NAACP Sets Policies of Organization

Rights Group Sets Policy For Viet Nam, Drugs, Housing, Etc.

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn. — Basic policies of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People are set forth in a series of 42 resolutions, covering practically every aspect of the civil rights struggle, adopted by the delegates attending the Association's 62nd annual convention here, July 5-9.

In addition to internal affairs, the resolutions dealt with problems in such areas as housing, education, voter registration, political action, the armed services and veterans affairs, drug abuse, the administration of justice, consumer protection, economic advancement, hospitals, health and welfare, and foreign affairs.

The delegates took note of the plight of the American Indians and their struggle to have the country recognize and honor the 389 treaties made by the Congress of the United States with various Indian tribes. The resolution placed the convention "on record supporting the American Indians in their legitimate demands." The resolution was adopted following an appeal from an Indian spokesman.

FOREIGN AFFAIRS: We call for the Congress to set a date for the complete withdrawal of all American forces from Indochina by the end of 1971.

— We re-affirm our opposition to the racist apartheid policy of South Africa...and call upon American industries with financial holdings in that nation, including General Motors, to use their influence to pressure South Africa into a recession of its racist policies or to withdraw their financial investments and financial arrangements from that country.

— We call on our branches to engage in peaceful protests against the invitation and participation of South Africans in American sports competition.

REVENUE SHARING: Resolved that the NAACP call upon the Congress to reject any revenue sharing plan which fails to provide workable safeguards against discrimination based upon geography and/or race of population in the distribution and utilization of public funds.

ANGELA DAVIS: We are appalled at the obvious effort to deny the presumption of innocence and thereby convict Miss Angela Davis of murder long before the first witness is called. We are deeply concerned that the American judicial system provide a fair trial for a young, black woman who admits to being a member of the Communist Party. At this moment we express no view as to her innocence or guilt because the evidence has not been presented. Miss Davis has not asked our help but we demand, and will take every lawful step available to us to guarantee, that Miss Davis shall not be denied any of these safeguards of the American judicial system.

TECTION: We call upon the Congress to initiate and pass legislation that will — (1) make mandatory the listing of unit prices on multi-unit packages of consumer goods; (2) make mandatory the dating of perishable goods in order to safeguard consumption; (3) outlaw deficiency judgments; (4) provide that the language of warranties, contracts, etc., be couched in terms the average citizen can understand; and (5) provide that the Office of Economic Opportunity continue the establishment and funding of credit unions in low-income areas.

EDUCATION: We again re-affirm the historic commitment of the NAACP to the elimination of racial segregation in all forms in public education — de jure, de facto, or combinations of both — based on the principle of the May 17, 1954 U.S. Supreme Court decision that racial segregation per se in public education is inherently discriminatory and unconstitutional.

HOUSING: The NAACP rejects the restrictions the President has unnecessarily placed upon the executive branch of government. We call upon the President to adopt a new national policy supported by the full force of his moral leadership and utilizing all of the powers of his office to ensure open communities throughout this nation without regard to race, creed, color, religion or economic status.

DRUG ABUSE: Whereas, there has not been sufficient study of marijuana and evidence to establish that it is harmless to the well-being of the individual, we feel that the youth cannot afford to experiment with unknown drugs, therefore be it resolved that we oppose new legislation on marijuana until its exact effect is known.

In the first capacity, Rear Admiral Gravely will monitor all communications affecting the staff of the Chief of Naval Operations and will serve on the staff as head of the Communications Division located at the Pentagon.

New Pres. of Black Publishers Leader In Florida Community Life

WASHINGTON, D.C. (NNPA) — From president and chairman of the board of a Miami bank to chairman of the board of a local hospital there represents the span of community leadership of Garth C. Reeves, Sr., editor-publisher of the Miami Times and the new president of the National Newspaper Publishers Association (NNPA).

Moving to the national scene as head of NNPA, Reeves is already working to keep the black press in the "forefront of the struggle for racial justice and equality," he says.

Last week he and an NNPA committee met with members of the Congressional Black Caucus here to discuss ways of working together to help further improve the lot of black Americans.

Reeves says he plans to meet frequently with the Caucus and other leadership groups. And he has on his NNPA agenda occasional summit meetings and annual government briefings here in Washington.

The new president succeeds John H. Sengstacke, head of the Sengstacke newspaper chain, who called the NNPA organizing meeting in Chicago 31 years ago. He had been president of the association since 1968. Its 82 member newspapers are located in 28 states and the Virgin Islands, and have a combined circulation of three million. Reeves plans a membership recruitment drive to bring in the smaller papers. "We want every black paper to be a member," he says.

The new president's local involvement in Florida leadership includes, in addition to the bank and hospital, the presidency of the United Black Federation, membership on the executive board of the United Fund and of the Better Business Bureau, as well as membership in the Greater Miami Chamber of Commerce, the Urban League, Frontiers of America, and life membership in the NAACP.

A number of organizations, including his alma mater, Florida A and M University, the American Jewish Committee, and the Omega Psi Phi fraternity, have honored him with awards and citations.

