FORMER SENATOR'S SON

Charge Lawyer in Soledad Deaths Sentence Youth in Explosives Case

5 Year Term at Men's Reformatory

Convicted June 9 in connection with explosives following the bombing of the Des Moines police station, Michael Smith, 1316 10th St., was sentenced to a term of five years at the Men's Reformatory in Anamosa by Judge Leo Oxberger.

Before pronouncing sentence Smith's attorney, Dan Johnston, sought a parole or probation to be served at Fort Des Moines because the police department had promised to make recommendation to the court for Smith for having given information about proposed bombings of other buildings.

MICHAEL SMITH

Judge Oxberger said he had discussed Smith's case with personnel from Model Cities, Fort Des Moines and the County Attorney's office and concluded that he would not be justified in extending leniency.

Judge Oxberger said, "The police must be free to operate without the likelihood of a bombing of their station or their men. The sentence is based largely also on reports concerning your attitude at Ft. Des Moines and Model Cities," he told Smith.

Deplores Sentencing
"I hate the final decision I've come to on your sentencing," Oxberger added. "However, you will be eligible for parole if you cooperate at Anamosa and are not a nuisance."

One of the three others arrested with Smith, Mary Ann Rhem, 21, of 1441 Cedar St., was found innocent of the same charge earlier this year.

Charges of illegal possession of explosive devices and receiving and concealing stolen property are pending against David K. Colton, 19, of 1412 Maple St., the fourth person arrested in connection with the incident.

The explosives, electrical blasting caps, were found in a car in which Smith was riding at the time of his arrest, police said. They were identified at earlier hearing for Smith as having been stolen from Quick Supply Co. Authorities have said caps taken in the Quick burglary may have been used in bombings of the Des Moines Police Station, Ames City Hall, Greater Des Moines Chamber of Commerce building and a Drake University building.

Wilkins Cites Membership Campaign Plans

NEW YORK, N.Y. — NAACP Executive Director Roy Wilkins has announced "an intensive 1971 fall harvest membership campaign" in which he has urged staff field personnel and branch presidents to press for an increase in membership over that of the past two years. The campaign will run from August 30 to December 15.

Membership in recent years reached a high of 462,000.

"As of July 31, 1971, membership was 26,976 ahead of the 1970 total for the same date," he said.

Noting that "George Wallace is still attempting to play political football with the education of our children and the Washington Administration seems to be in hot competition with him," Mr. Wilkins called for thousands of additional memberships to combat problems in education, employment and housing.

Sullivan Praises Wage-Price Freeze

NEW ORLEANS, La. — Rev. Leon H. Sullivan told a press conference at the 72nd National Elks Convention in New Orleans that President Nixon's price-wage freeze action was "a good move."

Meeting the press with the Grand Exalted Ruler of the Elks, the Honorable Hobson Reynolds, Rev. Sullivan said: "We had a runaway economy, a wild horses economy. We had to put on the reins or we would go slam bang over the cliff."

Dr. Sullivan was in New Orleans to receive the Lovejoy Leadership Award from the Improved Benevolent & Protective Order of Elks of the World.

At the press conference, Dr. Sullivan surprised his listeners by charging that Mr. George Meany, President, AFL-CIO, "should get his own runaway horses straight as the unions have contributed to the poverty of Black Americans by keeping them out of jobs and out of craft unions."

In response to a reporter's question about Mr. Meany's opposition to the Nixon Plan and the implication that Blacks would be hurt more than other working men, he stated: "The Black man can't be hurt any more. He has nothing to hurt. The masses on welfare and below the poverty level can't even get into the unions. White businesses haven't given them jobs and for that reason I have boycotted businesses. But Meany's unions have been hurting Black people for years, keeping them off building trades jobs and other jobs with segregated, racist discrimination."

Asked about Mr. Nixon and the 1972 election, the founder and Board Chairman of OIC of America was even more emphatic. "I am pleased that the President is taking a trip to China and hope that he will

Law Cites Accomplice Equally Guilty In Prison's 'Blackest Day'

The last man to visit Soledad Brother George Jackson in San Quentin Prison has been charged with five counts of murder.

Attorney Mitchell Bingham has been charged in connection with the escape attempt which left five men dead — three guards and two inmates.

Bingham is the grandson of the late former Connecticut Governor and U.S. Senator Hiram Bingham.

