National Workers to NAACP Ia. Conference

Julian Bond Will Address Banquet

Davenport, Ia. — The Davenport NAACP will celebrate its Golden Anniversary and will host the Iowa State Conference of Branches on Sept. 27, 28, and 29 at the Blackhawk Hotel here.

Included in the program of events are workshops which have been chosen for their relevance to the contemporary problems of Negroes. Distinguished national leaders in several fields will lead these workshops.

Special banquet speaker will be Georgia statesman Julian Bond.

Workshop co-ordinator will be Althea Simmons, Secretary for training of the NAACP National Office. She is a former college teacher and newspaperwoman, holding degrees from Southern University (La.), University of Illinois and Howard University School of Law. Prior to her present appointment she was Field Director for the West Coast region of the Association serving branches in Southern California, Arizona and Nevada.

June Shagaloff

An Education workshop will be led by June Shagaloff, Director for Education Program of the NAACP National headquarters. She was appointed to the office in the fall of 1961, following ten years as Field Secretary and, subsequently, Social Science Coordinator of the NAACP Legal Defense and Educational Fund, Inc. She directs the NAACP public school desegregation drive in the North and West, and other programs to end racial discrimination in public education. She is a graduate of New York University and an elected member of Alpha Kappa Delta, national honorary society.

A workshop on the problems of Housing for Negroes will be led by William R. Morris, Director for Housing Programs for the NAACP national headquarters. He was appointed to this position in February 1968. Prior to this appointment he was owner and manager of the William R. Morris Agency in S. Bend, Indiana. He has been an FHA fee appraiser, V.A. and FNMA Management Broker, Urban Renewal Appraiser and Consultant, building contractor and developer. He received his education at Tuskegee Institute and Indiana University.

A workshop entitled "Black Action and the Man" will be led by Davenport Ray Shepard, teacher of minority history at the Clinton Job Corps Center and free-lance artist and photographer. Holder of a BS in Education from the U of Nebraska, he last year taught English and History at JB Young School in Davenport.

Other distinguished participants at the Conference include Robert Wright, President Iowa State Conference of Branches, who will lead the plenary sessions and will deliver the welcome at the banquet on Saturday evening.

Saturday's schedule will be: 9 a.m., Workshop I, with Miss Shagaloff, speaking on Education; 10:30 a.m. Workshop II, Black Action and the Man, by Ray Shepard; 12:30 p.m., luncheon, Mrs. James B. Morris; 2:30 p.m., Workshop III, Housing, William Morris; 3:45 p.m. Workshop IV, the Dutchman, by LeRoi Jones, as performed by the Student Action Players of Iowa City.

At 7 p.m. the Golden Banquet will be held with Bond; and at 9 p.m. the New Breed will provide music for the ensuing dance.

Say Police Are Spying On Civil Rights Organizations

Houston, Tex. — According to the Chicago Defender, Police are "spying" on civil rights organization in hopes of uncovering efforts to stir up racial trouble.

Houston, Chicago, Detroit and Boston are reported to be among the cities where the spying has occurred. Detroit has 70 members of the police spy ring; Boston has 40; and Chicago, an undisclosed number.

Many organizations have reportedly held unannounced strategy sessions to keep informers from learning what they're doing. Others spy on suspect members to see if they're making middle-of-the-night trips to the local police station.

Even FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover, who "would find a black conspiracy if he could", has said he knew of no organized plot among civil rights groups to stir up racial trouble, and police find little in spying on Negro organizations. Civil rights activities are trailed, observed from parked cars, photographed by policemen posing as news photographers, and tape recorded by informers.

ALL-NEGRO COMMERCIALS

Supreme Beauty Products of Chicago, Illinois, a division of Johnson Publishing Company, publishers of Ebony and Jet, will be the sponsor of several all-Negro TV commercials, which will be seen on television stations in five major cities starting in October. Introducing the commercials will be Pat Johnson, sales manager of Supreme Beauty Products; as well as executives of the firm's advertising agency, Redmond, Marcus and Shure, who will discuss the marketing strategy in the purchase of prime-time television for the products.

ADDITION MADE IN LAST WEEK REPORT

In my report last week on the convention in Philadelphia for the American Foundation of Negro Affairs I regretfully forgot to mention the name of Marsh Houston who was there representing the Des Moines Education Association. I would like to say further that Marsh Houston's name appeared in the Philadelphia Inquirer with some of the foreign dignitaries on Tuesday morning (Sept. 10), and he contributed greatly to the Commission on Education. I apologize to Marsh for making this regrettable omission and to the Des Moines Education Association which he represented.

