NAACP Launches Drive For OK Of 18-Year-Old Vote Measure

NEW YORK — Branches of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People throughout the country have been called upon to mount intensive campaigns in their respective states to secure early ratification by their legislatures of the constitutional amendment to lower the voting age to 18 in all elections.

The amendment, passed by Congress on March 23, must be ratified by the legislatures of three-fourths of the states — 38. Once ratified the measure will become the 26th Amendment, effective immediately.

In a memorandum, dated March 30, to all NAACP state conference presidents, branch presidents and field staff, Gloster B. Current, the Association's veteran director of branches and field administration, stressed: "Time is the essence. Many state legislatures are holding short sessions and will be adjourning soon."

The NAACP official called for prompt action: "1. Write, wire, visit the members of your state legislatures in the area covered by your branch. Urge immediate action on the Vote 18 Amendment.

"2. Support our youth department's campaign to get 18 and over young people to register. "Prompt action is IMPERATIVE."

Iowa Jobless Rate Up to 5 Per Cent

Iowa's unemployment rate in mid-February edged up to 5 per cent with 59,300 workers looking for jobs,

Atlanta, Ga. — The National Scholarship Service and Fund for Negro Students (NSSFNS) has scheduled its third consecutive Student-College Interview Session in Atlanta, Georgia.

Admissions officers from about 150 colleges nationwide will participate in the program in an effort to recruit more Black students to their campuses.

GREENSBORO — North Carolina A&T State University at Greensboro is one of six schools which will administer a $2 million federal grant to the nation's 84 predominantly black institutions of higher learning.

NEW YORK, N.Y. — Hosea Williams, program director of the Southern Christian Leadership Conference (SCLC), was arrested Sunday in St. Patrick's Cathedral on charges of disrupting Palm Sunday services.

BERKELEY, CALIF. — Radicals won three of four contested City Council seats in Tuesday's election but failed in a bid to take control of the council. Voters also put into office a black mayor who supports the radicals.

the Iowa Employment Security Commission announced this week.

The 5 per cent rate is still below the record high in the last 20 years of 5.1 per cent set in February 1958 but is above this mid-January figure of 4.9 per cent.

During January, 58,900 Iowans were seeking employment. Although unemployment actually decreased in some parts of the economy, a large number of unemployed entrants into the workforce pushed the unemployment total up by 400 workers.

Iowa's workforce in mid-February totaled 1,194,300, an increase of 300 from January and a rise of 15,500 from February 1970.

Farmer Tells Drake — New Approach Needed To Teach Unemployed

By Caroline Pokrzywinski
News Editor

"Main Street bypassed the homes of the poor, resulting in public unawareness of poverty and hunger, now the poor are literally bursting with existence," said James Farmer, former national director of the Congress of Racial Equality, in a speech Monday night at Drake University's field-house.

Farmer's speech, "Hunger in America", is part of the Anti Hunger month sponsored by Drake's National-International Awareness Committee, the hunger education committee of Drake's Revitalization Corps, Drake's Offices of Academic Administration and Student Life and the Des Moines' Area Community College student body.

In his speech Farmer pointed out the success and failures of Civil Rights legislation in the '60's.

"The only people whose life improved is the black middle class," said Farmer.

Civil Rights Victories
He said that there were victories such as Little Rock. "Many heads were broken and many jails were full to bursting, but we did win victories," he said.

Farmer said that he isn't denying the progress of the '60's, just pointing out the shortcomings.

Farmer, former assistant secretary of health education and welfare, said that the quality of education and delivery of human services needed improvement. "The black poor aren't being educated," said Farmer.

Farmer said that achievement tests have a built in bias that discriminates against poor blacks.

"Schools have failed to learn how to educate nonwhites," he said.

Teachers — Accountable
He said that teachers should be held accountable for teaching students. "If the class fails the teacher should be penalized," he said.

Farmer said he is sick of seeing books used in ghetto schools where a country house with a white picket fence symbolizes the average home.

He said that the black poor is increasing while the white poor is decreasing.

"The unemployment rate for black youths in the inner city is 42 per cent," said Farmer.

He suggested that new careers and jobs be created. Para-professionals could be used to improve the delivery of human services to the community as well as create new jobs said Farmer.

Black Think Tank
Farmer said he is starting a "Black Think Tank" to try to identify problems of blacks and find alternative solutions.

