn't end a thing."

The rally, he added, would let Gov. Paul B. Johnson and President Johnson know that "we are not going to let it (white supremacy) live on, being blamed on a few whites in Mississippi."

Prior to arriving in Jackson the marchers had been beaten and attacked in other towns in Mississippi.

Benton—The Mississippi march to promote Negro voter registration fanned out on several fronts Thursday following reports of another gunfire-explosive incident Wednesday night.

Bomb

At Canton, which is in the line of march, Police Chief Dan Thompson said a bomb went off near civil rights headquarters Wednesday night.

A white man was shot, and a Negro leader, C. O. Chinn, was arrested, Thompson said. The white man was not identified, nor was the extent of his injury available.

Tents

Canton, Miss. — Mississippi highway patrolmen routed 2,500 civil rights demonstrators with a thick fog of tear and irritant gas Thursday night after the demonstrators attempted to pitch camping tents on public school property.

"You will not be allowed to erect the tents — if you do you will be removed," troopers barked over microphones two minutes before hurling canister after canister of gas.

In reply to a query which I made as to the location of Evans, Iowa, comes a reply from Mr. LeRoy Bird of Denver, Colo. Quote: "In your write-up in 'The Bystander' of June 9th issue, you speak of where is Evans, Iowa for the lady. Being I am a native of Knoxville, Ia., in my early days of 1900 we called Evans,
Ia.—Knoxville Junction. The Rock
Island had a train from Washington,
Ia. daily to Knoxville, round trip. A person could change at Knoxville
Junction or Evans, for Des Moines.
We were on it at times for Oskaloosa or other towns. Miss Barber (now Mrs. Francis Young) would know that, unless she is a youngster today, she would also know where Otley or Monroe was, and Oskaloosa was close to her town. It was south of Evans." Thanks to Mr. Bird, of 2048 Lafayette, Denver. Hope this glimpse into the early history of Iowa is gratifying to former Iowans.

How To Drink Milk . . .