NEWS In A Nutshell

WASHINGTON, D.C. — Rep. Charles C. Diggs, Jr., chairman of the Congressional Black Caucus, Assistant Secretary of Labor Arthur Fletcher, and Vernon Jordan, newly elected executive director of the National Urban League will be among the discussion leaders of major issues confronting the Black community at the 31st national convention of Delta Sigma Theta, Inc. in Houston, August 8-13.

GREENSBORO, N.C. — An A&T State University summer program of activity and learning skills for 650 ghetto children from Greensboro is being pictured as a possible model for similar programs elsewhere in the nation.

NEW ORLEANS, La. — The recipients of the fourth annual Coca-Cola USA - Alpha Phi Alpha scholarship awards will be announced and presented at the 65th anniversary convention of Alpha Phi Alpha Fraternity, Inc. which will be held August 1-5, in Milwaukee, Wis., was jointly announced by Ernest N. Morial, president and Harold Hamilton, acting manager of Marketing Development of Coca-Cola USA, sponsor of the scholarship awards.

'Court, Not Nixon Spurred South's Desegregation'

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn. — A National Association for the Advancement of Colored People official declared that important gains in school desegregation in the South are being made because of the Federal courts and "in spite of the Nixon Administration."

Until a year ago, said the NAACP Education Director, Mrs. June Alexander, the administration "had consistently failed to provide leadership for the country in ending school segregation in the South." For the rest of the country, she said, the administration's record is weak.

Mrs. Alexander told the 62nd annual convention, July 5-9, where she spoke, that next fall her office will launch its own antidiscrimination drive across the nation. The national education department of the NAACP will challenge states, and school systems that misuse federal funds to provide all-white classrooms and continue to teach racial bias with library books and in the classroom.

This drive, she said, will be aimed at 20 to 23 states throughout the nation. Even Maine will not be exempt, she said, because "we believe that a multi-racial curriculum is important for white as well as black children."

Ethnic Study Programs Advanced And Private

College Recruitment Aided

NEW YORK, N.Y. — The Ford Foundation announced July 20th, grants of $1,750,000 each to help Howard University and Atlanta University, two of the nation's leading predominantly black universities, in their efforts to become graduate centers of excellence in the social sciences. Also announced were:

— grants totaling $1.5 million to strengthen graduate programs in ethnic studies at the Universities of California (Los Angeles), Arizona, and Notre Dame.

— grants totaling $400,000 to help eight traditionally black private colleges expand student recruitment.

Fresh Insights

Howard University will use the new funds to improve its doctoral programs in history and political science. Atlanta will inaugurate a doctoral curriculum in political science. Although both institutions are integrated, it is their hope as graduate centers to offer fresh insights and methods — from a black perspective — to the body of knowledge known as the social sciences.

In announcing the grants, Harold Howe II, vice president of the Foundation in charge of its Division of Education and Research said:

"The determination of these two universities to strengthen their graduate studies has important implications for the social sciences and for American higher education. The perspectives of competent scholars working in a predominately black institution could bring some new insights to the rapidly changing scene in the social sciences. Howard and Atlanta plan to develop first-rate graduate centers and to search for a more humanistic, democratic, and socially relevant study of man."

Given the historical circumstances, black graduate education did not begin until after World War I and has developed slowly. Howard and Atlanta are the only two predominantly black universities among the some 290 American institutions that grant the doctorate.

Master's degrees and professional degrees are offered on many predominantly black campuses, but most lack the faculty strength and financial resources to conduct doctoral programs in the major academic disciplines.

Klan-Type Violence Must Stop, Wams SCLC's Abernathy

ATLANTA, Ga. — Dr. Ralph David Abernathy, President of the Southern Christian Leadership Conference (SCLC), condemned white terrorist tactics against black people in Columbus, Georgia.

The most recent such tactics include an attempted fire-bombing of a union hall used by the movement in Columbus and the firing of shots early Thursday morning at the home of Robert Leonard, Executive Director of the Afro-American Patrolmen's League. Several telephone threats have also been received at the Leonards' home.

"Official silence and the Klan-style violence must come to a halt in Columbus,"

Iowa Rights Comm. To Hold C.R. Meet

The Iowa Civil Rights Commission will hold a public hearing in the Cedar Rapids City Council Chambers in City Hall, Monday, July 26 at 9:30 a.m.

John Strather, commission chairman, said only that the case involved discrimination regarding race. It is an employment case, he added.

According to statute, no details can be disclosed at this time.

Dr. Abernathy said at his office here.

"Beyond Columbus, there is a reign of terror against black people all across the South this summer, and we cannot tolerate it. I urge the black community of Columbus and black people everywhere to unite behind movements to stop this terror, using every nonviolent tactic available, such as boycotts, political organizing, and mass direct action. In Columbus, SCLC Field Organizer Joe Hammonds continues to be assigned to work with the black community."

Residents of the black community saw white men throw the fire bomb into the union hall that night. The bomb did not explode.

At 1 a.m. Thursday, Mr. Leonard was watching television in his home when shots were fired into the house. Mr. Leonard made sure his wife and children were lying on the floor before he went outside. He saw a car racing away. Two bullet holes were found in the front of his house.

