Whitney Young Ends Tour of South Viet Nam

Says Negro Morale Is High But Express Need More Negro Officers

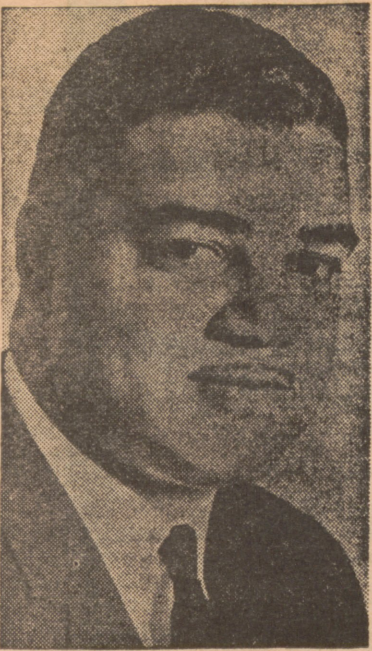

Saigon, South Viet Nam — Civil rights leader Whitney M. Young said Saturday that the morale of some 60,000 Negro servicemen in Viet Nam is high and the overwhelming majority of them feel it is right to be here.

Young, executive director of the Urban League, spoke to a news conference after a tour of Viet Nam.

He said that from his talks with Negro soldiers he concluded that "the overwhelming majority of them felt it was important to be here. In addition to such things as patriotism, they have become intrigued with the people here and their cause. . . . They felt it was right to be here."

New York — Whitney M. Young, Jr., executive director of the National Urban League, departed New York, Monday, July 18, for a 10-day tour to South Vietnam, to examine the needs and problems of the estimated 40,000 Negro military personnel. He will also convey to them the concern and the appreciation for them held by their loved ones and communities back home.

Young said, "This is a National Urban League project and the organization is underwriting the cost of the Vietnam tour. The U.S. Administration is aware of our plans and has provided clearance so that we may move about as we desire while we are over there.

"We are going to Vietnam to meet and talk with Negro military personnel about their personal lives, and not to make value judgments on any aspect of the war.

Young plans to brief the Negroes he meets "in a frank, honest way," on developments at home since they left, especially on questions about civil rights.

"We will convey to them," Young asserted, "a picture of the areas of progress made, and the changing climate. We will also tell them about the problems existing and situations yet to overcome.

"Particularly, we will inform these men that, the Urban League considers them among the best examples of our communities, and having served their country, they will be among the more talented when they return.

"Thus, a major reason for the tour will be to find out what are their aspirations, their skills, their

A three-story apartment house will be purchased and opened soon by the city Urban Renewal Department as an office site to aid Oakridge residents whose homes will be rehabilitated rather than demolished.

The City Council Monday authorized the purchase of an apartment house at 1180 18th street for $17,500 for use as the site office. The owner is Rhea Cloe.

Deltas Selects 35 S.C. Teens For Career Motivation Tour

Washington, D.C. — A group of underprivileged high school students from South Carolina have won the privilege of participating in the 1966 Delta teen-lift, an expense-free career motivation travel program.

Dr. Geraldine P. Woods, of Los Angeles, national president of Delta Sigma Theta, has announced that 35 girls and boys will assemble in Columbia, S.C. on July 29 and take part in special activities in Richmond, Washington, Pittsburgh, Detroit, Indianapolis, Cincinnati, Louisville, Knoxville, and Atlanta before their chartered Delta Teen-Lift bus returns their home on August 13. The women's interracial public service organization has sponsored this annual summer travel program for culturally deprived young people from the south since 1963. Programs sponsored by educational, business, government, and cultural institutions in the cities visited have motivated many former Delta teen-lift winners to seek college and technical training to prepare themselves for new career opportunities for Negro youth, said Dr. Woods.

The high school students from South Carolina will be exposed to a wide variety of cultural and educational experiences in addition to their planned tours of corporation offices, factories, and scientific laboratories.

Civil Rights Bill By-Passes Committee to House Floor; Expect Vote This Week

Washington, D.C.—A wide-ranging civil rights bill hurdled one of its major barriers Monday when the House defeated delaying moves by factions of both parties. A 200-180 roll call vote before packed galleries enabled backers of the administration-sponsored measure to bring it directly to the floor, bypassing the House Rules Committee which had scheduled no hearings on the measure since receiving it June 30.

