Beth Acquitted in Muldrew Case

Found Not Guilty
Of Manslaughter

Nevada, Iowa -- Elizabeth Anne (Beth) Aronoff, 20, accused of the shooting death of Willie Muldrew, 21, was found not guilty of a charge of manslaughter early today.

STATE RESTS

Nevada, Ia. -- In a surprise move Wednesday, the state rested its case in the Muldrew murder trial here without calling more rebuttal witnesses. Consequently the case went to the jury for deliberation to decide the fate of the defendant, Elizabeth Anne (Beth) Aronoff, 20, who is accused of fatally shooting Willie Muldrew, 21, former Iowa State University football star.

The Bystander learned of the latest development from a long distance telephone call to the office, made by the deceased mother, Mrs. Beatrice Muldrew, Chicago, Ill., and the state's first rebuttal witness.

Muldrew was shot May 23 in an apartment at a married students' housing project. Miss Aronoff for the past seven days, has been on trial for manslaughter in connection with the killing.

After Parent Meeting Threatened to Block Move If Left Out

After a group of angry residents in the Bird-Grant schools area met in a meeting Sunday evening to formulate plans to block a proposed school bond issue that would exclude new buildings in their area, the Des Moines School Board at its public meeting Monday night boosted its total another half million to replace the two schools with a brand new structure.

The School Board will ask Des Moines voters to approve a $11.5 million bond issue. This will include a new elementary school to replace Bird and Grant Schools, both of which have a relatively high Negro enrollment. They were built in 1887 and 1885 respectively.

Original
Originally the School Board had proposed $11 million dollars which excluded the Bird and Grant Schools. The meeting Sunday night was organized by the Rev. James Shopshire who was defeated in his bid for a school board seat in recent elections. It was held at Kyles Temple A.M.E. Zion Church, 15th and Crocker streets.

70 Attend
About 70 persons - including parents of some Grant and Bird students, teachers at the two schools and several members of a citizens committee that drew up the proposal - attended the meeting.

An array of businessmen, church leaders, educators and parents appeared at a public hearing in Tech High auditorium to urge that a new Bird-Grant school be included.

Support
Some groups indicated they would not support the bond proposal without replacement for Bird and Grant schools.

Lynn Vorbich, 620 Forty-eighth st., told the board: "Bird and Grant replacement is almost a symbol of what this board is willing to do for equal educational opportunities in Des Moines. "It would be a concrete demonstration that this board really does intend to work to solve the problems."

Only Change
The board voted unanimously to include a new Bird-Grant school. It was the continued to page 3

Soul Man, James Brown, Rocks the House

By Frances E. Hawthorne

They came, the young and the very young, to hear their idol, James Brown, No. 1 Soul Man and international jazz singer.

The crowd of 3,500 was only a drop in the bucket in the cavernous Veterans Auditorium, but James (the Man) Brown, with his peerless 14-piece band, generated a rhythmic, jazz volume of sound that threatened to bring down the girded rafters.

They performed -- James Brown on his Key F scream, on his light fantastic feet, on the bellicose organ notes; the band with its improbable combination of three saxes, three trombones and two drummers; lovely vocalist Marva Whitney who almost out-starred her boss; and the JB dancers, who put every gyrating muscle into each furious pace setting beat.

The Pros

They performed like the pros they were -- for two and one-half hours to the delightful ecstasy of their main floor audience who indicated their deep appreciation by standing in their seats and swaying or stepping hypnotically to the music.

From James Brown's opening hit, "I'm Black and I'm Proud", to the feverish pitched jam session ending, "Popcorn", it was a rendition in sound, a blaring of brass in rhythm and blues.

Medal?

If the Olympics ever give a gold medal for a decathlon in music, the talented troupe of James Brown and company will walk off with honors -- bars and volumes ahead of all competitors.

Delighting the very young in the audience was Mitzie

Brewer, 9-year old daughter of Producer George Brewer, who opened the show. Also appearing was Chuck Holloway, KDPS Radio announcer.

Glory and Fame

Unlike his first appearance in Des Moines 11 years ago, James Brown returned in all the glory of his fame and million dollar success. His audience hung on every note, every scream, every muscle twitch. When he did a quick change artist of alternately donning three different bejeweled capes -- red, green and blue -- he climaxed his show.