The seven members of the Afro-American Patrolmen's League were fired from the Columbus police force recently when they protested against racial discrimination. This led to a community-wide movement against racism in the city.

'Anti-Black Bias In C.R.' Finds U of I Professor

IOWA CITY, Iowa — Blacks are being discriminated against in business in Cedar Rapids and don't get their fair share of opportunities," says Professor Edgar R. Czarnecki, a program director in The University of Iowa Center for Labor and Management.

"This problem has been thought of as a phenomenon of the country's major cities, but it also exists in Cedar Rapids with its 110,000 population," said Professor Czarnecki, who recently completed a study on black business possibilities in Iowa's second biggest city.

No Experience

The problem exists as Czarnecki sees it, because blacks have no chances to get business experience through contacts with members of their own race, and because black and white businessmen are not in contact on a professional level.

One of the biggest obstacles is the difficulty prospective black businessmen have in raising money to start an enterprise, he said.

The U of I researcher favors a community-wide program to promote what is sometimes called "black capitalism," but he notes that such a program will need white citizens to help sustain it, because of the small number of blacks in the city.

Only 12 black-owned businesses exist in the city now, he said, and all are small, family-run service-type operations with few employees. Only one of them is more than 10 years old, and expansion or relocation of such businesses has been rare, according to his survey.

The project report recommends hiring a full-time person to promote economic development for blacks in Cedar Rapids. This coordinator would explain to prospective black businessmen what their financial choices are and help them apply for necessary loans.

Natural Insight

The ideal candidate for the coordinator's job would be a black who knows well the city's social, political and physical structure, and who has natural insight into the formation of profitable enterprises.

"One important point that should be stressed is, 'Think big'. Because of past history of thinking small, namely establishing service retail establishments, the black community have restricted their opportunities. By enlarging their horizons they can perhaps undertake more profitable projects that were previously ignored."

The researcher said, "Because of some natural barriers between white and black businessmen, it often takes special effort to get the assistance of white business experts. While this does not seem to be a major problem in Cedar Rapids, it is difficult to anticipate results in the absence of previous contacts," he said.

Training programs may uncover individuals who have the ability to operate enterprises, Czarnecki believes. "One of the major problems in any black economic development is to identify potential entrepreneurs. The use of the training program would be one major vehicle to accomplish this."

Rights Leader Cites Agnew As 'Big Complainer'

ATLANTA, Ga. — Dr. Ralph David Abernathy, President of the Southern Christian Leadership Conference (SCLC), today made the following statement concerning Vice-President Spiro T. Agnew:

"Spiro T. Agnew, a major stumbling block to black progress, has insulted the entire black leadership and all black people in America.

New VA Law Ups Funds For Disabled Vets Cars

About 52,000 severely disabled veterans and servicemen will benefit from a new law (P.L. 91-666) increasing allowances from $1,600 to $2,800 for the purchase of specially equipped automobiles.

The law also authorizes VA to provide adaptive devices to enable operation of the

Ford Grant For Advanced Study to Texas Teacher

LUBBOCK, Texas — Mrs. Hazel S. Taylor, a college graduate at 18 and now a veteran public school teacher and counselor, has become the first recipient at Texas Tech University of a Ford Foundation Advanced Study Fellowship for Black Americans.

The grant provides for a year of graduate work in the university's College of Education so that the recipient will complete course work and write her dissertation for a doctorate in education next summer.

After nine years as a Lubbock elementary school teacher at the third grade level, Mrs. Taylor taught four years in the city's "Homebound" program in which teachers work with students who are unavoidably confined to their homes.

Last year she was a special education counselor, serving eight Lubbock public schools.

She has already done much of her work toward a doctor of education degree at Texas Tech. She received her master's here in 1964 and her bachelor of science degree from Prairie View (Texas) College in 1946 at the age of 18.

She also has attended Southern University at Houston and the University of California at Los Angeles. In addition to her teaching and graduate studies, the busy educator handles the roles of wife and mother, Sunday School secretary and welfare worker.

She was one of the two women who spearheaded the Lubbock YWCA's successful effort to establish "Project New Directions" for pregnant teenagers. The program provides for special high school classes for pregnant girls.

vehicles, and to repair and replace such equipment. For the first time in the auto grant program, severely disabled servicemen on active duty are eligible. Administrator of Veterans Affairs Donald E. Johnson pointed out.

He said the total program will cost about $17.5 million the first year. He also noted the $1,600 allowance for automobiles and conveyances had been in effect since 1946, and was increased to $2,800 when the President signed the Disabled Veterans' and Servicemen's Automobile Assistance Act on Jan. 11.

It was explained that 48,600 veterans who have already received the $1,600 car allowance are not eligible for additional funds for this purpose. However, VA is now authorized to provide, replace or repair adaptive equipment for their cars.

Veterans who have lost, or lost the use of, one or more hands or feet, or suffered a loss of vision to a prescribed degree as a result of service since Jan. 31, 1955, are eligible for the new law's benefits.

Veterans with similar losses as a direct result of the Korean Conflict or World War II are also covered.

Accused Slayer Marvin Parker May Have Alibi

Marvin Parker, accused slayer of Ann Marie Tursic, 31, of 712 Seventeenth St., may have an alibi, according to a Des Moines barmaid, Monday.

