IRS Will Deny Tax Exemption

Southern Schools Were Free From Grips of Internal Revenue

NEW YORK—The United States Internal Revenue Service "will undertake to withdraw recognition of tax-exempt status where we find that a school is not in good faith pursuing a non-discriminatory admissions policy," Commissioner Randolph W. Thrower has informed the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People.

This commitment, received here this week, was in response to a complaint submitted to the Commissioner by NAACP Executive Director Roy Wilkins. In a letter dated Feb. 9, the NAACP leader listed 17 recently established all-white private academies in eight southern states. The list had been compiled by the Association's education department based on reports from local NAACP units.

Five of the schools listed—two in Virginia and one each in North Carolina, South Carolina and Tennessee—had been recognized as tax-exempt prior to the IRS announcement of July 10, 1970, "regarding the effect of discriminatory admissions practices on private school exemption," Commissioner Thrower said.

"It may be," he added, "that the other schools have been held exempt under names different from those on your list. In any event, we have furnished the information to our appropriate field officials with the request that they determine whether the listed schools have been recognized as tax-exempt and, if so, that they consider your information in reviewing the tax exemption qualification of the school."

Mr. Thrower further expressed appreciation for NAACP assistance. "In implementing our position," he said, "we will necessarily be dependent upon the people of the community to provide information that would not otherwise be available to us with respect to the operation of the schools. You may assure your local chapters and their members that specific complaints concerning private tax-exempt schools that practice racial discrimination will be given serious consideration by the Service."

Pays Traffic Fine Installments

A young Des Moines woman begins paying $55 in traffic fines in weekly installments on Apr. 1.

Mrs. Betty Cooper, 20, of 1039 Eighteenth St., had been found guilty of two traffic charges and sentenced by Municipal Court Judge Harry Grund.

She said she had been unemployed for about a year and cannot afford to pay the fine.

Journalist Appointed To Exec. Office

"MRS. BETTY GRANGER REID"

Mrs. Virginia H. Knauer, Director of the new Office of Consumer Affairs in the Executive Offices of the President, announced today the appointment of Mrs. Betty Granger Reid as her Executive Assistant for Special Concerns.

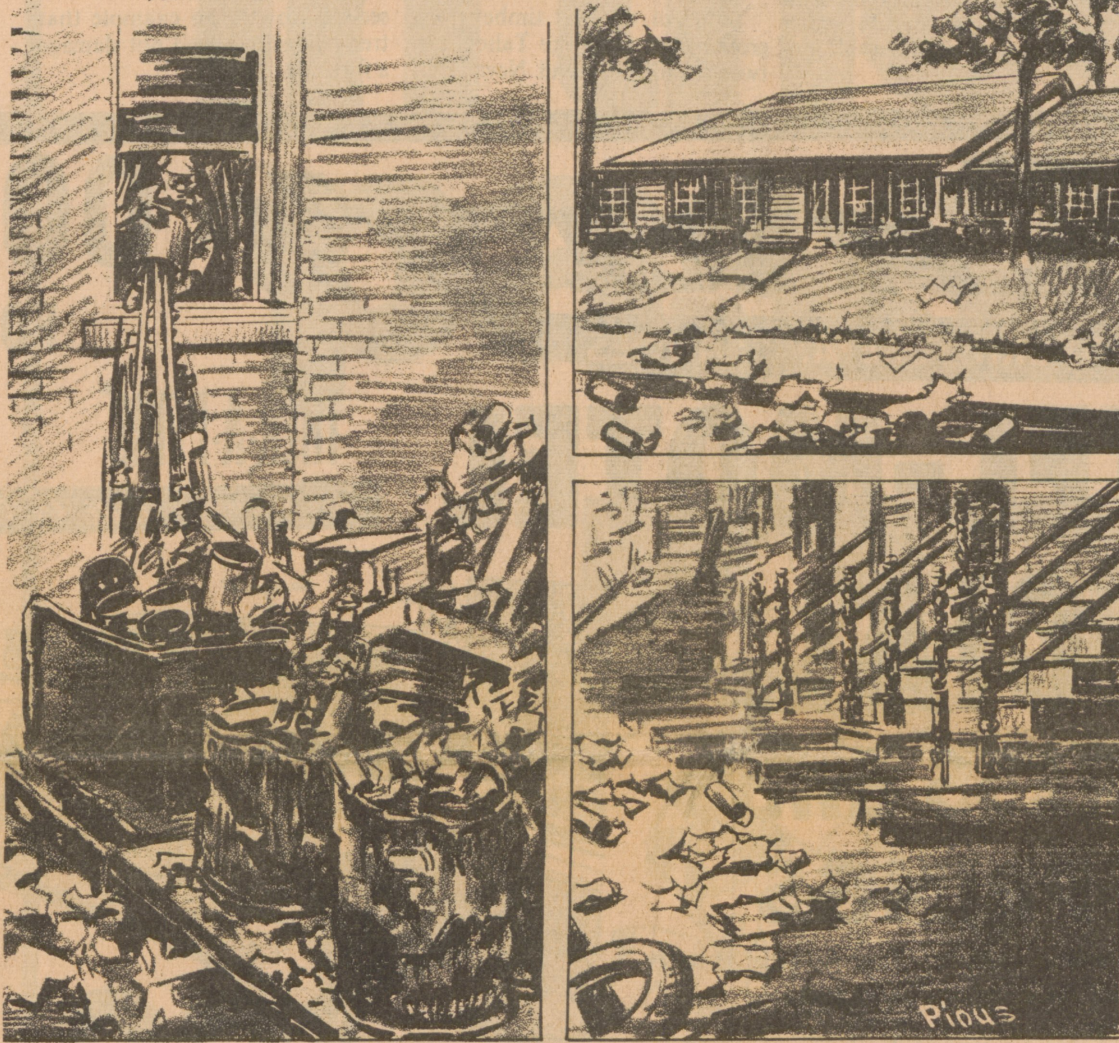

Mrs. Reid was Managing Editor for the "New York Amsterdam News," the largest black newspaper in the country. Raised and educated in New York, Mrs. Reid received her B.A. from Hunter College in 1933 and did graduate work at N.Y.U.'s School of Journalism. She serves on Governor Rockefeller's Committee on the Employment of Minority Groups in News Media and Mayor

Lindsay's Advisory Committee on Adoption.