The word had gotten around before he came that James Brown was a masterful showman. He was THAT and more.

One of the advantages of being the daughters of the producer of a show is that you get to get your pictures with the stars and their autographs. Doing just that in the picture at top are Georgina Brewer, and friend, Carmen Banks as they happily get autographs of Soul Singer James Brown while her producer-father George Brewer looks on.

Man, 22, Fair After Shooting

A 22-year-old Des Moines man was listed in fair condition at Mercy Hospital after being shot three times Saturday afternoon, Sept. 13, police said.

Raymond Forbush, 22, of 1326 E. Fifteenth st., was shot twice in the kidney area and once in the side at 1245 14th street, according to police.

Sgt. Jay Knight said Forbush refused to give police any details about the shooting.

Hunt Man in Shooting, Death Here Sunday

A warrant seeking the arrest of Robert Ellis Long, 28, of 937 16th street was issued by Des Moines Police in connection with the death of Eugene Hayes, 47, of 1107 7th street.

Hayes was shot twice, in the groin and head, according to Dr. Leo Luka, Polk County medical examiner, who set the time of death at 12:45 a.m. Sunday.

Second Man

A second man, Lee Windsor, 29, of 1604 Carpenter avenue, who police said witnessed the shooting, was picked up for questioning Monday by police. Windsor was also arrested on warrants charging him with arson, breaking and entering, and assault and battery in connection with an incident last January, authorities said.

In Jail

Windsor was in Polk County Jail Monday in lieu of a $3,500 bond. A hearing was set for Thursday, Sept. 25.

Six policemen raided a house at 1231 12th street about 7:30 p.m. after receiving a tip that Long was

Dartmouth Expects 90 Black Frosh

Hanover, N. H. -- Dartmouth College expects to have 90 black students among 850 incoming freshmen.

The college accepted 200 blacks, but anticipates that about 90 will register. Five years ago, 14 blacks enrolled out of 39 accepted.

Last year, 29 black students registered as freshmen. The 200 - year old institution has about 150 black alumni.

hiding there, but he was not found.

Long is described as a Negro about five feet, six inches tall, weighing 135 pounds, and possibly wearing a mustache. Police said he may be armed.

At the time of the shooting two police officers patrolling the area said they heard four shots about 12:30 a.m. in the 1100 block of Twelfth street. When they approached a house at 1186 Twelfth street, the officers said, they saw a man and a woman running away.

Hayes' body was found inside the house.

One of the fleeing persons, identified by authorities as a woman who witnessed the incident, was caught and questioned by police. The woman said she saw Hayes arguing with another man, and then heard the shots.

Threats

She told police that one of the men being sought for questioning had stopped her and demanded her name. When she refused to identify herself, she said, the man threatened to "get" her later.

3,000 March on 'Black Monday' in Pittsburg; Demand More Jobs

Pittsburgh, Pa. -- Blacks marched some 3,000 strong here on what they had declared "Black Monday", and carrying flags and placards demanding more jobs in the construction industry for minorities.

Leading the marchers from Negro Hill District to the downtown area were several persons who carried large black flags with a clenched fist -- symbol of black power -- painted on them.

Their Banner

The leaders said the flags were the banner of the Black Construction Coalition, which organized the march.

Many of the marchers were young white people, apparently students from universities which started classes Monday.

Destination

Destination of the procession was the construction site of U.S. Steel Corp.'s new office building. The marchers walked around the building, clapping their hands and chanting, then marched back to the Hill District where the crowd disbanded.

The demonstrators say they are unhappy with the progress of negotiations aimed at getting more black people in the building and trades unions.

Demonstration leaders also called on Negroes to boycott all stores in the downtown.

Halted Projects

The Black Construction Coalition conducted three days of demonstrations two weeks ago and succeeded in shutting down 10 major construction projects until negotiations were begun with representatives of contractors groups and skilled craft unions.

Rejected

The shutdown sparked two days of counter-demonstrations by angry construction workers who demanded to be allowed to work.

LET'S MEET

By: Maude Esther White

The Manpower Development and Training Act of 1962 was passed to provide classroom and on-the-job training in skills for the unemployed and the underemployed.

Focus of the original MDTA projects was training and rapid placement of those who had proven their capability as workers but lacked suitable work due to a changing labor market.