Katherine J. Williams, of 901 E. Walker St., testified that Parker, accused in the Dec. 11 murder of Miss Tursic and the wounding of her roommate, Karen Krueger, 30, of 4315 S.E. Fourteenth St., was with her (Miss Williams) at the VFW Club at Seventeenth and Crocker Streets from 8:30 p.m. to 2 a.m.

Miss Krueger testified that Parker fatally shot Miss Tursic about 9:45 p.m. Dec. 11 on the sidewalk near Sixteenth and Pleasant Streets.

Miss Williams claimed that Parker had been with her until 2:00 a.m. and when asked by defense attorney Henry McKnight if he had left for any length of time she replied, "No."

After hearing the news about the shooting, Miss Williams claimed, "I took a revolver out ... and put it on my side."

Two other defense witnesses claimed Monday that they saw Parker the night of the killing.

While cross-examining the two witnesses, County Attorney Ray Fenton found differences in the testimony as to what happened the night of the alleged murder in the tavern from what Miss Williams testified.

the Navy's program coordinator for all matters pertaining to satellite communications.

In the other part of his "two-hatted" job Rear Admiral Gravely, will command the Washington-based field organization primarily concerned with management, daily operations and material as well as the facilities and manpower requirements of the global Naval Communications System.

This system is comprised of 29 major communications stations, units and radio stations around the world. The shore system provides communications support for world-wide U.S. Fleet operations.

Admiral Gravely comes to the Washington-based command from San Diego where he commanded the guided missile frigate USS Jouett (DLG-29) from May 1970 until he received his two stars on June 2, 1971.

$52,000 IN SCHOLARSHIPS in journalism for black students was announced at the recent annual convention in Atlanta of the National Newspaper Publishers Association (NNPA) by Marshall B. Bass manager of personnel development at R.J. Reynolds Tobacco Company.

Reynolds' seven-year program (1972-79) will provide four-year scholarships for 20 black journalism students. It will be administered by the National Scholarship Service and Fund for Negro Students in cooperation with NNPA.

Negro College Fund Receives $1,000 From Food Corp.

WHITE PLAINS, N.Y. — The United Negro College Fund received a highly unusual contribution of $1,000 from the Maxwell House Division of General Foods Corporation.

The gift was given to Vernon E. Jordan, Jr., executive director of the United Negro College Fund, by Richard Laster, president of the Maxwell House Division and vice president of General Foods.

In accepting the contribution, Mr. Jordan said: "We feel this is a very noteworthy contribution since it reflects an awareness and concern that were translated into positive action by a large group of corporate executives. Their efforts obviously recognize the importance of education — the equalizer of the conditions of men, the balance wheel of the social machinery — and the urgency of maintaining strong, viable black institutions if we are ever to achieve an open, pluralistic, integrated society."

Law Schools of Nation of Biased, Mitchell Says

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn. — Clarence Mitchell, director of the Washington Bureau of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, charged that for many years there has been "rampant discrimination" by law schools and the bar against minority groups.

"This country is in a frightening position if we really believe in the right of minority groups to fight for law, order and justice," he said.

If the poor are to fight for "law, order and justice" and their accompanying constitutional rights, Mr. Mitchell told a press conference at the NAACP 62nd annual convention here, July 5-9, then "we are going to have to have more black lawyers."

But, because of "uniform" discrimination "around the country" by law schools and the bar, he said, minority group applicants have been successfully screened out.

Mr. Mitchell noted that Chief Justice Warren E. Burger had only last week said that the American Bar Association should discipline disruptive lawyers. So the Chief Justice should also take a public stand against discrimination, he said.

"The condition of the legal process in the country at this time is a disgrace," he added.

STOKES APPOINTMENT Cleveland Mayor, Carl B. Stokes announced the appointment of Obie Richardson to the position of Parks Commissioner for the City of Cleveland.

Mr. Richardson, a horticulturist, graduated from Lincoln University, Jefferson City, Mo.

He is married to the former Miss Janice Louise Wallace of Des Moines. Her parents reside at 2724 Amick Ave.

N.W. Bell Seeks Rate Hike

Northwestern Bell Wednesday asked the Iowa State Commerce Commission for its first statewide rate increase since 1957.

Jack A. MacAllister, vice president and general manager for the company's Iowa operations, said that "in this interval, there have been some Iowa communities in which rates have been increased due to growth or expansion of their local calling areas, bringing them into the proper rate level. However, this is our first request for a general rate increase in 14 years."

MacAllister said that inflation is a prime factor underlying the company's need for higher rates. "Since our last general rate increase, our construction costs and taxes have tripled. Wage costs and interest rates on money we've had to borrow have doubled," he said.

MacAllister also cited increasing demands for telephone service, requiring continued plant investment at higher costs.

Prices Change Little
Since the company's last general rate increase, prices for basic telephone service have changed very little, while long distance rates in Iowa have declined, MacAllister said.

MacAllister said that Northwestern Bell's current earnings are inadequate in the economic environment in which the company now operates. "We must attract enough new capital to build the facilities necessary to continue providing good service," he said. "Higher earnings will help us attract this capital."

