IOWA CIVIL RIGHTS COMMISSION

Ask Damages of Rights Violations Seven Points for Prison Reform

Endorced by 12
Rights Leaders

NEW YORK, N.Y. — Immediate initiation of a seven-point prison reform program, endorsed by 12 civil rights leaders, was announced by Roy Wilkins, executive director of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, at a news conference here, Sept. 24.

The 800-word statement called the Attica tragedy "a watershed in the history of American criminal justice. Either it will produce wholesale reform of the administration of justice or its tragic effects will be compounded in the nation's inaction."

The signers of the statement pledged "to give continuing voice to the demands for minimal decency granted the Attica inmates before the siege and to see that other reforms are undertaken by the State Department of Corrections."

Among reform steps urged upon Governor Nelson A. Rockefeller and the Department of Corrections are (1) establishment of "a grievance machinery for prisoner complaints at each institution"; (2) "training programs for all prison personnel," including the use of volunteers from the same communities from which so many inmates come, "so that guards and other prison personnel will not be victimized by a prison system that inadequately prepares them to deal with inmates"; and (3) initiation of "an affirmative recruitment program to integrate the work forces of the state prison system in order to end the disparity between an 85 per cent minority group prison population and an almost totally white prison personnel force."

Other recommendations called for implementation of "the promises for institutional reform made by Commissioner (Russell G.) Oswald to the Attica inmates"; investigation of prisoner treatment at all state institutions; communication with the family of each inmate on his physical condition; and expansion of the schedule of visits to Attica inmates by relatives and outside medical and legal personnel.

The statement deplored the Governor's decision "not to go to Attica to take personal command and lend the prestige of his office to the effort to avert tragedy"; also "the hasty, blanket endorsement by the President of the United States of the wholesale use of indiscriminate force — an endorsement given repeatedly in the face of facts which cry out for denunciation."

While expressing an understanding of the circumstances which produced the revolt the signers of the statement said they do not condone the desperate acts and "do not seek to justify the seizure of prison personnel and the threats of death under which they were held."

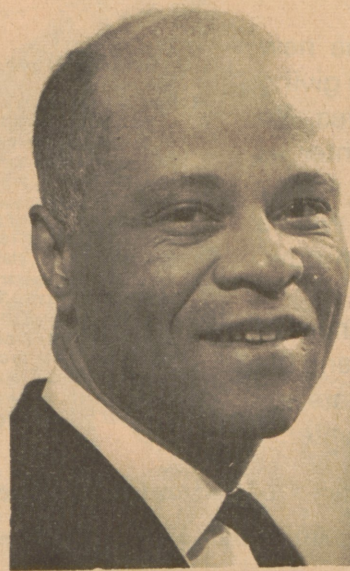

In addition to Mr. Wilkins the signers include the following: Jack Greenberg, Bayard Rustin, Roy Innis, Heywood Burns, Kenneth B. Clark, Eleanor Holmes Norton, Dorothy Height, C. Eric Lincoln, Jewell Handy Gresham, Harold Sims and Vernon Jordan.

Superintendent Dr. Dwight M. Davis, announced the 1971 - 72 free and reduced price lunch policy for school-age children attending Des Moines Public Schools who are unable to pay the full price — 40 cents — for lunch served in Des Moines Public School facilities.

Families falling within federal guideline scale, or those suffering from unusual circumstances or hardships are urged to apply for free or reduced price lunches for their children.

They may do so by filling in the application forms sent home in a letter to parents. Additional copies are available at the principal's office in each school.

Applications may be submitted any time during the school year. The form itself is simple to complete and requests information needed to determine economic need based on the income and number of persons in the family and any unusual circumstances or hardships which affect the family's ability to pay for school lunches. The information provided on the application will be confidential and will be used only for the purpose of determining eligibility.

CHILDREN FROM FAMILIES WHO RECEIVE ADC, FOOD STAMPS, FOOD DISTRIBUTION, AID TO DISABLED, AID TO BLIND, OLD AGE ASSISTANCE, INDIAN RELIEF, GENERAL RELIEF, OR SOLDIER'S RELIEF ARE AUTOMATICALLY ELIGIBLE FOR FREE LUNCHES. THE TOP PART OF AN APPLICATION FORM MAY BE USED TO LET YOUR SCHOOL KNOW THAT YOU ARE RECEIVING ONE OF THE ABOVE BENEFITS AND WANT YOUR CHILD TO HAVE FREE LUNCHES.

Personnel in the local County Welfare Office and in Community Action Programs have volunteered their services to help families fill out applications. There is no charge for this service.

Under the provision of the policy, a representative of the Pupil Services department of the Des Moines Public School System will review

Union Appeals Judge Denato's Award of $1,033 Damages to Weitz Co

The assistant attorney general, Roxanne Conlin, representing the Iowa Civil Rights Commission, argued before the Iowa Supreme Court Thursday that violators of civil rights laws should be assessed money damages for such violations.

She further stated that just compensation should be awarded similar to damages awarded in courts for injury suits.

The case arose in Polk County when the Weitz Company hired a Negro iron worker over the objection of the labor union. The union objected and twelve workers went home and refused to return to work.

Arthur Hedberg, an attorney for the union, contended that money payments under such circumstances are not authorized by Iowa law. On the other hand, Mrs. Conlin said that key federal decisions uphold the idea of discriminators paying money in addition to taking affirmative action to assure equal opportunity to minorities.