The think tank will be "non-political," said Farmer.

Farmer also commented on his reason for leaving the Nixon administration.

He said he resigned his post as assistant secretary of health education and welfare when "I realized I was only helping a few blacks, it was like applying band-aids, (flesh colored)."

At an afternoon press conference Farmer said that in '72 he would "like to see federal funds diverted to breaking the cycle of poverty and hunger."

Farmer said that he was yet to see a city that does not have hunger, even Des Moines.

He also commented on FARMER

Black Caucus In House Wants Change for Blacks

Thirteen black representatives presented 60 recommendations for improving the economic and social status of the American black man.

President Nixon made a firm commitment to respond to each of the requests and recommendations made to him by the Black Caucus of the U.S. House of Representatives.

Major recommendations include the following:

- Establishment of a comprehensive manpower planning program, with the Federal Government creating 600,000 jobs.

- Employment of one million youths in the Neighborhood Youth Corps during the summer.

- Replacement of the present welfare system with a "guaranteed adequate

- income system" based on a minimum of $6,500 for a family of four.

- Establishment of revenue sharing with Federal guidelines to assure that funds would benefit the poor and that the poor would participate in the decisions regarding the funds.

- Stronger enforcement of all civil rights laws.

- A declaration that drug addiction and abuse constituted a national crisis.

- Appointment of more black Federal judges and other legal and law enforcement officers. Only one black judge outside the District of Columbia has been appointed by President Nixon, the Representatives said.

- Repeal of "no-knock" and preventive detention provisions of anti-crime laws.

- Withdrawal by the United States from Southeast Asia "by the end of 1971" or at least by the end of the 92nd Congress.

- The placing of Africa on a par—in priority and attention with other sections of the world, with economic aid, now at 8.5 per cent of all aid, increased to at least 15 per cent.

- An overhauling in relations with the Republic of South Africa, with the United States taking the lead in isolating that country.

- The Representatives also recommended that a greater role in foreign affairs should be assigned to blacks and other minorities.

Busch Hiring Practices Praised

AUGUST A. BUSCH, JR., listens as Alderman Joseph W. B. Clark reads the text of the Award to his company, Anheuser-Busch, Inc., for its assistance with the NAACP's summer youth program. At the left is Roy Wilkins of New York.

The hiring practices of the Anheuser-Busch, Inc. Company has been praised by federal officials as "a model for the industry."

W.W. Layton, U.S. Department of Agriculture, who has been handling the Busch case, told reporters that 13 other U.S. breweries' hiring practices are under review. Layton is the Compliance Officer for the Agriculture Department.

Anheuser-Busch pointed out that the government had asked the company to update its Affirmative Action program in review of recent government regulations covering hiring practices and policies. The new plan at Busch calls for approximately fifty per cent of new employees, in most categories, to be members of minority groups.

The company announced in December 1970 that it was holding a series of meetings with federal officials. Its final program submitted during the latter part of January was the one accepted by the government as "a model for the industry."

New Record Nearly No. 1

Hollywood, April 1... The undisputed heavyweight champ of the record industry is The Jackson 5, a group of youngsters just a little over one year old professionally, whose five consecutive number one records have racked up unprecedented sales exceeding 13 million copies.

Motown Record Corporation reported today that The Jackson 5's newest single record, "Never Can Say Goodbye," is their biggest yet, with sales of 1,213,000 copies in exactly five days.

"There can be no question that 'Never Can Say Goodbye' will be the J-5's sixth number one record in a row," a Motown spokesman said. "The very first week it jumps on the charts at about 25."

He added: "Even if the Beatles hadn't broken up, there is no doubt that The Jackson 5 would be the world's hottest recording artists. But now that there are no Beatles, no one can even come close to the J-5."

Putting much substance to these words are some additional eyeopening statistics about the five brothers who were discovered by Motown's Superstar, Diana Ross, and who were voted the number one group in this country in a poll in Billboard, the music trade magazine, as well as number one in Great Britain by the authoritative New Musical Express Poll:

Law Students At USC Have Black President

For the first time in the 72-year history of the University of Southern California's Law Center, a Negro has been elected president of the first-year class.

Stans' office today was John Ketch, 33-year-old Vice President, who described the award as "one more step forward in a successful struggle upward from the Watts riots of 1967." Witnessing the signing were Andrew Gibson, Assistant Secretary of Commerce for Maritime Affairs and officials of the Small Business Administration.

