Basso Simon Estes Given Key to the City

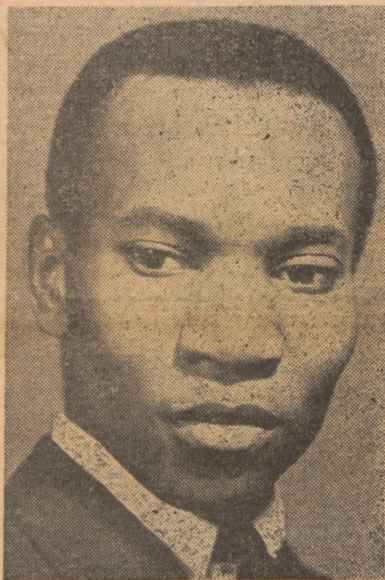

Renowned Singer Is Honored by Des Moines at Reception

Simon Estes, 28-year-old world renowned bass-baritone who calls Des Moines his home, was presented the keys to the city in ceremonies here a week ago today.

Making the presentation of the bronze key was Mayor George Whitmer who said, "We're honored by having a son of Des Moines who has won fame in the musical field in Russia return to Des Moines where he is visiting his family and friends."

"Welcome back, Simon. This key symbolizes our esteem and affection for you."

Estes won third place in the first

ESTES

Tchaikovsky International Vocal contest in Moscow, Russia on June 26.

Complimenting

Also complimenting the talented singer were the Rev. Norman R. Olphin, pastor of the Corinthian Baptist church where Estes sang last May; James Thomas, executive director of the Iowa Civil Rights Commission; and James Clark, representative of Columbia Artists Management, Inc., of New York City, which manages Estes.

Reception

Among the group attending the presentation and reception following in the City Council Chamber, were the singer's mother, Mrs. Ruth Estes and aunt, Mrs. Hazel B. Powell, who share a home at 2502 Woodland avenue; his brother, Dwane, 13, of the same address; sister, Mrs. Jack Tompkins, and her daughter, Linda Sue, 4, of Cedar Rapids, and two cousins, Mrs. Wilma Bolden, 2622 Rollins avenue and Mrs. Cecile Cooper of Davenport.

Young Estes, a well-tailored 6-foot, 1-inch, 165 pounds, was born in Centerville and graduated from high school and junior college there. His serious music study began in 1963 with Charles Kellis at the University of Iowa. He later attended the Juilliard School of Music in New York for a year on a full scholarship.

He has sung with Berlin and Rome opera companies and sang with the Boston Symphony, under the baton of Erich Leinsdorf, at Tanglewood, Mass., July 24.

Others to Appear

Appearing with him in the Boston orchestra's summer concert series and at a Hollywood Bowl concert Aug. 22 will be Jane Marsh, 24, San Francisco, Calif., soprano, who won first prize, and Veronica Tyler, 28, of Baltimore, Md., second-prize winner in the Tchaikovsky contest.

Forest Hills Neighborhood Center Open for Business

Forest Hills Neighborhood center is open for business at its office in Julia B. Mayer community center, 9th and Forest avenue with Howard McVay as co-ordinator.

Two funded programs are already underway, the planned parenthood program and high school equivalency class. Also active in the center is the head start project.

Other projects and programs will be added later. A neighborhood improvement league for youths is getting underway, in which neighborhood teens are asked to volunteer to help. Other volunteers are needed.

If you are interested and have the time and would like to get involved in work that is both rewarding as well as helping your fellow man, call the center, 244-9519 from 8 a.m. until 7.

The Forest Hills Neighborhood Center serves some 13,000 residents in an area bounded by University on the south, Harding road on the west, Hickman road on the north and the river on the east.

Neighborhood workers are Mrs. Norma Fox, 1439 10th street and Mrs. Bonnie Anderson. Betty Miller is a clerical worker.

Council Authorizes Buying Apartment for Oakridge Office

A three-story apartment house will be purchased and opened soon by the city Urban Renewal Department as an office site to aid Oakridge residents whose homes will be rehabilitated rather than demolished.

The City Council Monday authorized the purchase of an apartment house at 1180 1st street for $17,500 for use as the site office. The owner is Rhea Cloe.

Another

Another site office will be established later in the portion of Oakridge that lies south of the Des Moines Freeway.

Staff of 4

Urban Renewal Director Max Krumrey said he hopes the city can move into the site office Friday.

He said the rehabilitation staff will consist of four persons, who will provide Oakridge residents with information on how to improve their homes and bring them up to city code standards.

If you have any questions call the center.

Declares State Employment Office Should Not Serve Employers Who Are Biased

The Iowa Employment Security Commission "should not have to serve an employer who has discriminated regularly against non-whites."