Union Appeal

The lawyers were arguing an appeal by the union and its business agent, William Reed, of a Civil Rights Commission order issued May 13, 1970, and upheld in general in Polk County District Court on Nov. 5, 1970.

The appeal marked the first time the state's highest court has heard an appeal of a Civil Rights Commission order. In its appeal, the union also raises constitutional questions concerning the commission's powers and procedures under the 1965 Iowa Civil Rights Act.

Against Union

In the district court, Judge J. P. Denato ruled that Reed and the union should pay the contractor, the Weitz Co., because the company had to shut down the project temporarily after 12 union ironworkers walked off and then called in sick the next day.

Denato ruled the walkout cost Weitz $1,033.

The rights commission had ordered a larger payment, $7,314, based on the company's claim that it had to hire guards because of anonymous telephone threats.

The outcome of this appeal will determine just how effective the decisions of the Civil Rights Commission are and if upheld will strengthen the rights of minorities to sue unions for preventing them from securing employment.

Make 'Law N' Order' More Than Vote Slogan, Wilkins Urges Lawyers

DETROIT, Mich. — Addressing the 36th annual meeting of the State Bar of Michigan here, Sept. 23, Roy Wilkins, executive director of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, called for "new efforts in the age-old task of fashioning the law so that it ministers more fully to the multiplied and sharply quickened needs of humanity."

Let us, he said to the assembled lawyers, "be about the business of strengthening our American society by making law and order, for every segment of our population, more than a vote-catching phrase."

Mr. Wilkins used as a backdrop for his speech the tragedy at Attica prison in New York, which he said "has thrown the spotlight on racial discrimination" in the prisons as well as on the "entire administration of justice."

He noted that "Negro America is smoldering with resentment, not only because of the George Jacksons and the Attica killings, but because the system may function for them on the basis of their color, rather than of justice."

Some Negro extremists, he said, maintain that "black Americans should have no faith in our judicial system." These complaints are "underscored" by black GIs who have suffered from an unfair administration of military justice, he added.

"It could well be," he said, "that unless thoughtful white citizens move to correct conditions, the nation is in for the explosions that always follow the imposition of racial discrimination by ruthless force."

Scanning the history of the NAACP's legal battles against racial discrimination, Mr. Wilkins concluded that "We can see how the law, slowly, but so slowly, has been used to right wrongs, to beat back prejudiced acts."

His review, he said, showed not only what has been done, but also what remains to be accomplished.

Blacks Win for Alabama Black Belt

BUTLER, Ala. — After 15 weeks of mass demonstrations, arrests, and the killing of a 19-year-old woman here in the Alabama Black Belt, the power structure has finally been forced to yield to the demands of the black community.

The Choctaw County movement here, organized by the Southern Christian Leadership Conference, built up a momentum that brought the white establishment to the bargaining table last Friday and ended Saturday with agreement to 95 per cent of the black community's demands.

Dr. Ralph David Abernathy, SCLC President, personally directed the movement from his jail cell here, refusing to post bond until the settlement was reached and charges against him were dropped.

Terms of the settlement include:

—Dropping of charges against the hundreds of arrested black demonstrators, except for about 100 who were charged with disorderly conduct and who now face fines.

—Creation of a bi-racial advisory group to the County Board of Education. The advisory group will have an equal number of blacks and whites, chosen by their respective communities.

—Restoration of three black teachers to their jobs, with the case of the fourth pending in court.

—An end to all white government in this city and county. By October 15, the city of Butler must hire blacks in the mayor's office and at least one black policeman, and the sheriff's office must hire at least one black deputy.

—Hiring of black employees in such positions as sales and cashiers at all downtown businesses. October 15 is the deadline.

—Re-admission of black students, without penalties and with special "catch-up" help from teachers, to the Choctaw County schools. The students had boycotted the schools during the mass actions.

The movement reached a critical stage on September 11 when a white man, Gladden Smith, drove a car into a group of demonstrators, striking and killing Margaret Ann Knott. The daily marches were expanded and intensified, with hundreds of arrests.

After officiating at Miss Knott's funeral, Dr. Abernathy was arrested and taken to the Choctaw County Jail along with more than 100 other demonstrators.

The white power structure had refused to meet with black community leaders throughout the weeks of the movement, but by Thursday the pressure was so great that the power structure bowed to the marches and boycotts of schools and downtown stores, and agreed to discuss the demands on Friday.

The negotiations lasted about 12 hours on Friday and another five hours on Saturday. SCLC was represented in the negotiations by Dr. J.E. Lowery, Chairman of the Board of Directors, and Rev. Bernard S. Lee, Executive Assistant to Dr. Abernathy. The black community was represented by leaders of the Concerned Citizens of Choctaw County, an SCLC Affiliate headed by Anthony Butler.

The agreement was announced at 3:00 p.m. Saturday and Dr. Abernathy was released from jail about one-half hour later.

SCLC is following up the mass-action movement here with a voter registration and political education campaign in this county with a black population of 43.9 per cent.

League Seeks Citizen Committee To Investigate Attica Prison Riot

As a result of initiatives by its Buffalo, N.Y., affiliate, the National Urban League called on Gov. Rockefeller to appoint a broadly representative Citizens Committee of "established integrity" to inquire into, and lay bare, the facts which led to the Attica Prison riots resulting in the tragic death of forty persons including hostages and inmates of the state prison.

James A. Linen, President of the National Urban League and Harold R. Sims, Acting Executive Director of the League said in a telegram to the governor:

We understand fully that you already have an investigation underway through the legal machinery of our state.