She is a member of American Women in Radio and Television, the National Urban League, the National Platform Association, and was the first Negro member of the Overseas Press Club. Mrs. Reid has also been recipient of 75 major awards for outstanding newspaper, radio and community achievements.

POLLUTION IS MAN MADE IN BLACK COMMUNITIES AS WELL AS IN OTHERS, AND ONLY YOU CAN STOP IT.

NAACP Warns of Tampering

WASHINGTON—The Senate Subcommittee on Education has been warned by the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People that legislation to provide financial assistance in achieving school desegregation will be opposed by the NAACP if such legislation "is used as a vehicle for segregation amendments, as happened in 1970 in the House."

The warning was voiced by Clarence Mitchell, director of the NAACP Washington Bureau, in testimony before the Committee here on March 12. As a guide to the achievement of complete desegregation of public schools, Mr. Mitchell presented five recommendations on behalf of the NAACP. These were that funds made available must be used to assist all school districts which (1) are already desegregated, (2) those desegregating in compliance with HEW recommendations, (3) those which need to increase minority attendance or must prevent resegregation, (4) those which are racially isolated because of residential patterns, and (5) the repeal of the anti-busing provision contained in Title VI of the 1964 Civil Rights Act and the Fountain and Whitten amendments.

In regard to busing, Mr. Mitchell said that "deceptive semantic alchemy" has given the word "the connotation of a precious luxury which must not be paid for with tax funds."

But, he said, "when we remove the verbiage and get at the facts we discover that what is really meant is a restriction on the use of Federal funds for school desegregation."

Homeowners Meet, Discuss School Site

Des Moines residents of the area that will be affected by the new Bird-Grant School site met Monday, March 22 at the Woodland-Oakridge Center.

The site location for the new Bird Grant School is between Crocker and School St., 15th to 17th St.

Gerald Robinson, director of administrative services for the Des Moines school district said property appraisal will be made within a six week time period and that "moving costs will be part of the purchase price of the house."

Robinson said that the Des Moines school district will apply for federal funds. Under federal funds homeowners will receive more money for their property and receive relocation assistance.

Attorney J. B. Morris, sr. suggested that homeowners seek legal assistance to get a fair amount for their homes.

"Let's act intelligently and get all we can get out of it," Mr. Morris said.

Jewish Leader Pays Tribute To Whitney Young

NEW YORK, March 13... Paying tribute to Whitney M. Young, jr., who died in Algeria on Thursday (March 11), a prominent Jewish leader has declared that Mr. Young "chose the way of persuasion, not confrontation; reason, not flamboyant rhetoric. He was interested in producing results for his people, not just publicity headlines."

Rabbi March H. Tanenbaum, national director of the Inter-religious Affairs Department of the American Jewish Committee, spoke over radio station WINS-WESTINGHOUSE.

Minorities Should Be Included In Study - NAACP

The Des Moines Branch NAACP had its meeting Tuesday evening at the Wilkie House. Plans were perfected for the spring membership drive which begins April 15. The president was instructed to represent the branch at the regional meeting in St. Louis next month.

John Estes, Jr. suggested that the branch should take some action concerning the failure of the business to include a Negro in its group to study minority problems and instructed the president to convey these views to Watson Powell, Jr., head of the group.

The branch and also a group represented by John M. Estes, Jr., have sent a letter of protest to Mr. Powell.

A Black Governor For Mississippi?

The men and women who comprise the bi-racial Democratic Party of Mississippi and others will meet April 18, in convention in Jackson, Miss., to choose a candidate for Governor of Mississippi.

In all probability, that nominee will be the first Negro candidate for governor of Mississippi. Mayor Charles Evers of Fayette—brother of the slain civil rights leader and former NAACP Field Secretary—is considered by many to be the leading candidate for the nomination.

The convention is expected to attract several hundred delegates from virtually every community in the state.

Several recent developments—all of them being challenged in the courts—have significantly altered the political

New York, N. Y. — Under secretary-General Ralph J. Bunche, 66, top American in the United Nations secretariat, returned to work in New York City after an illness of 11 weeks. A U.N. spokesman said: "I think he's a little weak but he's very chipper. He's bringing himself up to date on a number of matters." Bunche had been hospitalized with severe bronchitis.

Stricken As Vacationing; Ends Long Journalism Career in Baltimore

Clifford W. Mackay, 63, Baltimore, Md., died in Presbyterian Hospital, San Juan, Puerto Rico Sunday.

Mr. Mackay, was chief of the Baltimore City Bureau of Consumer Services, suffered a stroke Saturday.

He was in San Juan with members of the H. M. Club, an Eastern Seaboard men's group which annually takes a winter vacation abroad.

Henry G. Parks, president of Parks Sausage Co., one of several Baltimoreans in the group, said Mr. Mackay was missing when the group gathered in their hospitality suite at the Holiday Inn on Saturday.

"When we went to his room, he was on the floor fully clothed. We put him on the bed and tried to revive him. There were several doctors in the group. They determined he may have suffered a stroke and moved him to the hospital."

Mr. Parks returned to the city late Sunday. William Stanford, another member of the club, remained in San Juan to await the arrival of Mr. Mackay's wife.

Mackay was a native of Des Moines, graduated from East

High School and pursued a journalism career at Drake University.

During his high school and college career he was employed by the low Bystander Office becoming a printer as well as a journalist.

