5,000 Chicagoans May Lose Jobs

By Ted Lacey
Chicago Daily Defender

An estimated 3,000 to 5,000 Chicago Post Office workers are to be eliminated, 67 per cent of whom are black, according to a union leader.

William S. Lewis, president of the Chicago Branch of the National Alliance of Postal and Federal Employees (NAPEF), made that estimate yesterday of workers to be cut under the newly incorporated U.S. postal system.

He could not say when the worker cut backs will be completed, but did know that other, higher echelon cuts are beginning now.

In addition, according to a memo he received last week from Acting Asst. Postmaster General Lawrence C. Gayle in the U.S. Post Office dept., personnel section, around 3,000 higher jobs at the regional level will be eliminated nationwide by April 16, 1971.

Gayle's memo indicated that employee cutbacks as well as pay decreases and reductions in postal services are being pursued in keeping with the new policy of operating the U.S. Post Office dept. as a self-sustaining corporation, Lewis said.

Along with an expected downgrading in salaries in higher level jobs, there is an anticipated reduction and eventual ceasing of mail deliveries on Saturdays and a reduction in rural delivery service, Lewis said.

The exact numbers of employees to be eliminated have not been established with finality, Lewis said, since there are still studies being conducted of how best to restructure the U.S. Post Office dept.

The first jobs to go will be higher echelon jobs in Washington, D.C., Lewis said.

He suspects that of the 3,000 to 5,000 Chicago workers — out of the total post office work force of 25,000 — whom he estimates will get the ax, not all will be fired immediately. Some may be eliminated through a hastened attrition possibly with early retirement programs, he said.

"There are rumors of an early forced retirement for some employees," Lewis said, "but I don't know if they are true."

Chicago Postmaster Henry McGee said Thursday he doesn't know anything about the personnel cutbacks.

George E. Johnson, a Chicago executive who is a member of the presidentially-appointed Board of Governors in the new post office department structure, said Thursday that his board is not responsible for the cutbacks. The cutbacks were initiated by other officials in Washington, he said.

Black Scout in D.C. for Report

North Brunswick, N.J. — A 15-year-old black Washington Eagle Scout represented the nation's largest youth organization at the White House this week as a part of the 61st Anniversary celebration of the Boy Scouts of America.

Kenneth Edward Spann, II, son of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth E. Spann, is one of three National Youth Representatives who represented the 6-million boy and adult members of the B.S.A. for a special report to President Nixon on Tuesday, Feb. 9.

Electric Product Manufacturing Up!

The volume of shipments for the electrical manufacturing industry is expected to reach $46.9 billion for 1970, an increase of approximately 5 per cent over last year's volume, according to Joseph F. Miller, President of the National Electrical Manufacturers Association.

The industry, he added, expects to register further gains in 1971.

Post Office News

The nation's 32,000 post offices began accepting applications from people on February 1, 1971, who want their names added to a list of persons to whom ads coming within a statutory definition of "sexually oriented" advertisement may not be mailed.

At the same time, the Postal Service began compiling a master list of those who apply for the mail ban; the first list to be available to mailers about February 20. Sexually-oriented ads may not be mailed to those appearing on the list for 30 days or more. The law, a part of the Postal

The Des Moines Post Office will observe a legal holiday for Washington's birthday on Monday, February 15, 1971, as follows:

Window Service: The Main Office and Stations will be closed.
Deliveries: There will be no deliveries except Special Delivery Mail.
Collections: Will be on regular weekday schedules.

All mail will be dispatched as usual.

Reorganization Act, carries severe civil and criminal penalties for violators.

Applications to be completed for placement on this master list contain an identifying number which should be retained by the applicant for further reference; if, for example, he wishes to notify the postmaster that he has received sexually-oriented ads after being on the list for more than 30 days.

Guards men Pull Back

WILMINGTON, N.C. (AP) — National Guard troops pulled back to a staging area Monday as a cold drizzle began in this coastal city where two persons have been killed in five nights of racial violence.

Col. Barrie Davis, a spokesman for the Guard, said the troops probably would be sent back into the streets to patrol after dark. Davis said things were quiet Sunday night but that his men heard what sounded like gunfire before dawn. No injuries were reported.

Gov. Robert Scott ordered more than 500 Guardsmen into Wilmington late Sunday at the request of city officials, who had declared a state of emergency and imposed a curfew after saying local efforts to control the violence had failed. Also assigned to the city were 48 state highway patrolmen.

The curfew was extended Monday to include all of New Hanover County.

Police said there were few arrests for curfew violations during the night.

A white motorist and a Negro teen-ager were killed during the weekend and three other persons, including a police sergeant, were wounded by gunfire in violence blamed on unrest in New Hanover County's public schools.

Negro youths have demanded reinstatement of four blacks suspended last month for alleged disturbances during school hours, hiring of more black academic and athletic personnel, more black studies and a school holiday commemorating the late Dr. Martin Luther King's birthday.

NEWS In A Nutshell

Camp Lejeune, N.C., Jan. 16. — A Marine corporal was beaten to death here during a season of racial tension and violence 18 months ago. Assaults and brawls were common. Armed guards, in addition to the normal complement of military policemen, patrolled much of the barracks areas.

DETROIT (UPI) — Florence Ballard, one of the three original members of the Supremes, filed an $8.7 million suit against her fellow singers and former employer Wednesday, Feb. 3, charging they "secretly, subversively and maliciously" conspired to oust her from the trio.

NEWARK, N.J. (UPI) — A band of 25 black youths attacked a score of striking white and Negro union teachers Tuesday, evoking a promise by the head of the state AFL-CIO that the walkout would be backed 100 per cent by organized labor.

The black youths, wearing the garb of a paramilitary group called the Black Civil Defense League, charged into the group of teachers outside the teachers headquarters, police said. The teachers were beaten by clubs, fire extinguishers and lengths of chains.

WASHINGTON, D.C. — (AP) — The percentage of black servicemen killed in action in the Indo-China war has dropped slightly, Pentagon figures showed Tuesday.

STORRS, CONN. — Several black cultural leaders, ranging from a college president to jazz musicians, will appear at the University of Connecticut this month to help observe the annual Black History Week.

WHITEPLAINS, N.Y. — E. Simms Campbell, cartoonist and illustrator whose drawings of pretty girls graced the pages of Esquire, Playboy, The New Yorker, Cosmopolitan, Redbook and other top publications, died last Wednesday in White Plains Hospital. He was 65 years old.

Labor Costs Hike Auto Insurance Rates

The cost of auto insurance is high and rising because of the skyrocketing costs of labor, according to a study sponsored by the American Insurance Association, filed with the Senate antitrust and monopoly subcommittee.

The study claimed that wages for those who provide the services, hospital and medical care, auto repair and legal assistance have soared.