"But we respectfully submit that the type of investigation we have in mind and the Citizens Committee which we are seeking should have no connections whatever with the state government. Unfortunately, one of the facts which must be faced at the outset of such an investigation is that many of the ills which helped to bring about this tragedy stem from the failure of the legislative, judicial and executive branches of our government to heed the warning signals of unrest from inside our prison walls and the recommendations for reform by penal experts outside our prison walls.

"The charges of racism already levelled by many and the fact that eighty-five percent of the inmates of Attica are Black and Puerto Rican, while the guard force is virtually white, makes it plain also that the elements of racism must be thoroughly investigated by the Citizens Committee.

"Recent events, climaxing with the tragedy at Attica, have raised serious and unanswered questions as to whether justice for Black and poor people in our prisons is truly blind and impartial as it should be.

"To leave these questions unanswered in the minds of any segment of our society, is to further erode their respect for the entire system of arrest, trial and imprisonment and to make it more difficult for honest citizens to retain faith in any of the institutions that serve the framework of our nation. Such a loss of faith cannot be taken lightly, for it is the substance that holds our society together."

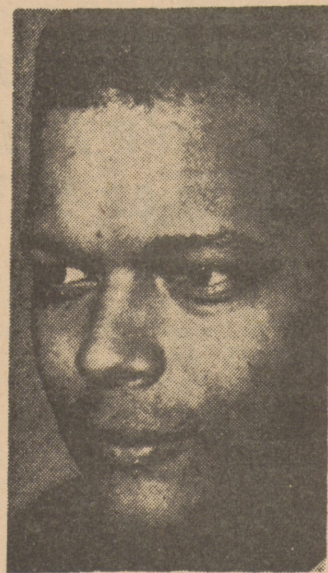

Bond Heads Law Center

ATLANTA, Ga. — Julian Bond has accepted the presidency of the Southern Poverty Law Center, a Montgomery-based organization seeking legal remedies for inequality and injustice to poor people.

Georgia legislator Bond, who gained national attention first when he fought the state body's refusal to seat him and again when he led a challenge delegation to the 1968 Democratic Convention, is one of America's most prominent black spokesmen.

Concerned that poverty is a major factor in the failure of blacks to achieve equal status in America, Bond has long been in sympathy with the fundamental purposes of the Center. As its president, he heads a council of national leaders who determine priorities among cases awaiting the attention of staff lawyers.

The Southern Poverty Law Center has brought suit on behalf of poor people when poverty has been a cause of injustice. The Center's lawyers have introduced new legal theories to establish important precedents in cases involving Constitutional rights of representation in government, access to municipal services, equal legal protection and other basic freedoms.

A current case pending in Federal District Court, Selmont Improvement Association vs. Dallas County Commission, involves poor black citizens of a small community near Selma, Alabama, whose streets are unpaved trenches while adjacent white neighborhoods enjoy streets that were paved free by the county.

Urban Coalition Steering Group Honors Wilkins

The Steering Committee of The National Urban Coalition paid tribute last week to Roy Wilkins for his 40 years of civil rights leadership.

He was presented with a silver platter bearing this citation:

"A selfless and courageous leader of the struggle for freedom and human dignity, a founder of the Urban Coalition, and a prime architect of historic change in the life of this nation."

Andrew Heiskell, Chairman of TIME, Inc., and a Co-chairman of the Coalition, made the presentation at a luncheon and reception at the Madison Hotel.

Heiskell noted that during Wilkins' tenure the NAACP had grown greatly in membership and influence so that today it holds indisputable leadership in the civil rights struggle.

Participating in the testimonial were Coalition Chairman Sol M. Linowitz, President M. Carl Holman, and the Howard University Choir. Wilkins' colleagues on the Coalition Steering Committee, and many outside guests, including members of Congress, were among those attending.

The luncheon honoring Wilkins was a prelude to a regular business meeting of the Coalition's 81 member Steering Committee.

VETERANS

Q — Is the Veterans Administration deeply involved in medical research?

A — Yes. Nearly 6,000 research projects are underway at VA hospitals and private clinics. Medical research paved the way for the successful treatment of tuberculosis, developed use of the Pacemaker for heart victims, and played a key role in medical breakthroughs such as the first successful kidney transplants, the laser cane for the blind, cobalt treatment of cancer, and use of psychotropic drugs that have revolutionized mental health care.

Drunks Kill 33 More for Iowa

Another 33 lives have been sacrificed on the altar of the drinking driver in Iowa, according to the Department of Public Safety.

Commissioner Michael M. Sellers has announced that of the 85 victims of traffic crashes during the month of August, 33 or 39 per cent of the total died in alcohol-connected occurrences.

He said that the state's traffic death toll at the end of the month was 497 for the year, 68 deaths or 12 per cent below the January - August period of last year.

Another tragic statistic revealed by the Commissioner was that 25 of the deaths, 30 per cent, could have been avoided had safety belts been in use, according to data gathered by officers who probed the crashes.

Booklet Explains 1965 Education Act

School administrators, the Board of Education and agencies which distribute federal funds to local school systems have failed to involve poor children and their families as they planned, developed and implemented programs with funds available under Title I of the Elementary and Secondary Education Act of 1965, the National Urban League declared in a new manual "Parent Power & Title I ESEA."

Under Title I, well over a billion dollars has been provided each year since enactment of the bill for educational programs for educationally disadvantaged children of low income families.