The investigation of Marin County Dist. Atty. Bruce Bales has proven that only the lawyer could have obtained the gun used in the violence.

Under California law an accomplice is equally guilty as the person who commits the crime.

Jackson was fatally wounded by tower guards outside the prison Adjustment Center.

Inmate Jackson underwent a thorough 'skin' search before meeting with his attorney and upon returning, brandished a 9-mm foreign-made pistol hidden in his wig, thus setting off the escape attempt.

Prison officials called the incident 'the blackest day in San Quentin history'.

Negro Man Killed By State Trooper

AYDEN, N.C. — A county-wide boycott, mass rallies and jail-ins have begun here following the brutal killing of a black man allegedly by a North Carolina State Trooper.

On August 6, William Earl Murphy, a 32-year-old black man, was arrested by Trooper Billy Day at the home of Mr. Murphy's employer, where Mr. Murphy had gone to seek a loan.

Trooper Day reportedly handcuffed Murphy's hands behind his back and put him in the trunk of a patrol car, and then drove off into the country.

Later, the trooper arrived at a local hospital. Murphy was dead on arrival. Examination of the body revealed bruises on several parts of Murphy's body, a gash on his forehead, and a bullet-hole that indicated he had been shot in the back.

The black community in Pitt County here has now organized a movement against police brutality, demanding the removal of Trooper Day and preparing other grievances.

On Tuesday night, Aug. 24th, 125 adults, teenagers and juveniles were arrested — including Golden Frinks, SCLC Field Secretary for North Carolina — during a march from Ayden to Greenwood. Fifty more young people were arrested Wednesday during a march in which a police car almost ran over the young marchers. Daily and nightly rallies and marches were to continue.

Delta Sigma Theta Protests Nixon's School Busing Plan

HOUSTON, Tex. — There is no wrath like that of a woman's! More than 1,800 Black women, as members of Delta Sigma Theta, Inc. a national public service sorority, put aside their convention agenda to deal with what they called a "disturbing, appalling, frightening" announcement from the White House on the school desegregation busing controversy.

Angry Deltas
What angered the Deltas was the White House statement that federal officials who failed to comply fully with President Nixon's strict prohibition against busing to achieve school desegregation would be fired or reassigned.

The Deltas, with a membership of 60,000, were in the midst of their 31st national convention when the latest White House anti-busing statement was released.

After endorsing the U.S. Civil Rights Commission's statement condemning the President for his previous anti-busing announcement, the Deltas, in a plenary session, unanimously adopted their own resolution sharply rebuking Mr. Nixon for his implied threats against federal officials.

The complete text of that statement follows:
"As a Southern governor stood at the door barring a Black woman from entering a State University, President Nixon is now standing in the doorway of every school in this nation, refusing free access to all minority children to equal educational opportunities.

President will recommend an amendment to prohibit spending funds for busing to the Emergency School Assistance Act of

"Inherently Unequal"
"The Supreme Court ruled 17 years ago that segregated education is inherently unequal and prohibited by the Constitution. This year, the Supreme Court, in the case of Swan vs. Charlotte-Mecklenburg expressly recognized the necessity of busing as an adjunct to school desegregation."

"The President has announced he is against busing and has instructed Federal agencies to 'hold busing to the minimum required by law' or staff changes will result."

"When the President takes his solemn oath of office he swears to uphold the law of the land. His duty is to administer the laws on an equal basis to all people. To defy and circumvent the law on a selective basis is to exceed Presidential authority."

"The White House statement of August 3, 1971 that the President has instructed the HEW and the Department of Justice offices 'that they are to work with individual school districts to hold busing to the minimum required by law' is a racist action which will result in intensified polarization. This is in direct opposition to the President's previous promise to 'bring America together.'"

"The White House statement that 'I assure you they are going to be responsive or those who are not responsive will find themselves involved in other assignments — quite possibly in assignments other than the Federal Government' is coercive and punitive and is a reprisal which is also prohibited by law."

"Concerned And Fearful"
"The White House spokesman's statement that the Drive Safely!

Some 739,000 children began daily travels to and from the state's public and private schools and the Iowa Department of Public Safety advises motorists that alertness, caution and a thorough knowledge of motoring laws are necessary when driving in school zone areas and on roads on which school buses travel.

