House Passes Weak Controversial Housing Bill

Victim's Funds Were Last Of $10,000 Insurance For Son Who Died in Viet Nam

Washington, D.C.—After 12 hard days of debate the House of Representatives Tuesday passed a weakened version of President Johnson's civil rights bill, by a vote of 250-157. The proposed statute with its modified open housing section now goes to the Senate where hearings and debates are scheduled and hope for passage is dimmer.

Homeowners

First it approved, 237 to 176 the amendment exempting homeowners from the discrimination ban, which had been tentatively adopted last week by a single vote. Then it defeated 222 to 190 a motion to strike out the entire housing section. Iowa congressmen voting for the bill were Democrats Bert Bandstra, John Culver, Stanley Greigg, John Hansen, John Schmidhouser and Neal Smith. Voting against the measure was Republican H. R. Gross.

The administration wanted to forbid racial discrimination in the sale or rental of all housing but the House leaders decided this couldn't pass. The softening amendment was written by Representative Charles Mathias (Rep., Md.) who felt the Republicans could not afford to oppose housing.

Riots

On Monday the House had added an amendment to Title V making it a federal crime for any person, using the facilities of interstate commerce, to incite or carry out a riot or other violent civil disturbance. The Amendment was clearly a slap at the violence and race riots that have ripped several northern communities this summer.

Fearful of the Amendment, civil rights leaders had urged the House to kill the amendment which they said was intended to hamper civil rights workers and punish them for peacefully seeking to fulfill their rights.

New Fields

The 1966 bill extends federal law against discrimination into three new fields:

—It would forbid discrimination in the selection of federal and state juries and would also provide the first uniform standards for selecting federal court juries (Title I).

—It would forbid discrimination in sale or rent of about 40 per cent of the nation's housing—principally large apartments and new housing. Homeowners could sell to anyone they chose. Boarding houses would be exempt as would owner-occupied apartments of not more than four units (Title IV).

—It would also make it a federal crime to injure or threaten a civil rights worker or anyone exercising

Dr. King Cursed, Hit by Rock in Chicago

Chicago, Ill.—"I have to do this—to expose myself—to bring this hate into the open. I have never seen such hate—not in Mississippi or Alabama—as I see here in Chicago."

These were the words of Nobel Prize Winner Dr. Martin Luther King, Jr., after being struck by a rock as he led civil rights marchers through a crowd of 2,000 cursing and bottle-throwing whites on Chicago's southwest side. A knife was thrown at Dr. King but struck a white youth in the neck. The youth, bleeding badly, was carried away in a police car.

Dr. King fell briefly to his knees, but was helped up and marched on, preceded by a cordon of 50 policemen. Volleys of rocks, eggs and bottles continued to whiz past him. The rock that struck him just above the right ear left a visible mark. King, shouting above the uproar, said Chicago is worse than any city in the South.

Shocking

"It's sad and shocking to see the number of women (in the crowd)," King added. After some 800 Negro demonstrators left the area, violence and gunfire broke out between uncontrollable gangs of white residents and police. Police estimated 5,000 white persons were in the riots.

Housing Bias

The march was the latest in a series led by King, chairman of the Southern Christian Leadership Conference, to protest racial discrimination in housing in Chicago. The rioting erupted in the Marquette Park neighborhood.

KKK Signs

When King arrived in Marquette Park, a public recreational area, about 2,000 whites had gathered to meet him. The whites carried signs reading "KKK, we need a Ku Klux Klan" and "King would look good with a knife in his back."

While King was assembling his marchers, scores of whites swarmed over the marchers' cars, trying to turn them over. Some whites jumped on top of cars owned by marchers and danced on the tops.

Others smashed headlights. The whites retreated only when policemen used clubs.

"White Power"

Several persons were arrested.

Some 250 white teen-agers moved ahead of the march, carrying large Confederate and American flags and shouting "white power" and "nigger go home."

More than 1,200 policemen failed to control the white persons.

Police three deep charged into white persons blocking the march. Volleys of rocks and bottles were hurled.

Shouts of "shoot him" (King) rang out and the demonstrators were bombarded with missiles as the march moved out.

Residents perched in trees and threw rocks into the marchers.