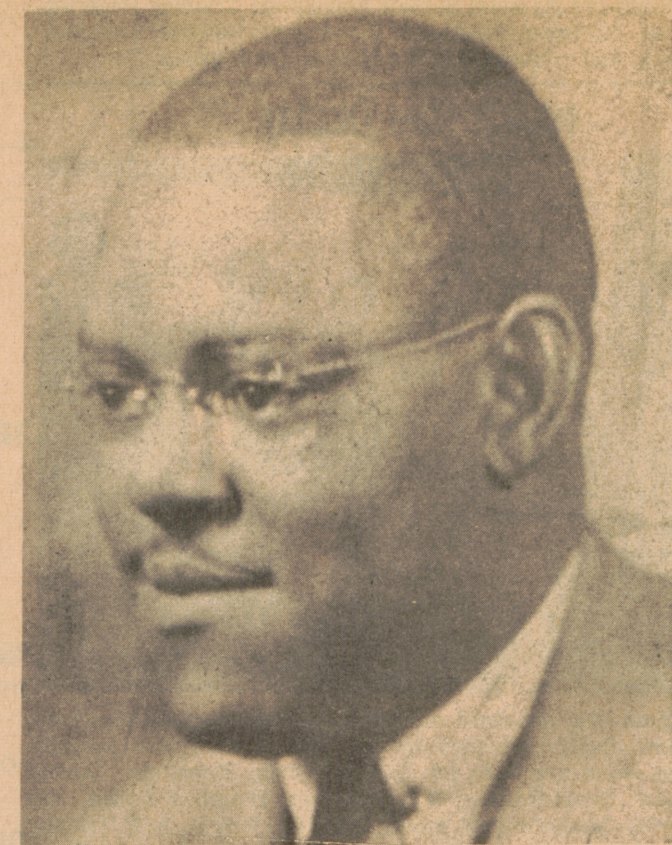

Varied Following his graduation from Drake University Mackay joined the Chicago Defender staff from which he went to Atlanta, Ga. where he worked for the Dailey World. Later he joined the Norfolk (Virginia) Journal and Guide following which he moved to Baltimore where he served as a reporter and later became editor of the Afro-American.

Besides his widow, Mrs. Lula Mackay, he is survived by his sister, Dora E. Mackay, 1062 38th St., three nieces, Mrs. Duane Perreert, Minneapolis, Minn., and Mrs. Verda Williams, New York City.

Mr. Mackay and his family were active in church and civic affairs.

He was active in politics during his earlier years in later years in Baltimore.

Funeral services and burial will be held in Baltimore Friday. Mrs. Dorra Mackay left Thursday to attend the funeral.

New York, N. Y. — Jazz trumpeter Louis (Satchmo) Armstrong, 70, is being treated for a heart ailment in the intensive care unit of New York City's Beth Israel Hospital. A hospital spokesman said Armstrong was resting comfortably. A long spell of ill health in 1968 and 1969 put Armstrong in a hospital for five months with liver and kidney ailments.

Ambassador Heckled By Blacks In Sweden

NEW YORK—Prompted by numerous reports that Jerome (Brud) Holland, the United States Ambassador to Sweden, had been subjected to racial abuse on arrival in that Nordic country, The Crisis, the official organ of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, sought the facts. The full story of the incidents encountered by the Negro Ambassador upon his arrival and subsequently are revealed in the current issue of the NAACP magazine.

The article says that the harassment of Mr. Holland was fomented by the National Liberation Front, with an American Negro expatriate reputedly initiating the racial epithets which were hurled at the new Ambassador.

Because of diplomatic differences between the two countries there had been no United States Ambassador to Sweden from January, 1969, until January 11, 1970, when President Richard M. Nixon named the former All-America football star and president of Hampton Institute to the vacancy. Upon arrival in Stockholm in April, Mr. Holland was greeted with anti-Negro and anti-American shouts. Immediately the Swedish government expressed official apologies to the new Ambassador.

EEOC Selects Congressional Affairs Director

Stephen C. Blakeslee, jr. has been appointed Director of the Office of Congressional Affairs of the U.S. Equal Employment Opportunity Commission by Chairman William H. Brown III.

Blakeslee will have primary responsibility for keeping members of Congress and appropriate committees fully informed on matters relating to EEOC activities.

payments of moderate amounts—for example, up to $2,000 or $3,000. Some states have special life insurance laws that permit minors as young as 15 or 18 to exercise all rights as owners or beneficiaries of policies. But in other states—or when younger children or larger amounts of money are involved—a court may have to appoint a "guardian" to receive the money and administer it under the court's strict control. This procedure can be complicated and expensive.

A simple way to avoid this is to have the life insurance company hold the proceeds of your policy at interest until your children are legally old enough to receive payment. You can provide for contingencies at earlier ages by naming a trustee (instead of a court-appointed "guardian") to withdraw any funds needed for the children's benefit, or to exercise any options under the policy.

This arrangement costs your estate little or nothing. You

Firestone Gets New Manager

AKRON, Ohio—John B. Walters has been appointed manager of The Firestone Tire & Rubber Company plant in Des Moines, Iowa. The Des Moines plant is one of Firestone's largest tire-making facilities.

Walters, formerly manager of Plant 2 in Akron, succeeds David L. King, who has been appointed director of production for Firestone International Company.

Walters joined Firestone in 1954 in the engineering department in Akron. From 1957 to 1963 he was an electrical engineer in the Pottstown, Pennsylvania, plant. He then was transferred to Canada where he served as plant engineer in Hamilton, Ontario, and later as plant manager in Calgary, Alberta.

He was named manager of the plant in Akron in 1969.

Walters is a 1954 graduate of the University of Buffalo with a degree in electrical engineering.

'Brother John' Begins Premiere

Columbia Pictures' "Brother John," starring Sidney Poitier and co-starring Will Geer, Bradford Dillman and Beverly Todd, began its world premiere engagement March 24 at the Astor and Loew's Orpheum Theatres in New York.

James Goldstone directed the contemporary drama about a black man who returns to his small home town in the South to be with his family during troubled times.

"Brother John" is based on an original screenplay by Ernest Kinoy and features the music of Quincy Jones.

Woods Can Erase Clashes in Decor

Many homeowners paint all their rooms white or beige, figuring the lack of possible color clashes will boost resale value.

More imaginative, however, is to use western wood paneling for entire rooms, accent walls, or wainscoting. The warm texture of wood harmonizes with almost any furnishings.

Shoppers Aweigh

One of every four adults shops for building materials in a year's time, one national survey found. Two-fifths of these are women. Among homeowners, 30 per cent are likely to be looking at materials, compared to 15 per cent of renters.

Negro D.C. Minister Elected Congress

Washington, D. C. — Rev. Walter E. Fauntroy, a Democrat, was elected Tuesday as the first representative in Congress from the District of Columbia.

The 37 year old Baptist minister will not have a vote in the house but will have a seat on the district committee. He polled 59 per cent of the vote in the six man race.

Top Black Student Receives Scholarship From New York Firm

RICHARD B. WHITE—1971 Pfizer Achievement Scholar from New York City—receives his scholarship certificate from Donald C. Lum, Pfizer vice president-personnel, at the company's World Headquarters in New York.

Aspiring to a career in science, Richard is one of 340 outstanding Black students who have won college scholarships sponsored by industry and foundations in the seventh National Achievement Scholarship Program. As sponsor of his scholarship, Pfizer will award him up to $1,500 a year to be used at a university of his choice.

