Community Declares War On Dope NOW!

EDITORIAL

Kombo Yero Speaks Out

In our attempt to continue our coverage of news of the Black community, we turn to the great well spring of Black progress...! 'The Street.' If you say that you despise dope and what it does to our people then listen...listen carefully to the voices that ring out on this page. Listen and you may hear the question that naive people across the nation ask, "Why can't the police stop dope?" One thing is for sure it won't be stopped by continuing the harassment of Black people.

Letter From Prison (DOPE)

Brothers and Sisters

We must unite ourselves for the struggle against drugs. All drugs physical and mentally addicting.

Heroin which is most used, in Black Community, is taken by our black-kind, to escape many of the hardships induced by racist, exploitive, pro-fascist society, many times becoming hooked.

No longer to center life around themselves. They center their life around drugs.

In the beginning the load isn't heavy, but as time goes on the load gets heavier and heavier.

Junkies will steal from anyone and if given the chance, every one.

Junkies steal from stores, homes, cars and other junkies. They steal every thing of value.

Sisters and Brothers barely providing for them and theirs, work hard, only to find, when getting home, that some junkie stole that which they worked so hard for. (sold for dope money).

Sisters are horrified to go to the store in the evening, for fear of some junkie knocking her upside her head for her money.

Women with as many as four children (some times more), starve for weeks at a time eating only corn bread, lunch meat, powdered milk and whatever the family has left over from last months food list.

Because a junkie robbed the mail man of the welfare checks, they borrow money until they have no friends, and drive their family to the point of not caring any more.

This drug not only rides our brothers but our sisters as well and are often caught in this ugly facade of life quicker than our brother.

After becoming junkies, our women, find their friends and families gone. They are pushed into the streets to cash stolen checks, welfare checks to steal and often selling their bodies for dope money.

Drugs are poisonous and will kill or destroy all addicted.

We must organize our selves for battle against the ruling clique who supply (directly or indirectly) this terrifying poison into our community. Conceived only to prevent a progressing from developing, fully. Unity is a answer not partial but complete Unity.

Together we can battle the ruling clique on all fronts as we did with and for our most beautiful sister Angela Davis.

Lets Unite

Dockers Won't Unload Chrome

BALTIMORE — (NBNS) — Dockworkers are planning to refuse to unload a shipment of nickel due here in protest of the U.S. trade policies with Rhodesia.

Rep. Parren Mitchell, D-Md., had asked the longshoremen to refuse to unload the nickel since the United Nations has imposed sanctions against trade with Rhodesia.

William Haile, international vice president of the International Longshoremen's Association and president of the Baltimore district Council, said the dock workers had told him they won't handle the shipments when they come in later in the week. "It's an individual rank-and-file decision," he said.

Last September, the Senate passed a controversial amendment approving trade with the white supremacist African nation.

During the four day, the group held a series of workshops on economics, labor, education, direct action demonstrations and voter registration.

Although declining to endorse a candidate for the Presidency until after its economic exposition in September, Jackson's PUSH organization is expected to follow his leadership and endorse the Democratic nominee. He has been an ardent supporter for Sen. George McGovern of South Dakota for some time. That other national corporations would be

As we all know Drugs has shown its menacing face in Des Moines and appears to have found a permanent home with the encouragement of the Police Department— if not direct assistance. Drugs Smack & Pills) contribute directly to the rulers control and our persistent grabbing onto them is definitely in the oppressors interest. He knows very well that it is difficult for a "Doped-Up" People to wage a long-term Political Struggle for complete emancipation. So the oppressor spends lots of money to push a great deal of mysticism about drugs and "how cool it is" even though they once and awhile project some people being caught in a raid—like the raid in Des Moines recently. The Police Department knows who the "Pushers" are and they very well know who is bringing the "junk" into Des Moines. But these people are not constantly watched or harassed— when it is known that the "Pushers" possess the dangerous weapon—the killer, "Smack".

The Black Community Will & Must Protect itself. We will organize in a concrete fashion to handle this and other plagues. Help from the authorities is neither encouraged nor wanted. We know that the authorities couldn't have "our" interest at heart— or we wouldn't be in the shape that we're in at this moment.

We shouldn't adequately rest until this monster (dope) is dealt with.

And you junkie, Brother- it is high time for you to move to a new level— that of involvement with you people rather than being in the service of the oppressor. For most of you on the stuff— we know that you're not hooked (yet) because the stuff that is brought into Des Moines is so watered down— so being physically hooked isn't a question— mentally, maybe and that is even questionable. So Brothers lets stop stealing from our own for that so-called "fix" that really ain't a "fix" at all. You see the masses of brothers and sisters are not going to continue to allow you to steal, rob, murder and maim them for your fix— even though they can understand the problem and the fact that the "man" has got you caught up in a bind. We know that that bind can be broken— if only you take your destiny (which serves the masses of Black People) into your own hands and out of the hand of the pusher— i.e. the system.

Backed by interviews with more than 1,200 men, women and young people at various meetings of the IBPOEW organization during the past three months, the group said most blacks favor the plan which has been dubbed the National Dividend Plan.

Blacks Favor New Tax System

WASHINGTON — (NBNS) — Many of the nation's blacks want the federal government to distribute to the public all tax money collected from corporations, a survey compiled by the National Black Silent Majority Committee (BSMC) has revealed.

The plan, according to its sponsors, would give every voting American an "equa piece of the action" by diverting federal corporate tax receipts from the Treasury and paying them quarterly on a direct basis to voter in Congressional elections.

Under the plan, individual voters would receive $5,000 or $1,000 per married couple free of federal income taxes or spending restrictions.

The BSMC also questioned the Black Elks, believed to be the country's largest black secular organization, on other issues including welfare, urban ills, federal deficit spending, and poverty.

Carl Claiborne, communications director of the BSMC, told newsmen at a press conference that 82% of the blacks interviewed favored the National Dividend Plan.

