NEWS In A Nutshell

KANSAS CITY — Dr. Jasper R. Thompson, pioneer physician of the Greater Kansas City area who would have celebrated his 95th birthday on January 22, died Saturday, Jan. 8, at the Veterans Administration hospital in Wadsworth. His address was 1234 Washington Blvd.

WASHINGTON D.C. — An investigation of widespread complaints of vote stealing, voter intimidation and harassment during the Nov. 2 general elections in Mississippi has resulted in a federal suit filed against Mississippi officials.

MILWAUKEE, Wis. — Three of Mr. and Mrs. Leamon Austin's nine children died in a fire that destroyed their home at 2870 N. 7th St. Tuesday morning. Dead were two daughters, Dana, 5, and Sonata, 2, and a son, Deon, 3.

MILWAUKEE, Wis. — Milwaukee Operation Breadbasket has branded as "apparent racism" the refusal last week by the city Election Commission to approve St. Francis Day Care Center as a voter registration station during ceremonies observing Dr. Martin Luther King's birthday Saturday.

WASHINGTON, D.C. — Secretary of Commerce Maurice Stans announced approval of grant and loan funds totaling $7,593,000 to help People's Involvement Corporation of Washington, D.C. build a new community-owned 168-room hotel.

WATERTOWN, N.Y. — Despite sizable percentage increases in deposits the black banks and savings and loan institutions remain far too small to meet the loan demands of the black community. As far as we know, the enclosed leaflet lists for the first time all such institutions and gives at the same time the rationale for individuals and organizations depositing money in them.

contractors. The whole transaction was publicized. It was no secret.

"The second contract was for a report. The NAACP again lost money. The transaction was fully publicized.

"We don't want our members and supporters to get the idea that the Nixon Administration can be called upon by the NAACP for financial assistance.

"There will be many hysterical rumors in the election year of 1972. The dollars of no political candidate, President Nixon or anyone else, will go into the National NAACP treasury. It costs roughly $130,000 a month to run the NAACP. If we get into trouble, we will call upon our members and contributors, not upon political candidates or parties."

Ousts Staff; Occupy Office: Court Issues Permanent Injunction Against Them

NEW YORK — Fifty followers of the National Economic Growth and Reconstruction Organization (NEGRO) last Wednesday, Jan. 12, invaded the headquarters of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People because they disagreed with the civil rights organization's strong support of scatter-site housing for slum residents.

The demonstration by members of the black self-help organization began at about 10 a.m., taking NAACP staffers by surprise. Storming into the office, the demonstrators quickly evicted the secretaries from their desks and the switchboard operator from her station.

For the rest of the day, the handful of staffers who remained to cover the office lived through a nightmare of incipient violence, tinderbox tension and verbal and physical abuse.

Gets Injunction
No arrests were made. The intruders left nine hours later after General Counsel Nathaniel Jones obtained a temporary restraining order from the State Supreme Court that barred their illegal takeover.

The following morning at 10:45, Dr. Thomas Matthew, NEGRO president, himself appeared at the NAACP office with a contingent of 12 followers to demand a debate. After he left 40 minutes later, Executive Director Roy Wilkins flatly refused to debate the NEGRO leader, since "nothing could be gained."

After the demonstrators left the office, several items like jewelry and tape recorders were found missing.

Mrs. Mabel Smith, administrative assistant to General Counsel Nathaniel Jones, was savagely slapped by a female demonstrator because she could not get onto the elevator fast enough. Only an earlier warning from another female intruder that her assailant intended to harm her seriously kept Mrs. Smith from retaliating.

After they took over the vacated office, the demonstrators began manning the switchboard and responded to telephone calls with "NEGRO. The NAACP went out of existence." Miss Esther Spann, accompanied by Denton Watson, then attempted to turn off the switchboard.

But she was roughly pushed away and Mr. Watson was set upon and pummeled about the head and body and his eyeglasses were smashed.

Wants Debate
Gordon Lynch, NEGRO national field director, explained that the purpose of his visit was to arrange a public debate between Mr. Wilkins and NEGRO President Dr. Matthew, a neurosurgeon, on the subject of scatter-site housing.

The NAACP has strongly supported a controversial housing project that is being built in the predominantly white Forest Hills community of Queens, N.Y. The complex will have 840 units in three 24-story towers.

Forty per cent of the units will be reserved for the aged. The poor, many of whom will be from the ghetto, will occupy the rest.

The Issue
Mr. Lynch explained that NEGRO opposes scatter-site housing regarding it as the antithesis of community control. Furthermore, only "economically mobile persons" will get into Forest Hills, while the "reformed drug addict won't get in," because he is black and was sick.

Mr. Wilkins explained that the NAACP's position on scatter-site housing was set by delegates from around the country representing the Association's nearly 400,000 members. So, the national office could not change the NAACP stand even if it wanted to do so.

Reiterating the NAACP's position, Mr. Wilkins said that his organization supported the Forest Hills project as an alternative for people who want to live elsewhere. He also noted that the NAACP is now deeply involved in slum housing projects, both in rehabilitation and new construction.

On Friday morning, Jan. 14, State Supreme Court Judge Irving Saypol issued a permanent injunction against NEGRO's demonstrating at the NAACP office.

