Rights Comm. Rescinds Order In Case

Hayes Sees Violation As Being 'Flagrant'
Because Of Previous Warning
By Civil Rights Commission

Rather than face a possible court battle, the Iowa Civil Rights Commission rescinded an order requiring a Cedar Rapids real estate firm to give up its state license for one month.

The attorney general's office advised the commission that it had overstepped its authority in asking for the license suspension.

Iowa Real Estate Commission
The only agency which can take action on the license, said the attorney general's office, is the licensing agency, the Iowa Real Estate Commission.

The original order has been changed as to "recommen" that the firm, Hawkeye Realty Co., "surrender" its license for one month.

The commission decreed

4 New Men Join Watson Powell In Commerce Post

DES MOINES, Iowa — Watson Powell, Jr., president of the Greater Des Moines Chamber of Commerce, Tuesday, June 15, announced the appointment of four men to the Chamber's Board of Directors.

Those named include: William H. Brenton, chairman of the Board of Brenton Banks, Inc., John M. Estes, Jr., vice president, Estes & Son Funeral Home, and Nolden Gentry, attorney, a partner in the firm of Sealise, Seism, Gentry and Brick.

In addition, Ray M. Othout, president of the West Des Moines Chamber of Commerce, joins the Greater Des Moines Chamber Board as the result of the West Des Moines group's recent decision to affiliate under a federation of area Chambers. Othout is customer representative for Iowa Power and Light Company.

Powell said all four appointments to the Board become effective July 1.

the penalty to Hawkeye Realty Co. after finding the firm violated the civil rights act by use of "Choose Your Neighbor" postcard promotions.

Asst. Atty. Gen. Roxanne Barton Conlin said that although the civil rights commission has no authority to enforce the license surrender, the Real Estate Commission "has a duty to investigate the matter independently and take whatever action is indicated."

Cecil Galvin, director of the Real Estate Commission, said that no action had been taken because nothing had been reported to his agency.

Flagrant Violation
Alvin Hayes, Jr., the Civil Rights Commission's executive director, said he considered the violation "flagrant" because the company had been previously warned that the practice was discriminatory.

The practice of the "Choose Your Neighbor" promotion involves mailing cards to residents in a neighborhood where a home is for sale. The residents then suggest names of potential buyers.

In a previous case, the commission ruled that the promotion discriminated against blacks because when the home for sale is in an all-white neighborhood and only whites receive the cards.

Navy Names Destroyer for Black Ensign

The Navy plans to name a destroyer escort after Ensign Jesse Brown of Mattiesburg, Miss., a naval aviator who distinguished himself during the Korean conflict.

USS JESSE BROWN (DE 1089) will be built at a privately owned shipyard in Westwego, La. Present plans call for launching in early 1972.

The new DE will be the third Navy ship named for a black American.

"KILLED BECAUSE SHE WAS BLACK"...?

"THERE WAS NO PROVOCATION AND NO WORDS WERE PASSED. IT IS DOUBTFUL THAT THEY KNEW MISS COLLIER. THEY WERE APPARENTLY OUT TO KILL A BLACK, ANY BLACK," SAID DR. AARON HENRY, PRESIDENT OF THE STATE NAACP, IN A TELEGRAM TO PRESIDENT NIXON. DR. HENRY URGED THE JUSTICE DEPARTMENT AND CONGRESS, "USE YOUR INFLUENCE TO HALT THIS REIGN OF TERROR BEFORE THE BLACK COMMUNITY FEELS COMPELLED TO RETALIATE AGAINST THE WHITE COMMUNITY ON OUR OWN."

'New Focus On War, Peace By Youth' Cites Wilkins

ST. LOUIS, Mo. — The Class of 1971 will come to recognize "the identity of most aspects of what we call the racial problem with the general problems of our urban centers," Roy Wilkins, executive director of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, told graduates of the University of Missouri at the commencement exercises here, June 10.

"Name any important city," he said, "and you will name one where race and color are factors in housing, schools, employment, health and welfare services, transportation, recreation and public safety, including the police and the entire machinery of the administration of justice."

The university conferred upon the NAACP leader the honorary degree of L.H.D., Doctor of Humane Letters. He was also in the city to attend a special meeting of the Board of Trustees of St. Louis University of which he is a member.

In his address to the University of Missouri graduating class, Mr. Wilkins credited the youth of the nation with creating "a new if sometimes simplistic focus on war and peace," with having "brought into fresh question our foreign policy procedures, our judicial and legislative systems," and with having "helped greatly in stimulating widespread dissatisfaction with the pace of the highly emotional civil rights issue that has plagued our nation since 1919."

He also warned against downgrading the achievements of the past.

"In truth," he said, "there has been progress, not as much as the conservatives claim, not as little as the scoffers disdainfully insist, but a foundation has been laid. It is ready now for a superstructure fit for the occupancy of all Americans, whatever their color or race or nationality, in an equality that recognizes the human dignity of men."