Challenge Highway Commission to Follow the Law

State civil rights officials said Thursday they will ask the federal government to cut off road money to Iowa if the Highway Commission fails to satisfy federal and state demands for equal job opportunity.

Such a move, if successful, would cripple road building plans dependent on some $50 million a year now coming from Washington, D.C.

"They don't have a true affirmative action program going," said John Strother, chairman of the Iowa Civil Rights Commission.

"Antiquated" Procedures
Strother said the Highway Commission has "antiquated and inadequate" procedures for recruiting minority employees and for pressuring contractors to hire blacks and other minorities.

Added Strother: "They continue to let contracts to contractors and subcontractors who are not in compliance" with equal opportunity laws.

Strother told commission members he already has discussed filing a formal charge against the Highway Commission with the federal Equal Employment Opportunity Commission.

Highway Commission Director Joseph Coupal and other officials could not be reached for comment Thursday. In the past, road officials have contended they are complying satisfactorily with federal procedures.

The two state agencies have argued, mostly by private correspondence, about highway recruiting and contract policies for more than two years.

Differences may be ironed out when the two commissions meet next Wednesday at 4 p.m. at Highway Commission headquarters in Ames.

Civil Rights Director Alvin Hayes, Jr., said someone from the highway unit has been inquiring into the occupations and political affiliations of the seven rights commission members.

Commission members said highway officials in December tried to arrange a meeting of the two agencies without informing or inviting Hayes.

I think the motive behind it was to get us to fire our director (Hayes), said Strother.

He explained that the road commission proposed the meeting after Hayes had told a federal inspector that U.S. road grants to Iowa should be stopped until all equal opportunity questions are resolved.

Rule Proposed

The commission gave tentative approval Thursday to a proposed rule to require all state agencies to police the fairness of their contractors' hiring practices.

The rule would make it illegal for any agency to do business with or pay any contractor, employer, vendor or service organization employing four or more persons if the contractor has not filed an

"Members Show Little Interest" Says Cornell

by Caroline Pokrzywinski
"The Human Rights Commission isn't effective because so many people have found ways to get around the laws," said Allen J. Cornell, executive director of the commission.

"It is the job of the commission to enforce laws against discrimination in housing, education and industry," said Cornell.

"The commission isn't effective because many people have found ways to get around the laws," he said.

Correll said that discrimination has gone underground and this makes it difficult to enforce ordinances.

Compensation
"If the Human Rights Commission had the ability to fine people $1,000 for breaking a civil rights ordinance, we would be more effective," said Correll. "Because, in our society, money speaks."

Most states, except Iowa, compensate damages when proper cause of discrimination is shown.

Correll wants Des Moines to revamp its city ordinance concerning discrimination, but there is pressure from the opposition.

"I don't know what the mood of the city council will be about changing the ordinance," he said.

Conciliation
Under the present system, if the commission agrees that there is discrimination in a certain case they will try for a conciliation.

If there isn't conciliation the case will be brought to a public hearing.

In the twenty years since the commission was formed there has never been a public hearing.

Private industry in Des Moines asks the commission's help before a problem develops.

The commission works with the Des Moines School Board in the same way.

"These practices should also be used by city government," said Correll.

"In the year that Correll has been commission head 'the city council hasn't met with us,' he said.

The Des Moines realtors are another group that doesn't cooperate with the commission.

"The number one area of discrimination in Des Moines is housing," said Correll.

The area within 10 blocks of the Drake campus has the most discrimination in apartment rentals said Correll.

Apartments ranging from $75 to $150 rent per month are the hardest for blacks to get.

There is also discrimination in Des Moines' country clubs.

"These are people from the highest social, educational, and economical levels," said Correll.

"If these people believe in discrimination, then a large job has to be done."

UAW Joins Legal Battle

Newark, N. J. The United Auto Workers (UAW) joined the National Committee against Discrimination in Housing (NCDH) in a legal challenge to suburban Mahwah, N. J.'s exclusionary residential zoning which prevents substantial numbers of workers in Mahwah industries from securing housing close to their jobs.

It is the first such challenge by one of the nation's large international unions to exclusionary suburban zoning on grounds it limits job access for low- and moderate-income and minority working men and women.

The Mahwah action — a complaint filed with the N. J. Division of Civil Rights — is one of a series of tests of nationally significant legal tools, part of a nationwide program of litigation to open the nation's suburbs to lower-income and minority citizens initiated by NCDH in early 1969.

The complaint was filed in behalf of individuals representing the substantial numbers — white as well as black and Puerto Rican — among nearly 5,000 Ford workers who must commute long distances daily. (One complainant commutes 90 miles round trip daily.)

Other complainants represent minority citizens confined to residence in Mahwah's ghetto neighborhood.

UAW Fair Practices and Anti-Discrimination Department Director William Oliver, of Detroit, said at a news briefing, "UAW is undertaking the Mahwah zoning challenge as part of its long-standing effort to insure decent housing convenient to work locations for all its members of all races and incomes."

The joint NCDH-UAW complaint is the first asking a state civil rights agency to assert its jurisdiction over restrictive suburban zoning and land-use practices. The complaint asks the New Jersey agency to order rezoning of Mahwah to permit construction of multi-family housing. The township presently limits new residential construction to single-family houses on lots of one acre or more.

$250 Bias Charge Laid To Dixie Administrator

CLARKSDALE, Miss. — Charging that L. G. Slater, administrator of the Neshoba County General Hospital in Philadelphia, Miss., proposes demanding advance payments of $250.00 a week from Negro medicare patients seeking admission to the hospital, Aaron E. Henry, chairman of the Mississippi State NAACP Conference, has called upon Elliott Richardson, Secretary of the Department of Health, Education and Welfare, to make "an immediate investigation" of this proposal.

In his telegram to Secretary Richardson, dispatched Jan. 29, Mr. Henry brands the proposal as a "violation of all the laws of decency that you and other Americans must stand for."

Copies of the telegram were sent to Mississippi Senators John Stennis and James O. Eastland, and to Congressman G. V. Montgomery who represents the district.

The Mississippi state NAACP leader also sent a plain-spoken wire to Mr. Slater. "Your nefarious plan of charging black patients only . . . is ridiculous and steeped with racial hate and prejudice . . . We will prevent you from doing this act of discrimination, even if the forces of the National Democratic Party and national office of the NAACP must be called upon," Mr. Henry said.

NAACP On the Move

Polk's Population Up Says Census Bureau

Polk County's official population in the 1970 Census was 286,101 up 7.4 percent from the 1960 figure of 266,315, the Bureau of the Census, U.S. Department of Commerce, reports.

The official population of the State was 2,825,041 up 2.4 percent from the 1960 population count, which was 2,757,537.

The 1970 Census counted 272,983 white persons in Polk County, 95.4 percent of the total; 11,916 Negroes, and 1,202 persons of other races. In 1960, 95.9 percent of the population was white.