"During its first five years, millions of dollars have been misused and millions more have been used for programs that haven't resulted in making the education of poor children any better. The result is that tens of thousands of children from poor families have failed to receive the benefits the law intends," the manual said.

Dr. Ermon O. Hogan, NUL's Education Director, in announcing publication of the manual said:

"It is hoped that this brochure will stimulate parents and other interested citizens to look very carefully into how Title I funds are being spent in their communities. If there are any questions about whether the funds are used inappropriately or ineffectively, it is their action that will change things."

Dr. Hogan said that when properly used Title I can change a child's whole education expectation and his prospects for the future.

Citing the advisory committee as the most effective tool for change, the manual urges parents to insist that such committees be formed in every Title I school as the law requires. Active participation on these committees will ensure parents maximum opportunity to plan and develop effective programs.

"The real way to be sure that you get what you want for your children," the manual said, "is to be there when the program is being written, when the decisions are being made."

"Pressure for its (Title I's) proper use must come from the community. Parent power is the one sure way to get the changes necessary to be sure that your children get the education you want them to have."

The manual cites several of the more common abuses of Title I funds, among them being the practice of purchasing materials and equipment and paying teacher's salaries with Title I money for schools in the entire school district, thus using Title I funds for the rich as well as the poor.

By monitoring Title I, visiting the schools and examining the files which are by law open to the public, and talking to school officials, teachers and administrators, parents can determine if their children are receiving the full benefits of Title I funds.

If after careful examination, parents decide that funds are being misused or that Title I programs in their schools are ineffective, the manual gives detailed information on how to file complaints with the state superintendent of education.

Copies of this manual, priced at 30 cents, may be obtained by writing the National Urban League, Communications Department, 55 East 52nd Street, New York, N.Y. 10022

New Director For Head Start, Richard Jones

RICHARD A. JONES

Richard A. Jones has been named director of the Head Start programs for Polk, Jasper, Marion and Warren Counties.

Jones is not replacing anyone, rather he heads a service which has been transferred from the Greater Opportunities, Inc. to the state OEO office. He hopes to centralize the administrative process and bring about the return of Head Start's jurisdiction to GO.

The Head Start Program is for children three to five years old to best serve limited income families. The program is geared, toward not only the child's development, but parents' development also.

The child is provided with psychological services as needed, dental, medical and social welfare agencies.

Jones stressed the programs in nutrition, occupational and educational upgrading for parents, and emphasized the head start teachers in the schools.

In his assignment of director, Jones feels he is responsible for using the job as a service vehicle for the people.

Jones is not new to the community. He received a masters degree here and last year was a member of the Teacher Corps at Drake University and taught at Southeast Polk High School. He received his bachelor's degree from Minot State College, Minot, S.D., where he was stationed for a time with the Air Force. He is a counselor and consultant with the Mid-Iowa Drug Abuse Council.

'Smackwater Jack'-Quincy Jones' Newest

Quincy Jones, who rarely has time between motion picture scores to record an album for his own exposure, has come up with a new effort entitled "Smackwater Jack," to be released on A&M Records.

The album, due for release this month, contains music from such Jones soundtracks as "The Anderson Tapes," "Ironside," and "The Bill Cosby Show" (Cos. himself, even delivers a vocal solo on this tune, called "Hikky-Burr").

"Smackwater Jack" also offers the vocal debut of Jones who sings the title track and a very inventive version of Marvin Gaye's "What's Going On," with Valerie Simpson.

The album was recorded in New York, and features some of the best studio and performing musicians in the business.

"Smackwater Jack" is Jones' fourth album for A&M. The others are "Walking in Space," "Gula Matari" and the soundtrack from the motion picture "John and Mary."

TO THE ABOVE NAMED DEFENDANTS:
You are hereby notified that the Petition of the Plaintiff in the above entitled action is now on file in the office of the Clerk of the District Court of Iowa, in and for Polk County, claiming personal judgment against Melvin B. Wynn and Pauline M. Wynn, husband and wife, in the sum of $18,877.80, on the promissory note of Kent W. Dunlap and Carolyn Dunlap, husband and wife, executed and delivered to the Plaintiff, with interest at the rate of 6 percent from and after July 17, 1967.

The Petition further alleges that said promissory note is secured by a mortgage in favor of the Plaintiff on the following described real estate, to-wit: Lot 129, Stuart Hills, an Official Plat, now included in and forming a part of the City of Urbandale, Iowa.

The Petition alleges that the defendants, Kent W. The Petition further asks for foreclosure of said mortgage and for judgment and decree in rem against each and all Defendants to this action, and also that said mortgage be declared a prior and paramount lien to that of each and all Defendants and further praying for the appointment of a Receiver, and for the amount paid by the Plaintiff for legal attorney fees, abstract expenses, real estate taxes, and all accruing costs of action and for such other relief, as may be just and equitable in the premises.

You are further notified that in the event of foreclosure and sale of the property by Sheriff's sale, the time of one year redemption shall be reduced to six (6) months provided that the mortgage waives any right to take a deficiency judgment. Raisin in the Sun." Miss Hansberry died at the very young age of 34 with cancer, and it was following her death that her husband - using her notes, letters, diaries - completed this dramatic story of her life.

Carl Cherkis, Coordinator of the College Bound Program, New York City Board of Education states: "It is a play that should be seen by all socially conscious adults who are seeking for answers to questions that have troubled them since becoming aware that man who can span the distance between the earth and the moon has not yet learned to conquer the space between two human hearts. It offers the hope which youth must latch on to or collapse."