Teens

The majority of the white people appeared to be teenagers, but there were a large number of men and women in their early 20's. About 500 adults were in the crowd, many inciting the youngsters to "get those niggers."

King had his home bombed and has had refuse thrown at him and in 1958 he was stabbed by a deranged Negro woman in a Harlem department store.

OMAHA

Omaha, Neb.—Representatives of an Omaha Negro ministerial association Wednesday, Aug. 3, told Mayor A. V. Sorensen that the city, in addition to its recreation facilities, should provide for everyone and not for just the predominantly Negro area.

The Negro area on the near north side has gone through two three-day periods of rioting, gasoline-bomb tossing and looting led by groups of young Negroes.

Leaders of young Negro groups have cited lack of recreation facilities as one of the things that led to the flareups.

Following a 60-minute meeting Friday, in his office with representatives of the Mid-City Business and Professional Association, the NAA-CP, the Urban League, 4CL, and Senator Edward Danner, Mayor Sorensen said he would decide this week whether or not to take further action to reopen the investigation of the fatal shooting July 18 of Eugene Nesbitt by Patrolman Floyd Matula.

The group acted after having been authorized by Frankie B. Crowder, Nesbitt's mother, to "take action, as is required or necessary, to re-open the matter of the investigation of the acts and doings of the police officer pertaining to the apprehension and slaying of her son."

MILWAUKEE

Milwaukee, Wis.—An explosion blew windows out of a building housing the Milwaukee offices of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People early Tuesday and caused minor fire. There were no injuries.

The blast occurred about 2:15 a.m. About 3 a.m. a radio station received a call from a man who said he had planted a bomb in the building.

Firemen found several small fires in and around the building, which were quickly put out with hand extinguishers.

NEWS
In A Nutshell

By Eleanor Tate

A Des Moines woman was defrauded of $2,000 last Wednesday morning by a man who said he didn't trust banks. Mrs. Wilma Canada, 35, of 1311 15th Street, told police that a man came home with her mother, Mrs. Mary Wilson, of 1125 19th Street, requesting room and board, and later persuaded Mrs. Canada to withdraw $2,000 from the bank, the remainder of the insurance of her son, James Flagg killed in Viet Nam.

Mrs. Canada gave this account: "About 11:15 a.m. my mother came over here with a man she had met at the A and P store on 19th and University. He was short, chunky, and about 25. He told me he'd come from Mississippi to collect insurance of a brother killed here in a railroad accident."

Deposits

Mrs. Canada explained that the man said he wanted someone to put his money in the bank, since a Mississippi white man had informed him that a colored person couldn't put money in a Northern bank without a white person along.

"But I got my bankbook, and my mother showed him my deposit of $2,000."

Promises

However, Mrs. Canada still had to prove this by withdrawing her money and re-depositing it. "He said that if I could get the money he'd give me a dollar for every dollar I took out."

She, her mother, and the man went to the car, a blue '65 Mustang with an Illinois license plate. The car was driven by a tall, slender man, about 27 or 28. After driving to the East National Bank she withdrew the money in $100 bills and put them into a brown envelope. Her mother gave it to one of the men in the front seat.

"When we returned, the driver stayed in the car, saying he had to see his girlfriend. While I waited in the living room, the other man and my mother went into the bedroom to hide the money. The man said that he only trusted Mrs. Wilson; he planned to hide all the money and later return for his."

Found only Kleenex

"When he left, we looked under the mattress, only to find crumpled Kleenex. Apparently the man had switched my money to his suitcase while he distracted my mother."

"I had received $10,000 from Jimmie's insurance, but I bought a house last week, and had $2,000 left after other expenses. I guess if I had waited a week longer, I'd have lost even more money."

"The things I can't understand are how the men recognized my mother. They probably knew about my money from the papers, but why would they know my mother?"

Police are continuing to investigate the case.

Kansas City, Mo.—Cheryl Aledander, 20, was graduated from Continental Airlines' hostess training school at the Los Angeles International Airport. She has been assigned to Denver and is flying aboard Continental's DC-9 Golden Jets and jet-powered Viscount II's.

