Black Caucus Probes

Official 'Lawlessness'

WASHINGTON—The Congressional Black Caucus plans legislative and political action to curb "lawlessness" in the administration of federal programs affecting low and middle income Americans.

Three days of hearings were scheduled by the Caucus to provide the basis for a legislative package to be introduced in the Congress and for recommendations to be made to the Republican and Democratic national convention platform committees.

Announcing the schedule of hearings for this week (June 26-28) Congressman Ronald V. Dellums (D-Calif.) said the Caucus would show that "most federal domestic programs" are administered in such a fashion as to harm rather than help many millions of Americans.

"We will show," he said "that federal grants to improve police administration have instead been used to buy tanks, machine guns, and other items of warfare technology unrelated to the administration of justice."

Speaking for the 13 members of the Congressional Black Caucus, Dellums said millions of young children have been denied medical screenings authorized for them in 1967 and that federal highway construction has "illegally displaced thousands of families."

Witnesses for the hearings were to include former Attorney General Ramsey Clark, Senator Edward M. Kennedy (D-Mass.), and a "surprise" witness on FBI surveillance of black politicians and religious leaders, entertainers and sports figures.

Blacks Can Pick President" Says Jackson

MIAMI—Civil rights leader Jesse Jackson predicted here last week that black delegates will make or break Senator George McGovern's bid for the Democratic presidential nomination in July.

"Blacks have the power to bring McGovern in on the first ballot or stop him," Jackson told a press conference during the annual meeting of the National Newspaper Publishers Association.

He pointed out that seven million black voters can "clearly make the difference in choosing the President in 1972."

"Blacks have the power to give Mr. Nixon a landslide or unseat him," he said. "Black Republicans and Democrats, though they have different roles, should have one goal."

"Hands that picked cotton in 1964 can pick the President in 1972," Jackson continued.

After McGovern's primary victory in New York last week Jackson estimated the South Dakota Senator is less than 200 delegate votes short of a first ballot victory at next month's convention.

He noted that there are 200 uncommitted black delegates who could shift to McGovern and give him that victory.

However, Jackson warned, in order for McGovern to win the black delegate support, he must endorse a comprehensive black economic "bill of rights". He said McGovern was now discussing that bill of rights with a number of black congressional leaders who could guarantee a McGovern victory on first ballot.

"We now have civil rights. We are gaining civil power. Our goal is civil economics," Jackson said.

Garth Reeves, NNPA President and Editor, Publisher of the Miami Times, endorsed Jackson's efforts on behalf of the Association.

Neubauer Joins ISPIRG

The Iowa Student Public Interest Research Group (ISPIRG) has hired John C. Neubauer as its interim coordinator effective this morning. Neubauer is the former director of the Accounting Aid Society and the Consumers Education & Protection Organization (CEPO).

As interim coordinator during the summer, Neubauer will be responsible for organizing the student program so that it can begin full operations next fall. His organizing work will consist of (1) insuring a broad financial base for its

BLACK WOMAN CHOSEN VIRGINIA DEMOCRATIC LEADER

RICHMOND—In a dual break with southern tradition, the Virginia Democratic Party elected a black woman lawyer from Danville as its National Committeewoman and to serve as its floor leader at the National Democratic Convention in Miami Beach in July.

National Committeewoman Ruth Harvey Charity is a distinguished civil rights leader and member of the Danville City Council.

Selected by the delegation's McGovern caucus for delegation chairman, Mrs. Charity stepped down in favor of the Virginia party's new liberal State chairman, Joseph T. Fitzpatrick, who in turn supported her for floor leader. In this role Mrs. Charity will lead the McGovern forces and preside over sessions of the full delegation when the convention acts on civil rights issues.

Southers Stricken

Mr. Gerome Southers, resident of Des Moines for 30 years and Deacon at Corinthian Church was hospitalized last Saturday while on vacation in Las Vegas.

Mr. Southers, stricken with blood clots was rushed to the hospital for emergency surgery and required a second surgery Monday for internal bleeding of the abdomen.

Mrs. Southers, the mother of eight children, six who have attended college, was vacationing with her husband when the car transmission also broke down. They need $200 for the transmission to be repaired and $1100 for a specially equipped plane to transport Mr. Southers back to Des Moines. Your contribution would be highly appreciated.

He needs 10 qts. of blood to continue to survive. Donors should report immediately to the Blood Bank at 7th and Day.

operations, (2) preparing a comprehensive plan of potential research projects, (3) developing a professional staff structure, (4) identifying resource persons throughout the state who would be willing to work with ISPIRG as volunteers, and (5) establishing lines of communication with the general public.

The name of Jackson Street, on which Dr. King once lived, was renamed for him after 10,000 black citizens petitioned the Commission for the change. Two weeks later, after white groups protested the action, the Commission voted two to one to restore the old name.

HULAN JACK DEFEATED

NEW YORK—Veteran Harlem political leader Hulan Jack was defeated in his bid for reelection to the New York State Assembly by Jesse Gray, a leader of the Harlem rent strike. Gray had sought public office unsuccessfully in the past but was endorsed this year by the Amsterdam News. He received 1,628 votes to Jack's 889.

REGISTRARS NEGLECT YOUNG BLACK VOTERS

WASHINGTON—Congressman Ronald V. Dellums (D-Calif.) has charged that local election registrars are failing to sign up young blacks and nonstudents for the 1972 election.

He cited a poll by The Student Vote, a nonpartisan organization working to mobilize young voters, which showed that "only 40 percent of the nonstudents - the black, brown and white working young - are registered."

"This figure indicated," he said, "that the persons responsible for registering voters in this country have not cared enough to reach these young working people and include them in our electoral framework."