California Golden Oak Products was formed shortly after the dust had settled on the disorders in Los Angeles' Watts section. In the ensuing years the company, with a work force 60% Black and 40% Mexican-American, has overcome a series of difficulties which would have driven many a new enterprise to the wall but it persevered and Ketch estimates that his company this year will gross $1.6 million in commercial sales, $800,000 of this in family-size pool tables marketed through competitive national toy merchandising channels.

Porter entered the USC Law Center in September on a scholarship, after being graduated from California State College, Los Angeles, and attending a Council on Legal Education Opportunity preparatory program at UCLA for two months during the summer.

He was one of the first five Negroes to be graduated from Cal State with a major in police science and administration. He was on the dean's list at graduation.

Porter has been president of the Los Angeles chapter of Kappa Alpha Psi, social fraternity, and won its Western Province Undergraduate Achievement Award.

He is a member of the Black Student Union and has worked three years as a group supervisor for the Watts Community Center.

The South is experiencing a far-reaching Renaissance in which the biracial system has already begun to crumble, according to a social scientist of national repute.

"New wines" of enlightenment, prosperity, true Americanism and progress are bursting the "old bottles" of racial hate, bigotry and sectionalism," Dr. Daniel C. Thompson, professor and chairman, Division of Social Sciences, Dillard University (New Orleans), said at Mississippi State University.

Predicting that the Renaissance may reverse the present population flow away from the South and result in this area being one of the most favored in the nation, Dr. Thompson said that all Southerners, black and white, are generally apprehensive about its tremendous power and surge.

"All are uneasy," he said, "because it is already urgently necessary to honestly examine and evaluate some of our basic human relations values and seriously question certain of our most sacred southern traditions."

It will be extremely difficult for many whites, said Dr. Thompson, to accept the fact that this Renaissance is beginning to take the form of the New South as envisioned by Martin Luther King Jr. and not as championed by Henry W. Grady. Grady, a Georgian who lived about the turn of the century, contended, said Dr. Thompson, that the "New South" had to present a solid front based upon the ideology of white supremacy.

On the other hand, he said, Dr. King's dream presupposed a new South based on equal citizenship for all people. "To him (Dr. King) the new South was first of all an integral, interacting aspect of the total nation, not separate and in opposition to it."

Because the top white leaders are beginning to acknowledge the desirability and the promise of the southern Renaissance, a new pattern of southern leadership is seeking recognition and influence, said Dr. Thompson.

The social scientist, who has been quoted widely on a national basis, said that the new breed of leaders must fully recognize and respect the following principles:

"One, that each state is an inherent, indivisible part of this Republic. There can be no place in the new South for hateful sectionalism, conflicting laws and second class citizenship..."

"Two, creative leaders must refuse to 'sink their differences on moral and economic issues' simply for the sake of solidarity. Instead they must insist upon the freedom to voice their honest differences, to debate basic issues, no matter how 'sacred' these issues may be to some people..."

"Three, there can be no place for the old biracial patterns of leadership characteristic of the old solid South. Legitimate leaders, black and white, must have a true, honest concern for the welfare of all citizens, not just black or white citizens."

Quoting South Carolina Governor John C. West, who recently said that state government "must be color-blind" and that his state's goals can become a reality "only if the people unite and work together, putting aside differences of race, politics and generations," Dr. Thompson concluded:

"If the southern Renaissance will make this the basis of its leadership selections and legitimacy it can lead this nation and world toward a 'New Birth of Freedom' and security which has been mankind's most enduring dream."

Mitchell: Don't Fight OEO Action

WASHINGTON — Appearing before the House Committee on Education and Labor, Clarence Mitchell, director of the NAACP Washington Bureau and chairman of the legislative committee of the Leadership Conference on Civil Rights, urged a two-year extension of the authorization of appropriations for implementing the Economic Opportunity Act of 1964.