These are the words of James Thomas, executive director of the Iowa Civil Rights Commission who requested that state employment officials "be a little more inquisitive and realistic" in dealing with employers who refuse to hire Negroes but won't admit it.

Variety of Reasons

Thomas said some employers reject Negroes, giving a wide variety of reasons, and ask the state to send more applicants until they are able to fill the positions with whites.

"We should take a look at an employer's past performance before continuing to serve him," Thomas stated.

The civil rights director said that under present state policy, the applicant must file a complaint if he believes he has been discriminated against.

"The state should take the initiative," he said, "and file complaints" in cases where employment officials believe there has been discrimination by an employer against non-white applicants.

Turned Down

When a Negro is turned down, he usually doesn't know if it is for a valid reason," he said. "He's not aware of the employer's history in this area."

Thomas said "a little more dedication is needed by the persons working with job orders to fully implement equal opportunity for all applicants."

"This is an area of major concern to the Iowa Civil Rights Commission," he added.

"Good Response"

Thomas said he has met with representatives of the Employment Security Commission and that "their response is very good."

Russell Pounds of the State Manpower Development Council, said Saturday that "we're concerned about continued service to the employers (by the Employment Security Commission) after that employer has sent in a discriminatory job order."

Thomas and Pounds have requested that the Employment Security Commission report to the State Civil Rights Commission the name of any employer who sends in a whites-only job order.

Kelly said Saturday: "If such an order comes in, the Civil Rights Commission will have it the same day."

Upon completion of recruit training, they will be assigned to a school,

Concessions After Violence On West Side Dies Down; Disturbances Shift to Ohio

Chicago, Ill.—For the second time in less than a year, violence erupted on Chicago's westside, where in the confines of an 800 block area, some 300,000 Negroes are crowded into one of the most hideous slum communities to be found in this nation.

The social eruption, which grew into a riot, ignited after an incident involving the closing of a fire hydrant on the hottest day of the summer.

Dr. King

Ironically, the explosion came two days after the leading advocate of non-violence, Dr. Martin Luther King Jr., had told an audience of some 65,000 persons at Soldier Field:

"We are here today because we are tired. We are tired of being seared in the flames of withering injustice. We are tired of paying more for less. We are tired of living in rat-infested slums and in the Chicago Housing Authority's cement reservations. We are tired of having to pay a median rent of $97 a month in Lawndale for four rooms while whites in South Deering pay $73 a month for five rooms."

City Hall March

The President of the Southern Christian Leadership Conference, whose workers have been active in Chicago for the past six months, led a march to City Hall after the Rally at Soldier Field, where he posted the demands for making Chicago an "Open City" for all men, regardless of race, color, creed or national origin. Dr. King followed through with a requested meeting with Mayor Richard J. Daley on Monday. He and 10 community leaders were turned away from the Mayor's office with empty hands and nothing to take back to the City's oppressed citizens.

Eruption

When the social eruption occurred the next day, the Mayor described the incident as just another act of "juvenile delinquency." However, in the next seven hours, alleged callousness of police officers in handling the situation caused the incident to grow into an eruption of pent-up frustrations that led to arrests and injuries.

More Police

On Wednesday, the police had increased their ranks by several hundred patrolmen and had some 900 officers in the area. The cry of police brutality became a litany. Innocent bystanders were herded from the streets like cattle, and civil rights workers representing SCLC and the Coordinating Council of Community Organizations (CCCO), attempting to restore order in the neighborhood, were accorded the same treatment as rioters by police.

Rioting Worse

Thursday night's rioting grew more intense; scores of children and women were beaten, two persons (one a teenage girl) were killed and several police officers were injured.

Completely ignoring the issues which caused the rioting, 3,000 National Guardsmen were ordered into the area while Dr. King and CCCO Convener, Al Raby, mustered local leaders for a meeting with the Mayor.

Cleveland, Ohio—As violence died down in the Windy City and the long, painful healing process set in, the disturbances shifted to this northern city Monday as two nights of violence flared between police and residents in a heavily populated Negro area.

100 Arrested

At least 60 persons were arrested, raising to more than 100 the number arrested since the rioting started Monday night in a two-square mile section three miles from downtown Cleveland. The area called Hough, contains about 75,000 of this city's estimated 250,000 Negroes. Most are jammed into dilapidated and old apartments.

In Monday night's violence a 26-year-old mother of three was killed in an exchange of gunfire between police and snipers. Mrs. Joyce Arnette, was calling for her children from a second-floor window when she was shot in the head. No one was able to tell where the bullet came from.

2 Killed

During the second night of violence Tuesday a Negro man was shot and killed. He was identified as Percy Giles, 36, of suburban Cleveland Heights. Two Negroes with gunshot wounds and a white man with an eye injury were admitted to the Mount Sinai hospital.