STATE ACTION PROPOSED TO BAR PRIVATE CLUB DISCRIMINATION

SACRAMENTO—California's Secretary of State Edmund Brown, Jr., has proposed that state governments act to bar liquor licenses to private clubs that discriminate according to race.

Brown criticized the recent U.S. Supreme Court decision that states had the power under the Constitution to issue liquor licenses to such clubs. He called the ruling "an invitation to bigotry" and said he would sponsor legislation to withhold liquor privileges from California clubs that are guilty of racial or religious discrimination.

JUSTICE AIMS AT FIRE HOUSE DISCRIMINATION

WASHINGTON—Attorney General Richard G. Kleindiest says the Justice Department has "warned" the fire departments of Montgomery Ala., Chicago and Los Angeles about their discriminatory job policies.

The U.S. Civil Rights Commission complained in 1969 and 1970 of the lack of job opportunities for minority groups in municipal fire departments. The Justice Department threat to take action against offending fire departments would be the first move by the Federal Government against a municipal agency under the equal employment provisions of the 1964 Civil Rights Act.

African Report

The United States Senate has voted to cut off funds for new military base agreements between the U.S., Portugal and Bahrain unless they are submitted to the Senate as treaties.

This unusual move resulted because of the Administration's inaction on a resolution passed in March which requested that the Senate be asked to consider the agreements.

Constitutionally, the treaty-making powers require the advice and consent of the Senate. Last week's action is a clear attempt by the Senate to regain its voice in the shaping of American foreign and domestic commitments. More specifically, however, many Senators apparently wish to vote on whether the United States should support the colonial policies of Portugal by concluding a military base deal.

N.Y. Sues on Tours to South Africa

The New York City Commission on Human Rights has initiated action to halt the promotion of tours to South Africa by travel agencies, air and shipping lines.

Mrs. Eleanor Holmes Norton, head of the Commission, said it was "disgraceful that the most outright racist country in the world is allowed to peddle its wares here unchallenged."

Advertising of public accommodations which discriminate against any person because of race, color or national origin is unlawful in New York. The firms charged include Sabena Belgian World Airways, UTA French Airlines, the Union Castle Line and P & O British Cruise Line.

The Burundi government has agreed to allow a three-man United Nations team to visit the East African nation where as many as 100,000 people may have been killed in recent tribal warfare.

The humanitarian mission is made up of two African members of Secretary General Waldheim's personal staff and a representative of the U.N. High Commission for Refugees.

Rhodesian State of Emergency

The Rhodesian Parliament has voted to renew the nationwide state of emergency for yet another year. Law and Order Minister Desmond Lardner Burke said that there was still a threat from African nationalist guerrillas based outside Rhodesia.

U.N. Rights Group called Ineffective

Excessive and repetitious discussion of South Africa's apartheid policies is the basis for harsh criticism of the United Nations Human Rights Commission by the United States and Great Britain. Opponents of South Africa saw this as one more instance of the American government's attempt to cozy up to the racist regime.

Physical Threats And Harrassment Order Of The Day

Your drive to the site of the pickets in Waterloo will end at the Eagle Shopping Plaza on Logan & Columbia Streets. Glancing around you'll see Black people in pairs or groups of three or four at each of the 5 entrances to the Plaza. When your eyes re-focus down to the parking lot onto the four stores, you'll see 6 picketers sitting in chairs exactly 40 feet apart. Things are peaceful on the surface. The Black citizens follow the terms of the two injunctions to the letter. And if you had been there on Friday, June 23, you would have witnessed a dramatic example of the 'white problem' in Waterloo. At approximately 7:00 p.m. on that evening a red and black late model automobile careened into the parking lot and charged for the picket line. As it approached the nearest Black picketer, who never left his seat, it belled out and cropped a close circle around his cahir. A greying white woman, later identified as Mrs. Kanawski, wife of the owner of the Eagle Shopping Plaza, laughed wildly from the front passenger seat. The car stopped and mother and son got out. They were immediately surrounded by Blacks who protested the obvious harrassment of the picketers. Suddenly a white hand flashed upwards and down and a teenaged Black girl reeled from the blow. Her mother sprang towards the assailant. Mrs. Kanawski, like a cat only to be caught by two policemen before she could strike again. Her first blow had merely knocked a rather fancy pair of sunglasses to the ground.

The leaders of the picket demanded justice and a party of Blacks left for police headquarters to file a formal complaint. The Kanawski's were meanwhile escorted by police into the Eagle Shopping Center. Sometime later their car was driven to the door and they left. Now Black tempers strained under mountains of Christian restraint and threatened to explode. "Let's close this god damned shopping center down," one of the picket leaders moaned. "After 26 days of trying to be civilized with these people, I'm through. If anybody tries to cross this picket line we're gonna bust some heads."

The store owners in the Eagle Plaza, with no business anyway, closed early and picketers moved to a neighborhood center to discuss the days activities. A white detective soon appeared at that meeting and told the group that the police chief was trying to get in touch with the picket leaders to warn them of expected trouble. Motorcycle gangs were alleged to be preparing for an attack on the picketers, the next day, Saturday the 24th. A vote was called for and bright and early Saturday morning a healthy contingent of determined Black citizens of Waterloo were back at the Eagle Plaza waiting and watching. Up and down the pickets from young and old alike came the resolute, solid determination to hold their ground. Noon broke with a blistering sun and the day drew longer. Black teachers, and preachers, reporters, and maids, shoe shine men, and the unemployed stood side by side embraced each other occasionally, joked a bit and waited. "Lord knows I want to live, but a honkie just don't understand that I'd rather be buried in my grave than to take this mess another day," "One old soul-dier daid. Another voice chimed in "I am through backing up!" Eyes narrowed and faces of beautiful Black and weathered brown strained in the midday sun - waiting.