The Census showed 24,949 children under 5 years; 72,539 in ages 5 through 17; 160,541 people 18 through 64; and 28,072 who were 65 and older. The population 14 years and over

The 1970 census counted 98,325 housing units in Polk County, 65,003 of them occupied by owners, 28,412 occupied by tenants, and 4,910 vacant. These included vacant units for seasonal use. The proportion occupied by owners in 1970 was 66.1 percent, compared with 67.0 percent in 1960.

Among year-round dwelling units there were 72,788 single family houses, 23,773 housing units in multi-unit buildings, and 1,736 mobile homes or trailers. Of all the occupied housing units, 89,685 had piped water, toilet, and bath, while 3,730 lacked some or all plumbing.

The median value of owner-occupied houses in Polk County was $16,000, compared with $12,100 in 1960. The median rent paid by tenants in 1970 was $98 per month, compared with $72 in 1960. Half were over and half below the median figures.

UNCF Gets New Asst. Director

The appointment of Butler T. Henderson of Atlanta, Ga., as Assistant Director of the United Negro College Fund was announced today by Vernon E. Jordan, Jr., Executive Director of the UNCF.

Mr. Henderson said the Fund "welcomes Mr. Henderson's administrative and educational skills and his more than 25 years of experience in the field of black higher education."

Mr. Henderson has been director of the United Board for College Development in Atlanta. The Board is sponsored by the National Council of Churches and creates cooperative planning among private black colleges.

During his three years with the Board, Mr. Henderson was instrumental in setting up the Cooperative College Library, a consortium consisting of 18 predominantly black colleges which pool their book acquisition programs under the Center's direction.

Mr. Henderson also set up programs bringing white business leaders to black campuses for the first time and organized a pioneering conference of black junior colleges for the purpose of joint planning.

At the UNCF, he will be involved in the various programs carried out by the organization among its 36 member institutions.

A native of Knoxville, Tenn., Mr. Henderson was graduated from Morehouse College, Atlanta, and received a masters degree at New York University. He also pursued further graduate study at NYU.

Mr. Henderson has taught at Morehouse College and at Arkansas A.M.&N. College in Pine Bluff, Ark. At Arkansas A.M. & N., Mr. Henderson headed the Department of Economics and Business for 12 years. At Morehouse, he was an Assistant to the President and an Associate Professor of Economics.

Dr. Benjamin E. Mays, President Emeritus of Morehouse College and a former past President of the UNCF, said of Mr. Henderson: "He was one of the most valuable workers I had at Morehouse during my 27 years as president of that institution."

Among Mr. Henderson's affiliations are the American Economic Association, the Southern Economic Association and the Association of Behavioral Scientists.

In Atlanta, he served on the Mayor's Housing Resources Committee and the Advisory Committee to the Atlanta Housing Authority.

Minority Students Invited To LeMars Orientation

LE MARS, IOWA — Minority group students from several midwestern cities have been invited to Westmar College for two days of special activities, February 15 and 16.

Included in the Minority Orientation Days (MOD) program will be informal meetings with Westmar students, discussions concerning college enrollment and special appearances by professional basketball star Bill Russell and the Watts 103rd Street Rhythm Band, popular soul group.

The Associated Students of Westmar College (ASWC) the Afro-American Association and the Westmar Admissions Office have worked together in coordinating plans for the event.

Invitations to the MOD program have been sent to black and Indian students in a number of high schools and churches, according to Cliff Moore of Des Moines and O'Dean Mangum of Tuckahoe, N.Y., student leaders in the Afro-American Association. They explained that special efforts have been made to reach communities with large minority populations, such as Waterloo, Des Moines, Sioux City, Minneapolis and Omaha.

"We are hoping to show that Westmar College is open to more minority group students," said Ron Blake, ASWC vice-president from Kettering, Ohio. "Even though Westmar is in the middle of Siouxland," he observed, "we have no Indian students." There are also few black students at the college, he added.

The sponsoring Westmar organizations are paying all expenses for the minority group visitors, including dormitory lodging, meals and gasoline costs.

A discussion of Westmar's admissions and financial aid procedures will be led on Tuesday morning by William Geiger, director of admissions, and Lee Jepsen, director of financial aid and placement at the college. The MOD program will also feature a considerable amount of free time and a steak dinner on Tuesday evening.

Basketball star Russell, formerly of the Boston Celtics professional team, will speak Tuesday at 8:30 p.m. in the Westmar Physical Education Center. As the first player-coach in Boston sports history and the first Negro to manage full-time in a major league of any sport, Russell was named Sportsman of the Year in 1968 by "Sports Illustrated." Since retiring from basketball, he has recently spoken to groups throughout the country.

The Watts 103rd Street Rhythm Band, whose "Do Your Thing" has sold a million copies, will appear at 8 p.m. for a concert and dance. They have been on a number of television programs, including the Tonight Show, Mike Douglas Show and Ann-Margret special.

Friday, Jan. 29th, Dr. Ralph David Abernathy, Pres. of the SCLC, lead a maids march from Daytona Beach to Cape Kennedy, highlighting the contrast between the balance of dollars spent for the space program and only pennies spent for human survival.

While Vice Pres. Agnew was showing off the Houston space center to the heir apparent of Fascist Spain, several hundred maids were picketing at the Cape to point up the U.S.'s inability to choose humane priorities.

Census Bureau to Take Labor Force Survey Here

Local representatives of the Bureau of the Census, U. S. Department of Commerce, will interview a number of households in this area the week of February 15 to obtain information on employment here.

Guy A. Lutz, Director of the Census Bureau office in St. Paul, in making the announcement, said the households are among the 50,000 across the country that have been scientifically selected to represent a cross section of the American people.

The survey, which the Bureau conducts each month for the U.S. Department of Labor, provides a continuing measure of employment and unemployment for the Nation. For example, the overall unemployment rate edged up from 5.8 percent in November to 6.0 percent in December, the highest mark in 9 years.

Information supplied by individuals participating in the survey is kept confidential and the results are used only to compile statistical results.

Tomato Accents Busy-Day Oven Stew

Here is an oven stew that will give you some time to yourself. Once you've assembled the ingredients and slipped the stew into the oven, you'll have two wonderful, luxurious hours to spend on whatever project has been waiting. The stew bubbles and cooks in the oven without supervision.

You brown beef cubes with pieces of Italian sausage for a new treat. Add a convenient sauce of condensed tomato soup. Bake for two hours until the beef is tender and has absorbed the vivacious tomato flavor of the sauce.

The last fifteen minutes of cooking time, add vegetables and finish off the remaining meal preparation.

If you take time for a special dessert, try poaching whole peeled pears in a sugar syrup. Drain and refrigerate until ready to use. Then prepare a quick sauce from a package of frozen raspberries. Top with toasted, slivered almonds.