Tuesday's fatal shooting came at an intersection in the worst trouble area where Negro crowds had milled all day in the wake of Monday night's rioting that left a dozen persons injured including six policemen—and heavy property damage.

National Guard

Meanwhile, Gov. James Rhodes issued a proclamation declaring a "state of tumult, riot and other emergency" exists in Cleveland. National Guardsmen were called up, but the 1,000 troops did not reach the area before the new outbreaks.

Residents complaints about lack of city service, rats and poor sanitation in the Hough area reportedly set off the demonstration. Demonstrators once dumped rats on City Hall steps to call attention to conditions in the area.

Negro Magazines

Reborn This Week

New York, N.Y.—"Elegant" and "Elegant-Teen," two monthly magazines that discontinued publication last September, are being reintroduced this week (July 10-16) on newsstands in most major cities through the U.S. under the banner of a new publisher, according to an announcement by Robert O. Powell, publisher and president.

The head of the new Elegant Publishing Co., of New York, said he became "very interested in these two publications as a result of having placed Schenley advertising in the adult-oriented book. I am convinced that there definitely is a need for a slick magazine of general interest that emphasizes the elegant elements in Negro life to appeal to the growing middle income group in the Negro community and for a book that appealed to Negro teenagers. In fact, Elegant-Teen was and now is again the only magazine for the young people of our community."

Conduct Quiet Campaign Here to Integrate Unions

A quiet but persistent campaign is being conducted in the city by the Des Moines Commission on Human Rights to bring more racial integration to Area labor organizations. There is also an effort to supply names of Negro youths to labor organizations who request applicants.

Reactions

Reactions reportedly have varied from angry telephone calls to one promise to make room for a Negro apprentice. The large majority of unions have not officially responded. One commission member tried unsuccessfully to witness union apprentice selection. In addition there has been a "little bit of pressure" to end restrictions in apprentice applicants.

Of 72 labor organizations in Polk County with which the commission has been dealing, only a handful have Negro members.

Recently there have been complaints of racial discrimination in selection of apprentices by some trade unions.

Some complaints involve highly restrictive application policies—such as accepting applications only one day a month.

No Fanfare

Commission Chairman Sol M. Davidson said the commission prefers to work quietly with little fanfare which might stir resentment.

Davidson said most of the work with unions has involved educational efforts and offers of assistance in meeting non-discriminatory guidelines. He added the commission is "pressing just a little bit on dates of application."

Suggest Requests

Requests to unions to liberalize their application dates was suggested at a recent meeting after a report by commission member Richard L. Sirfus, himself a union leader.

Early this week a "checklist on fair union practices" was mailed to the unions by the commission.

The checklist involves eight questions the unions were told they may use to "readily ascertain whether your union has in fact a fair practices program."

Checklist Questions

The checklist involves questions such as, "Is membership in your union open to anyone without regard to race, religion, color, national origin or ancestry and are those who process applications aware of this policy?" and "Do you accept, welcome and encourage the acceptance of minority group youth in your apprenticeship training programs and in-service training programs for upgrading?"

Perry Hooks, commission executive director, said failure to meet checklist requirements might mean the union would be unable to work on federal government jobs.

"It has a direct effect on federal contracts in a community," said Hooks. "We would hate to see anyone lose contracts for not having an integrated work force."

Pleads Innocent In Shooting Case

Mrs. Norma May Fountain, 32, whose address was listed as 1358 Hutton st., Monday pleaded innocent in Polk County District Court to a charge of assault with intent to commit murder, and was released on $2,000 bond.

She was accused in a grand jury indictment of shooting her husband, Euric Fountain, jr., at their home last April 9.

Estes will go to Germany Sept. 1 to sing with the Hamburg Staatsoper in Gunther Schuller's "The Visitation" and will fly back for a Carnegie Hall concert appearance in New York City, Sept. 19.

Aspires to Met

The Hamburg opera company also will sing the Schuller opus at the Metropolitan Opera in New York, said Estes, who aspires some day to join the "Met."

Asked how he happened to enter the Russian competition he said he was invited by the International Institute of Education, a part of the U.S. State Department, to represent America.

In addition to the honor of placing third in the new division of the contest, which started pianist Van Cliburn rocketing to fame when he won it in 1958, Estes was awarded $1,750, but permitted to bring only one-fourth of it out of the country.

Will Not Be Diverted by 'Black Power' Slogan-Wilkins

Los Angeles—The National Association for the Advancement of Colored People will not be diverted from its historic goal—"the inclusion of Negro Americans in the nation's life"—by divisive racist slogans, Roy Wilkins, the Association's executive director, declared in his keynote address delivered at the opening public session of the NAACP's five-day 57th annual convention here, July 5.