NEWS In A Nutshell

ST. LOUIS, Mo. — August A. Busch, Jr., chairman of the board and chief executive officer of Anheuser-Busch, Inc., announced today that the company has appropriated $110,000 to provide jobs and scholarships for young people in the inner city in St. Louis and in several of its plant cities.

EVANSTON, Ill. — Two distinguished women — Sen. Margaret Chase Smith (R-Me.) and Mrs. Whitney Moore Young Jr. — were among a dozen persons accepting honorary degrees at Northwestern University's 113th annual commencement June 12.

Senator Smith, the commencement speaker, received an honorary Doctor of Laws (LLD) degree. An honorary LLD was awarded posthumously to Whitney Moore Young Jr., former executive director of the National Urban League, which Mrs. Moore accepted.

Newspaperman To Nat'l. Urban League Post

James L. Hicks, former Assistant Commissioner of Human Rights for the State of New York, has been named Deputy Director of Communications for the National Urban League. Harold R. Sims, Acting Executive Director of the League, announced today.

In making the announcement, Mr. Sims said:

"The addition of Jimmy Hicks to our Communications staff will give added strength to one of the key divisions of our national headquarters. His wide experience as a newspaperman, his service as a top official in a sensitive State agency, and the broad contacts he made in all those capacities will make him a valuable asset to the League's program."

Hicks, who attained national prominence as a newspaperman, served as a war correspondent in Korea for the Afro-American Newspapers of Baltimore and an NNPA chain of black newspapers.

In 1955, he became managing editor of the New York Amsterdam News and during a twelve-year period, in which he became Executive Editor, built that newspaper into one of the largest black weeklies in the nation.

Former Urban League Post

Ann Tannehill, former Director of the Office of Conferences of the National Urban League, has been named the recipient to the 13th Simmons College Alumnae Achievement Award for her outstanding work in the career counseling of talented young black people.

Jackson, Miss. Negroes Enter Plea-Not Covered By 14th Amendment

Cities faced with integration can close all public facilities rather than allow blacks and whites to mix, the Supreme Court ruled Monday.

The court said there is no illegal discrimination when neither blacks or whites are barred from the use of public facilities. Justice Hugo Black said that the Constitution requires that states do not promote segregation of the races.

After years of uninterrupted progress in the area of civil rights, this ruling came as a rare defeat for civil rights forces.

Justice Black stated: "Neither the Fourteenth Amendment nor any act of Congress purports to impose an affirmative duty on a state to begin to operate swimming pools. Furthermore, this is not a case where whites are permitted to use public facilities while blacks are denied access."

He added: "It is not a case where a city is maintaining different sets of facilities for blacks and whites and forcing the races to remain separate in recreational or educational activities."

The plea was entered by a group of Negroes from Jackson, Miss. The swimming pools, golf links, and other public facilities were all segregated until 1962, when a group of Negroes sued for integration.

When racial desegregation was ruled illegal, the city integrated its golf links, parks and other facilities but closed the public swimming pools.

One of the dissenting justices, William Douglas, wrote: "Though a state may discontinue any of its municipal services such as schools, parks, pools, athletic fields, and the like — it may not do so for the purpose of perpetuating or installing apartheid or because it finds life in a multiracial community difficult or unpleasant."

Black Attorneys Form Patent Protection Group

WASHINGTON, D.C. — Black patent attorneys have organized the National Patent Law Association, a legal group whose purpose is to offer protection for the black community in patents and other related areas.

On June 5 in Washington, black attorneys, representing patent interests across the U.S., met to establish the association which now provides technical assistance to black inventors, writers, artists and entrepreneurs.

NPLA is set up to deal with patent rights, patent infringement and trademark problems that black businesses incur, explained Atty. John R. Moses, the association's president.

Said Moses: "This coalition of black patent attorneys represents a significant development in protecting blacks who might otherwise have to function without the necessary knowledge in the field of patent law."

Moses also said: "It is the aim of the National Patent Law Association to correct the lack of necessary legal and patent services within the community of growing black businesses."

Keokuk Pioneer Dies At Age 94

Mr. Leon Bland, a member of one of Keokuk's pioneer families, died at 7:05 p.m. Friday at Graham hospital at the age of 94.

Born October 1, 1876 in Keokuk, he was the son of Austin A. and Mary E. Mann Bland.

Empathy For All People

Mr. Bland, a soft-spoken gentleman with an empathy for all people, had a colorful background as a pioneer riverboat man before retiring in 1950.

He began his river steamboat career at an early age as a chef aboard various steamers including those of the Wishard and Streckfus lines, following the footsteps of his father in pre-Civil War days. Bland's father came to Keokuk in 1860.

Bland's first employment as a full cook aboard a steamer was on the Lucia, Major Meig's personal boat. It was a small stern-wheeler which covered the district on inspection tours.

Many of Mr. Bland's interesting experiences on the river are told in an historical pamphlet published by the Lee County Historical Society. The 32-page publication is called, "Cookhouse Talk" and is a dialogue between the then president of the society, William Talbot and Mr. Bland.