A senior honor student at Friends Seminary, Richard is a member of the Math Club, a prize-winning exhibitor at the Science Fair, chairman of the school's Black Students Organization, and a member of the varsity basketball team. Among his many outside activities, he numbers participation in last summer's National Science Foundation Training Program held at Northern Michigan University, volunteer student tutoring, and membership in a Quaker youth group.

Policyholder Questions Answered by The Institute of Life Insurance, 277 Park Ave., N. Y., N. Y., 10017

Q: I want to name my 8, 13, and 16-year-old children as beneficiaries of my life insurance. Should I set up a trust arrangement for them in case I die while they are still minors?

A: It often isn't necessary, but in some cases a trust may be the best way to avoid serious legal problems that can arise when you leave life insurance or other property to children under age 21.

Even with adult beneficiaries, a trust may be a valuable tool in planning an estate.

Laws covering inheritance by minors vary in different states. Some states permit children to receive direct

Schwengel Speaks To Davenport Blacks

Rep. Fred Schwengel, R-Iowa, met last Friday, with the black leaders of Davenport, Iowa.

This was part of an effort not only to represent Davenport in Washington but to represent Washington here, said 1st District Congressman, Schwengel.

Schwengel told leaders of Davenport's black community that he would use the power of his office to advance the cause of minority groups on the local level.

Tom Kelly, Davenport attorney, asked for Schwengel's support "to hurt these (civil rights) violators where they hurt — in the pocketbook."

Kelly said local housing contractors building new homes under the 235 section have yet to sell to a black family in this area.

"ONE MAN has built over 100 homes, and not one black has been able to buy them. He'll come up with 50 excuses why they aren't qualified, but there has to be something wrong there," he said.

Schwengel indicated he would exert pressure to cut off federal funds as soon as a case of discrimination becomes known.

Sylvester Scott, secretary of the Davenport chapter of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People (NAACP), asked that Schwengel establish an investigation unit in Davenport.

"You have these men going around on the SST (supersonic transport), why not have them here finding the problems? You say 'show me the problem,' I say let's have those men here checking on things," Scott said.

CHARGES OF unfair hiring and promotional practice at the Rock Island Arsenal were made by Archie Silvan, Davenport NAACP president.

"They are constantly re-writing regulations and changing job descriptions to get around the law. They have asked me to find them a qualified black. Why can't they recruit blacks the same way they recruit at white schools? Why should I do their job," Silvan asked.

Silvan also charged contractors and the Arsenal will go out and hire a black whom they know is unreliable and then show his work record as proof blacks can't be depended upon to do a good job.

"We are dealing with subtle situation," Silvan said. "A black will ask for Wednesday or a Thursday off. He will be told to take a Monday off instead. On that Monday, the rumors are being spread he was out drinking too much over the weekend to come to work."

Schwengel said he and Rep. Tom Railsback, R-Ill., would work together to correct any wrongful condition at the Arsenal.

Schwengel will meet with innercity youth to discuss local problems when he returns to Davenport for Easter vacation.

OBITUARIES

HARRY THOMAS BELL, JR.

Services for Harry Thomas Bell, Jr., 58, of 820 Fifteenth St., will be in Waterloo at 11 a.m. Saturday at Antioch Baptist Church, of which he was a member.

Burial will be in Fairview Cemetery there.

Mr. Bell died of a heart attack Sunday at his home.

He was born in Water Valley, Miss., and had lived in Waterloo before moving to Des Moines 10 years ago. He was a retired restaurant operator and a member of the Masonic Lodge and United Supreme Council of the Shrine, both in Waterloo.

Survivors include a sister, Mrs. Bettie Allen of Waterloo, and several nieces and nephews.

A wake will be held from noon to 6 p.m. Thursday at L. Fowler & Son Funeral Home here.

Five Iowa Minority Students

NEW YORK—The winners in a new national scholarship program to help minority-group members transfer from two-year colleges to four-year programs were announced today by the Ford Foundation.

Named were 1,009 scholarship recipients and 1,807 honorable mention candidates from 417 two-year colleges.

Iowa Winners

Winners from Iowa include: Zelma P. Harris-Ellsworth Community College; Alvin Luther Smith-Grand View College; Laurence West-Marshalltown Community College; Tyrone Richard Orr-Palmer Junior College (Davenport) and Larry Chaton-Waldorf College (Forest City).

The winners include black Americans, Mexican-Americans, American Indians, and Puerto Ricans. They were nominated by the junior and community colleges they now attend.

Lack of Aid

A general lack of college financial aid for transfer students prompted the Foundation to initiate the new $2.1 million program. In announcing the awards, Harold Howe II, Foundation vice president for education and research, noted: "Until now, there has been no nationwide program specifically focussed on making higher degrees more accessible to minority-group graduates of two-year colleges. Scholarship funds in four-year institutions are generally allocated to students who start as freshmen.

The scholarships will cover between 20 and 80 per cent of the students' total cost of attending a four-year institution. Each winner is responsible for securing his own admission to the senior college of his choice.

A complete list of the scholarship recipients and honorable mention candidates will be mailed to every senior academic institution in the country to enable interested institutions to recruit these eligible minority students.

Home Starts Rising As Footage Falls

Home building is experiencing its own compact-car trend—to a basic house, a bit smaller and with fewer "extras."

This move, along with easing interest rates, will help builders reach more low to medium income families.

An upswing of nearly 20 percent in new housing to nearly 1,700,000 conventional units is forecast for 1971 by McGraw-Hill analysts. This does not include mobile homes, expected to top 425,000 units.

Motown's Supremes

NEW YORK.—Lew Alcindor is unhappy in Milwaukee. The towering star of the record-breaking NBA Bucks just doesn't care for the city and is bugged by many of its people.

In an article appearing in the current issue of Look Magazine, Alcindor makes it clear that he'd be a lot happier in New York or Los Angeles.

"Live in Milwaukee? No, I guess you could say I exist in Milwaukee," Alcindor declares.

Alcindor, who lives in an apartment on the 13th floor of a high-rise near the downtown section, spends most of his days in virtual isolation.

"I am a soldier who is hired for service, and I will perform that service well," he says in the article, adding:

"Basketball has given me a good life, but this town has nothing to do with my roots. There is no common ground, no place to start.

"For openers, this was a center for the German-American Bund. In New York or on the West Coast, there is a black culture. That is why I get to New York as often as I can during the season and why I bought a house in central Los Angeles.

told him he could send me on to the Army, if I was going back to the same clinic. He promised me another doctor.

