Grinnell College Balks at Demand Grand Jury Indicates Two For Slayings

Name Singleton For Slaying Mother and Wife

A Des Moines Sunday School teacher, Orville Singleton, 22, of 1401 Center St., was indicted Tuesday on two charges of murder and a charge of arson.

Singleton was found unconscious in his mother's burning home and was taken to Broadlawn Polk County Hospital, suffering from smoke inhalation, second-degree burns and self-inflicted knife wounds.

At a preliminary hearing held on the charges last month, police testified that Singleton told them he was "forced by unknown powers to kill his enemies."

The indictment was returned against Singleton by the Polk County Grand Jury. He is accused in the March 25 slaying of his mother, Mrs. Bertha Mae Singleton, 51, of 1419 Eighteenth St., and his wife Marice, 22.

Both women were found dead in their homes. The Polk County medical examiner ruled that death was caused by stab wounds.

Singleton, a 1967 graduate of Tech High School, was a Sunday School teacher and choir member at Kyles A.M.E. Zion Church in Des Moines.

Singleton was being held in the Polk County jail in lieu of $85,000 total bond since he was released from the hospital in April.

Charge With Stabbing Husband

A Des Moines woman was also indicted by the Grand jury on a charge of murder.

Mrs. Jacqueline Ann Wade, 33, of 1621 Twelfth St., was arrested August 14 after her husband, Irwin, 30, staggered from the couple's home and collapsed in the yard. He died a short time later of a gunshot wound in the stomach.

According to authorities the couple had argued prior to the shooting and that Wade had loaded a .22 caliber pistol, handed it to his wife and dared her to shoot him.

At the arraignment Mrs. Wade pleaded innocent to an open charge of murder. She was released on $10,000 bond to the Des Moines Corrections Project.

Mrs. Cleaver Accuses Nixon

OBERLINE, Ohio — Speaking at Oberlin College on Thursday, November 11, Kathleen Cleaver compared President Nixon to Adolph Hitler and accused the federal government of being "fascist."

In an afternoon speech in the College's Finney Chapel before 700 students, faculty members and townspeople, the wife of self-exiled Black Panther Eldridge Cleaver said that both Hitler and Nixon were elected on a law and order campaign. As Hitler used concentration camps to kill the Jews, Nixon is using drugs, she charged. The rise of drug usage, she says, "parallels the Nixon administration."

BULLETIN

Arthur B. Spingarn, 93, president of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, died at his home in Gramercy Park, New York, Wednesday evening. He succeeded his brother, Joel E. Spingarn, in 1940, who had been president of the Association since its organization.

Hometown Blacks Blast Nominee

A third affidavit was filed stating William H. Rehnquist, President Nixon's nominee to the Supreme Court, harassed black voters in Phoenix in 1964.

Rehnquist has personally denied even being at the voting precinct, said aides to Sen. Birch Bayh, D-Ind., one of the leading opponents of Rehnquist's nomination.

"We think it deserves further investigation," an aide said. "We have no reason to disbelieve Rehnquist's denial but the fact three independent witnesses have filed sworn affidavits cannot be overlooked."

Nominations are expected to reach the Senate floor this week but Bayh's opposition may delay Senate adjournment hoped for next week.

Head Start Parents Prepare Christmas Baskets

KNYA and The Head Start Department have decided that by the two working together our consolidated efforts will bring forth a great harvest, thereby enabling needy families who would not get Christmas needs to have the necessities for a happy holiday.

Through volunteer efforts of Head Start Parents, letters are being prepared and sent to all Des Moines Churches asking them to allow space on Sunday, Dec. 12th, to request and to accept contributions.