He also said another 48% rated the plan as excellent, 32% said it was good and 5% responded unfavorably.

Claiming 85% said they would vote for the Plan if they had an opportunity in the next general election, Claiborne said some 83% thought the plan would improve the conditions for

Heroin: Venom Of Death

MOTHER Speaks Out On Dope

In three months, I have lost both of my sons to a political system which is served by the police, the laws and the courts in Des Moines. On Mar. 8, Kevin was found guilty of selling heroin (which carries a mandatory 10-year sentence). Byron, my other son, was sentenced to 10 years in the Men's Reformatory at Anamosa, for the sale of heroin. You and I can speculate what their reform will consist of and what their lives will be when they get out.

The National Dividend Plan would impose a 50% corporate income tax limit which sponsors say would create a secure climate for business expansion. It, however, would end federal taxes on stock dividends, eliminating "the present double taxation on those earnings and stimulating the average citizen to invest in stocks."

The BSMC was founded on July 4, 1970, in Washington, D.C. to "fight racial polarization and black radical extremism. BSMC urges blacks to work within the American system

The jury, attorneys and judges were all white. They don't know why heroin is sold on the streets where my sons grew up, and they don't have to care...What made my sons sell heroin, if they really did?

Though the sale or possession of heroin is illegal, it's the product of a society in which blackness, too, is illegal. It is not because of a weakness in the character of black people that heroin is available in our streets. But heroin is...a convenient mechanism to keep those who are already powerless as targets for the evils that the powerful perpetuate in Des Moines and elsewhere. It is not by chance that both of my sons have prison cells instead of homes — it is the logical result of the operation of racism and economic exploitation.

Now, my sons, and the sons of so many other women in Des Moines, face punishment and dehumanization, when the real conspirators are free to operate on whomever is powerless enough to be victimized. —Bertie R. Hayter, 1409 Sixteenth St., Des Moines.

Brooke Anti-War Amendment Passes

By Page Townsend
NATIONAL Black News Service
WASHINGTON — (NBNS) — The only black U.S. Senator has authored the only two anti-war amendments approved by the Senate this year.

By a vote of 49 to 47 the Senate added to the military procurement bill a proposal by Sen. Edward Brooke (R-Mass.) to cut off all funds for U.S. military operations in Southeast Asia.

Senator Brooke, who also authored an anti-war amendment added July 24 to the foreign aid bill, said the latest vote expressed the growing sentiment to use congressional spending power to force an end to the war.

Brooke's amendment to the foreign aid bill died when Nixon Administration supporters joined with those who oppose foreign aid to defeat the entire bill.

The military procurement bill, which authorizes $20.6 billion for military spending in the next 12 months, was approved 92 to five and sent to a conference committee to be reconciled with a previously-passed House bill. Senate Republican Leader

Hugh Scott predicted that the anti-war amendment of his Republican colleague would not survive the House-Senate conference where Vietnam hawks from the two Armed Services committees will dominate.

"I predict the half-life of this amendment will be about five minutes in conference," Scott said.

Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield agreed that the conferees were likely to kill the amendment but, he said, Senate approval of the Brooke proposal was "anything but symbolic. It says that more has to be done than has been done and the matter will not die aborning."

Brooke's amendment was adopted after the Senate first amended an anti-war proposal by Sen. Alan Cranston (D-Calif.) to include language suggested by Sen. George Aiken (R-Vt.) similar to the cease-fire proposal President Nixon has submitted to the Paris peace negotiations.

After approving the Aiken proposal, the Senate switched to the Brooke amendment and approved it as a substitute.

Jesse Jackson's Operation P.U.S.H. Will Challenge Film Industry

Howard Everett
National Black
News Service

CHICAGO — (NBNS) — The Rev. Jesse Jackson's PUSH organization is planning its first major confrontation — the American film industry is the target — but other corporations will be confronted later about their responsibilities to blacks.

PUSH — which is Jackson's new organization — stands for People United to Save Humanity. It held its first convention here last week with about 200 participants from Baltimore, Newark, Cleveland, Pittsburgh, Memphis, Beverly Hills, Washington, Detroit and Cincinnati.

Jackson announced that his organization will be primarily concerned with exploitation of black themes in movies as well as jobs for black actors, actresses, producers, directors and technicians.

"We'll raid studios. We will take on those films of vulgarity, violence and vanity, those films that project into the minds of our children the images of killers rather than healers, of dope pushers in the vein rather than hope in the brain."

Jackson also told the group confronted in an effort to get them to hire more blacks, to utilize black advertising agencies, and public relations companies, to patronize a percentage of black insurance companies and to deposit a percentage of their funds in black banks. He also said PUSH would call for blacks at supervisory and policymaking levels of these companies.

PUSH will also mount a voter registration drive to add 6.5 million unregistered blacks to the rolls in time for the November presidential balloting.

He said other organization goals would be:

*The establishment of a national economic bill of rights for blacks as well as for the nation.

*Adoption of national rather than local solutions to the problems of discrimination in the construction trades.

*Setting up of a national black business committee to come up with the development plan. He said, the group would "become an offensive movement rather than a defensive movement, we'll determine who our black business leaders are and will give them a

Soul Street: Pathway To Progress

In this age of rhetoric, it is interesting to see something concrete that is working. Soul Street is just such a project. Originally designed to give inner-city tots a positive learning experience in a day care setting, Soul Street has blossomed under the guidance of Marion Eppright into a dynamic pre-school phenomenon. When one witnesses instructors

Gayle Watkins and Mary Dawson leading the children through this unique educational environment, he senses the beauty of involvement and dedication.

