Julian Bond to Be at Grinnell College

Legislator To Appear Sept. 5-7

Grinnell, Ia. — Julian Bond, a Georgia state legislator who is rapidly gaining national prominence, will be a political lecturer and politician-in-residence at Grinnell College Friday and Saturday, Sept. 12-13.

"The Political Outsiders: The Poor, The Black, The Young" will be the topic of a public lecture to be delivered by Bond at 8 p.m. Friday in Darby Gymnasium.

Bond, who will be at Grinnell under the sponsorship of the college's Program in Practical Political Education (PPPE), will also make two classroom appearances; participate in a press conference; meet informally with students at lunch, breakfast, and two coffee hours; have dinner with the campus political discussion group; confer with the Grinnell Concerned Black Students; and meet with officers of other campus organizations.

"One of the most dynamic young black leaders in the country, Bond has chosen to try and assist the poor, the black, the young, and other 'outsider' groups by working within the existing political system," noted C. Edwin Gilmore, associate professor of political science and director of the PPPE. "He is building a political foundation that promises to make him one of America's top leaders of the future."

Bond, now 29, was elected to a reapportionment-created seat in the Georgia House of Representatives in 1965. However, legislators objecting to Bond's statements on the Vietnam War managed to prevent him from taking his seat.

After winning a second election — to fill his vacant seat — a special House committee again barred Bond from membership in the legislature.

A third election, in November, 1966, was won by Bond, and in December of that year the U.S. Supreme Court ruled that he was entitled to membership in the Georgia House. He took the oath of office and became a member of the House on Jan. 9, 1967.

Crown Miss Black America

New York, N.Y. — A New Miss Black America was crowned here last Friday night at a gala black beauty pageant co-sponsored by The Motown Record Corporation.

Tall, statuesque Gloria Smith, 24, a New York switchboard operator, wearing an Afro hair style which towered fully eight inches above her pretty face, was proclaimed Miss Black America 1969 to the approving cheers of 6,000 persons.

Miss Smith, who weighed in at 34-23-34, received a cash prize from Motown Records as part of her title. But the slender young beauty could likely end up as a new Motown sound since she sang a song she had written herself for the talent competition. The winner will also get a chance to appear on the TV show "Julia."

Motown President Berry Gordy Jr. has become the first recipient of the National Association of Television and Radio Announcers' (NATRA) Martin Luther King Jr. Leadership Award. The award was presented at NATRA's Annual Awards

Berry Gordy Jr.

Dinner before more than 2,000 black broadcasters, record industry officials, entertainers, and Washington officials.

The citation from the black broadcasters' service organization read: "Berry Gordy Jr. challenged the unknown, penetrated the barriers of the record industry, by establishing a successful company which brought new and exciting opportunities for black artists, producers, writers and executives. His development of the Motown Sound alerted the record industry to a new sound and a new black awareness."

Rights Unit in Waterloo To Ask Review on Girl's Complaint Against Police

WATERLOO, IA. — The Waterloo Human Rights Commission announced Friday, August 29 that it is requesting a city Civil Service Board review of a complaint lodged by a 20-year-old black girl against two policemen here.

A resolution recommending that Mayor Lloyd Turner ask for the "immediate review" was passed at a secret meeting of the Human Rights Commission Wednesday night, it was disclosed.

Iowa law prohibits governmental bodies from conducting a meeting without first notifying news media of the time and place. News-

Black G.I. Turned Down Name Negroes at RI Trailer Court

ROCK ISLAND, ILL. — Vietnam-bound Army Spec. 5 Robert Medearis says three mobile home courts in the Illinois Quad-Cities denied him rental space last week when they learned he is black.

Medearis was forced to rent space in a mobile home court in Davenport for his wife and eight-year-old daughter while he serves his 13 months in Vietnam. Medearis and his wife lived in Rock Island before he entered the service, and he wanted his family to be close to relatives and friends when he left for Vietnam.