Gross

Representative H. R. Gross (Rep. Ia.) voted against bypassing while all six Iowa Democratic congressmen favored the move.

NEWS In A Nutshell

New York—A white minister has adopted the eight-year-old Negro youth given up by a Fullerton, Calif., white minister and his wife because of threatening phone calls. The minister, who asked that his name be withheld, has sent the youth to a private school. No problems have been encountered, although some neighbors have found it curious to see a Negro child with a white family.

Frankfort, Ky.—The first Kentucky state civil rights act has gone into effect. And in some respects, the law is stronger than the federal Civil Rights Act of 1964. Kentucky bans discrimination by employers of eight or more persons. The U.S. Civil Rights Act now applies to firms with 75 or more employees. By 1968, the number will drop to 25.

Chicago—A 36-year-old post office employee, accused of operating a "juice" loan racket among his fellow employees, was indicted by a federal grand jury recently. John W. Tuck, a $6,551-a-year mail handler at the Main Post Office since 1956, is said to have made about $150 a week by lending sums of $1-$90 to 87 borrowers, at interest of 30 per cent a month.

New York City—James O. Plinton was recently named to the newly created position of director, Special Market Affairs by TWA international airline. Plinton who has served as TWA's manager of special group sales since 1962 will take his new post on August 1.

Orange, N.J. — The first Negro head of a patrolman's benevolent association has been elected in Essex county. He is William T. Andrews, 43, a member of the local police force, who promised to fight for "increased salary and fringe benefits rather than use the office for personal advancement."

Bordertown, N.J.—A Negro barber has been charged with discrimination against Negroes by the Burlington county NAACP chapter. William H. Lawrie of Groveville Road, Yardville, complained to the NAACP that Howard Conley, a Negro owner and operator of a barbershop on Farnsworth Ave., would not cut his hair June 17. "Cutting your hair would ruin my white business," Conley reportedly told Lawrie.

Protests Lack of Sewers, Water with Governor; Gain Promise to Meet Mayor

Residents in the southeast bottoms, not far from the statehouse, marched on the state capitol Friday and Monday and at least won a concession from the governor of a promise to talk with city officials to see what could be done about their demands for sewers and water.

Gov. Harold E. Hughes, after a talk with representatives of the marching group, was scheduled Wednesday morning to meet with Mayor George Whitmer to see what could be done for the residents.

The 35 persons demonstrated at the Statehouse for the second time in three days to protest the lack of water, sewers and sanitary conditions in the southside community.

While Hughes was meeting privately with three of the group's representatives, the rest marched into the governor's outer office singing "We wanna talk to the governor," and carrying signs calling for sewers and water.

Told that Hughes' 25-minute conference with the three representatives had just ended and he was coming out to make a statement, the group left the office singing "We gonna talk to the governor."

A City Matter

Hughes told the demonstrators that while he was sympathetic with their requests, he knew of "nothing in the Iowa law that allows a direct approach by the state" in what is essentially a city matter.

However, the governor said he would discuss with Mayor Whitmer several suggestions for improving conditions in the bottoms, where many homes still have outhouses.

One of the recommendations that will be explored, Hughes said, is the possibility of getting Job Corps volunteers into Des Moines to help construct the needed sewers. He said he will also investigate the chance of getting anti-poverty funds for the area.

Problems Unique

Hughes said some of the problems facing the bottoms are "unique," because many of its residents cannot afford the assessment the city might make for installing a sewer system. He said the city itself could possibly pay for the sewers.

Private Meeting

Before speaking to the group, the governor met privately with the Rev. John E. Donovan, executive secretary of the Des Moines Area Council of Churches; Porter Dimery, 41, of 2572 S.E. Harriet St., a representative from the Chesterfield area on Polk County's anti-poverty agency, and Patricia Williams, 18, of 609 S.E. Fourth St., a member of the Southeast Side Summer Project, which helped organize the protest.

The Rev. Mr. Donovan said he was at the protest as an individual, not as a representative of the council.

Prior to the three being called into the governor's office, the entire group sang protest songs on the Statehouse steps and waved signs reading "Outlaw Outhouses—Install Sewers;" "Outhouses Are Awful" and "Outhouses Are Unsanitary."