LINCOLN'S GETTYS- BURG ADDRESS

Fourscore and seven years ago our fathers brought forth upon this continent a new nation, conceived in liberty and dedicated to the proposition that all men are created equal. Now we are engaged in a great civil war, testing whether that nation or any nation so conceived and so dedicated can long endure. We are met on a great battlefield of that war. We are met to dedicate a portion of it as the final resting-place of those who here gave their lives that that nation might live. It is altogether fitting and proper that we should do this. But in a larger sense we cannot dedicate, we cannot consecrate, we cannot hallow this ground. The brave men, living and dead, who struggled here have consecrated it far above our power to add or detract. The world will little note nor long remember what we say here, but it can never forget what they did here. It is for us, the living, rather to be dedicated here to the unfinished work they gave thus far so nobly carried on. It is rather for us to be here dedicated to the great task remaining before us, that from these honored dead we take increased devotion to the cause for which they gave the last full measure of devotion; that we here highly resolve that these dead shall not have died in vain, that the nation shall, under God, have a new birth of freedom, and that the government of the people, for the people, by the people shall not perish from the earth.

Iowa Funds Increase For Child Nutrition Program

The state of Iowa is receiving over $11½ million in Federal funds to help provide nutritious meals for the children of that state during fiscal year 1971 (July 1, 1970 to June 30, 1971), according to Dennis M. Doyle, Midwest Regional Director of the U.S. Department of Agriculture's Food and Nutrition Service.

Iowa ranks sixth among the Midwestern states in the amount of money received to conduct the National School Lunch, Breakfast, Special Milk and Special Food Service Programs — all Child Nutrition Programs of FNS.

Much of the financial aid for Iowa is being used to provide free or reduced price meals to especially needy children. More than 39 percent, or $4,595,000 of Iowa's allocated funds is earmarked for this purpose.

The rest of the aid, supplemented by monies from Iowa state and local governments is being used in conducting, improving, and establishing the child nutrition programs. Over $4,160,000 has been allocated for the School Lunch Program. The School Breakfast Program has a budget of $223,628.

Nearly $200,000 is being used to provide equipment essential in food handling and preparation in needy schools. This money is aimed at supplying up to 75 per cent of the cost to needy schools which request aid in improving or establishing facilities for food preparation.

Another $189,000 is being provided for the Special Food Service Program for Children, conducted at day-care centers and settlement houses.

The rest of the Iowa fiscal budget — $1,408,000 — is tabbed for the statewide Special Milk Program.

The state's aid is part of

Raman Bieri, Warren J. Kemmerling, Paul Winfield, Lincoln Kilpatrick, P. Urban League Advocates A National Health Program

A national health service that would bring together all the civilian, mental health and environmental activities now carried on by the Federal government into a single agency is strongly urged by the National Urban League in a new position paper.

Published as a brochure, "Toward A National Health Program", the position paper reveals that despite the nation's annual medical bill of almost $63 billion — second only to the $85.2 billion spent for defense — the medical care system is ailing and "requires immediate and radical surgery."

In announcing the publication of the brochure, Mrs. Ruth Aikens, NUL's Health Program Director said, "it is inconceivable that this country, which claims the highest standard of living in the world tolerates such an archaic system of the delivery of health services and is the only so-called developed country that doesn't have a national health system."

The League reported that the United States ranks 17th among all nations in the life expectancy of women and 14th in the rate of infant mortality, and that for Blacks and the poor life expectancy is even lower and infant mortality even higher.

As conceived by the League, the new health service would be so constructed as to allow for influential consumer participation at all levels of its functioning and to assure community control of those facilities and programs which provide direct services to the people.

The agency would be headed by a secretary of Health, with its major sources of funds coming from the federal tax revenue.

The issuance of the League's position paper follows by several days the President's State of the Union Message, in which he called for new and innovative approaches to health. The timing of its release, however was coincidental, since the Urban League paper has been in preparation for several months.

The League defined the primary goal of a national health system as the provision of "high quality, comprehensive, dignified medical, dental and mental health care and environmental protection for all people in the United States regardless of race, sex, location, citizenship, status or income."

Such a system, the League said, to be effective and achieve its goal must:

- make sure that comprehensive health services are accessible and equally distributed to meet the needs of the nation

- as a whole, with particular emphasis for poverty and rural area.
- eliminate all forms of discrimination.

- devise a system of public tax-supported education and training for health professionals with a required service commitment.

- make provision for and encourage health professionals to continue their formal education without loss of salary.
- encourage physicians to seek specialty board certifications and practitioners of specialties to achieve appropriate accreditation
- intensify research, case finding and public education in health; and

NAACP Reports On Housing Is Published

The National Association for the Advancement of Colored People has published a report on housing building systems in European cities, the U. S. Department of Housing and Urban Development announced today.

The report, "New Housing Concepts," was published under a HUD Urban Renewal Demonstration Grant.

The 120-page book is designed to bring to Americans related to the building industry, knowledge about the relatively new industrialized housing process, and its adaptability more than $1 billion in assistance to Child Nutrition Programs granted to the 50 states, the District of Columbia and the five territories by USDA.

The sum reflects a nearly 25 percent increase over the amount allocated for fiscal year 1970.

equal opportunity affidavit, a formal affirmative action program and a list of minority employees.

Hayes said the rule, to be sent to the attorney general for legal clearance, is similar to a policy adopted by some church groups in a program called Project Equality.

Hayes took issue with a proposal in the Legislature to appoint an equal opportunity officer under the governor to check state buying and hiring practices. He said this function should be given to his commission with enough money to make it work.

Hayes said a political appointee could not enforce rights regulations without being "chopped up politically." He also complained about cuts in his proposed budget.

Eyes Meeting

"Either the state is serious about civil rights or it isn't," said the director. "If the Legislature and the governor are not serious they ought to do away with the civil rights agency and quit making a farce out of it."

Hayes said he hopes to set up a meeting of all state agency directors in Gov. Robert Ray's office "to talk about employment problems" of minorities.

to overcome the housing shortage in the Nation.

HUD officials said they expect the report will have special value as a guide to local public and private organizations in their efforts to encourage greater use of minority group builders, planners, and other professional persons as well as skilled and unskilled workers in the development of housing.

Data for the report was gathered in the course of a tour organized by the NAACP and participated in by more than 100 minority entrepreneurs, architects, engineers, and community organization representatives. The group visited building system plants, construction sites and new towns in Milan, Amsterdam, Paris, London and Stockholm. William R. Morris, NAACP director of housing programs, was director of the tour, the expenses of which were borne by the participants.

Single copies of "New Housing Concepts" are available without cost upon written request to:

D.M. Commission

Attorney, Gene Olson, three field representatives and ten commission members.

The ten commission members are appointed by Mayor Urban to serve for three years.

Commission members are: William N. Cropp, Silas S. Ewing, Jack G. Fletcher, Rabbi J. B. Goldberg, Mrs. Brenda LaBlanc, Monsenor Edward B. Pfeffer, Lloyd Reynolds, Lin K. VorBorch, Nicholas Rodriguez and James Wright, Jr.