Job Discrimination Aids Blacks Decision

A Supreme Court ruling, 7-0, that could help thousands of blacks claiming job discrimination swept aside a "procedural technicality" that stood in the way of a former Pullman porter who had been stopped in his bid to be paid as a conductor.

Earl A. Love, the former porter, was backed by the government in appealing of the court from decisions by two lower Federal courts that blocked his suits against the Pullman Co. The government said that unless the rulings were reversed, thousands of discrimination cases would have been delayed or lost.

EEOC ACTION
The way in which the Equal Employment Opportunity Commission could step in was at issue. The 1964 Civil Rights Act blocks the EEOC from investigating a job discrimination charge, unless the charge first has been filed with a state employment discrimination agency, if one exists.

Love first complained in 1963 to the Colorado Civil Rights Commission. He said he was doing the same job as higher paid conductors while being classified as a porter-in-charge. He said others, mostly Negroes, were also victims of discrimination.

According to the government as many as a quarter of all job bias charges filed with the commission may be affected by the ruling.

SEGREGATION CASE TO HEARD

The Supreme Court, for the first time, agreed to hear arguments on claims of segregation in northern public school systems.

The case is from Denver, where black and Spanish children contend that they were segregated by the school board rather than by segregation laws.

While segregation laws in southern and border states have been ruled unconstitutional by the Supreme Court, it has not reached the issue of school segregation in states with no such laws.

The question concerning the abolishment of the death penalty will be heard by the Supreme Court.

The lives of 694 men and women awaiting execution in the United States may depend on the courts decision, to be handed down before the term ends in June.

The principle cases before the court concern four black men sentenced to die, two for murder and two for rape. The question posed through all four appeals is "Does the imposition and carrying out of the death penalty in this case constitute cruel and unusual punishment in violation of the Eighth and Fourteenth Amendments?"

OTHER ACTIONS BY SUPREME COURT

Monday a decision dismissing the claim that New Jersey school system is unconstitutional because some school districts have a high percentage of minority group students was affirmed.

Agreed to decide if political material can be distributed in side a privately owned shopping center mall on the public walkways without the owner's consent.

Agreed to Decide whether property owners may sue the Air Force if their homes

NAACP Seeks No Fiscal Aid From Administration

NEW YORK — The implication recently published in a widely circulated newsweekly that the "NAACP, along with other groups, is 'turning to the Nixon Administration for financial assistance' ... is not true," Executive Director Roy Wilkins said at the Association's annual meeting.

Mr. Wilkins referred to a comment in Simeon Booker's "Ticker Tape, U.S.A." column in Jet magazine, Dec. 23, 1971. The column opened with the assertion that "leaders of many national black organizations (including the NAACP) are turning to the Nixon Administration for financial assistance" as contributions from other sources decline.

The NAACP, Mr. Wilkins pointed out, "has not sought financial assistance from the Nixon Administration and will not seek such assistance in the future."

"We were awarded two contracts by the Nixon government in 1969-1970 and in 1970-1971. The first one was from the Department of Housing and Urban Development, to compile a list of minority contractors. The amount was $192,695 and all of it was spent in compiling the report. The NAACP did not profit. The amount merely passed through our accounting department. In fact, we lost money and finished the job only because we wanted to aid black and other minority

Mrs. Edna Griffin

State Representative
Mrs. A. June Franklin

President campaign in Iowa. Mrs. Griffin, said the purpose of the Tuesday rally was to "make visible the fact that Congresswoman Chisholm's appeal extends beyond her Brooklyn congressional district. We are not supporting her on the strength of promises but on the strength of performance during her three years in Congress."

Mrs. Chisholm has become widely known and respected for her legislative skills and political courage," Mrs. Griffin said that "men, women and children — all admire her courage, skill and ability. She has all three — Congresswoman Chisholm can't lose!"

She will be the biggest threat the Democratic Party will have in the campaign because she will be free to speak on all issues. And the people can decide.

She will be a bigger threat than George Wallace. When she makes clear what the real issues are, then the wheeling and dealing will be under a spotlight. The people will decide.

Represents All

Congresswoman Chisholm says she is running because she has been asked. She represents the little people. Her running is not as fantastic as it might appear at first. Black congressional representatives are in the unique position of representing more than their congressional districts. People all over the nation write to them. The foreign-born, members of minority groups, the armed forces and the youth of America take their problems to these representatives.

Mrs. Chisholm has supported withdrawal of all American military influence from Southeast Asia, has co-sponsored legislation to repeal the draft and establish a volunteer army, and fought for congressional reform. She has also co-sponsored legislation to establish nationwide system of day-care centers and supported a minimum annual income of $6,500 for a family of four.

Co-chairman Louise Noun said that, "Mexican-Americans, blacks and whites who care, youth, women and men who understand" are responding to the unbossed and unbought Congresswoman Shirley Chisholm's statement, "I am running for the office of President to represent all Americans."

She says "her campaign is picking up momentum in Cedar Rapids, Iowa City, Davenport, Des Moines, Ames and Sioux City, where there are Chisholm for President clusters, which include men as well as women."

A Chisholm for President campaign headquarters has been opened in Des Moines at 1535 Eleventh Street.