"Stomach Turned" He says he had calmly accepted his assignment to Vietnam until he brought his mobile home to Rock Island and "his stomach turned" for two days while he looked for a place to park it. Now, he says, he wonders if "we oughta make sure we've got freedom here in the United States before we go to some other country and fight for it."

The Illinois Quad-Cities human rights groups are investigating the case now, and have indicated they plan to push for a fair housing code in Rock Island County. One of the mobile home courts named by Medearis is located outside the Rock Island city limits. The city has an ordinance.

Medearis' problem could have been even more serious. The trucker who transported his mobile home to Rock Island agreed to wait until he found space, then to truck the home across the river to Davenport. "He could have just unloaded it over in Rock Island. That was the original agreement. Then where would we have been?" remarked Medearis.

Medearis said he had telephoned three mobile home courts that indicated they had rental space for his unit. When he arrived to close the deal, at each mobile home court, he was told no space existed.

Said Medearis: "This makes me mad. I never thought we'd run into anything like this when we moved our home from Ft. Riley, Kan. My wife and I have lived here before."

"Now I'm supposed to go over to a foreign country and get shot at while these other people stay back here and make their money. And they won't even let my wife and child live where they want to live."

The mobile home court is about 10 miles away from where Mrs. Medearis wanted to live while her husband is in Vietnam. Their daughter, Terri, will have to attend a different school from the one they wanted her to attend in Rock Island — and they think she will be the only black child in it. "I'm worried about that," said Mrs. Medearis.

The compromise recommendation was proposed and passed about three hours after the commission on Wednesday afternoon split 4-4 on a proposed resolution to recommend suspension of the police officers. Voting for the original proposal were four black members of the commission. Opposing it were four

Night Clerk Robbed at Inn

A lone gunman held up the night clerk at the National Motor Inn, 921 Sixth ave., early Monday and escaped with $29, police were told.

Moen said the man had a scar on the left side of his chin. Classes for foreign born students began Tuesday, September 2 with both daytime and evening classes offered. Classes in citizenship will begin today, September 4 at 7:00 p.m. All classes will be held at Whittier Adult Education Center, East 14th and Washington Avenue. Calls Emergency In Connecticut Capital; 90 Arrested, 12 Hurt

Hartford, Conn. — Following nightlong rioting, burning and looting in which a mile and half area of stores were destroyed, and a dozen injured including three policemen and two firemen the mayor of this beleaguered city declared a state of emergency.

More than 90 persons had been arrested in the area, Hartford's predominantly Negro North End; it was reported "quieting down" Tuesday but a tense situation remained as National Guardsmen stood on guard to prevent looters.

Snipers The most seriously injured was Anthony Fazzinelli, 46, a uniformed police dog handler who underwent surgery for a bullet wound. Police said he was shot in the right thigh, apparently by sniper. A police captain said his men had exchanged fire with snipers on rooftops in one area.

Buildings most seriously damaged by fire included those housing a mattress factory and a branch of the public library. Police and firemen were pelted with rocks and bottles. Police were called to protect firemen battling the numerous blazes.

USE TEAR GAS ON DAYTON CROWD

DAYTON, OHIO — Police used tear gas early Tuesday to break up a rock-throwing crowd that formed at the Montgomery County Fairgrounds and then began marching toward downtown Dayton.

The mob, predominantly Negro and made up mostly of juveniles, tossed rocks and bottles and broke windows in several business places, police reported.

Police said fire bombs touched off blazes at two business places, but damage was less than $1,000 at each building.

State Police sealed off Parkesburg to outsiders and called in about 100 policemen from nearby towns. All taverns were closed.

New Violence In Ft. Lauderdale

FORT LAUDERDALE, FLA. — Vandals and others "who have a propensity for breaking and entering" sparked a second consecutive night of shooting, looting, fires and rock-throwing in Fort Lauderdale, Sheriff Edward Stack said Tuesday. Police arrested 42 persons during the disturbance Monday night. Four policemen were hurt, as were several civilians.