Soul Street Day Care Learning Center stresses independent thought and creativity for the children. The multi-talented Eppright says, "By placing confidence in the child and allowing them to learn to do things for himself he in turn develops confidence in himself." It works. At Soul Street, you can see 3 and 4 year olds who operate a myriad of Electronic audio-visual aids, know how to clean their own shoes, know basic personal hygiene and are learning self discipline at a surprising rate. Soul Street's concept of freedom is as follows:

Freedom is a prerequisite condition for learning. Freedom is a goal not a starting point. A free child

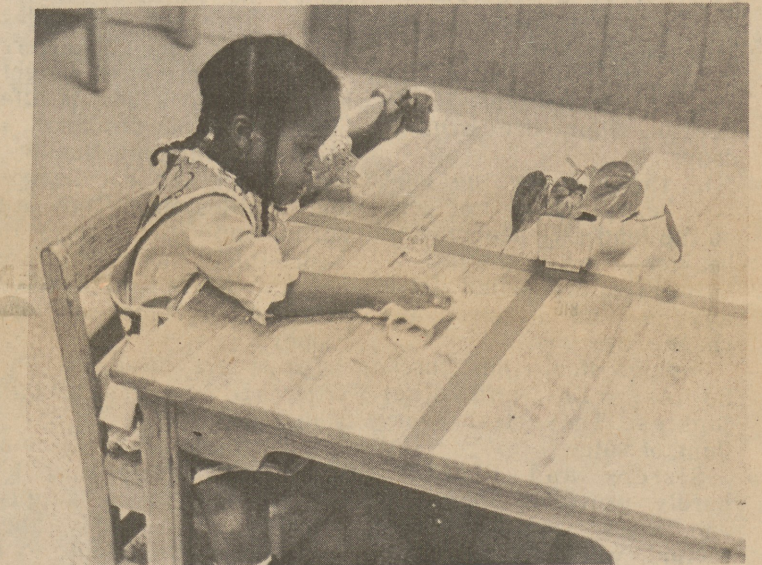

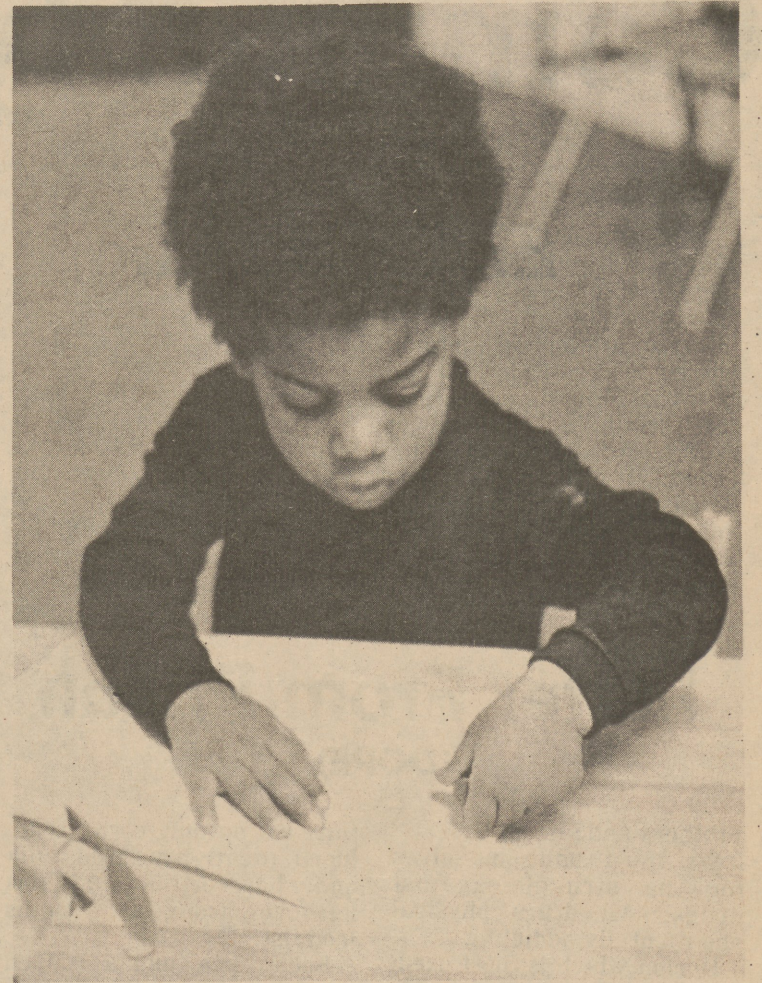

(or adult) is one who is capable of asking for and receiving direction when necessary. An undisciplined and unskilled child (or adult) is not free, but is a slave to his immediate desires and is excessively dependent upon others; whether parent, teacher, wife or husband. The free child, or course, develops into a free adult.

They are interested in you and your child at Soul Street. You are invited to call the center at 282-8091 and drop in for a visit. Soul Street is not a part of the Tiny Tot Program. They are accepting applications now for the fall. If you're interested in your child obtaining a superior pre-school experience act now. Only 20 children can be accepted.

Hawkeye Cablevision Will Offer Citizen's Participation

Des Moines, Iowa—Hawkeye Cablevision, Inc., a Des Moines firm operating cable television systems in the Midwest and an applicant for the Des Moines cable television franchise, announced today the results of a public opinion survey done for it and a plan for increasing its ownership by Des Moines citizens.

Hawkeye Cablevision, 80%-owned by over 500 local residents and 20%-owned by Cox Cable Communications, Inc., one of the largest cable television operators, is the only applicant for the Des Moines franchise which is based in Des Moines and controlled by Des Moines citizens.

The public opinion survey, performed by Community Response, Inc., an independent Des Moines testing company, dealt with the attitudes of Des Moines voters toward cable television. At the present time, it was found, 48.8% of Des Moines residents favor cable television and 36.9% are opposed. In response to the question of whether the City of Des Moines should become involved in the ownership of the Des Moines cable television system, 64% of the people felt that cable television should be wholly-owned by private enterprise, while 28% felt that the City should become involved. The most important question to Hawkeye Cablevision was the preference by the public for local control of cable television. Eight-four percent of the Des Moines residents preferred that cable television in their City be owned, controlled, and operated by a local, Des Moines company; only 6% preferred an outside company. (A complete copy of this survey will be provided upon request.)