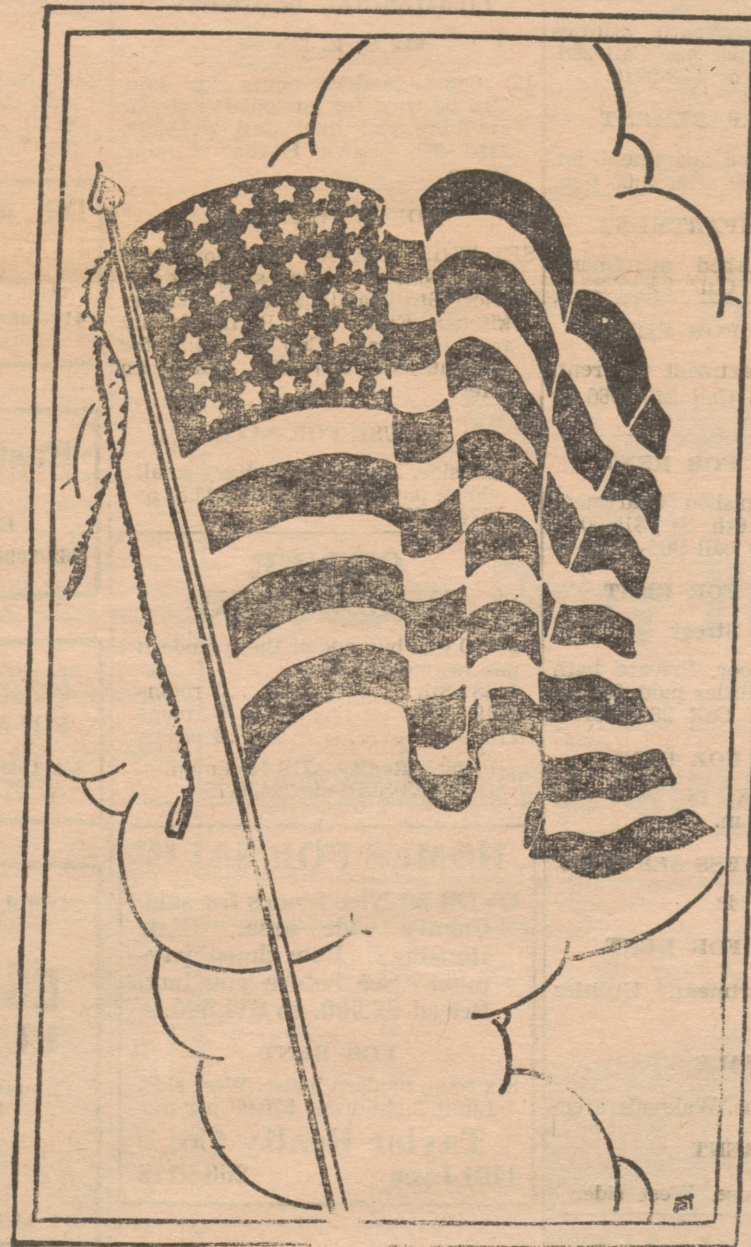

MILK is by far the healthiest and most popular food. In the U.S. the annual consumption of MILK is over 300 lbs. per person . . . However, did you know that there is a RIGHT and WRONG way to drink it?

When milk reaches the stomach, it curdles into a semi-solid matter—if gulped down, it settles in a lumpy curd—difficult to digest. When sipped slowly it is easily processed by the digestive juices of your system . . . So milk should be taken in small sips—the same as one sips wine.

Your body depends greatly upon your diet . . . but greater health of course, requires more than just food . . . at WILLIAMS PHARMACY you'll find a complete array of needs for a healthy body. WILLIAMS PHARMACY is truly your community's Health-Center! . . . with the latest of medical supplies, fresh and available at all times . . . You'll find Personalized Prescription Service . . . Skin-Care Aids . . . Cosmetics . . . Baby Needs . . . Invalid and Hospital Supplies . . . and more . . . You'll find prices always reasonable at WILLIAMS PHARMACY, 1003 University Avenue, Phone: 243-1253.

THE FLAG REPRESENTS FREEDOM
THE INDIVIDUAL HAS A RESPONSIBILITY TO MAINTAIN THAT FREEDOM

America has made tremendous progress since 1776—much because it protected the freedom of its citizens; much because its citizens have accepted that responsibility which is required that freedom shall endure.

Each citizen can and should carry out his responsibility to the end that all America will stand fast for its original concept—justice and freedom for all.

THE MEREDITH MARCH;
GLAD IT'S OVER

The gas sent men, women and children running and crying from the tents that they were trying to erect for members of the civil rights march through Mississippi.

From 25 to 50 white and Negro demonstrators buried their faces in the grass at McNeil Elementary School for Negroes and remained in the blanket of gas until gun-wielding state troopers moved in with gas masks, grabbed them by the feet and hands and dragged them into the streets that surround the school.

In an excited rally in a Negro church hours after the tear gas attack, Dr. Martin Luther King, Jr., called for a march through the dark streets to protest the police action. The meredith march glad it's over

There are some things we are glad to see finished — the Memphis to Jackson march is one. And while the objectives were commendable, the whole thing was loaded with chances for ugly incidents. Fortunately, the most serious did not occur.

Two things developed which don't ring well and are bound to slow progress:

(1) That radical element led by Carmichael, head of the Student Non-Violent Committee, felt called upon to deride all white people in Mississippi and (2) the exclusions of the NAACP from its final Sunday program.

It is fine to put backbone in people who have lived in fear all their lives, but it is foolish to assume that Negroes could do as well as they have without the help of many good white people in Mississippi. It is shortsighted and ignorant to ignore the NAACP which in 50 years has succeeded in banning segregation by law, has established a firm footing for more equal justice in the courts, has gained the respect of most people of sound thinking.