The company has already

OBITUARIES

Services for Ruby E. Davis, 66, of 1342 McCormick St., were held at 10 a.m. Thursday at Bethel A.M.E. Church, of which she was a member. Burial will be in Glendale Cemetery.

RUBY E. DAVIS

She died Sunday at Broadlawn Polk County Hospital after a two-week illness.

A retired elevator operator, she was born in Buxton and lived here about 60 years.

She is survived by a son, William Gaines of Des Moines; a daughter, Mrs. Eleanor Turner of Des Moines, and three brothers, Paul Davis of Des Moines, and Carl and Russell Davis, both of Minneapolis.

A wake took place at 7 p.m. Wednesday at L. Fowler & Son Funeral Home.

MRS. HATTIE BEAUFORD
Mrs. Hattie Beauford, 58, of 1039 Ninth St., died of arteriosclerosis Sunday at Broadlawn Polk County Hospital.

She was born in Sparta, Ill., and lived in Des Moines about nine years. She was a maid at Des Moines General Hospital.

Services were held at 10 a.m. Wednesday at Hammett-Robinson Funeral Home, with burial in Glendale Cemetery. She is survived by two sons, Donald of Des Moines and Warren K. of St. Louis, Mo.; a sister, Mrs. Lavern Jones of St. Louis; and five grandchildren.

He apparently does not think that black people should complain about racism, oppression and injustice.

"The black leadership of this nation has tried very hard to make this a decent and just society, at a time when blacks are fed up with the present cruel system of exploitation led by a repressive and reactionary Administration.

"Black people generally have been teaching the entire nation what human dignity and freedom are all about.

"It is regrettable that Mr. Agnew does not have the capacity to understand this.

"Spiro T. Agnew is in reality the biggest complainer in America. He complains about a free press, constitutional dissent, civil rights and basic freedoms.

"Mr. Agnew says that black people should take constructive action. I believe the most constructive action black people can take is to help remove from public office irresponsible, bigoted and irrational politicians such as Spiro T. Agnew."

asked for a public hearing on their rate request.

The requested rates would provide $15 million in additional annual revenue, over half of which - about $7.7 million - will go for federal and state income taxes.

$1.30 Increase
Under the proposed schedule, monthly rates for basic one-party, two-party and four-party residence service will be increased $1.30 per month. Rates for eight-party rural service will go up 25 cents per month.

One-party business rates will increase $2.50 per month, and lines connected to a private switchboard will go up $3.75 per month.

MacAllister added, "We'll continue to find ways to cut costs. But it's unrealistic to expect that any business - regulated or unregulated - can continue to provide a 1971 standard of service at 1957 prices."

THE NAME "HYDE" RETAINS ITS CHARM on the news page! Hence, further word of Eric Hyde's June 4 marriage to Laurel Jean Hamilton, of Garner, Iowa, is brought to you today. This is his town still. (See this week's story of their marriage.)

THE HYDE-HAMILTON VOWS WERE SAID as the pair stood before their minister within a circular altar. The color theme was champagne pink and white. Laurel wore a white dress without a veil, and carried a bouquet of white daisies and pink roses. Except for the color (pink) her matron of honor's dress was identical to her own, and she carried pink roses. The dresses were made by a St. Paul friend of the bride.

ERIC AND HIS BEST MAN, in keeping with the color scheme of the occasion, wore gray suits, pink shirts and ties of a pink and white design.

GRADUATION MARKS A BEGINNING, and this pair underscored the statement in that they graduated at 10:00 a.m., entered marriage at 2:00 p.m., a culmination of their college careers spent together. Laurel has a bachelor's degree in English, and Eric in Behavioral Sciences in Education.

RESUMING DISCUSSION OF THE NAME "HYDE", as Des Moines knows it, we can review last year's KDIM's resume of the family: Robert N. Hyde (Eric's great grandfather) in the early 1880's until his retirement in 1920, headed the first electric carpet cleaning establishment in Des Moines. He also patented the H&H Soap, widely used throughout the nation and which is still being manufactured.

BRANHAM N. HYDE, ERIC'S GRANDFATHER, was an only son. He attended Iowa State College at Ames, entered civil service and enjoyed a career in the post office. During the days when Branham worked in the "P.O.", to secure one of these jobs was a "fait accompli". His widow, Mrs. Estella Hyde, resides here. Robert N. Hyde, II, the groom's father, is a retired army major and vice principal of Grant School.

MRS. ADAH HYDE JOHNSON, A WIDOW AND GREAT AUNT, was the first Black girl to graduate from the State University of Iowa. Mrs. Gertrude Hyde North, a great aunt, is prominent in organization and club work and is active on the state level.

SO IT IS THAT ROBERT N. HYDE'S interest in education and in the business world is carried on. The locale widens but the representation continues: Eric is working for Minneapolis' telephone company; he is in management in the commercial department. Robert N. Hyde, III, is in management in St. Paul.

MRS. LITTLE CAVIL'S CREATION is of interest to us women, and it's a honey! Facing repeated loss of the backs of her screw-type, pierced earrings, she fashioned new backs from the plastic lids of coffee cans! She says: "Cut a tiny square, and from that a tiny circle. Pierce this with a needle and presto (or puncho?) you have an earring back!"