New York—Dr. Martin Luther King, Jr., took a $6,000 advertisement in the New York Times last week to reinstate his faith in non-violent protest by Negroes as opposed to the 'black power' concept of obtaining equality.

Washington, D.C.—Theodore M. Berry, director of the Community Action Program of the national Office of Economic Opportunity, has announced the appointment of Dr. L. Sylvester Odom, a former Kansas Cityan (Mo.) as his special assistant.

New Orleans, La.—The first two Negro funeral directors have been named to the reorganized State Board of Embalmers and Funeral Directors. They are Glenon L. Dennis, director, Dennis Mortuary here and Robert Jules Fenelon, a funeral director from Opelousas.

Memphis, Tenn.—Alphonso Westbrook has been named district superintendent of Commonwealth Edison Company's Central division, which includes Chicago's downtown loop area.

Jackson, Miss.—Holmes County Deputy Sheriff T. J. Evans, accused in a civil rights suit of beating a Negro woman in the county jail, agreed to pay Mrs. Maggie Gordon $1500 in damages.

Chicago, Ill.—Businessmen catering to the Negro market have been advised to pay more attention to the Negro woman. Negro women's 'key role' as wage earners and heads of households was cited by H. A. Gilliam, Memphis president of the 45-member National Insurance association, which was in session here recently.

Washington, D.C.—Grant Wright, 49, has become the nation's capitol's first Negro police inspector, duplicating his 'first' three years ago in which he became the area's first Negro police captain.

Waukegan, Ill.—This city's school board has been ordered to offer a plan to end de facto segregation in Whittier school, which is 85 per cent Negro, under the first application of the Armstrong act in the state court. The act requires school officials to change school districts with a view to promoting integration. Lake County Associate Circuit Judge Charles Parker, in issuing the order, declared that the act applied to "de facto" as well as deliberate school segregation.

Rights Group, Nat'l. Union To Probe Charges of Bias Here

Under an agreement reached last week the Des Moines Commission on Human Rights and Job Discrimination will notify the A.F.L.-C.I.O., Department of Civil Rights in Washington, D.C., of all charges and complaints of discrimination lodged against local unions affiliated with the A.F.L.-C.I.O. In the case of complaints both organizations will cooperate to investigate.

Don Slaiman, director of the national union's civil rights division, asked that the local commission provide him with information on any charges of discrimination made against a union.

In addition, Slaiman requested notice of any agreements reached, formal complaints made and any denial of a complaint.

A Supplement

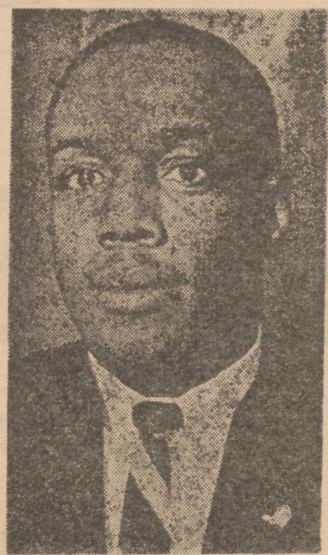

Perry Hooks, executive director of the commission, said the working relationship with the A.F.L.-C.I.O. would supplement the commission's efforts to bring more racial integration to Des Moines area labor organizations.

Of the 72 labor organizations in Polk County with which the commission has been dealing, only a handful have Negro members.

From Inside

Hooks said the commission and the union's civil rights division would work jointly in trying to resolve complaints involving alleged discrimination. He said the national union could "work from the inside." Hooks noted that the A.F.L.-C.I.O. civil rights department "could send someone out in a severe case." He also said that the national union could revoke a local's charter in an extreme instance, though this probably would not be done.

Criticize Policies

Negro spokesmen contend a number of trade unions in the Des Moines area bar Negroes, and have criticized the restrictive application policies of some unions—such as accepting applications for apprenticeship training only one day a month.

N.J. Realtors Move to Ease Ban Against Negro Brokers

Trenton, N.J.—Faced with a law suit filed by NAACP lawyers on behalf of two licensed Negro real estate brokers, the Mercer County Board of Realtors has agreed to amend its bylaws to eliminate discriminatory provisions.