The expected assault never materialized, but Blacks in Waterloo who walk the picket lines still march and watch and wait. As we go to the press, the pickets continue and most of the leaders of the picket have lost their jobs. Legal defense monies are needed. Dig into your pocket and send some money! If you can't go to Waterloo to put your body on the line, send money to: Legal Defense Fund 1003 E. 4th Waterloo, Iowa 50703

AAUW Names Fellowship For Mrs. Bayles.

MRS. CLARA BAYLES

Mrs. Clara Bayles, of 701 41st Street, was one of five honorees of the Des Moines Branch of the American Association of University Women at its Annual May Fellowship breakfast held at the Echo Valley Country Club. A $500.00 Scholarship was named after Mrs. Bayles. This scholarship will go to some woman who is studying for her Ph.D. degree.

Mrs. Bayles is a graduate of Drake University and has done graduate work at Drake and at the University of Chicago.

Mrs. Bayles is a social worker for the Polk County Department of Social Services supervising children in foster homes and working on foster placements. She worked for twelve years in the Reviewing Section of the State Department of Social Services. She has been a member of the Board of the Settlement House Association and also a member of the Polk County Association for Retarded Children.

Mrs. Bayles is a member of The Des Moines and the State Boards of the NAACP, and was President of the Des Moines Branch for three years during which time she was responsible for bringing Dr. Martin Luther King to Des Moines for his only speaking engagement in this City. During her term in office the Branch received The Thalheimer Award for Branch activity and a National Award for a Branch Bulletin. She is a member of and chairman of the Corinthian Baptist Church's Board of Christian Education. She has also been a board member of the Y.W.C.A.

Mrs. Bayles is co-chairman with Mr. Grover Hahn of Ethiopia for the Foreign Food Fair. Through her membership in Delta Sigma Theta Sorority, Mrs. Bayles was able to participate in a goodwill and educational tour of eight African nations and four European countries in 1962.

FLIP WILSON and singer BILLY DANIELS are no longer pals. The feud started when Billy and his wife rented their house in Hollywood Hills, California, to Flip - then tried to collect $6,000 to cover the damage which, they claim, Flip inflicted on the pad while living there.

You shouldn't tamper with success: Nevertheless, FLIP WILSON recently fired all the writers on his show. No reason given except Flip isn't the easiest guy to work with and his hat size recently enlarged considerably.

returning to "Mod Squad" in September, but only because, as she explains it, "My blue funk mood isn't quite deep enough that I'm heading toward deliberate self-destruction. If I broke my contract and left the series, I'd be blackballed by the industry. I'm not quite ready for that. At this point, I have nothing more interesting to look forward to than work. So I might as well grit my teeth and bear it."

When TED KNIGHT of "The Mary Tyler Moore Show" arrived in Hollywood in 1957, he sent out 400 brochures to producers. "I got exactly three replies," he says.

EVELYN SCOTT, the lady bartender on the daytime serial, "Return to Peyton Place" is one of the top recipients of fan mail at NBC-TV. She gets them in 50 languages and most of them concern the same thing. Something that happened on the original "Peyton Place" in which a customer asked for a martini. She asked him if he wanted it with rye and then proceeded to mix it with bourbon. Such mail from martini drinkers. One day there were 3,000 letters all screaming that no one ever makes a martini out of anything but gin or vodka - no one except a teetotaling actress and a teetotaling scriptwriter.

You must give LORNE GREENE credit for more than his fine acting - he helps promote a solid father image throughout America every week. Greene portrays Ben Cartwright, the father of three high-spirited cowboys and the owner and boss of the Ponderosa Ranch in NBC's "Bonanza". He often gets mail from youngsters who write to say, "I wish I had a Dad like you," or "I wish my pop treated me the way you treat your boys." Fathers sometimes write to say they find it hard to keep an upper hand the way he does.

DEAN MARTIN may have done his final nightclub show at the Las Vegas Riviera in real life, but producer-director GREG GARRISON will have a nightclub sequence in Dean's TV show next season. RODNEY DANGERFIELD will work with Dean in the sequence. He's just been signed for all 28 shows of the new season. Dean's show is starting its eighth season in a few weeks and Dean has yet to visit the office NBC established for him when the show started back in 1964. Dean has had the same public relations firm for two decades and has yet to make his first phone call there. He's also the biggest single owner of and in Ventura County, the rich agricultural county north of Los Angeles. And you just know Dean couldn't find his way to Oxnard if his life depended on it. Dean makes superstardom look easy. He's still trying to get Garrison to skip dress rehearsals for his show. That way, he would only have to work four hours a week.

ARTHUR HILL is one actor who has never starved in a garret. He's never been idle even for long. He sums up a transatlantic career that encompasses the theatre, motion pictures and television by saying: "I have always worked. I've never been idle. But sometimes I do feel that there's someone up there who is ready to say, 'You have had enough.' Hill has now completed the first season of "Owen Marshall, Counselor at Law". It has been one of the happiest years for one of show business' most serene and unflappable performers. He is not the least bit embarrassed to discuss his tightly disciplined style of acting, simply because he knows exactly why he works the way he does. "That way," he says, "has been my whole life, starting out as a Scottish Presbyterian."

CHUCK CONNORS got tired of waiting around for a new TV series to suit his talents. So he's writing his own, which he hopes to peddle to one of the major networks.

By Michael Morrow

Never thought I would see the day when some one from middle America would cry: "I'm a political prisoner."