We have purposely kept the prices low ($2.00 for general admission, $3.50 reserve seats) in an effort to make this play available to as many people - especially youth - as possible.

A Big Day for Debbie

OBJECT OF ATTENTION here is the "smiling face" 5 1/2-year-old Debbie Calloway (right) brought home on her art paper from her kindergarten teacher. With Mr. and Mrs. Michael Calloway, 513 Tenth Street, are their other children, Jimmy, 3 1/2, and Bette Ann, nine months. Jimmy has already been adopted by the Calloways and Debbie's and Bette Ann's adoption proceedings will become final in January.

By Dick Fleckenstein
Ft. Madison Eve. Democrat
It was a big day the other day for 5 1/2-year-old Debbie Calloway.

She walked the six blocks to her kindergarten class at Jackson school for the first time alone and she brought home a "smiling face" on an art paper.

There will be another big day for Debbie come January.

That's when final adoption by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Michael Calloway, 513 Tenth Street, will take effect.

The only difference about Debbie is the color of her skin. She's black.

But, her brother - to - be is brown. And, another sister - to - be is almost white.

Jimmy, 3 1/2, adopted by the Calloways in January 1969, is one - half Sioux Indian and one - half caucasian.

Bette Ann, nine months, is "just a little bit" indian.

Bette Ann will be formally adopted in January, too.

Happy, Warm

It's a happy, warm family. Adding to this warmth are the Calloway's two foster children, Julie, a high school senior and Vicki, a junior.

Calloway, 34, is a guidance counselor at the Fort Madison Community high school, and a native of Mt. Pleasant. His wife, Ruth, is 33 and a native of Spirit Lake.

"When we decided to adopt, we wanted to adopt Indian children," said Calloway. "Indians have always had a hard life. We adopted Jimmy through the Iowa Children's and Family Service in Des Moines. We went to the Sioux Indian Reservation at Sisseton, S. D., to get him."

"Then," Calloway continued, "along came Debbie as a foster child and we wanted to adopt her too. Debbie's been with us since December 1968."

The Lee County Department of Social Services assisted with proceedings for Debbie's adoption.

Cynicism, Distrust Among Urban Minorities

WASHINGTON, D.C. — A blue-ribbon panel formed early this year to refocus national attention on the country's urban crisis issued its report last week. It found that while most of the changes in inner-city life since 1968 have been for the worse, plunging many people into cynicism, apathy and despair, in other people there is "a new tough pride, self-confidence, and determination" to take the lead in improving their own lives without waiting for government to act.

The commission applauded this emerging sense of self-reliance but added that:

"We refuse to surrender our own conviction that government especially can be reformed so that it becomes what it should be: both servant and leader of the people — and not just a referee among society's conflicting claims."

The bipartisan commission presented its report, "The State of the Cities," to the National Urban Coalition, which donated staff time and expenses as part of its continuing effort to educate the public to urban problems.

The main objectives of the group, known as The Commission on the Cities in the '70s, were to assess the mood and spirit of the cities today, describe any newer concern that have arisen there in recent years, and renew the nation's will to seek solutions to the cities' ills.

Members of the Commission and its staff visited Atlanta, Detroit, Los Angeles, and Phoenix, and additional staff visits were made to Newark and El Paso. The abrasive plurality in America's cities confronted the commissioners everywhere they went.

"Few of those with whom we spoke believed that America's dominant institutions, public or private, either would or could respond meaningfully to their (minority groups') immediate grievances, their long-range needs or, especially, their tastes, preferences and desires."

"Everywhere we went we encountered a bitter feeling that the good things of American life were in the main accessible only to those who were willing to allow their individual and communal identities to be homogenized in the famous American melting pot."

The report emphasized that, as more blacks and browns have moved into the central cities, more whites are leaving for the suburbs. Those in the central cities face severe unemployment, turbulent schools, poor housing, and high crime rates.

The co-chairmen of the Commission were Mayor John V. Lindsay of New York and Senator Fred R. Harris of Oklahoma. Mayor Lindsay had been vice-chairman of the National Advisory Commission on Civil Disorders (the Kerner Commission) in 1967-68, and Senator Harris had been one of its most active members.

The study examined particular concerns of Chicanos, blacks, white ethnics and Indians and noted that the group's desires, frustrations and aspirations were often parallel.

A Chicano in East Los Angeles compared the Chicano position to that of the blacks: "Politically, we're about where the blacks were five years ago. A lot of our young people are pretty hot."

The black position was encapsulated by a woman in Watts:

"As soon as white America listens to itself rather than listening to poor black minorities, they will see where the problems really are... It isn't housing, it isn't education, it isn't anything other than a very degrading kind of racism."

The Commission's study called urban Indians the most invisible minority of all and said that Indians have "the longest road to freedom, justice, and self-determination to travel of any of the urban minorities."

The report urged American leaders — political, professional, and business — to take account of the new leadership emerging in the cities — "leadership that must be heard and heeded if America's cities are ever to be salvaged."

selection of a sufficient number of black and Mexican-American apprentices to overcome the effects of the alleged past discrimination and the adoption of an advertising and recruitment program to attract members of the minority groups to the ironworking trade.

The suit also asked for the payment of back pay to blacks and Mexican-Americans who have suffered financial loss as a result of the alleged discrimination.