File Suit Against Wilson For $100,000 in Car Death

James B. Morris, Jr., administrator of the estate of Granville McKinney Thomas, deceased has sued William Price Wilson, Cedar Rapids and former Iowa legislator, on two counts of negligence in Polk County District Court. The plaintiff seeks a judgment of $50,000 against the defendant and $50,000 damages for the estate. The plaintiff also seeks 6 per cent interest per annum on both counts and costs of the court action.

Wilson pleaded guilty in the car death of the deceased in a hit-and-run accident on Mar. 27 of this year. He was sentenced to 180 days in jail with suspension of 150 days of the sentence in Polk County.

The petition accuses Wilson of negligence "because he permitted his automobile to be operated by him on a public highway in an unsafe mechanical condition and in failing to cause the necessary repairs to be made upon said automobile . . ."

Attorneys for plaintiff are Morris, Jr. and J. R. McManus.

Sallis Widow, 28 Other Sue Waterloo, Officials, Police

The City of Waterloo, the Councilmen and the Chief of the Police Department of the City of Waterloo have been sued by 28 citizens including the widow of Eddie Sallis, on two counts in United States District (Northern) Court.

The petition seeks an injunction "enjoining all the defendants from doing any act which contributes directly or indirectly to the maintenance of racial residential segregation or the denial of equal housing opportunities and services; and requiring the defendants to take all reasonable and proper steps, including the proposition of an effective ordinance, to prevent the continuance of discriminatory practices in housing conditions and services.

The petition also seeks a money damage of $200,000 for Mary Sallis, widow of Eddie Sallis who died by hanging in the Waterloo Jail on June 1.

The petition said that "plaintiff is informed and therefore believes that the entire process of arrest and detention was attended by violence and abuse, largely because of the race of plaintiff's deceased."

The petition said that "at approximately 5 a.m. on the morning of June 1, 1966 officers of the Police Department arrested the said Eddie Sallis, a Negro, placed him in a cell, after 'booking him' on a charge of 'intoxication'."

The petition said that "some time later that morning the said Eddie Sallis, not having been removed from his cell for breakfast, or otherwise attended to since his arrest, was heard by his fellow prisoners to sob, cry and threaten suicide, and to rip and tear his clothes into

Rules Jury Lists Must Have 'Full Ratio' of Negroes

New Orleans, La. — A U.S. appeals court ruled Wednesday that both federal grand jury and trial jury lists must be made up from a pool of persons "broadly representative of the community."

"A person need only be able to read, write, speak, and understand English; he need not enjoy that degree of excellence found only among the more fortunate classes of our society," the 5th Circuit Court of Appeals ruled.

It said in effect that Negroes must be represented on jury lists at least in their proportion to the population.

The court nullified convictions in two perjury cases involving civil rights workers at Albany, Ga., in 1963.

The opinion, written by Judge Richard T. Rives of Montgomery, Ala., said it was Congress' intent in the 1957 Civil Rights Act that Negroes be placed on federal juries even if it meant lowering the standards for jurors.

"It constituted an effort to improve the judicial system where it most directly touches the lives of the average citizen," wrote Judge Rives.

Circuit Judge J. P. Coleman, a former governor of Mississippi, joined in the verdict, but said "The constitutional guaranty of trial by jury requires a jury which is able to comprehend and intelligently resolve the factual issues submitted to its verdict."

SCLC

Atlanta, Ga.—Dr. Martin Luther King's Southern Christian Leadership Conference will open its 10th annual convention on Aug. 8 in Jackson, Miss. The four-day meeting, which will draw delegates from all over the country, marks the first time SCLC has held its annual convention in Mississippi.

Mass Meetings

Two city-wide mass meetings, major speeches by Dr. King and Congressman John Conyers of Detroit, Mich., and an address by Senator Ted Kennedy will highlight the program. The theme of the convention is "Human Rights: the Continuing Struggle". Panels and workshops will deal with problems in civil rights and in the areas of jobs, housing, education, administration of justice, as well as exploring the non-violent perspective.