Modern Etiquette

By Roberta Lee

Q. When are "informals" properly used in correspondence?

A. The "informal" is a foldover card, and may be used for any short, informal note -- for sending and replying to invitations, for enclosing with a gift, friendly notes to acquaintances, and the like. This type of card is not proper, however, for writing messages of condolences.

Q. Is it proper to say "thank you" to a waiter?

A. Certainly -- for any courtesies you may deem "above and beyond the call of duty." It is not necessary, however, to thank him simply for the proffering of the ordinary dishes.

Q. Do you think bridge prizes should always be wrapped, or is it in good taste to present them to the winners unwrapped?

A. Personally, I like a bridge prize that is attractively wrapped.

Q. I have just received an invitation to a bridal shower on a girl whom I scarcely know. What do I do about this?

A. You are under no obligation -- either to attend the shower or to respond with a gift. The person who issued this invitation overlooked one cardinal rule -- that showers are only for CLOSE and GOOD friends of the honored person.

Q. What sort of food is usually served during an evening of informal home entertainment?

A. This depends upon your group of friends and the customs in your community, but most usually snacks and drinks are served during the evening, with pastry and coffee at the end.

Q. May a divorcee mail out engraved announcements of her second marriage?

A. This is quite all right.

Q. Would it be all right, when having guests at dinner, to bring in filled plates from the kitchen and put one down in front of each guest?

A. While not incorrect, this seems an impractical system. Unless the hostess knows the tastes of each guest, it is certainly much better to let the guests help themselves to whatever and as much as they want.

Q. Don't you think it's rude and ill-bred for a bride to wait until her return from a month's honeymoon trip to acknowledge her wedding gifts?

A. Indeed it is! These gifts are best acknowledged as they are received, while those received at the last moment can be acknowledged while the bride is away.

Your professional hairdresser knows the answer...

Was haircoloring first done in Africa?

Centuries ago in Africa (before it was explored by Europeans) beautiful black women used herbs and other ingredients to change the color of their hair. It was one way to complement their dark rich complexions... to accent their natural warmth and beauty. Whether or not Africans were the first to use this method, no one is sure. Yet, they are among the first in terms of recorded history to go through the then-tedious process of coloring their hair.

Today changing your haircolor can be as quick and as brief as a visit to your professional hairdresser. That's because many professional hairdressers use Miss Clairol's Hair Color to lighten hair, to make slight color changes and to cover gray. Hairdressing experts know that exotic blacks and browns are generally gorgeous for darker skin tones. Golden or red shades are stunning for lighter tan complexions.

Today black pride brings you closer to the cultural ways of your African heritage. Haircoloring is a part of black history too. Ask your professional hairdresser about changing your hair color with Miss Clairol... and be more beautiful than you already are.

Mutual Visits With Other Countries are Desirable

It often happens that we make mistakes but are too stubborn to admit them.

Our relations with Communist China is a splendid example. For twenty years, we chose to support Nationalist China as the official China when there was absolutely no chance that the Chiang Chi Chek and his little army would ever leave the little island to which they were driven.

We have been instrumental in keeping Red China out of United Nations which denied 750 million people the opportunity to collaborate with other nations. And somehow China has been instrumental in keeping us in trouble with other nations which embrace their way of life. The Nixon administration, along with pulling our troops out of Viet Nam, has courted the idea that peace in the world can not be achieved unless there was some communication with the largest nation on earth.

President Nixon surprised friends and foes by moving to communicate with China by sending an emissary to the head of the People Republic of China with a view of arranging mutual visits between heads of the two countries.

A trip to China is no guarantee that friendly relations will follow and diplomatic status restored. But the contact will provide an opportunity for the heads of state to exchange views and find out which are similar and those different which might be negotiated by peaceful methods.

The Bystander has opposed Communism consistently. Most people will applaud Mr. Nixon's efforts for peace. Of course there are those who still bury their heads in the sand when personal cooperation and better relationships with China can be had. But President Nixon has charted this daring course and well thinking people will hope that favorable results will follow.

Negro Lawyers Must Not Encourage Inefficiency

The president of the National Bar Association has suggested that bar examinations be dropped, charging that they discriminate against Negroes and are not relevant to the practice of law. The association is made up primarily of Negro lawyers.

Today, there is much being said about improving the qualifications of lawyers in order to weed out the shady ones who manage to get by the bar examination without proper preparation to represent clients or the moral standard to observe the ethics of their profession.

Carrying the complaint further Clarence Mitchell, who for years has represented the NAACP in Washington, DC, has charged that law schools discriminate against Negroes and that Negro lawyers are discriminated against in the courts making justice for minorities and the poor impossible.

A local Negro freshman, who attends Harvard University Law School, informed the Bystander recently that there are 50

Negroes in the 450 freshman class at Harvard University. This does not bear out no discrimination in at least, the admission of Negroes to one of the most outstanding law schools in the country. As a matter of fact, most law schools are making special efforts to increase the number of Negro students.