Mr. Bland married Minnie Scott December 9, 1895 in Burlington. He is survived by a daughter, Mrs. B. H. (Ruth) Toomes of Keokuk, a son, French E. Bland of Byron Center, Michigan; five grandchildren, 12 great-grandchildren and two great-great-grandchildren. He was preceded in death by his wife August 29, 1958, three brothers and two sisters.

Oldest Member
He was a member of St. John's Episcopal Church and the oldest surviving member of the former St. Mary the Virgin Church of Keokuk.

Funeral services were held Wednesday at St. John's Episcopal church with the Rev. Donald E. Baustian officiating. Interment was in Oakland cemetery.

The family requests that any memorials be given to the N.A.A.C.P.

Over Angela Davis Grant Dispute Black Presbyterians Give $10,000 to Church

NEW YORK. — A group of black United Presbyterians, "concerned about the continuing reaction and alarm among some United Presbyterians" over a $10,000 grant by one of the denomination's agencies to the Angela Davis Defense Fund, will contribute an equal amount to the church's treasury.

They expect their check to be delivered to the Central Receiving Agency of the denomination's General Council on June 15. It will be designated to the Emergency Fund for Legal Aid, from which the original grant to Miss Davis came.

"In this way," the group said in a letter to denominational officials, "we assume personal responsibility, as black Presbyterians, for the United Presbyterian grant...

"We have taken this position not as a judgment of other United Presbyterians," they declare, "but as our own affirmation that the cause of justice and liberation will triumph."

"We need to be reassured," the letter concludes, "that our friends within the church will not interpret our action in reimbursing the fund as a signal that they can now relax and conciliate those forces which are committed to the emasculation of black leadership. We hope that you will press an offensive, at whatever risk that may involve, that will uphold the strong position that the General Assembly and the Council on Church and Race have taken on this question and others related to racial justice in the United States."

The letter to the General Assembly continues, "We do not expect many United Presbyterians to understand our action. However, we still believe that it is our duty to put on record where we stand in order that all United Presbyterians might know. We have addressed this letter to you in the sincere hope that you will understand what we are saying, what we are doing, and why we feel morally obligated to make our individual and corporate declaration."

The grant was the subject of extensive debate at the denomination's 183rd General Assembly, held late last month in Rochester, N.Y.

The letter signed by six black United Presbyterians, all clergymen, observes that they "have come to the conclusion that it is our moral obligation to take some appropriate action on this issue."

But, they emphasize, "we want you to understand the context within which we have undertaken the above action."

Ford Foundation Award to Black Iowa State Graduate

AMES, Iowa — Harold J. Breaux, Iowa State University graduate student, has received an advanced study award under the Ford Foundation's program of assistance to members of minority groups.

Breaux was named Monday as one of 171 recipients of advanced study awards. He is working toward the doctoral degree in economics.

The one-year awards average $5,000 and cover tuition and fees, books and supplies, and a monthly living allowance.

In Ames, Breaux lives at 173E University Village. His mother, Mrs. Mabel Breaux lives in Mermentau, La.

U.S. Judge Stays Return Of 2 GIs to German Prison

WASHINGTON, D. C. — A last-minute order signed by United States District Judge Barrington Parker here, June 10, halted temporarily the return of two Negro Army privates to West Germany where they had been convicted of attempted rape.

Legal action on behalf of the two servicemen, Nathaniel Holmes and Bernard Tucker — was instituted by the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People in response to a referral by Representative Shirley Chisholm of Brooklyn.

The men fled Germany while awaiting the outcome of an appeal and enlisted the aid of Rep. Chisholm. Accompanied by the Congresswoman, they voluntarily surrendered themselves to the Pentagon on June 9 with the understanding that they would have a fair hearing in this country.

At a hearing in the chambers of Judge Parker, Holmes and Tucker were represented by NAACP General Counsel Nathaniel R. Jones, Assistant Counsel James I. Meyerson, and J. Francis Pohlhaus, counsel of the Association's Washington Bureau.

A temporary stay was granted until June 21 for a full hearing on the complaint filed by the NAACP attorneys. Named as defendants are Secretary of Defense Melvin Laird, Secretary of State William Rogers, Stanley Resor, Secretary of the Army, and Major General Ronald M. Glesner, Commander, the Military District of Washington.

On the morning of June 10 they were ordered returned to Germany to begin serving three - year prison sentences, their appeal to the Federal Supreme Court in Germany having been denied. The Pentagon claimed that their return was mandatory under terms of the NATO Status of Forces Agreement.

The NAACP complaint alleges that "the plaintiffs are innocent of the charge and were unfairly tried by the Germans in an anti - black atmosphere." Further the servicemen were refused legal assistance from the Army or the assignment of an American civilian counsel. A non - English - speaking German lawyer was assigned making it difficult for the non - German - speaking servicemen to understand either their lawyer or the proceedings.