"The commission members didn't know what it's all about and sometimes have no understanding of civil rights," complained Correll.

Commission members don't know on what basis they were chosen, said Correll.

Head of the Human Rights Commission, William N. Cropp, doesn't even know what criteria the Mayor uses to appoint commission members.

At last Wednesday's commission meeting some members commented on

VIVA Plea For Action, Unification

VIVA (Voices in Vital America), a non-profit, non-political national student organization, is appealing to all Americans, regardless of their political beliefs, to demonstrate their concern for our American prisoners of war.

The students of VIVA are distributing a POW/MIA bracelet to create a level of personal involvement and a visible display of Americans uniting behind a common cause. Each bracelet is engraved with the name of a POW or a man missing in action in Southeast Asia, and the date he was lost. It is to be worn with the vow that it not be removed until the day that the Red Cross is allowed into Hanoi to assure his family of his status and that he receives the humane treatment due all men.

The students feel that the only technique that will force Hanoi into action is an overwhelming cry from a united America, supported by sympathetic world opinion, for simple justice and humane treatment for all POWs and information on MIAs.

Among the many celebrities wearing bracelets is Robert Stack. He is pictured with Mrs. Roosevelt Hestle, a MIA wife.

Bob Hope and Martha Raye are serving as honorary Co-Chairmen of the bracelet campaign. Among the many celebrities already wearing the bracelet are Steve Allen, Charlton Heston, Jayne Meadows, Bill Cosby, John Wayne, Johnny Cash, Flip Wilson, Bob Crane, Robert Stack, Robert Wagner, John Forsythe, Anne Baxter, Fred Astaire, Fernando Lamas, James Brolin, Susanne Pleshette, Barbara Eden, Willie Shoemaker and Don Drysdale.

More than 1500 men are either missing or held in Southeast Asia. Most of their families do not know if their husband, son or father is even alive. The students of VIVA hope that all Americans will demonstrate their concern for this problem.

why they thought they were chosen.

Rabbi Goldberg said he was appointed because every commission should have a Jew on it.

Nicholas Rodriguez said the reason for his appointment is because he's Mexican-American.

The first time he heard of the Human Rights Commission was upon receiving a letter appointing him to the commission.

Another member suggested the reason for her appointment is the fact that she's conservative.

Correll said that the commissioners aren't given any information about the commission or the work involved, prior to their appointment.

Last year one lady resigned claiming that civil rights wasn't a primary interest of hers.

Mayor Speaks

In a recent interview, Mayor Urban said that the criterion for choosing a Human Rights Commission is the state ordinance.

"The commission should broadly represent the community, racially, religiously and ethnically," said Urban.

Out of ten commissioners, two are black.

Urban says the Human Rights Commission is a "damn representative group, I don't think there's a better balanced commission," he said.

Correll said that "since most of the complaints are from black people it would be reasonable representation to have more than two black commissioners."

The Mayor did ask Correll to recommend commission members, "but he didn't follow my suggestions," said Correll.

"The real problem of the Human Rights Commission," said Mayor Urban, "is to have them reach out and say, 'Tom, I've got some problems, and not wait for the mayor to call a meeting.'"

Urban said he would be pleased to have a definition of the responsibilities of the commission.

"I think there is a problem in defining the job," said Mayor Urban, whose definition of the commission's job is that "A Human Rights Commission ought to be the formal conscience of the community in areas of racial and sex discrimination."

Home remedies which normally work include: breathing into a paper bag, gulping (or sometimes sipping) cold water, extending the head backward and holding the breath as long as possible, or producing a sneeze.

Diana Ross Heads Motown Nominees

Hollywood, Feb. 5. -- Superstar Diana Ross heads Motown's list of nominees in seven Grammy Award categories for the 13th Annual Grammy Awards presentation sponsored by the National Academy of Recording Arts and Sciences at the Hollywood Palladium, March 16.

The awards are presented annually for "artistic excellence" rather than on the basis of popularity and sales.

Miss Ross received her Grammy nomination in the best contemporary vocal performance category by a female performer. She was nominated for her soul-stirring performance of the Motown hit, "Ain't No Mountain High Enough."

The Jackson 5, the most youthful and exciting group in the history of the Motown Record Corporation, were nominated in the category of the best contemporary vocal performance by a duo, group or chorus. The Jackson 5 received their nomination for their recording of "ABC."

Stevie Wonder and Edwin Starr are in competition with one another for the best rhythm and blues vocal performance by a male singer. Stevie was nominated for his recording of "Signed, Sealed, Delivered," while Starr received his nomination for "War."

Motown's Four Tops were nominated for the best rhythm and blues vocal performance by a duo or group, vocal or instrumental, for their single, "It's All In The Game."

The songwriting team of Stevie Wonder, Lee Garrett, Syrita Wright and Lulu Hardaway were nominated for their composition of "Signed, Sealed, Delivered."

In the spoken word recording category, the late Dr. Martin Luther King Jr.'s album, "Why I Oppose The War In Vietnam" is nominated.

"Why I Oppose The War In Vietnam" was released on Motown's Black Forum label. Black Forum, Motown's educational and cultural label, is a medium for the presentation of ideas and voices of the worldwide struggle of Black people to create a new era.

The awards presentations will be colorcast live from Hollywood for the first time on the ABC-TV network.

EEOC Releases Data on Minority Union Members

Nationwide statistics on minority group membership in local unions for the year 1969 were released Tuesday by William H. Brown III, Chairman of the U.S. Equal Employment Opportunity Commission.

These data are based on reports from approximately 3,500 local unions which operate hiring halls or, under similar arrangements, refer persons for employment.

Minority Breakdown
Of the 2.5 million members reported, 444,527 or 17.4 per cent of the members were from the four minority groups on which the Commission collects data.

Specifically, 9.2 per cent of the members were Negro, 6.7 per cent Spanish Surnamed American (SSA), and less than 1.0 per cent each were Oriental and American Indian.

Of the 1.5 million members from approximately 2,600 local unions representing the building trades, 13.2 percent were minorities.

Lower End of Wage Scale
Close analysis of the statistics reveals that minority membership is concentrated in those unions at the lower end of the wage scale.

Approximately, 1,000 building trades locals were classified in the higher skilled category known as mechanical trades, which includes the Boilermakers, Electrical Workers (IBEW), Elevator Constructors, Iron Workers, Plumbers and Pipe Fitters, and Sheet Metal Workers. The mechanical trades showed a minority membership of 6.2 per cent.

General Construction
Finally, in the lowest paying general construction trades group composed of the Laborers, Painters and Decorators, and Roofers, minority group membership was 31.8%.

In the nonbuilding trades, minorities accounted for 23.3 per cent of 1.05 million members.