Safety Commissioner Michael M. Sellers also reminds motorists that they must not pass a school bus when its red or amber warning lights are flashing. He said they must stop not closer than fifteen feet from the bus when it is stopped and stoparm is extended and must remain stopped until the stoparm is retracted and the bus resumes motion or until signaled by the driver to proceed.

Sellers added that vehicles on highways providing two or more lanes in each direction need not be stopped upon meeting a school bus which is traveling in the opposite direction even though the bus is stopped.

The Commissioner pointed out that Iowa's approximately 6600 school buses daily transport well over a quarter of a million students, nearly a third of a million miles.

"The presence of school buses are a fact of life," he said, "so we had better all learn the rules for living with them."

Negro Contractors' Future Is Bleak

NASHVILLE, Tenn. — The future of minority group contractors in the United States looks bleak and uncertain, a report issued today by the Race Relations Information Center said.

"There is evidence in some areas that minority contractors are declining in number," the special report said, and "in large cities minority group firms are merging their manpower, expertise and resources to remain in the competition."

The report points out that building contractors face obstacles not ordinarily encountered by other businessmen. Not only must they obtain capital and possess managerial knowhow, but they must often qualify for bid bonds, performance bonds and payment bonds. Many minority contractors who were interviewed in the survey charged they were discriminated against by bonding firms. These financial problems, combined with the lack of opportunity for association with people who control dollars for construction, have proved insurmountable for many black contractors, the report said.

The report, written by Reginald Stuart, RRIC correspondent, said in many cities the once-lucrative single-family dwelling business is giving way to large apartment complexes and sub-divisions that are "out of reach of minority contractors." The large commercial construction work has never been open to minority firms.

Several ways were cited by which to measure the status of minority contractors in the industry:

—With nearly $100 billion projected to be spent this year on construction, minority group contractors, most of whom are black, are expected to earn less than $500,000, only one-half of one per cent of the total.

Of the estimated 870,000 construction firms in the United States, fewer than 8,000 are minority group firms.

—Only five per cent of the nation's minority construction firms are capable of handling jobs in excess of $200,000 because of problems ranging from capacity to bonding.

The report is based on two months of interviews with bonding and surety industry officials and representatives of other agencies involved in the growth and development of minority contractors.

It concluded that the federal effort in behalf of minority contractors is so scant that the status of minority-owned construction firms is unlikely to change in proportion to that of other segments of the industry. With $200 billion expected to be spent by 1980, the status of minority firms will remain proportionately the same.

The report, entitled "Black Contractors' Dilemma," also says the number of young blacks interested in going into the construction industry is at a critically low stage. It

Preston Love Leaves Des Moines For K.C.

Preston Love well-known Des Moines business executive, former owner and operator of one of Des Moines' foremost entertainment spots, The New Orleans Club, and musician has concluded his career in Des Moines as marketing representative with IBM. He leaves Des Moines to accept a transfer to a position with district staff of the Kansas City, Kansas IBM Office. His new assignment does not include Des Moines on his travel agenda.

Love had considered entering politics here. One of the comments he had in leaving is that he "feels political power is one of the keys for black development here and that he would urge blacks to both run for offices and get involved in Love is a graduate of University of Nebraska and was an economics major. He was recruited by IBM.

Isacc Hayes' "Shaft" Album Makes Millions

"Who's the black private detective that's a sex machine?"

"Shaft," the phrase is part of the music score from the black-oriented motion picture "Shaft." But many movie goers ultimately ask:

"Who's the soul-singing cat behind the movie 'Shaft'?"

"Isaac Hayes."

Stax's "Black Moses" (Isaac Hayes) wrote both the movie's theme and music score. Enterprise Records (a subsidiary of Stax Records, Inc.) recently released the movie's sound track album "Shaft" which made over a million dollars in barely two weeks. Naturally, the album features the "soul-singing cat behind the movie 'Shaft'."

—Isaac Hayes.

"Shaft" also plays another special role in the producer-singer-arranger's life. This was the movie in which he made his debut as a film scorer.

As for the movie, Hayes states, "It's down to earth." He later adds, "I think it's time Blacks were shown in the movies without being stereotyped in any way."

"Shaft," like other recent black-oriented movies, is a pioneer of a new phase in the movie industry — the "Black" phase. It is one of the few "Black" pictures that has a black producer, black director, black screenwriters, black stars, black editor, black musicians, and is based on a Black's novel. Its creative concepts in marketing and promotion were handled by Communiplex, Inc., an internationally Black-owned communications and marketing consulting group.