Who am I talking about — Martha Mitchell — the wife of Nixon's campaign manager.

It is a strange affair all the way around. First, let's look at the prisoner — a nice, talkative, old lady that cavorts in the Nixon social circle. Now let's take a look at the tactics. Having a telephone ripped out in mid conversation. I don't know about you but when a woman is talking over the phone it's a cardinal sin to interrupt.

How long can John Mitchell hold out from his wife's desire: to have him out of being campaign manager.

To Martha Mitchell — now you know how it is to be oppressed (—she doesn't even know the half of it). The only ones that I feel sorry for are the bona fide political prisoners that have to put up with her claiming to be a part of them.

This is the first time that Russ LaVine and I can agree. And that is the police affair. You know and I know if ten black men received goods through a shady deal the whole detective department would be investigating the thing down to the toe hairs.

But if they're from the same flock as the detectives are well that's different.

But the whole thing I hope won't be whitewashed into oblivion as most things are.

FOOD FUNDS WITHHELD
WASHINGTON — The withholding of $688 million in food program funds appropriated for 11 million poor people has prompted hearings by the Senate Select Committee on Nutrition and Human Needs.

The Agriculture Department has admitted returning to the Treasury $389 million in unspent food stamp program money, but has denied that any "desperately needed" funds were being withheld from the nation's poor.

The Senate Committee is also probing reports that other food money appropriated by Congress for the school lunch program are being withheld by the Administration while school children go hungry.

Rhodesian Trade Fines

Two corporations and three individuals have been fined a total of $131,750 for violating sanctions against trading with Rhodesia.

The cases were the first such prosecutions in the United States since the trade embargo was imposed in 1968.

I think that I will always remember my first visit to London.

And I'm sure, so will the person who wins the "dream holiday" subscription contest being sponsored by the New Iowa Bystander.

I recall as the plane landed that the weather was just like Nancy Wilson describes so beautifully when she sings a "foggy day in London town."

Across the River Thames from Westminster is Lambeth Palace the London residence of the Archbishop of Canterbury. Next to it is the church of St. Mary at Lambeth.

Still, I wasn't discouraged. (I have always been a fanatic for English melodramas with the mysterious fog settings.) In no time at all, the drizzle had stopped and the fog had lifted. I then had a magnificent view from my hotel window of Piccadilly Circus — that section of London which compares only with Times Square in New York City.

The endless stream of people seemed to be the same. So did the staccato performance of the blinking neon signs...the massive traffic jams conducted by "hack" drivers...the steady flow of music being amplified to the highest possible decibel.

The horses no longer go to war but they behave with military precision for the benefit of tourists.

Perhaps, the only difference was the constant echo of the familiar British accent. But even at times it seemed to have somewhat of a soulful sound!

Yes, soul is definitely a part of London's atmosphere at night.

In general, I found the city to be quite fascinating after dark. I was able to satisfy all of my desires except one.

I was wrong to assume that British theatre tickets are easy to come by. Not a single ticket to a London stage play was to be had — not even to Agatha Christie's Mousetrap which has been running since time began.

(The moral of this tale is to warn the traveler to London to arrange for theatre tickets well in advance.)

Another "no-no" for the traveler on his way to see the Queen is not to look for those picturesque double-decker transit buses. They went out of style when we stopped doing the Twist.

If one is lucky, he may get to ride one of these vintage vehicles from the airport to downtown. It seems that the airlines have a few in use to shuttle passengers to and from the airport.

They are still a delight to ride!

Evening on Westminster Bridge, and Big Ben's tower points skyward.

In contrast, modern scenic coaches are available to take tourists to every part of the city... Buckingham Palace... Parliament Square... the Soho district... Madame Tussaud's Waxwork Exhibition and Planetarium... The River Thames... The British and London Museums... The Zoo. You will love it all.

Hawaiian Trip

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Bayles of 3004 Bowdoin recently returned from an exotic trip to Hawaii.

Along with 248 other members of the Central Iowa Chapter Credit Unions, the Bayles were met in Honolulu with a traditional "Aloha" greeting with a lovely fresh flower lei.

During the week stay in Hawaii, many scenic and historic trips were taken by the group such as: Polynesian Water Ballet; Valley of the Temples, including a stop at a replica of Japan's famed Byodo-in Temple; Mormon Temple; "Dole" Pineapple Fields; Sealife Park, Kodak Hula Show and an informative and historic trip to Pearl Harbor.

Just 40 miles away from skyscrapers, smart shops and deluxe cafes on Waikiki, a very fascinating and educational trip was taken to the Polynesian Cultural Center that depicted Polynesia in six of its principal divisions — Maoris, Samoans, Tongans, Fijians, Tahitians and Hawaiians — living in clusters of age old design — working at arts and handicrafts handed down from the past — living their accustomed family and tribal life as they have lived it for centuries.

The evenings were full of entertainment by the People of Hawaii. Through music and dance, the Bayles experienced the cultural backgrounds of some of the ethnic groups (Japanese, Portuguese, Korean, Filipino, Tahitian and Hawaiian) that live in harmony in this land of the Rainbows.

Mr. and Mrs. Bayles were guests at one of Hawaii's oldest traditions — a Luau (Hawaiian Feast) where they had many exotic foods and an exciting Polynesian Show with songs, dances and pageantry.

Temptations And Supremes In First Tour

The Temptations, who more than ten years ago as the Primes, discovered the Supremes (then known as the Primettes), will tour the country with their equally famous counterparts for the first time ever during the months of July and August.

The tour for the two famous Motown groups will begin on the West Coast with concerts at the Convention Hall in San Diego, July 1; Memorial Auditorium in Sacramento, July 2, and a ten-day supper club engagement at the Now Grove in Los Angeles, July 5-15.