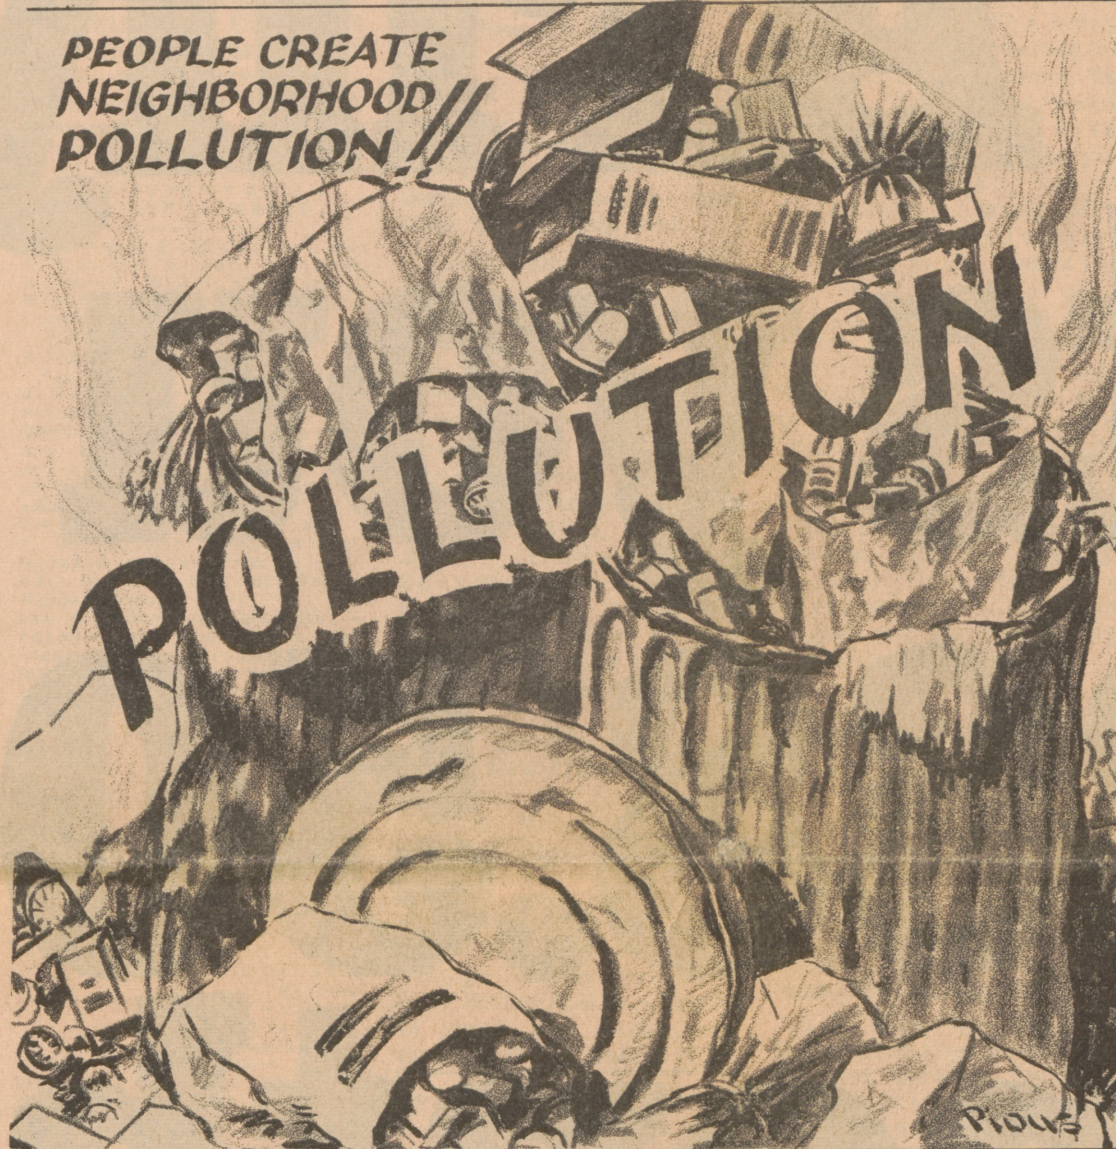

If you know of a needy family, or if you wish to contribute your time or a contribution of candy, nuts, fruits or toys, please contact one of the committee by calling one of the following number, 243.6924, or drop a card to KYNA, 846-6th Ave. Know the true feeling of Christmas by sharing with those less fortunate.

Add Seven to Urban Coalition Special Committee

Seven additional members have been elected to the Steering Committee of the National Urban Coalition, Chairman Sol M. Linowitz announced today.

The Coalition, which was founded after the urban riots of 1967, brings together business, labor, racial and ethnic minorities, religious and other groups for joint action on urban concerns. The 86-member Steering Committee establishes policy for the organization, which was local affiliates in 38 cities.

AND ONLY YOU CAN PREVENT IT...

The Army Isn't What It Used To Be

"...you'll never get rich digging a ditch, you're in the Army now..."

Those words, by Irving Berlin don't hold much weight anymore.

Not only is the Army developing an automatic fox hole digger, but pay has been increased to the point that a new private makes as much money, if not more, than a young man or woman starting his first civilian job.

Under the new pay bill passed by Congress, which went into effect Nov. 15, privates in the Army start off at $268.50 a month. And, according to Sergeant Robert Sargent, local Army recruiter, through rapid promotions, it's possible for a soldier to be promoted to E4 and make as much as $323.40 a month within 12 months of entering service.

And, in addition to the pay, all enlisted men get free room and board. "That's worth quite a bit of money, too," Sergeant Sargent explained.

More Attractive

The increase in Army pay is part of the Government's program to make the Army a more attractive place at which to work. "Basically, we look upon the Army as our place of work," Sergeant Sargent said. "Each man has a job to do, and when it's quitting time, he leaves his job and his time is his own."

Sergeant Sargent explained that most of the Army is now on a five day work week, and that reveille formations have been cut out. "Now, all a man must do is be at his job on time, just as in the civilian business world."

Living conditions have also improved. At many posts, soldiers have semi-private rooms, as opposed to the old barracks of World War II vintage. Dining facilities have changed, too. Soldiers eat at small tables, off dishes instead of trays, and usually have a choice of entree, dessert, and appetizer. For those who do not want full meals, there are dining rooms that offer hamburgers, sloppy Joes, and pizza at many posts.

Sports and Recreation

Sports and recreation facilities are being expanded, too. Most Army posts have swimming pools, golf courses, tennis courts, full gymnasiums, flying and sky diving clubs, arts and crafts centers, and many other recreational facilities. "And, of course, the post exchanges and commissaries enable servicemen and their families to get even more for their dollar," Sergeant Sargent said.

Sergeant Sargent also explained that the Army is permitting men to pick locations where they would like to serve. "We have programs where men can pick areas in the United States, and other parts of the world where they would like to serve," he said. "Of course, some of the more popular locations such as Europe and Hawaii are not always available, but most of the time we can accommodate enlistees."

Guarantees

Virtually every man or woman who enters the Army as an enlistee receives a written guarantee of some form, Sergeant Sargent said. "It might be a guarantee assuring the assignment location, or the training he desires. And, we stand behind that written guarantee."

As Sergeant Sargent said, "A World War II veteran would never recognize today's Army. In 1941, privates only made $21 a month. Today's Army isn't what the Army used to be."

Three Blacks Hi Jack Airplane

Three black men including two who have been active in revolutionary activity seized a Trans World Airlines jetliner in Albuquerque Saturday and hijacked it to Cuba.

The three men were wanted in connection with the murder of a New Mexico policeman, brandished weapons, and a knife in commandeering the plane to Havana.

Robert L. Goodwin, 24, also known as Ralph Goodwin, of Berkeley, and Michael R. Finney, 20, were members of the Republic of New Africa organization based in Berkeley. The group advocates establishment of a Black Nation in the South. The third hijacker was identified as Charles Hill, 21, of Albuquerque.

The hijacked plane landed in Tampa for fuel and 32 passengers were allowed to leave but six crewmen, including three stewardesses were taken to Cuba.

The FAA was told by Havana that the crew was "safe and sound" and that the hijackers were in custody.

The hijacking was the second this week and 24th for the year in the United States.

Most people can stand tragedy but few can master the small irritations of life.

The man who rushes to finish every task often leaves something unfinished.

NEWS In A Nutshell

MILWAUKEE, Wis. — A $50,000 suit, charging discriminatory employment practices at the South Division Mental Health Center, is being undertaken by a former center social worker.

The suit, filed by Eleazar Galaviz, 24, charges he was discriminated against because of an "inability judgement" imposed on him by the administration.

NEWARK — Rutgers University announced today that it had become co-owner of a minority enterprise investment company managed by its Graduate School of Business Administration and established last year with a $200,000 grant from the International Telephone and Telegraph Corporation.

AKRON — The B.F. Goodrich Company today announced payment of the third installment on its pledge of $15,000 to Wilberforce University's capital fund drive. Payment of the pledged contribution will be completed in 1972.

WASHINGTON, D.C. — Howard University has received grants totaling $200,000 to finance the initial development of an Institute of Child Development, Dr. James E. Cheek, President of the University announced today.

OBERLIN, Ohio — The Reverend Hosea Williams, National Coordinator of the Southern Christian Leadership Conference, told an Oberlin College audience on November 20 that he found more religion in Communist China than he has seen in "Christian America."

FOREST GROVE, OREGON — Addressing the student body at Pacific University, Julian Bond said blacks should free themselves from the democratic party in 1972, because, "We went all the way with LBJ in 1964 and through the hoop with Humph '68, and we're still treated as the party's illegitimate child."

WASHINGTON, D.C. — Assistant Secretary of Defense (Manpower and Reserve Affairs) Roger T. Kelley today announced the appointment of Curtis R. Smothers, 28, of Baltimore, Maryland, as Director of Equal Opportunity (Military), effective December 1, 1971.

