Chicago Panther Repudiates Statements

Bond Lashes Out At Spiro's Comments On Black Leaders

WASHINGTON—(NBNS)—Lashing out at the sharp attacks on American Black leadership by Vice President Spiro Agnew, Georgia state legislator Julian Bond said Agnew and the Nixon Administration "still want to play the white settler's role they've been playing all along."

Agnew recently re-affirmed a statement he made last year that U.S. black leaders could learn a lot from leaders of black Africa.

"That's just part of his racist history," shot back Bond after hearing of Agnew's comments on NBC's Meet the Press. "He believes the white man's role is to scold, chastise, and belittle black Americans as much as they can - but he's wrong, dead wrong about that."

Calling Agnew's comment part of a "carefully planned script that the White House put together," Bond said the rhetoric about increased financial assistance to black business was another example of a "well-rehearsed and orchestrated campaign to solicit black votes when they know they haven't done a damn thing for us - but they've done a lot to us over the past three and a half years."

He said Agnew's remarks also showed his lack of concern and sensitivity to the plight of black Americans, since it (the Administration) "has always taken a master to servant attitude about black people."

"The only thing Spiro Agnew thinks black people are good for is lecturing us and telling us what is good for us. We certainly don't need HIM to tell us what the problems are and what we need to do about them."

He's just been the guy the Nixon Administration has repeatedly used to attack black people and those persons in this country who were trying to do something, and frankly I personally resent his remarks."

In his remarks last year, Agnew contended that many U.S. black leaders were full of "querulous complaints and constant recriminations against the rest of society," and "most ... could learn much" from African leaders.

This past Sunday, Agnew said black leaders "who are the most visible in the sense that they appear regularly on the national media certainly do not in many cases show any approval for the constructive change that's occurring." Bond wondered aloud what good changes he was referring to.

"I do believe when we look at much of the black leadership ... they are not reflecting the real opinion of the black community and they are more or less caught up in a situation where they are constantly looking at inadequacies, real or imagined, and very seldom able to articulate any approval of change that has been salutary and constructive," Agnew continued.

Batey Chosen Outstanding In America

Charles Batey, Jr., Special Assistant to the President of Drake University for Equal Opportunity Programs, has been selected for inclusion in the 1972 edition of Outstanding Young Men of America.

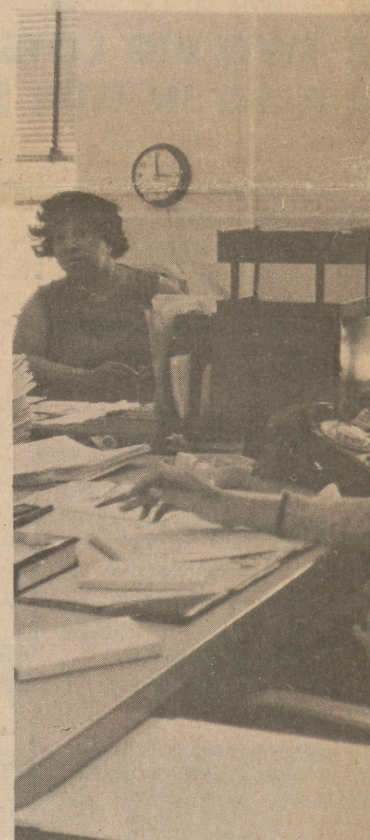

Batey, who has been at Drake for three years, was Coordinator of the Urban Affairs Center for two years before assuming his current position last fall.

Tom Jones believes Community Development can "create a new image for Model Cities."

Jones, Associate Planner for Community Development's Model City Prime Service Area, made this observation from his site office at 1000 College Ave., the Old Dowling High School.

Jones, 22, the youngest associate planner in the six-neighborhood program, said he "likes community contact, and working with less privileged people in an administrative position."

The "new image" Jones said he seeks to create is one in which the Model Cities area -- selected in 1968 as the first Des Moines neighborhood to receive a concentrated rehabilitation effort -- will work harmoniously with the other

By HOWARD EVERETT National Black News Service CHICAGO—(NBNS)—Black Panther Louis Truelick has denied the conspiracy trial of State's Attorney Edward V. Hanrahan that he "picked up an automatic pump rifle and fired" at police raiding the Panther headquarters Dec. 4, 1969.