James M. Hoak, Jr., President of Hawkeye Cablevision, announced that Hawkeye would follow the wishes of the residents of Des Moines and seek to broaden its local ownership base. A plan has been worked out whereby each subscriber to the Des Moines cable television system, if Hawkeye Cablevision is awarded the franchise, will be given some ownership in the Company along with his cable television installation. "If all potential subscribers take advantage of this offer," Hoak said, "Hawkeye could increase its Des Moines ownership from 500 shareholders to more than 50,000. In any case, no matter how many subscribers decide to own a part of the Company, Des Moines people will still own 80% of the Company and will control its operations."

"Absentee ownership of Des Moines area businesses sends countless thousands of dollars out of our community each year," Hoak said. "We don't want this to be the case

Civil Rights Interest Waning, New Aid Says

WASHINGTON — (NBNS) The highest ranking Puerto Rican in the Administration has warned that "national interest in civil rights has waned."

"No longer do the issues of voting rights, the administration of justice school desegregation - aside from busing - hold national attention," he said shortly after he took the oath of office as deputy staff director of the Civil Rights Commission.

Nunez called for a new civil rights alliance, "one that would encompass all of the newly emerging groups Puerto Ricans, Chicanos, American Indians, Asian Americans we as well as the original partners, the black and Jewish community."

A FAMILY REUNION HONORING GARY CARTER, of Columbus, Ohio, and Cordell Kirby was held at Union Park on Sunday, August 6. The gathering was large and included all family members, ranging from the pampers set through training pants, teenagers and adults! The picnic took place near the play area and everyone did his and her share of playing. Finally someone produced a football and a football game followed. Those not involved physically helped form a cheering session. Shrieks, screams, all sorts of cheering took place! Someone's husband, boyfriend, brother or son was star of the moment or loser. Whatever and whenever, the cheers were belted out! You must have heard the din! It must have filled East Des Moines! The cheering was most joyous! Oh yeah, even some women were in the thick of the games at moments! What a game! Lots of tackling! Players tumbling headfirst or whatever came up first! Those wearing hats, never losing a hat!

AMONG THOSE ATTENDING WERE Mrs. Mary Carter and children, JoAnn Montez's wife and family, Gary's four children, Kim, Frederick, Darrell, and Micalinn; Mr. and Mrs. Charles Kirby, Terri, John, Margeen, March, and Charlton; Mr. and Mrs. Junior Jewett, Terri, Tracy, Tommy, Ted, Cheyenne, Mark and Stewart. Mr. and Mrs. Ed Frazier, Luigi, Ron, Jerry, Jacquetta and Tarica, and Butch Davis. Miss Phyllis Saunders, Tammy, Beverly, Chantaye, Cortez, Darrell, Mona Sydney, Kelley and Kevin. Miss Anna Cooley, Carla, Tolondo, Jamie, Lisa, Davine, and Mary. There were a number of guests, not identified. But they were there helping swell the crowd!

THE MENU INCLUDED potato salad, baked beans, lasagne, barbecued ribs, meat loaf, baked ham, fried chicken, macaroni and cheese, fresh tomatoes, green peas and carrots, stuffed banana peppers, cakes and watermelon. Refreshments were bountiful and included everyone's favorites in abundance!

HAVING CONSUMED SOME PART OF ALL OF THESE DEHES, we then played games the most popular of which were the big sliding board and football! We couldn't believe that we ate the whole thing, but we did. Needless to say, everyone had a wonderful time, and was limp with laughter! MRS. RUBY SPENCER RETURNED LAST WEEK from a tour made with two relatives, Mr. and Mrs. Ezekiel Pollard, of Indianapolis, Indiana. They toured by day in a camper. They visited in Portland Antelax, Washington. Here they visited Mrs. Ada Belle McNeil, a cousin. On the return trip they came back through Portland, Oregon and Salt Lake City, Utah. In Washington, they visited Seattle.

SPEAKING OF POLLARDS, BRINGS TO MIND HARRISON POLLARD, son of Mrs. Louise McQuerry! Pollard is employed by the Equitable Life Assurance Society, and earned Trainee of the Year honors in just nine short months. Harrison had $784,000 of paid life volume on 88 lives, and was fully qualified for Equitable's Agency Leaders Corps in 1971. He was Agency Campaign Champion twice during the year, and Trainee of the Month three times. HARRISON POLLARD is a graduate of Parson's College, has completed Equitable NSS and Sales Dynamics Schools, and is presently enrolled in LUTC Part II. Harrison and Sharon have two children and live in Clinton, Iowa.

IN WHAT'S HAPPENING NOW, a model neighborhood newspaper of Rock Island, Illinois, July, 1972, Pollard is described as serving 90% of the people in the Target Area and described as district manager for the Equitable Life Assurance Society of the United States. The paper goes on to say that in April of 1971, he received a trophy for leading Insurance Trainee of the year. His home office is in the Rock Island Bank and Trust Company Building on the Third Floor. He serves the whole Quad City Area. Pollard was president of the Human Rights Commission in Clinton, Iowa, Vice President of Housing and Neighborhood Development Services there, a member of the Interracial Interfaith Council in Clinton, also, and was Recreational Supervisor at the Clinton Job Corp when it was open. He received his degree in Secondary Education from Parsons College and worked there as an admission counselor for two years.

HARRISON POLLARD HAD THIS TO SAY: As long as I can help people out, somebody in life from day to day, I'm satisfied that I have accomplished something of value toward humanity, be the individual poor or an average working citizen, I'm here to serve their needs in any way that I possibly can. POLLARD IS A NATIVE OF DES MOINES and doesn't he make us glad that he is!!

So popular were soybeans in ancient China — an emperor wrote a book about them 5,000 years ago!