In testimony here, March 31, Mr. Mitchell cited recent Office of Economic Opportunity figures indicating that "48 per cent of the total program funds are spent for what is described as 'programming for black Americans.' Assuming that these figures are accurate, it is fair to say that any unfriendly or disruptive action against 939 programs, either by the Administration or the Congress, inevitably will be characterized as action against minority groups."

surrender be on good terms with all persons. Speak your truth quietly & clearly; and listen to others, even the dull & ignorant; they too have their story. Avoid loud & aggressive persons, they are vexations to the spirit. If you compare yourself with others, you may become vain & bitter; for always there will be greater & lesser persons than yourself. Enjoy your achievements as well as your plans. Keep interested in your own career, however humble; it is a real possession in the changing fortunes of time. Exercise caution in your business affairs; for the world is full of trickery. But let this not blind you to what virtue there is; many persons strive for high ideals; and everywhere life is full of heroism. Be yourself. Especially, do not feign affection. Neither be cynical about love; for in the face of all aridity & disenchantment it is perennial as the grass. Take kindly the counsel of the years, gracefully surrendering the things of youth. Nurture strength of spirit to shield you in sudden misfortune. But do not distress yourself with imaginings. Many fears are born of fatigue & loneliness. Beyond a wholesome discipline, be gentle with yourself. You are a child of the universe, no less than the trees & the stars; you have a right to be here. And whether or not it is clear to you, no doubt the universe is unfolding as it should. Therefore be at peace with God, whatever you conceive Him to be, and whatever your labors & aspirations, in the noisy confusion of life keep peace with your soul. With all its sham, drudgery & broken dreams, it is still a beautiful world. Be careful. Strive to be happy.

AL CORREL, DIRECTOR OF THE DES MOINES HUMAN RIGHTS COMMISSION, headed a tremendous program on the occasion of his agency's Third Annual Recognition Banquet Tuesday night, March 30.

ABOUT TWO WEEKS this column described Al's enthusiastic support of the Gateways Center Spring Style Show by modeling. He was very, very modern and extremely exciting. On this Tuesday night, he was again an enthusiastic performer, but with the fire, vehemence, and political know-how of a veteran senator. He is youth itself, but on the other hand possesses a hardness, a cold analytical approach with swift appraisal. I believe that I saw in him a fighting man, if the occasion calls for a warrior. He is excellent for his position.

RECOGNITION OF COMMISSION SECRETARY, LEOLA DAVIS (MRS. JOHN EVERETT) was pleasing to each onlooker. Throughout the years she has been the ready source of identity of her agency. A gracious contact always!

AWARD RECIPIENTS: Pastor Orzealya M. Roberson, founder and executive of Iowa's first Half-Way House and Rehabilitation Center for ex-prisoner, surprised the entire gathering! In lieu of the traditional acceptance speech, she introduced those whose support is most basic in her program such as representatives of Iowa Power and Light, Des Moines Water Works, Northwestern Bell Telephone Company, P. Co. Welfare and others! Fine!

Nolden Gentry, who received such beautiful support from so many of our Des Moines voters! People were so honest!

Marjorie E. W. Smith, loved by all and best known of any of us on the scene. In her way, somewhat like Correll, she delivered her message most forcefully! Knowing her, it was not a new message but her creed, that which she lives by!

Zeid Court No. 50 Holds Creation 1971

Mrs. Alberta Daniels

Zeid Court No. 50 Daughters of Isis held their regular meeting March 23 at the Doric Masonic Hall and conducted their first creation for 1971.

Mrs. Alberta Daniels, wife of Noble George Daniels of 678 28th St., was initiated in the Daughters of Isis and is now a full fledged member. The Daughters of Isis are very proud to have Dt. Daniels. After the initiation the regular Creation dinner was served and all had a very good time. Other candidates will be initiated at the Gala Day meeting which will be held in Ottumwa, Iowa, May 28, 29 and 30. Dt. Barbara Robinson, chairman of the Queen Contest, asks members to turn their reports in at the April meeting.

FIRST NATIONAL HUMANITARIAN AWARD WINNER, GALE SAYERS, of football fame won a new place in our hearts. He generously allowed the column to use a portion of his acceptance speech. It follows:

I'm deeply honored to receive such an award. Many wonderful things have happened to me as a result of my playing football—All-American honors, NFC Rookie of the Year, All-Pro Selection—I'm proud of them all. But a humanitarian award such as this suggests more. It goes beyond accomplishments on the athletic field to being concerned about and having a regard for the interests of all mankind. Not a particularly easy task today, when with all the modern technology at our command we seem to improve everything except people. We seek peace but seem to breed war. We hold human life to be sacred but we slaughter men by the millions.