Truelick acknowledged that he had signed a 40-page statement prepared by Panther lawyer Francis Andrew two weeks after the raid.

The statement, which surfaced only after the Hanrahan trial began, contains the Truelick statement about firing at the police who broke into a Panther apartment with their guns blazing. Panther Chairman Fred Hampton was among those killed while they slept.

Truelick said he signed the statement but that he had "skimmed over it quickly" and apparently missed the part about firing shots. He said he had meant to tell the lawyer that two shots were fired, but that they came from police weapons.

Four previous Panther witnesses also had testified that no shots were fired from within the apartment. State's Attorney Hanrahan and 13 codefendants, 12 of them Chicago policemen, are charged with conspiracy to alter and conceal evidence about the raid to prevent prosecution to the police raiders.

Truelick testified on direct examination that he was on guard duty with a loaded shotgun at his side when the raiders knocked on the door about 4:15 a.m. He said he refused to open the door when the knockers did not fully identify themselves and was going to wake Hampton when the police blasted the door open.

Isaac Hayes Behind $100 Million Low Income Housing Plan

Academy Award winner Isaac Hayes is shown here at St. Croix, Virgin Islands, where he launched a $100 million housing program for low income families in the United States. The housing project is considered the largest and most ambitious project of its kind ever initiated entirely by Black financial interests.

St. Croix, Virgin Islands. The dream of a sharecropper's son, now among the giants in the musical world, took a big step toward realization with the announcement today by singer-composer Isaac "Black Moses" Hayes that he and a group of prominent Black businessmen have undertaken the sponsorship of a $100 million housing project for low income families in the United States.

Considered the largest and most ambitious project of its kind ever initiated entirely by Black financial interests and support, the construction and development of garden apartment communities in various parts of the country will house more than 20,000 people within the next five years.

Although specific cities have not yet been finalized, Hayes indicated that he would like to see a major portion of these units in the South where his roots were nurtured.

Mr. Hayes announced that among his close associates on this project is Al Bell, chairman. The Stax Organization, Memphis, the company which produces and distributes his records. Mr. Bell is one of America's outstanding Black businessmen and entrepreneurs.

The project utilized Section NO. 236 and other programs of the Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD). These F.H.A. subsidized rental programs encourage participation by private enterprise in providing quality housing for lower income families.

In addition, the concept that Blacks with means should come to the aid of Black people of lesser means was a key factor in the decision to provide the leadership in this program.

Hayes said, "I have chosen this particular project because it meets one of the most important needs today—housing for Black and poor people."

"I feel that this kind of program," he continued, "is an example of the more relevant economic directions that Black people, who are financially able, must take in order to seriously participate in the American democratic process. It expresses the Black American ideals of self-respect and self-reliance," he stated.

This project is viewed by the participants as one of the first major efforts of Black people in America to use the economic programs of government and private capital to fulfill the dreams of Dr. Martin Luther King, Jr.

The $100 million dream has already taken shape. The construction of an $8 million 250-unit development in St. Croix, Virgin Islands, which was financed solely by Hayes, is completed. It is the first low income building project in the Virgin Islands under Section NO. 236 and the first of such scope ever undertaken privately by Black financing.

The St. Croix site, known as Lorraine Village, is a 20-acre residential community consisting of two-story garden apartments and town houses with apartments ranging from one to four bedroom units.

The Virgin Islands provide the ideal environment and circumstances to establish the prototype for the future developments in the continental United States. The conditions of employment and housing for Black population will put this unique concept to the task.

Hayes points out that the one-bedroom apartments will be ideal for senior housing which has always been an important part of his dream.

This low rent apartment will afford senior citizens and retirees and opportunity to become for the first time a viable and important part of the overall community.

The units were designed and constructed by a division of U.S. Home in conjunction with Alcoa. Special and unique considerations were taken to meet the peculiar needs of the projected community. The U.S. Home Corporation, in order to provide appropriate sensitivity and insight to the development, retained the counsel of Black expertise in sociology and psychology. The unique architectural character of the building is complemented by beautiful landscaping.

The new St. Croix community has complete sports and recreational facilities for ever member of the family. Several picnic areas, and a base ball field, as well as tennis, basketball and volleyball courts are part of the development.