Moreover, "the alleged victim never positively identified the plaintiffs during the trial, and the witnesses who could have substantiated plaintiffs' alibis were in the United States and not returned to testify on their behalf," the complaint said.

Omaha-Based Store to Open In Des Moines

DES MOINES, Iowa — Richman Gordman, well - known Omaha - based department store chain, will open its first store here at 75th and Hickman Road near the Sherwood Forest Shopping Center.

The announcement of the new store, on which construction is now underway, was made by Dan Gordman, president of Richman Gordman Stores, at a Greater Des Moines Chamber of Commerce News Conference Tuesday, June 15.

"The new store, valued well in excess of $1 - million, will contain 85,000 square feet of floor space. We will employ some 150 people and the great majority will be hired from the Des Moines area," Gordman said.

"It will be a complete department store, featuring the Richman Gordman trademark of popular prices for quality items," he added.

Ivan Johnson, Windsor Heights city councilman, welcomed Gordman to the suburb, noting that "the rapid residential growth in the area surrounding the site of the new store has a two - pronged advantage: a viable economic atmosphere for such retail development, and a broader range of products and services available to the people living in the area."

With construction already underway, it is anticipated the building will be completed by late fall. Ringland - Johnson - Crowley Company of Des Moines is the general contractor.

Eva Brown Fields

Iowa State Grad Awarded $3,500 Fellowship

AMES, Iowa — Mrs. Eva Brown Fields, a graduate student in home economics education at Iowa State University, has been awarded the $3,500 General Foods Fund Fellowship for graduate study at the doctoral level in a field of home economics.

Announcement of the award was made this week by Helen R. LeBaron Hilton, dean of the College of Home Economics. The fellowship is for the 1971-72 academic year.

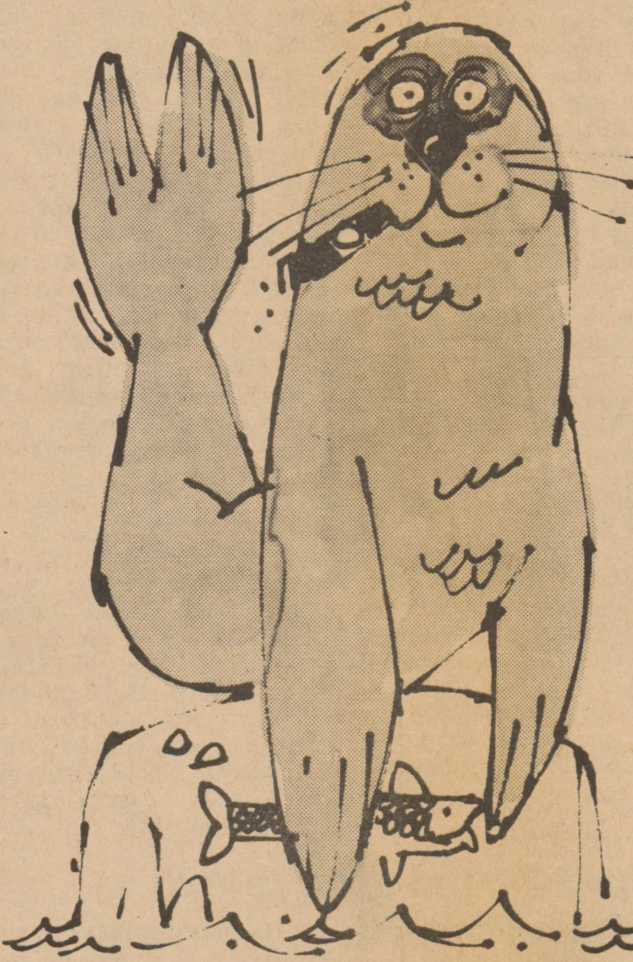

Mrs. Fields, of Logansport, La., was graduated from DeSoto High School, Mansfield, La., as valedictorian of her class. She earned the bachelor of science degree with a major in home economics education at Southern University, Baton Rouge, La., where she graduated Magna Cum Laude. Mrs. Fields earned the master of science degree in home economics education at Iowa State and has done further graduate study here, including meeting requirements for serving as a counselor. She is continuing graduate work this summer in her major field.

Her professional experience includes teaching home economics in the De Soto Parish Schools in Louisiana from 1949 to 1970. During the 1970-71 academic year, she has been employed as a counselor in the Student Financial Aids office at Iowa State.

Her husband, Van Ray Fields has been doing graduate study at Iowa State in educational administration. Their daughter is a freshman at Southern University.

Ethnic Music Workshop At Drake U.

Mrs. Gertrude R. Robinson, instructor of Ethnomusicology and Music Education at Loyola - Marymount, Los Angeles, will conduct a Workshop in Ethnic Music at Drake University from June 21-26.

The workshop is offered for two hours of undergraduate or graduate credit. Tuition is $50 per credit hour. Sessions are from 9:10 to 11:30 a.m. and 1-3 p.m. in Morehouse, Room 23.