Need Action To End Unrest On Campus

NEW YORK, N.Y. — A Special Committee on Campus Troubles, created July, 1970, by the National Board of Directors of the NAACP, released its report Sept. 7. Prepared through seven months the booklet entitled "College and the Black Student," speaks directly to the needs and problems of the campus.

"Before the next round of disorders erupts, self-analysis and corrective week will be able to become a qualified voter before the Primary Election by taking advantage of either Saturday, October 2 or October 9, 1971."

action could remove racism from the list of causes for these (campus) troubles". NAACP Executive Director Roy Wilkins says in the foreword. "This pamphlet... tells how."

The small volume deals with a number of specific subjects such as "The Law, the Courts and the Constitution... The Formerly White Campus," "Colleges Founded for Negroes" and "Curriculum." The Special Committee on Campus Troubles was composed of NAACP Board and staff members under the chairmanship of Dr. Buell G. Gallagher who, among other responsibilities in the field of education, has served as president of predominantly black Talladega College and predominantly white College of the City of New York. Black Theology Center Site For New York Theologian

The Center for the Study and Application of Black Theology was the setting of a workshop held September 16, 17, 18. Guest lecturer who climaxed the three-day study was Dr. James H. Cone, Associate Professor of Theology at Union Theological Center in New York City. He has been guest lecturer at several major colleges and divinity schools and appeared on television and radio stations throughout the country. His writings include "Black Power, Black Theology" and "A Black Theology of Liberation."

It is Cone's contention that the chief priority of the Christian Church should be to liberate the black man, adding that, "When the church fails to make this commitment, it has aligned itself with Anti-Christ." He believes that Black theology is the only authentic theology in America because liberation of the oppressed is its chief aim. He believes that the Black Theology Center will continue to make an input into this community. Rev. L. Grady continues to teach Afro-American Religion to a Drake University class each Monday at 7:00 p.m. at the Center.

The contributions of Dr. Henderson Davis, pastor of St. Paul A.M.E. Church stimulated the program. Mrs. Charles Yokely also participated. Dr. James Shopshire, a Ph.D. candidate aspirant at Gary Theological Seminary, Evanston, Ill., attended the workshop. He with Dr. Davis are co-founders of the center.

Mrs. Joanna Cheatom's recent visit to a workshop in Kansas is responsible for Dr. Cone's appearance in Des Moines' workshop.

MISS STANLIE JAMES

STANLIE JAMES, AT FIRST GLANCE and first thought, appears to be still another of our current graduates and an honor student. She is this on the surface with a number of very strong undercurrents.

YOUNG STANLIE, GIVEN A SECOND GLANCE accompanied by second thought, is found to have enrolled at Spelman College, Atlanta, Georgia, a ninety year old private women's institution, whose enrollment appears to run fewer than a thousand persons. She graduated with majors in sociology and history.

IRRESPECTIVE OF THE HEAVY SCHEDULE and honors won in pursuit of these subjects, I strongly suspect that Stanlie is current as to the intricacies of her grandparents' business. You know, of course, that these personalities are Mr. and Mrs. Major Humphrey and that Pauline Humphrey is the dean of beauticians.

STANLIE COULD BE SAID TO BE in reality Pauline Humphrey, III. She is in fact, a part of a dynasty!?! You see the mother of our bright girl graduate is Mrs. Lewis James (Dr. James' spouse), the former Barbara Brown, Mrs. Humphrey's only child. Before her graduation from high school, she had passed the Iowa State Board. Throughout college, marriage with its motherhood, Barbara, too, is very much abreast of the beauty culture business — to the dateline of October 1971. (Believe me!)

ENROUTE TO LONDON and at home in her apartment or ancient castle, Stanlie James, first, last but always, represents the field of beauty culture and or business, incorporated.

VANCE HAWTHORNE, JUNE GRADUATE from North High and son of Mr. and Mrs. Peter Hawthorne, Jr., was awarded a scholarship to the University of Colorado at Boulder, Colorado, and is entered there.

VICTOR H. HAWTHORNE, another son of the Hawthornes, returned to the University of Iowa where he is a sophomore. Victor is a Merit National Achievement scholar. He is still pursuing writing, but has not yet declared a major.

AT THE TIME OF VANCE'S ENTRY AT THE UNIVERSITY OF COLORADO, the Hawthornes having motored there, took a side trip to the Rocky Mountains.

ACCEPTED THE GREATER DES MOINES CHAMBER OF COMMERCE invitation to The Iowa Bystander Staff to attend the press conference with Jack Benny Friday morning.

CIRCLING ABOUT ON CLOUD NINE, I foolishly descended to ask a question of the great artist. It was about like this: "I believe that you have appeared with Pearl Bailey and one other Black artist?" He had not. Arrangements for exchange appearances had been in the making but had not gone through. And that was the end of that line of talk. Next time, skipping Cloud Nine, I'll ask directly "With what black artists have you appeared, sir?" (Sweetly but directly.) Still wishing I knew. But very pleased to have met Jack Benny and still feeling the warmth of the man as he acknowledged the individual introductions. He is so fine!

Mr. Benny was in Des Moines as guest violinist with the Des Moines Symphony Orchestra at KRNT on Saturday night, September 25.

Modern Etiquette

By Roberta Lee

Q. When a couple decides to have a party to announce their engagement, who is supposed to give this party?

A. Normally this is given by the bride's parents, just before the published announcement appears in the newspapers. Relatives and good friends of both families are invited, so that they are all "first to know."