Police Chief Robert Johnston said two cars, a food market, a vacant house and a septic-tank firm's office were set ablaze.

Violence had erupted in this resort city Sunday night after a sheriff's deputy stopped a drag racer and a woman was shot in the crowd which gathered. Rumors spread that police shot the woman, but officers said she was felled by a sniper's bullet in the face.

Bootleggers Reopen Despite Police ; Doing Flourishing Business

Despite a massive police crackdown bootleggers in the Model Cities area were re-opened and apparently doing a flourishing business just three days after they were closed down following numerous arrests.

A tour of the area Friday night, Aug. 29 indicated that business as usual was the rule in a number of places in which the owner or others were arrested for illegally selling liquor or narcotics.

This was three days after the Polk County Grand Jury indicted 35 persons on a total of 42 charges of bootlegging and narcotics violations. It was two days after most of the defendants had been arrested, arraigned and released on bail. Police Chief Wendell Nichols estimated that the arrests involved more than 60 percent of the illegal liquor sellers in Des Moines. He said more arrest could be expected. But Friday, some -- although not all -- of the bootleggers seemed to be operating again.

2 Dozen Cars

As many as two dozen cars were parked on the block near one place that was closed Tuesday and a steady flow of people was moving in and out.

Other places seemed to be doing some business, although not as much as normal for a Friday night. And some spots that had been hit were apparently closed altogether.

Residents of the Model

Cities area, northwest of downtown, have been complaining for months about flourishing bootleg operations in their community. They charged that the police permit the operations to continue as long as they don't spread to more prosperous neighborhoods. Police started planning the last week's raids shortly after the complaints were reported last November.

Main Obstacle

Officials have said in the past that the main obstacle to closing the bootleg places is the difficulty of purchasing liquor from illegal operators and then having that evidence stand up in court. Police recruits and others unknown to the bootleggers were used to make the alleged purchases that resulted in last week's arrests.

County Attorney Ray Fenton said residents of the Model Cities area gave police many of the tips leading to the purchases. "We know we have this problem in the Model Cities area," said Ralph Guisinger, president of the Model Cities Planning Board. "And we've been wanting to see something done."

Plans Church Urban Consultations Here

The Rev. James M. Shopshire, pastor of Burns United Methodist Church, Des Moines, is a leader in an Urban Consultation to be held in Des Moines Sept. 5 to 13. Ministers and laymen from the city will be taking a hard look at the questions - what is the city? and what is the church's mission in it? Mr. Shopshire said it is perhaps the first attempt by churchmen to really look at the city in which they live and worship.

The Burns pastor shares in the idea and the leadership of the consultation sponsored by the Metropolitan Coordinating Council of the United Methodist Church.

HOW ARE YOU PROGRAMMING YOUR LIFE?

Computer experts freely admit that what comes out of a computer is only as good as what's put into it in the first place.

Have you ever stopped to think how much your own life runs on the same basis? The kind of thought you put into your life determines what you get out of it. This is why your thinking is so important.

Thousands have found that controlling their thinking is not a matter of exercising human will but understanding and using their God-given rights to order, happiness, and a sense of purpose.

Hear Nathaniel R. White of The Christian Science Board of Lectureship discuss this subject in a free public lecture entitled "What Controls Your Thought?"

Editor of The American Banker, Staff Information Director of the Committee for Economic Development (The C.E.D.), and Business and Financial Editor of The Christian Science Monitor. Mr. White received two Freedom Awards and two Loeb Newspaper Awards for "distinguished reporting of business and financial news."

Delays Deadline for Miss. Desegregation

NEW ORLEANS, LA. -- A federal appeals court Thursday granted a second delay in the deadline for 30 Mississippi school districts to submit acceptable desegregation plans. According to a Justice Department request, it put the date back from next Monday to Dec. 1.

In a decision written by Chief Judge John R. Brown, the appeals court also ordered the U.S. Office of Education to submit by Dec. 1 its proposals for integration in those school districts which do not reach an agreement with the federal agency on a plan.