Today, the emphasis has shifted to training of the disadvantaged in our society. Successive amendments to MDTA have increased its ability to provide service to this group.

Eligible for enrollment in MDTA are unemployed or underemployed persons; those whose skills may go out of date because of technical advances in industry; members of minority groups who may have certain cultural, emotional, social, or other handicaps; and those whose educational or economic situation may make it difficult for them to enter into or train for meaningful jobs.

MDTA has special programs for youth and returning servicemen.

Training may take place in classrooms or in industrial, commercial, or public non-profit sites. Employers pay trainees wages earned and the government provides for training costs and supportive services. Enrollees in classroom programs can qualify for allowances on a level with state unemployment benefits.

Since the start of MDTA, over a million young people and adults have been enrolled. Nearly two-thirds completed their training, with nearly 500,000 in classroom training sites and nearly 200,000 in on-the-job training programs with employers.

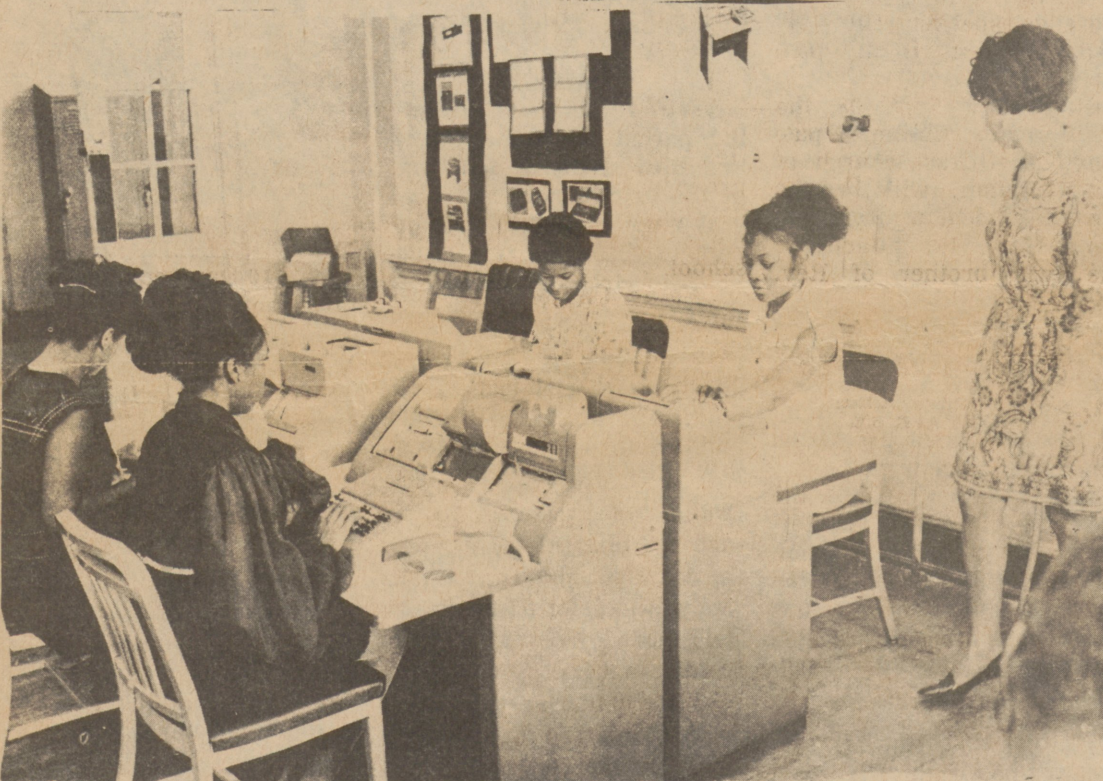

For more information on the Manpower Development and Training Act or other manpower services, get in touch with your center vocational advisor, or write the Manpower Administration, U.S. Department of Labor, Washington, D.C. 20210.

Cong. Hawkins Introduces Student Teacher Corp Bill

Washington, D.C.—Congressman Augustus F. Hawkins (D-Cal.) introduced the "Student Teacher Corps Bill of 1969." Hawkins stated, "the bill will provide for support by the Teacher Corps of programs in which volunteers serve as part-time tutors or full-time instructional assistants."