Good Luck In Military

"This doctor took me through a range of tests and told me I had an athletic build and he didn't think the Army would kill me—and wished me luck in the military. When I got back to the induction station, the doctor wouldn't even see me again."

Mrs. Anne Braden, executive director of SCEF, declared that Smith's case is another example of how the draft is used to stop men working for social change. Walter Collins, a 26-year-old black organizer for SCEF, is serving a five-year prison term for refusing to be drafted.

Collins said his draft board was trying to stop him from organizing draft counselling services in black communities across the South and from organizing black and white people in Mississippi and Louisiana to solve their common problems.

Draft Board Pursues Ex-Candidate-Caught

FORT POLK, La.—Jimmy Smith, 24-year-old black man who ran a close race for mayor of Port Gibson, Miss., last fall, has been inducted into the Army.

His draft board had been after him ever since he filed as a candidate last August. The board refused to defer Smith even though he has a congenital back ailment.

Doctors Say Unfit

His doctors say he has chronic lumber sacral strain and is unfit for military service. One Army doctor said he gave Smith a full range of tests, but Smith says the doctor never touched him or tested him in any way.

"The power structure really wanted to send me through the grinder," Smith said in a recent letter to the Southern Conference Educational Fund (SCEF), a civil-rights group based in Louisville, Ky.

Marshals Are Waiting

"Federal marshals were waiting on me to refuse the induction," Smith continued. "At the induction station the doctor told me he was

Group Aids Black Draft Resisters

WASHINGTON, D.C.—Seventeen national and regional organizations have formed the International Committee of Black Resisters (ICBR) to aid black men refusing to be drafted.

"The purpose is to internationalize the struggle for black resisters and to generate national and international support for them," said Mrs. Virginia Collins of New Orleans, who was elected co-director of ICBR.

Sites Statistics

"While blacks are only 10 per cent of the U.S. population, 14.5 per cent of the men in the armed forces are black.

"The focus of the committee's work will be (1) international support for black resisters and political prisoners; (2) opposition to apprehension of black men in the military or in jail for refusing the military; (3) research and communication on the international level about the cases of black resisters and political prisoners; (4) an international legal resistance network; (5) black draft counseling and programmatic planning for high-school students; (6) a campaign to free Walter Collins, to be spearheaded by the Southern Conference Educational Fund (SCEF)."

Black Women's Unity Drive Endorsed By Four Sororities

NEW YORK, N.Y.: Four national black women's sororities have endorsed the Black Women's Unity Drive recently launched by the National Council of Negro Women.

Leaders of LAMDA KAPPA MU, CHI ETA PHI, TAU GAMMA DELTA, and ALPHA KAPPA ALPHA all pledged support of the drive.

The purpose of the Black Women's Unity Drive is to unite under the umbrella of the National Council of Negro Women, the support and collective power of at least four million black women in this country. The drive will forge a strong link for black women in all walks of life. When black women can speak with a united voice, the nation will feel the impact of their power across the land to provide a better life for everyone. Programs are being initiated in local communities to eliminate racism, poverty, hunger, fight drug addiction, promote decent housing and child care centers, and assume responsibility for assuring quality education for all.

Emphasis throughout this nationwide Black Women's Unity Drive will be on maintaining dialogue between persons of diverse backgrounds and on closing gaps between city and rural areas, middle class and poor.

"IT'S NOT WHAT YOU KNOW BUT WHOM YOU KNOW" was a shining truth the other night when I needed ever so badly to locate a prominent young bachelor. He is unlisted in the directory. His pad unlisted and unknown to most of us. But there was that special someone who provided the needed solution — the phone number. I dialed until shamefully or unshamefully close to midnight. Lost my nerve or energy. Gave up!

WAS INVITED TO A WINE TASTING PARTY! Ever attend one? No, no, you have it all wrong. Just a wine tasting party. The more guests the more wine samples to enjoy — the greater variety. And some guests were very selective. Like rare French wines. Oh, sure there were other refreshments.

AND THERE WAS FOOD. Like bits of weiners or diced pineapple cooking over small brazier. To go with this you have a choice of crackers, cheeses, and olives and such.

THE GUESTS ON THIS WERE SO ENJOYABLE! New people and very interesting. I learned a fun game, an African Game. It was an attractive, simply carved tray of wood. As decoration the wood had been burned. Its shape reminded me of one of my oblong — not long enough — cup cake tins. The cups of this wooden tray held smooth black beans from some African plant. Uneven numbers of these

Des Moines Students Visit Coe College

Ten high school students were guests of the Admissions Department at Coe College, Cedar Rapids, Iowa on Friday and Saturday, March 12 and 13, 1971. The students traveled by chartered bus, (courtesy of Model Cities) toured the campus, and were entertained by the entire Black student body at a campus party, Friday evening.

The group conferred with Admissions and Financial Aid officers on Saturday morning. Two students, (Gary Strode, NORTH and Dennis Clark, EAST) were interviewed for admission to Coe.

Other students participating were: Amie Jackson and Sandra Wolder, ROOSEVELT, Linda Green and Debbie Woods, EAST, Barbara Dennis, Pat Singleton and Kenneth Johnson, TECH, and Gladys Loggins, WASHINGTON IRVING.

Chaperones were: Mrs. Shirley Woods, College Information Director for the United Black Federation, and Mrs. Queen Dennis, Teachers Aid at Washington Irving Junior High.

beans are in the cups and to begin one picked up all the beans from a cup and proceeded to drop one in each cup. Continue until your supply is exhausted. If you are lucky or have caught on to the game, you end dropped the last two or three into cups containing two or three. These are your winnings. You get a little smarter as you go and can ascertain just about where to start in order to pick up more and more bean (fuller and fuller cups). Shall we say that's how it looked to me? More later about this!

OUR HOST AT THE WINE TASTING PARTY IS AN EXTENSIVELY TRAVELED person and feels that Iowans, for the most part, are not really exposed to what wine can really be. It is a universal drink. Each wine has different purposes, he began, but being the host had to go to meet someone's need.

ANOTHER FRIEND CONTINUED with the observation that white wines like Chablis, Rhine or Reisling go with fish or fowl. Red wine like Claret (English), Rose or Chinati (Italian) go with red meat. Port, Muscatel or some other sweet wines are dessert wines. Sherry, like a cocktail, is a before dinner drink.