Banquet

On Monday, Aug. 8, delegates will register at Jackson's Masonic Temple. The SCLC Jackson Affiliate, Rev. Allen Johnson, President, will host the convention. Ceremonies will be kicked off Monday night with an address by Senator Kennedy at the Annual Freedom Banquet. The delegates will return Tuesday for the keynote address by Rev. Walter Fauntroy, SCLC's Washington representative. Also slated for Tuesday are a panel and workshop on non-violence, led by Rev. James Lawson, and a mass rally in the evening, to be addressed by Congressman Conyers.

Dr. King will deliver SCLC's Annual Report on Wednesday morning; after lunch Dr. James E. Lane will lead a panel on "The Emerging Society". The convention concludes Thursday evening with a second mass meeting and a closing address by Dr. King.

Art

For the first in the history of the movement, the convention will present a series on civil rights oriented art, including dramatic presentations and graphic displays.

Sues Iowa Window Cleaning Company

Iowa Window Cleaning Company, 402 3rd Street, and its president, Conrad Zingerman, were accused of violating the Fair Labor Standards Act of 1938 in an injunction suit on file today in U. S. District Court at Des Moines.

The complaint filed by Secretary of Labor W. Willard Wirtz alleged that the firm and its head failed to pay some of their employees the required time-and-a-half for hours worked in excess of 40 per work-week.

The court order sought would require compliance with that portion of the statute, and with the regulation prescribing that adequate time and pay records be maintained.

The complaint pointed out that the firm provides janitorial service to many firms engaged in interstate commerce.

The 15th Anniversary observance of the Rev. and Mrs. Norman R. Olphin was most fittingly consummated last Sunday afternoon by the officers and members of the Corinthian Baptist church.

Rev. Seymour of Union Baptist church delivered the anniversary sermon. His choir and members accompanied him. Rev. Lester Jefferson of Our Savior Baptist church gave the invocation. Rev. Rev. Granville Williams of Macedonia Baptist presented the speaker. "A Review of the Activities and Achievements of Pastor Olphin" was given by Mrs. Barbara Williams.

A beautiful scene was created as Mrs. Mary Ritchey lighted a large candle and then 15 officers and members lighted, one by one, a smaller candle each one held from the one Mrs. Ritchey was holding and placed it in a candelabra. The 15 words Mrs. Williams used were from the letters that spelled Rev. Norman Olphin.

Remarks were made by Deacon Roy Kemp, chairman of the Deacon Board, Mrs. Julia Cannon and Mrs. Doris Wade. Mr. and Mrs. Orsel M. Morrow escorted Rev. and Mrs. Olphin to the beautifully decorated settee and also made two presentations. Final remarks were made by Pastor and Mrs. Olphin.

Curiosities On Foods...

Most foods found their way on our dinner table after having been experimented with as medicines. Here are some curious facts about them.

Onions were an effective treatment for burns . . . Lettuce fared as a love potion . . . Tomatoes were thought to be poisonous . . . Celery was believed to soothe the nerves—its juice is still used today.

Potatoes, imported from South America in the 16th century, were regarded with suspicion because they were not mentioned in the Bible—were believed to cause Leprosy . . . Early Egyptians, who considered the Cat a God, held that its milk was a panacea for all ills—Cat's milk contains 500% more proteins than cow's milk.

Ancient man had to resort to trial and error ways to cure his ills . . . Today YOU can rely on the tested efficiency of a modern pharmacy, such as WILLIAMS PHARMACY. For fast and dependable service on all your Medical-Supply Needs rely on WILLIAMS PHARMACY, 1103 University Ave., PHONE: 243-1253.

Sesame Puffs Go With Frozen Fruit Salad

Fragrant, warm Sesame Puffs with margarine give appeal to frozen fruit salad.

A frozen fruit salad is at its cool best when a hot bread is served with it.

Bread and margarine are an excellent foundation for summer eating. One leading nutritionist says that menus planned around bread and spread, citrus and milk are tops nutritionally. And, says he, the idea that citrus and margarine are fattening is old hat. It might have been true in the days when bread was not enriched and when margarine did not contain vitamin A. But nowadays, with their fine food values, these basic foods ought to be included in every meal, even in the diets of those seeking to lose weight.