Education is and has been suffering gravely in the underprivileged communities. More than the conventional methods are needed to effectuate the nation's educational programs to an adequate status. It is essential that our energies are channeled along the avenue of intensification relative to academic and vocational areas.

Participation
Greater community participation in the affairs of our schools is unquestionably necessary. Further, if the Teacher Corp is to be helpful, we must be able to attract sincere volunteers into ghetto communities who recognize and support these objectives. It is imperative that we lose no more time in striving to up-grade our staggering educational system.

Main Stream

In order for our youth to participate effectively and constructively in the main stream of American life, a stabilized educational foundation is a necessity. "I intend to do all that I am capable of to see that they are prepared - regardless of social or financial status," said the Congressman.

Compensation

It was also noted that a tutor or instructional assistant would be compensated at a rate agreed to by the local educational agency or institution of higher education carrying out a volunteer program and the Commissioner.

BLUE LEMONS

by e. e. tate

Fred Wesley, trombonist-bandleader for James Brown's band that appeared in Des Moines last week, has a deep and steady love for music and uses his music to personally communicate with others.

He would have to; under any other circumstance he might not wish to face hundreds and often thousands of eager fans spilling around the stage. Wesley recalls when the band played to a packed New York Yankee Stadium audience. The audience rushed forward, crowding around the band members. It was a strange feeling, he related, of being surrounded by awed and also almost overwhelming fans who could have, in their adoration, torn him and the others to pieces.

A musician since he was 14, he has played trumpet, piano and, of course, trombone. At 18 he set out on his own, continuing in the musical field even when he was in the armed services. Sometime over a year ago he joined with the Brown band.

Music is my life, he said, and there are many times when he sits at the piano and comes up with an original piece (after extracurricular activity) which the band tries out. Sometimes only a few spots need to be changed.

Even with this near-perfect musical insight, he continues to work toward bettering his musical "writing", as he calls it. Example: An arrangement written earlier might be completely reworked until it meets his approval. For the moment. And then it may be reworked again and again, as he aims for the ultimate in his style of musical production.

Frank Buncom Dies Of Heart Attack

Cincinnati, Ohio -- Frank Buncom, 29, linebacker for the Bengals of the American Football League, died early Sunday in his hotel of a heart attack.

Doctors said a blood clot on the left lung caused severe shock to his body resulting in heart failure. Buncom, an 8-year veteran of pro football and all-league in 1967 was acquired last year from San Diego in the expansion draft. He was married and the father of one.

Buncom was a graduate of the University of Southern California and was the sixth-round choice of the Chargers in 1961. His death came as the Bengals opened their regular season against the Miami Dolphins.

Apologizes to Governor, Misquoted on Name-Calling

Chapel Hill, N.C. -- Howard Lee, Negro mayor of this city, Sunday apologized to Gov. Bob Scott after a newspaper article quoted Lee as calling the governor "a southern bigot Democratic governor."

Lee met with University of North Carolina administrators earlier this week to discuss his alleged criticism of Scott and the university's Board of Trustees.

After the article containing the statements attributed to Lee appeared in Saturday morning's observer, university officials ordered Lee's appointment to the U. of N. C. faculty held up.

The school's trustees, headed by Scott, had approved Lee's appointment to an $11,000-a-year lectureship in the School of Social Work Friday.

Lee was interviewed by the Charlotte Observer before he was notified of the surprise approval by the trustees. He was in Washington at the time attending a conference of black elected officials from across the nation.

Blamed Scott

The Observer story said Lee blamed Scott for trying to block his appointment to the university post.

"IN MEMORY OF MY BABY"

My beautiful little baby doll, so lovely yet so still. I didn't get to hold him, but this was my God's will.

My big round eyed baby, so tiny in his box, All dressed in white from head to toe, Even his little black locks. So handsome, and so serene, so gentle, and so sweet, But now laid away, his watch the Lord to keep.

With love,
Born September 8, 1969.

Kyles Temple A.M.E. Zion Church, 907 E. 15th street, was host last week to a three-day conference of the Kansas City District of the Missouri A.M.E. Zion Conference, of which Iowa is a part.

About 300 persons attended the conference, which ended Saturday. The Rev. Dr. George W. Whisonant of Kansas City is presiding elder; the Rev. O. M. Peavy was host pastor.