Mrs. Robinson has a wide range of experience in ethnic music and the dance, and is a specialist in the music of Indonesia and Africa. She is currently developing curriculum materials at the elementary school level in the music of the two countries.

She has served as a research assistant at the Institute of Ethnomusicology at the University of California at Los Angeles, as a special music consultant in non-western music workshops for the Beverly Hills and Los Angeles school districts; as a consultant in non-western music for Churchill Films, and as consultant and researcher in African music and dance for the Los Angeles Repertory Theater.

The workshop, primarily for teachers of public school music, will introduce concepts of difference in musical languages and is open to everyone. Selected vocal and instrumental traditions from Indonesia (Bali and Java) and Africa (East and West) will be presented in terms of musical components and cultural context. Class performance will be supplemented by recordings, films, slides and lectures.

Registration continues through the day Monday without a late registration charge. Further information on the workshop is available at the Drake Summer Session office (telephone 271-2107).

Detroit Police Search For 'Executioners' Of 7

Police began a search for four men seen fleeing from a Detroit house where the bodies of seven persons were found, victims of "execution style" slayings.

The deaths may be connected, police speculate, to a series of murders in a battle for control of Detroit's narcotic traffic.

The seven — three men and four women — died almost immediately of gunshot wounds fired in to their heads.

Inter-Racial Magazine Pays Debt to Young

A special Whitney Young Memorial Edition of EQUAL OPPORTUNITY, the inter - racially owned and staffed employment and career magazine for minority college students, will be published on July 31, the 50th birthday of the late National Urban League Director.

John Miller III, the white publisher, and his partner, black editor Alfred Duckett, said the magazine — now in its third year — owes a considerable debt of gratitude for its success to Mr. Young, who drowned recently while swimming in Lagos, Nigeria.

"Not only did he encourage us and contribute an article in our first edition," they said in a joint statement, "but it was through his recommendations that we were able to sign advertising contracts with some of America's foremost corporations."

"The Whitney Young Memorial Edition of EQUAL OPPORTUNITY will reveal much in articles, pictures and analytical stories about the life and works of this remarkable man. It will shed some light on the high regard in which he was held as well as on the deep misunderstanding about him both in the establishment and the ghetto. President Nixon and Poet Imamu Baraka (Le Roi Jones) both officiated at his funeral services. The Whitney Young Edition will be characterized by that kind of versatility."

In its 1971 Edition, the magazine survived a rough economic atmosphere and tight employment conditions by producing a 112 - page book containing twice as many invitations to minority students from major companies as had advertised in the 1970 edition.

Mrs. Mabel Griffin of Gary, Indiana.

Mrs. Daisy Reading went to Hannibal, Missouri, to attend the funeral of her sister, Mrs. Evelyn Yates, of Quincy, Illinois, who passed away June 8.

Michelle Carter celebrated her second birthday at a party given at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Leonard L. Carter, 3405 Avenue E. A white cake frosted with chocolate and topped with ice cream was given the little guests. Many gifts were received. Attending were Annette and Dennis Maddox, Lisa, Garcia, and Audrey Carter, Christine Luna and Mrs. David Maddox.

UNION BAPTIST CHURCH

The sermon on Sunday morning was delivered by the pastor, Rev. L. J. Jordan. His subject was "Look at What You Get for Waiting", taken from Isaiah 31:40.

The State Sunday School and B.T.U. Congress will convene in Waterloo on June 15 to 18. Rev. L.J. Jordan is president.

St. Paul A.M.E. Church Cornerstone Opened

St. Paul A.M.E. Church, which will soon move into its edifice now nearing completion, performed one of its last remaining tasks concerned with its present building. Rev. Henderson Davis with board members, others from his congregation and interested friends gathered Monday evening to observe the breaking of St. Paul's cornerstone laid in 1917.

Forty - six names and the word "choir" were found on a list. Rev. Henderson's staff working on this to make proper identification of each. Another item contained in the cornerstone was Volume XXIV, No. 24, of an early Bystander, dated November 30, 1917. Editor and owner was John L. Thompson. Attorney. A front page photograph was that of Company No. 4, Officer's Training Camp, accompanied by an article entitled "History and Views of Colored Officers Training Camp". Known to have been stationed at Camp Dodge at this time were J. W. Mitchell, retired druggist, James B. Morris, lawyer and publisher; Wm. T. Johnson, Charles P. Howard, Harry Wilson, William Brooks and William Burns, now deceased.

Younger Brothers advertising was noted in this 1917 Bystander and the firm continues its association with this publication.

CAREER IN GOVERNMENT marked the close of a very important segment of life and was made in the warm presence of persons close to me. I appreciate the busy years 1947 to 1971. These were spent in the Mental Hygiene Clinic which is one of the key services available at the Veterans Administration.

REENTERING THE WORLD OF NEWS GATHERING is exciting. Joining the Bystander for activity beyond that of writing this column is real pleasure! See you!