Other dates during the period include the Westbury Music Fair, Westbury, Long Island, N.Y., July 24-30; Painters Mill Playhouse, Owings Mill, Md., July 31 - August 6; Shady Grove Music Fair, Gaithersburg, Md., August 7-13; and Valley Forge Music Fair, Devon, Pa., August 14-20.

Besides the familiar faces of Melvin Franklin, Otis Williams and Dennis Edwards, the Tempts will showcase the two newest members of the quintet, Richard Street and Damon Harris.

Street, a Libran (born on October 5), first joined the Motown organization in 1962 as a record evaluator in the company's Quality Control Department. He later signed a recording contract and became the lead singer of the Monitors, another Motown act.

A classmate of Melvin Franklin (who is also his first cousin) and Otis Williams, Street began singing with the Tempts on a temporary basis when former Tempt Paul Williams became ill. When Williams left the group, Street replaced him permanently.

Harris, a Cancer born on July 19, was discovered during a search to find a replacement for Eddie Kendricks, who started a career as a soloist. The only non-Detroiter in the quintet, Harris, who hails from Baltimore, began his career with numerous groups through high school.

While with a local group called the Vandals, Harris toured the East Coast and recorded for a New York based record company. Though the group didn't really make it big, he as an individual musically appealed to the Tempts to fill the void left by Kendricks' absence.

The changes the group has gone through over the past few years would have most certainly crippled lesser talent, but the Temptations have been able to adjust more than adequately and remain the institution they are.

Recent appearances at the Copa in New York, the Elmwood Casino in Windsor, Ontario, Canada (just outside of Detroit), and a recent tour of the British Isles have all but snuffed any rumors that the Tempts were on the way out, however.

The tour with the Supremes will also coincide with the release of the Tempts' latest single, a double-sided effort, "Mother Nature" and "Funky Music Sho' Nuff Turns Me On." The songs, produced by Norman Whitfield, will also be part of a new album, to be released in the latter part of the summer.

The Tempts are slated to do concerts without the Supremes at the Coliseum in Seattle, July 19; the H.I.C. Arena in Honolulu, July 21; and a nightery engagement at Club Harlem in Atlantic City, August 25-31.

Panther, admitted killer, May be going to Harvard Grad School

Confessed killer, Warren A. Kimbro, a black Panther is now serving a prison sentence for the 1969 slaying of another Panther, has been unconditionally accepted at Harvard University's graduate School of Education.

Kimbro, of Cambridge, Mass., is in Connecticut State Prison after pleading guilty to second-degree murder in connection with the shooting of alleged police informer Alex Rackley. In the trial, he testified for the state.

GWENDOLYN FOWLER'S PAST BROUGHT PLEASANT REWARDS recently when she received a wedding invitation from Dr. and Mrs. Hildreth A. Poindexter to the marriage of their daughter, Miss Patchchole B. Poindexter, to O. Latunde John Barnible Ojo, held at their country estate, the HARRP, in Clinton, Maryland.

MRS. FOWLER AND THE POINDEXTERS were friends at the time of Mrs. Fowler's foreign service in Saigon. Patchchole (Patch) was a small child then. Dr. Poindexter has served in foreign service for over forty years all over the world. Though retired he is still active in Public Health Service and makes periodic trips abroad. He serves as a consultant to Howard University. Poindexter received a citation from Dartmouth as their most famous alumnus, and was honored by Harvard School of Medicine last month, and received a similar award from Howard University. He possesses a cross awarded by Queen Elizabeth for his service in Public Health in Surinam, South America.

THE WEDDING CEREMONY TOOK PLACE at 12:00 noon on Saturday, June 10. They were married in a garden ceremony beneath a wedding arch composed of blue and pink daisies with green laurel leaves which were hung between two large pine trees in the yard. Pink, blue and yellow daisies interspersed with green palms banked each side of the arch. The wedding ceremony was conducted by a Presbyterian minister followed by a special service.

INVOCATION WAS GIVEN BY REV. JEANS, then the responsive reading was given by the congregation and the pastor. The responsive reading was adapted from The Prophet by K. Gibran. Then followed the civil ceremony in which there was the exchanging of rings. The benediction followed.

THE COUPLE WAS ATTIRED IN NATIVE AFRICAN dress fashioned from pink brocade silk imported from Nigeria. The best man and maid of honor wore African dress of blue Nigerian silk.

THE FOOD INCLUDED ALL THINGS imaginable! A quarter of roasted beef, smoked turkey, barbecued chicken wings, Swedish meat balls, shrimp, all kinds of molds of cheeses, assorted crackers - everything, just everything!

MR. OJO HAS A Ph.D. DEGREE FROM HOWARD UNIVERSITY and is presently a teacher at Emerson College in Boston, Massachusetts. He has a year remaining of a three year contract. After which the couple will make their home in Nigeria. Miss Poindexter graduated with honors from Bryn Mawr and has been accepted at Harvard University where she will work toward her Masters Degree in French.

A CHANCE ENCOUNTER WITH MRS. DOROTHEA KITCHEN (MRS. GORDON) of Columbus, Georgia, as she concluded a visit at Morris & Morris with Mr. James B. Morris, Sr. and Mr. Morris, Jr., resulted in my driving her to the home of Mrs. J.B. Morris, Sr. We enjoyed a get-together later in the home of Mrs. Katherine Stewart and her mother, Mrs. O.L. Glass. Over homemade cookies and Russian tea, we had a lovely evening. Mrs. Kitchen, a housewife and civic worker, also takes time out for her hobbies of reacing, collecting old books and pewter, and a new hobby of making braided and crocheted rugs.