"The Churches' Need In Times Like These" is the theme of the conference. The Rev. F. Z. Flack, pastor of St. Paul A.M.E. Zion Church in Kansas City, Kan., was a principal speaker on "The Poverty of Jesus."

Dr. Jackson Re-elected Unprecedented Term

Kansas City, Mo. -- Dr. Joseph H. Jackson's annual address to the 89th National Baptist Convention, U.S.A., Inc. was as passionate and as patriotic a plea for the protection and support of the ideals of justice and freedom in the United States as was expressed by Abraham Lincoln, Benjamin Franklin and Franklin Delano Roosevelt.

Largest
As president of the convention, Dr. Jackson speaks for 6.3 million Negroes, the largest organized group of Negroes in America. He is not a moderate in his dedication and concern for the preservation of American ideals. He urged the more than 15,000 delegates attending to use the Federal Constitution as a platform for freedom and new opportunities.

Not Perfect
"Our nation is not perfect. It has shortcomings that could have and should have been overcome many years ago. Evils and errors of the present can be removed by dedication and commitment to the Constitution's ideals."

No Pampering
"We ask not to be pampered by excusing our mistakes and finding alibis for us when straight talk is better. Don't pamper us with the old smear campaign of what happened in the days of slavery. Don't pamper us by giving us dole and refusing jobs on which we can earn an honest dollar."

We seek one standard.
We do not need two standards. One is enough. We do not need two Americas. One is enough. We do not need to keep before us the relics of a Confederate and a Union army.

"We do not need two Americas. One rich and the other poor. One white and one black. One free and one in chains. "We do not need two Federal Constitutions. The one we have is enough to break the barriers between races and nationalities and merge this great country into one great American family."

Dr. Jackson was unanimously elected to an unprecedented 17th year as president of the organization.

GEORGE BREWER OF BREWER ENTERPRISES is today's entertainment promoter! On Thursday night, Sept. 11, he brought to Des Moines the fabulous James Brown and his company! The evening's entertainment was a spectacular. Brewer, flanked by his staff of young men whose outfits were topped by blue Brewer Enterprises jackets, not only presented the best for a summer evening, but managed to keep things "cool". Their handling of the crowd was superb. Someone has said that Brewer and his aides "aim to make things available for the public and pleasant for the public" and that they did!

BREWER ENTERPRISES bring to mind our earlier promoters. Toussant Howard, the only licensee promoter-black or white-back in 1914 was responsible for this town's big events. He brought in the big time bands to The Playland Ballroom which was located upstairs at 7th and Grand, now the home of Arthur Murray's Dance Studio. Toussant enjoyed this exclusive role until approximately 1940 when he accepted the invitation of the J.W. Mitchells, Jimmie and Azalia, to join them in their management of the Billiken Ballroom at 12th and Center Streets. This area was the scene of successful businesses and some of the greatest entertainment to be found anywhere in Iowa!

From 1914 on down through the years Howard alone and then with the Mitchells brought to Des Moines— to name a few—Chick Webb, Bennie Moton, Dixie Ramblers, Cab Calloway, Fletcher Henderson, Louie Armstrong, Omaha's Harold Holland, Ted Adams, Nat Towles and Lloyd Hunter; Duke Ellington and Lionel Hampton.

Your professional beautician knows the answer...

Is peroxide needed to color unwanted gray hair?

Hair care and beauty experts know that the first traces of gray hair—and even slight fading of natural color after chemical relaxing—can dull a woman's appearance and make her look older than she feels. While most women hate these premature aging effects, many are hesitant about using permanent peroxide haircoloring which may change the natural hair color while coloring gray.

Professionally-trained hairdressers know the importance of their customers' preferences when unwanted gray becomes a problem. These experts also know that Clairol created semi-permanent Loving Care® hair color lotion without peroxide... to color only the gray without changing the natural shade. They also find Loving Care blends back color faded by chemical processing. Because of its mildness, Loving Care maintains healthy looking hair and lasts through a month of shampoos.

Whatever a woman's reason for wanting Loving Care for her hair, she is always wise to consult a professional beautician. Hairdressers are equipped with a family of fine Clairol products and the training to promise each patron the loveliest and most personalized haircoloring effects every time she visits her salon. If you dislike gray, and want no peroxide, why not ask your beautician to glamorize it with Loving Care?