RAHWAY, N. J. — Warden U. Samuel Vukcevic said the rebellious inmates who held him and five guards captive for 24 hours were "perfect gentlemen" who made some reasonable demands for reform at Rahway State Prison.

Let the fools say what they please: knowledge is worth something.

Seek Veto Over Rules Touching Them; Say About Freshmen - Sophs

Grinnell, Iowa — Striking without warning, a group of black students took over the Grinnell College Burlington Library, Monday, November 29, shortly after 7:00 A.M. preventing anyone from entering or leaving the building emphasizing the set of demands.

Later President Leggett, along with other officials from the college, talked to the students who finally unleashed the chain to the doors after an agreement was made to hold the meeting in the afternoon.

Objects to Pressure

Leggett said in his four hours inside the locked library with the black students, he stressed that "you can't do any kind of negotiating with what amounts to a gun at your head."

The students presented a set of demands which the officials considered but concluded that they were powerless to grant them except the one calling for selling food in the cafeteria. Other demands are:

Establish a black community of no less than 200 representatives from all walks of life of black people.

Put "a black student on every committee... with minority veto power over all things that will influence the survival of black people."

Discuss programs involving black students only when black spokesmen are present.

Allow blacks to decide where black freshmen and sophomores, who now are required to live in dorms as are all freshmen and sophomores, will reside.

Add to the menu of the student cafeteria "the types of food that are necessary to the survival of black people," or let blacks eat elsewhere.

Give black students veto power on the financial aid committee and increase scholarships to include books and travel expenses.

Provide a larger building for the black cultural center.

Start a black studies major, supervised by black students.

Give black students "the full administration of all funds dealing with the survival of blacks."

President Leggett stated that the students did no damage to any of the property and were orderly in their conduct (gentlemen burglars).

Later, Monday the students met with Leggett, Dr. Joseph Wall, dean for academic affairs; Dr. Waldo Walker, dean for administration; and Connie Kimbo, dean for student affairs, Grinnell's highest ranking black staff member.

All Not Involved

However, their was no agreement reached and a meeting was called for Saturday with some of the members of the board of trustees. All of the black students were not involved in the take over nor did they take part in subsequent negotiations.

Grinnell has been engaged in an aggressive campaign to enroll black students it has also made available to them 22 per cent of the freshmen schools scholarship fund who make up 5 per cent of the freshmen class. Eighty-five per cent of Grinnell black students are receiving scholarships.

Drake University Has New President

Appointment of Dr. Wilbur C. Miller, eminent psychologist and Des Moines native, as president of Drake University was announced Tuesday by David Kruidenier, chairman of the University's Board of Trustees.

Kruidenier said Dr. Miller, 48, now Vice-Chancellor for Academic Affairs and Dean of the Faculty at the University of Denver, is to assume his duties at Drake on July 1. He will become the University's ninth President as it enters its 91st year. Dr. Miller succeeds Dr. Paul F. Sharp who resigned last April to become President of the University of Oklahoma.

Commenting on the appointment, Kruidenier, President and Publisher of the Des Moines Register and Tribune Company, said: "Dr. Miller's academic and administrative accomplishments are outstanding. His educational experience in combination with his Des Moines heritage make him uniquely qualified to be President of Drake."

Drake's Growth

In accepting the appointment, Dr. Miller said: "In the last few years, Drake University has emerged on the forefront of higher education as a result of its growth and accomplishments during a trying period for higher education. I welcome this opportunity to return to Drake and assume the challenges of leadership with such an outstanding school."

Dr. Miller has been a proponent of sounder methods of preparing persons for college teaching. He has advocated continued study of the qualities needed for college teaching and a redirection of academic programs to instill those qualities in those who intend to teach in college.

Born in Des Moines

Dr. Miller is the son of Mrs. Laura Miller, 2608 Capitol Avenue. His late father, Cecil, was associated with Hawkeye - Security Insurance Company in Des Moines. Dr. Miller attended Drake from 1941 to 1943 and St. Louis University in 1943-44. He received his B.S. degree in business administration in 1948, his M.A. degree in psychology in 1949 and his Ph.D. degree in experimental psychology in 1953, all from the University of Denver. As a Senior Stipend Fellow of the National Institute of Mental Health, he did post-doctoral work at the University of Michigan in 1963-64.

Born August 26, 1923, in Des Moines, Dr. Miller is a 1941 graduate of East High School. He served in the U.S. Army from 1943 to 1946.

Advertising Council Names United Negro College Fund "Major Campaign" For '72-'73

The Advertising Council has accepted the United Negro College Fund as a major campaign for 1972 and 1973.

Directors of the Council voted approval of the Fund at a meeting in New York on Wednesday, Nov. 17, and named Young & Rubicam as the voluntary agency to carry out the UNCF's campaign.

Vernon E. Jordan, Jr., executive director of the UNCF, called the acceptance "of absolute major importance to the Fund."

Mr. Jordan said that "for the first time, the College Fund will be able to reach the mass American public through the full media facilities which the Ad Council makes available."

The UNCF will be one of only some 20 organizations accorded this select status. This means it will receive year-round exposure on television, radio, print ads, transportation advertising and all other media.

Other well-known major campaigns which the Ad Council sponsors include "Smokey the Bear" for the U.S. Forest Service, Traffic Safety, Red Cross, Peace Corps, United Fund and U.S. Savings Bonds. The UNCF will be the only black-oriented group among the major campaigns.

Last year, the 20 major campaigns endorsed by the Council received approximately $450,000,000 in free advertising.

Since 1944 The United Negro College Fund has been in existence since 1944. It raises operating money to help 40 predominantly Negro colleges. These colleges are all four-year, private, fully-accredited institutions.

The UNCF is seeking $10,000,000 in 1971 to aid its schools. Cyrus R. Vance,

Telephone Rates Up December 1

On December 1, Northwestern Bell will put into effect, under bond, the statewide rate increase it announced to its Iowa customers last July. It will be the first general increase in telephone rates since 1957.

J.A. MacAllister, Vice President and general manager for Northwestern Bell in Iowa, said the company carefully considered the advisability of increasing rates at a time when all business has been asked to exercise restraint in its pricing policies. "Our problem," he said, "is that we have held the line on price inflation for 14 years. We've done this by careful management of the expenses and by maximizing efficiency in a variety of ways."

At the time of our July filing we tried to make it clear that it was no longer possible for us to pay 1971 bills with 1957 rates. In the months since July, our costs have continued to rise, and since August, include the effect of a new labor contract. These factors, along with the urgent need to keep up with growth and service needs of our Iowa customers, make an increase at this time imperative."

MacAllister said the interests of the public, the Iowa Commerce Commission, and the Federal Price Commission are protected by the requirement that any increases be bonded by the Company pending final determination by the State Commission.