REP. A. JUNE FRANKLIN sat at her desk on the floor of the House. Beside her was her foster daughter and secretary, pretty Regina Nichols. The two shared a few moments from their busy schedule to acquaint me with the precinct reapportionments as they now stand. It was a moment for which I was and remain totally unprepared. Here Rep. Franklin and Regina, a young woman and her teenage daughter, faced alone the stormy session affecting the black vote. I still ponder as to how the scene should have been. I lack the know-how of a political role! There must be ever so many organization men and women beautifully equipped to enter such a scene! I still ache when I recall this historical moment: A. June Franklin and Regina alone in a political storm. (I was there with a clipboard, mute in my utter dismay! And where were you?)

ALWAYS AGGRESSIVE AND BRAINY, G.B. Tucker, once named "Mr. St. Paul", created the something new — which the rest of us wished we'd thought of! He collected over the years, assembled and presented his camera studies made of St. Paul's history in a screen showing entitled "Tucker Productions". And that they are — he's always one-eyeing us as he peers from behind his cameras! (These congrats and my dollar, too, Sir Tucker!)

Beauty League Will Honor President In New Orleans, La.

NEW ORLEANS, La. — When the National Beauty Culturists League meets in its 52nd annual session at the Roosevelt Fairmont Hotel in New Orleans, July 25 to August 5, it will be dedicated to Dr. Katie Whickam, National President, native of Louisiana, who has developed the organization from a mere handful to a 40,000 membership.

Mrs. Henri Anna Carroll, Monroe, La., state president and general chairman and Mrs. Dorethea Johnson Williams, New Orleans, co-chairman, say that this meeting will be an effort to repay their president for the fine work she has done in building the organization to its present status.

Meeting July 25 to July 31 will be the usual National Institute of Cosmetology, an in-service instruction project which brings to the graduate beautician the latest in beauty culture, beauty appliances and equipment.

Meeting also will be Theta Nu Sigma, the national beauty culturists sorority.

THE OBSERVATIONS OF ONE YOUNG NEWCOMER HERE and do not reflect my views:

"In terms of community support for the supposed Black leadership it is my subjective analysis that the Black community in Des Moines doesn't care who is talking for them because in actuality there is no real leadership of the community. The community itself is wrought with a basic ideology of self-aggrandizement first, social station second, and then there are some who take the position: 'I had better watch my step so I can stay where I am. Thus the normative system adopted is not ethnic which is or should be a basic rally point for parity and cohesion. This is not evidenced in the community for the leaders feel much more comfortable with their white counterparts than with the majority of Blacks in the community. To them Black is a means to an end in the true sense of Machiavelli. This is a bias that I have and is based on a limited 3-years of experience with Des Moines. Most of it at Drake University or that community."

DEVORA GLOVER (MRS. ELMER) is the attractive assistant at Glover's Standard Oil Station located at 1401 East University (SE corner of E. Fourteenth and E. Q. Is it all right to examine the various dishes on a cafeteria counter before selecting a certain one?

A. This is a customer's privilege. He must NOT, however, finger the various dishes, or be too conspicuous about selecting or reaching far over the counter to snare a dish that appears to contain a larger portion of food than the others.

Q. What is generally accepted as the proper time of day to make a call of condolence at a friend's home?

A. Any time of day is "proper" for this type of call.

Q. IF one has neglected to send a wedding gift to the bride before the wedding, is it all right to take the gift to the reception following the ceremony?

A. This would be all right — but much better, I think, to avoid the possibility of its being lost in the usual excitement of a reception, by taking the gift to the bride's home personally.

Q. Are there any circumstances at all at the dinner table under which one may use one's knife to convey food to the mouth?

A. Indeed not! The knife is for cutting only.

Q. When does the bridegroom tender his fee to the clergyman?

A. This is customarily one of the duties of the best man. The groom gives him the fee enclosed in a plain, white envelope, and the best man gives this to the minister immediately after the ceremony.

Q. When men seated on opposite sides of a banquet table are introduced to one another, do they shake hands?

A. No. A smile, a nod of the head, and a "how do you do," are all that is necessary.

Q. When two married couples attend a dinner together, is it at each of the husbands supposed to dance the first dance with the other man's wife?

A. No. Each man's first dance is with his own wife.

Q. When men seated on opposite sides of a banquet table are introduced to one another, do they shake hands?

A. No. A smile, a nod of the head, and a "how do you do," are all that is necessary.

Q. When two married couples attend a dinner together, is it at each of the husbands supposed to dance the first dance with the other man's wife?

A. No. Each man's first dance is with his own wife.

Q. When men seated on opposite sides of a banquet table are introduced to one another, do they shake hands?

A. No. A smile, a nod of the head, and a "how do you do," are all that is necessary.

Q. When a girl is being introduced to a man whom she has met quite a while ago, but he gives no indication of recalling that previous meeting, is it proper for her to jog his memory?

A. Under these circumstances, it is better that she say nothing, but merely acknowledge this introduction as though it were the first.