Here then lies the greatest challenge. Our interest in the welfare of all mankind. Just as it is important for me to gain yardage on the football field for the Chicago Bears it is equally important for me to inspire and motivate by word and deed the youngsters I come in contact with through the Chicago Park District and other youth groups I am associated with.

The ideal tomorrow may be only a dream. But if young people become a constructive influence in our society not destructive, if they become producers not consumers—then tomorrow—yours and mine—will be a dream that has come true. That's certainly worth working for. And believe me the goals when achieved will be as rewarding as any touchdown ever scored.

You know sooner or later we will all be asked to sit at the banquet of consequences so remember: "I am going your way so let's go hand in hand. You help me and I will help you. For soon Earth, that kind old nurse, will come back and rock us all to sleep. So let's help one another while we may."

Modern Etiquette
By Roberta Lee

Q. If a dinner party is in progress and a guest arrives while the others are eating, must all the men rise for introductions or in greeting?

A. No. In the case of a woman guest, she slips into the seat indicated by the hostess after a brief greeting, and the man to her right alone rises to seat her. The hostess does not rise, because then all the men would be compelled to rise with her.

Q. When eating a soft-fried egg, is it all right to put a small piece of bread or toast on the end of my fork and use this to dip up the yolk?

A. Quite all right... very practical, too.

Q. Should the clergyman who performs the marriage ceremony, and his wife be sent invitations?

A. Yes — unless the wedding is so small that there is no reception.

Q. Where should the best man at a wedding keep the ring which he later turns over to the bridegroom at the proper moment in the ceremony?

A. To avoid the traditional embarrassing delay in fumbling for the ring, he should not keep it in a pocket. I think the best place for him to keep the ring is squeezed onto one of his little fingers.

Thomas Marsh spent Sunday and Monday in Chicago, Ill. with Mrs. Lewis's sister, Mrs. John Valentine.

They attended Liberty Baptist Church and dined at the Sala. Mrs. James Mallory and Majory Bates are patients in Sacred Heart Hospital.

The Spiritual Tones sang at Fort Madison's high school for the Home Show.

Mrs. Margaret Derrick, Marilyn Beechan, Virginia Harper, Mrs. Thomas Marsh and Mrs. George Harper Sr., attended the Jaycee Gavel Club at the state prison, March 30.

Ponderosa is the principal pine growing in the western states.

Q. When friends and guests come to your home to spend an evening watching television or playing cards, is it absolutely expected of the host or hostess to serve refreshments?

A. Certainly — if you want to be thought of as a GOOD host or hostess.

Q. At an informal dinner in someone's home, who is responsible for starting any particular dish around the table?

A. The person or guest nearest that dish.

Q. If asked to pass a certain dish at the table just as you are about to partake of it yourself, is it all right to help yourself first?

A. No; this would be very crude and ill-mannered, unless of course the other person insists that you do so.

Q. Is it proper always to present a young man to a much older man?

A. Yes. This can be done by mentioning the older man's name first, as, "Mr. Harmon (the older man), this is Mr. Burgess."

Q. How does a person refer to his half-brother and half-sister when he is introducing them to others?

A. If he wishes to be in good taste, he will refer to them simply as "My brother" and "My sister."

PEPSI HAS A LOT TO GIVE

Your professional hairdresser knows the answer...

How do you keep a 'Fro free from problems?

An "afro" or "natural" looks best when every strand of hair stands independently full and attractively healthy. But, kinky or frizzy hair mats and tangles easily and can break off in everyday combing. Because professional hairdressers realize this most of them use Clairol condition!—The Beauty Prescription for Troubled Hair!... as well as Clairol Hair-So-New®, the no rinse creme rinse for general softening.

They know condition! leaves dry hair shiny and plump. What's more, it silken and helps mend split ends. Hair is left stronger to withstand even chemical straighteners and the picking method of combing an "afro." A condition! treatment only takes a few minutes. And you can feel the difference in your hair right away.

For easy combing most professional hairdressers soften the hair first with a product like Hair-So-New. It temporarily relaxes hair so tangles and snarls quickly go away and scalp feels soothed. Combing is easy... and fewer ends are broken.

When you wear your hair in a "natural," you'll want it to look beautiful. The more beautiful it is, the better it expresses your black identity. That can be a proud distinction. But, whether you wear your hair "naturally" or straightened, see your professional hairdresser about giving you a treatment with Clairol condition! and Clairol Hair-So-New. You'll be so glad you did.