FORMER CROCKER Y-MCA SECRETARY GORDON KITCHEN'S RECENT VISIT TO DES MOINES after his July 1969 retirement is a full circle return to the starting point of a successful, action-packed public service career. One of Grinnell College's early black students, Kitchen's step into the role of Crocker Y-MCA secretary followed the pioneer groundwork of the late Atty. S. Joe Brown, Archie Alexander and O. L. Glass. Continuing the work begun by these men were A.P. Trotter and W.C. Buice now retired but very much a part of the current civic scene. Kitchen's visit was preceded by that of Quentin Mease, his successor at the Crocker Y-MCA. Quentin for many years has been secretary of the Phyllis Wheatley Y-MCA, Houston, Texas.

KITCHEN THOUGHT WELL OF MY SUGGESTION that there may be advantages in a Northern student investing some part of his college years in a Southern school. I ask that he list some of the schools one might consider. Among these were Tuskegee Institute, Alabama; Talladega, Alabama; Fiske U., Nashville, Tenn.; Knoxville College, Knx., Tenn.; Bethune-Cookman, Daytona, Fla.; Florida A&M, Tallahassee, Fla.; Tennessee A&I State, Nashville, Tenn.; Texas A&M Univ., Houston, Texas; Hampton Institute, Hampton, Va.; Clark College, Atlanta, Ga.; Spellman Institute, Atlanta, Ga.; (specifically for girls); Morehouse College (specifically for men); Morris Brown, an AME Church School, also of Atlanta; Alcorn College, Alcorn, Miss.; Jackson College, Jackson, Miss.; Wiley Univ., Dallas, Texas; Grambling, Grambling, La.; Xavier Univ., New Orleans, La.; Dillard Univ., N.O. and Southern University, Baton Rouge, La.

KITCHEN OBSERVED that Southern schools are basically more interested in the youth at this time than some of the other schools. "I think it is important" if the goal of their education is to equip them "to help people, particularly their own kind that they select one of these schools. This is because I think any one of these schools is basically interested in people—black people. The black goal seems to be to seek unity of the blacks; greater effort and stress are placed on developing as a strong, economically independent group. This then might serve as a beginning toward these achievements—an education in a black-oriented setting. There are cultural advantages. If one is really interested in an ethnic group, this is where it is to be found," he concluded.

MRS. GORDON KITCHEN IS A SURPRISE to some readers, when it is pointed out that she is Des Moines' former Dorothy Hughes! In addition to rearing a family, she is a kindergarten teacher in the Muskegon County District, Columbus, Georgia. She finds time to serve as Chairman of the Board of Directors of the Fifth Avenue Community Center, a red feather

THE KITCHEN BLOOD IS ACCOUNTED FOR IN THESE NOTES: Gordon Kitchen, II is in the postal service in Cleveland, Ohio. Joy Ward (Mrs. Clinton Ward, Jr.) is assistant principal in a Chicago school; Ward is comptroller of the Chicago Metropolitan Insurance Co. Victoria Steele (Mrs. Warren B.) is a specialist in retardation and former instructor with the National Epilepsy School located in Leesburg, Va. She is now living in Columbus, Indiana, where her husband, a Lieutenant Colonel, retired from the U.S. Army, is in the Personnel Department of Cummins Engineering Company.

BURGESS P. SHIELDS REMEMBERED TO GIVE US A LINE about his summer vacation flight via United Air Lines to Seattle, Washington, where he attended the General Assembly of the University Christian Church's National Convention. Shields found the meetings highly informative and a pleasure. He reports that Rev. Dr. Curtis Jones, a pastor of University Christian Church, introduced Governor Robert Ray, guest speaker at the Convention's banquet on Sunday afternoon, August 17. The next session, a World Convention in 1970, will convene in Australia. Shields was impressed by Seattle's beauty, its industrial importance in American history, and its daring for a city of its size in successfully undertaking the 1962 World's Fair, Century 21 Exposition; its water harbor is the closest major U.S. port to Alaska and the Orient were among his observations.