Major Programs at U. of Ia. Help Disadvantaged

During the past four years the U of I has fostered two major programs aimed at disadvantaged students with academic potential, according to Dean Philip Hubbard. One is Upward Bound, sponsored jointly with the U.S. Office of Economic Opportunity, which brings to Iowa City every summer about 100 promising high school students who have not planned post high school education for social and financial reasons. The second is RILEEH, (Rust, Iowa and LeMoyne Expanding Horizons), a cooperative program of the U of I and

Fund

This year's program is pertinent and relates to pledges of total commitment made by members of the Prince Hall Lodges of Iowa during the Grand Communication held here in Iowa in July, just as Prince Hall became committed and involved in all of the many events surrounding his life during the crucial revolutionary days around the year 1775.

Prince Hall Day donations will be accepted for the Special Grand Lodge Prince Hall Day Fund.

Black Universalist At Unitarian Church

The Black U U Caucus has been active since last October and in February held a conference in Chicago. One of their major demands was for a Black Affairs Council to be named by them, recognized by the Unitarian Universalist Association as an affiliate organization and funded $250,000 a year for four years by the UUA.

Bars Membership Bias In Many Local Unions

Cincinnati—A local electrician has won a case in the Federal District Court here which will make it impossible for many unions about the country to exclude Negroes from membership. In ruling that Anderson L. Dobbins must be admitted to Local 212, International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers, the court held that a private individual has a right to legal action in the Federal courts against a union under the Civil Rights Act of 1866 which bars racial discrimination, private as well as public.

Admitted

In a 90-page opinion, the Federal court ordered that, because of Dobbins' experience in the electrical field, he should be admitted to the union immediately; he must not be required to pass a journeyman's admission examination; and he must be placed on the union's referral list as of the time he last applied for work and membership which was in September, 1965.

The court also ordered the union's referral system suspended. This will be replaced by referral procedures which the court will devise within 30 days.

As it reached the Federal court, the Dobbins case combined an action brought against the union local by the NAACP under the 1866 Act and an action brought by the U.S. Department of Justice under Title VII of the Civil Rights Act of 1964.

In commenting on the decision, Robert Carter, general counsel for the NAACP, said:

Barred

"This means that the 1866 Act bars private as well as public discrimination in employment. In effect a private litigant no longer will have to rely on the Equal Employment Opportunity provision in the 1964 Civil Rights Act to file suit in Federal Court."

"The effect of the ruling," Mr. Carter continued, "is to bring the activities of all craft unions who refer workers to construction contractors within the category of public function or state control."

Dobbins, 36, is a graduate of a Cincinnati vocational high school and Hampton Institute, with a bachelor degree in electricity and trade education. He has been attempting to gain admission to Local 212 since 1949. Because he has been denied membership in the union, he has had to work in a variety of jobs with limited income.

Evidence at the trial established that Local 212 never has had a Negro member to work with union contractors. It also was established that Dobbins has had more formal education in electricity than any of the union's officers.

Announce Nat. Shriners Awards Competition

Des Moines — The second annual college scholarship program co-sponsored by A.E.A.O.N.M.S. and Coca-Cola USA to be awarded to a high school senior for study in the 1969-70 school year, was announced recently by Zeid Temple No. 90.

The scholarship will be awarded on competitive basis to a student from among the seniors applying through Zeid Temple No. 90. The local winners from across the country will be judged to determine a national winner. That winner will be announced at the national convention of the Prince Hall Shriners during the summer of 1969.

The winners will be selected on the basis of high school academic achievement, standard tests and college board examination results, individual desire, and financial need.

Screened

All applicants will be screened as indicated by the National Scholarship Service Fund for Negro Students, headquartered in New York City.

The scholarship program was initiated by the Prince Hall Shriners and Coca Cola USA, as a means of increasing the aid to deserving students who otherwise may not have the opportunity to attend college. Last year, as a result of this program, five high school seniors through five national organizations will be attending college in 1968-69.

In the Des Moines, Iowa Area, seniors may apply by contacting Zeid Temple No. 90.

Martin Luther King, Jr. Fund Into Action at U. of Ia.

Iowa City—When President Howard R. Bowen greeted University of Iowa students on the first day of classes Monday (Sept. 23) from the steps of Old Capitol, 42 of the students were there because of what he said in his last message in the same place five months ago.