On behalf of C. Melvin Rose and W. H. Dinkins, licensed brokers whose applications were rejected by the Board, the NAACP suit alleged that discrimination was evidenced in the majority negative vote. Moreover, the NAACP charged that the Mercer County Board, as a professional association, has the legal responsibility to make membership requirements based only on qualifications.

New Complaint

Thus the suit developed a new basis of justifiable complaint of discrimination.

As explained by NAACP General Counsel Robert L. Carter, a broker passes state examinations, a realtor is a broker admitted to the local Board of Realtors. Although these terms have been subject to some misunderstanding, indicating that the realtor has superior qualifications, the fact is that the difference is membership on a Board of Realtors.

PLANE PATROLS PHONE CABLES

CABLE PATROL are the big letters on the underside of the wings of an airplane cruising over Iowa these days.

The pilot is closely watching the ground — looking for signs of any digging or earth moving activities that might endanger a buried telephone cable.

The route of the single place 105 horsepower Champion is from Des Moines north through Iowa Falls, Mason City and Manly from Waterloo through Iowa Falls and Fort Dodge to Sioux City. These are the paths of Northwestern Bell Telephone Company's principal underground trunk cables in Iowa.

Quick Action

Spotting of any potential trouble brings quick action. If close inspection from a low altitude indicates eminent danger—as when digging is under way—the pilot talks directly to those on the ground by means of a powerful loud-speaker system in the plane or he might drop a weighted warning message. In other cases he radios direct to the nearest telephone radio dispatch office so that the situation can be checked.

Will Request Formal Hearing On Firing of Youth Job Head

A "formal investigation" into the firing of Raymond L. Driver as manager of the Youth Opportunity Center will be requested by Des Moines Civil Rights leaders.

The announcements were made by Robert A. Wright, president of the Des Moines chapter of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People. Wright said the probe is in order because of discrepancies between Driver's version and that of Henry E. Carter, chairman of the Iowa Employment Security Commission.

Letter

Wright Friday wrote Carter a brief reply to a letter in which Carter made statements reflecting on Driver's management of the center at 300 Court ave., an employment bureau of the 16-21 age group.

Gov. Harold Hughes and the U.S. Labor Department's director of equal employment opportunity, Arthur Chapin, will receive copies of the N.A.A.C.P. request, Wright said.

Hughes

Wright said he will start by formally requesting the Iowa Civil Rights Commission to investigate.

Earlier Friday, James A. Thomas, state civil rights director, said the commission already has scheduled a discussion of the Driver matter for Monday.

More to It

Thomas said he believes that "there is a lot to this," referring to Driver's charge that he was forced to resign because he publicly criticized the plumbers' union for policies that he said barred Negro applicants.

Driver was employed by the Iowa Employment Security Commission, whose chairman, Henry Carter, said Driver was not fired or "pressured."

We returned safely from one of those necessary trips that many parents make this month—returning to Grandma's to pick up the children. We made the trip over the weekend to Eolia, Mo., to pick up our two daughters who had spent an enjoyable two weeks with their Grandma, Mrs. Pauline Watson, their aunts and uncles and numerous cousins. While there we were Saturday night dinner guests at one of my brothers' and his family, Mr. and Mrs. John Watson, and children.

We returned Monday morning in time to begin our orientation work with your future new Bystander reporter and news editor, Eleanor Tate, who lives at 683 25th street. The young lady will take over officially after the Sept. 1 issue of the Bystander. She has had some experience with writing on school papers and as you can judge for yourselves has rather an innate talent for writing. Her story on the librarian appeared in last week's issue and in this issue, she has two stories, the interview story on the defrauding a woman of $2,000 and the wedding story on the social page. From time to time her poems have appeared in this newspaper.

Added to her writing ability is her personable manner and efficiency. We know that all of your readers and club and church reporters will accord her the same understanding and co-operation as you have us, during our 9 year tenure with the newspaper.

Some of you have already met her either over the telephone or in person at the office; she will be in the office from now on. Please feel free to come in and get acquainted with her.

Had a note from Mrs. Marjorie Parker of Pershing, Ia., who sent some news from her town. Her note read: "Please put this news in the Bystander. I live here in Pershing, Ia., where it's just a few of us colored people live here. And I thought since so many of our kin people and friends live in Des Moines they would like to read some news on us."