Particular attention has been given to the needs of younger children with the construction of a number of "tot lots" complete with swings, sandboxes, etc. Enclosed meeting and game rooms and modern laundry facilities with special innovations for the conveniences of the elderly are available.

A parking facility is centrally located on the site, and schools, shopping facilities and churches are a few minutes away.

According to Michael J. Levitt, executive vice president, Soble Construction Company, a division of U.S. Home, the exiting features of Lorraine Village offers the residents a housing standard much superior to anything that has been previously available within their economic means.

It is exactly this concept which Isaac Hayes, Al Bell and their associates wish to establish in the United States.

Angela Visits Moscow Factory Workers, Scientists, Youths

MOSCOW—(NBNS)—Angela Davis has told Muscovites that without their support the struggle for social progress "would be difficult" to continue.

Miss Davis, an avowed Communist who is visiting the Soviet Union for the first time has met with numerous public figures, workers scientists and writers during the opening days of her visit here.

Calling Soviet support for blacks in keeping with the "spirit of internationalism," she said:

"Your solidarity campaign and the actions of the Soviet public in support of the movement of black Americans answer the spirit of internationalism.

"Without the support of the Soviet Union it would be incomparably more difficult for us to wage the struggle for social progress," she told the Russians.

The Soviet Union which loudly protested Miss Davis' recent trail on charges of conspiring to commit murder and kidnapping called Miss Davis "a prominent public figure of the United States."

Upon her arrival earlier in the Soviet Union Miss Davis was greeted to a hero's welcome as more than 400 persons mostly women cheered and threw bouquets as she walked to her car. There were also banners evident which read in English and Russian "Warm greetings to the brave American patriot."

The only woman astronaut Valentina Tereshkova welcomed Miss Davis on behalf of several Soviet organizations.

prime service neighborhoods in a comprehensive program.

Jones said the Community Development Program is the tool needed to achieve community unity because it "establishes better rapport with the community at large."

A lifelong resident of Des Moines, Jones took over his responsibilities at the Model City Site Office last February.

A 1970 graduate of Indian Hills Junior College in Centerville, he has six hours of student-teaching to complete before receiving his B.S. degree in education from Drake University.

Jones' involvement in community service began in September, 1971, when he became the Des Moines coordinator of the federally funded Emergency Employment Act — a program of the Department of Labor.

That program was geared toward the unemployed, and some preference was given to Vietnam veterans and people in minority groups, Jones said.

Jones said many residents in the Model City area feel their neighborhood program "is unique" because it is the original neighborhood to participate in the Community Development program.

The neighborhood, covering 1.189 acres, is the most populous of the six Prime Service Areas, with 15,430 residents.

Jones expressed confidence in the program, but again emphasized the importance of boards working together:

"If Community Development works with all the Prime Service Areas as put down in the comprehensive plan, it will be beneficial."

Assisting Jones at the Model City Site Office is Assistant Planner, Mary E. Moore and secretary, Hazel Layer.

Mrs. Moore joined the staff in April, 1972.

A 1948 graduate of Drake University, she was previously secretary of the Model City Citizens Board. She has lived in Des Moines most of her life and has two children: Mary, 17 and Faye, 12. Their home is at 1404 - 11th Street.

Mrs. Layer, 25, of 1130 Sixth Ave., took her secretarial position in March, 1972.

A native of Mount Pleasant, she was formerly a secretary for Greater Opportunities, Inc. (GO) for two and one-half years.

African Report

NIGERIAN STARTING GREEN REVOLUTION

LAGOS, Nigeria—(NBNS)—The federal government has launched a massive food production project here which resembles programs in other nations, including Kenya and Tunisia.

Nigeria—faced with a worsening of its food supply—has followed closely the recommendations of agricultural experts here who visited nations with similar problems and saw how they accelerated their food production. The project has been dubbed 'green revolution' by government officials.

The government will attempt to employ the latest uses of modern technology on large-scale plantations and small peasant farms, as well as utilize mass production of high-yielding seed varieties. Nigerian sources also point to improved storage and marketing and extensive use of large quantities of fertilizers as elements of the project.