Double Ring Ceremony Unites Diane Hunt and Warren Williams Jr.

Miss Diane Kay Hunt became the lovely bride of Warren Williams Jr., in a double ring ceremony on Sunday, Aug. 23 at 8 p.m. at St. Paul A.M.E. Church with the Rev. William S. Heath performing the ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wilbert Hunt of 333 Creston and the groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Warren Williams Sr. of Chicago, Ill.

The Empire bodice of lace had a modified jewel neckline accented with tiny pearls and iridescent sequins with lace forming a scalloped edge. The elbow length sleeves of lace were slightly flared and edged in scallops. An A-line panel of organza formed the front of the skirt. Small medallions of lace were scattered over the front and a large motif of lace touched with iridescent sequins was appliqued at the lower center.

The low back neckline was finished with a collar of lace accented with a bow of organza at the center. Lace gathered beneath the collar formed the very full back skirt which floated over the peau de soie sheath and swept into a full circular train of cathedral length.

Her elbow length veil of illusion was held by a face framing bandeau of flow-

Self-corded encircled the waistline. A large tailored bow marked the bow squared V back neckline. Soft gathers created a back panel that cascaded from the bow to the hemline. Shirring around the waist added a bit of fullness to the skirt.

Their headresses were circlets of illusion held by face framing bows of georgette in matching color.

Flower Girl

They carried bouquets of baby breath and daisies with white streamers... They wore shoes matching their gowns.

The flower girl, Tracy Lynne Daye wore a billowy, hooped and white satin dress in floor length, held by a large rosette in back with streams reaching the floor. A tiara scattered with seed pearls was her headwear with

Your professional beautician knows the answer...

Can your hair be damaged from brushing, alone?

All hair becomes damaged from exposure to sun and natural elements. Certain greasy compounds and many chemicals, improperly used, also take their toll... not to mention simple attempts at beautifying the hair with any brush not made of natural bristles. The results are brittleness, breakage, dry and dull looking hair.

Your professional beautician knows how artificial bristles actually brush away a great deal of the "lubricants" of the hair that give it body, lustre and protection. And trained beauticians claim that nothing beats Clairol® condition® Beauty Pack Treatment for overcoming brittleness, dryness and breakage... leaving hair lively and easy to manage. condition® is an easy-to-work-with cream which can even be applied during a chemical straightening retouch to prevent drying of hair that has been previously relaxed. condition® is the ultimate in repairing deep-damage. And, when time is a factor for their customers, hairdressers turn to new Clairol® Hair Dew®—the lotion conditioner that penetrates so fast many think of it as an instant conditioner. When applied regularly by your beautician, Clairol Hair Dew adds body, softens and gives a glowing new look to your hair that many friends will notice and admire.

Damage can come from using brushes with artificial bristles. But damage to every woman's hair comes from so many other causes that all human hair (including wigs) needs to be revitalized periodically. Visit your professional beautician and ask this expert to check the condition of your hair.

Only your professional beautician knows the answer for sure.

UNIONS CAUSE THE CLASHES IN PITTSBURG

Pittsburgh, Pa.—One of America's large industrial centers to which thousands of Negroes have come during the past forty years, has been plagued with racial demonstrations and confrontations by Negroes with building trades employers. They contend that in spite of the building boom where 30,000 employees work, Negroes constitute 2 per cent of the force.

Some dangerous confrontations occurred which, of course, had city officials worried. For here efforts were made to relieve a bad situation which Negroes did not bring about while white workers, who in the final analysis could have forestalled this years ago, found themselves kept off the job by the very people they have kept out of the union.

At the top, organized labor has supported the cause of the Negro, but as a practical matter the rank and file has left him on the low ranks of the ladder.