On Apr. 9 at a convocation in memory of Dr. Martin Luther King, Jr., who had been assassinated five days earlier, President Bowen announced the establishment of a Martin Luther King Scholarship Fund to support an Educational Opportunities Program (EOP) for young people who are educationally and economically disadvantaged.

The aim of the program is to locate in Iowa and elsewhere students with the potential but not the hope of achievement and fulfillment in higher education.

Most of the 42 students brought to the U of I last week under EOP are black, though whites, a Mexican-American, an American Indian, and an American oriental are also included. Half the members of the group are from Iowa, and half are from out of state, and 11 of them are transferring from two-year colleges. There are 25 women and 17 men, and all are enrolled in the College of Liberal Arts.

Phillip E. Jones, a U of I alumnus named coordinator of EOP July 1, said the students face the problem of "how to make it" in a culture different from the one they grew up in. At the U of I they will have access to personal and academic counselors to help them develop tools for higher education, as well as the self-confidence "to be all they can be," he said.

The students are being housed in University dormitories. A variety of sources are being used to meet the students' expenses for tuition, board and room, books and pocket money. Among them are parents' contributions, federal, private and institutional funds, part-time jobs and loans. Expenses beyond the range of these sources will be covered by the Martin Luther King Scholarship Fund.

Most of the students were encouraged to begin with a study load of 12 semester-hours, as opposed to the usual assignment of 15 hours. Each has been assigned to one of 10 faculty members in the College of Liberal Arts who volunteered as an advisor to help the students choose their courses.

In addition, two of the transfer students have been named as counseling assistants to work with Jones and the students. They are Ted Hughes of Des Moines, who transferred from Area 10 Community College in Cedar Rapids; and Cynthia Turner, who transferred from North Iowa Area Community College in her hometown of Mason City. Hughes is based in the Office of Student Affairs, and Mrs. Turner has a position in the Office of Student Financial Aid.

Jones will oversee the entire program. A 27-year-old native of Chicago, Jones graduated from Tilden Technical High School there. He earned a bachelor's degree at the University of Illinois in 1963, and took a master's degree in physical education at Iowa in 1967.

During the 1967-68 academic year he taught at Northern High School in Flint, Mich. He was counselor for the Chicago Youth Center in 1963-64, and was a student assistant for the Iowa Upward Bound program in 1967.

Comments on Racial Bias by D.M. Writer

Overnight successes are not rare in show business these days, but in the field of writing, unless a novel is an instant best seller, it takes years of hard work, of submitting manuscripts and receiving rejection slips. For some a published work may not come for many years, for others, never.

July 28, 1968 may be the start for Velma Turner.

In July Velma received statewide Nebraska attention when her article—Black and White Make More than Gray—appeared in the Omaha Sunday World-Herald Magazine of the Midlands. The article told of the many hardships endured as a woman neither Negro nor white, rejected by some and ignored by others under racial conditions.

Here is an excerpt of the article: "I write, not as a Negro, fighting for his rights and trying to overcome the pitfalls of living which are 'pregnated' by being black . . . not as a white liberal or sympathetic, and trying to understand . . . but as a person caught between the two . . . an individual belonging to neither, being of both . . ."

Velma told the Bystander Tuesday that "People are coming out for us (Negroes) more and more each day. There are more projects going to give Negroes opportunity. To see it abused the way it has been is sickening. This abuse goes back to the few rotten apples in the barrel, whether they are brown, green or red."

The first published word—a poem—goes back to 1961, in the "Crib-sheet," published by the Blank Memorial Guild in Des Moines. It was also presented on the Gordon Gammick Show. Later that year the short story "Don't Run, Little Girl," was under contract by Leslie Goodwin Productions in Hollywood. She then produced the "Young Adults News" at the YWCA in Des Moines for two years, and in 1967-68 was editor of "Tele Hope," a monthly newsletter for Project Headstart. During the latter year she was a lyricist in Omaha for Modern Attractions.

After "Black and White," she was contacted by the Nebraska Daughters of the American Revolution to speak in April, 1969 in Norfolk, Neb., and has been employed at the Sunday World. Tentative schedules call for attending Grandview Junior College in February, 1969, by means of a government funded grant.

Next time George Wallace appears on television turn down the sound and put on an Amos and Andy record. That way you'll have true integration with Wallace in the middle of it. You can do the same with Nixon, California's answer to Iowa's Beautiful-Land license plates.

Harvey went campaigning around the country over the weekend. He's running for president, you know.