The movie boasts such masters in their fields as: Joel Freeman, producer; Academy Award Nominee ("Midnight Cowboy"), Hugh Robertson; Director Gordon Parks (author of "The Learning Tree"); screenwriters Ernest Tidyman (who wrote the "Shaft" novel) and John D.F. Black.

Richard Roundtree, former Ebony Magazine model, plays "John Shaft," the leading role. Moses Gunn, Glenn Mitchell, and Sherri Brewer are among the picture's other stars.

Wilkins Reviews Nixon's Law And Order Campaign

SANTA ANA, Calif. — Here in Orange County, where the western White House is located at San Clemente, NAACP Executive Director Roy Wilkins said that Richard M. Nixon "used the law and order concept as one of his basic pillars in the 1970 off-year election campaign." He made his remarks August 27 before the Orange County Forum of Town Hall in cooperation with the Orange County Bar Association.

Using the recent killing of George Jackson, known as one of the three Soledad Brothers, as a springboard, Mr. Wilkins reviewed the manner in which the law has been used "in behalf of the human rights of the unpopular minority of Negro Americans."

Mr. Wilkins acknowledged that "Jackson was a revolutionary who maintained steadfastly that the U.S. judicial system was stacked against black men from before their first arrest until the ends of their lives."

For Negro Americans to whom Jackson had become a symbol, anger is the result of what they see and hear, he added.

"It could well be that unless thoughtful white citizens move to correct conditions, the nation is in for the explosions that always follow the imposition of racial discrimination by ruthless force," he said.

S. C. Anemia Plans Cited

Preliminary recommendations from the first meeting of the HEW Sickle Cell Anemia Advisory Committee for expanded research and community service programs against this chronic disease of black children and young adults have now been announced.

In summarizing the results of the meeting, Mrs. Ruth Aikens, Committee Chairman, said that at this time the Committee favors an approximately equal division of available funds between research and community service activities.

Mrs. Aikens also characterized the $6 million to be allocated for SCA research during this fiscal year as only a beginning toward a maximum-effort program to control sickle cell anemia and, ultimately, to eradicate the disease as a major cause of disability and death.

1971, is another restrictive mandate affecting the future of our children.

"The women of Delta Sigma Theta are concerned and fearful about the present and future of the minority people of this nation. How can we maintain faith in our government — 'one nation, with liberty and justice for all,' when the Administration continually acts to destroy our faith?"

"For many years sorors teaching in the South have been bused because they were Black. It is imperative now that the President use the same method (busing) to afford equal educational opportunity to all children."

"We endorse the August 12, 1971 statement of the United States Commission on Civil Rights emphasizing the need to desegregate to achieve quality education and opposing legislative changes to restrict busing."

Strong Protest

"We strongly protest and condemn the position stated by the White House on eliminating busing as a means of enforcing equal education. Most school desegregation plans include busing as a necessity. If funds are withheld, desegregation will be impossible. We want the best education possible for all children."

"We further condemn any threats or acts of reprisal against any government employee or school district as they work to enforce the law of the land. Neither will we sit silent for fear of reprisal as dissenters. Freedom of speech is an inalienable right."

"We are forced to demand the President to abide by the law and to reverse his present position. He must show that he cares about our children, and about peace and order in this nation, by speaking out and acting strongly to support desegregation."

Blemishes In Pines

Pretty In Paneling

One lumber firm has turned blemishes in over-age Ponderosa pine trees into an asset by marketing a distinctive board paneling.

Nature has added to the customary honey hue and small knots, a splashing of pale blue stain left by a fungus and a scattering of small beetle tunnels.

Both fungus and beetles die in the mill's dry kiln, leaving only their artwork in the wood.

stated that blacks have turned away from the industry, because of the traditional exclusion from the labor unions and the feeling that a job in the construction industry means the "lowest level and lowest paying position open," not the potential of being a boss.

Black contractors have organized associations of their own in most major cities, the report found, and this has been the only route they have found rewarding in getting the banking and bonding industry to open their doors.

Opportunities for large jobs are still rare, the report stated, and although some larger white firms are beginning to take an interest in helping small black firms, the degree of effort is unlikely to stimulate any significant change in the general construction climate.