GO Leveling Off From Uphevels In 71

After several months of uncertainty, anxiety, and general confusion, Greater Opportunities, Inc. (G.O.) is beginning to pick up the pieces and meet the challenge given it by the problems the agency faces in building a strong, viable agency.

Under the leadership of its new Executive Director, Jeanette Jennings (Mrs. Lawrence), the agency and its board of directors have focused attention on many activities geared to meet this challenge. Donald H. Koontz is the chairman of the Board of Directors of G.O.

Agency of OEO
G.O. is the local community action agency, funded by the Office of Economic Opportunity (OEO), to operate programs in the counties of Polk, Warren, Jasper and Marion.

One of the main activities has been reorganization of GO in Administration and board responsibilities and functions.

Other activities have included:

Urban League Gets $4 Million Contract

The National Urban League's Labor Affairs Program has signed a new $4 million contract with the Office of National Projects of the U.S. Department of Labor, for its ongoing program to prepare minority group members for apprenticeship entry tests and admission to the construction trades, Vernon E. Jordan Jr., National Urban League Executive Director announced today.

The funds will maintain and enlarge the League's Labor Education Advancement Program (LEAP) currently operating in 42 cities across the nation.

Also provided is expansion of LEAP's Journeyman Training component, now in ten cities, which offers job-related education to minorities who may be beyond apprenticeship levels in skills and age, for higher level entry into the same trades.

Justice Department Active In Civil Rights Cases

ALABAMA
The Department of Justice filed a civil suit today charging the operators of a restaurant in Gulf Shores, Alabama, with discriminating against Negro patrons.

Attorney General John N. Mitchell said the suit against Mr. and Mrs. Dwight L. Steele, operators of Steele's Cafe, was filed in U. S. District Court in Mobile, Alabama.

The suit said the Steeles discriminate against Negroes by serving them only in the kitchen while allowing white patrons to use the dining room.

The suit asked for a court order enjoining the Steeles from refusing to admit Negroes to all portions of the cafe and from engaging in any racially discriminatory act or practice.

In addition, the suit asked that the Steeles be required to post a notice that their cafe has a policy of equal service to everyone.

SOUTH CAROLINA

The Department of Justice filed a civil suit today charging a major real estate operator in Charleston, South Carolina, with racial discrimination in the rental and sale of housing.

Attorney General John N. Mitchell said the suit was filed in U. S. District Court in Charleston against J. C. Long and the World Agency.

The suit said Long and the agency, of which he is a partner, pursue a policy and practice of racial discrimination in violation of the Fair Housing Act of 1968.

Community Activities Stressed

In Heart Association Report

Des Moines, Iowa: The Iowa Heart Association today released its Annual Report for the 1970-71 fiscal year. Publication of the report was announced by Mrs. Charles E. Storey of Des Moines, Chairman of the Board of Directors, Iowa Heart Association.

The report, which is available to the public, stressed the increased Community Program activities in which the Association has become involved during the past year.

Working through its nine Division areas, and many dedicated Volunteers, the Heart Association has continued its training program of Cardiopulmonary Resuscitation (closed chest heart massage and mouth-to-mouth breathing). This training is made available to physicians, nurses, ambulance drivers, firemen, policemen, plant safety personnel, and many others in related medical positions. In addition, rehabilitation of the stroke patient has received additional emphasis during the past 12 months.

School health programs are being held or planned in many areas of Iowa, with particular emphasis on the new Heart Sound Screening of school children in the 3rd and 4th grade levels. A miniature computer is used to compare normal heart sounds with abnormal ones. Those children found to have abnormal heart sounds are further examined by a heart specialist, and if treatment is needed, the child's family physician and parents are consulted.

During the past year, the Iowa Heart Association has held numerous symposia for medical personnel to help bring the latest information on cardiovascular diseases and their treatment from the research laboratory to the local scene. One of the primary ways in which this is accomplished is by cooperation with other health-related organizations such as the Academy of General Practice, the Iowa Thoracic Society, and others.

During the coming year, with the support of the citizens of Iowa, the Iowa Heart Association will endeavor to expand existing programs and initiate new ones in the hopes that the incidence of heart disease will be reduced.

The Iowa Heart Association holds its annual Heart Fund Campaign in February throughout the state.

Adventures With Your Children

"Adventures With Your Children," a television series about how tiny tots learn and how parents can give them a real boost along the way, will open on KRNT, Channel 8 at 9:00 a.m. on January 7th.

The series is a joint educational effort by the station and the Iowa State University Extension Service.

The "Adventures" series is keyed to the growing realization that between babyhood and seven years of age a child is in the "big business" of developing most of the intellectual capacity (I.Q.) that will be his at age 17 — and later on. It is in these formative years that parents can be so helpful to their children by giving them many experiences that lead

NAACP Board Approves Branches In Prisons

NEW YORK — The NAACP Board of Directors has approved the establishment of branches in Lewisburg, Penn., and Auburn, New York, prisons. This revolutionary action was taken at the Board's quarterly meeting here, Jan. 10, upon recommendation of the Board's committee on branches in response to requests from inmates.

These units will be organized by the Branch Department, headed by Gloster B. Current. The Board also authorized Mr. Current to "seek other geographic areas where prison chapters may be established."