In the first stage of the campaign, food crops including rice, maize, sorghum, millet, wheat and cassava will be multiplied. Prices of these and many other common staples have been beyond the reach of many Nigerians for years.

The civil war in 1970 did little to improve the food production in the nation and unfavorable weather conditions make the problem even more complex.

The federal government is also establishing a national agricultural bank to make funds available to peasant and plantation farmers. An initial grant of more than $11 million with an additional annual grant of $5.7 million will be allocated.

The government is also making totaling $14.5 million to state governments for agricultural development during the year.

Tiny Tot Centers Cater To Kids

Brightly colored pictures decorating walls, mounds of blocks strategically arranged, and ingeniously designed clay sculptures all catch your eye when you enter children's day care centers around the city.

The Methodist Hill Children's Center at Tenth and Pleasant Streets, Oakridge Tiny Tot Center at

The cheery atmosphere of these centers is enhanced by energetic staffs whose members organize and plan projects and mingle with the children.

The child care centers have been established to give children a variety of social and learning experiences, while their parents work during the day. Staff

Carrie Oliver, social worker at Methodist Hill, said the centers purpose is to "provide as many varied activities as possible" for the children, who at this center are divided into groups for most activities. She said the lead teacher and her assistants work out daily lesson plans and weekly schedules.

At all these centers a social worker and at least one certified teacher trained in child development are employed. The centers also employ a nutritionist, who plans daily meals, a speech therapist and registered nurse. Volunteers from the Concentrated Employment Program (CEP) and Youth Employment Service assist in story-reading, arts and crafts and supervision.

Financial support of the centers comes from various sources, the main ones being the Department of Social Services, Des Moines Community Development, the United Way, and parent's fees.

The Community Development program provides local matching funds that permit day care centers to be reimbursed by the federal government for the care of children whose parents can't afford to pay the full cost. The Tiny Tot and Methodist Hill Centers both receive reimbursement from the federal government for many of the children they serve. Charly Brown Center doesn't currently receive these funds. The federal funds are dispersed to the centers through the Polk County Welfare Office.

In addition, the United Methodist Church has provided funds for new materials for the Methodist Hill facility.

1064 Center St., and Charly Brown Play School at 3106 Iowa Ave., all located in the Woodland-Willkie and Model City Prime Service Areas of the Des Moines Community Development Program, are typical of these centers.

Manifesto Of Ft. Madison Rights Movement Cited

Some inmates of Fort Madison Prison have set forth what they refer to as a manifesto or Basic Human Rights we present it in its entirety.

We, the inmates of Fort Madison State Penitentiary feel to the profoundest, that crimes of exploitation, enslavement and human violations are being perpetrated against us by the administration of this institution.

We, feel strongly that the employment of such inhumane tactics must immediately come to an end. We have channeled our human rights demands through the system, dramatization of our demands should not be necessary.

We believe that since all of the inmate body is subjected to the inhumanities of this institution, we are united regardless of race, creed or color.

The title of criminal has been the instrument of denial of our human rights, not only by the administration, but also society, who both visualize us as slaves, plus the feeling of righteousness to exploit our labor.

Our appeal is to those who have escaped the restraints of robotization.

We have been incarcerated to correct the "malfunctions" that do not coincide with a robotized society of dehumanization. But the program enacted at this institution renders no other alternative, but total destruction, physically & mentally, of it's occupants. These programs are more like throwing a weight to a man in quicksand, instead of a rope. Inhumanities, hostilities, violence.

There is no strike to protest these demands. We seek rectification of these inhumanities through the law, in a democratic fashion. Allow it to be acknowledged that our efforts are peaceful, and we seek due process of the law.

Our appeal is to those of you in society, who seek to rectify injustices...

DEMANDS

(1) WE DEMAND, the abolition of the parole board; which has shown discrimination in granting paroles, discrimination based on race. An alternative is to have enforcement of the Constitution by permitting an attorney on the Parole Board hearing for the purpose of cross-examination.

(2) WE DEMAND, the alleviation of the limitation of visits.

(3) WE DEMAND, an updating in medical procedures and attention.

(4) WE DEMAND, the end to segregation of inmates from the mainstream of population for political beliefs.

(5) WE DEMAND, an end to the persecution and punishment of prisoners who practice the Constitutional Right of peaceful dissent.