In any movement there are extremists on both the radical and conservative end. Neither one can produce a sound course. However, somewhere between these extremes we strike a compromise. This is true in most things in life.

Neither side must be allowed to set the pace otherwise dire consequences can follow.

SOUND PRINCIPLES OF
1776 STAND TODAY

Today, there are more nations, more people crying for freedom than ever before. Resistance by the power structure and in many cases, the ignorant, has come to the point where to do so not only brands them outright obstructionists to progress but also goads those seeking freedom to almost uncivilized conduct.

In America, we celebrate Independence Day, July 4, commemorating its independence from Great Britain. It has been a rallying day for those who have developed America into the leading nation on earth. This has been done by hard work, sacrifice and a desire to make this a country of justice and opportunity for all men.

Times have changed, people forget easily. And as a result, many of those things which have made America great are scoffed at, called foggie or are said to interfere with the rights of citizens.

These changes place us in a state of uncertainty — just where and how to go. They leave us insecure.

Of course, we shall never get back to doing things as we did in 1776 but the principles which guided those early settlers stand today.

THESE ARE TROUBLE-
MAKERS WHEREVER FOUND

The Des Moines city council has undertaken to do something about the practice of young people who fill the downtown streets with cars at night, often blocking traffic, annoying other motorists and in some cases jumping in other cars.

This practice has been going on a long time with little done by the police department to stop it.

The investigation should go further and look into other neighborhoods, particularly Center Street.

Last week, a blasting report was made that a car containing four white men was stopped, one occupant was cut and another robbed.

The matter was quieted down quickly because it developed that these men had made numerous trips up and down Center Street calling the people standing on the street ugly names.

They decided to put a stop to this conduct by blocking the street off with a car so that when the car with the four men drove up again they were forced to stop. They were given a beating but used this sob story to cover up their own misconduct.

Squad cars are patrolling the streets day and night. There is no excuse for allowing these pockets of misbehavior to develop and injure one city.

Sports Kernels

FOOTBALL

Pittsburgh: Former Pittsburgh Steelers end Lowell Perry this fall will become the first Negro to broadcast National Football League games when he teams up with Joe Tucker behind the microphone for CBS-Pittsburgh. Tucker will do the play-by-play and Perry, the color, for all local games. Lowell's playing career was ended when he suffered a crushed pelvis when Roosevelt Grier, the huge New York Giant star, fell on him.

Tom Williams, former Grambling (La.) university backfield coach, was named a special representative in public relations and scouting for the Houston Oilers in Houston and became the first Negro to hold such a position with the American Football League grid team.

Irv Cross, Philadelphia Eagles defensive end, achieved integration in housing by strategy last week when he purchased a $10,000 plot of land in suburban Newton Square through a middle man and then saw the deal upheld as valid by a local judge. The former owner, Rudolph Hirsch, charged in court that the deal was "fraudulent" because he was misled, but Judge Henry G. Sweeney ruled that the land was "re-deeded" legally. What's more, he ordered Hirsch to pay court costs.

BOXING

New York: Lippy heavyweight champion Cassius Clay is not tops but merely the third best fighter in the world, according to his chief contemporaries, Ernie Terrell and Doug Jones. After signing to fight for the World Boxing Association version of the title, June 28, each fighter said he considered the other as "a better fighter" than Clay.

Emile Griffith, who surprised the flistic world recently by dethroning former middleweight champion Dick Tiger, has signed to defend his new laurels against spoiler Joey Archer in Madison Square Garden, July 13.

Rule Sallis Took Own Life
In Waterloo Jail Hanging

Waterloo, Ia.—In its official report Tuesday night, the Iowa Civil Rights Commission ruled that Eddie Sallis, 23, committed suicide by hanging in the Waterloo City Jail. Sallis died June 1 after he was arrested by police as a burglary suspect.

The Waterloo Human Rights Commission demanded an investigation of the Sallis death and of alleged police brutality in the case of Sallis and a companion, Howard Sanders.