The late President Franklin Roosevelt, in his program to help labor share the fruits of his endeavor made unions membership a condition precedent to securing the higher paid jobs and at the same time provided the Negro no protection against greedy prejudiced locals. The president was unwilling, although he had things under complete control, to make exclusion from membership because of race and unfair labor practice. Thus skilled employment for Negroes has been restricted over the years and not only are there few in most of the trades but also apprenticeship training sponsored by the government has done nothing. It is only now that local communities, stung by demands of Negro leaders, are doing something about the problem.

These workers are resorting to court action to stop construction jobs. Where they are excluded, as in Pittsburgh, alleging violation of the civil rights law. Labor unions can prevent these dangerous clashes by assuring Negroes a fair share of the apprenticeships and journeymen. Of course, in most instances, that fair share of jobs is more than journeymen are available but it can be worked if labor unions want to be fair. Otherwise more clashes - not only in Pittsburgh but also other large cities.

SCHOOL ADMINISTRATORS MUST BE FIRM

Schools, colleges and universities are opening this month calling millions to the classrooms. Most of these youngsters, by far, are there to pursue an education while the small minority of militants, black and white, will be on hand to make trouble for school administrations and disrupt classes and everything that school administrations and disrupt classes and everything that schools are designed to accomplish.

Unfortunately, school administrations generally have been caught off guard by the rioting of students and failed to deal with them effectively. In fact, most of them have tried so hard to please these troublemakers that they have abdicated their responsibility thus denying the majority their right to regular sessions for which they have paid.

These are bad lessons for youngsters in colleges. Maybe they have some reasonable demands but their method of securing them presents shameful examples on school campuses.

After all, most students have something definite in view and it is up to school authorities to not allow the rabble rouser to obstruct them.

DANGEROUS LURKINGS IN THE CLOSET

Periodically, somebody comes along with a suggestion how we can have some segregated classes in spite of law against it.

Recently, a Des Moines teacher suggested that a Negro cultural center be set up at one of the schools, eventually to be located in a separate building "where Negro students and teachers can be comfortable."

And, without much thought, we are sure some member of the board favored the idea.

Certainly the school board has no right to spend its funds for projects from which a part of the students are excluded and the suggestion of being comfortable hints that this is the idea.

If Negro culture is to be taught in the schools, make it a regular part of the curriculum which may or may not be elective.

More people who are advocating separate facilities in the school, do the youngsters a disservice for generally they will be working with white people in most lines of endeavor.

Deny Rehearing In Rights Death

New Orleans, La.—The 5th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals has denied a rehearing for seven men convicted on conspiracy charges in connection with the 1964 slaying of three civil rights workers at Philadelphia, Miss.

The 5th Circuit had upheld the convictions in a ruling July 17. On Thursday the court denied a rehearing and a petition for an en banc rehearing.

Michael Schwerner and Andy Goodman, both white New Yorkers, and James Chaney, a Meridian, Miss., Negro, were slain in 1964 in what the FBI called a Ku Klux Klan plot. Eighteen men were indicted by a federal grand jury on a charge of violating the civil rights of the three. Seven were convicted, mistrials were ruled for three others and eight were acquitted.

Having the last word may give you satisfaction, but it may also end a friendship.

SPORTS

With Allen Ashby

Of course, the main topic for discussion over the weekend was the return of the boys at Iowa U. So I went out and talked to a couple dozen of sports fans who are followers of Iowa football. Almost to a man they thought the fellows should have been accepted or rejected as a unit since their action in the spring was as a unit.

And if the head coach didn't set up the rules for acceptance and suggest the questions to be asked he should have because everyone of the fellows thought he did.

One guy who has connections at Iowa through relatives there said he was told that the fellows were talked down to as if they were little children. This may have been what was referred to as a mother attitudes that played a part in the voting. A couple of the players told me just a couple months ago that they wanted to play but they weren't going to any meeting on their knees.