PERSONALLY I AM PLAGUED by things like remembering to renew my driver's license. Pained at having to pay $10.00 for it. A drink of instant coffee, and brand, is a bonus in my life. The time to enjoy just a cup of coffee is sheer pleasure.

Gateways Center Holds Spring Fashion Show

Gateways Center held its first large affair, a Spring Fashion Style Show, in its new setting, 1016 Forest Avenue, on Sunday afternoon, March 21. Mrs. Ethel Deering was director of the show and Mrs. Muriel Boggs, Coordinator. Dolph Pulliam, KRNT-TV personality, was Master of Ceremonies.

The goal of the Spring Fashion Show was to raise funds required for the additional educational and cultural undertakings organized for the underprivileged children of the area. It is these projects which enhance and enrich the activities for the young. On Sunday the community lent its support to these purposes.

Fashions shown were the most exciting of the current new styles and numbers not yet on the Midwestern markets. The clothes shown were through the courtesy of Herman Kucharo's, Frankel's, Feldman's and J. C. Penney's. The new make-up for black women, Flori Roberts Cosmetics, was furnished by Younker Brothers.

Models representing all sections of the Des Moines community comprised Gateways Center's Spring Fashion Style Show. They were Veronica Brown, John Newbauer, Linda Lozano, Earl Turner, Justina White-side, Robert Doyle, Geraldine Williams, Lucian Wyant, John Deering, Mary Valle, Helen Lynch, Al Correll, Carmaletta Smart, Shirley Brown, Zina Cheatom and Barbara Lewis.

Master of Ceremonies Dolph Pulliam set the pace for the fast moving show by appearing in three costume changes from his own wardrobe.

Little Zina Cheatom was a charming model in three outfits from Penney's. She wore an Arnel tri acetate spring fashion knit, with a multicolored top, white drop waistline and a white pleated skirt. The second, a splashy peasant dress, and the third a window pane checked raincoat, trimmed in the wet look green crushed patent, and gold buttons.

A swimsuit with boy-cut bikini pants from Penney's was modeled by Shirley Brown. Three pantsuits, outfits from Penney's, were worn by Geraldine Williams, Helen Lynch and Linda Lozano. Hot pants were worn by Linda Lozano, Veronica Brown, Shirley Brown and Mary Valle, each from Penney's. Jump suits were modeled by Carmaletta Smart, Helen Lynch and Veronica Brown, whose outfit was from Feldman's. A lone pair of knickers from Penney's was modeled by Mary Valle. The two African style garments were a Dashiki in Helen Lynch's ensemble, and a printed gown with fringed sleeves and attached hood created and modeled by Veronica. A pearlized all weather coat was worn by Helen Lynch and a cape coat from Penney's by Geraldine Williams.

Two pantsuits and a velvet gown, her own creations were modeled by Justina Whiteside. Casual, sportswear ensembles and coordinated outfits from Frankel's were worn by Robert Doyle, Earl Turner and John Newbauer. High style knit, Italian silk, and Johnny Carson styled suits from Kucharo's and from Frankel's were modeled by Earl Turner, Lucian Wyant, Robert Doyle and John Deering.

A vest suit, and accessories of his own design and tailored by Chancellor's

Men's Clothing was worn by John Newbauer. In addition to a number of men modeling their own wardrobe was Al Correll whose wardrobe, in the main, are outfits selected in his hometown of Philadelphia, Pennsylvania, New York, and Los Angeles. Many are French or Italian imports and added to the show's exciting showings.

A surprise wedding scene came at the show's ending. As the scene opened, the groom, Al Correll, awaiting his bride was attired in a spring formal which featured a white fitted sport jacket with wide black lapels. The slacks were black with deeper black satin trim along the sides. The Spanish shoes were black and Burgundy leather. The shirt was a deep pink with black trimmed ruffled lace on the front and cuffs.

The bride's attendant, Carmaletta Smart, wore a gown of lemon ice, fashioned in Juliet style with a high ruffled neck, full sleeves and a vest type bodice. She wore a matching headpiece which was a cluster of petals with blusher veil.

The bride, Barbara Lewis, wore a gown of imported hand clipped Chantilly lace. A touch of Venice lace highlights the gown. Her mantilla styled cathedral train flowed gracefully down the aisle.

Entertainment numbers were interspersed between the show's three segments. First to appear was Singer Karen Brown in the theme song from "Love Story". She was accompanied by Carol Soderblom at the piano. Next on program were dancers Penny Deering and Latoya Thomas, who won the hearts of everyone when in the spirit of "the show must go on", the tiny girls continued their dance routine to its beautiful completion though there was trouble with the stereo furnishing their music. Then Irving White read "I Am An American" and "Creation."

Theodosia's Entertain Grand Royal Matron

MODELS GIVE TIPS FOR BEAUTIFUL LEGS

American women are famous for beautiful legs, but a recent gathering of fashion authorities in New York came to the conclusion that many beautiful U.S. legs owe thanks to the brainy gal that knows how to flatter a leg with the right legwear.

One fashion house invited a panel of New York models to set up guidelines on how a woman can select the correct hosiery for her particular legs.

The models' pointers include: lighter shades of panty hose for thin legs, darker if they're on the heavy side. Cinnamon, Cafe Brown, Dark Grey, Navy and Black are "slimming" shades, they say. They agree that the most flattering covering for legs is a skin-like fit in a sheer panty hose. And they add that doesn't mean an expensive purchase at the store. Most of them buy theirs at drugstores and supermarkets for less than $1.50 a pair. They prefer the Caprolan nylon look because they say it has truer color and a richer, softer texture. According to fashion reports, Fruit of the Loom recently added Caprolan to its Proportioned Fit panty hose because the fiber also provides superior cling to knees and ankles—and the models point out, that's where a bad fit shows first. To get an even more exact fit, the Fruit of the Loom designers divided the Caprolan Proportioned Fit panty hose into a range of four sizes instead of the usual three.

The models say that after the right fit and proper shade of hosiery, good-looking legs depend on flattering shoes and the right skirt length. Heavy legs look even heavier in chunky-heeled shoes, they warn. And a skirt that's too long or too short only draws attention to them. In a final poll they agreed that the length best for all legs is just below the knee.

Modern Etiquette

Q. What have you to say about letters of condolence?

A. All too often this is a letter that is put off and finally never written at all, simply because you can't think of what to say. It is extremely thoughtless to let this happen, for in time of great sorrow the fact that one's friends are standing by can mean so very much. It isn't WHAT you say that's so important — it's the fact that you SAID it.