Miller Appointed Deputy Assistant Secretary of Defense

Secretary of defense Melvin R. Laird today announced the appointment of Donald L. Miller, 39, of Bergenfield, New Jersey, a former Vice President of Seatrain Shipbuilding Corporation, Brooklyn, New York, as Deputy Assistant Secretary of Defense (Equal Opportunity), effective December 1, 1971.

In announcing the appointment of the new Deputy Assistant Secretary, Secretary Laird said: "The Department of Defense since January, 1969, has made significant progress in the field of equal opportunity. However, much more remains to be done. I am certain that Mr. Miller, with his wealth of experience in military service and in private industry, will be of great help to Assistant Secretary of Defense (Manpower and Reserve Affairs) Roger T. Kelley and me, as well as to the four Services, in achieving the objectives of our Human Goals Program. We cannot be satisfied until there is equal opportunity for all men and women in the Department of Defense, civilian and military."

Mr. Miller, who replaces Frank W. Render, 11, who resigned in September, rose through the enlisted ranks of the Army to become at the age of 20 a battalion sergeant major in Korea. He was graduated from Officer Candidate School in 1956, and retired as a Major in June, 1968.

Deputy Assistant Secretary of Defense Miller was born January 10, 1932, in New York City and obtained his high school diploma by evening study while in the Army. In addition to graduating magna cum laude from the University of Maryland in 1967, he also attended the Graduate School of Business Administration at Harvard University in 1969.

Mr. Miller is married to the former Ann Davie of Augusta, Georgia. They have two children — Lynn, 12, and Mark, 10.

Old-World Classics Made Easy with Soup

A major soup company has compiled a new cookbook of its "100 Best Recipes"—the ones that have earned good reputations with homemakers—plus 157 more family favorites and party dishes.

In "100 Best Recipes", you'll find Appetizers, five big Main Dish chapters, Vegetables, Barbecue treats, Soups, Salads and Dressings, Sauces and a section on Entertaining.

In the Beef chapter, you'll find this recipe, Stuffed Cabbage Rolls... an old-world classic prepared the modern way.

"100 Best Recipes" sells for $2.95 in bookstores across the country. It comes in a hard-cover edition (8x9 inches) with over 160 color-filled pages that delight the eye. Or you can get a copy by sending $1.95 and 2 Campbell Soup labels to "100

Best Recipes" cookbook, Box 705, Maple Plain, Minnesota 55359.

STUFFED CABBAGE ROLLS

8 large cabbage leaves
1 can (10 1/2 ounces) condensed tomato soup
1 pound ground beef
1 cup cooked rice
1/4 cup chopped onion
1 egg, slightly beaten
1 teaspoon salt
1/4 teaspoon pepper
Cook cabbage in salted water a few minutes to soften; drain. Mix 2 tablespoons soup with remaining ingredients. Divide meat mixture among cabbage leaves; fold in sides and roll up (secure with toothpicks, if necessary). In skillet, place rolls seam side down; pour remaining soup over. Cover; cook over low heat for 40 minutes. Stir now and then, spooning sauce over rolls. Makes 4 servings.

BIODEGRADABLE DETERGENTS

Did you know that all detergents are biodegradable? In mid-1965, the detergent industry completed more than a decade of research and an expenditure of over $150 million to convert to an easily biodegradable material. Biodegradability is the process by which an important portion of the detergent can be broken down and used as food by useful bacteria. These useful bacteria live in our sewage, surface waters and soil. After biodegradation, the surfactant portion of the detergent loses its wetting and sudsing action and reverts to carbon dioxide and water.

Policyholder Questions Answered by The Institute of Life Insurance, 277 Park Ave., N. Y., N. Y., 10017

Q. I recently read somewhere that Americans have over a trillion dollars of life insurance in force. If this is true, doesn't it indicate that most Americans are over-insured?

A. Not at all. It sounds like a lot, but averaged out it really doesn't come to that much. The fact is that unfortunately, American families today, on the average, are inadequately insured, partly because buying life insurance may mean foregoing present luxuries to provide for possible future necessities. For another reason, buying life insurance involves thinking about the unpleasant possibility that the head of the family may not live to see his children fully grown, with families of their own.

Then, too, many of us simply don't get around to buying insurance because, living in city apartments or suburban developments, as most of us do, we don't get to know a life insurance man — to know him as a trusted neighbor and friend.

According to the Institute of Life Insurance, the average family in the United States owns $20,900 of life insurance protection—about two years of income. This is far short of the four to five times the annual income suggested by experts as adequate protection.

Q. Can you tell me how I can go about finding a good life insurance agent on whom I can rely?

A. A good way to go about it is to ask friends, neighbors, relatives or business acquaintances for the names of their insurance men, just as you'd ask them to recommend a family doctor or lawyer.

Then, talk to some of the recommended agents — and choose the one who sounds right for you. You'll want your agent to base his suggestions on your particular situation, so be prepared to tell him about your family's present finances — and your prospects and ambitions.

Instead of letting unexpected holiday dinner guests put you in a fizzle, play it cool by freezing extra buffet helpings for drop-in visitors.

For a safer and merrier Christmas, be sure the toys you buy for your children are hazard-free. Toys requiring alcohol, kerosene, gasoline or carbide lamps are extremely dangerous when placed in young hands.

One of the best ways to encourage scholastic achievement is to give a youngster a typewriter of his or her own. Portable models like the Hermes 3000 and the Hermes Rocket are not only lightweight, durable and easy to use... they also fit comfortably into almost any Christmas-present budget.

There are many good reasons today's modern family enjoys the benefits of an automatic dishwasher. If you're not convinced yet, you might be interested in a few facts:

1. Automatic dishwashers save about an hour a day of Mom's time.
2. They get dishes cleaner. Dishwashers use water around 160 degrees—hotter than your hands could stand. They use extra-strong detergents, too.
3. Save on hot water by storing dishes in them after one meal and combining with another meal's dishes.
4. Cuts down on dish breakage.
5. Eliminates the dish towel. Dishwashers use sanitized hot air—helps stop the spread of germs.

Washington, D.C. NLI- There may be a simple solution to the pollution problems caused by the use of phosphate detergents. The man who developed Tide laundry detergent, Ronald Ostrander, claims phosphate detergent pollution can be cut 90 per cent.

Just use 90 per cent less detergent," he says.

High phosphate detergents, Ostrander claims, are used in too large amounts. If consumers used only 10 per cent of the recommended amount, the wash would still be clean (maybe cleaner), says Ostrander, and pollution caused by phosphate soaps would therefore be cut 90 per cent.

An added bonus is the billion dollars a year consumers would save by using less soap.

Fletcher Urges Black-Jew Cooperation

GROSSINGER'S, N.Y. — Jews were urged to join blacks in creating and expanding a national economy that "would end the race problem in this century."

Describing America's Negroes as the "most qualified blacks in the world," Arthur A. Fletcher, member of the United States delegation to the United Nations, told some 400 Jewish leaders here that the economic, health and educational gaps between black and white would disappear if "business and employment opportunities created by the federal dollar are shared with minorities."