On light soils, soybean-oil meal is a popular fertilizer — because it adds humus to hold moisture and replenishes the earth with its high nitrogen content.

Little things can mean a lot to modern soybean growers, and many add small amounts of a minor element like Sequestrene manganese chelate to their soil — to break through "yield barriers" caused by micronutrient deficiencies.

VALERIE SIMPSON: REMOVES THE SHIELD

Los Angeles, August 4. — With the advent of Neil Diamond, Carole King, Bill Withers and others, songwriters are no longer a mystique behind superstars. The cloak and dagger shield has been removed. Today's songwriters have proved that music lovers are as interested in the writers as they are the performers.

Perky Valerie Simpson, who along with partner Nick Ashford make up one of Motown's most successful writer-producer-arranger teams, has just had her second Tamla album, "Valerie Simpson," released. On the album which she and Ashford penned, produced and arranged, she sings ten totally exciting original tunes.

"We are no longer behind-the-scenes people."

Valerie confided while taking a break from rehearsals for her Troubadour opening. "We

Dellums Criticizes Removal Of Eagleton From Democratic Ticket

By Paul H. Wyche, Jr.
National Black News Service

WASHINGTON—(NBNS) — Rep. Ronald Dellums has lashed out at the removal of Sen. Thomas F. Eagleton as the Democratic vice presidential nominee. Dellums had earlier said that Eagleton was becoming the "new nigger of the Democratic Party" and asked that he not be removed.

Calling the removal of Eagleton "a grave mistake," the California Congressman warned that the action could disillusion many of the youthful supporters of Sen. George McGovern.

"By dropping Sen. Eagleton from the ticket they undermined every mental health rehabilitation process in the country," said the black Congressman who holds a master's degree in psychiatric social work.

He said the action could discourage persons in business and public life across the country from seeking professional assistance for remedy of mental problems, fearing adverse public reaction.

At a news conference the same day Eagleton was removed from the ticket, Dellums said the decision to drop "Sen. Eagleton will be making a loud point to this country that the Democratic Party is more interested in winning than in principle."

"Sen. Eagleton on the couch is a thousand times better for this country in these times than Vice President (Spiro) Agnew standing up."

At times rambling, the Congressman said failure to keep Eagleton on the ticket would be interpreted as a repudiation of psychiatric rehabilitation. He said he defined a "nigger" as one whose opportunities are limited by others.

"You don't have to be black any more to be treated like a nigger," he said.

"I want him even more desperately to stay on the ticket because now he more than ever understands what it's like to be a nigger," Dellums contended.

He pointed out that during the last six years Eagleton had held high public office since his last treatment and "that's enough for me."

But only hours after Dellums addressed the press conference, Sens. McGovern

Court Voids Austin Busing Order

By National Black News Service
NEW ORLEANS—(NBNS) — The 5th U.S. Circuit of Appeals has rejected a mild school desegregation plan for Austin, Texas — although President Nixon said he disliked the plan because it had too much busing—because the busing did not go far enough.

and Eagleton announced the withdrawal of the Missouri senator as the vice presidential nominee.

With the entire 14-member panel sitting, the court ruled that the plan was no good because it excluded whites from busing and did nothing to relieve segregation of blacks and Mexican-American.

The Austin School Board, supported by the Justice Department and the President, had proposed to close two black schools and bus their 2,200 students, mostly blacks and some Chicanos, to mostly white schools.

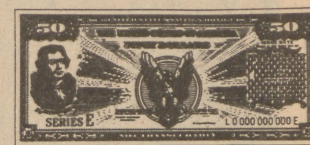

The court, in reversing the District Court order, said this plan "would impose the burdens of desegregation, including busing, on only one group, the blacks."

In reversing the District Court, the Appeals court admitted that the local judge "knows the local situation better than we do. He may not, however, totally reject the use of busing as a permissible tool..."

"The District Court should call for the immediate submission of new plans by the intervenors as well as by the original parties.

Appropriate relief must be ordered before the commencement of the 1972-73 school years."

Panther Refuses To Answer Questions In Hanrahan Case

By Howard Everett
National Black News Service

CHICAGO—(NBNS) — A Black Panther attorney in defiance of a court order has refused to answer questions concerning a statement his client allegedly made after the police raid which left Panther leaders Fred Hampton and Mark Clark dead.

Donald Stang, who represents Panther Louis Trueblood, maintained the discussion with his client was a confidential communication between attorney and client but he was overruled by the judge who said it was made in the presence of others.

His refusal to testify came on the fifth day of a special hearing which has interrupted the trial of Cook County State Attorney Edward Hanrahan and 13 co-defendants on charges that they conspired to obstruct justice in the investigation of the police raid in 1969, which resulted in the two Panther deaths.

Stang refused to answer more than 50 questions asked by Defense attorney Thomas Sullivan. Along with two other Black Panther attorneys, Stang unsuccessfully argued that they should not testify since the information given them by the Panthers was privileged under law and they could not divulge it. But Judge Philip Romiti ruled otherwise.

The Hanrahan trial had been stopped earlier because four statements purportedly by Panthers were found in the files of attorney Jonathan Hyman.

In the statements, the Panthers admit firing shots and handling weapons during the police raid on the Panther apartment. The statements conflict sharply with their testimony before a special federal Grand Jury on the killings.

A New York City attorney David Scribner said he and attorney Jonathan Hyman were representing Panthers who survived the 1969 raid in a $16 million damage suit against the police, and said that it would violate his rights and those of his clients if he turned all of his records over to the defense as requested.

Judge Romiti agreed the subpoenas were too broad. The trial was recessed last Tuesday after Chief Prosecutor Barnabas Sears produced the purported statements of the four Panthers.

Although the statements were not made available to reporters, much of their content was known because of lawyers statements during the trial.

One statement, purportedly given by Louis Trueblood says he admits he fired two shots at the police and that another surviving Panther, Ronald Satchel, fired a third shot.