Q. When writing a thank-you note to a wedding gift of cash, does the bride mention the amount of money?

A. No. It is in much better taste to speak of the moneymen as "your gift." It's nice, too, to mention just what you expect to do with it.

Q. At a funeral I attended recently, the bereaved husband and his three sons served as pallbearers. Wasn't this a bit on the "unusual" side?

A. Unusual, yes...but certainly not improper. A bereaved family's preferences as to the conduct of the funeral are never to be questioned.

Overlooking Work

Now that school is out and students are available for work, jobs are not as plentiful as they were even last year.

Federal funds have helped some along with what business is doing to cover as much territory as possible.

But it is just as hard to get grass cut, windows washed or trash removed as ever before. But there are not enough office jobs to go around. It is true after graduation.

There is a group called "Rent a Kid" organized to provide information in different parts of the city where people could register with a possibility of securing one or two days work a week including mowing lawns. At times, some have made regular jobs for themselves by their excellent performance as one or two day workers.

Then, too, the freeway looks lousy as well as many other areas where grass and weeds have grown up, are unsightly and at other places designed for beauty spots. Grass and weeds grow as well in and around the yards of abandoned houses. Some of the funds used to set up recreation and dancing facilities for youngsters could well be used to employ them to clean up their neighborhoods and other unsightly places.

There are some jobs available which people overlook while looking for work.

More Moves Toward School Busing

The department of HE & W has compiled figures showing, they say, that the South is ahead of the North in school integration. In a Sunday Register article Clark Molenhoff says that integration in Mississippi had increased the number of Negroes in integrated schools from 6 per cent in 1968 to 25 per cent in 1970 - 71 - it was still ahead of Illinois, Michigan and Missouri.

This may be true for large numbers of Negroes are concentrated in areas of some of the big cities so the neighborhood schools maintain the defacto segregated school.

On the other hand, the recent U. S. Supreme Court decision on the legality of school busing will have a big effect on schools in the North with large Negro population.

It must be clear to anyone who has watched school boundary lines that even in Des Moines several of our schools will have more than a 50 per cent population of Negroes. A system of busing students is bound to come.

Defacto segregation has not been attacked with much force because there is no law against it and the doubtful status of school busing. Now that the Supreme Court has cleared the status of school busing, more attacks on defacto segregation will be coming soon.

Production Rather Than Sales Help City

Suburban shopping centers, while providing added taxes to hard pressed school districts, are ruining Des Moines. They have drawn unduly from both appearance and taxable downtown property; most of them simply gather up money from Des Moines and send it to the big centers without making any substantial contribution to the community. Some are assets to the community.

These centers have strangled the small business man and placed local ownership of business in non-resident owners making Des Moines citizens clerks and department heads.

The same thing prevails in hotel - motel ownership. At one time, we had one airline outlet. It made money. Now we have three and none are profitable.

The town is full of hotels and motels. Once they made money. Today we are flooded with them, more are coming and few are making profit.

Unfortunately, we have too many sales offices and not enough factory offices. A town that prevents this grows very slowly.

A Good Decision

The Iowa Power and Light Company has abandoned the proposed consolidation with the Illinois Gas and Electric Company.

Good!

Developments during the negotiations show that the combination would not have been to the best interest of Iowa Power in the long run.

Health for All

POLLUTED CHILDHOOD

Small tots on congested city streets are nose - high to exhaust fumes. And blood lead levels among children in cities are on the increase.

The National Air Pollution Control Administration estimates that 200,000 tons of lead are added to the atmosphere each year; 95 percent of it comes from car exhausts. NAPCA wants gasoline lead additives reduced and eventually eliminated. Aerosol lead particles are so small they are likely to penetrate deep into the respiratory tract. Lead in the blood is attached to red blood cells, and extremely high intake of airborne lead can bring on anemia.

Carbon monoxide from car exhausts is also associated with dizziness, fatigue, loss of appetite, headache, and impaired vision in children. According to a committee of the American Academy of Pediatrics, air pollution is so severe in many areas that it may even adversely affect growth in children.

The Academy says that sulphur dioxide - from steel mills, coal and oil powerplants, and petroleum refineries - is a pollutant that can be incriminated in growth retardation, increased number of respiratory infections and attacks of asthma among children.

Research shows that the incidence of childhood asthma is significantly higher in areas where the air pollution levels are high. The results are most striking among boys under five years of age. In fact, the boys often developed eczema as well as asthma, both of which are primarily allergic conditions. Air pollution affects almost everyone, and takes its toll among the very young.

For more information, contact your local tuberculosis and respiratory disease association. They have the facts.

ON THE SPORTS SCENE

With Allen Ashby

We were talking to a fellow the other day and he wanted to know why Drake didn't have very many, if any black boys on their football teams. He argued that the Bulldogs had had some outstanding players in the past, not the least of whom was Jonny Bright.

There have been others as far back as we can recall. We can think of guys like the Ewing brothers of Boone, Willard Cushingberry, Perry Harris and we don't know how many others.