Q. Would it be proper for an elopement or "runaway" marriage to be announced later by means of the customary engraved cards?

A. Quite proper.

Q. Is it all right to use informals in giving thanks for wedding gifts received?

A. Yes, so long as there is no greeting that substitutes for the written words of thanks and if the informal is conservative and of good quality paper. It should be sent, of course, first-class mail, sealed.

Q. Is it considered proper or in good taste to send a male patient in a hospital a bouquet of cut flowers?

A. Although not exactly "improper," cut flowers are usually sent only to women. A growing plant is the customary gift to a male patient.

Q. How does one properly eat a hard-boiled egg at the table — an egg that has been served in its shell?

A. Tap it gently with the blade of your knife, strip off the shell, then eat the egg with your fingers.

Q. How long properly does a young woman wear mourning for her father or mother?

A. Propriety no longer has anything to do with this, as it did in yesteryear. Now it is entirely a matter of a woman's feelings and choice. Most people today do not consider it necessary at all.

Q. Should candy be served to guests in its box, or in a special dish?

A. It's all right to offer candy in a box to guests in the living room — but at the dinner table it should be served in a dish.

Q. What do you think increases one's popularity as a conversationalist?

A. The ability to be a good listener. It takes perseverance to learn how, especially if you want to express your own view. Don't fidget, sneak glances at your watch, or stare into space, even if you're bored. Look the speaker in the face and give him your undivided attention. It's a nice feeling when someone else does the same for you, isn't it?

G. C. Green and Mr. Henry Phillips, both from Chicago, Ill.

Shut-ins are Mr. and Mrs. Beverly Clark, Mercy Hospital and Cynthia R. White, at home.

Former Keokuk resident, Cornelius Brooks, died in Detroit, Mich. Thursday, March 18.

Lumber Nears In New Sizes

Framing lumber in the new sizes sanctioned by the U. S. Department of Commerce will be moving to building sites and materials yards in large quantities before January 1.

This is predicted by Western Wood Products Association, Portland, Or., whose grading supervision covers 40 percent of U. S. production of softwood lumber. Most member output will be at the slightly slimmer sizes before year's end, and deadline for all is April 1.

Lumber yards and the do-it-yourself trade will make the switch with little trouble, while builders will have to adjust some measurements slightly, WWPA officials commented.

Your professional hairdresser knows the answer...

How do you keep a 'Fro free from problems?

An "afro" or "natural" looks best when every strand of hair stands independently full and attractively healthy. But, kinky or frizzy hair mats and tangles easily and can break off in everyday combing. Because professional hairdressers realize this most of them use Clairol condition*—The Beauty Prescription for Troubled Hair*... as well as Clairol Hair-So-New*, the no rinse creme rinse for general softening.

They know condition* leaves dry hair shiny and plump. What's more, it silken and helps mend split ends. Hair is left stronger to withstand even chemical straighteners and the picking method of combing an "afro." A condition* treatment only takes a few minutes. And you can feel the difference in your hair right away.

For easy combing most professional hairdressers soften the hair first with a product like Hair-So-New. It temporarily relaxes hair so tangles and snarls quickly go away and scalp feels soothed. Combing is easy... and fewer ends are broken.

When you wear your hair in a "natural," you'll want it to look beautiful. The more beautiful it is, the better it expresses your black identity. That can be a proud distinction. But, whether you wear your hair "naturally" or straightened, see your professional hairdresser about giving you a treatment with Clairol condition* and Clairol Hair-So-New. You'll be so glad you did.

Better Prepared People Are Less Unemployed

The Iowa State Employment Security Commission reports that it is becoming more difficult to find jobs for people. This, they say, is particularly true of veterans recently discharged from the service. Many are disappointed in that they fought for their country only to come home and find that the people don't seem to appreciate it.

There is something true in the gripe of these ex-service men who, after all, while they did serve their country, the unpopular cause seemingly dims some of the sentiment.

But we are wondering if a lot of this unemployment and neglect, about which they speak, could not be cured if the boys took advantage of what is being done by the Veterans Administration to help them get a start.

Many of these are young men - some just out of high school. Few have a trade and left few jobs worth returning to. Jobs for trained people are being advertised in the Bystander and the daily papers every week. Apprenticeship schools are open in many areas where most of the mechanical trades are taught. They are paid while pursuing their apprenticeship training and generally help them with other expenses.

A bricklaying and electrical apprenticeship classes will begin next month. Other apprenticeship classes are going on every day - some of which have not been well attended. They have a better chance if they know how to do something.

We believe the employment service, business and the veterans administration could help this situation materially by working more closely together to the end that unemployed people know what's available and how to get it.

The Litter Is Bad

Something has added materially to the appearance of some of our streets, yards and public spots which is an eyesore wherever one goes.

Now that trash cannot be burned in the open and the system of garbage and refuse collection has been changed, blowing paper and rubbish have produced some eyesores in spots.

An example of this is the area between Oakridge and the Freeway. It is disgraceful. And the soiled paper, cans and boxes pollute the air far more than if they had been burned.

With definite dates for collection and the elimination of roaming dogs at night, the plastic sacks of garbage on the streets might not be too bad. But from experience we almost must keep watch at all times lest the streets are strewn with garbage.

Citizens are wondering about clearing up this mess which leads one to wonder why not use some of the money being passed out free to pay workers to keep the city looking better. It would be money well spent.

Require Litigants to Respect The Courts

District Judge Joseph Keele of West Union has leveled a fine of $7,000 against four producers of the Wadena Rock Festival last year. A court injunction had been issued restraining management from producing the show. The producers ignored the injunction and proceeded with their plans.

The judge said he leveled the fines because the producers deliberately violated the court orders and that the open drug use carried on during the four day meeting had reached such proportions.

We fully agree with Judge Keele for displaying the courage to make litigants - whether civil or criminal - respect the courts. And those who don't should suffer the consequences.

Too long, courts have winked at disrespect for law and order by the powerful, by the highly organized labor force and now in the name of the poor. They have ignored court orders and later been given an excuse for having done so.

The knowledge that people can violate the law and get by unpunished simply encourages them and others to keep doing it. It creates more disrespect for constituted authority and for the safety and contentment of people generally.

Health for All

Tougher breeds of germs are on the scene. Throughout the world. And they are transmitting their pattern for survival to other bacteria.