Another statement from three Panthers, Blair Anderson, Brenda Harris and Harold Bell, allegedly says they admitted they held guns when the police raiders entered the apartment.

If the documents are admitted into evidence, it could be a damaging blow to the prosecution of Hanrahan, Richard J. Lovec, his assistant and 12 policemen, including eight who participated in the raid.

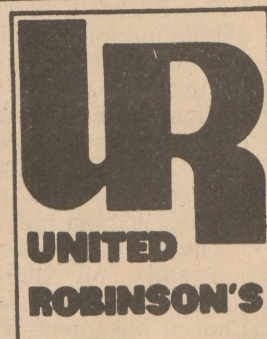

Shortly before the trial recessed, Trueblood charged that police repeatedly fired bullets into the body of slain party leader Hampton.

The allegation, made in two brief excerpts read in court from his recently-discovered statement, accused Sgt. James Groth, leader of the raiding party and policeman James Davis of riddling Hampton's body.

"The sergeant, he aimed at the chairman. He emptied his gun. Then he called for a machine gun," Trueblood's statement said.

Speaking of Davis, the statement read: "Gloves (Davis) laid his revolver on his elbow, like this, and aimed right at the chairman's body."

Davis, one of two black policemen indicted, is known as "Gloves" because of his habit of wearing black leather gloves in dealing with persons under investigation.

BISHOP TINDRELL'S JURISDICTION

The C.O.G.I.C. jurisdictional Bishop of Iowa No. 2 asked all members of Carpenters - more than 800,000 of them - make up the largest single group of skilled workers in the country today. And carpenters rank among those for whom employment opportunities are expected to expand in the future at a faster rate than for the skilled labor force as a whole.

Don Level Jr. Hard At Work

Don Levell, Jr. is a first year carpenter apprentice with Ivan Eggers construction company of Des Moines. He is also a member of Carpenters Local No. 106. A graduate of East High School here in Des Moines, Donald took several math and shop courses while there and thus helped pave the way for his successful transition into an apprenticeship in the construction trades. Donald was first introduced to the possibilities of an apprenticeship when visited at East by members of the Apprenticeship Information Center. At that time he was encouraged to apply with the Carpenters Union, and was eventually accepted as an apprentice.

Don Levell has chosen a very rewarding occupation, because carpentry is the leading skilled trade in construction with more than twice as many craftsmen employed as in the next ranking trade. The carpenter is considered a top hand in the building trades for many reasons. Other trades tend to specialize in one type of operation while the carpenter knows the total building process from start to finish. Knowing the where, when and how of every material that is put in place in a building, he becomes the key man in construction procedures and best able to coordinate them.

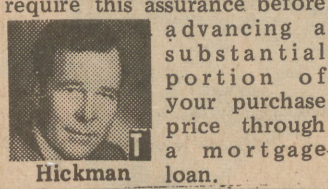

Once you are accepted as an apprentice, you are both a student and an employed worker. In most areas, the starting wage is about 60 percent of the journeyman wage scale, and the wage is advanced every six months until the apprentice is earning about 90 percent in his fourth year of training. In the standard four year training course, the apprentice acquires on - the job experience and 144 hours of a year of classroom instruction. In the classroom, he learns the elementary principles of structural design and engineering; draftsmanship and blueprint reading; arithmetic applicable to layout work; the characteristics and uses of various building materials; and the general technical knowledge required for the different types of framing and finishing operations which he practices on the job.

Theology Seeking Director

Applications should be directed, as soon as possible, to the Center for Study and Application of Black Theology, c/o Mrs. Joanna Cheatom.

General oversight of the staff, building, and Center sponsored programs and community ministries.

Work with existing organizations to help meet the survival and developmental needs of people in the community.

Provide organizational leadership to community residents in developing new and workable approaches to productive social change.

Work, under the direction of the Center Board, on various projects of advocacy, interpretation, and enabling in the community.

Of crucial importance will be the director's commitment to a black theological concept of liberation. In addition to his or her personal efforts to become well acquainted with concepts of Black Theology, he or she will be required to spend approximately four (4) weeks in directed study.

The director will, in all cases, be held responsible and accountable to the Board of Directors and the black and deprived people of Des Moines and Iowa.

Hours will not be set by the Board. However, the director will be expected to maintain regular office hours and attend all meetings and functions which relate to his work. This will necessitate occasional travel, and considerable evening and weekend work.

Job performance will be subject to careful review by the Board in six (6) months.

Salary will be discussed at the time of interview with applicants.

U.S. Accused Of Hiding Black Jobless Figures

By Michael D. Petit
National Black News Service

ST. LOUIS, Mo. (NBNS)—There are more than twice the number of black unemployed men and women than the Federal government cares to admit, the National Urban League has charged in a special report released here.

Dr. Robert B. Hill, research director for the League and the person who prepared the report, claimed that there is an "alarming high" of 23.8 percent of the nation's eligible work force or, in numbers, 692,000 black people out of work.

The United States Bureau of the Census recently released a report contending that only 283,000 or 11.1 percent of the black labor force was out of work. The Census Bureau survey was conducted between August, 1970, and March, 1971.

What the government failed to consider, Hill reported, were the hidden unemployed who were workers no longer actively seeking jobs because jobs were simply not available.

The official U.S. figure a mounts to "misrepresentation of statistics on black unemployment," charged Hill, who was joined in the attack by Urban League Executive Director Vernon E. Jordan. Said Jordan:

"We are saying that black unemployment is a disaster that ought to bring a commensurate response."

Making an analogy to tropical storm Agnes which brought devastation to many states along the Eastern U.S. seaboard, Jordan added:

"The government responded to Agnes with quickness, firmness, alarm and concern."

The Urban League's survey of black unemployment in 44 cities was released at a press conference here where the civil rights group is holding its 62nd annual conference at the Chase Park Plaza Hotel.