As to discrimination against Negro lawyers by the Courts we have little information other than the fact that it does not exist at the Iowa bar. We do not deny that prejudiced individuals may be sworn as jurors at times. Rulings by the court are subject to appeals and judges don't like to have their decisions reversed. Where it occurs, Negro lawyers must stand up and fight back just as against violation of any other civil right.

There is no better way to test the qualifications of an applicant's knowledge of the principles of law. It is an accepted method in all professions and until a better one is found we believe that bar examinations should continue.

Don't Kill The Opportunity Program

The controversy between Greater Opportunity and the Iowa Civil Rights Commission is most unfortunate in that the continuation of the agency is in jeopardy.

The recent trouble arose over the firing of a female employee and certain operational procedures which the commission feels justify the firing of the director and a few other salaried employees. The Greater Opportunity board has steadfastly supported the director.

Formal Public Hearing on the charges has been set for early August at which time the whole matter will be aired.

The opportunity program has not been well handled from the beginning having been poorly planned with hazy guide lines to work by. This is true of most of the opportunity programs.

The public does not know all the facts and thus charges must not be taken as true until the evidence is made available at the hearing.

On the other hand, we had hoped that the continuation of the program will not be interfered with unduly over difficulties that can be cleared up.

Health for All

Pollution is killing beauty. And life. All kinds of life.

Hundreds of acres of magnificent pines and orange trees have been wiped out by smog and car exhaust on the West Coast. And on the opposite coast, the Philadelphia zoo reports an increase of lung cancer among animals who spend their lives outdoors.

The zoo said the increase in lung cancer was especially pronounced among water fowl. Air pollution is pinpointed as the culprit because pollutant particles fall to the bottom of ponds where birds feed. The birds are breathing and—literally—eating pollution. Lung cancer rates are also up in lions, otters, skunks, and other animals.

There is no place to hide.

For trees, flowers, animals, or people.

A recent article in Science suggests—on the basis of considerable research—that if air pollution in major urban areas could be cut by 50 percent there would be a 25 to 50 percent reduction in morbidity and mortality due to chronic bronchitis. At least among humans. And a 25 percent reduction in mortality from lung cancer.

The chief cause of air pollution is car exhaust. Now many citizen groups are pressing for more and better mass transit. For better bicycle routes. For gasoline without deadly pollutants. For pollution control devices that really work in cars. Concerned citizens are getting organized to try to salvage what beauty—and

ON THE SPORTS SCENE

With Allen Ashby

It is about time to come up with a lot of copy about our annual Hilltop Open tennis meet. We are sure everybody who is interested knows the history of the thing. We usually have from about 160 to 185 people in our meet, and some of the kids who were juniors when the thing began, have kids playing in it now.

We can think of at least two people in this category, and there are more. People wonder why our meet has held on for so long in the face of competition from the Hawkeye meet. Now, we don't think for a second that the Hawkeye meet is out to do anything but hold a tennis tournament, same as we are doing, and that is all. It is just that the Des Moines Tennis association has just about all the money in town, and they can really put on a meet that dwarfs ours.

But ours is a fun tournament. We adhere to the rules of the game, but the rest of it is as informal as it can be without getting out of bounds. Everybody who plays in the thing seems to have a good time, and they all want to come back. Frankly, we are glad the meet hasn't grown too much bigger. What in hell would Cecil Brewton and I have done last year with about two hundred and fifty entrants? It was tough enough as it was.

But this year Mrs. Myers is back, and you can bet that we really appreciate her advance detail work as we hadn't done before. We wonder if she will be around many more meets. Nobody goes on forever. We would like to think that we may be around to present the Ashby doubles trophies to the ultimate winners, but, as we have said, nobody lives forever, not even me.

You see, the trophies have to be won three times, not necessarily in succession, to gain permanent possession. At least one pair has two legs on the big mugs, and they could take them away, except that everybody seems to want them too.

They were given to the club in memory of the late Bill Ashby, who was one of our tennis pioneers, and a leading light in the Hilltop club for years. Then there is the Harold Holt singles trophy, presented by Mr. Tom McCollum as a tribute to the late Harold Holt. Tom said he enjoyed playing against the Holt brothers, and was glad to be able to do something in Harold's memory. That has to be won three times, too, and to date, nobody has more than one leg on it. So you see, we will probably have to keep on having Hilltop tennis meets until somebody wins these trophies. See you out there.

We got a call the other day from a fellow who said he wished we would quit digging up ancient history about black athletes. Said that nobody was interested in that stuff. Then, as we were thinking about that, we have been stopped on the street by at least a half dozen fellows who have told us how much they enjoyed being enlightened on the history of local black athletics and otherwise. And three of the stoppers were not old timers. So it all depends on which side you are on. Personally, we don't care. We have so many words to come up with, and we are glad we have a background of this sort to help us out.

Changing the subject. Have you noticed how many times the great Muhammad Ali has been decked by his sparring partners? Could be a buildup for the fight this week end. But, then when a fighter trains for a fight he works with fellow he wants to do certain things. When the partner does something different, the boxer is often surprised and gets hit hard, maybe hard enough to go down. So, don't let those tales coming from the camp of Ali get you too worked up. Let's see if Jimmy Ellis can do it. With the prospects of another million dollar fight with Joe Frazier, we would have to bet he can't.