Self Defense

To the repeated and thunderous applause of the 2,500 delegates and guests who gathered at the First Methodist Church, the NAACP leader also re-affirmed the Association's longstanding commitment to the right of self-defense but warned against the new cry for retaliatory violence as an instrument of racial advancement. He cited the many instances in which the NAACP provided the legal defense for Negroes accused of shooting back at those who shot at them or otherwise attacked them.

Black Power

The slogan "black power," he said, poses a "serious division in the civil rights movement" in that it clearly implies a difference in goals. "No matter how endlessly they try to explain it," Mr. Wilkins said, "the term 'black power' means anti-white power just as the term 'white supremacy' means the subjugation of non-white people. It is the wicked fanaticism which has taken the blood of our black and white loved ones. It shall not poison our forward march."

Separatism

Separatism, he asserted, "whether on the rarefied debate level of 'black power,' or on the wishful level of a secessionist Freedom City in Watts, offers a disadvantaged minority little except the chance to shrivel and die. It is a reverse Mississippi, a reverse Hitler, a reverse Ku Klux Klan.

"We of the NAACP will have none of this. We have fought it too long. It is the ranging of race against race on the irrelevant basis of skin color. It is the father of hatred and the mother of violence. We seek, therefore, as we have sought these many years, the inclusion of Negro Americans in the Nation's life, not their exclusion. This is our land, as much so as it is any American's—every square foot of every city and town and village."

The NAACP, Mr. Wilkins said, continues to seek "the power and the majesty of the ballot," equal employment opportunity for our people, the elimination of the color line in housing, "unsegregated, high quality public education for ourselves and our children," and an equitable solution to "the complex problems of urban life."

Family Finances

You can budget without being a bookkeeper. All that is needed is a little common sense and nine envelopes (marked Food, Clothing, Rent, Operating Expenses, Health, Savings — Insurance, Educational and Recreation, Church and/or Charity, and Miscellaneous).

On payday put the amount you think you need to cover each of these expenses in the proper envelope. Keep this up for several paydays, trying to use the money in each envelope wisely.

At the end of a month or so, examine your "budget." You'll probably find that you have money left over in some envelopes, while others are empty.

This will tell you where you need more or can get along with less or where you need to spend more wisely. Adjust the amounts you need to place in each envelope accordingly.

Even if you pay by check, the same system will work except that you will have to do it on paper.

Brain Food? . . .

Modern knowledge on nutrition dispels beliefs in food fads. For example the notion that Fish improves the brain, has persisted for years. But the fact is that no food can be called "BRAIN FOOD". The brain is made up of elements which can be found in a variety of foods.

A good diet supplies needs to the entire body, including the brain. A balanced diet contains the required amounts of FIVE essential elements: Vitamins, Carbohydrates, Fats, Minerals and Proteins. The family chef who selects a good diet, based on the body's needs, provides the family with appetizing meals and caters to its health and vigor.

Should your diet require a nutritional supplement, you'll find all types here at WILLIAMS PHARMACY . . . Vitamins, Proteins, Tonics, etc. . . all in the complete Health Dept. of WILLIAMS PHARMACY, 1103 University Ave., Phone: 243-1253.

Mrs. Louise Mays Joins Speech Center As Social Worker

Mrs. Louise Mays has been appointed as social worker on the staff of the Des Moines Hearing and Speech Center, Niel Ver Hoef, executive director of the center, announced today.

She will be responsible for the center's social services, including referral, counseling, and coordination of client services. Mrs. Mays replaces Mrs. Phoebe Marousek who has retired.

Formerly

Mrs. Mays has been a psychiatric social worker on the staff of the Des Moines Child Guidance Center for the past seven years, and served as field work instructor of the State University of Iowa social work students while at the Child Guidance Center. She was previously employed as a psychiatric social worker at Manteno State Hospital, Manteno, Ill., and prior to her social work training, as a registered medical technologist and laboratory supervisor of the Student Health Service at the University of Chicago.

Education

Mrs. Mays received a bachelor of science degree in natural sciences from Tuskegee Institute, and a master of science in social service administration from the University of Chicago.

She is a member of the National Association of Social Workers, the American Orthopsychiatric Association, American Association of University Women and Quota Club. She has served as a member of the Des Moines Adult Education Advisory Council and on the board of the Planned Parenthood Committee. She is serving as a member of the Governor's Advisory Committee on Day Care centers.

Mrs. Mays and her husband Everett, a personnel assistant of Northwestern Bell Telephone Company, reside at 701 Hull.

Two Return from J. and J. Convention; Organization Donates $32,000 to NAACP

Mrs. William Wells, president of the Des Moines chapter of Jack and Jill of America, Inc., and Mrs. Peter Hawthorne, Jr., returned last week from the four-day national convention held in Atlanta, Ga. They were among 313 voting and visiting delegates to the confab which was held at the Americana Motor Hotel.