In his annual report, Executive Director Roy Wilkins noted that the NAACP is not only active in following up the Attica tragedy, but is also in touch with other turbulent prison situations around the country.

Democratic Program on TV Jan. 21

On Friday, January 21, from 12 noon to 1 p.m. the Democrats will present a special program, live, on the three major commercial networks — ABC, NBC, CBS — and on public television, giving their view on the State of the Union. The program will originate in Washington, D.C. and will feature on the air phone calls from people across the country.

Please alert your state and local Democratic leaders and workers to watch this important program.

Wilkins Reports On NAACP Role 1971

NEW YORK — Roy Wilkins maintains that the opposition to full equality for black Americans "is stronger and more sophisticated than in the old days of flat" refusals for jobs, housing and education.

Mr. Wilkins said that the NAACP stoutly maintains its original commitment to legal, legislative and other actions within the framework of our constitutional system. It also "continued its intensified program for equal opportunities for minorities in the inner cities," he said.

Mr. Wilkins cited the marked successes of the NAACP's urban program. Last year, he noted, the urban program department opened day care centers in three cities. A highly successful day care center was opened the previous year in Jamaica, N.Y.

Furthermore, two more centers will be opened the end of this month. The centers are operated by NAACP branches and financed with Federal funds under the 1967 Social Security Act Amendments.

Other programs in voter education, housing, education and employment were also pressed by urban directors in Louisville, Ky., Houston, Tex., Chicago, Ill., and Newark.

to learning.

The series schedule is as follows:

January 21, 9:00 a.m. — featuring what a child can do.

January 28, 9:00 a.m. — featuring ways to tell that a child is learning.

Accompanying the series are three little booklets which parents, or others who care for children, may obtain for use at home. The booklets, also called "Adventures With Your Children," give ideas on why early adventures are so important to a little child and what kinds of adventures through nature and through "doing" can be done.

We hope, said Mrs. Kelly, Home Economist, that many young parents, as well as grandparents and others who look after children, will watch the television programs and request the booklets. The booklets are available through her office at Polk County Extension Service, 643 Federal Building, 210 Walnut Street, Des Moines, or the Warren County Extension Service, 1202 East Second, Indianola, Iowa, and also through the sponsoring television station.

Governor Robert Ray Issues George W. Carver Proclamation

On January 6, 1972, Governor Robert Ray issued a proclamation declaring January 5 George Washington Carver Day and the week of January 2-9, 1972, George Washington Carver Week.

In the proclamation, he said:

"The State of Iowa is proud that a man of such stature as George Washington Carver received his training at Iowa State College of Agriculture and Mechanical Arts and served on its faculty for a period of time after graduation;

"George Washington Carver, who was born of slave parents in Missouri on January 5, 1864, contributed greatly to agricultural research during his tenure at Iowa State College and at Tuskegee Institute in Alabama;

"His research, which resulted in the discovery of approximately 300 products made from the peanut, have benefitted millions all over the world."

Governor Ray was out of the state when the request was made for the proclamation. It was issued other agencies in the 4-county area.

(2) More emphasis has been placed on technical assistance to central office staff and to neighborhood centers staffs in an effort to stimulate and strengthen center operations.

(3) Emphasis has also been placed on training central office project and department directors in providing better and more technical assistance to delegate agency boards.

(4) In a total agency effort, we have worked closely with Planned Variations (Community Development Program) and particularly with prime service area residents in preparation for the neighborhood priority board elections and many of our employees assisted with the election on election day.

(5) Much effort has been put forth in acquainting government officials with GO, through visits with Governor Robert Ray, Congressman Neal Smith, Quentin Emery, director of Polk County Welfare; Robert Tyson, director of the State Economic Opportunity Office and with the boards of supervisors of the four counties.

(6) Another area of emphasis has been in strengthening board committees to bring about more positive and active participation of board members and members of the Assembly of Groups, particularly in the areas of personnel policies, equal opportunity and career development, and budget activities.

(7) Also, involvement with national and state community action agencies and participating in regional, state and national OEO meetings and conferences.

As a result of improvements made in the agency's administrative capabilities, GO received official notification of refunding for the year 1971-72. In addition, State OEO has re-delegated the operation of Emergency Food & Medical Services Program, and the Governor's Drop-Out Program to G.O., Inc.

The agency lost those programs and the Headstart Parent Involvement Component was removed from the agency's jurisdiction during the period of time when administrative problems prompted OEO Regional office in Kansas City to withhold funds from GO.

Heads in Washington
Mrs. Jennings and Mr. Koontz, will be attending a conference of the National Community Action Agencies Executive Directors Association in Washington, D.C. the week of January 17.

Radio Program
The agency will be guests of radio station KSO, Sunday, January 23, and Sunday, February 13, on that station's program, "Black Opinion '72".

Clinics and Learning Centers Needed

Members of the Pioneer Columbus Board gave top ranking to the establishment of a medical and dental clinic. They also asked that the Des Moines School Board establish learning centers in their area and that the Polk County Welfare Department set up a branch office there.

Members of the Woodland-Willkie Board placed increased social services at the top of their priority list. In this category they included increased availability of children's day care services, more recreation programs, more services for senior citizens, revised educational programs and improved housing.