Also addressing the conference was the Rev. Leon H. Sullivan, founder of the Opportunities Industrialization Center (O.I.C.) in Philadelphia. Rev. Sullivan drew repeated applause when he said:

"Black people are still the last hired and the first fired. It's still twice as hard for a black man to get a job as a white man."

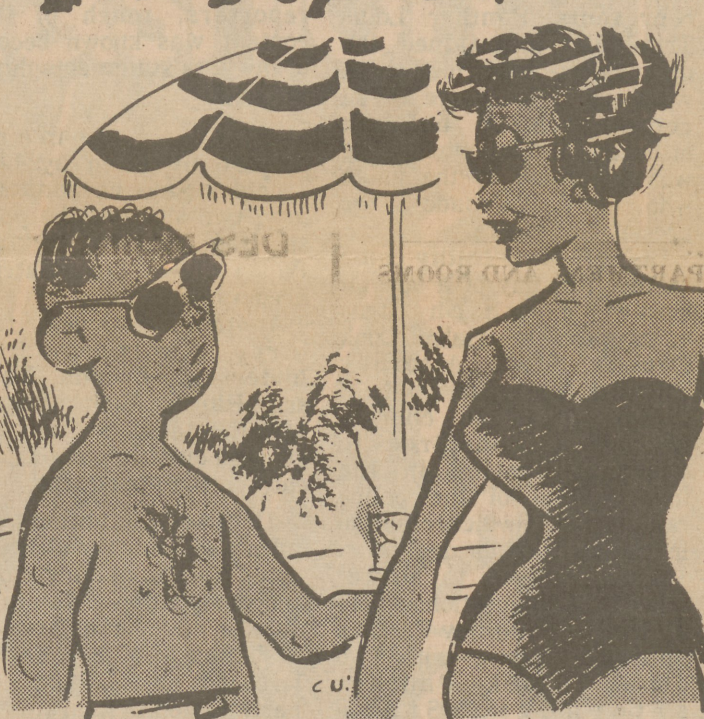

Since it began in 1964, the O.I.C. has trained more than 75,000 people for jobs in 100 U.S. cities and the African nations of Kenya, Ghana, Nigeria and Ethiopia.

The philosophy of the O.I.C. is to give men and women "skills in their hands and pride in their heads." The need today, said Rev. Sullivan, is massive management training programs.

Particularly important are ownership positions in such trades as automobile dealerships and garment manufacturing.

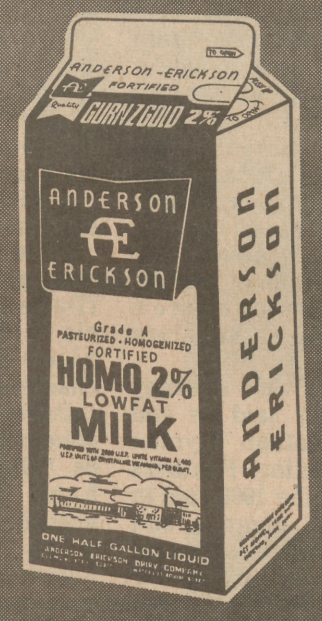

"We buy more Cadillacs than anybody else. If we stopped buying them, they would have to stop making them," he joked to applause and peals of laughter.

spoke of her vacation to Pittsburgh Pa., and Pontiac, Mich. She stated she was unable to visit other points due to flood waters in the area. Mrs. John Valentine told of her trip to Mexico City. Prizes in whist went to Mrs. Bernard Sansberry, first and Mrs. Carl low. The August 9 meeting will be at the home of Mrs. Carl.

Thurmond Bates, and son of Kansas City, Mo. were weekend guest of his mother Mrs. Ina Bates, and sister Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Carter, July 29 and 30.

The Magnolia Art Club, met with Mrs. Louis Dade, Friday a.m., July 28. Mrs. Ionia Anderson of Kansas City, Mo. who is still a member of the Club, formerly of Ft. Madison, was present. The president gave the members a message from Mrs. Bertha Payton also a member of the Club, who has been ill in the hospital, last year in May and June, this year two months and ten days, she is still under the care of the doctor. Everyone was so happy to know she was improving so nicely. The Club had their 20th annual Picnic Sunday, July 30th in the Rodeo Lodge in the Rodeo Park.

"I am the only candidate for the U.S. Senate for white people," runs the commercials. "The main reason why niggers want integration is that niggers want our white women. I am for law and order. You can't have law and order and niggers."

In the decision on the complaint seeking to end the commercials, the Commission decided that there was not sufficient evidence of "clear and present danger of imminent violence which might warrant interference with speech that does not contain any direct indictment to violence."

Lonnie King, director of the Atlanta NAACP (who filed the complaint with the Commission) disagreed. He said that the spot announcements that Stoner had placed in the radio and television stations had led to bomb threats.

"While we endorse the right of free speech," said King, "J.B. Stoner chanting 'nigger, nigger' on television is the same as yelling fire in a crowded theater."

Norman Blumenthal, aide to Black FCC Commissioner Ben Hooks, explained the position that the broadcasters and the Commission were in. He said that while it is up to the broadcaster whether or not they will accept any paid political advertising, once they have accepted the advertising of one candidate, they must accept the advertising of all other candidates for the same office.

In addition, Blumenthal added that the broadcasters are prohibited by the Federal Communications Act

Crime Threatens Public Housing

By Jeanne Fox

WASHINGTON—(NBNS)—"Frankly, we must ask whether the public housing program (in the big cities) now stands in danger of abandonment simply because so many crime problems have become so ingrown, complex, and ugly," was Senator Harrison to censor paid political announcements.

At the same time the Commission had not felt that it had the authority to stop Stoner's spots because he did not advocate violence in his otherwise inflammatory statements.

Earlier in the week, Atlanta Mayor Sam Massell had asked the Atlanta media not to run the announcements after his office and the stations had been swamped with calls protesting Stoner's commercials.