Telling the delegates that he was "not talking about sharing the wealth or freezing anyone out," Mr. Fletcher said that there could be enough economic growth in the seventies and eighties to include everyone if a free and open society is permitted to develop.

According to Mr. Fletcher, America's race problem affects not only the domestic scene, but "stands in the way of relationships with two-thirds of the countries belonging to the United Nations."

Mr. Fletcher went on to say that as a consequence of what is taking place in the U.N., America is beginning to discover "for the first time that its blacks are an asset" and that they will play a more and more meaningful role in United States relations with African countries in the same way that other ethnic groups do with their homeland.

Mr. Fletcher called upon the Jewish community to help in this process because, "as you help us uplift ourselves, we help you sustain yourselves."

"Remember," he declared, "you may be traveling first class and I, second class, but we are all in the same boat called discrimination."

Employment

Workshop Saturday

Saturday December 4th from 1 to 4 PM at the Ft. Des Moines Hotel in the Wedgewood Room there will be Workshop for all interested Women in Des Moines but especially of interest to working women. The conference is designed to tell women of their rights against sex based employment discrimination. We have a fourfold plan to carry out in connection with the solution as follows: 1. learn to identify sex discrimination, 2. through discussion of problem ways to fight sex discrimination, 3. raise participants employment aspirations, 4. set up structure for mutual support.

There will be a nursery and transportation provided if necessary, advance notice needed, call Carol Hayse at 243-5761.

Speakers Rosanne Barton Conlin, assistant Attorney Gen. for the State of Iowa, Aleta Styers, Economist from Evanston, Ill. leader in Womans Economic Field.

Hayes to Address EEO Forum Dec. 7

The Second Annual EEO Forum is scheduled for Tuesday, December 7th, at the Holiday Inn in Burlington. The Forum will be co-sponsored by Mason & Hanger - Silas Mason Co., Inc., Manufacturers Bureau of the Burlington Chamber of Commerce and the Iowa State Employment Service.

There have been many developments in the Equal Employment Opportunity field since the first Forum a year ago. Testing, employee selection procedures, apprenticeship and training, sex discrimination and the proposed Revised Order No. 4 are the principal areas of interest. Decisions by the Iowa Civil Rights Commission and various courts have established new and tougher rules for employers to follow.

Approximately 100 managers from industry and government participated in the Forum last year. Their comments were very

Old Phone Books Recycled

When you get your new Des Moines telephone directory, the phone company asks that you don't throw your old one away — help recycle it.

"We're about to undertake a pilot project involving the recycling of the present Des Moines directories into other paper products," said Dick Reed, Northwestern Bell district manager - customer relations. "It'll begin Thursday, December 2, the first day of delivery of more than 260,000 new telephone directories."

According to Reed, customers who are at home when the new books are delivered can give their old directories to the representative if they wish. "We're also leaving a printed suggestion list for customers who are unable to do this," he said. "It gives several locations where we've stationed open trailers and signs explaining the project. Anyone who wants to can drive up and place his old phone book in the trailer."

Trailers will be at these locations through Wednesday, Dec. 29: Northwestern Bell's office at E. 21st and University; Merle Hay shopping center at the corner of Merle Hay and Douglas; 1414 Army Post Rd.; Northwestern Bell's garage at 852 6th Ave. and Dahl's supermarket at 1208 Prospect, West Des Moines.

Reed said that customers may also leave old directories at Northwestern Bell's Des Moines, Ankeny and Indianola business offices.

There'll be no special pickups, he added. "We're asking that customers either give their old phone books to the person delivering the new directories or take them to one of the collection points."

favorable.

Alvin Hayes, Executive Director of the Iowa Civil Rights Commission and Robert Horner, Chief - Contract Compliance Office of the Defense Contract Administration Service, St. Louis, plus other prominent individuals are on the program.

A point to remember — many employers have learned the hard way that it was something they weren't doing — rather than something they were doing that initiated an EEO complaint. Are your managers aware of all of their responsibilities in the EEO field?

NROTC College Program Deadline

Time is running out! This is the last week high school graduates can apply for the Navy Reserve Officers Training Corps (NROTC) Program. The first of December is the deadline for submission of applications for these four-year college scholarships.

Selected applicants are appointed midshipmen upon enrollment in the participating college of their choice. Benefits include Navy - paid tuition, educational fees, textbooks, uniforms and a $50 monthly living allowance.

Applicants who have taken the Scholastic Aptitude Test (SAT) should have their scores sent to the NROTC Navy - Marine Scholarship Program Section at Princeton, New Jersey.

For further information about the program, contact your nearest Navy or Marine Corps recruiting station.

Rotary Club to Help Handicapped

Members of the Northwest Rotary Club of Des Moines — and their wives — are volunteering their Saturdays to helping the handicapped.

Rotarians volunteered to work as salespeople at the Easter Seal Camp Sunnyside Handicraft Sales Building on Saturdays. Handicrafts made by more than 534 homebound and handicapped Iowans are displayed and sold at Camp Sunnyside.

Camp Sunnyside is north of Des Moines, between Second Avenue (Highway 415) and East 14th Street (Highway 69), across from Woodside Golf Course.

"We'll see that directories in all telephone buildings and coin telephone locations are recycled as well," said Reed. "And we'll pick up books from many of our large business customers."

Baled for Cardboard

All of the old directories collected will be turned over to the Packaging Corporation of America's plant at 417 S.W. 9th St. where they will be tied together in bales. Then they'll be taken to the firm's Tama plant and made into cardboard. Northwestern Bell expects about 124 tons of old Des Moines telephone books to be recycled.

Reed said Des Moines will be the first location served by Northwestern Bell to try a directory recycling project covering an entire city. "Recycling programs involving parts of Minneapolis and St. Paul are being carried out also," he said.

Reed noted that as with other environmental programs, there is an expense involved. "But," he said, "pollution from solid waste is of increasing national concern and we'd like to help solve the problem."

Reed pointed out that the cover of the new directory is also ecologically oriented. "It pictures a wooded scene in Iowa," he said. "We hope it will be a subtle reminder to preserve the state's natural beauty."

One change in the new book's format was made at the request of postal authorities. "Because of recent and possibly future postal rate changes, we were asked to omit this page until further notice. The postal zip codes have been retained, however, and are shown on yellow page two."

Deliveries of the new directory will be completed by December 15.

CLEAN CAR TIPS

If you're feeling frustrated about pollution, don't despair. There are things you can do. Start by cleaning up your car; autos are a major source of dirty air.

American Oil Co. suggests a four-step car-care program. Keep your car perfectly tuned; an untuned engine runs poorly and is a source of pollution. Have the exhaust emission control systems serviced regularly. Use a lead-free gasoline; that doesn't mean "less lead," since every little bit of the metal contributes to pollution. Finally, check with your service station if you have any feeling at all that your car is contributing to dirtying the air.