300 at Meeting

James Thomas, executive director of the Iowa Civil Rights Commission, read the detailed eight-page, single-spaced report at a two-hour meeting held at Grant School.

About 300 persons, most of them Negroes, attended. Questions and comments that followed indicated some in the crowd were not satisfied with the report.

Said Thomas of alleged police brutality in the case:

Insensitivity

"What in this case before us was termed a charge of brutality may have been, perhaps more justifiably, an indictment for insensitivity."

Summing up his conclusions, Thomas said:

"The facts point inescapably to the conclusion that 23-year-old Eddie Sallis on the morning of June 1, 1966, did take his own life in the Waterloo City Jail.

"This conclusion does not, however, answer the question of what motivation could have prompted such an act.

HEALTH FOR ALL

Enjoy and Survive

Vacation time. For some it's a time of genuine ease and relaxation; for others it's the silly season when a whole year's dreams of the strenuous life seek expression in a brief mad fling.

For the latter group it's a time when life is lived dangerously, pleasure pursued painfully, ease cultivated with strenuous labor.

Survival Rate

To be fair about it, the survival rate in vacations is quite high. But the subtle effects in the form of exhausted bodies, charred skin, torn tendons and tattered dispositions are usually considerable. Here, then, are a few timely reminders on how to enjoy an outdoor vacation without really trying.

THE BEACH — Court sunburn gradually: no more than 15 minutes the first day. Don't be fooled by overcast; it can mask but not defuse a murderous sun.

THE WATER — Don't be a hero. Don't swim alone, venture too far out, or dive without making sure the water is as deep as it looks. If you're tired, overheated, or recently fed it's a wonderful time to stay out.

Exercises

SPORTS — Exercise is great, but before playing those extra innings, holes or sets think about how your muscles may hate you in the morning. Watch that midday temperature; convalescing from heat stroke in a summer hotel is poor economics.

NATURE — The city slicker seldom recognizes poison plants until they've recognized him. "Leaves three, let it be" is a handy rule that applies to poison ivy and poison oak. As for snakes, they'll usually let you alone if treated with the respect befitting their station in life.

THE ROAD — Summer is literally the bangup season for highway accidents. Shield your eyes from sun and your mind from impatient haste. If you drink let someone else do the driving, and vice versa.

Your Christmas Seal association, which would like you to go on living free of TB, other respiratory diseases, and vacation trauma, hopes you'll have a whirl.

Clause Stays

Washington, D.C.—The House Judiciary Committee narrowly rejected Tuesday an attempt to strike an open-housing provision from the administration's civil rights bill.

By a reported vote of 17 to 5 in a closed session, the committee kept intact, at least temporarily, the controversial proposal to ban racial discrimination in the sale and rental of housing.

It also defeated several amendments that would have exempted owner-occupied housing from the proposed law, but scheduled another session for later in the day to deal with more such amendments.

The only amendment adopted so far, said Chairman Emanuel Celler (Dem., N.Y.), would exempt housing operated by religious and fraternal groups from the law.

Flag of the free heart's hope and home!

By angel hands to valor given;
Thy stars have lit the welkin dome,
And all thy hues were born in heaven.
Forever float that standard sheet!
Where breathes the foe but falls
before us,
With Freedom's soil beneath our feet,
And Freedom's banner streaming o'er us!

Thoughts for Today

Today I will not imagine what I would do if things were different. They are not different. I will make success with what material I have.

Today I will act toward other people as though this might be my last day on earth. I will not wait for tomorrow. Tomorrow never comes.

Laugh Lines

Just before her young son left to attend a friend's birthday party, his mother cautioned him: "Remember to be a little gentleman. You know what being a little gentleman means, don't you?"

"Yes," replied the lad. "It means I won't have any fun."

Mother was telling her small son about the good times she had when she was a little girl — riding a pony, sliding down haystacks, and wading in a brook at the farm.

"Mother," he sighed, "I wish I'd met you earlier!"