The Wards Entertained by Friends Relatives During Vacation Here

Mr. and Mrs. Ward, Sr., have returned home to their home in California after a two weeks vacation with relatives and friends in Des Moines. They were the houseguests of their son, Naomis and wife, Trixie.

Mrs. Barbara Bates, Son Take Flying Visit to Caribbean Islands

During mid-August, Mrs. Barbara J. Williams and son, Arzania, Jr., of 1189 10th street, made an interesting and most enjoyable trip which included several beautiful Caribbean Islands. Beginning with flights to Baltimore, Md., and Miami, Fla., the trip carried them to Nassau on the Island of New Providence.

A stay at the Nassau Beach Hotel with its beautiful beach facilities was enhanced further by trips to historic sites, a Catamaran Cruise, visits to the famous Straw Market, and shopping in the city, and trip to Paradise Island.

To Jamaica

After leaving Nassau the Williamses flew to Kingston, Jamaica for sight-seeing and a short stay. Leaving Kingston they motored through the Blue Mountains to Ocho Rios. This was a most exciting trip as the mountain roads are only wide enough in many places for one vehicle.

They observed the many contrasts in the economic status of the natives and those whose interest have been the exploitation of the country.

Montego Bay

The stay at the Playboy Hotel in Ocho Rios was especially pleasurable because of its famous and fabulously beautiful "Chocolate Bunnies" who perform as hostesses.

After a trip to Montego Bay, West Indies, the Williamses returned to Des Moines by jet airliner. Arzania Jr. is an 8th grader at Franklin Junior High and Mrs. Williams is the music teacher at Douglas and Madison Elementary schools.

EXCELLENT EXAMPLE OF CONCERNED
CITIZENS

When the citizens' committee of the Des Moines school district, studying the building program to be financed by an 11 million dollar bond issue made their report, Bird and Grant schools which accommodate a large share of the people living in the Model City and Woodland project areas were not included.

These old schools, meeting just about the minimum requirements to be called schools, were built before the turn of the century. While some improvements have been made on their physical plants from time to time, their overall facilities do not offer the youngsters equal education.

The committee voted 19 to 18 to exclude these schools. Concerned citizens appeared before the school board Monday night to protest. It so happened that the speakers, except one, asked that the schools be placed in the bond issue which the board approved by a unanimous vote.

This is as it should be and will help assure passage of the bond issue. It was an excellent example of support for a cause which comprised not the favored vote but just ordinary citizens' area.

SOME GET BY;
SOME DON'T

It often happens that when a man reaches high places in the community, not only does he get a lot of advantages for having done so but also a lot of disadvantages.

Recently, a member of the Des Moines school board was arrested for shop lifting. It created a lot of unfavorable reaction but that was sometime ago and many forgot about it.

Monday, the matter was disposed of when he made restitution to the complaining witness who, in turn, recommended that the case be dismissed.

Many people raised their eyebrows and said how does this big shot get off like this when some others don't? Unfortunately, they don't know that this is done in many instances where the prosecuting witness does not wish to proceed further.

Of course, once a man commits a crime he is still guilty of having done so as in this instance. It is only that he is not prosecuted, sometimes, when the complaining witness is unwilling to do so.

USE TACT TO ELECT CANDIDATES

Keokuk, Waterloo and Davenport are to be congratulated on the election of a Negro to their respective school boards. Each man are highly respected in their community, are prepared to take their place on these boards and undoubtedly will make valuable members.

The election of these men presents a lesson to the task of sponsoring Negro candidates to a non-partisan city wide vote. Certainly in towns such as Waterloo, Davenport and Des Moines, Negroes cannot elect anybody. They must depend upon the enlightened electorate among white people to help do the job.

This, of course, presents a problem to Negroes who hope to elect candidates at large. They must have the confidence of people based on their reputation in the community.

It is also important to understand that it takes money to run a campaign which the candidates themselves should not be required to finance. And they will not if they have people back of them who will pay as well as talk. And a Negro candidate should not expect a Negro to vote for him simply because he is a Negro.

The time is ripe in many communities to do as Waterloo and Davenport did but they must present candidates a majority of the people will support.

Josh White
Dies at 61

Milwaukee, Wis. -- A performing career covering a 40 year span ended Friday, Sept. 5 when blues singer Josh White died at the age of 61.