Extensive medical research brings hope of surer recovery to millions of people throughout the world who suffer from TB and other respiratory disease.

Iowa Power And Light Announces Large 1972 Construction Program

Iowa Power and Light Company officials announced today that $21,828,000 has been authorized by the Board of Directors for general construction in 1972.

President Dwight H. Swanson said, "This planned construction will allow us to continue improvements in our energy operations and facilities in order to make the best possible use of natural gas and electricity and assure our customers of continued dependable and reliable service."

Swanson pointed out that the use of electricity in the Company's service area has more than doubled in the last 10 years. He also noted that according to the latest census, while the total population of Iowa is growing slowly — some 2.5 per cent in the last 10 years — Iowa Power's service area in central and southwestern

Iowa has grown more rapidly — about 7 per cent.

James R. Lyon, Senior Vice President - Operations, noted that approximately three-quarters of the expenditures for 1972 will be spent on the Company's electric transmission and distribution systems. The rest will be spent on gas systems, power production and general plant expenses.

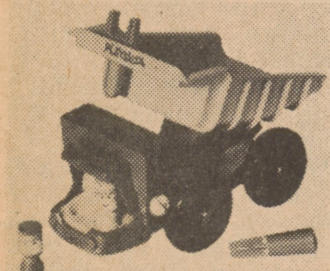

Lyon said, "A number of items which have been included in our construction budget involve environmental considerations, such as undergrounding and air and water pollution control studies and equipment. Items such as these have always been included as part of necessary construction expenditures in years past, but take on special significance as environmental concerns grow."

THE RIGHT TOY FOR THE RIGHT AGE

Toys are the tools with which your child learns. And a creative play-and-learn environment which permits and encourages a full range of play—both imaginative and adaptive—is as crucial to a child's growth as proper nutrition.

To create a proper play-and-learn environment for children, it is recommended that each child's individual growth and stage of development be considered by parents in selecting toys. It is important that the child be able to master the toy—to experience both fun and learning without frustration. Here, then, are some guide-

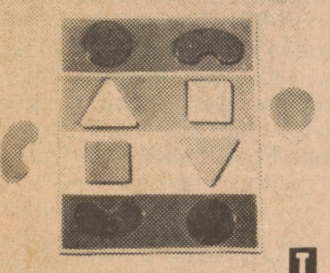

With brightly colored rings that have a pleasing "feel," this rocking CLOWN STACK stimulates an infant's senses while teaching him eye-hand coordination. (1-4 years)

Answering a young child's need for mobility, TAKE-APART DUMP TRUCK also stimulates muscular coordination by making it fun to "take something apart and put it back together." (2-5 years)

INFANT... Birth to 1½ years: From the time he is born, the child discovers himself and the world around him by utilizing his senses, and he needs toys which excite them—with bright colors, sounds, motion. By the time he is a year old, he is ready for stacking rings and blocks. He will be pleased with the "feel" of these, as well as his sense of accomplishment in manipulating various forms and shapes.

TODDLER... 1½ to 3 years: The child's imagination develops rapidly during this stage, when he is learning to walk. Wheel toys will increase his muscular coordination

A sense of accomplishment is fostered by this FORM BOARD, which allows a child to match basic geometric forms to corresponding cutouts in matching colors. (3 to 6½ years) and answer his need for mobility. Since he also enjoys "taking something apart and putting it back together," he is ready for puzzle plaques, too. From his early play with blocks, he now builds more complex structures and wants recognition for his added skills.

PRE-SCHOOLER... 3 to 6 years: At this stage, the child begins sorting and assimilating his experiences and discoveries, relating them to the world around him and outside his home. His toys should reflect the skills he needs to live in that world—counting, drawing, writing, reading, telling time, working at a desk. He can "match" objects now and finds an increasing sense of accomplishment in more advanced puzzles. His blocks, however, are still important—and the structures he builds relate to his own experience, as well as to the ideas developing in his fertile mind.

Radio Station Gives Thanksgiving Baskets

In cooperation with a number of other sponsors, Carl Williams of radio station KYNA states that a group of Des Moines business concerns gave the needy twenty turkey baskets, which included the bird and all of the trimmings for Thanksgiving.

In addition to radio station KYNA, the group comprised Mort's Barber Shop, Al's Barber Shop, Rob's Lounge, Betty's Food Market, Grant's Records, McQueen's Pharmacy, Ebony Lounge and American Republic Insurance Company.

Apparel Experts End Numb Fingers, Toes

Numb fingers and frostbitten toes have long been problems for winter outdoor sports participants.

Several years ago, apparel manufacturers came to the rescue of cold snowmobilers by designing warmly-insulated, waterproof boots and mitts.

Today, Ski-Doo Sports, Ltd., puts an extra touch into these seemingly unexciting and mundane items with boots whose nylon uppers are available in a variety of colors or with contrasting rally and racing stripes. Racing boots have ankle-padded protection.

Mitts come with color inserts, rally stripes, and gauntlet styling that goes high up the arm for increased protection.

There's a vast difference between the person of importance and the person who wants to appear important.

ZEID COURT AND ZEID TEMPLE DAUGHTERS OF THE Isis and Nobles of the Shrine in celebration of their 50th Anniversary on Sunday, November 14, at the Y.W.C.A. presented one of the most picturesque events ever staged!

THE EVENT BEGAN AS THE EXOTICALLY COSTUMED daughters and nobles, in a caravan, entered the auditorium to the beautiful and mysterious sounds of drums, cymbals and the flute — music so contrived as to reproduce that of a near authentic Egyptian rite. The group was then seated as seen in the lovely photo on this page!

BEGINNING WITH MILDRED DUKE, Illustrious Treasurer and Des Moines' ex-patriot, but now Omaha's dedicated daughter, Omaha's delegates and or guests on this occasion were a fascinating group. The five were Marian Holmes, Illustrious Commandress; Gussie E. McPherson, Imperial Deputy of the Desert; Addie B. Porter, Past Imperial Deputy of the Desert; Dr. Mary Avant and Noble Willis Porter.

HEADED BY ILLUSTRIOUS TREASURER MILDRED DUKE, the group of five had arranged a replica of some exotic spot in Pakistan, Iran: for real! Straw tables, umbrellas, cushions, brass lamp on a table bedecked with a fabulous covering — the whole Egyptian setting.

Even cups and saucers on this tiny table! Candies and assorted gifts awaited visitors to Iran.

EXTORTION ON A SMALL SCALE, BUT EXTORTION NONETHELESS — Clara (LaVonne) Webb Bayles plans giving me a Kikuyu warrior letter opener (representative of Kenya's very own tribe, she says). African art remains uppermost in my mind, you see! Oh, yes, and one more letter opener places me in the running (as a letter opener collector) with Marcelline McCloud's "Mac". He's the photog, you know. Mac has a number of the most interesting letter openers — antiques, brass, wooden, etcetera.