There has been no mentioning in the Constitution that inmate's labor can be exploited by the prison staff, in order for the inmate to stay in population. This is exploitation to the apex. This is also a tool which is used in the consideration of release (paroles) or work release. The only purpose of the exploitation of the inmate's labor is to the advantage of State, NOT THE INMATE.

(6) WE DEMAND, that the inmate does not develop work skills acceptable for outside employment in society, wages start at approximately sixty cents, and rarely do they exceed a dollar a day. The inmate (s) who refuse to be exploited by the State, are segregated and privileges are denied.

(7) WE DEMAND, an end to racial discrimination perpetrated by the staff at this institution. In areas of job placement, political beliefs, and etc.

(8) WE DEMAND, the right of formation of a Labor Union.

(9) WE DEMAND, that the right for inmates to earn enough money to support their families. People subjected to welfare aid have encountered the division of their checks to support their imprisoned spouse or relatives, who without this support find it difficult purchase toiletries. Inmates working on the minimum wage law standards could support their families and themselves.

(10) WE DEMAND, that this institution coincide with the minimum wage law (MINIMUM WAGE LAW).

(11) WE DEMAND, updating Vocational programs with the fashion of the federal prison system, Union Instructions, Union Pay Scales, and Union Membership.

(12) WE DEMAND, that the present parole board be efface and the establishment of a parole board elected by the PEOPLE.

(13) WE DEMAND, that the administration of this state end racial agitation immediately.

(14) WE DEMAND, an end to the discriminatory

Whites Boycotting Oklahoma City Schools, Busing Cited

OKLAHOMA CITY. Okla.— (NBNS)— Whites boycotted many of the city's schools as classes opened under court order to bus more than 29,000 students to achieve racial integration.

Calling the boycott "highly successful," white parents said it would continue until "we get our schools back and out of the hands of the federal government."

In general, the first day of school here was quiet except for a bomb threat at a local high school and the general confusion which is always apparent on the first day of classes.

There were more than a dozen pickets in front of an elementary school voicing their opposition to the desegregation order which is being appealed to the U.S. Supreme Court. Last year, school officials point out, only 16,000 children of the city's 66,000 pupils were bused. The court order practically doubled that figure this year.

One leading opponent of the desegregation order, Mrs. Raymond York, who is also a school board member, attempted to have her two younger sons enrolled in their neighborhood school. She failed in her bid.

"I'm not at liberty to defy the courts," James Sandage, principle of Taft Middle School, told Mrs. York, when she arrived with her sons, Danny and Alan. The boys were then assigned to another school.

Several years ago, Mrs. York was held in contempt of federal court for defying another desegregation order. She hasn't quit the fight yet. School officials, while discounting reports that the boycott was widespread, refused to disclose the opening day's attendance.

Letters To The Editor

I would like to enlighten some of the black brothers and sisters of the state of Iowa. I visited the so-called Men's Reformatory at Anamosa, Iowa, not very long ago. We've heard all this good "Bunk" about prison reform, prison rehabilitation, but if the people think this is what's being done, people are very unaware of what's happening to our people.

The prison at Anamosa, Iowa speaks of reform and rehabilitation, but they are worried about license plates, soap and recapping tires.

procedures in the judgment thus quota of paroles for BLACK PEOPLE!

(14) WE DEMAND, that the inmate be present when the prison administration is enacting search and seizure raids on the inmate's cell.

(15) WE DEMAND, an end to the use of past records as the sole reason for denial of parole. This act of discrimination must end immediately.

(16) WE DEMAND, that sanitation procedures in the mess hall be rectified, stained cups, dirty trays, stained pictures, the placement of chairs on the tables, etc.

By right of birth as human beings we are entitled to dignity and justice, so we are firm in our resolution. We are the living proof that dehumanization cannot continue to exist.

The more I've seen the more I realized there's no help there for my brothers. These men are victims of our sick society we're in today. If this letter is published, some reader will say "Tough, they brought it on themselves," others might say "They're not related to me." If you fall into one of these comments or have negative thoughts about Black people in prisons, not only here, but all over— You Better Check Your Heritage!

Willis E. Carson

Black Realtors Seeking To Save Cities

HOUSTON, TEXAS -- Willis E. Carson, president of the predominantly black National Association of Real Estate Brokers, Inc., today unveiled sweeping plans for his organization to help upgrade the nation's cities.