MRS. KITCHEN WAS IN TOWN FOR A VISIT with her brother, Harold Hughes, and friends. After two days, she left for a Chicago visit with her son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Clinton Ward and children Eugene 11 and Toya 9. The group will motor to Cleveland to the home of Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Kitchen, II, and attend the wedding of a granddaughter, Jan, to Michael McGee, a member of the Air Force. Next she will visit Columbus, Indiana, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Warren Steele, a son-in-law and daughter. From there she will return via Amtrak to Georgia.

Bruner Reunion

The immediate family of Mrs. Hattie M. Bruner and the late George Bruner, formerly of Fulton, Mo., and Jacksonville, Ill., held a reunion in Auvasse, Mo., Sat., June 10, 1972.

Mrs. Bruner is the mother of 14 children, has 63 grandchildren and 47 great-grandchildren. One son, Leander, lost his life in World War II.

There was a total of 111 family members attending including husbands and wives of the children and grandchildren. A son, Willis Bruner of St. Louis, Mo. was unable to attend.

Children present were: Marybelle Shuts and Helen Brown of Auxvasse, Mo.; Willis Bruner, Mexico, Mo.; Gertrude Lee and Roberta Galbreath, Fulton, Mo.; James Bruner and Wilbert Bruner, Jacksonville, Ill.; Robert Bruner, Springfield, Ill.; Myrtle Galbreath, Laura Allen, Georgia Becton and Charles Bruner, Des Moines, Ia.

A few guests also attended the reunion.

Mrs. Wilson Visits

Ruby Andrews of 1113 University had a guest recently. Her great aunt, Bessie Wilson, flew in from San Francisco, June 4. During her stay in Des Moines, she also visited with Mrs. Mary Green and others, and was shown the sites of the city. Bessie Wilson left June 15, after having a wonderful time in Des Moines.

Sewing Hints

By Myrtle Proctor

1. Always wash all of your finds before cutting out your garment.

2. Alter and make adjustments before cutting out garment.

3. Be sure to adjust and relocate any lace braid or appliques if called for.

4. Use fine smooth pins, and sharp scissors for cutting.

5. Mark with tailors tacks - chalk and dressmakers paper may leave shadows on fabric.

6. Dust and clean your sewing machine and change needle, check size in reference to fabric weight.

7. Use "green" transparent tape to mark wrong sides of garment. Press as you sew using steam up and down motion on knit to avoid stretch.

8. Be sure to use polyester stretch thread for knit fabrics.

Glanton's Celebrate Anniversary

Judge and Mrs. Luther T. Glanton celebrated their twenty-first anniversary by hosting a party honoring Simon Estes, famed singer, in their home on Sunday afternoon.

Included among the guests were Mrs. Kathleen Traacy, of Evanston, Illinois; Mrs. Erdyne Whiteside and Wayne Estes, sister and brother of the singer; and Dr. Edwin Griffith, new assistant dean of Drake's Law School.

Estes, whose home is Centerville, Iowa, and whose mother makes her home in Des Moines, interrupted a busy schedule to make the trip here. Judge Glanton met him and Mrs. Traacy at the airport and, at the conclusion of the party, returned them to the airport in time for an 8:00 o'clock flight to New York. In addition to having to memorize some new music, the singer leaves very soon on a tour which will take him to New Zealand, Australia, Germany and London, England.

The affair was quite lovely. Guests were served from a table laden with hors d'oeuvres. Its centerpiece was exceptionally beautiful in that it was a very personal piece, made up of a selection of flowers some of which were pink and red roses, pink carnations, flowers of a purple hue, and sprays of fern. It was a gift to his mother from Luther T. Glanton, III.

The guests mingled throughout the lovely setting of the Glanton's home but gathered in greater numbers in the family room. The Glantons have furnished their home with a blend of the new and of the old. They have used walnut, mahogany, oak, and ebony with iron, brass, ivory and glass against background colors of gold, beige, green and reds, achieving an altogether lovely, soft atmosphere. Along with their imported pieces are the upholstered items, including the leather padded bar, done by a local artisan, Joe Wilson. Among the pictures in the family room, which is reserved for the works of black artists, were paintings by Jim and Tim Lovejoy and "The Crucifixion" by Russell Crawford, three local artists.

Menninking-Barber United

Lynn Menninking was united in marriage on June 23, 1972 at the Trinity Lutheran Church to Frank G. Barber.

Miss Menninking is the daughter of the William Menninkings of Sac City, Iowa and she is employed by the I.N.A. Insurance Co. of Des Moines.

Mr. Barber is the son of Mrs. Virgil L. Carr of the city and is employed by the Firestone Tire Co. of Des Moines.

After a small reception the newly wed couple left for a short wedding trip to parts unknown.

On their return they will reside at an apartment on 21st.

UNION BAPTIST CHURCH

Friday, June 30, at 8 p.m. we will have our monthly business meeting. Sunday, July 2, at 6 p.m. the Pastor's Aid will present the Wings of Grace in a musical. Rev. Emanuel Dillard and his congregation will be our guests on the 4th Sunday in July. We will worship in Kansas City, Mo. Sunday, July 16, at True Vine Baptist Church. The Youth Choir bus will leave Saturday morning, July 15. Another bus will leave Sunday morning.

FOREST AVENUE C.O.G.I.C. CHURCH

The members of the Forest Avenue Church were delighted to have the most honorable Bishop E. Tindrell and his congregation of the New Jerusalem Church of God in Christ in our Sunday evening worship services. This action of love and fellowship among the churches of God in Christ shall never be forgotten.