The Calley Case Presents Problems

Many American people are sore over the trial of Lieut. Calley and the verdict of the court martial. The court martial, made up of Infantry officers who served in Viet Nam, heard the evidence and the defense concluding finally that the officer is guilty of having murdered 22 civilians in cold blood.

What Lieut. Calley did as many returning men from our wars will testify what others have done on a lesser scale. Calley just went too far and was caught. After all, the man who gets caught is punished.

The Calley case presents a problem which, while important, is overlooked by the critics.

Admittedly, most people agree today that our presence and predicament in Viet Nam are precarious. While helping the people in South Viet Nam win their war against domination by Communists, we look upon these people with little compassion. As some say, they are not worth fighting for or that those whom Calley is convicted of having killed are not worth fighting for.

Thus, America found itself bound to show these people, and the world, that they are human beings entitled to be treated according to the rules of war.

All sorts of pressure will be exerted along the appellate proceedings to secure Calley's release and eventual exoneration. Undoubtedly, President Nixon, who has the last word, will weigh the evidence carefully and make some bow to the demands of the public feeling that Calley has suffered enough for his part in the death of the 22 civilians.

A Practical Summer Program For Youngsters

Under the leadership of the Chamber of Commerce, Des Moines business is offering young people of junior and high schools in the city a chance to work during the summer months. The program has been conducted during the last two years and was successful far beyond the expectations of those who guided and financed it.

The program has very definite objectives; to provide an opportunity for youngsters to use their vacation to earn, to learn and to utilize their time in a worthwhile manner all of which makes them less susceptible to moving in trouble spots.

We hear a lot about unemployment these days much of which is brought on by the unemployed themselves. Some are unwilling to work, some are untrained to do the jobs being offered and are unwilling to train for them.

These youngsters will be working in offices, public and private, and in industry at odd jobs. Some are going in these places for the first time. Some are boisterous and unappreciative which, at times, tests the courage of their employers. But somehow they must get started to learn what it takes to work with and among others and that as employees they are to carry out their responsibilities.

This program offers an excellent opportunity for many youngsters, who otherwise might not have had a chance, in time. It helps to dispel the myth among some that those who have don't care for the poor and/or less fortunate.

The Right Approach Would Have Been Better

The Negro members of the House of Representatives met with President Nixon recently. They had been clamoring for a meeting for some time.

The group presented a series of complaints which they demanded that the President act upon and report back to them within a few days thereafter. (They are set out on page 1 of this paper.)

Some of their demands are being pressed by other groups who seek them for the whole nation. Some are clearly beyond the power of the President and naturally will not be considered.

However, we are surprised with the bashness in which the demands were made. It is most unusual to demand that the President do anything; it sounds rather silly to demand that he report back to them within a specified time.

Just what these congressmen can or will do if the President fails to meet their demands is apparent—continues to blow and throw up dust. The office of president commands respect and decorum. Certainly requests for prompt consideration and action with decorum are bound to get more attention for the fellow who uses it.

Health for All

The Vietnam war ripped the social fabric of America in unforeseen ways. Now that the way may also threaten the control of tuberculosis here.

The incidence of TB in the United States is among the lowest in the world because of highly effective nationwide control programs. But the Vietnamese population, in sharp contrast, has one of the highest rates of active—as well as drug-resistant—TB anywhere. More than 500,000 American servicemen have been stationed in Vietnam.

In a recent issue of "Archives of Environmental Health," Colonel R. G. Cowley reported that a random chest X-ray survey of Vietnamese civilians showed fully one-third of those over 15 years of age had radiologic evidence of active TB. A WHO survey of sputum samples from Vietnamese showed a very high percentage of the kind of TB that is resistant to treatment by the usual drug regimens. Chaotic war conditions in Vietnam have prevented even the most elementary attempts at TB control programs. According to Colonel Cowley, a five-year analysis of military personnel showed clear-cut indications that drug-resistant strains of TB among the Vietnamese are producing significant disease in U.S. troops. Some disease is detected early. But, "there is a distinct possibility that a number of cases of drug-resistant TB resulting from exposure in Vietnam," says the Colonel, "will become apparent clinically in settings far removed in distance and time from their military origin." In other words, at home.

revenue sharing:

"In 1990 a majority of our large cities will be black," said Farmer. He suggested that the Federal Government use revenue sharing as a financial base for these cities. Farmer said that he would be hesitant to give money without earmarking it. "I would be extremely hesitant to let George Wallace decide how to spend my tax dollar," said Farmer.