To Mrs. Parker we would like to say we hope that she will continue to send in news; we are always glad to add another correspondent to our out-of-town news list. Her story on the 'planned wedding' appears on the social page.

We noted in the 'Oakridge Reporter' memo sheet for the Urban Renewal area that plans are underway to start a 4-H group in the fall for boys and girls. During the 4-H week and the annual 4-H fair which was held at the Fairgrounds, many youngsters in the area attended the Fair, thanks to Mrs. Harry Camp of 1159 18th street. It seems she arranged an all day trip with the Des Moines Transit company providing free bus tickets for those not going by cars.

The 'Oakridge Reporter' revealed that if you would like to have your

WE DON'T TRUST
THE UNIONS, YET

The Des Moines Commission on Human Rights and Job Discrimination has announced that it has perfected an arrangement with the A.F.L.-C.I.O. to collaborate in the solution of complaints of job discrimination against unions. The arrangement provides that when a complaint is filed, the commission would notify the A.F.L.-C.I.O. of the charge. The union would make its investigation and work with locals in the solution of the complaint.

This action comes as a shock in view of the fact that complaints made in Des Moines in recent years to the national organizations have been swept under the rug and nothing heard from them.

We are shocked in view of the arrogance in Des Moines by some union leaders, but nothing has come of them. Can we do business with Hitler?

We are shocked that even though federal officials have investigated complaints of discrimination—say in the construction of the new federal building—to date nothing has come of them. Maybe they are waiting for the building to be finished.

It is nice for the county attorney to know defense lawyers but it looks dangerous when they collaborate in the prosecution of cases. They are adversaries and should be treated as such.

We need friends but they must not place themselves or be allowed to stand in the way of progress. It is all right to let the unions know about complaints but as yet they cannot be trusted to police violators of their own rules. Most of them have non-discrimination provisions in their constitutions.

Negroes have been slow making complaints of racial discrimination against unions. This arrangement will make them more reticent when they find that the unions will be investigating themselves.

The Bystander believes this to be a poor move by the commission. Time may well prove that they have been sucked in by smooth talking.

TAKING A LOOK AT THE "HAVE NOTS"

Many people who "have" don't know the difficulties which the "have nots" suffer.

As an example, an elderly widow living on social security, owns a modest home. Up until this year she has paid twenty-seven-dollar premiums for three years protection for loss by fire, lightning and windstorm. The house is worth $4,000.

When this policy expired, she was notified that the insurance would cost twenty-seven dollars per year; that the company no longer insured a house valued at less than $5,000 unless it was in exceptional condition.

Automobile drivers, who have bad driving records, find it difficult to get insurance. When they do, the rates are extremely high, often prohibitive. While the two examples have some analogy, there is a great difference in favor of the widow. The driver's situation is a penalty for misbehavior while her misfortune comes because she can't afford a $5,000 home.

This situation deserves a hard look by public officials and insurance companies. Some means of adjustment for such misfortunes deserve more consideration than some of the new agencies that are being financed today.

This widow loves her home and wants to stay there. Her health is reasonably good and will live there some time to come. But if these big insurance premiums and high taxes continue, her tenure is not long.

STATE FAIR PROVIDES
FINE ENTERTAINMENT

The Iowa State Fair begins here Aug. 19 and continues to Aug. 28. The annual event brings to Des Moines many exhibits and entertainment features which deserve the wide support of the people of the state.

Too many people, who live near the fair, fail to attend. They expect out-of-town people to make up the attendance and yet think of it as a leading entertainment event in the town.

There is entertainment for

Cassius Clay Kayoes
England's Brian London

London, England—A sparse crowd of 11,000 saw World Heavyweight Boxing champion Cassius Clay knock out England's Brian London in one minute 40 seconds of the third round.

It was one of the most one-sided fights ever witnessed as Clay went for the knockout from the opening bell. London threw only two punches of any potency, but neither made Clay as much as blink, or back-track. After seven minutes 40 seconds of target practice, he zoomed in with the crusher.