AFTER SOME WEEKS OF NIGHTTIME TRAVEL, I have concluded that Cliff and Clara Bayles, Floyd and Evelyn Loggins, Carl and Jessie Williams and Lou and Myrtle Procter are four couples who always make the big scenes and I'm now suspecting are involved behind the making of the big scenes!

HURRIEDLY PROVIDED MY DAUGHTER - IN - LAW with a number of bells — like those in the Oriental Shop — after visiting Midge Cole's salon and finding bells a - tingle there! It seems, says Midge that the orientals' bells hanging by their doors means a lady is satisfied with her loved one. Even added two more to my group — gotta have everything going for me.

Thanksgiving Dinners-Observances

Mr. and Mrs. Immanuel Davis, III were hosts to a family gathering including Mr. and Mrs. Immanuel Davis, their parents; Mrs. Loretta Dunn, Mrs. Ruth Davis' mother and a former resident of El Paso, Texas, and who now resides with Mrs. Davis and her husband.

Following dinner, the family was joined by Mrs. Davis' co-workers, Mrs. Edgar Bridges, and Mrs. Ed Violette, accompanied by their husbands, and Mrs. Ada Madison. The Bridges are formerly of Jackson, Mississippi; and the Violettes formerly of Texas.

Inner-Urban Community Health Center Corporation

On July 15, 1971, several interested citizens of the Model Cities area met at Gateway Center to formulate concrete plans for a Health Center in the area. From that date we have progressed rapidly. The group has combined efforts with the Northeast and Southeast areas of Des Moines, who have existing health centers but are seeking funds to expand their facilities, thus forming the Central Iowa Health Service, Inc.

The past two months have been spent with the three groups meeting together and preparing and adopting

Modern Etiquette

Q. Just what is the correct form regarding the use of the suffixes after male names, "Jr.," "II," and "III"?

A. When a son's name is the same as that of his father, "Jr." is tacked onto his name. When the father dies, the "Jr." is dropped, except in the case of the father's having been famous or very well known enough to make it advisable for the son to retain the "Jr." for the purpose of identification. When a boy is named for a grandfather or uncle, he carries "II" after his name. And the third member of a family to use the same name becomes "III."

Q. Whose duty is it to see that the bride and bridegroom's car is ready and waiting for them at the reception?

A. This is one of the duties of the best man.

Q. How many vegetables is it necessary to serve at a dinner?

A. Two vegetables are sufficient.

Q. Are correspondence cards considered in good taste?

A. Yes, and very popular too for the short, informal kind of messages. They should be used, however, only for strictly informal correspondence.

Q. Is it necessary that a widow with two children, ages 11 and 14, continue to wear her wedding ring for the sake of her children — but in spite of the fact that she is going regularly with another man?

A. There is no hard-and-fast rule about this, and certainly the fact that she has young children doesn't compel her to wear the ring. It's up to her.

Q. By whom should the first gesture of friendship be made, by the family of the man or of the girl, when they have become engaged?

A. By the family of the man.

Q. When one is eating meat at the table, should one use a morsel of meat at a time be cut?

A. Yes. It is ill-bred to cut up the meat into numerous pieces before eating it.

Q. Isn't it all right for the mother of a newborn baby to mail out printed cards of thanks for gifts received?

A. Indeed not. Her thank you's should be handwritten notes.

Petites are: Benola Foster, Rosa Mae DeVan, Jean Marie Johnson, Juanita Jones, Wanda Madison, Aria Hollins, Jackie Williams, Janet Turner, and Rose Edmonds.

Your professional hairdresser knows the answer...

Was haircoloring first done in Africa?

Centuries ago in Africa (before it was explored by Europeans) beautiful black women used herbs and other ingredients to change the color of their hair. It was one way to complement their dark rich complexions... to accent their natural warmth and beauty. Whether or not Africans were the first to use this method, no one is sure. Yet, they are among the first in terms of recorded history to go through the then-tedious process of coloring their hair.

Today changing your haircolor can be as quick and as brief as a visit to your professional hairdresser. That's because many professional hairdressers use Miss Clairol® Hair Color to lighten hair, to make slight color changes and to cover gray. Hairdressing experts know that exotic blacks and browns are generally gorgeous for darker skin tones. Golden or red shades are stunning for lighter tan complexions.

Today black pride brings you closer to the cultural ways of your African heritage. Haircoloring is a part of black history too. Ask your professional hairdresser about changing your hair color with Miss Clairol... and be more beautiful than you already are.

Financing George Wallace
And Others

The United States Senate has passed a tax measure to which is attached an amendment which will permit the taxpayers to authorize a $1.00 check-off on their income taxes to finance the two major parties and some independent parties.

It is interesting to note that the Republican and Democrat campaign committees would receive about $20,000,000 each and Governor George Wallace's third party about $5,000,000.

Proponents of the measure insist that the plan would prevent large contributions from special interest groups who look for favors in return; it would involve more people in financing political campaigns.

The Democrats are strong for the measure since they feel that their chances of raising money in 1972 will be difficult. There is also the cloud hanging over their heads caused by $9,000,000 deficit still outstanding from the 1968 campaign. There had been no such trouble when Lyndon Johnson ran.

Then, too, the proponents of the measure are willing to sponsor George Wallace's campaign in return for the entrenchment of their own coffers, hoping that Wallace would draw enough votes from Republicans for them to win.

It will be interesting to see how members of the black caucus in the House of Representatives vote on the amendment. For awhile the Democratic coffers will be healed so will that of George Wallace which will be used to fight everything they propose to stand for.

We don't agree with the proposal because it amounts to just another business for the federal government to run and it helps the finances of George Wallace, who bodes no good for the Negro and, consequently, for the country as a whole.

The President should veto the measure and because irresponsible legislation should be kept off the statute books.

Meeting Opportunities
As They Arise

Each week, the want ad section of the Bystander carries advertising for companies in and out of Des Moines seeking Negro employees. Most of these jobs require some skill and in other instances involve advanced training.

Some have been filled; some not because qualified takers have not been available. True, there has been much improvement particularly in the lower echelon of employment which often turn out to be dead end jobs. Management needs to do more about this.

On the other hand, there are those who are willing to start on the lower rungs of the ladder and spend months of training for advancement. Some are not. They want to start at the top but are generally not qualified.

Last week Greater Opportunities, Inc., named Mrs. Jeanette Jennings, as its executive director. She began her service as a clerk at the Logan Opportunity Center, later transferring to the GO where she began doing general office work. Later she became an assistant director and following the shake-up last summer was promoted director.

GO, Inc., includes Marion, Jasper, Warren and Polk counties and has a budget of $2,000,000.00.