To go with a frozen fruit salad and to make the menu a complete meal, it would be hard to find a bread more delicious than Sesame Puffs. They are easy to make and they keep well for several days. Any left over can easily be reheated in the top of a double boiler, or foil-wrapped in the oven.

Sesame Puffs are made from a yeast-leavened batter. It need not be kneaded, only stirred and perhaps beaten a bit to make it extra good. Since the batter contains milk and eggs along with margarine and enriched flour, the puffs are practically a meal in themselves. To make them extra easy to mix, the recipe calls for dry milk. This means there is no bothersome scalding of milk and that extra pan to wash. If any of the men in the family belong to the "no salad for me" brigade, these cloud-light hot little rolls may help them change their minds.

SESAME PUFFS

(about 30 2 1/4-inch puffs)

1 1/2 cup warm water
1 package yeast
1/2 cup sugar
1 teaspoon salt

3/4 cup sifted flour

4 tablespoons dry milk solids

1/2 cup melted margarine

3 eggs

1/2 cup sesame seeds

Measure warm water (100°F.) into 3-quart bowl, or into large bowl of electric mixer. Sprinkle yeast over water and let stand 5 minutes. Add sugar, salt, 3 cups flour and dry milk solids. Mix smooth. Stir in melted and cooled margarine. Add eggs and beat until smooth and shiny. Add remaining flour and mix well. (Batter should look glossy). Cover and set in warm place to rise until doubled (about 1 hour). Stir down and drop by tablespoonfuls into well-margarined muffin pans. Fill each muffin cup half full. Sprinkle a teaspoon of sesame seed over batter in each cup. Let rise until doubled (about 45 minutes). Bake in moderately hot oven (400°F.) 20 to 25 minutes, until golden brown. Remove from pans at once. Serve warm or cold with margarine.

FREE JOB PLACEMENT EASY PAYMENT PLAN PAULINE B. HUMPHREY, Manager

Much of our time over the past weekend was spent riding (and a little of it driving) over the highways of Iowa and Missouri. The family motored to Missouri to take my mother home and then a car load of us with my brother driving motored to St. Louis, Mo., where we picked up my sisters' husband who was arriving from Viet Nam. He had completed his second tour of duty in the war torn area and returned honorably discharged from the Marines, where he had served nearly 10 years.

We left our two youngest in Missouri with their grandmother, to visit with their numerous cousins, but at the last moment they almost had a change of heart as they realized that staying would mean putting distance between us. It was the first such stay for the youngest who celebrated her sixth birthday only last Friday.

She had quite a day, which began when the summer enrichment class she was enrolled in at Moulton with two other classes, were taken for lunch at the Colonial Pancake Inn. Parents and other adults were invited so my mother and I were in the group of about 20 accompanying adults.

We returned home just in time to load up again with seven youngsters and my mother, and head for Des Moines Children's Zoo. First we went to the Birthday House for the party which was arranged and supervised by two young teenage ladies. The children could hardly eat for jumping up to pet the burros which came over to see what was going on. Before leaving the Birthday House the youngsters had a chance to see and pet a baby honey bear. The children discovered how soft its fur is and let it hang from their arms to show how it can hang from tree limbs in the jungle.

We made the rounds of the other animals but the children had an unbelievably wonderful time in Noah's Ark, Old MacDonald's Barn and with the Three Little Pigs. They petted everything in sight and were overjoyed to be able to get so close to the animals which is not possible in a large zoo. From the standpoint of children, Des Moines zoo is ideal.

We climbed the winding stairs in the Castle and I was a little chagrined, (having gone up to make sure the children would be o.k.) to learn that the only way down was by the spiraling slide, the same way as the children.

The train ride to and from the zoo proper was also a delight for the youngsters. All day it had been getting cloudier and cloudier and it began to look as if the rain would pour from the gray skies any second but it held off until we arrived safely back home and then as if in answer to a supplication, it let loose on the parched earth.

If you have ever run out of gas while driving on a busy street, bet you didn't have the luck we did. For the first time in nearly a half-dozen years of driving we ran out of gas on Keo way. Fortunately there was little traffic behind us, so we managed to roll to a stop in front of a gas station. How about that?