Q. Is it permissible to sip water or coffee at the table while one has food in the mouth?

A. This is very poor manners, since it gives the impression that you are "washing down" your food. Sip your water or coffee only when your mouth is empty of food.

Q. When attaching a card to a wedding gift to be sent, is it necessary to write the bride's name on the envelope enclosing the little card?

A. Although this is neither necessary nor usually done, there is nothing improper about it.

Q. When a restaurant table demands that some of the persons in a group be seated against a wall and others on the aisle, how is the seating arrangement made?

A. Women are always seated on the divan against the wall, with the men on the aisle facing them. In this way, the women are not subjected to the traffic in the aisle where they might be jostled by passersby.

Q. When someone to whom you have just been introduced says, "I'm so glad to have met you," isn't a smile of acknowledgment sufficient?

A. Just a wordless smile would seem, I think, to have a condescending air about it. Much better to accompany the smile with a pleasant "Thank you."

Q. Is it the duty of the bride to buy the dresses and accessories for her bridesmaids?

A. No. She selects the designs, materials, and colors — but they must pay for their own outfits.

Q. Is it customary to give your nurses a gift when you leave the hospital?

A. Although not necessary, it's a thoughtful gesture. A private nurse may be given candy, cologne, a book, etc. And when being cared for by staff nurses, it's nice to leave a box of candy at their station.

Wood Siding Liked

Your professional hairdresser knows the answer...

Was haircoloring first done in Africa?

Centuries ago in Africa (before it was explored by Europeans) beautiful black women used herbs and other ingredients to change the color of their hair. It was one way to complement their dark rich complexions...to accent their natural warmth and beauty. Whether or not Africans were the first to use this method, no one is sure. Yet, they are among the first in terms of recorded history to go through the then-tedious process of coloring their hair.

Today changing your haircolor can be as quick and as brief as a visit to your professional hairdresser. That's because many professional hairdressers use Miss Clairol® Hair Color to lighten hair, to make slight color changes and to cover gray. Hairdressing experts know that exotic blacks and browns are generally gorgeous for darker skin tones. Golden or red shades are stunning for lighter tan complexions.

Today black pride brings you closer to the cultural ways of your African heritage. Haircoloring is a part of black history too. Ask your professional hairdresser about changing your hair color with Miss Clairol...and be more beautiful than you already are.

Hold Fast for Human Supreme Court Justices

Rarely does a President have the opportunity to place four justices on the United States Supreme Court. And yet this is just what President Nixon finds himself with authority to do.

President Nixon has long been dissatisfied with the composition of the Supreme Court and has tried to make appointments which would interpret the law more to his ideas. He favors so-called strict construction which would cease deciding issues other than those which follow precedents delivered by the conservative majority and not those who sat on the bench of the so-called Warren court.

Much of this theory stems from his desire to appoint a southerner whose background is steeped in strict construction in matters of human rights. And in spite of the fact that there are able southerners on the state and federal courts, the men he nominated did not make the grade. And other like them won't if his appointees are tools of those politically powerful southern senators who are strong for neither the needs of the poor or the underprivileged.

Whoever is appointed must be confirmed by the senate where there remains enough men interested in human needs and human values to strike down those who don't meet the tests.

Greater United Way Campaign Deserves Our Support

The Greater United Way is in the process of conducting its annual campaign for funds.

Looking at the list of groups being supported by these funds, one is bound to see many he likes, some he does not like. But taking the whole list together, their support constitutes a valuable contribution to the welfare of

Des Moines.

United Way has done a good job over the years greatly because its business practices safeguard the interest of givers and the recipients of the funds.

The drive should and will succeed because it meets the test placed on the organization by the public.

More Negroes Elected to Office

The success in the election of many more Negroes to public office is gratifying. It is history in the making and parents should see that their children know about it being accomplishments that have been sought after since the turn of the century.

Most of these successes are in areas where the Negro population outnumbered whites. On the other hand, some have been elected in communities where the Negro vote is less than ten per cent of the population.

It is this latter group which fits the situation in Iowa where Negroes have been elected as school board members, judges, legislators and councilmen where they constitute a small percentage of the population.

We can point to two reasons for this change in election results. One is that those elected have been good, well prepared candidates and second the majority voted for the man disregarding the color of his skin.

For years, Negroes have served on appointive boards both in government and numerous education, religious, social, political groups. This has helped to remind the public that Negroes are entitled to help make policies as well as execute them; that they should know what's going on so as to better protect the interest of all people and not have his own neglected.

Much is being said that Negroes want to control their own destiny. Little segments of the population cannot do this. Such theories are unworkable. A man can control his own destiny because it is his to deal with. A race within a community is too bound up as a part of the whole population that his destiny must be controlled by himself in cooperation with others, particularly those who have the money, the power and control.

More Coordination Needed in Fight On Drugs

It is almost unbelievable that we have allowed the drug habit to get such a hold on the people of this country. Hard drugs such as opium and heroin have been around for years, but marijuana, the most common of all, has been grown for commercial use and only recently has become a leader to hard drugs.

Different directions of attack are being pursued to wipe out drug abuse; one by blocking off the source, another by educating people to the danger of its use.

Both attacks must be made, the source supply being the most direct; educating the young as to the danger before they begin and older people the necessity of quitting.

The government, the churches, organized volunteers, law enforcement agencies are all pursuing their course of attack which while individual groups can help, yet some type of coordination of all forces would do a better job.