Speaking at the group's 25th Annual National Convention here, he said NAREB will set up information centers to monitor the housing and community problems of city dwellers.

He termed the plan "Realists To Save Our Cities," or RTSOC. He said the realists will help home owners secure government services required to maintain clean, safe cities.

Calling for more black officers, Carson said the nation's law enforcement departments must be reminded that they are the servants of the people, not their masters. He said high ranking officers in the departments should be required to be on duty during high crime periods. Carson believes street policemen will perform their jobs better under supervision of department commanders.

He said the public is entitled to better service because it pays the bills. The courts must also live up to their responsibility to keep criminals off the streets, he asserted.

Carson said cities can and must be saved and that NAREB should be at the forefront of the effort.

WAS DELIGHTED TO RECEIVE a postcard which began: "Forgot your address. Sweden was wonderful, am in Helsinki now; going to Leningrad, Russia from here and to Denmark before back home. Grandson is with us. Love Hazel Oliver." What a pleasant surprise to hear from Iowans so far from home! And it is so nice to be remembered.

WAS ASTONISHED TO RECEIVE a postcard from Thelma Clark. Thought we had her settled for a while, at least. She and Clark had to make an emergency trip to the bedside of his sister, Ruth Clark who had undergone emergency surgery. The Clarks are back home and over the Labor Day Holiday had a weekend guest, Mrs. Arthur Webb, of Mommouth, Illinois. She is Thelma's sister, Marylouise.

LYNDA WALKER, OF CHICAGO, IS IN TOWN visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Simmons. Lynda is originally from Des Moines. She was born here but attended grade school in Lovilia, Iowa, and elementary and high school in Des Moines. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Warfield, who are now deceased.

FOLLOWING HIGH SCHOOL, she attended Drake University and one semester at Grandview College. She received three scholarships while in under-graduate school. She was in Europe in 1966 on a study-teaching trip; this took place in England and in Finland. For this she received a scholarship to Yale Medical School. She left Yale Medical School and entered the University of Illinois Medical Research Center from which she graduated in June 1972.

LYNDA IS EMPLOYED AT THE UNIVERSITY OF ILLINOIS MEDICAL RESEARCH CENTER and during the past thirty days has made two trips to Caracas, Venezuela and on the coastline of The Amazon River. She was a member of a fifteen member team doing some studies on ascariasis (pronounced as-sa-riases), a round worm, a parasite found predominantly in children.

FOLLOWING GRADUATION, she went to St. Christopher's Hospice in London, England, where she served a two and a half week internship, sixteen hours a day, in relation to her master's research on "the terminal patient".

SHE IS INVOLVED IN CONDUCTING A SURVEY of what thoughts are running through the minds of black women-how closely they relate to one another. Out of a distribution of 400 leaflets, they received 370 in return! The questionnaires were sent out by six people. These questionnaires had been looked over by a psychiatrist and a psychologist. The study will be compared community wise, region-wise and nation-wise. This includes The Virgin Islands and The Bahamas.

MISS WALKER WAS ALSO AMONG THE GUESTS at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John M. Danforth, Sr. who celebrated with their children a family reunion. Among other out-of-town guests were Mr. Charles Danforth, of Cleveland, Ohio, and Mr. and Mrs. Roy Robinson, of Darby, Pennsylvania. She is the former Dorothy Danforth. Mr. Danforth in expressing his joy on this day and in this event, stated that he had seventeen grandchildren and sixteen great grandchildren. The Danforths are a joyous clan, and a successful group.

Lee began his first year of a four year apprenticeship program on August 28th with Capital City Electric Company of Des Moines. He is currently working on the Low Rent Retirement Home, situated on 11th and Crocker Streets.