ON THE SPORTS SCENE

We have to express our regrets to Principal Webb of North High for missing the sports dinner. Our excuse was probably the most overworked one we could think of. We overslept.

The Polar Bears had a good year in athletics, a good football record, city basketball title, and made good showings in the other sports. They haven't had a bad football or basketball team in at least a couple of years.

We were an East High pupil, but we think now, as we look back, that there was more harmony among the races at North than there was at East. We are thinking of that great North High team of five Negroes, four Irishman, a Jewish boy and an Italian. That was back in the days when one black on a team was good. Two was something.

Then we listen to the fellows who went to East under one of its most popular coaches. One guy said they often had two or three blacks for certain positions, and they used to kid each other about that. Now the boys would be raising Cain.

When we were at East, we had no complaints, because we were in several activities. And most of the boys who were in various activities were treated all right, but we always thought they had their place, even if it was put in a rather subtle manner.

Now, they might have had the same trouble at North, but we never heard of it, probably because we weren't there.

We like to get off on these reminiscences of days long gone. Guess that is one of the traits of the years. And somehow, we never seemed to get around to comparing the good old days with the present days. Don't really know how to go about it.

We have compared the game as it was played then and now, and we have sometimes compared the attitudes of the players, but we can't say we had more fun in school than you fellows do now, or that we enjoyed our practices and games more than you do.

A fellow told us that he wanted to challenge our recent statement that black boys are just beginning to get the early training they need to become outstanding swimmers, gymnasts and such. We shall be glad to hear him out. Might be good for a column.

The basketball playoffs are barely over, in fact, not quite, and now we have baseball. The game has been called the national pastime for so long that almost nobody challenges the statement, but basketball and pro-football are giving it a good run.

Then there is auto racing, and pro-basketball. The only trouble with basketball is the lack of a big enough place for the crowds. Probably the best places for basketball watching are the Chicago Stadium and Madison Square Garden. They can squeeze about twenty-three thousand into the stadium and about twenty-five thousand into the Garden.

If the place get any bigger than that, people have a hard time seeing.

The recent NCAA meet was a good example. There were about thirty thousand people in the Houston Astrodome, and we have read that about half of them could have seen the game better on television if they had stayed home.

Then another thing was tried: putting the floor above the spectators on the main floor. Don't know, it's a wonder a lot of the players didn't wind up in row fourteen in their dashes after a ball. But our guess is that if they do use that huge dome for basketball, they won't make that mistake again.

Then baseball has hurt its own image by moving clubs wherever they thought they could pick up a buck more than the club was making in another city. We used to wonder if there really was enough talent to make about sixteen or maybe twenty major league clubs.

Fellows who follow the game for a living say no. The quality of the game has deteriorated so they say. Other fellows point to the new records that are being set, and say the critics are wrong.

The chorus began when Roger Maris hit his sixty first home run in a season that was longer than the one in which Babe Ruth hit sixty. The new mark was grudgingly accepted, you will remember, and even today has a special place in the record book.

Then the fielding marks are set by fellows having those baskets for gloves. Older players say that a lot of routine outs would go for hits or might be errors if the gloves worn today were not so big. So what do you think? Is baseball the national

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

As has been the custom for centuries, Palm Sunday was observed in churches purporting to advance Christianity around the world.

The springtime decorations, the lovely music, eloquent words thrilled and inspired millions of worshippers.

As we all know, Palm Sunday commemorates Jesus' Triumphal entry into Jerusalem.

Thousands of people threw Palm branches, even their garments along the path Jesus was to travel. They shouted their praise, their adoration, some were in a state of hysteria.

Some scholars, who have given special study to this event, have pointed out that many of those who shouted loud hosannas on Sunday were among the throng shouting "crucify him" the pastime, or has one of the other games caught up with it?

following Friday.

Today, we are beset with mobs shouting first one thing then another. Many people are impressed with mobs, evidently believing that the big crowd must be right.

Not so long ago the saying "The voice of the people is the voice of God" was almost universally accepted. Nothing is farther from the truth. History shows that usually it is the "voice in the wilderness" that goes unheeded, that has the answer. Have we changed a great deal in this respect since that first Palm Sunday?