This country has practically eradicated small pox, polio, tuberculosis and other minor diseases because a systematic attack was made on them by people who knew their job and organized their efforts to the best advantage.

The drug problem caught the country almost unprepared and even professionals have floundered around in their own corner when a concentrated, coordinated effort would be more effective and a less expensive means of getting the job done.

Health for All

BIKING IS BACK

Car exhaust is the chief cause of air pollution.

Experiments to ban cars from congested areas of cities have been hailed with joy by pedestrians. Eventually, all cars may be banned from cities. But that time may be far off. In the meantime, bicycles are coming back.

Sales of bicycles have doubled in the last decade. Bikes are now selling at the rate of 7 million a year. Many bike-store owners report that 80 percent of their sales are now to adult riders, whereas only five years ago, 90 percent of their sales were for children's bikes.

Local groups across the country are pressing for — and getting — bike lanes. In Davis, California, where bike lanes were built just a few years ago, there are 24,000 people and 20,000 bikes. In Greater Miami, Florida, 100 miles of bikeways have been built in the last five years. And more are coming, says the Mass Transit Administrator for the state, because of the "tremendous interest." In Tacoma, Washington, the City Council voted to prohibit all cars on a

ON THE SPORTS SCENE

Softball Hall of Fame

Here at home, they have organized a group to place old soft ball players into a hall of fame. First, there was a citywide hall. Our first two members selected to that one were Bob White and Art McCune. Don't know why they left off Bob Vandevere, unless they were saving him for the statewide hall. But, shucks, couldn't he make both of them? According to Irv Kawarsky, chairman of the selection committee, Bob will surely be one of the first fellows honored in the state hall. Our other nominee would be Paul DeVan. One must have been a player for ten years with a recognized team in order to become eligible for the honor. We would also choose for the city hall, Harold Carr and Frank Massey, not because they were such great players, but because they contributed to softball by being the spirit behind the old Hotnots.

Football

Now back to football. Tech keeps losing in the last quarter. We still believe they are going to get somebody who is supposed to run over them. Just don't give up, fellows. Dowling didn't have too much trouble with North, and Phil Hayman ran over Valley. We repeat, the Dowling team had better look out for Roosevelt. Then there is the Lincoln team that is up one week and down the next. They will likely be up for the Maroons, and then they will be in trouble. The Roughriders handled a tough

With Allen Ashby

Hoover team surprisingly easy last week, and you just know they will be ready for the big one. That game has taken the place of the old East-North battles, and there is just as much after game activity as there was after the East games. Oh, yes, there were post game battles as long as fifty years ago.

North High Booster Club

Oh, yes, we got our annual North High Booster Club card, in the name of our late brother, William Ashby. Since Bill isn't around to claim the thing, we shall use it in his name. But if Bill should show up to claim it, and can't run like hell he ain't gonna git it!

Hawkeyes

Well, sir, we got our first glimpse of the Hawkeye 1971 football machine, and still don't know what to say. One fellow said that the Penn State outfit was probably the best team the Hawks will face all year. They did have two of the best and hardest running midfield yard line, are available at $10 each.

A limited number of student tickets, at $5 each will be available up through October 15 only. Students entering Rutgers Stadium must also show their I.D. cards along with their tickets.

The Thanksgiving weekend contest, slated for Rutgers Stadium in New Brunswick, N.J., will be the first encounter between Morgan and Rutgers. It will also mark the first time a predominantly black school has played an Ivy League school in gridiron competition.

Morgan State-Rutgers Game November 27

BALTIMORE, Md. — Tickets for the Urban Football Classic pitting Morgan State College against Rutgers University on November 27 are now on sale in the Morgan State College business office.

According to Rueben Rosenberg, athletic business manager, some 1,600 tickets, 400 of them earmarked for students, are now available on a first-come, first-serve basis. Regular tickets, all excellent seats along the five-mile scenic route for the summer. Two nights a week and every weekend, Central Park in New York City is closed to cars and bikers take over. The trend is clear.

Even in Los Angeles, bike riding is on the rise. Charles Johnson, who is in charge of the bike detail for the city's police department says, "Because of the traffic, because of the smog, because of the price of gas, you are going to have hundreds and hundreds of bikes in the streets."

Bicycles are one way to cut down on carbon monoxide and other noxious pollutants in car exhaust. To find out more about other ways to curb air pollution, check with your local tuberculosis and respiratory disease association. It's a matter of life and breath.

backs that they will probably meet all year. But, the fellows didn't stop trying or hitting hard. Somehow, we got the feeling that the team is going to put it all together and surprise some really rated opponent. In spite of the score, there were some good plays by the Iowa team, that gave us cause for that idea. Everybody says "Give him a couple more years, and things will begin to look up. They could be right."

Iowa State

Iowa State looked pretty good in winning their second game last week. If they can get some yardage out of Moses when he gets back, the Cyclones could win possibly three or four conference games. And that will be a big improvement over the last two years. Guess we will have to see them at least a couple of times.

Drake

Drake could have a much better ball club than people think. They have ambushed two teams that were supposed to beat the Bulldogs, and looked all right doing it. They had to get a mistake by their opponents last week, but that is part of the game. We have always contended that most contests are lost rather than won, because somebody did what he wasn't supposed to do, or didn't do what he was supposed to do. Now, how do you work a look at the Bulldogs into your schedule? You really should see them play at least once, even if you have always been a rather lukewarm Drake fan. That goes way back so far you wouldn't believe it if I told you.