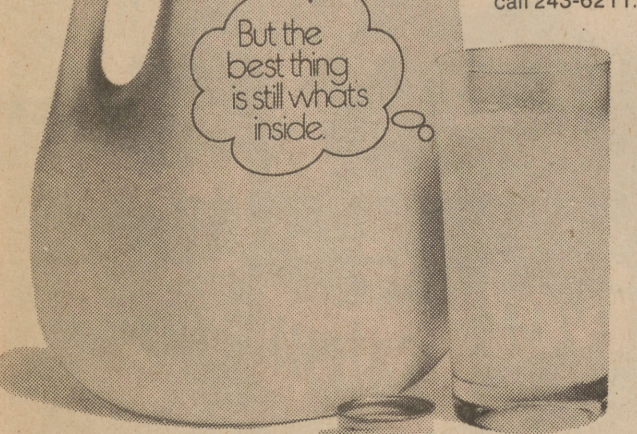

The apprenticeship program usually requires 8,000 hours of on-the-job training, in addition to a minimum of 144 hours of classroom instruction each year. In a typical 4 year training program, the apprentice learns, among other things, to use, care for, and handle safely the tools, equipment, and materials commonly used in the trade; do residential, commercial, and industrial electrical installations; and maintain and repair installations. There are lots of great things about this new Flynn plastic gallon jug.

Actually our new plastic gallon jug is the next best thing to the cow herself for keeping Flynn Milk fresh. The re-sealable screw on cap insures complete freshness. The built-in handle makes it easy to carry and easy to pour from. The plastic is translucent so you can always see how much milk is left. Of course, we wouldn't be so excited about the container if we weren't so sure about what we put inside it. It costs no more than milk in waxed cartons. And you pay no deposit.

This Is Your Life: Greg Morris

Greg Morris, star of "Mission: Impossible," was all set to do a special promotional film for the Olympics when Ralph Edwards and two other Mission stars, Peter Graves and Peter Lupus, stepped forward and said: "Greg, This Is Your Life."

When Greg saw a truck roll up and spoil the promo he thought he was making, he spotted Lupus and shouted: "Get that big idiot out of here." Greg was laughing and joking with the other three men until the shock of the moment hit him.

On This Is Your Life, Greg's family, friends and co-workers told of what Greg was and is today, how a boy from the Cleveland ghetto never has forgotten what that life was, and how much help he gives to everyone.

Greg directs a great deal of his energy to helping the young. One group is the Washington High School choir and the others are the 150,000 young people Greg has rapped with in an effort to keep them off hard drugs. That particular work was cited by the United States Bureau of Narcotics and Dangerous Drugs when a plaque from the governmental office was presented to Greg on the show.

Tears flowed freely when Greg was embraced by his wife, Lee, and their three children, Phillip, Iona and Linda, and when he took his 91-year-old grandmother into his arms.

Greg's mother, Mrs. Iona Morris told of the advice she gave her son when he was young and Greg said that has inspired him to pass along this advice to his own children: "I've told my son to be a man and my girls to be women."

The Greg Morris "This Is Your Life" show can be seen during the week of September 18th. (Check local logs for time and station please.)

SUPREME COURT REFUSES TO STOP NASHVILLE BUSING ORDER

WASHINGTON— (NBNS)— Supreme Court Justice William H. Rehnquist has refused to stop implementation of a massive school desegregation plan for Nashville, Tenn., under which 15,000 students will have to be bused.

The Justice Department had sought to have the case returned to the trial judge, but the Appeals Court denied that request.

POLICE TO INVESTIGATE PANTHERS IN ATLANTA

ATLANTA— (NBNS)— The police will conduct a full investigation into the Black Panther demand that food store chains contribute to its food program.

According to published reports, the Panthers have demanded $50,000 in cash, food, several buses, gasoline and services from at least three chains. Spokesmen for the grocery stores confirmed they had been contacted by

VASECTOMY A "PERMANENT PROCEDURE"