Highlights

Highlighting the convention were a scenic tour of lovely Negro owned housing areas, schools and businesses ending with a picnic lunch at Stone Mountain; a semi-formal cocktail mixer and buffet at the beautiful Negro owned Wild Acres country club; presentation of a $20,000 check to the NAACP legal defense fund with the announcement that an additional check for $12,000 was forthcoming; the establishment of a foundation whose tentative goal is to aid underprivileged and under-achieving youngsters. The presentation was made at a fabulous luncheon and fashion show hosted by the Atlanta chapter.

Mrs. Eleanor D. Loache of Columbus, Ohio, was elected president of the organization. She succeeds Mrs. Margaret Simms of St. Louis, Mo., who was named chairman of the committee which will work out pre-ficial establishment of the Foundation.

While in Atlanta Mesdames Wells and Hawthorne were guests at the Americana. They were also guests of Miss Charlene Wharton on a more extensive scenic tour and at Sunday dinner at Paschel's restaurant.

Mrs. Alta Herndon Vacations 3 Weeks

Mrs. Alta Herndon, 723 28th street, returned to the city after a three week vacation in the East. She and Mrs. Gloria Bowman, president of the Des Moines chapter of Links, Inc., attended the National Assembly of Links, Inc., in Boston, Mass. After the sessions Mrs. Herndon journeyed to Philadelphia, Pa., and Baltimore, Md. and visited with friends. She stopped in Chicago, Ill., to visit more friends before returning to her home.

Denver Family Spends 10 Days Here

Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Duncan and children returned to Denver, Colo. on July 7 after spending 10 days with his mother and father, Mr. and Mrs. Loyatus Clark, 1114 10th street. Many courtesies were extended in their honor.

Mr. Duncan always remarks that Des Moines is hot but he always has to return to Denver to rest as he enjoys seeing all his school friends and acquaintances.

Chicago Visitors Are Des Moines Guests

Mrs. Helen Pruitt and Prince Anderson of Chicago, Ill. were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Reggar Webb, 2443 Garfield, the July 4 weekend. Many courtesies were extended to them, including a family picnic dinner given on the lawn of the Webb home. Several friends of the family also shared the courtesies.

In addition the guests and family enjoyed a delightful Sunday breakfast at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Bayles. That evening guests, members of the family and friends motored to Winterset for dinner at the Golden Buffet.

Mrs. Pruitt is the daughter of Reggar Webb.

her son will be attending Drake university.

I also met and talked with Mrs. O'Ziel Woodcock of the Atlanta Daily World, who has been on the paper for a number of years. The newspaper was the first Negro daily in the U.S. and there is only one other Negro daily publishing, the Chicago Defender.

Our trip was made perfect by Miss Charlene Wharton, dean of women at Atlanta university, who took first years truly on a Saturday night tour of the city and then for a late evening snack at Paschel's restaurant and the following morning took both of us for further tour of the large spreading Atlanta metropolis, ending with dinner at Paschel's restaurant. This Negro-owned establishment is owned by two brothers, and adjoining it they built a nightclub and are in the process of adding a five-story motel. It is located near the complex of Atlanta university with the four colleges, Morehouse, Spelman, Clark and International Technological Teachers college.

Miss Wharton took us around the various campuses and buildings and to her room in one of the dormitories. She extends her best wishes and greetings to all her Des Moines friends. Our thanks go to her for such a lovely extensive view of the city.

As it will happen with so many people attending from all parts of the U.S. I ran into a lady who had the same last name as mine. We took a few moments to find out if we might be related but discovered the Hawthorne family she is married into comes from Florida where as mine comes from Texas. There also were two Mrs. Bells, both from California, but of course no relation.

Soon after we arrived the airline mechanics went on strike and toward the end of the convention, various delegates were keeping the hotlines busy inquiring into possible transportation back to their various homes.

We returned home early Tuesday morning (last week) only to run into some of Iowa's most intensive heat recorded this year. Our furnace in the winter going full blast did not seem as hot as this mid July torrid weather.

Mrs. Otis Returns Textile Convention In Montreal, Canada

Mrs. Mildred Otis just returned from Montreal, Canada, where she was a delegate to the Textile Workers A.F.L.-C.I.O., 14th biennial union convention. Mrs. Otis is employed at Capital City Worker Mills and is a quilter. She is also the financial secretary of the local and has been active in union work for the last 20 years.

At the convention she was the only Iowa delegate out of 1,000 attending. She flew by United Airlines June 24. The meeting was all business with election of officers. One of the 20 vice presidents was Edward Todd of Chicago, Ill., who is also the business representative of the middle west. One of the highlights of the convention was the 26 buses provided by the mayor for all the delegates to tour the city, ending up on top of Mt. Royal overlooking the city. Then the delegates were served French champagne at the Chateau.