There is now a worldwide increase in drug-resistant bacteria. Some TB germs, for instance, have developed an immunity to isoniazid, a drug used to treat and even prevent TB. Once the germs develop a resistant strain to one drug, they may also become more resistant to other drugs, too. And they can pass on the resistance factor to other bacteria.

Very little is known about the phenomenon yet. Except that it is on the upswing. Last fall the New York Academy of Sciences called a conference of scientists from eleven countries to delve into the situation. One of their concerns had the eerie aspect of science fiction.

The problem is the antibiotics farmers feed their livestock to stimulate their growth and make them fatter. Scientists now suspect that bacteria in these livestock may be developing resistant strains to some of the antibiotics. What happens when people eat meat from animals who harbor drug-resistant bacteria? Can the resistance factor spread to harmful and harmless bacteria in the human body, thus making it immune to drugs that treat disease?

The scientists did not know the answer. But the British government is now taking measures to limit the antibiotics fed to animals. The American government is now studying the situation, too. There may be ways to control the problem before it really develops.

At any rate, there are fortunately, effective ways to control most TB germs and other bacteria. The overwhelming majority of TB germs can still be done in by drugs like isoniazid. To find out more about TB and how it is treated, contact your local tuberculosis and respiratory disease association. They have the facts.

Strong Reserves

The ore reserves of International Nickel contain some 12,370,000,000 pounds of nickel and 7,890,000,000 pounds of copper. Because of an extensive exploration program, these reserves increase nearly every year in spite of record nickel production and deliveries to the free world's industries.

Stainless Still the Biggest

Again in 1969, stainless steel was the main consumer of the element nickel. Some 320 million pounds of the 820 million pounds of nickel consumed last year went to stainless, representing 39 percent of the total. Nickel imparts strength and corrosion-resistant properties to stainless.

ON THE SPORTS SCENE

We didn't pick this letter up in time for last week's column, but it was just what we asked for a while back concerning the black wrestlers in the state high school meet.

This is from a Magnolia Waller of Cedar Rapids who took the time to write and let us know what happened. It just so happened that Mrs. Waller has a son Karl, who wrestled for Washington High and won the 119 pound title.

Another fellow, Dedrick Doolin won second in the 126 lb. division, and still another, Sy Bassett came up third in the 167 lb. class.

All three of these wrestlers hail from Washington High.

KARL WALLER

Then there were a couple of other guys, Theodus Craig, of Davenport Central who took second in the 138 lb. class, and Mitchell Taylor of Waterloo East, who was the 105 weight runnerup.

So we were happy to get this, and promise that from now on we shall keep better tabs on the mat men. The only wrestling news that we see around here seems to feature the northwestern part of the state, and there just aren't very many brethren up there.

Oh, yes, while Mrs. Waller's son, Karl, was winning his title in the high school meet, her other son, Landy, a former state high school champ, was winning the 142 pound title of the Rocky Mountain Athletic conference. Landy wrestles for Omaha division of Nebraska University. It is said that both of the brothers are good football backs, also.

The lady goes on to say that we probably don't remember her, but we do, because we used to hear Mrs. Ashby talk about her quite often. It seems that they were good girl friends.

She sent a picture of Karl, perhaps for a cut, but we decided to add it to our collection. And the guy looks just like his mother. Now, do you believe that we remember?

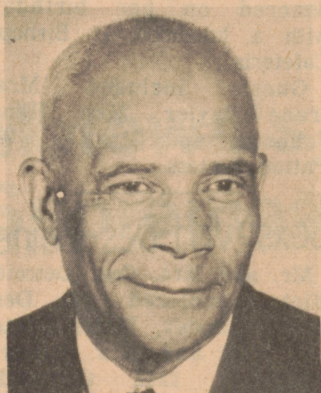

We had thought that if North got by the first round jitters, they might go all the way. But, they got so far behind in the first few minutes that they never could catch up.

Whenever that basketball starts to go in and won't fall, it can be a long game, and that is just what happened to the Polar Bears. They didn't panic, because they had been down and had come back before, but this time they just couldn't cut it. We are glad to learn that they took their defeat like champions. Just a part of the game, and that is the way defeat should be accepted, but all too often isn't.

Like most of the local fans, we watched Drake beat Notre Dame in that cliff hanger in the NCAA meet Thursday, and then pulled for them to come on in against that big Kansas team Saturday. We thought the Bulldogs might make it when they got that big lead in the first half, but the Jayhawkers were just too big to guard without fouling, although Drake did out-rebound them on the boards.

But that is the way the breaks go. Thursday, Drake was battling to get that ball for one last shot, and with four seconds left, the thing rolls across the floor into the hands of a good shooter, and he shoots, tying the game and sending it into overtime. So the Bulldogs got their second chance.

But Saturday the breaks seemed to go the other way especially that call on the five second rule on throwing the ball in bounds. We hadn't seen that call made just about all season, and what a time to come up with it. That seemed to give Kansas the lift they needed, and they went on from there.

But Drake gave their followers some moments to cheer about right down to the wire, and left nothing to be ashamed of. Somebody said that three points made the difference between eighty thousand bucks and about ten thousand.

Now do you believe basketball or college football is played for fun?

Several winning streaks have been broken in this meet. Marquette, with a winning streak from here to yonder learned that you just don't win forever.

Then Ohio State, which had a smaller streak going also found out about that too. Pennsylvania, with a 28 game string going for them, took on a Villa Nova team they had beaten three times previously. And what happened? The Penn guys got the hell beat out of them.

UCLA played a team on the coast that brought a string of wins to the meet, and while they hung in there, they bowed to the five time national champs. That same thing may work against the Uclans when they get to Houston.

Nobody wins forever, and it is time Johnny Wooden found out about that. By the time this comes out, maybe he will have learned it; but don't bet the family jewels on it.

We learned where some guy in England says the fight between Mohamed Ali and Joe Frazier was fixed. He hinted that Ali was doped, possibly against his knowledge. We would say that Ali was doped all right.

He was doped by the belief that he didn't really need to train for a tough fifteen round fight, and that Joe Frazier wasn't as tough as he turned out to be. And then he was doped by his clowning tactics when he should have been fighting for his life.

Of course the Frazier left hooks late in the brawl didn't help any either. If the thing was fixed, it was the best fix since Achilles chased Hector around the walls of Troy.

Too bad they can't make professional wrestling matches look that real.