Senate Okays EEOC Budget

The Equal Employment Opportunity Commission will receive the full $27,620,000 urged by President Nixon to combat discrimination in employment, the Senate voted Monday.

The Senate adopted an amendment by Republican Leader Hugh Scott to increase the $22 million previously approved by the House and the Senate Appropriations Committee.

The full amount is needed, said Scott, because of the increasing number of complaints received by the commission, particularly those by women protesting alleged sex bias.

VETERANS

A veteran, to speed up the Veterans Administration's response to his inquiry, should be sure to include his full name, address and claim number, if he has one.

Administrator of Veterans Affairs Donald E. Johnson recently announced plans for a six-fold increase in the number of VA-operated drug addict treatment centers bringing to 32 the number in operation by October 1971.

The Veterans Administration—the government's largest independent agency—employs 222 architects and engineers in its medical facilities' construction program. This is more than any other federal agency.

The Veterans Administration may suspend from participation in its loan program those who take unfair advantage of veteran borrowers or decline to sell a new home to, or make a loan to, a creditworthy, eligible veteran because of his race, creed, color or national origin.

Veterans and servicemen interested in information on Veterans Administration-guaranteed loans for mobile homes will find the pamphlet "Questions and Answers on Mobile Home Loans to Veterans" useful. They are available free at all local VA offices, or from VA Central Office (26), Washington, D.C. 20420.

The IOWA BYSTANDER has made arrangements with the Des Moines office of the Social Security Administration to answer questions for our readers about social security and Medicare. Send your questions to Field Representative, Room 293 Federal Building, 210 Walnut Street, Des Moines, Iowa 50309.

QUESTION: My husband, who is 68, does not plan to retire for a number of years. I did work a few years myself, but that was almost 20 years ago. Do I have to wait for my husband to retire before I can get monthly social security benefits?

ANSWER: Before you can get benefits as a wife, your husband has to be getting his monthly retirement benefits. However, you should call or visit your social security office to see if you might be eligible for monthly benefits based on your own work record.

QUESTION: I receive monthly social security survivors benefits for my daughter who was just 16. She is planning to get married. Will she continue to get benefits until she's 18 even after she gets married?

ANSWER: No. Her monthly social security benefits will stop the month before she marries. You should notify the Social Security Administration as soon as you know the exact date of her marriage.

QUESTION: I am retired and receive monthly social security disability benefits. I am planning to spend next year visiting my children, who are scattered all over the country. What should I do about getting my benefit checks?

ANSWER: We suggest you visit your Post Office and arrange for the checks to be forwarded. It would be best to settle on one or two addresses that will be most convenient for you, rather than try to change your address every month or so. If you later decide to move permanently, notify social security of your new address.

QUESTION: I have been getting monthly social security disability benefits for the past two years. A friend of mine has offered me a part-time job. I am not sure I could do this type of work, but I would like to try it. Would I lose my disability benefits if I take it?

ANSWER: No. Under the social security law, disability beneficiaries who work despite severe handicaps can continue to be paid their monthly benefits while they are testing their ability to work. However, if you should start to work, be sure to notify your social security office.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

DEAR EDITOR,

In reply to the Editorial on "Good Deeds Easily Forgotten," Abraham Lincoln did not free us out of the goodness of his heart. He freed us only to save the union. Our History has conveniently excluded such details from our books. His great concern only allowed us to not be slaves to masters. He stated "If there is to be an inferior race of man than I say it is the Negro." He did not care about you or me as human beings. We owe him nothing for his task.

Let us celebrate heroes who have intentionally set out to free us instead of false idols.

TO THE EDITOR:

Attention Allen Ashby: This letter is in response to the article describing the waning interest in tennis within the black community.

One answer to the reviving the interest in tennis could lie within the grasp of Local Hilltop Tennis Club Officials. That would be to recruit the help of leading players like Arthur Ashe, Richard Russell, Lance Lumsden, and others, black and white, who have been known to put on clinics and exhibitions to raise funds for tennis programs in areas of underdeveloped tennis interest.

If publicized and promoted, such clinics and exhibitions could influence the interest of many black kids and adults as well, and raise the necessary funds to set up a well organized program of tennis development.

This program could emphasize recruitment of potential players, young and old, beginners and experienced players as well. The program would also provide competent clinics and individual instruction, and schedules for leagues and tournament play.

The main objective of such a program would be to expose as many people as possible to the game and get them playing, rather than to develop champions; but who knows, as a by-product you just might turn out another Arthur Ashe.

more power to you

Ever find yourself in the spot of calling a serviceman to fix an appliance that wasn't working and finding that the plug had just jarrd loose? You aren't the only one. Many such calls could be avoided by doing just two things:

1. Check the power supply. Test the same outlet with another appliance that you know works. If nothing happens, you might have blown a fuse or tripped a breaker. If this is a common occurrence, you better have an electrician check.
2. Check the appliance itself. If nothing obvious is wrong, read the appliance owner's manual for instructions. Many times it will help you solve the problem yourself.