Mrs. Otis lives at 1544 E. 19th street with her two grandsons and she also has a son, Sp./A C Richard Charles Otis who is presently in Viet Nam, and also a daughter, Shirley. She is the daughter of Mrs. Jennie Smith.

Neighborhood Friends Entertained at Social

On Thursday, July 14 Mrs. Arnold Lyle, Jr., 1640 Cleveland, entertained a few of her young neighborhood friends at a social hour in her basement recreation room.

Sharing the courtesies were Stephanie Hobbs, Bruce B. Bailey, Robert Thompson, Clifford Hobbs, Arnold and William B. Lyle. Co-hostess was Lillian Lyle. They enjoyed religious and classical music.

Hello there again! After a wonderfully relaxing vacation which included a convention trip to Atlanta, Ga., and the remainder endeavoring to burrow away from the delicious heat. But with a very cool basement recreation room, the latter was not too difficult.

After a seemingly interminable train trip Mrs. William (Venita) Wells, president of the Des Moines chapter and I arrived at the Americana Motor Hotel for the 17th biennial convention of Jack and Jill of America, Inc., just in time to go on the scenic tour of parts of Atlanta, which primarily focused on the Negro homes and businesses. It was a heartening thing to see so many fabulous homes, all concentrated over a housing area which covered over a dozen blocks. I recall that I saw the first of a similar housing area in Houston, Tex. As so many commented, most cities have scattered homes financially resembling these but they are seldom in a concentrated area.

Attending the convention as a visiting delegate was Mrs. Melcinetta Anderson of Orangesburg, S.C., daughter of Rev. and Mrs. Norman

R. Ophlin of Corinthian Baptist church. Most of you will remember Mrs. Anderson when she and children lived in Des Moines several years ago while her husband was working on his doctorate degree. Mrs. Anderson also was one of the original mothers who organized as a Mothers group in Des Moines to get the Des Moines Jack and Jill chapter under way.

Mrs. Anderson was attending the Atlanta convention seeking a charter for the 38 mothers of the Orangeburg, S. C. chapter which was granted. She is president of her charter. For Mrs. Wells seeing Mrs. Anderson was renewing old friendships. The three of us even lunched together one day in the hotel's plush restaurant.

We also met Mrs. John T. Bell of Los Angeles, Calif., who told us her husband is a former Iowan and related to the Branham Hyde family. Then there was Geraldine C. Diggs of Wyandanch, N.Y., (Suffolk county) who has a daughter, Sandra, who is a student at Central college in Pella, Ia. There was another lady from a southern state who told us

DISOBEDIENCE TO LAW AND ORDER IS HURTING OUR CAUSE

During the past twenty years, Negroes have made tremendous gains partly because states and Congress have passed laws strengthening their claim to first class citizenship and partly because the U.S. Supreme Court has interpreted the Constitution in the light of those who sponsored the amendments during and following the Civil War.

A great many people, while opposed to these laws and the interpretations of the Supreme Court, have gone along with these changes partly because they believe in law and order. Some, like former Gov. Collins of Florida have reversed their segregation position altogether.

It is generally conceded that along with laws must be a determination upon the part of those for whose special benefit some are passed must go a responsibility upon the part of all to see that they are obeyed; to build good will for the cause to which they are directed.

The riots going on in the big cities are examples. True, white people do the same thing when the path they are pursuing is blocked. Take the great strikes, the airline machinists today. Everybody knows there would be trouble if the companies tried to operate the lines. The labor unions are organized, have a lever to force their demands often without violence. They too, along with farmers, have engaged in riots and killings but they are powerful and organized. What is good for one group is good for another. However, we can't afford these mobs and other lawlessness. They are hurting our cause.

APPRENTICESHIP
EVERYBODY

Earlier this year, an apprenticeship trade program was authorized. Among other trades was one for training brick layers. Under the apprenticeship program set-up a combination of union and lay representatives had charge of publicizing that such a program was available and the selection of those who were to participate.

When information about the brick layers' program was announced the selection of apprentices had been made and the quota was filled.

The apparent violation of the law has been kicked around and investigators brought in from Washington to check the complaints. To date, report of action has not been made public. Local human rights groups have accomplished little so far in bringing the apprenticeship powers to offer a fair opportunity for all.

As a matter of fact, the apprenticeship program directors have been so brazen in their exclusion of Negroes from apprenticeships that they tacitly thumb their noses at everybody who has tried to rectify it.

During the course of the riots in the large cities, there has been a regular complaint that jobs for youngsters are not available. The Des Moines Good Park complaint was the same.