Superintendent Davis and his wife of Sioux City, Iowa were among special guests present. The New Jerusalem Choir gave selections of great inspiration that moved the souls of the people to gladness. Superintendent Johnson of Cairo, Illinois presented a very outstanding and most unusual sermon for our Sunday night services. His sermon dealt with the reality of love before marriage. His text was taken from Mathew 1:18-25.

The Forest Avenue Church takes great pride in the ownership of two buses. These buses are safe, comfortable, and conveniently equipped with modern facilities. We would be very happy to lease these buses to organizations for a very reasonable sum. If interested - for times and dates available contact Elder E. J. Carter Phone 243-4849.

We the brothers and sisters of the Forest Avenue Church cordially welcome you to come and be a part of the church of what's happening now.

Ghanian Evangelist To Visit

well as Rev. Gordon Lindsay of Dallas and many others whose names I may discover whilst here.

He also expresses his interest in getting in touch with publishing Houses and Bookstalls which deal mainly in religious books and other allied goods.

Evangelist Arthur's first Booklet on religion is "Abundant Grace of God" which was published in 1965.

He proposes to call on several American evangelists who may wish to be engaged or associated with a massive program which has been launched in West Africa.

Forty-one year old John Arthur, a Ghanian Evangelist will arrive in New York on the morning of June 20th to begin a forty day tour of the United States. During his stay in the States, Evangelist Arthur proposes to travel very extensively and to explore the States from religious points of view. John Arthur holds the post of Executive Director of the Gospel International Inc. a non-denominational society which goes by the slogan "that they all may be one".

A journalist and author, Arthur is leading a society which seeks to foster Christian unity and is working seriously towards a world evangelization Crusade.

While in the United States he proposes to meet top personalities in various missions, and would like to visit the offices of the America Bible Society in New York.

BETHEL A.M.E. CHURCH

The Inspirational Chorus of Corinthian Baptist Church was presented in concert by the Missionary Society of Bethel this past Sunday.

At 6:30 the Youth of Bethel presented the Des Moines Harmonette's and the audience was thrilled with this incomparable spiritual group. Mrs. Albert Hunter is business manager and Mrs. Nancy Mathews, president. Special numbers included songs by the "Vidual Gospel Singers and a duet by Miss Marlowe Kenerly and Miss Catherine Doud". Miss Dowd also sang a solo which revealed to those present that this is a great gospel singer of the future, she sang with such feeling and soul.

St. John's Day was observed by the many orders of the Masonic Lodge, at the 11:00 a.m. service. It was also Missionary Day with the women in white taking their dedicatory vows at the altar.

The pastor of Bethel is in Dallas, Texas attending the General Conference of the African Methodist Episcopal Church, he will return Monday. The Sunday service will be conducted by the Reverend Marshall Smith Jr. Holy Communion will be served at the 11:00 hour.

"Men's Day" at Bethel is set for September 10, 1972. Big things are being planned. Mr. Irvin White is General Chairman and Mr. Lowell Cooper Co-Chairman. The Senior Choir will present a Musical on the third Sunday in July, they have invited as their guest a group called the Spiritual Tones, from Ft. Madison, Iowa. The public is invited to share this experience with them: Time 3:00 p.m.

Second Baptist Church had their regular Sun. morning services with the pastor Rev. W.J. Laster, in charge, Sunday, June 18. In the afternoon, Rev. Laster, and Choir, went to Canton, Mo. to Second Baptist church, Rev. Pearl pastor and Rev. Laster delivered the message in the afternoon.

Greg Carter claimed Miss Jerilyn Douglass as his bride June 10, in Fort Madison. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Douglas of Glidden, Iowa. Parents of the bridegroom, are Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Carter, 3405, Ave. E, Fort Madison. The Rev. W.J. Laster, pastor of the Second Baptist church, read the 2 p.m. ceremony in the Carter home. Attendants were Miss Rosalyn Beecham and Keith Carter, of Keokuk, cousins of the bridal couple. Thurman and Andre Bates were ushers. The bride's blue floral print gown was styled with empire waist and smocked sleeves. She carried a bouquet of white carnations, yellow roses and baby's breath with white streamers. Miss Beecham's yellow floor length gown was made with empire waist and sheer sleeves. Her bouquet was of white majestic daisies. A lawn reception followed the ceremony. A graduate of the Glidden Ralston High School, Mrs. Carter attended the University of Iowa, Iowa City. The bridegroom is a 1971 graduate of Fort Madison high school and attended University of Iowa. He is employed at the Iowa Army Ammunition Plant, Middletown, Waterloo. The people who attended and helped with the reception were: Mrs. Thurman Bates, Mrs. Matthew Carter, Mrs. Shirley Carter, Mrs. Theresa Carter, Mrs. Clarence Carter, Mrs. Shirlene Carter, Mrs. Helen Windsor, Mrs. Ella Bailey, Mrs. Karen Maddox, Mrs. Ruth Webster. Allen Carter, Bernard Carter and friend, Miss Debbie Prindle, were guests of his mother's, Mrs. Hattie Carter. They were guests at the Greg wedding. They are from Minneapolis, Minn.

Among the proudest of Fort Madison's fathers Sunday was THOMAS MARSH 229 Ave. D. He had been invited to the home of a daughter, MRS. CARL (MARY) BRAXTON, 3102 AVE. P. for Father's Day. He admitted, before the day was out, that he was a "bit whoozy". There to surprise him were his four children. Why should Marsh be proud? Well for a starter there's MRS. BRAXTON, wife of a local minister. Then there's Carolyn R. Marsh, the youngest, of Chillicothe Ohio, at veterans hospital there.