Mrs. Garrison Attends Church Conventions

Mrs. Frealy M. Garrison of Kyles A.M.E. Zion Church was one of 672 delegates attending the 17th Quadrennial Convention of the Woman's Home and Foreign Missionary Society of the African Methodist Episcopal Zion Church which convened in Buffalo, N. Y. July 31 - Aug. 6th. More than 2000 women were in attendance.

A few highlights of the convention—the keynote address by the retiring President, Mrs. Emma B. Watson of Pittsburgh, Pa. on the theme "The New Age and the New Disciple."

Ecumenical Greetings by Mrs. Dorothy Haas, representing the American Bible Society and Mrs. Martin Harvey representing Church Women United. The ecumenical address was given by Miss Margaret Shannon.

Miss Dorothy Height, President of the National Council of Negro Women was moderator for a panel discussion, "New Disciples." Panelist Contact, Mrs. Bennie E. McCall; Drug Addiction, Mrs. Gladys Harper; Welfare Rights, Housing, Voting - Mrs. Anita Blackwell and Campus Unrest—Miss Jeanine Otis and Mr. Calvin Hawkins, college students.

Mrs. Frealy M. Garrison of Kyles A.M.E. Zion Church was among the 300 women attending the World Federation of Methodist Women in Denver, Colorado August 12 - 16. Representing more than sixty units with a total membership of nearly seven million, the Methodist women come together every five years to set goals for program.

Outstanding women from Europe, Africa, and Latin America made addresses on the main theme "Christian Women, in a Changing World." The Protestant women convened at the Roman Catholic Loretto Heights College. Dr. Patrocinio Ocampo, president of the World Federation of Methodist Women, told the participants women should cease being "a parasite, a slave, an object" and become actively involved in the responsibility of shaping a better world. Dr. Ocampo is dean of the Philippine Christian College, Manila.

Another woman from the Philippines, Mrs. Elisa R. Ocera, said that the time has come for Christians to go back to the original emphasis of living out their message in such a way that the world would wish to join them.

Two leaders of the World Council of Churches were speakers. Miss Puline Webb, director of Lay Training for the British Methodist Conference and vice-chairman of the Central Committee of the World Council of Churches, spoke on the role of women in the ecumenical movement. A South African, Miss Brigalia Bam of the World Council's Staff in Geneva, Switzerland, called for a radical re-examination of the theology of femininity within the Christian Church.

Concerns of the women include Christian witness, the place of women in church and society, and world peace and economic justice.

Church services are conducted at 11:00 a.m. on Sunday mornings and at 7:30 p.m. on Sunday evenings; Tuesday and Friday evening services are held at 7:30.

"I am neither for nor against Mr. Nixon. I am for America. I am for helping poor people get out of poverty and hungry people get food to eat and freedom for Black people. I am for helping Mexican-Americans, American Indians and poor whites get a fair share of the American economy."

"Mr. Nixon seems to be moving in the right direction. I hope he will continue. We will be watching and judging him in the next year."

"He will need two million Black voters to be elected. The Democrats will be united against him as never before. The unions will be united against him as never before. Most of the 18 to 20 year old votes will go Democratic. He will need Black votes to get elected."

MAVIS LA MAR AND THE JACKSON FIVE: She came, she saw, she conquered! Pretty Mavis good humoredly shares a delightful story about the town's top entertainers of the 1971 Iowa State Fair. "I was one of several thousand persons, who was completely charmed by the fantastic 'Jackson Five' yesterday. Somehow, I felt compelled to try and meet them. I happen to be an autograph collector; I could think of nothing else to make my collection complete than to add their signatures to my treasured book of autographs!"

ACTING ON A HUNCH and a little previous autograph-hunting knowledge, I located the hotel where they were staying (I am not at liberty to mention the establishment—I promised.) After a three-hour wait, I was rewarded with a sight of the group returning from their last performance. They were guarded by three policemen. I managed to get only one "Jackson" autograph and one of their drummer—cousin, Johnny. Being rather persistent, I pretended to leave, only to double back after the policemen had gone. After more waiting and much excitement, I was introduced to the father of the five young men, who told me that Sunday was the birthday of Michael, the lead singer. I was told that after a five minute "Happy Birthday" singing session, he was sure I could obtain the four autographs I wanted so intensely.

NOT ONLY DID MR. JACKSON make me acquainted with "The Commodores" and "Yvonne Fair" who shared the bill with his sons, but I, also, got the remaining four Jackson signatures and a KISS from the oldest Jackson (Jackie) as well. Incidentally, he is my favorite. I came away with a feeling of deep appreciation and gratitude for the fine receptive way I was treated.