Valerie Hawthorne Celebrates Birthday

Valerie Hawthorne, the youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Peter Hawthorne, Jr., 1223 10th street, celebrated her 6th birthday with a party at the Birthday house at the Children's Zoo, on Friday, July 22. Afterwards the youngsters toured the zoo.

Sharing the fun and festivities were Sheila Carson, Yolanda Oakley, Doobie and Andie Weaver, Phil Simon, Tommy Law, Venita Hawthorne and Valerie's grandmother, Mrs. Pauline Watson of Eolia, Mo.

FAILING TO TACKLE
CAUSES OF RIOTS

Following the disturbances at Goode park the only remedy produced by the anti-poverty people and others working the social field was a dance. This palliative came in response to the complaint by the youngsters that they had no place to go or were without adequate recreation.

Since there have been no further dances nor any long range program been developed,

Writing in the Sunday Register (July 24) Richard Wilson, head of its Washington bureau, criticized the anti-poverty program and even the civil rights conference held in Washington that their program was all talk and that nothing tangible has come as a result of all the talks and discussions.

Monday, James Raston, an outstanding newspaper columnist, chided city officials and other responsible people in Cleveland, Chicago and other towns where recent riots have occurred that little was being done to solve the causes of the riots; that the extreme conduct of Negroes in these cities was the pattern of other social revolutions and that Negroes would not follow any different course for getting results than the labor unions, farmers and other organized and other organized groups.

We do not question that efforts have been made to quell the riots, but little has been done to make a program work which would eliminate the causes of the disturbances. In other words, the effort is directed toward the immediate need and little of a long range program.

The Bystander makes this same criticism toward the anti-poverty program here. There has been lots of talk and staff personnel named. The conditions which prompted the Goode park trouble have not been touched. There seems to be a lot of money available to do things, but what? The results are totally lacking.

RISE IN TAXES
HARD ON HOMEOWNERS

Homeowners and other interested in the growth of Des Moines have deplored the constant rise of taxes. When the assessment of real property was made recently it was predicted that equalization of assessments would help reduce taxes. And with the large building program in the past few years, additional assessed property would prevent a rise in the tax.

Announcement by two of the tax bodies, independent school district and city of Des Moines indicates that their budget will require an increase in the 1966 taxes. This is discouraging. Some increase in expenditures is natural but there appears little relief in the light of growth.

Of course, the people are demanding more and more services from the state and are paying for that service a price above what they are able to pay. It seems that governments no longer try to match ordinary income with ordinary expense but operate not what it should be but what some want it to be.

Real estate should no longer be required to pay the bulk of the taxes for maintaining the government when sources such as income, sales and other such taxes are bringing in larger and larger amounts of money.

Des Moines cannot stand an increase in taxes. The public should rise up and demand that the taxing bodies cut expenses to the bone.

WE KNOW TOO LITTLE ABOUT EACH OTHER

One of the greatest drawbacks to the solution of the race problem is the effort upon the part of misguided people that the races should be kept apart. They have done a pretty good job of it and thus the average white or Negro is unacquainted with the other. They socialize little either in business or in the social parlor.

Even today, when a Negro and white person walk down the street together there is staring—wondering what they are up to.

Fortunately some people recognize this fallacy in our society and are attempting to do something about it.

In 1960 a "Friendly towns" program to give children from Chicago slums the chance to see another type of life and visit with families for two weeks was formed. Imagine a youngster from Chicago exchanging their way of life on an Iowa farm.

These people are tackling a problem at their doorsteps rather than the adoption of youngsters from other shores thousands of miles away.

While many of these youngsters have gone to integrated schools, they had little idea just how each lives or come to see that most people operate about the same under the same conditions.

Every opportunity should be used in the church, the home and under normal conditions to provide association of the races on equal basis. It helps to create respect, understanding and regard for each.

Over the past weekend we read three sports columns and heard two sportscasters all commentate on the retirement of Cleveland's Jim Brown, the great fullback. All but one of the gentlemen seemed to think that Brown would retire once he got back to this country and saw his team struggling without him.

But this one sportscaster said he couldn't see Brown doing any playing. That he had always been impressed by the star's ability to speak only when he had something to say. This fellow said he had it from good sources what they are that the Cleveland Browns' general manager let a couple of sportswriters goad him into telling Brown to report or else. The fellow probably wished now he hadn't been so hasty, according to our commentator. The fellow also said he had asked several football players and they all said Brown should have been given whatever time he needed to report.