The Model City Neighborhood Board delayed releasing its priorities until after it has met with residents of its area.

quets of giant paper flowers. Is your daughter skillful with the sewing machine? It's easy to make a party tablecloth and napkins with patches of inexpensive fabrics printed in the party colors, a bright new bedspread for her room, or her own hostess outfit. A long skirt in alternating strips of pink and orange felt would be sensational. If she's more the jeans type, suggest a poncho-style putover. As to the party menu, begin with a "soft" Sangria: fill a pitcher with ginger ale, add lemon and orange slices and a few drops of Grenadine for color. Vieja Ropa (a Mexican dish meaning literally "old clothes") is the perfect main dish. A mixture of flank steak, canned Italian tomatoes, green and red peppers, cinnamon and clove, it looks magnificent served in a huge earthenware casserole. Another thing you can show the budding young hostess is—how to save up her calories for the big meal so she won't gain weight. On party day, or whenever three extra pounds show up, just make breakfast and lunch each a Minute Meal — with one packet of Slender diet food from Carnation mixed with 6 ounces nonfat milk. Only 164 calories for each Minute Meal (or 225 if made with whole milk), and does it taste good... ole!

PICK A, B or C:

If the first 3 minutes of a long distance call cost 65¢ how much is an additional 3 minutes?

a.) Never more than 81¢

b.) Never more than 67¢

c.) Never more than 63¢

The best answer is C. On any long distance call, 3 additional minutes never cost more than the first 3 minutes, and usually cost less. So don't be worried if your long distance call runs over 3 minutes. It doesn't cost much to keep on talking. A little money still goes a long way on the telephone.

Keeping The FAITH
"Know Thyself," the ancient Greek dictum which has been quoted for centuries, remains an almost Herculean task. Even though man has explored nearly every horizon on earth, the most uncharted region remains the same - his own interior.

We still have a great deal to learn about the processes that result in our conscious thoughts and emotions. We know even less about this mind which produces visions, voices, and hallucinations, and still find ourselves groping for explanations today.

Dr. Wilson Van Dusen, a practicing psychologist, has discovered that his recent clinical findings on the subject of hallucinations conformed to those of the 18th century scientist-theologian, Emanuel Swedenborg whose detailed accounts of parapsychological experiences written over two hundred years ago have proved quite helpful to modern day psychologists. Dr. Van Dusen's conclusions are strikingly similar to those of Swedenborg and are published in booklet form entitled The Presence of Spirits in Madness. They have radical implications for our self-understanding.

In another booklet, Dreams, Hallucinations, Visions, Dr. Ernst Benz, a leading German theologian, offers an objective study of such phenomena as recorded in the Bible, in writings of mystics, and in scientific annals.

Both copies of these fascinating booklets - Dreams, Hallucinations, Visions and The Presence of Spirits in Madness - are available for only $1.00 (postpaid) at the Swedenborg Foundation, Dept. PP, 139 E. 23rd St., New York, N.Y. 10010.

If you know of a need in our community please contact Mrs. McCell Clinton, 266-8459. If possible it would be a good idea for Mrs. McCell Clinton to be able to announce the new project at our January session so we could start to gather items needed.

Policyholder Questions Answered by the Health Insurance Institute, 277 Park Ave., N. Y., N. Y., 10017

Q. I'm looking for an authentic definition of what a health insurance policy is all about. Can you provide me with one? And can you state the purpose of a health insurance policy?

A. Let's put it this way: A health insurance policy is a contract between an insurer (an insurance company or an association authorized to issue such contracts) and an insured person (an individual or group of individuals) in which the insurer agrees to the payment of certain benefits to the insured or his beneficiary for specified losses sustained by the insured, resulting from sickness or accident. How's that?

Now here's some additional information that might interest you. Unlike many other types of policies, a new health insurance policy is not issued every year or every three years. The original policy remains in force until terminated (either by the insured person or the insurance company). Many policies remain in force for 10, 20, or even 30 years and if changes are necessary they are made by "endorsement" by the company. It's also interesting to note that the coverage under an old policy may be broader or more limited than new policies currently issued.

Q. I understand that under certain conditions a person with an accident policy will not get paid. Can you tell me just what these conditions are?

A. Common exclusions found in accident policies include:
• Suicide or attempted suicide while sane or insane.
• Hernia of any type.
• Any loss caused by or contributed to by disease or medical treatment, except a bacterial infection caused by an accidental cut or wound.

AT CRESCENT SCHOOL OF BEAUTY CULTURE was attracted to two very busy students. Here's introducing them:

MARSHA ALLISON, of New London, Missouri, a '70 graduate of that city's Mark Twain High School, began studying at Crescent in September 1970 where she is enrolled in teacher training. She hopes to complete her course in March. Her ultimate goal is to have a school! She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Allison, 612 East 4th Street.

ROBERT PRINCE, was the second new person I met. He is from Columbia, Mo. Prince completed an equivalency course in '69, entered Crescent School of Beauty Culture October '71, and hopes to graduate in '72. He anticipates returning to Columbia and entering business there. Prince is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Thos. Carter, 18 Bryant Walkway. His wife is the former Maxine Kelly. The couple reside at 1622 Forest Avenue.