IT'S NICE TO KNOW that black stars are as human and concerned about black fans as the fans are about them. Now, more than ever, the "Jackson Five" is at the top of my favorite group list!"

THANK YOU, MAVIS LA MAR! Your letter is a generous gesture to each of us. You shared the excitement and pleasure a visit with the fine entertainers and Mr. Jackson gave you. Looking behind the scenes to a key personality, the man George Brewer, your letter proves the accuracy of his understanding of our youth.

Kenneth Fulk, Fair Director presenting Michael Jackson with a Mexican Bull for his 12th birthday.

Jackson Five Thrill Fairgoers Sunday

When five young men hit the stage, music exploded - applause thundered and the grandstand was charged with excitement.

The Jackson Five ignited crowds of 17,000 persons at the Iowa State Fair, Sunday, with their loud jumpsuits and their boundless energy.

The obvious star of this galactic quintet is Michael Jackson, lead singer and youngest of the five.

As a prelude to one of the group's first big sellers, "Who's Loving You?", Michael talked about his concept of the blues. Jermaine Jackson displayed his versatility with "Bridge Over Troubled Waters" and "I Found That Girl".

"ABC", "I'll Be There", "The Love You Save", and "Never Can Say Goodbye" received thunderous ovations and delighted screams.

Featured with the Jackson Five were the Commodores and a six-man group, recently signed with Motown Records, and Yvonne Fair, a woman with sparkling depth.

Between Shows Michael Jackson is introduced to Mitzi Brewer backstage daughter of Geo. Brewer, Local promoter of the Jackson 5 for their Sept. 29th appearance at the Fair.

Modern Etiquette

By Roberta Lee

Q. When a newcomer arrives at a large party in your home, is it necessary to take him around the house and introduce him to everyone else, or attempt a mass introduction?

A. Either would be awkward. Much better to take your guest to a small group where you are sure he will enjoy himself, introduce him to these persons, and he can take care of his introductions from there on.

Q. At the completion of a dinner course, should the hostess' plate be removed first, and if not, whose plate?

A. There is no rule governing the order of removal of the dinner plates. This is entirely a matter of convenience.

Q. May the bride wear her engagement ring to the wedding, and have her groom place the wedding ring on above it?

A. No. On her wedding day the bride either leaves her engagement ring at home, or wears it on her right hand.

Q. Isn't it the girl's privilege to select the table when entering a restaurant with a male escort?

A. No; she should allow the man to do this.

Q. Since becoming engaged, I have received a number of gifts of money from my relatives. Am I supposed to share this money with my fiancé, or does it rightly belong to me to do with as I please?

A. Since this money was given in token of your coming marriage, it is only right and proper that you put it in a special account to be spent by both of you for your home.

Q. Am I supposed to reply to letters of condolence I have received?

A. This is only good manners in return for such acts of thoughtfulness. Your notes may be brief, but they should be sincere - and handwritten.

Q. Is it proper to send out invitations that have been typed, even though they are signed by hand?

A. No. When invitations are mailed, they should be handwritten in ink or engraved.

Q. Should a man use his right or his left hand when tipping his hat to a woman?

A. Makes no difference - either is correct.

Your professional hairdresser knows the answer...

Was haircoloring first done in Africa?

Centuries ago in Africa (before it was explored by Europeans) beautiful black women used herbs and other ingredients to change the color of their hair. It was one way to complement their dark rich complexions...to accent their natural warmth and beauty. Whether or not Africans were the first to use this method, no one is sure. Yet, they are among the first in terms of recorded history to go through the then-tedious process of coloring their hair.

Today changing your haircolor can be as quick and as brief as a visit to your professional hairdresser. That's because many professional hairdressers use Miss Clairol® Hair Color to lighten hair, to make slight color changes and to cover gray. Hairdressing experts know that exotic blacks and browns are generally gorgeous for darker skin tones. Golden or red shades are stunning for lighter tan complexions.

Today black pride brings you closer to the cultural ways of your African heritage. Haircoloring is a part of black history too. Ask your professional hairdresser about changing your hair color with Miss Clairol...and be more beautiful than you already are.

Armed Services Starts Positive Interracial Program

Racial conflict in the armed service has caused great concern by officials. Not only does it create bad blood between the men, but it also hurts the morale of some units.