We agree with that fellow we think Brown will coach, advise, scout or anything but play for his team again. He is past the stage where the feel gets in over the bones. Ten years of punishment have taken that out of the fellow we would think so it won't be too hard to set on the sidelines and say, "My gosh, did I used to do that? I must have been nuts."

Baseball

We also think the Los Angeles Dodgers are going to hang around near the top and make another September stretch drive to pick up all the marbles in the national league again.

Do you realize that just about all of the fellows playing softball in the local major leagues are veterans. We mean the Negroes of course. Maybe there are some promising young players in some other leagues. We shall find out.

Track

Well, the Russians and Poles stayed home but our American track men had themselves on Helena track meet. It was probably just as well the fellow have across the pond didn't come over. They would have very likely been clobbered and they knew it.

By the way if you see some strange Negroes around town who look eight feet tall and four feet wide they are probably football players trying out for the Des Moines Warriors club.

Plan Cerebral Palsy
Football Game

Plans for the 19th Annual Cerebral Palsy Football Game, to be held Sept. 12 at Drake Stadium, are well under way. The ticket sale was launched last week at the weekly meeting of the Downtown Kiwanis Club, sponsors of the event. Jerry Reichow, former All-American quarterback at the State University of Iowa, now with the Minnesota Vikings, Don Branby, head coach and general manager for the Des Moines Warriors, along with Warrior Players Gary Sampson and John Van Sicken, were present to kick off the ticket sale.

A total of $306,091.69 has been raised in previous years by this annual event. Every dollar of this amount has been donated to provide services to the Cerebral Palsied children in this area.

HEALTH FOR ALL

IT NEVER WILL BE MISSED

Measles isn't just on the way out; it has practically reached the exit, according to U.S. Public Health Service experts.

This is true even though only about half the susceptible children in the country so far have been vaccinated. The score right now is something like 12 million immunized and another 12 million to go, Dr. Robert J. Warren reports in the Journal of the American Medical Association. Nevertheless he predicts that measles will be practically a thing of the past by this time next year.

Answer

What's the answer? According to Dr. Warren, not all the susceptibles have to be vaccinated in order to get rid of a disease.

"With smallpox, he explained, 'we don't have 100 per cent immunized, yet we have no smallpox epidemic in the country.'"

Anti-measles vaccination of up to a third of the remaining susceptible children will be sufficient to achieve the desired result, he believes. Most of these, he noted, are in "the lower socio-economic groups", where the vaccine has been relatively little used, although it has been widely employed among families able to afford "the private sector of medical practice".

Vaccination

With more widespread vaccination, USPHS authorities hope that measles can be substantially wiped out by the end of 1967.

Once upon a time measles was considered a virtually harmless disease that attacked almost every child as a matter of course. It is now recognized that the ailment can lead to serious complications such as pneumonia or encephalitis.

Your tuberculosis association, concerned with TB and other respiratory diseases and with health in general, suggests that you consult your doctor about the desirability of measles vaccination for your child.

Named Basketball
Mentor at Howard

Washington, D.C.—Howard University athletic director Samuel E. Barnes today announced the appointment of Marshall T. Emery of Winston-Salem, N.C. to the position of varsity basketball coach at Howard. Emery also will serve as instructor in physical education, beginning next September.

The new basketball mentor comes to Howard from Winston-Salem's Paisley high school, where he served as physical education teacher and basketball coach since 1961. During his five years at Paisley Emery compiled a won-lost record of 68 and 29. His 1962-63 and 1963-64 teams won the state Western District AAA championship, while his teams of the past two years finished as runner-up for the District title. Earlier this year Emery was named Western District AAA basketball "Coach of the Year."

GOP Slates $100
Plate Fund Raising
Dinner on Sept. 17

U. S. Senator George L. Murphy, Rep.-California, will be the featured speaker at a $100 per plate Iowa Republican Party fund raising dinner at Veterans Memorial Auditorium, Saturday, Sept. 17.

Robert D. Ray, Republican State Chairman, said the money from the dinner ticket sales "will be used to elect Iowa Republicans in the November elections."