Excerpts from his speech are as follows—"The 1968 presidential election will be a turning point for America, not only in a political sense, but also in philosophy . . ."

when, in past years, America wholeheartedly pitched herself into the frenzy of zip top cans, inviting one Negro to integrate a cocktail party and Federal government, she now, predictively, will become a progressive reactionary, a non-involved, armed-to-the-teeth defensive country . . . one candidate, HHH—Himmel

H. Hotpot—represents the former America, clad with its mistakes and idealism, while Sick Rickson and George (or Ginky) Fallace represent defense against its own and other governments and peoples. Many voters supporting these candidates persist in believing that Communism, scabble, crime in the streets (which has been here since the first famous shot was fired, in the street, by the way) will magically disappear, that poverty will return to its dark hiding place along with minorities and that with lower taxes, they will become richer and live happily ever after . . .

"They may be forgetting that none of the candidates will be able to make these problems leave, and that even the forthcoming new administration will be unable to bring about instant changes.

"It will be up to ME to plan how (and not the country, in repealed federal laws or defensive purgings or a militia) to rid my land of its economic greed which breeds these conditions . . ." When asked what his solution was, presidential candidate Harve just said something about the "naked and the dead".

SIOUX CITY

MRS. ALBERT SMITH
217 W. 14th Street

The Sioux City branch of the NAACP held their monthly meeting at the Sanford Center on Thursday,
Sept. 19. Guest speaker was Julius
E. Williams of Kansas City, Mo. He is the Regional Director of Region Four.

William said that the 1968 election would be "crucial", and said he feels that the association "though always political but non-partisan, should certainly take a look at the candidates who are running on both the national and local scene. Try to evaluate them as it is their relevance to our position and then vote accordingly."

Although there are those descending elements on the horizon, Williams said, that would like to carry been made, we are to take a firm look and see what direction "we really want to go."

SANTA BARBARA, Pacoima, Pomona, Los Angeles, and San Diego, Calif. and Tijuana, Mexico, are both interesting and beautiful vacation sites when enjoyed with friends, such as Thelma and Frederick Bernard, Katherine and Norman Majors, and Venette Pauley. These friends, together with their families and friends were all one required for a perfect vacation.

LOS ANGELES: You do recall LeForrest Clark, brother of Luther Clark, Jr. (Whose wife is Singer Mary Clark). These young men, as many of you remember, are the grandsons of Dr. Alvin Jefferson, whose memory we cherish. Their father, Luther Clark, Sr. passed away about two years ago and their mother, Mrs. Marie Parker Clerk, following a car accident early this year. LeForrest and I renewed our acquaintance through Mrs. Lonnie Gardener, wife of his brother-in-law. Even L.A. is small in this way?

DELORES DUNCAN FRELOT answered my call to the Veterans Administration Chief of Outpatient's Office where she is secretary. Delores is the daughter of Mrs. Thelma Clark and Theodore Duncan. I'm hoarding her address for my next trip there.

SAW FLORENCE P. CARTER AND JENNIFER BETHEL who had accompanied Janice Carter to the airport for her return flight to Des Moines. Replying to my inquiry re what Iowans lived near her, Florence listed Helen Schackelford Allen, Dr. Paul Williams, Marian and Ozzie Lewis and Shirley Spangler.

WHEN NORMAN AND KATHERINE MAJORS (Formerly Katherine Parker) moved to L.A. their two older children were very small. Now family people, they lose no time in pursuit of their careers. Connie and her husband, Archie Smith, have three young daughters, Kathy 12, Nettie 10 and Loree 6. She is a full-time Los Angeles Trade Technical College cosmetology student and full-time employee at Litton Industries, an electronics firm. Archie is a supervisor there.

LAS VEGAS: "Dorothy Elmore?" "Does she have a sister, Florence?" These questions from a stranger whom I had asked if he knew these two. He went on to explain "Of course, I know them. I've known them since they first came here!"

Readers, you can't remember when the Elmores left — so long ago? Right! My stranger did not know their addresses, but C. P. Miller, who is affiliated with O.E.O., I understand, happened to be in the office of The Voice, cleared the way for an office employee to contact Dorothy. She phoned me! In less than 35 minutes she had joined me! What a happy reunion. We met again when she visited me in L.A. We've still not finished our visit! The Elmores — Dorothy is Mrs. Ralph McCant; whereas Florence, though she has wed, chooses to continue her business life as an Elmoer — have been a big part of the Las Vegas business and civic world! Hence, I had only to give the name Elmore to find them. (My address book? The one with their names? At home!) Their brothers, you'll recall, are Leo and Ben of Omaha, Nebraska. They are nieces and nephews of our Mrs. Katherine Mease Elmore! (To the Elks these lines are not news — you see The Elmores established an Elks organization in Las Vegas.)