Mrs. Bob Pendergrass, of Rock Island, Ill., Miss Louise Bates, also Thurman Bates in Kansas City.

Mrs. John Valentine entertained the Booster Girls Club Wednesday evening, in her home. Following a steak dinner, the evening was spent playing Whist. Prize winners were: Mrs. Bernard Sansberry-high; Mrs. Arthur Woods-low.

June 14, Due to summer vacations, it was announced the next meeting date will be July 12, with Mrs. Woods.

It pays to go to meetings.

There's Lillian Marsh Daniels, R.M. director of nursing service at the Homer G. Phillips hospital, St. Louis. There's Arlene B. Marsh, a teacher in Kansas City and currently the president of the Missouri Teachers Association. And there's Dr. Donald Marsh M.D. a radiologist in private practice in St. Paul Minn. who is also an assistant professor in the University of Minnesota's medical school. Marsh worked for the Santa Fe Railroad for 41 years before his retirement, he'll be 70 on July 23. His children presented him with a plaque Sunday naming him "FATHER OF THE YEAR". It cites him for stressing "Loyalty to church and country, honesty, fair play, hard work, generosity, and kindness, and an understanding father, quick to protect eager to love, ready to praise, and anxious to give of himself and his possessions. Tom Marsh is proud of his children, but no more than they are of him.

Word has been received in the city of the death of Mrs. Scipio Austin in Chicago, on Sunday, June 25, which was unexpected. Mrs. Austin was the former Emma Reynolds of this city. She is survived by two sons and a daughter. A cousin Mrs. John Baker resides in Keokuk.

Negro Teams

In Square Dances

Included in the 15,000 members and friends who attended the National Square Dance Convention at Veterans Auditorium were a Negro couple and their daughter from California and a bus load from Michigan.

The group from Michigan was composed of teams of 6 to 10 years, 11 to 18 years, 19 to 21 and the senior group.

The youngsters from Michigan stated that some had attended several conventions and that they had earned their expenses to the conventions by giving bake sales, dance exhibitions and raffles.

One among the California team was a caller whose services were in much demand here as well as at home. Programs were colorful sights with men wearing distinctive colors and the women wearing ballerina dresses.

With Allen Ashby

I was talking with a guy the other day when the name of Bill Harris came up. We got to exchanging stories about Wild Bill, or Daredevil Harris as he was later called, and we finally agreed that Bill was quite a man, one who would have made it big today as a stunt man.

Bill Harris started out as a boxer, and was a pretty good one winning most of his bouts. Then, he got a chance to work as a wrestler being in the first known match between black matmen on a professional card in this city. Bill lost the match in a three fall affair. He wrestled that same fellow any number of times, but the guy seemed to have his number.

But Bill traveled with carnivals, meeting all comers, and did all right.

Female Team Track

LORMAN, MISS. Alcorn's Women Track Team made a good showing at the Gulf AAU Championship Meet in Pasadena, Texas, last weekend.

With the Olympics as a goal, the Alcorn female team continued at a pace calculated to reach peak performance at the Olympic trials by capturing three 1st places, four 2nd places, one 3rd place, two 4th places, one 5th place and two 6th place victories. Two new records were also set.

Sports Then

Later he took to riding a motorcycle, and I believe he was one of the first men to ride his cycle through a flaming fence. The cookie would try anything. Back in the days when a parachute jump was a real stunt, he became the first black professional jumper. He would jump into a lake or river, and would swim to shore, dragging his chute behind him.

One stunt he pulled off I never forgot. There was a daredevil flier who used to thrill crowds with his antics in the air. Bill happened to go by the plane as it was standing on the runway. He always boasted that he could run anything with a motor in it. Well, he jumped into the plane, and got the motor started. The flier and his helpers came running out just in time to see Bill take off into the wild blue yonder. Daredevil flew the thing all around the field, and began to circle the field. The owner yelled for him to land. Bill yelled back, "Howinhell do you get this thing down?"

There was no radio, so the guy had to shout instructions to Harris each time he came around the field until finally he made a landing that must have jarred half the people in Polk County. When he climbed out of the plane he wore the biggest grin you ever saw, and insisted he wasn't scared. Said he always lit his cigarettes wrong end first.

He had a great sense of humor, and didn't mind letting folks know that he wasn't afraid of people. He was teasing a huge wrestler, and the guy threatened to grab Bill and break him in two. He said to Bill, "If I get hold of you I'll have you." Bill replied, "We'll have each other."

He was in the corner for one of his friends who was boxing in one of the small towns that liked to feature black fighters. Well, the promoter came around and said that he would have to cut the fighter's purse in half, because there wasn't much of a crowd. The boxer yelled that he wasn't fighting for his health. Bill looked, and grinned. "Well buddy you really are, cause if that guy ever connects with one of those left hooks you are gonna be pretty unhealthy."

Bill was about five ten, and weighed perhaps one eighty, but he played football, baseball, you name the game he played it and wasn't bad at any of them. He was just one of a number of fellows who made sports in Des Moines worth talking about and being around.

One day he and a fellow were arguing about who was the best man. They wrestled, and the guy beat Bill. Then they boxed three rounds, and Bill suffered a cut lip and had to quit. Not to be outdone, he challenged the guy to a brick throwing contest. There was a pile of bricks on the corner of ninth and Keo, and they went to it. Well, sir, Bill chased that fellow all over town throwing bricks at him. Today that would have probably landed both men in jail, but to them it was fun. That gave Bill the right to claim the brick throwing championship of the city, and he had no challengers. And in spite of all the stunts and close scrapes the man had, Bill Harris died in bed in his fifties. I often wonder which way he went.