Another fellow in town said you know most white people have a certain pattern of behavior that we ought to follow and if we don't we are bad. He thought some of the boys didn't fit that pattern. The help they get out of the Activities of the Iowa Civil Rights Commission

Anyone in Iowa who feels that he or she has been discriminated against in employment, housing or public accommodations should immediately contact the Iowa Civil Rights Commission (a state agency with enforcement powers). You can either (1) stop by (at the Commission office located at 1209 East Court Avenue in Des Moines, (2) write (to the Iowa Civil Rights Commission, State Capitol Building, Des Moines, Iowa 50319) or (3) phone (281/5129, area code 515).

Complaint
A staff member will contact the person IMMEDIATELY to get a formal complaint signed, and to begin the investigation. The complaint will be settled in a manner that is FREE (absolutely no cost to that person), EASY (Commission does all of the work, and even goes to the persons involved), SAFE (state law prohibits penalties for retaliation against anyone exercising his rights against discrimination).

NOTE: BARRASSING (Commission is forbidden by law to disclose names of persons involved in an investigation), and EFFECTIVE (Commission can order that discrimination be stopped and that necessary positive steps be taken to remedy the discriminatory practice -- and these Commission orders can be backed up by court orders).

7 Commissioners
The Commission consists of seven unpaid commissioners who act as policy makers, and eight full-time paid staff members presently (with one additional vacancy). Three of the commissioners and four of the staff members (including the staff director) are Negroes, and the rest are whites.

Look for this column every week, as the Commission reports on specific examples of how it has helped unnamed persons overcome discrimination.

But we would have to say don't overlook North. Those guys are over due for a good year and this might be it. East and Tech face rebuilding problems and maybe won't do too much this year. We understand East has a lot of problems to overcome before they can be tough again. Tech's problem seems to be getting the fellow who can play to play.

Some babies develop breathing problems at birth. Life hangs in the balance.

The shock of leaving a fluid-filled womb for a world of oxygen and gases can be overwhelming. Some infant lungs expand from breaths of air, a suffocating tissue forms in their air sacs and other parts of their lungs. Under the suffocating strain, the lungs can collapse completely.

Membranes
These babies - from 24,000 to 60,000 each year - have hyaline membrane disease. Most of them are premature babies. Patrick Bouvier Kennedy, President Kennedy's second son, had the disease. He died three days after birth.

Today there is a new hope for these babies. A decade ago, only 40 to 50 per cent of them survived. Today 60 to 80 per cent survive. The disease is still hazardous because it reduces the supply of oxygen to the brain and other body tissues. And this sets the stage for damage.

Better Chance
Today's survivors, however, have a better chance of escaping permanent damage.

Ten years ago, the babies were merely placed in an incubator to keep them warm. Today, in addition to incubators, treatment includes: intravenous feeding; continuous monitoring of the amount of oxygen and acid in the baby's food; and administration of oxygen and sodium bicarbonate as needed.

When a baby cannot breathe properly -- in spite of treatment -- he can be put in a respirator that mechanically breathes for him.

Proper lung function is a matter of life and breath. For more information about the lungs and how they work, see your local tuberculosis and respiratory disease association.

VETERANS

Q - After I file my application for educational allowance under the G.I. Bill, how long does it take to get my Certificate of Eligibility from the Veterans Administration?

A - Normally, it takes about three or four weeks. It is best to file for your Certificate of Eligibility upon being discharged from the Armed Forces regardless of whether or not you intend to use it immediately.

Q - I was issued a Certificate of Eligibility for education in 1967. I was unable to attend school then, but I plan to enroll this fall. It is for the same school and program. Should I get an updated certificate?

A - The original certificate is still good if the program of study and the school are still the same. A new certificate is required only if there is a change in your program or school.

Q - I understand I must make satisfactory progress in school in order to receive educational allowance from the Veterans Administration. What standard of progress does the VA require?

A - A veteran enrolled under laws administered by the VA must maintain satisfactory conduct and progress in accordance with the standards and policies of the educational institution he attends. If the school suspends the student, G.I. Bill benefits will also be suspended.