Negroes were most represented in the Laundry Workers (58.0 percent) and Longshoremen (48.0 percent). Spanish Surnamed Americans were most represented in the Garment Workers (37.0 percent).

These data are obtained from the Local Union Report EEO-3 which must be filed annually by all local unions with 100 or more members which operate a hiring hall or perform a similar function in referring persons for employment.

The Equal Employment Opportunity Commission is an independent Federal agency which administers Title VII of the Civil Rights Act of 1964, which prohibits job discrimination because of race, color, sex, religion or national origin.

'Bar Extradition To Miss.' NAACP Urges Rockefeller s

NEW YORK — The National Association for the Advancement of Colored People has called upon Governor Nelson A. Rockefeller to refuse to permit a 17-year-old Negro to be extradited to the State of Mississippi.

Dwight D. Folsom, the accused youth, charged with armed robbery in Mississippi, is being held without bail in Monticello, N.Y., pending an extradition hearing.

In a letter to Governor Rockefeller, Feb. 2, NAACP Executive Director Roy Wilkins cited a number of irregularities in the case and asked that the governor consider revocation of the warrant for Folsom's arrest. The alleged crime took place last April in northern Mississippi just south of the Tennessee border near Memphis.

The NAACP leader cited as irregularities requiring "careful consideration" the following: (1) the youth is being held without bail although his family resides in Monticello and he was enrolled in high school there; (2) papers filed by Mississippi officials are inadequate under New York law; (3) two continuances, not provided for in New York law, have been granted by the court in Monticello to allow Mississippi officers more time to prove that the youth was actually in that state on the date of the crime; and (4) Mississippi has no provisions for youthful offenders held for a capital crime as armed robbery is in that state.

"The NAACP," Mr. Wilkins said, "urges that the circumstances concerning the youth's arrest and detention without bail, the procedural irregularities which have occurred in the New York Court, the shameful and improper conduct of the Mississippi authorities, and the certain fate which this black youth faces upon his extradition be carefully considered and that this state refuse to extradite Dwight Folsom under these circumstances."

Information Available On Fed. Job Safety Law

Basic information on the new Federal job safety law, the Occupational Safety and Health Act, now is available at Labor Department offices in Kansas, the Department announced today in Kansas City.

Joseph A. Reidinger, regional director of the Department's Bureau of Labor Standards, said copies of the Act and a fact sheet now are available for those who wish to make an early start on compliance with the statute. It becomes effective April 28th.

Congress passed the Act against a background of 14,000 deaths and more than 2,000,000 disabling injuries each year in the Nation's workplaces, Reidinger said. The Labor Department is tooling up to administer the statute, he said, and hopes to be ready by the effective date.

Under the Act, the Secretary of Labor will set safety standards, with enforcement to be administered by a new Commission, yet to be named.

CITY HALL CEREMONIES

Gary's Mayor Richard Gordon Hatcher chats with the Jackson 5 after reading a special proclamation which renamed Jackson Street "Jackson 5 Boulevard," in honor of their return home. The Jackson 5 returned to Gary to perform two concerts as a special tribute to Mayor Hatcher who brought them to the attention of Motown Record Corporation less

What electric appliance in your kitchen is used more than your frypan? Probably none. It's the portable fifth burner for today's busy homemaker.

Here are a couple of ideas to prolong the life of this versatile tool:

1. Clean it thoroughly every time you use it, including the underside, to prevent build-up of burned-on-fat.
2. Remember to disconnect and clean the heat control unit with a damp cloth.
3. Never immerse a hot frypan in water. Cool it to room temperature first. Why? To prevent warping. Warped pans don't cook foods evenly.

HEARING FROM MR. AND MRS. SEBASTIAN KOLA-BANKOLE is a tremendous thrill. She is the former Frances Lowery and the couple with their twin daughters reside in Lagos, Nigeria. My mail arrived Monday, February 1, 1971.

THEIR 'MESSAGE' IS A COPY OF "NIGERIA MAGAZINE". It is highly informative and richly made up. Its cover pictures a group of dignitaries attending the Argungu Festival. Among these were the Sultan and Mrs. Hamani Diori.

CHICAGO'S BOB BRADSHAW ACCOMPANIED BY HIS PARTNER AL FESENFELD was in Des Moines this weekend to display entries from their firm, Fesenbrad Cattery! Their combined names end in the interesting name "Fesenbrad"! Bob, the senior partner, is a handsome young black man. Al is equally handsome and both very personable! Bob was doing the talking — a very persuasive sales pitch. A sample: "We specialize in cats of the New Generation!" WOW! Well, their cats were very special. Fesenbrad breeds ten species. Among these was the American Shorthair, American Wirehair and the German Rex. It was said that the latter is a new breed, rare, but quickly gaining in popularity! Bob and Al's entries won the "Best Champion in all four rings." The Cat Fancier's Association, The National Registry Society records all winnings at the end of the show season. Each exhibitor is "moved up" until he reaches the top with his cats! Fesenbrad has shown from coast to coast and from border to border!

MY EFFORTS TO MEET BOB BRADSHAW was a result of a tip from Dr. Ada Dunner, a lover of cats, and the owner of a handsome Siamese now 15 years of age! Until now I have not known there was so great a variety of cats.

There was at least one of each of these: Abyssinian, Burmese, Himalayan, Persian, Manx, Russian Blue, Siamese, and household pets.

Isaac Jones
Heads Citizens Committee

ISAAC JONES, ORALABOR'S CITIZEN'S COMMITTEE CHAIRMAN and about 30 other residents of that community continue to invest untold hours of hard work in their efforts to upgrade their community. Oralabor wants the City of Ankeny to extend its water and sewer lines to them. Ankeny is cooperating in the working out of a way to accomplish this. Robert Hollett, an Ankeny businessman, is said to have offered to contribute $1,000 to help defray costs. Jones' efforts and those of the entire group are in behalf of more than Oralabor residents, represented, too, are many Des Moines persons who have real estate holdings in the area.

SHIRLEY WOODS (Mrs. Edward C.), Chairman of the United Black Federation's College Information Service, together with Jacquelyn Taylor (Mrs.) Chairman of the Model Cities Youth Council worked feverishly this week to organize numbers of high school students to attend a big weekend affair sponsored by the Black Students at Grinnell College.

Modern Etiquette

By Roberta Lee

Q. Is it really considered improper for a bride to take an active part in her wedding rehearsal?

A. This is not a matter of propriety, but rather of custom or superstition. It is customary for the bride to allow a good friend to take her role in the rehearsal proceedings, while the bride sits on the sidelines and observes or directs.

Q. When eating in a restaurant and small butter pats are served in paper containers, is it proper to let the knife rest on the pat when not in use?

A. Never. The knife should rest along the upper right part of the plate — never with the handle resting on the table.

Q. I see more and more paper napkins being provided at meals in other people's homes. Is this really proper?

A. While at one time this was considered out of the question, today for all informal entertaining, paper napkins are perfectly proper — and very practical, too. I might add.