AMAZING AMOUNTS of material remain unrecorded for lack of space, but this does not lessen the pleasure of meeting old and new friends gave me.

STRETCHING RIGHTS
TOO FAR

The right of free speech and protest are valuable rights to any citizen but today entirely too many people are abusing those rights.

It is found in the strikes by school teachers and many young people—Negro and white—on college campuses and those self styled protestors who are as much interested in causing confusion and discord as settling problems.

Here in Iowa, we have experienced a ridiculous situation in Waterloo. What started out as a series of simple requests degenerated into riots, destruction of property, injury to some people and the disruption of orderly school schedules.

There is no reason why public officials cannot adjust their problems with substantial intelligent people—young and old—rather than whittle away their time with those people who by their conduct are making votes for former Governor Wallace.

It all adds up to the leniency with which we have dealt with hoodlums and the timid confrontation with extremists who, in the name of protest, have disrupted schools, states and business beyond rule or reason. They all tend to divide the population into segments one against the other for their own selfish interest.

WALLACE HAS BEEN A HABITUAL LAW VIOLATOR

Dick Gregory said he was glad former Governor Wallace was running for President for he points up that there are more racists in America than we know about.

And add to the fact that the John Birchers, the Ku Klux Klan, the White Citizens Councils and other racists are heading Wallace's campaign, we find why he makes a good showing in the polls.

Every man has a right to run for President but it finds America pitiful when such a demagogue can draw so much strength.

People will listen to a speaker when he says what they want to hear. Surely Wallace is praying upon ignorance, prejudice and hate with proposals which have no chance of achievement.

Last week, he proposes that U. S. judges stand for confirmation each four or six years vowing to push a constitutional amendment to accomplish that purpose. This, of course, is ridiculous and yet a lot of unthinking people swallow his proposal.

He told the people in Little Rock, that Eisenhower and Nixon put soldiers in their community with bayonets at the back. But he fails to remind the people that it would not have happened had they obeyed the law. And he would not have had occasion to obstruct justice had he obeyed the law and obstructed justice when he was governor.

Wallace, like a lot of other people, are champions of law and order and yet select the laws they will obey and disobey others. His whole career has been one of inconsistency and a willingness to talk out of both sides of his mouth when it is to his advantage.

He is a dangerous character.

JAMES CAMP DREW
NO COLOR LINE

Des Moines lost one of its outstanding business executives Sunday in the death of James M. Camp, chairman of the board of United Federal Savings and Loan Association.

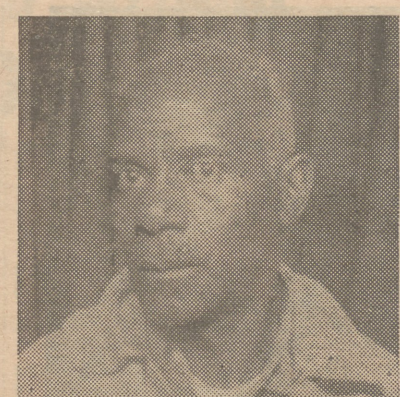

We have complained much, and rightly so, of those who have not been in step with the equal opportunity. On the other hand, we should commend those who have made contributions to our community.

Prior to the organization of his company in 1933, mortgage money at the going rate was not available to Negroes or some refused to make loans in mixed neighborhoods.

Not Jim Camp. His only requirement was adequate security; maintenance of the property and assurance that the borrower could make the payments. Others followed his program later with the results that it is working well.

It is a monument for Negro homeowners and we feel it is well to remind them of that fact.

SPORTS

With Allen Ashby

When that Oregon State back broke loose for a million yards and that first score the Iowa fans thought it was merely a repeat performance of last year when the Beavers swamped the Hawks. We would give the writers light to search their vocabularies for words like undermanned, gallant but futile and inexperienced. Maybe a few others also.

Well, when Iowa came back to score everyone hoped it might be a respectable game. Then at the half people thought, well, no matter if the roof caves in now, we have seen a good first half. Then as the game wore on and the big visitors could seem to manage only one more score the idea was it was a good game. When the big rally came and Iowa finally got that winning score, the folks in Cedar Rapids could have heard the yells.

We don't look for any wonders from the Hawkeyes. They still have one heluva schedule with teams like Notre Dame and Purdue waiting, but it looks as if they have turned the corner and in another year or so will get on the winning side again. They just might do better in the Big Ten this year.