Integration of the service has thrown the men close together in the performance of their duties and carried to logical conclusion, the same is true during off duty hours.

Officials have tried to minimize the trouble making it easy to do nothing about correcting the situation. But a new approach had to come because there are few problems that can be solved without doing something positive about them.

This is a carry over from civilian life. Too long we hung to the theory that you can't make a person like you. But you can make him refrain from abusing or insulting you without suffering the consequences.

Under the new program, classes have been set up in race relations and each member of a unit is required to attend. It is not an elective course, otherwise many would not attend just as is true of classes in Negro history in civilian schools.

Legal enforcement of civil rights struck down voter restrictions. Jim Crow in public accommodation, unequal education and many other crimes against Negroes in a comparatively few years which would not have been accomplished by education and appeals to justice in a century. Many still don't believe in equal rights for the Negro but go along rather than be dubbed violators of the law.

Public schools should adopt the same policy as the armed service to counteract prejudice among students. Negroes and whites teach their children to hate each other while the schools simply go on hoping the situation will right itself. The child gets little help from school in holding on to his inborn attitude of no prejudice while his parents and the older folks teach them to hate.

This decision by the defense department is a wise one and should be watched by those who have the responsibility of teaching students in school.

Blanket Tax Assessment Is Unwise

The Iowa director of revenue, acting under a law enacted by the legislature to equalize taxes, has issued a blanket rise in the assessed valuation of all residential property in Polk County. Similar orders are going out to other counties calling for more or less raise.

The purpose of this, he states, is to assess every residential property 27 per cent for tax purposes.

It seems strange that such a blanket order would be issued without reference to the individual assessment of properties. Some are already above or at the 27 per cent figure, some are below.

The last session of the legislature raised income taxes and it was generally thought that this would provide sufficient revenue to operate taxing bodies until a more satisfactory tax program could be passed. And while any such increase would go to local governments, the public gets pretty tired of increases for whatever purpose year in and year out.

Small-time Criminals Fill The Jails

Appearing on NBC-TV Monday morning in recognition of his 70th birthday, a panelist asked Roy Wilkins if he thought George Jackson who died a violent death in California Prison was guilty or not. Wilkins would not speculate on the facts but he did say that far too many men of the George Jackson type are in prison out of proportion among all criminals. This, of course, is true but there are many reasons why.

Wilkins has lived in big cities all of his life and knows something about crime among big time criminals. They own and operate vice, deal through ruthless groups and have lots of money to spend for high powered lawyers, bondsmen and political pull. And, of course, this means that their cases are often dragged through the courts with money as no object. Of course, it is easy to misunderstand in discussing law in that penalties vary not always depending upon the money involved. Take Iowa for instance, and about the same prevails in most states, robbery with aggravation carries a maximum penalty of 25 years without regard to the amount involved, while simple larceny or stealing $10,000 carries a penalty of 5 years. And the George Jacksons wind up in the former class who gets 25 years for robbery with aggravation while the $10,000 larceny draws a 5 year sentence.

While legal aid and other types of aid to the criminal, who cannot pay, is helping a lot of the unfortunate get more breaks, the fellow without money or influence has a long way to go to be white or black.

Health for All

Dogs who were trained to smoke cigarettes through tubes inserted in their throats developed emphysema as well as lung cancer.

In emphysema, the air sacs of the lungs, where oxygen and carbon dioxide are exchanged, are damaged. Some of the 300 million air sacs in human lungs may rip and tear. The damage is irreversible.

Normally, scavenger-type cells called macrophages protect the air sacs. As soon as any foreign matter floats toward the air sacs, the macrophages literally gulp down the offenders. But cigarette smoke slows down the action of the macrophages, lays low this devouring line of defense.

Not enough is known about these scavenger cells and how they work. To find out more about their specific function around the air sacs in humans, Dr. R. Russell Martin of the Texas Medical Center in Houston is conducting experiments to obtain these microscopic macrophages from normal individuals by washing out their lungs with a salty solution. He wants to test and observe their ability to kill bacteria in test tubes.

Dr. Martin's research, which is supported by a grant from the National Tuberculosis and Respiratory Disease Association, will provide data on how the macrophages combat infection in the lungs. An eventual next step in medical research will be to observe just how cigarette smoke debilitates the macrophages and exposes the air sacs to infection and damage.