In fact, authorities state that twenty-five per cent of the Negroes in Chicago are unemployed. Undoubtedly, this is true in some other large centers. It is no wonder that this produces extreme dissatisfaction among these people and makes them undertake extreme means to get even.

The day is past for begging officials and unions to obey the laws of which they are charged to administer. What should be done is to go to court and find out if these programs designed to help train people, regardless of race or color, mean anything.

And those officials who are responsible for blocking opportunities for people because of their race are just as guilty as the rioters who do so in protest of their mistreatment.

WHY THE LIGHT
VOTE AT ELECTIONS

Mayor George Witmer was asked recently why the small vote turnout at Des Moines elections. Some people are alarmed over the fact that less than fifty percent of the eligible voters in Des Moines went to the polls at the last city election. The lack of interest in school elections is even worse. The mayor calls attention to the large city garage and the other city improvements and said that voters should go to the polls and cast their vote of approval or disapproval of what is being done.

People forget quickly. Happenings which would make good campaign material when they occur are forgotten by the voters at the next election.

The practice of selecting all candidates from one strata of the population discourages many from voting. And the system of electing all officers has at large removed the personal touch from the candidates whom voters may or may not know as neighbors.

Issues and candidates bring voters to the polls. And the fact that a few individuals make all the decisions and have little in way of jobs to reward those who help in the election make voters uninterested of the outcome.

Our Des Moines school and city may be run efficiently but both create in the minds of the voters an attitude of "what's the use, they are going to do what they want to do anyway."

So Cleveland's Jim Brown has retired from football while he was still the best of them all. There have been a lot of guesses as to what the big guy will do now. Some have the big guy managing Cassius Clay, heavyweight boxing champ. No one knows and surely Jim Brown is fully aware of the fact that the fight champ may be in the army next fall. So we wouldn't count too much on that.

We are sure that Brown's ground gaining records will be broken but we don't know by whom or when. The marks piled up over the 13 years will be hard to crack because not too many backs will be able to stay around in one piece that long. It may be that some guy like Gayle Sayers could possibly crack some of Brown's total yardage marks in say 10 years. But he will have to play 13 years to lead the league in rushing 12 out of 13 years and gain 1000 yards that many times. And we don't think the Chicago speedster will play that many years.

Then there is the element of luck in not getting any career shortened or bad season injuries. Brown had that luck.

One columnist writes that he hopes whatever Jim Brown goes into he will become a leader and a credit to his race. We rather suspect that Brown would like to be a credit to the Brown family. And by doing that he can also become a credit to anything else they want to put on him.

As for being a leader Brown is outspoken and educated and intelligent enough to make himself understood. He doesn't always see eye to eye with everyone and as a leader he might not measure up to our writer friends' idea of a leader.

And, oh yes. In spite of the fact the man very clearly stated his reasons for quitting football, there are thousands of words being wasted on effort to find a "real" meaning behind his decision.

But we guess people just won't stop trying to look under rugs.

Miami to Host
Mid-Winter Golfers

Miami, Fla.—The Par & Birdie Club of Miami will host the United Golfers Association's mid-winter meeting in February and the UGA national golf tournament in August of 1967.

FLOYD PATTERSON
DEFENDS CASSIUS CLAY

New York — In a magazine arson defends the man who defeated him in his fight to regain the World's Heavyweight Championship title.

"I have been called a 'coward' and a 'rabbit' and an 'Uncle Tom' by Cassius Clay," says Patterson, "and many people think that I share their contempt for him, but I do not."

"Cassius Clay, I think, is at heart a modest man."

The article, by-lined by Floyd Patterson (as told to Gay Talese) appears in the August issue of Esquire Magazine. It is entitled "In Defense of Cassius Clay."

Main Purpose

In the article, Patterson contends that the main purpose behind Clay's behavior is to sell tickets to his fights.

"When I first met Cassius Clay, his public image was so different. It was in 1960. I was the champion then and was traveling through Rome."

"I'd had an audience with the Pope, then visited the American Olympic team there and met Cassius Clay. He was the star boxer for the American team, and he was very polite and full of enthusiasm."

Bad Guy Role

"He led me around the place and the only unusual thing about him was this overenthusiasm, but other than that he was a modest and very likable guy."

In defending Clay, Patterson argues that the bad-guy role Clay "inherited from Sonny Liston has influenced many of the crazy things he does in public."

"Right now the only people in America who are not booing him are the Black Muslims, and maybe that is one reason he prefers being with them."

Revise Sheep
Program for Fair

Revisions in the Iowa State Fair sheep program were announced here today by Department Superintendent Dewey Jontz of Runnels.

He listed the following major changes:

1. Adjusted premium scale, with award offered the same for all breeds.
2. Increase of maximum fleece length from 1/2 to 3/4 inch.
3. Admission of 4-H and Future Farmers of America (F.F.A.)—vocational agriculture breeding lambs in open classes.