But the stations and Stoner both had replied that to do so would be an infringement of Stoner's right to free speech. Stoner runs against the other 15 candidates in this week's senatorial primary. He also was an unsuccessful candidate in Georgia's gubernatorial election in 1970.

Williams' reaction after three days of hearing on public housing crime.

Williams then went on to deplore the federal government's slowness in placing security guards in crime-ridden urban projects.

The Senator's subcommittee on housing for the elderly had heard testimony telling of severe crime in public housing districts from residents of Jersey City, Cleveland, Baltimore, Boston, and Hartford.

Later in the day, officials from Housing and Urban Development (HUD) and the Justice Department conceded that this was a serious problem that their agencies should have responsibility for it but neither seemed to think that their agency should take the lead in solving the problem.

Norman V. Watson, Assistant Secretary of HUD, estimated that it would take $35 million a year to provide enough security guards for the big city projects. But at the same time Watson showed no sign that HUD would include that amount as part of HUD's regular operating subsidies for local public housing projects.

But HUD, he pointed out, has been advising local

One more Hilltop Open tennis meet down the drain. And it was a pretty big one, 195 entries, if you count everybody who actually played. And the final matches at Good park had to be just about the coldest ever held. I wished for more participants, but there were more than usual. Heading the list was Mark Morrow. Mark was a cinch to win in the two boy's divisions, so he passed them up for bigger game. He got into the men's singles, and nearly pulled off the biggest win of his career. He took the first set from top seeded Bill Rompf, and battled him into the second set before going down, losing by scores of 5-7, 6-4, 6-2.

Then Mark and Lee Wright were very much in the finals of the men's doubles, and lost that one in three sets. Esther Myers was the defending champion in the women's singles, and she got put out in her semifinal match by Laura Williams who beat her for the first time in umpteen years. But Esther and Bill Rompf were the defending champions in the mixed doubles, and after dropping the first set to Ron Liezerowitz, and Bev Buckley, they gave their supporters some anxious moments before they got together and grabbed the third one to hang onto their crown.

authorities to plan for security. In a few cases, HUD has approved several local, partly subsidized housing plans that included salaries for security guards.

Jerris Leonard, head of the Justice Department's $700 million-a-year Law Enforcement Assistance Administration pointed to LEAA pilot programs to improve police-community relations in several cities. Though he admitted this was not enough, he implied that the long-range funding and planning should be up to HUD.

Other HUD officials said that part of HUD's reluctance to really commit themselves to this problem stemmed from a financial "crunch."

All together there were about ten of us, and with the classes that I saw at the park, there will be more, and some fellows and girls with a good chance to make it all the way. Valerie Hawthorne played in her first meet in the girl's twelve and under singles, and came up with a second place trophy, not bad. There were people who were in the thing, but I don't want to make this a story of what we didn't do. It was a good meet, and there was a goodly crowd at the finals in spite of the cold weather and the rain that seemed to keep trying to get us to put the thing off.

Then I heard about a meet that we used to not be able to enter. It seems that young blacks won four titles in the junior divisions of the Missouri Valley meet. People are talking about finding another Art Ashe, or around here, another Mark Morrow, but I will gladly settle for just some good tennis players.

When this meet first started, just about half of the Hilltop club used to get into it, and maybe it will come back to that.

It doesn't attract much attention in the daily press, but there are a lot of black kids who are playing top tennis in both the ATA and the USLTA. Partly because of the practice of not mentioning a player's race, and partly because they aren't in this part of the country, we never hear about them. But you can read all about most of them in Tennis World, a fine tennis magazine. And a couple of fellows I know well, Dick Hudlin and Bob Foxworth, are doing more than their share to promote good black players. And it wasn't too many years ago that our application for a sanction by the USLTA as an independent club was rejected. Maybe we could make it now.

And now back at the ranch. I was glad to see that some of our players in the old Negro league baseball are being inducted into the Hall of Fame. I hope Chet Brewer makes it some day. He ranked right up there with the best when he was pitching, and certainly deserves recognition. But, do you know, this belated recognition doesn't help erase the scars of years of being denied the chance to prove their worth against the best in organized baseball, except in exhibition games.

I know it. I blew a chance to talk to Vida Blue the other night but did you ever try to be at a tennis meet and baseball game the same night? Try it some time. Probably never will have a chance like that again, but I shall come up with something within the next two weeks. Now, am I forgiven?

Ban 'Voluntary Segregation' by U.S. Marines

By Louise E. Wyche
National Black

WASHINGTON—(NBNS)—The Marine Corps, acting in the wake of increased racial tensions between blacks and whites in the corps, has banned all "voluntary segregation" practices in living quarters on land and at sea.

In a letter to all general and commanding officers, the nation's top marine, Gen. Robert E. Cushman, Jr., the corps commandant, said the long-standing prohibition of segregation in barracks and other living areas will also include de facto voluntary segregation "which extends beyond a reasonable request by a few friends to bunk together."

Marines, until now, have been permitted to room with their friends, but this has often resulted in whole barracks floors being effectively segregated racially.

"No racial segregation is to be permitted in the barracks or other living areas," the commandant said.

Although 13 per cent of the enlisted men in the Corps are black, only 1.4 of the officers are, and this has led, Marine officials believe, to increased racial tension.

"Violence by Marines both on and off base must be stopped," he said. And at the same time, he told his commanders they must be "tough, aggressive, and demanding in eliminating racially segregated bars, liberty 'hang-outs,' restaurants, etc." by placing them off limits.

He also ordered a series of actions designed to eliminate grounds for complaint by blacks and other Marines alleging discriminatory treatment, including:

* Providing all possible assistance to marines in solving "real or imagined" personal problems.

* Filling quotas for transfers in a way that "all will share equally with respect to the individual marine's ability and personal desires."

* Announcing at daily formations the punishments and work details given marines, in order to reduce further grounds of complaints of discrimination. "Equal treatment for all