London has made the fatal mistake with the lightning fleet-footed Clay, by backing into his own corner, where Clay pounded on him for a series of damaging blows climaxed with a brain-adding right chop to the jaw.

Miserable

It was a miserable exhibition by the outclassed London and made for an eminently forgettable fight. The crowd—such as it was—booed half-heartedly at the end. At least Cassius did his part.

The estimated gathering of 11,000 in the huge arena demonstrated how smart the British are. Few believed that London had a chance, so they stayed away in droves. The absentees have been congratulating themselves ever since.

Blinding Speed

Clay's blinding speed had London bewildered from the first gong and when Cassius threw a thumping right to the body and another to the jaw in the first minute, Angelo Dundee, Clay's trainer and chief second leaped to his feet.

"There he goes," shouted Angelo, "finish him up quick."

But Angelo was slightly premature. The floundering 32-year-old warhorse from Blackpool was not ready to be taken. However, the softening up process had begun in earnest.

100 Times Better

Since Cassius got $250,000, it might seem that this indicated he was only two and a half times better than London. He was a hundred times better.

Claims Cookie Gilchrist Owes
Denver Broncos $20,000

Denver, Colo. — Cookie Gilchrist, rebellious fullback, was served with a legal notice of intent to sue by the management of the Denver Broncos last week. Gilchrist's lawyer said he would not respond to the notice until he sees some specific complaints.

The Broncos' announcement came in the wake of Gilchrist's resignation from the club, accompanied by several verbal slaps at the team's management.

Gilchrist said in a letter that the management of the American Football League team was not interested in producing a winning team.

Richard S. Kitchen, the Broncos' secretary and legal counsel, said

Gilchrist received a $20,000 advance on his salary when he first came to Denver last year and has repaid $10,000.

Kitchen also said Gilchrist owes the team money for "Bills for which we have paid," including some airline fares. Jim Burris, the Broncos executive vice-president, noted that the fullback had the use of some "general credit cards."

The Broncos also placed Gilchrist on the A.F.L. reserve list, an act equivalent to suspension.

They said they have "no plans whatsoever of reactivating Gilchrist."

HEALTH FOR ALL

IT'S BAD—AND BAD FOR YOU

Poison doesn't sound like much of a fun drink, but on any given day about 1,800 people somewhere in the U.S.A. can be counted on to toss a little down the hatch. Or take it in solid form if that's the way it comes.

These people aren't trying to harm themselves. They swallow poison by mistake—all 600,000 of them a year.

Trauma

Not many die, fortunately—but the trauma of fright and illness between intake and recovery is something few people are apt to forget. Three-quarters of the victims of these mishaps are children.

Ignorance and carelessness are the twin culprits in accidental poisoning. Many people, though well informed on the safety rules for preventing it, get lazy about carrying them out. Others just never happened to hear about a few simple precautions that can prevent hours of agony or needless death.

MEDICINES IN CURRENT USE—Keep careful track of their whereabouts; don't leave them within children's reach.

EMPTY MEDICINE BOTTLES—Don't re-use them. Throw them out.

CLEANING OR EXTERMINATING CHEMICALS—Don't put them on shelves where food is stored.

LABELS—Scan them carefully on chemical or drug containers.

HIT-OR-MISS—Don't give medicines, or take them, in the dark.

WARNING CHILDREN—Don't overstress it; you might get the wrong reaction. Laxatives, vitamins, nail polishes, soaps, detergents—countless household items contain substances that may be poisonous.

mother and father, and the youngsters. There are exhibits of what Iowans make and grow. There are national acts led by Lawrence Welk and his aggregation. Most people admire them.

Big attendance figures must be made up by Iowans. The fair deserves their full support.

Althea Gibson
Leads With 68

Sutton, Mass. — Althea Gibson broke the course record with the lowest score of her career Friday, Aug. 5, to take the first round lead in the $15,000 Lady Carling Open golf tournament.

Miss Gibson had a 68, six under par; for a four-stroke lead over Shirley Englehorn, two-time tourney winner.

The former international tennis star, who turned to professional golf in 1964, broke the course record of 70 set by Patty Berg in the Lady Carling two years ago. Miss Gibson carded seven birdies.