SHOPPING AT THELMA CHEATOM'S HOUSE OF ANTIQUES, met two young men home from school for the weekend:

CHARLES (CHUCK) CHEATOM, triple "A" student at Marshalltown Junior College, where he is not only an outstanding scholar but a member of the school's basketball team. Ping pong is his hobby and he recently placed second in a tournament. In October he placed first in an intramural football game. In the final games, with the scores 34-12, Cheatom scored the last two assuring touchdowns.

CHEATOM'S CHRISTMAS HOLIDAYS pleasure was highlighted by a get-together with his cousin, Larry Bennett, of Waterloo, Iowa. Larry attends Seattle Pacific College, Seattle.

Calvin Pruitts Entertain During Holidays

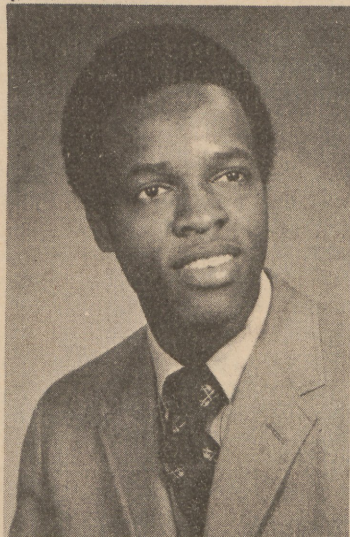

Friends and neighbors gathered together New Years Eve in a room of the Calvin Pruitts on Hull Street, to see the "Old Year Out and the New Year In."

Mrs. Pruitt (Vivian) had taken special pains in her decorations which included the whole Hogs Head, complete with an apple, and placed in a conspicuous place so that each guest immediately sensed the tone she had set for the evening.

At exactly the stroke of Washington.

DON C. BROWN was the second of the two students. He is a Drake U. journalism major who is on a scholarship. Brown is the son of Mrs. Mary Alice Brown, 2723 Columbia, and Ellsworth Brown, N.Y., N.Y.

DON IS STILL RADIANT over his trip to the East coast where he visited with his father who is appearing at Staten Island's "Peter's" where he is known under the stage name of "Robert Clark." Clark has played in Des Moines with Speck Redd and now has a vocal group called the Vocal Society featuring DeeDee Bridgewater, fast rising singer from Michigan and who is frequently compared to Billie Holiday.

DON BRINGS US FURTHER EASTCOAST NEWS when he adds that his father has written songs for Thad Jones' big band and is also playing with Clark Terry, "former" trumpet player for Johnny Carson's Tonight Show.

DON'S BROTHER, Kevan Brown, is playing drums with his father, Robert Clark. Don, a trombonist, quite naturally will find a chair there, too, in due time!

midnite, donned in festive head gear provided for them by the hostess, guests joined in merrymaking through the use of bells, horns, tamborenes, and other gadgets.

And, to quote an old cliché — a good, good, time was had by all.

Safety Is A Family Job Because of their unique fun appeal, snowmobiles seem to be operated by more family members, children included, than perhaps any recreational product in history.

For this reason the recreation experts at Mercury snowmobiles suggest that, in addition to those rules of a more adult-male nature which are frequently repeated, families learn and always observe some special safety rules.

Most important, never, never leave your keys in the switch, especially on an electric start machine. This is an all-too-attractive invitation to children to "see what'll happen" if they turn the key — and the result could be serious injury.

Be certain all family members learn the "feel" of snowmobile braking action, and automatically allow adequate distance for the inherent sliding stop of the machine.

All family members should be coached on how to stop a snowmobile if the throttle should stick — by simply and quickly turning off the ignition key.

If children are allowed to operate the machine, they never should be beyond your sight range—in a large open field.

Never over-exert yourself physically in terms of distance traveled or in emergencies such as trying to pull out a stuck machine. The safe rule, especially for youths and women, is to never travel further than an easy walk back to aid.

And the best rule is to travel together as a family — never alone—for more fun and safety too!

Modern Etiquette

By Roberta Lee

Q. Please comment on the correct manner of eating soup?

A. Remember that the cup or bowl of soup is tipped away from you. Your spoon is also filled by dipping it away from you. The soup is then sipped from the side of the spoon, as noiselessly as possible of course. The entire spoon is never thrust into the mouth.

Q. When a man finds it necessary to introduce himself, does he prefix "Mr." to his name?

A. No. He can say, "I am Douglas Craig," or "My name is Craig," unless of course he has the title of Doctor, which he then properly includes with his name.

Q. If it so happens that a bride-elect has already had an opportunity to thank a friend for a wedding gift received, is she still obligated to write a thank-you note?

A. Indeed she is — and as soon as possible.

Q. My sorority is giving a dance soon to which we shall invite boy friends. Do we girls pay for everything, including corsages and entertainment?

A. Each girl buys the tickets for herself and her escort, and, of course, pays her share to the sorority for whatever food and entertainment is provided at the dance. Your escorts, however, pay for your corsages and provide the transportation.

Q. Is it ever permissible to reach across one person in order to shake hands with a third person?

A. Best to avoid this. If, however, the other person seems bent on shaking hands, be sure to ask the pardon of the person across whom you must reach.

Q. Would it be proper for a widow's married daughter to announce her mother's second marriage, and may the widow's son give her away?

A. The announcement should be made by the widow and her second husband, but it would be quite all right for her son to walk down the aisle with her and give her away.