With the size of the premiums riding on the number of sheep showing in the breed, Jontz is convinced breeders will be promoting larger numbers. If a breeder gets all his friends and neighbors to show, he stands a chance to make more money, Jontz said.

The 108th Iowa State Fair will open Friday, Aug. 19, and close Sunday, Aug. 28. Wednesday and Thursday, Aug. 17 and 18 are Preparation Days.

During those 10 days members of 4-H sheep clubs will compete for $2,217 in prizes and F.F.A.—vocational agriculture entrants for $2,235 in prize money.

Mississippi Coach
Joins Grambling

BY COLLIE J. NICHOLSON

Grambling, La. (Special) — Doug. las T. Porter has ended a five-year tenure as head coach and athletic director at Mississippi Valley State College, Itta Bena, to become an assistant coach at Grambling.

While at MVSC Porter's teams acquitted themselves admirably and the school's prestige soared accordingly.

David "Deacon" Jones, all-pro defensive end with the Los Angeles Rams, was one of the outstanding gridders developed under his tutelage.

community and its relationship to Howard during the past 100 years.

The University's Centennial Year begins Sept. 19 with Formal Opening exercises at Cramton Auditorium. Among the participants in the exercises will be ranking District Government officials as well as local leaders in business, law, education, religion, the arts, and civic and fraternal affairs.

Few Cheers

Maybe if there were a few cheers from the other side of the fence, and a little more tolerance too, people would realize that Cassius Clay is not as bad as he seems, and maybe then he would also return the favor once in a while and keep his mouth shut."

As for his fight with Clay last year in Las Vegas, Patterson recalls that "During the fight itself, Clay, in the clinches, said many things about white people, trying to hit me again with that Uncle Tom thing."

"But it was all I could do to stand up that night; as I said, I really wanted to be knocked out that night."

Met Once Since

Since the fight Patterson and Clay have met only once, and that was in a photographer's studio to pose for the picture on Esquire's cover.

As Patterson recalls in the article, Clay "gave me a big bear hug when I walked in the door had a big smile on his face, and there was real warmth there."

"Then we sat down and he asked if my back was responding to treatment, and then said that he would like to go on a boxing tour with Liston and myself to make some extra money."

Names

He was very polite and gentle throughout the evening and when he said goodbye I called him Cassius — I never call him by his Muslim name, Muhammad Ali — and then I added, "It's all right if I call you Cassius, isn't it?"

"Clay smiled and said, 'Any time, Floyd.'"

Patterson co-incides, "He seemed no different to me then than he did when I first met him in Rome in 1960, and I think THAT Cassius Clay is the real one."

CLUTCH HITTER

Batting averages and runs-batted-in totals don't tell the whole story when evaluating a clutch player, according to an article on Indian second baseman Pedro Gonzalez in the current issue of SPORT magazine.

Though Gonzalez showed just a .254 batting average and only 39 RBI's in 1965, the young infielder actually was the club's most productive clutch hitter, contends the article. "Pedro posted a .638 average in 'advancing base runners,' the highest on the team, and that makes him the Indians' top clutch hitter," concludes the SPORT story.

A. L. SHORTSTOPS

American League shortstops come up a little short when it comes to posting .300 batting averages, according to figures released in the current issue of SPORT magazine. Havey Kuenn hit .332 for the Tigers and Gil McDougald .311 for the Yankees in 1956 and no American League shortstop has reached the .300 mark since.

During the same period, National League shortstops have posted seven .300 seasons, with Dick Groat leading the average assault with four (1957-58-60-63), Ernie Banks, two (1958-59), and Maury Wills, one (1963).

MAYS CONSISTENT

One of baseball's greatest all-time sluggers, Willie Mays has been a remarkably consistent home run hitter during his career, according to an article in the current issue of SPORT magazine.

The SPORT researchers found that Willie has smashed 252 homers before the All-Star break and 249 afterwards during his 13 full major-league seasons. His best first half was 31 homers in 1954, and his best second half was 29 last season.

Go Where You Will

Go where you will . . . to the uttermost part

Of Earth . . . you will find that each man has a heart;

It's the same sort of heart that is beating within

Whatever the tongue or the tint of the skin,

The same aching heart feels the sword thrust of sorrow,

The same trusting heart births new hope for tomorrow.

The gestures will differ in multiple fashions

To express the same yearnings, the dreams and the passions.

The multiple gods will be sought and entreated.

In multifold ways; and the sun will be greeted

With dances and rituals as varied as races,

But whatever the costumes, the tints of the faces,

Go where you will . . . to the uttermost part

Of Earth . . . you will find that each man has a heart.

And the language of heartbeats to all hearts is known;

To yours and to mine . . . for no heart beats alone.