"For more than a year and a half, Republicans have been carefully rebuilding our party following our 1964 defeats. We have strengthened our organization at every level; we are offering the public a choice of candidates; we have searched out new ideas and approaches to pressing problems. Now, we are seeking the funds to help put us back in office in Washington, Des Moines and at every county eat in the state," Ray said.

G.O.P. Offer Vacation
Trip for 2 Iowans

Iowa Republicans are offering a free five-day vacation trip to Washington, D.C., for two lucky state residents.

Any Iowa resident over 21 years of age is eligible to win the trip, which is being provided by the Republican State Central Committee as an inducement to get Iowans to visit GOP booths at the various county, regional or state fairs.

Republican State Chairman Robert D. Ray said the winners will travel to the nation's capitol by jet airliner and receive free hotel accommodations, sight-seeing trips and entertainment.

The purpose of the offer, Ray said, is to attract visitors to Republican fair booths, where literature on GOP candidates is available. Also, Ray said, the lists of registrants will provide county organizations with the names of potential Republican workers and voters.

Ray said a person registering need not be a Republican. The registration blank, however, asks if the registrant would like to work in Republican activities.

At the end of the fair season, registrations will be sent to state

Firestone Begins
Construction of Huge Warehouse

Construction has begun here on a huge warehouse for The Firestone Tire and Rubber Company.

When the structure is completed it will cover 12½ acres. This marks the eighth time the Firestone plant here has been expanded since it was constructed 21 years ago.

Site

The construction site is on the east side of N.W. 6th Dr., north and west of the existing plant. General contractor for the project is Arthur H. Neumann & Brothers, Inc.

Plant Manager T. I. Veilock said the expansion project is not expected to affect employment since the warehouse under construction replaces one formerly leased by Firestone.

He pointed out, however, employment now is more than six times greater today than it was during early days of the plant operation.

Original Plant

The original plant was built under the auspices of the federal government for the production of "high flotation" tires for use on military vehicles in mud and sand. Following the war, Firestone began manufacturing tires for civilian use at the plant.

Value

Since civilian tire production began, more than 65 million units have been manufactured at the Des Moines plant.

In further explaining the value of the plant to the area, Veilock pointed out the plant consumes enough power to supply a city of 25,000, enough water for a city of 10,000, and has a $30 million annual payroll.

F.F.A. Members Take
On Added Fair Duties

It's hard to keep Future Farmers of America (F.F.A.) members down on the farm in an Iowa August, because then they take on added duties at the Iowa State Fair.

They work, grooming their cattle entries, judging livestock for $250 in prize money and describing their year's school projects at various booths.

They also play, because some of them as ushers take in the grandstand shows and all of them can do the fair any number of times.

KEEP COOL

When others think the day is hot and that the weather's bad, Just try to think of other things, the things for which you're glad. In summer days when others fret, just find a shady pool, Refresh your mind, and rest your soul. In other words: Keep cool. And, if there is no pool at hand, not e'en a shady brook, Just look about for any place that'll make a quiet nook; For, after all, it matters not the time, the place, the spot; If you're determined to keep cool, there's naught can make you hot.

PRAYER

To grow a little wiser day by day, To school my mind and body to obey, To keep my inner life both clean and strong, To free my lips from guile, my hands from wrong, To shut the door on hate, and scorn and pride, To meet with cheerful heart what comes to me, To turn life's discords into harmony, To share some tired worker's heavy load, To point some straying comrade to the road, To know that what I have is not my own, To feel that I am never quite alone. This would I pray From day to day, For then I know My life shall flow In peace until It be God's will I go.

Voting on the rights measure is not expected until late this week or next week.

Most F.F.A. members are sophomores, juniors and seniors in high school, with a few freshmen and young one-time members working with the group.

Each day of the fair agricultural mechanics demonstrations will point up the curriculum in school agricultural shops. Included in the demonstrations will be farm machinery, service work, tool conditioning, painting, metal work and wood work projects.

Demonstration hours are 9 a.m.-5:30 p.m., daily except Sunday when exhibits open at noon.

In the vocational agriculture booths the emphasis is on the nature, purpose and achievements of vocational agriculture work in Iowa public high schools. The six vocational agriculture districts will enter booths to show how education is preparing boys to be Iowa farmers.