Born Joshua Daniel White

in Greenville, South Carolina in 1908, the son of a Baptist minister and conservative mother.

In 1929

In 1929, White agreed to accept a $100 offer to come to New York to record. He agreed to his mother's stipulation that he only sing religious music. As a result, he recorded as "The Singing Christian" and later recorded blues under various names.

Earliest

White was one of the earliest Black singers to record racial protest songs including Bessie Smith's "Strange Fruit" and "Jim Crow Train." These and related numbers appeared in the late '30's on a Decca 78 r.p.m. album entitled "Strange Fruit," later released as a ten inch album.

Parke Gibson
Speaks

New York -- The white-oriented media in this country have a responsibility to show black youth the more promising aspects of staying in school, competing with whites, and being a better person, said D. Parke Gibson, president of D. Parke Gibson Associates, New York City, in a speech Thursday (Sept. 11) at Seventeen Magazine's "Think Young Think Tank" seminar held at the Plaza Hotel.

Author

The Negro businessman and author of "The $30 Billion Negro", speaking on "Today's Black Youth -- Do We Turn Them On or Off?", stated:

"If programs are not supported to bring the black family earning levels more in line with that of the white family, no one -- marketer, social scientist, city planner, can predict what can happen. If apprenticeships are not opened to today's black youth, what could result could be much more disastrous than anything we have seen to date in this country."

Mr. Gibson spoke of the need for more understanding of today's youth -- "where he is, where he lives, what he earns, what he buys, what he reads, what he thinks of the future, and what he expects for himself in the future."

He listed seven steps which he thinks retailers, advertisers and businessmen should take "to turn on today's black youth":

- Give them an opportunity to earn something to be a consumer with!
- Avoid slang phrases or "in words" because they change with regularity.
- Learn why James Brown has more "soul" than the Beatles.
- Give them realistic role models whom they can emulate.
- Recognize them in advertising, identify with them in advertising and sales promotion efforts, and invite them to buy.
- Sponsor programs that can reward accomplishment, such as scholarships and other efforts.
- Support black history efforts that can help provide positive identity for black youth.

With Allen Ashby

The big guy looked like he could still play 60 minutes of football. But he didn't think so. We thought Johnny Bright was interviewed enough so we didn't try to do one. We figured the daily paper boys had asked just about all the questions. So we went to the softball games with the Hotentots!

Hotentots

The time Johnny pitched a no-hitter at Boone and got beat 1-0. The day he led a bunch of kids through Good Park yelling like a band of Indians on the war path. And the way he used to irritate people by telling them what he was going to do and then do it. Then there were the rough house basketball games. The scuffles we used to have although the fellow could have probably tossed me into the next county, he let me think I was tough.

Really Great

Playing today at six feet and 200 pounds and a rifle for a throwing arm, Bright would have been a great quarterback. There was really only one fellow close to him for the greatest athlete honor and that was Bill Boelter. It would have been news if the committee hadn't picked Bright for their man.

One of 16

We got a letter from a guy in Iowa City really talking like sour grapes. He signed himself one of the 16. Now if he had said which one of the 16 we might have published parts of his letter. We are anxious to see what Iowa University turns up with now. We still think they should have a winning season. And we shall be there come the opening game to see. Wonder if the trouble made any difference in recruiting black football players?

Cyclones

Iowa State just about has to go with Obert Tisdale and if he can stay in one piece the Cyclones could have one exciting year.

Speaking of exciting games that Drake-Louisville deal last week wasn't good for weak hearts.

Here at home we extend our thanks to Mr. Wendell Webb of North High for sending us a Booster Club pass. We have vowed to visit during the season. He thinks the Bears might have a pretty fair ball club and so do we.

One thought East might have something and this may be for Jefferson of Cedar Rapids never has a bad team. Anytime you play in that Mississippi Valley league and don't lose any games, you have to be tough.

Dowling?

Of course, Dowling looks like the class of the city and we don't know who will be second but let the Big Red come against Hoover or North and believe their clippings and they could be in for a rough time. We had hoped Tech would come out of it because of Bill Heath who has a boy playing there but it will probably take more than hope.