Q. Is it proper to speak an inquiring "Yes," instead of "Hello," when answering the telephone?

A. Although "Hello" is the more widely accepted manner of answering the phone, there's nothing wrong with saying "Yes!" The most important thing is a pleasant, friendly, manner of speaking.

Q. Is it considered poor form for a woman, at her second marriage, to have three or four bridesmaids?

A. Yes. The second marriage should be as simple and informal as possible, and the bride should have but one attendant.

Q. Is it quite proper and acceptable nowadays to type social letters?

A. Yes, and it's increasingly popular, too. Typed letters should be written on a single sheet, with only one side of the paper used. And be sure that your signature at the end of the letter is written by hand.

Q. I have just received an invitation to a bridal shower on a girl whom I scarcely know. Would I be justified in ignoring this invitation?

A. This would be rude to the hostess who invited you. You are, however, justified in telling her that you are very sorry, but that you have another engagement for that particular date.

Q. When a man is escorting his wife and another woman to a social function, which one does he help first with her wraps?

A. The woman guest.

Q. When invited to someone's home and the hostess has small dishes of candy and nuts placed on tables about the room, is it proper for a guest to help himself without being asked?

A. Since obviously these dishes are there for the guests, it is quite all right to help yourself.

Lincoln and Douglas to Be Remembered for Their Courage

The further we get away from an event, the less we think about it. And its importance may be brought to mind as some event is associated with it.

February is a month of the birthday of some illustrious Americans: George Washington, the father of our country, its first President the general who lead the victorious forces in the Revolutionary war.

And there is Abraham Lincoln, preserver of the union, who not only brought rebellious states back into the union but also signed the Emancipation Proclamation which freed Negroes from physical slavery.

And, of course, Fred Douglas, born a slave in Maryland, escaped to free territory in Massachusetts where as a speaker, organizer and educator, became a leading abolitionist. Douglas joined forces with Olive Wendell Holmes, Harriet Beecher Stowe, Wendell Phillips, Sojourner Truth and others who led the anti-slavery movement. Douglas later became Marshall of Washington, D.C.,

Recorder of Deeds and Minister to Haiti.

Lincoln and Douglas lived when there was great opposition to human rights for Negroes. The country split over slavery causing some states to secede from the union. But Lincoln was crafty enough and finally got the backing of enough people to accomplish his aims.

In spite of his precarious position, Douglas fled the slavery shackles of his state, created anti-slavery sentiment here and abroad and after the war demonstrated his ability as a public official and a political leader.

Douglas made a contribution to American history which is bound up in the abolition movement and his service to the country in later years. Books have been written about it. Negro newspapers, in participation, have printed the story over and over again.

None of these immortal patriots, born in February, should be forgotten.

Misguided Exclusion of Whites Exclusion
From Negro Meetings

The Bystander reprints from Jet magazine a sad story which points out what some misguided people can do, even at Harvard University.

Says Whites Were Barred from Harvard Speech of Mrs. DuBois.

Harvard University's Commission of Inquiry is investigating charges that 50 to 100 white persons were excluded from a public speech by Mrs. Shirley Graham DuBois, widow of Dr. W. E. B. DuBois. The speech was sponsored by the University's Afro-American Studies Dept. and had allegedly been advertised as "open to the Harvard-Radcliffe community." Eight Black students were reported to have taken turns guarding the door to prevent whites from entering the theatre.

Little Help to The Public
Against Public Employer Strikes

Efforts are being made to pass a bill authorizing public employees to bargain with authorities over wages and working conditions. It seems that a no strike clause will be included in the measure.

The effectiveness of no strike clauses has been nullified, in most instances, because leaders have dared to ignore them and injunctions issued by the courts to enforce them treated likewise. Then, too, courts have been soft on violations of injunctions just as they have been accused of being soft on criminals.

In other words, we criticize leniency for the boy who steals a dollar but excuse the powerful leader who is demanding thousands of dollars for his followers and breaks a law to get the job done.

Activities of the Iowa
Civil Rights Commission

There comes a time when black people must also look at those who claim to represent them. In doing so, it is necessary to evaluate black people and what they are and where they stand.

As I review in my mind the numerous positions black people hold that are classified as high positions, I can't help wondering how they got there. What price did they have to pay? For a black man to be somebody, must he sell his people?

I look at positions held by blacks, some high, some low and I ask myself another question. Must they sell their souls to stay there? There is no question that some blacks are really white and they keep their positions because under that black skin is a white man's soul.

One thing that keeps black people down is a black man in a position that pays fairly good and gives him white influence. He doesn't want to lose that little power and that nice pay check. Since these dangers exist, he talks white, acts white, and forgets his black friends and people.

He's the same black man who is helping to destroy black people who are trying to do their jobs. This kind of black man sat in my office the other day and cried tears of sadness, because the way was so hard. He remembered at last the dirt, the gutter, the slum from which he came. The tears, sweat and suffering that his father experienced, and it finally meant something to him.

Looking back over the years he would see the signs a wise man sees and I know he's one black man who never made that mistake again. And yet, it's too late, for he has sold his soul.

He remembered how his father went to work at sun up and came home at sundown, and when the week-end came, brought home eight dollars. A father who couldn't go to church on Sunday, because he had to go to the store and buy glue and half-soles to repair his son's shoes, and that same father stuffed paper or cardboard into his own shoes and went on again.

The tears fall quietly now,

With Allen Ashby

We are off on the scramble to be number one in the college cage polls. Just how do you pick the top team? For argument: Notre Dame beats the number one team, UCLA. That drops them to number three in spite of the fact that it is their first loss of the year. Now Illinois beats Notre Dame, Iowa who isn't number twenty in anybody's book, beats Illinois. Drake beats Iowa. Memphis State beats Drake. St. Louis, who hasn't won any more games than has Iowa beats Memphis State. Who is number one?

Here Goes St. Louis? You figure it out. One writer said that the coaches should not have any poll because most of them would vote for their own team, and there could be a thirty-five way tie for the top spot in this poll, since each coach seems to think his team is the best. Then, the writer said that some coaches use the poll to get their own teams up for a certain game. Thus, the Illinois coach said he ranked Southern Cal above Notre Dame because his team played them in that order, and he wanted his boys to be shooting at the top team when they met. There are only but they come down his cheeks as though they were faucets. He can see now how his mother and father stood back while he and his sisters and brothers, seated on orange crates, ate at the table. And when they were finished, then mother and dad sat down and ate.

How can you be black and not remember. However, some blacks forget and yet they represent you and I. No doubt, they have sold their people and now they have sold their souls.

We must examine those blacks who claim they represent black people, and examine their positions to see if they really do. What are they doing, what price are they willing to pay? What price have they paid?