Q. Must a man, while dining in a restaurant with his wife, always rise whenever another couple stops at their table for a few words?

A. He must always rise when a woman stops at his table.

Q. Would it be proper for us to send a wedding gift of money to some newlyweds who live in a distant city?

A. Certainly, quite proper.

President Nixon Contributes to UNCF Drive

WASHINGTON — Arthur A. Fletcher launched into his new job as executive director of the United Negro College Fund by picking up a personal contribution to the Fund, January 10, from the President of the United States.

President Nixon handed the check to Mr. Fletcher, his former Assistant Secretary of Labor, in a brief ceremony at the White House. It was the first time that a President in office had personally contributed to the UNCF.

"We accept this check not only as an honor in that it comes from the President," Mr. Fletcher said, "but we are also deeply aware of the significance it holds for the United Negro College Fund."

The predominantly black colleges have historically made solid contributions towards a better America by the finely-trained young men and women they produce.

"President Nixon's gift recognizes this fact and encourages us greatly in the tremendous challenges we face ahead."

Little Patience With Draft Dodgers

Since the Viet Nam conflict began a large number of men have taken sanctuary in Canada rather than serve in the armed services. As such, they are draft dodgers and subject to criminal prosecution as provided by law if they return to America.

Today, there is considerable agitation to forgive these men as they are seeking to return to this country. There are those who talk of hiding these men away from the law claiming that they are not draft dodgers because we are fighting an unjust war.

This is a sad commentary on the draft dodgers and those who seek to hide them away as both are guilty of violating the law.

Excusing criminals for their acts has gotten the country in the position of down grading the authority of the courts and glorifying the law breaker who commits the crime and gains a lot of support for his wrong doing.

This is just another instance of so called intelligent people are contributing to the rising tide of disregard for law and order and respect for the rights of other people.

Frankly, they are not helping to reduce the crime rate which is evidenced not only by the report of the FBI but also the local court criminal dockets which are bigger in Polk County than ever before.

We have no patience with those people who disown their country in time needed but seek to enjoy its benefits when the storm blows over.

Church Fails To Honor Its Great

Last Saturday, citizens of many communities took time out to honor the birthday of the late Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. In some cities schools were closed and programs conducted to commemorate the occasion.

Dr. King was one of the great religious leaders of our time. Employing his unique ability to help to improve the plight of his people in a manner not tried before in this country. He succeeded to a marked degree.

Sunday during half time at the great football game in New Orleans outstanding entertainers paid great tribute to the late Louie Armstrong. Al Hirt, white, a great bandleader from New Orleans headed the show. It was befitting and the crowds reacted to it.

As a party of the Rose Bowl parade in Pasadena on New Year's day an elaborate float, built in the form of a trumpet made of 30,000 roses, honored Armstrong with the band playing "When the Saints Go Marching In" which was his favorite. To our knowledge, nothing was said in any of the churches about Dr. King last Sunday.

This may not be accurate in some isolated cases and yet he was one of the great leaders of our time. On the other hand the sports world and the entertainment world went to great lengths to commemorate the outstanding deeds of one of their number.

We have said on many occasions that the churches are going into projects which secular organizations are attempting to solve by which they are leaving undone and neglecting their own programs and responsibilities.

We Don't Always Agree

It is the policy of the Bystander to print the news as we find it. Nobody is excluded from using it's columns on the same basis as the next person and expressing opinions even though we might not agree with them.

This observation is made in the light of a syndicated cartoon which appeared in the Bystander last week in which the subjects were quoted as saying "Doesn't He Care About Us".

Health for All

TB is on the decline. Therein lies a danger.

Today some physicians see so few cases of TB that they may not recognize the symptoms. The results can be tragic.

In an outbreak of TB in a New York family — reported in a recent article in the New England Journal of Medicine — three members who actually had active disease were incorrectly diagnosed by eight different doctors and hospital clinics. The cases were wrongly diagnosed as influenza and viral infections which often have symptoms like TB. Not until one of the family, a teenage girl, collapsed and was rushed to the hospital was a correct diagnosis of advanced TB made. Her case was complicated, the disease was not susceptible to the usual combination of drugs that treat TB, and the girl died two months after the diagnosis.

When TB is not diagnosed, the disease can be fatal. Deaths from TB, however, have been drastically reduced over the last few decades. Last year 5,300 people died from the disease. Ten years ago, the figure was double that number.

Last year there were also 39,000 new cases diagnosed as active TB. Even with correct diagnoses, many people do not receive the right drugs in sufficient amounts for long enough periods. And not all of them have laboratory tests of samples of their sputum to check the progress of the disease. The examination of sputum shows whether or not TB germs are present in the body.

Excellent diagnostic, therapeutic and preventive tools are available to control and prevent TB. If only all doctors could properly recognize the declining disease in time, they could give TB the treatment it deserves.

VETERANS

Q — Is it too late for a veteran over 65 years of age to apply for a waiver of government insurance premiums?