This appointment is an excellent example to those who doubt their ability, but who can reach the top if they apply themselves and merit the appointment.

A Good Project

Model Cities has authorized a unique project for young people. Heretofore, most of their projects for young people have included dancing, playing games and other types of recreation.

Much talk goes on about black culture which, of course, is important and should be understood. However, we live in America, deal with Americans and, in addition to black culture, should know and understand American culture and demeanor.

This new project is designed to teach youngsters how to dress better, talk better, address and meet people better, answer inquiries more intelligently as they apply for jobs.

Young people will find that as they grow up, enter high school, enter military service or working jobs, that they will be associating with people who have training and judge people on the basis of better accomplishments.

We hope this project succeeds.

Health for All

PAIRS OF DIRTY LUNGS

Finding a "clean" pair of lungs in anyone past the age of 12 is almost impossible.

One pathologist at the University of California School of Medicine, Dr. Russell Sherwin, has examined thousands of lungs. He thinks nobody over 12 has clean lungs. But, much more chilling, he speculates that everyone above this age also has some degree of emphysema. Because of pervasive air pollution.

Speaking about emphysema, Dr. Sherwin says, "it's just a question of when it becomes clinically significant. I believe everyone over 12 has it. I know I can't find a normal lung in anyone over that age."

Not all doctors agree with the pathologist's statement. But many chest specialists are concerned about the effects of air pollution on the lungs. A recent study shows that illness and death from respiratory disease would be reduced by 25 percent if air pollution in big cities could be cut in half. The combination of air pollution and cigarette smoking also drastically increases the incidence of emphysema.

Emphysema is a chronic disease that develops gradually and causes damage to the air sacs of the lungs that cannot be reversed. But the lungs must be heavily damaged before abnormalities appear in routine lung function testing. "The real problem in air pollution, as I see it," Dr. Sherwin says, "is what's going on before disease becomes clinically manifest."

To find out more about diseases of the lungs — as well as air pollution — check with your local tuberculosis and respiratory disease association. It's a matter of life and breath.

ON THE SPORTS SCENE

Now that the gridiron season for Iowa is nearly over, except for the Cyclone's bowl bid, we can discuss some things that had people asking questions all season. On what are the ratings based, and how do you justify shifting them each week end? For instance; No. 5 plays No. 6. Six wins by a whisker, and one would think that would merely make 5 and 6 change places. But, no, Number five might drop down to eighth or maybe tenth. And on the same week end four and three with identical records are playing. Again one would think that if the top team won, there should be no change in positions. But, the chances are that if four loses, they will be dropped below the team, number six, and the losing number 5 team might come ahead of the maybe three. Then, if numbers one and two play, they should be ranked either number one or two, no matter which one comes out on top. The only change would be the switch if the No. 2 team won.

We didn't think there was ever as clear cut a rating as there was in the Big Eight conference. Nebraska was rated the top team with Oklahoma second. The Sooners' only loss was to Nebraska. Colorado was the third ranking team, and they lost only to the two top teams. Now comes Iowa State at the fourth spot, and who did they drop conference games to? The three top teams and that is all. And neither of the four top ranking teams lost a game to conference foes. How many times will you see a setup like that?

And in the Big Ten: Except for Michigan, the teams beat each other like they were in a battle royal. Then Michigan caught teams like Michigan State, Purdue and Possibly Ohio State company of young men from the State of Iowa, to be known as the Navy's Iowa "Seahawks". These men will be formed into a company and will depart from Des Moines, Iowa in January by air for San Diego, California.

Young men who qualify may select the field of training they desire before enlisting. They may also enlist with a buddy, train together, and return home on recruit leave together.

The last all-Iowa Navy company was formed in 1962.

Social Security

Health, Education
Welfare

The IOWA BYSTANDER has made arrangements with the Des Moines office of the Social Security Administration to answer questions for our readers about social security and Medicare. Send your questions to Field Representative, Room 293 Federal Building, 210 Walnut Street, Des Moines, Iowa 50309.

QUESTION: My 12-year-old son and I both received monthly social security survivors payments after my husband's death. When I

when they were not at full strength. In fact, the only team of any note that the Wolverines played at top strength was Northwestern in the first game. So, really just how tough is Michigan? We will find out in the Rose Bowl game.

We looked at Alabama the other night and thought they looked awfully good but will they get the early breaks that they got against Auburn when they face Nebraska New Year's Day? For one thing you can say about the Cornhuskers they have not shown a tendency to beat themselves. We have always argued that ninety percent of all games are lost rather than won. And that is just what Nebraska has done so far. Make the other teams lose.

Now to get back to our rating squabble. So just how do they rate dropping a team all the way maybe three or four positions in the ratings when they blow a tough one by a last minute play? And just about the first seven teams had perfect records until Auburn played Alabama. So how would you rank one above the other? We may find out more about this come the first of the year also. Whenever we look at the college ratings, or for that matter, the high school ratings too, we are tempted to think of some of the great hoaxes that have had raters redfaced. There was the small school in Minnesota that nobody ever heard of. One sportswriter, probably because he wanted to plug for his friend who was coaching at Hamline, kept including them in his rating list, until they finally caught on, and really gained national recognition and a top ten rating. When that one was finally run down there were a lot of red faces. But probably the best one was the case of the great Chinese halfback, named, we believe Kwong. Well, every week this fellow would run for a million yards and score more touchdowns than anybody else playing. And at the end of the season Kwong had made a shambles of all the yardage and scoring marks around the country. Even his school was fictitious. He made several All American teams, but there just weren't any pictures of him available. Well, when he was finally awarded some seasonal honor, we forget just which one, they had to confess that the guy wasn't for real. But you may have guessed that now all marks and players as well as schools are checked and double checked. But such deals are just about impossible to pull now with today's quick travel across the country and television. And it is a good thing, but sure spoiled a lot of fun.

In case you are interested, Grambling College won their conference football championship. But they probably would not have won if Jackson State College of Jackson, Miss. hadn't beaten the defending champs, Alcorn 35 to 29 last week end. And Jackson played the ears off Grambling. Tell you these black schools play tough football, and Grambling is only one of many fine football teams among them.

and your Medicare coverage. Then, as soon as you know your new address notify any social security office.

QUESTION: I am a car dealer. One of my employees is my father, who works full time as my office manager. Can I report his earnings for social security purposes just as I do for all my other employees?

ANSWER: Yes. Your father's work is covered under social security since he is working for you in the operation of a business. On the other hand, household work by a parent in a son's or daughter's home is not covered by social security.

QUESTION: Since I broke my hip, I can't walk. Will Medicare pay for a wheel chair?

ANSWER: Medical Insurance (Part B) can help pay for rental or purchase of durable medical equipment for use in your home but only when it is prescribed by a doctor. Durable medical equipment includes such items as wheel chairs, crutches and hospital beds and other equipment which is primarily used for medical care.