29,000 Exhibits

Slated for Ia. Fair

Why is Johnny so long at the fair? And his folks and all of his uncles and his cousins and his aunts?

Looking at night on to 29,000 exhibits for one thing.

Make it 30,000 if Johnny and relatives stop at the hat, doll, cane, banner, jewelry, chameleon, ice cream, snow cone, lemonade, pop, hot dog, cotton candy and pop corn stands readily available on the Iowa State Fair grounds Aug. 19-28.

Looking at 12,000 head of livestock in the nationally known show; 3,400 head of horses; 40 acres of modern farm machinery, a field of mechanical dinosaurs; a thousand home cooked displays, cake, cookies, bread, jams, canned meats and fruits; 35,000 bees.

That old bugaboo parking will not delay Johnny or anybody else this year.

Uniformed, trained men from the Burns Corporation, Chicago, Ill., who can control even a weekend state fair traffic jam, will be in charge. No tangles, no snarls, no cacophony of horns. There are new, fast routes from gate to parking lot, one way, no less. More gates, too.

Schedule Five
Auto Racing Events

Five auto racing events will be held in the first three days at the 1966 Iowa State Fair.

Semi-modifieds kick off the fair programs on Friday night, Aug. 19, it will be their only appearance. A two hundred mile stock car race will be held on Saturday afternoon, Aug. 20, followed by the first of two super-modified programs that night.

RITCHIE

Action on Sunday, Aug. 21, will include sprint car races in the afternoon and the first appearance of the midget cars on Sunday night.

The midgets, long a favorite of Leavenworth, Kan., when distinguished visitors will pay tribute to the fighting men of the four all-Negro Cavalry and Infantry Regiments.

FAITH

Faith . . . is the infant chubby and bald;
To it, the parents are "twenty feet tall,"

Also the father is strong as a giant;
Fearful of nothing; brave and defiant.

Faith . . . is the lame child wearing the brace,
Muscles all twisted, a smile on its face,

Watching strong children tumble and swim,
feet down,

Planning the things he will do in his town;
Faith . . . is his wife at the shaft of the mine,

Knowing no crutches will ever stop him.
Faith . . . is the farmer tilling the sod;

Toiling and tiring, looking to God,
Counting the harvest before it's in sight,

Knowing the weather will turn out all right.
Faith . . . is the miner a thousand

Scanning the faces of fifty and nine.
Faith . . . is the old man bending with pain,

Counting the days till his youth comes again;
Smiling at flattery, giving his gold,

Never admitting he's hopelessly old.
Faith . . . is all things that will make a man try,
Try building a building that reaches the sky;

Striving for glory, riches and fame,
Counting the score before ending the game.

Faith . . . is all notions under the sky,
Counting the days before hatred shall die;

Planning for tolerance, good will and peace,
Waiting the day when all conflict shall cease.

Faith . . . is the substance of hope and desire;
The will to fight on through the storm and the fire;

The building of things for the unpromised years,
The growing of hope, and the crushing of fears.—

Robert E. Long, M.D. from his book, Levity, Legend and Sentiment.

MINNEAPOLIS

Minneapolis, Minn.—Fire damaged a business building and some store windows were broken early Thursday in a north-side Minneapolis district where worse window smashing and looting occurred the previous night.

The area is predominately Negro. Police said "a few little incidents" and some vandalism occurred overnight despite a truce hammered out Wednesday in a city park.

The meeting of state and city officials with Negro youths and some Negro community leaders was arranged following threats to burn and loot the area business district. Officials offered 60 jobs to meet demands of the young Negroes, with a promise of more.

Two gangs of 30 to 35 Negro youths "were roaming around" the area Thursday morning, a police spokesman said. Firemen controlled flames at the Banner Canvas Co. building. Extra squad cars had been added to patrol the area.

his constitutional rights (Title V). Some civil rights leaders consider this the most important part of the bill, since they consider it irrelevant to give a man the right to buy housing he can't afford.

An anti-riot amendment was added to the bill by a vote of 389 to 24. A reaction to the Northern big city riots, it would make it a crime to cross state lines with intent to incite a riot or to commit a crime of violence during the disturbance.

The housing section was amended to make it unlawful to discriminate against families with children seeking housing.