If he is black, but no right he must move over, for I could not bear to make these sacrifices and have my children have to shed these tears again. For I have cried as this man cried, and in many ways paid a small price. But, if the cost goes up then I must save my soul regardless of the price. For the black man has had everything taken, but his soul and that has kept him to this day. Once that is lost, there is no black man.

two big school teams with perfect records. Marquette and Pennsylvania. Where would you rank them? As one follower of the game put it, "anybody you play is liable to beat you on a certain day."

Not Surprised The Bulldogs didn't surprise us when they dropped that close one at Memphis the other night. We thought they had to win by a mile or forget it. But the team that did surprise us was the Iowa University club. They have a small steak going which may be broken by the time you read this. But they have a very good chance of breaking even for the conference games. And we have to repeat our laments for Iowa State. They don't seem destined to win very many games, but all of their games are good to watch because of the one guy Mack. It will be a long season for the Cyclones, but that Guy Mack could star on any team in the country.

High School Basketball In our local high schools, North took a big step towards the city title by downing their rival for first place, Hoover. Of course, they could conceivably blow it, but right now, they are in the driver's seat. They believe they can win, and that means a lot. Last year, they depended on Bob Florence, and when he had a bad night or got double teamed so he couldn't score, the team was lost. But this year they seem to have fellows who come up with clutch plays at the right time. That is the mark of a championship ball club.

Baseball It is little early for baseball, but the idea of a hall of fame for the black players of the old Negro leagues, seem to be a pretty good idea. Of course, the first names to make would be Satchel Paige and Josh Gibson. (Paige was named this week). These are just about the only two old black players that white people ever heard about.

Brewer of Iowa We have a nominee from our city, Chester A. Brewer, and we wonder why he hasn't ever been mentioned for the Iowa sports hall of fame. Chet was the first player that we know of to come from Des Moines and make it big in the old Negro National league. He and Satchel Paige hooked up in some pitching classics in which the game was decided by an error or a passed ball. Base on balls! If a guy walked three batters he was wild. Brewer was big, six three and two hundred pounds, and he could throw a baseball through the side of a barn. Then he backed this up with keen brain, and a fierce competitive spirit and a fine assortment of curves. But then, Paige was the glamour boy of Negro baseball, and pitchers like Chet, Mendez Cooper, and Gatewood went unnoticed until the white major leaguers faced them on barnstorming trips. Brewer told us several times that several major leaguers told him that they never had to face pitchers like they saw from those hurlers very often during the entire season. There were several other players, an outfield called Steelarm Davis, who they said could cover an acre of ground and throw a ball from deep centerfield to home plate on the fly, almost on line.

To the Majors The players who came to the majors, such as Jackie Robinson, Don Newcomb and Larry Doby, while they are were good, were not the best of the old timers. They had the combination necessary to make it in the majors, the ability to hold their tempers at insults until they were given the go ahead signal and the ability to play well enough to make the ball club. Then there was the second baseman that John McGraw manager of the New York Giants tried to get into the majors. It was said that they firey manager raved like a mad man when his request was denied. He predicted that some day Negroes would become dominant in baseball, and he turned out to be a pretty good prophet. Some of those older fellows might not have made it in the majors because they wouldn't have stood for the harassment guys like Robinson took. And those big league fights which consist mostly of shoving and wrestling weren't those guys' idea of a fight. They meant business when they did battle. We guess the only time Jackie Robinson was actually challenged to a fight in the majors, somebody said it was a good thing he was held back, because he was used to fighting where that was done for keeps, and he might have really hurt the other fellow. And now, do you know, we are going to make up a sketch about Chet Brewer and propose his name for the Iowa Hall of fame. The only thing I don't know about him is his birthplace. When we get that, we shall send his name to whoever takes them, and see what happens.

Expose Framing
To Hone Design

Framing lumber has come out of the walls and into the open. Its predominant uses are as studs, joists, rafters, trusses, plates and supporting beams usually hidden behind surface materials.

But framing lumber can contribute flair and style when left exposed in ceilings and walls indoors, and in breezeways and sunshades, decks and patios, skylights and roof extensions and used in other ways to accent design.

For a booklet of colorful ideas on how to expose framing lumber, send 15 cents in coin to Western Wood Products Assn., Dept. 516-P, Yeon Building, Portland, Or. 97204.

Vitamins may help fight off the effects of smog and cigarette smoke on the lungs. The results of lab experiments are inconclusive as yet. But intriguing.

Fat antioxidants such as vitamin E in the diet may offer some protection against respiratory disease caused by air pollution. Tests with rats — conducted at Battelle Memorial Institute's Northwest Laboratories — indicate, they say, that vitamin E is beneficial in protecting the lungs from obstructive diseases, such as emphysema and edema, that may be caused by smog.

The researchers at the Institute found that rats given diets fortified with vitamin E lived twice as long as unfortified rats in an atmosphere simulating air pollution concentrations like those found in Los Angeles or Tokyo on a bad day.

"However," says Dr. D. B. Menzel, "vitamin E supplemented diets will not cure already diseased lungs, and it appears that it will offer protection only to certain levels of ozone or nitrogen dioxide concentrations." Interesting.

In another experiment with quail, biochemists at the Food and Drug Administration found evidence to suggest that vitamin C may protect against the effects of ingested cadmium — an industrial waste now found in water, air, food, and even cigarettes. Ingested cadmium markedly depressed the growth rate of one group of quail, but shots of vitamin C neutralized the effects of the cadmium on a second group.

Vitamins may — or may not — be one of the ways to combat internally the pollution all around us. The evidence bears more watching. But there are other ways to curb air pollution and cigarette smoking. And your local tuberculosis and respiratory disease association is working on these ways. Find out more about them. It's a matter of life and breath.

Your professional hairdresser knows the answer...
Is braiding your "natural"
the only way to make it look better?

Do you have to braid your hair every night or everytime you wash it? Going through this process makes it easier to comb, keeps down split ends and helps give your 'fro more body. However, it sometimes takes several days of braiding to achieve these results.

The best and quickest way to keep a nice shaped 'natural' is to go to your professional hairdresser for the Kindness System from Clairol. It's the new way of styling and making a flimsy 'fro a fuller 'fro. The Kindness® Instant Hairsetter & Kindness® Heat-Activated conditioner are the instant problem solvers for tangles, breakage and damaged ends. It's great for all kinds of hair styles and wigs too!

After washing and towel drying your hair, the professional hairdresser applies the Kindness Heat-Activated Conditioner. It's formulated to give hair deep-down body and a healthy glow. Then, the Kindness Instant Hairsetter, with its warm-hearted rollers, is used to help penetrate the conditioner gently into your hair. This gives your hair more beauty and hold power for a style that lasts and lasts. Then, of course, the expert does the styling.

Why not talk to your hairdresser about using the Kindness System. From wash to set . . . including shaping . . . it takes less than an hour. Your professional hairdresser knows that the Kindness System is far better than tiresome braiding.