But, as we bring up these names, we can see that there never has been a period when there were very many Negroes on the Drake football teams.

It seems that the biggest bunch was in the middle fifties, when there was one guy, Gene Henderson, who became a captain - elect. But he left school so fast that it took two groups of people to find him. The first group had to find which way he went, before the second could begin to find his whereabouts. That seems to be the last time there any more than one black boy on a Drake gridiron team.

But in these days of heavy black recruiting, one has to wonder why Drake doesn't come up with a fair share of the brethren. Some of our pool hall coaches say it is because Coach Wallace doesn't want any, and won't have them if he can possibly win without them. We have never talked to Coach Wallace, but his reaction to that might be interesting. But, we can remember when these same pool hall coaches were saying the same thing about Coach Maury John.

Then John suddenly began to play his best five, no matter who they were. Our coaches argued that the man had seen the light. North Texas had almost an all black starting team, and West Texas did have one.

Then along came Wichita, Bradley, Cincinnati and Louisville with just about all black teams, and never less than three starters. And they pinned the ears of the Bulldogs back to where the blanket begins, so John probably decided "If you can't beat 'em, join 'em." And you all know what success he has had.

'Green, Not Black Power Is Key': Cards' Gibson

NEW YORK, N.Y. - "The answer for the ghettos is not Black Power, but green power," claims St. Louis Cardinal pitcher Bob Gibson in the July issue of Esquire Magazine.

In an interview with sports columnist Roger Kahn, Gibson speaks out on black capitalism and the persistent anti - black feeling in major league baseball.

Faith in Capitalism
The St. Louis Cardinal star hurler earns more than $100,000 a year, and his success says Kahn, "reaching beyond what he once knew how to dream, has wrought a passionate faith in capitalism."

According to the article, this belief has led to the purchase of a radio station in his native Omaha.

Gibson told Esquire, "I went through the black community selling shares. It doesn't make a fortune, but it shows a beginning of black capitalism and if enough other people showed that, the stress could come away from burning, separatism, things like that."

Gibson told Kahn of signs of separatism in modern day baseball. During his Esquire interview at a New York City restaurant, the proprietor noticing Gibson asked the pitcher, "Isn't it great about the Hall of Fame opening a special room for the best fellers from the old colored Leagues?" Gibson answered, "I don't like separatism."

While the restaurateur responded, "Well sure you should be together eventually, but you got to start somewhere. Even Jackie Robinson had to compromise." Gibson replied, "We don't want to compromise anymore."

Segregated Hall Of Fame

"The defeat of ten or fifteen white ballplayers who did not want to step on grass available to a black genius is a saga which baseball does not wish to advertise," said Kahn.

"Now," he continues, "baseball is admitting the greatest of the pre - Robinson blacks to its so - called Hall of Fame in a segregated alcove where their busts will not be close to the busts of anybody's sister."

would think that a fellow going to a school like Kentucky U. or North or South Carolina, or any other southern school would come up against the social problems. What with all of this polarization, the black athletes in northern schools get at least their share of this trouble too. Perhaps that is why so many of the fellows want their own house where they can gather and talk as they please with no white people around.

Without being for such separation, we can see it. A guy wants to get into the dorms, and suddenly finds himself there. He is there, and that is all. Everybody for the most part just walks around him as if he didn't exist. He has a room, and generally that is all.

There are schools that have had quarters for their black athletes to gather and rap for some time, and they have had the least campus problems. But, still, the boys aren't barred from other quarters if they want them. It is just that they can have a place to bring their friends, and feel as if they are welcome. Then, for the most part the schools having trouble have some coaches, and not always the head coach, who tries to regulate the social life of the blacks, and that just doesn't go over very well.

A successful coach can stand on the fact that he is a coach and not a sociologist. But a fellow who is barely above five hundred has to sort of jump to the wishes of some of the blind ones. Coach Wallace has had pretty good success with his Drake gridiron teams. Wonder what he would say to some of these social problems?

Do you suppose he just hasn't given much thought to recruiting black boys or that he just doesn't want to borrow the possibility of difficulties that could arise? Maybe he should talk to him and maybe he would tell us just what is on his mind. Might make for a pretty good column, or maybe an invitation to put on the gloves.

Navy Boost Program Helps Minorities

The Navy is engaged in a vigorous effort to ensure that opportunities for career service as Naval officers are open to persons of various racial ethnic minority groups.

Those so specified are personnel who may have been educationally or culturally deprived but who have demonstrated in their individual environments that they possess the qualities and desires necessary for careers as Naval officers.

Project BOOST (Broadened Opportunities for Officer Selection and Training) provides opportunities to prepare for college, earn a college degree, to become an officer, and be a professional. Eligible personnel are members of deprived racial and ethnic minority groups who have the potential for college level work, want a career in the Navy, are willing to work to become an officer, want to be a professional, and are ambitious and willing to accept responsibility.