Activities of the Iowa
Civil Rights Commission

A black woman is back on her job as a licensed practical nurse (L.P.N.), following successful conciliation of her discrimination complaint filed with the Iowa Civil Rights Commission (ICRC) on August 11, 1969. She has been hired as an L.P.N. in a nursing home in Des Moines on June 10, 1969, at an hourly rate of $2.60. After working at $2.60 per hour for about two months, she learned in a casual conversation that another recently-hired L.P.N. working part-time was receiving $2.75 per hour.

Quits

The black then asked that her pay be raised to $2.75, and when this raise was not given, she quit. She then filed a complaint with the ICRC on August 11th, charging that she had been discriminated against in employment on the basis of her race.

Agreement

A probable breakdown in communications was remedied during the commission investigation after the company agreed to the higher rate, even though she had (unaware of a more or less standard rate, of $2.75) agreed to the lower rate of pay.

On Aug. 29th, the nursing home notified the Commission that it was willing to re-employ the black as an L.P.N. at the rate of $2.75 per hour. She returned to work on September 6th at that increased salary.

Information

Anyone in Iowa who feels that he or she has been discriminated against in employment, housing, or public accommodations should immediately contact the Iowa Civil Rights Commission (a state agency with enforcement powers). Write: Iowa Civil Rights Commission, State Capitol Building, Des Moines, Iowa 50319. Telephone: Area code 515-282-5129. It costs nothing to have a complaint of discrimination investigated and resolved; the work is done by the Commission.

Health for All

THE SWINGING SOUND
OF SNEEZES
AND COUGHS

Folk rock and frug. Wat-si and waltz. But is there music in sneezes and coughs?

Somebody thinks so. This spring at a choral concert of modern American music, held at the Whitney Museum in New York City, one of the specialties on the program was "Sneezes and Coughs." No lyrics to this number. Just "achoo" and a staccato series of hacking sounds in the throat.

The music, so-called, got a laugh from the audience. But the song says something about modern American life.

The sounds are familiar, for one thing. More familiar than the sound of silence, a delicious state celebrated in song by Simon and Garfunkel.

More than 16 million Americans have asthma or hay fever -- or both. Millions more have other allergies punctuated by sniffles and wheezes. More than 4 million have chronic bronchi-infections are the major cause of time lost from school and work in America. People consult doctors for acute respiratory disease more often than for any other group of acute ailments.

And sneezes and coughs spread plant of germs, including the TB germ.

This kind of music nobody wants to hear -- in real life. And your local tuberculosis and respiratory disease association is doing everything it can to help rub out the sounds of respiratory disease. Check with them for more information to keep down the din.

tis with an almost ever-present cough. Then there's the cigarette hack. Chronic coughs -- and the jagged rhythmic sounds produced by the cold viruses -- are all around us.

Sneezes and coughs, except in song, are nothing to laugh about. Respiratory

Williams Ends Exile,
Returns to U.S.

Detroit Mich. -- Black Nationalist leader Robert Williams voluntarily ended his exile from the United States after eight years, returned to this country last week and was promptly arrested and taken into custody by federal officers last Friday at Metropolitan Airport.

Williams, who was arrested in connection with a North Carolina kidnapping stemming from a 1961 racial incident, wore a uniform similar to the type worn by Red Chinese leaders.

At a news conference later he vowed he would continue his part in the black separatist struggle.

Resentment

"I never wanted to leave in the first place," Williams said when asked why he came home. "I resented every minute that I was out and I resented the people who forced me out."

Williams found a changed America. He said his treatment upon his arrival convinced him some things in this country have improved. He credited black militancy.

Williams was whisked from federal court where he was freed on $1,000 per-

THE OLD LAMP

A lamp once hung in an ancient town

At the corner of a street,
Where the wind was keen and the way was dark,

And the rain would often beat;
And all night long the light
would shine

To guide the traveler's feet.

The lamp was rough and plain and old.

And the storm had beaten it sore;
'Twas not a thing one would care to show,

What're it had been before;

But no one thought what the Lantern was.

'Twas the light that, within, it bore.

The lamp is a text for young and old
Who seek in a world of pride

To shine for their Lord and to show Him forth.
And never their light to hide;

You are the lantern, a think of naught.

But Christ is the light inside.

Thought For Today

"Our youth today love luxury. They have bad manners, contempt for authority, disrespect for older people. Children nowadays are tyrants. They contradict their parents, gobble their food and tyrannize their teachers."