ON THE SPORTS SCENE

Exhibition Games

Somewhere we read that these exhibition football games were usually carried as far as they are, nearly a dozen games, because the club owners have discovered the big gate receipts that go with them. The writer could be right, but isn't that a big risk to take with a solid team that might be a championship contender in order to make a few bucks. Maybe the club owners know what they are doing. Whether they do or not, we get to watch a few more games than we otherwise would.

Negro Players

When one picks up a story about one of the black players in the major football or baseball leagues, he has to wonder how the guys stood things in the early days. But then, blacks were scarce, and the accepted idea was not to rock the boat. Now, one of the rebellious blacks is apt to sink the whole ship, not caring who he drags down with him.

Most of the complaints one hears is that the rebel wants to be treated as a man. Well, now, at the risk of being called a few uncomplimentary names, we would say that is a thing one has to make for himself. You may never be accepted at the same level that you would like to be, but you can earn respect for yourself, and don't have to be a clown or a Tom to do it. One of the best compliments we ever heard about a football player, one of the early blacks, was "I don't give one damn for him, but if he said he would do anything for you,

With Allen Ashby

he will or die trying." That is what we mean by respect.

Campus Unrest

Now, one has to wonder if the wave of black uprisings is over on the campus. The underlying causes are probably still there, but have the black players learned to attack their grievances in some other manner than walking off in the middle of the season? That is perhaps one of the reasons why some college coaches, don't go in for black athletes. They are afraid of possible trouble and of seeing their team torn apart right before a crucial game. Some people may say that is just an excuse, but be that as it may, the threat is there, and one has to reckon with it. There are other things that will do for excuses, and they are real, too. In June we read with interest the account of the black football players at Syracuse, and thought many of their grievances had merit. But, with a bunch of us out there, we might have made things so uncomfortable in practice sessions that the man would have had to play most of us in order to save his variety. We did that way back in our time. Whenever we got more than one or two of us on a team, and we thought some fellow was getting a raw deal, and he didn't always have to be black, we would proceed to make things so rough on the guy who was being favored that the coach would get the message. Sometimes he would just tell the renegades that he was running the club. But then he was more apt to give the other fellow a shot at the position. And if he loused up, he caught all kinds of hell from the bunch that fought for him. Maybe the fellows should try to fight back on the field instead of walking off. Maybe they will this year.

City Football Race

A fellow asked us what we thought of the coming city football race. That is like asking what you think of a guy's chances in a gang fight. Of course, one could say that Dowling never has a bad team, and let it go at that. But this could be the year someone takes the Irish. Who? I don't know. Anybody could have a good night and not feel any pressure come up with a super game, and there goes Dowling. That could happen to East Waterloo. Each time they take the field, the pressure mounts, and each other team is out to play their best game against the Trojans. Somebody's gonna get 'em. And by the same reasoning, that is very likely to happen to Dowling.

ANSWER: A widow can receive social security benefits if she has eligible children under 18 in her care, or at age 50 if she is disabled.

QUESTION: Our doctor says my husband will require a wheelchair for a short time after he is discharged from the hospital. Will his medicare coverage pay for rental of a wheelchair?

ANSWER: Supplementary medical insurance under Medicare helps pay for either rental or purchase of wheelchairs when their use is prescribed by a doctor and the doctor specifies the length of time he feels the wheelchair will be required.

QUESTION: I have only had $10 medical expenses so far this year. My doctor has scheduled appointments for me in October and November, but I don't expect my total medical expenses for 1970 to be over $50. Is there any need to submit a claim for these expenses?

ANSWER: Yes, you should file a claim for these expenses even though you won't receive any reimbursement. If you have expenses in the last 3 months of a year which can be counted toward your $50 deductible for that year, the amount can also be counted toward the $50 annual deductible for the next year.

It's coffee time any time in our part of the country. Every housewife has their own brand and way of making coffee. Here are a couple of hints that prove most successful:

1. Use a clean coffee pot. Coffee has a tiny film of oil, so add detergent to the hot water when you wash the pot. Be sure to rinse well.
2. Determine the measure you like and stick to it. Most people use one tablespoon of coffee for each cup.
3. Watch your timing when you percolate coffee. Six to eight minutes is about right.
4. Use only fresh water and fresh coffee.

Follow these ideas and you'll be the best maker of coffee in your area.