A — No. If a veteran becomes totally disabled before his 65th birthday and meets other requirements, he is entitled to the waiver even though he does not apply for it until he is over

ON THE SPORTS SCENE

Bowl Game

Did the Super bowl game suit you, or are you demanding a replay? We hesitated to pick a winner, because Miami seemed like one of those teams of destiny. They should have lost to the Chiefs. That guy, that never misses a field goal from within thirty yards, and against the Dolphins he missed two. Then came Baltimore minus their two big running backs whose pass blocking and running were sorely missed not withstanding the fine game played by their subs. The absence of pass blocking kept Johnny Unitis on his back all afternoon. There is reason to suppose that the two big backs of the Colts would have done just about as well as the two that Dallas had. So, we would have to say that Miami went as far as they could, never minding what the experts said. And Duane Thomas talked, and sounded as if he knew what he was saying.

State Basketball

And while this was going on, our college basketball teams were having at each other. Drake dropped a one point game to North Texas in a gym that they have won just once in six tries. Iowa State, Gene Mack and all, got dusted by Kent State. Coach John says that there just wasn't enough team work. Now, by the time you read this, the Cyclones may have won one, or dropped at least one more. But Johns knows that any coach has to have the players if he is to win, and Howard Stacey of Drake may be in the same boat. Do they have the ball players? For that matter,

Tech Faces
North High

Meanwhile, back at the ranch, Tech and North head for their show down battle. This could well be the game of the season in Des Moines. Besides battling for first place, there is a lot of rivalry going. The members of both teams know each other, and we bet there is a lot of talk going on about who is going to kill who. Should be a real scuffle, with Tech's speed and ball handling against the superior size of North. Who will win? Man, I don't know!

The fellows from Tech nearly got their bubble burst at Hoover. But they kept their cool when the pressure was really on and squeaked through another one. Those guys just don't seem to let anything upset them, or at least they don't show it. But I'll bet there were a lot of nervous stomachs when Hoover had the ball and was trying for that last winning shot. Bet they nearly had to carry Sonny Mitchell and Cy Forrester out, or the two have a bad case of ulcers now.

North kept the pressure on by winning their last game. They seem to have found themselves, and are really rolling. They have to beat the Engineers to gain just a tie for the top and set the stage for the really big one later on if both teams maintain their present pace. But if the Polar bears lose this one, they will have to hope somebody beats Tech at least once.

Frazier Wins

Oh, yes there was a fight last week end. Heavyweight champ Joe Frazier knocked the sc off some fellow whose only claim to ring fame was a title fight was a college degree. Now, we don't guess old Joe got too far in school, but he evidently knows more about the inside of four ropes than any college graduate of holder of a master's degree. And then, too, a degree doesn't help block punches. So the college kid was knocked kicking maybe not quite as soon as Joe wanted to, but kicking none the less.

But do you know, we think they will hold off the second Muhammad Ali fight so long that people will lose interest in it, and maybe that is just what Joe's handlers want.

With Allen Ashby

does Coach Miller of Iowa University? We watched the pros do it in the New York, Houston basketball game, and wondered how much a young player could learn by watching them. They make the seemingly impossible passes and shots look easy, and yet you know it takes hours of work to be able to do the things those fellows do. Maybe that is what the kids can learn from them. There might be some other things, too.

Navy Inducts
87 Iowans
At Luncheon

Eighty-seven young men from Iowa were inducted into the navy at a luncheon Wednesday at the Ft. Des Moines Hotel which was witnessed by their parents, wives and friends. The Navy League arranged the program.

Capt. Harry E. Sorenson, of Omaha, commander of this recruiting area, conducted the swearing in ceremony and the program was presided over by Commander James Lightsey, commander of the Iowa area.

These young men left Des Moines Wednesday evening for San Diego, California, where they will receive their boot training. Among the group was one Negro, C. R. Terrill, III, of Des Moines.

N. Y.C. Muslims Are Silent As 800 LA.
Guards Stand By

New York City Muslims had no comment, Tuesday, on the violence that took the lives of two Blacks and two white policemen in Baton Rouge, La. Monday afternoon and injured 34 other persons.

All was reported quiet in the Louisiana state capital as 800 National Guardsmen stood by, called out by Gov. John J. McKeithen; and Mayor W.W. Dumas maintained the 5:30 p.m. to dawn curfew.

Officials charged that Monday's demonstration and shooting developed from the arrest, Friday, of two Muslims allegedly soliciting funds without a license. On Monday some well-dressed youths blocked the street with their cars and shooting erupted when police tried to clear the way.

New Navy
Recruiting Program

The U. S. Navy today announced the establishment of a new program that guarantees an applicant formal training in an occupational specialty of his choosing.

Gary Peterson, AT 1, USN, Navy Recruiter in Des Moines heralded the new program as a major advancement in Navy recruiting policy. "It will allow the Navy to be more competitive with private industry, and more responsive to the needs and desires of the individual," he said. "This, combined with the recently enacted pay boost, means we can offer a high school graduate an expensive technical education in a field he chooses, and a good salary too." He added that the latest pay raise has brought the beginning navyman's salary to double what it used to be.

Young men who qualify can now be guaranteed training in one of several closely related fields in fourteen different occupational specialties such as Mechanical, Administrative, Electrical and Medical. The new program applies to both regular enlistments and the Navy's delayed enlistment program.

Interested persons should contact Petty Officer Peterson and discuss the Navy at his office located at Room 132, New Federal Bldg., Des Moines, Iowa or call 284-4149.