At Iowa State the Cyclones' winning streak was short-lived as Arizona State showed the defense how to get picked to pieces by a good passer. And that game was better than the score indicated.

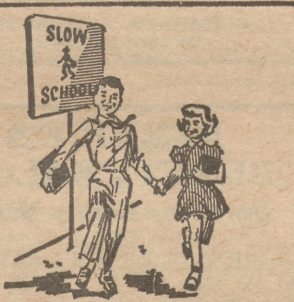

Drake had problems here at home. The Bulldogs literally got run over by their opponents. Maybe they will come up again this week.

Among our high schools, Dowling looks to be the class of the city. They have a guy named Humphrey who can really fly. East looks as if they will be hard to beat, but the team to really watch is North. Those guys have speed to bear in that backfield and if their defense holds up could be the surprise of the year.

Don't know what to say about Tech. We hear all sorts of the ones as to what is wrong but we just don't know. Maybe we will find out.

Too bad our local semi-pro team had to fold. We were called out to do a story on them once, but got rained out.

Wonder what sort of a sports program Des Moines would support? They have killed baseball, professional football. Now this semi-pro thing. We wonder how ice hockey hangs on. When we were in other days they used to draw more fans out to a game between two local teams than the Demons in both their home games. Just about every section of town had a football team and the championship game. Those were big crowds.

Hawkeyes Upset Ore.
In 21-20 Victory Sat.

The Hawkeyes, with Frank Gilliam, end and receiver football coach, began its 1968 season Saturday, with offensive end Raynard Manning, 6 feet, four inches, weighing 196. A offensive end sophomore from Wichita Falls, Tex., Manning has been termed a strong blocker who can slip into receiving territory. In his two freshman games Manning caught six passes for 54 yards.

Offensive tackle Melvin Morris, 6 feet, two inches, weighing 241 was a starter during most of the 1967 season. Louis Age, a sophomore from New Orleans, La., challenged several talented rookies and has power straight ahead or on pulling plays, according to the coaches. He lettered in three sports as a La., prepster and played on two state championship grid teams. He is six feet, three inches tall and weighs 210 pounds. He plays offensive guard.

Green

Tailback Denny Green, 185 pound sophomore from Harrisburg, Pa., will probably be the only sophomore starter in the Hawkeye backfield. Partner Bill Powell of Gaffney, S.C. will be another rookie speedster. The sophomore is an all state honorable mention in high school, and during championship play ran two ninety-yard touchdowns.

In the defensive lineup are Ken Price, sophomore, from Houston, Tex. Mike Phillips, junior of Evanston, Ill., who joined the starting lineup at offensive tackle last year. He is a three sport letterman and all state footballer in high school. Linebacker Greg Allison of San Diego, Calif., moved to linebacker from defensive guard. Iowa coaches rate him as an all-conference candidate with the strength and quickness to handle the toughest offensive linemen in the then. Now from watching the attendances of the Des Moines Warriors we might think those same three thousand fans were still around because that was about par for their crowds.

And while we are still on football, North could be on its way up. They have a good sophomore team with a couple of good runners named Lewis and Kirby. This Kirby is a brother of Jim Kirby, but not as fast.

Now one last tennis note. They finally stopped Arthur Ash after he had won thirty straight matches. He lost in the semi-finals of the Pacific Southwestern meet. In a tournament like that in the U.S., champions have won. Usually some guy who is well rested and ready beats the top seat.

league. Defensive halfback are Ray Church of Greencastle, Ind., Raciore Cavole of Kansas City, Mo.; rotators Coleman Lane and Charles Bolden.

Iowa's schedule for 1968 will be Sept. 28, Texas Christian at Ft. Worth; Oct. 5, Notre Dame at Iowa City; Oct. 12, Indiana at Iowa City; Oct. 19, Wisconsin at Iowa City; Oct. 26, Purdue at Lafayette; Nov. 2, Minnesota at Minneapolis; Nov. 9, Dad's Day, at Iowa City; Nov. 16, Ohio State at Iowa City; and Nov. 23, Illinois, at Champaign.

Iowa City—The University of Iowa tripped past Oregon State Saturday in a thrilling upset, 21-20, with rookie Dennis Green showing his flair with a nine yard run early in the fourth quarter.

Iowa State, Drake Lose

Ames, Iowa—Iowa State lost to Arizona Saturday, 21-12. The Iowa State led at the half, 12-7.

Des Moines, Iowa—Drake was pounded Saturday when it ran up against Arkansas State, 46-14.