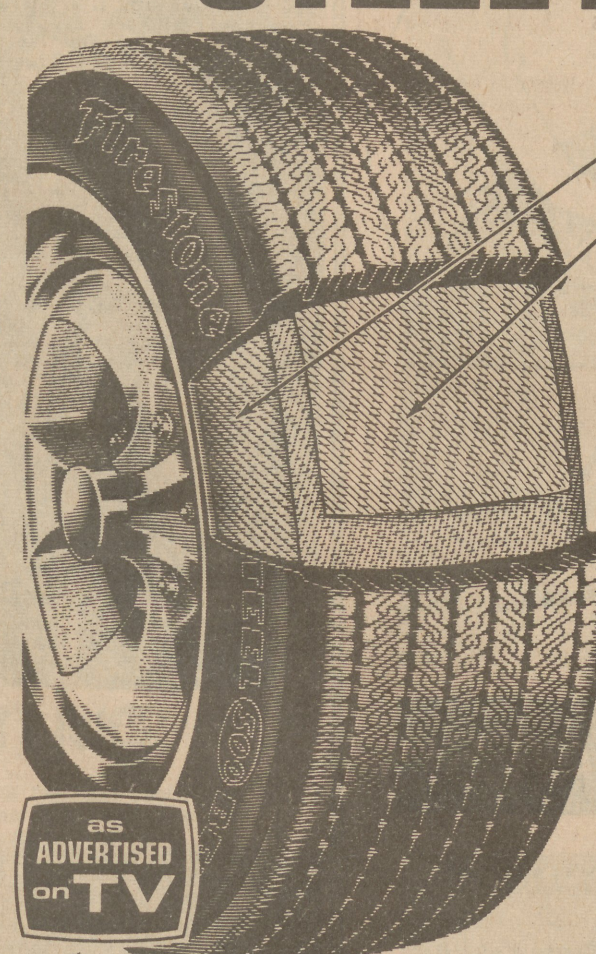

Chicago, Ill. (NLI)—Dr. Abel Leader of Baylor College of Medicine recently praised vasectomy (cutting of the male's sperm duct) as a fool-proof way of preventing unwanted pregnancies. At the same time he issued a warning. The operation is not as easily reversed as many people think. In fact, Leader said, vasectomy should be considered "a permanent procedure."

In talking to the First National Conference on Vasectomy, Dr. Leader suggested more careful screening of men who ask for vasectomies. If there is a chance they will want children at a later date, they should not have the operation, said the doctor.

On the positive side, Leader said: "this simple procedure of vasectomy already has contributed more to the sum total of human happiness than any other surgical procedure I can name."

Dr. Matthew Freund of New York Medical School shared with the conference some ideas which, he said, would "remove loss of fertility as a major drawback to vasectomy."

Freund suggested a "sperm bank" in which a man's sperm is frozen and stored, to be used later if he wanted to become a father. Freund also told of experiments on a micro-valve which would be inserted in the sperm duct. A minor surgical procedure could turn the sperm supply "off" or "on."

In their attempt to become the first successful black quarter back Karl Douglas and John Walton received major setbacks. They were being groomed to take over for veteran quarterbacks John Unitas and Roman Gabriel respectively but both Baltimore and Los Angeles have acquired experienced back-up quarterbacks. The Colts picked up Marty Domres and the Rams Pete Beathard. Douglas and Walton will likely be relegated to the taxi squad for another year. But at the same time, rookie Joe Gilliam of the Pittsburgh Steelers looked impressive in the 16-13 loss to the Baltimore Colts.

Bubba Smith of the Baltimore Colts underwent surgery on his right knee following a freak accident in the Col's exhibition win over the Pittsburgh Steelers in Tampa. The man holding the first down marker failed to drop it as the all-pro defensive end came toward him leading interference for safety Rick Volk after an interception. Smith's knee hit the marker causing damage to both ligaments and tendons. He is expected to be lost for the entire season.

Duane Thomas has been suspended and fined $150 a day until he reports by his new club, the San Diego Chargers. Since July 31 when he was traded by the Dallas Cowboys for wide receiver Billy Parks and running back Mike Montgomery, Thomas has appeared at camp three times but he has not participated in regular practice.

In the Men's final of the American Tennis Association

Championships in Boston, Horace Reid of Port Washington, N.Y. defeated Arthur Carrington of Elizabeth, N.J. 4-6, 6-7, 6-3, 7-6, 9-8. In the all black final, Reid overcame leg cramps and displayed a powerful game reminiscent of past tournament winner Arthur Ashe.

Again as four years ago the US Basketball team is being belittled because of the lack of name players. But impressive victories in the early rounds set the stage for the real test against Brazil. The oft-mentioned inexperience was overcome as the team cameback from a seven point deficit behind the key baskets of 20-year-old John Henderson. Coach Hank Iba has made Henderson his field general and the junior college graduate may provide the necessary spark that come from Spencer Haywood in Mexico City.

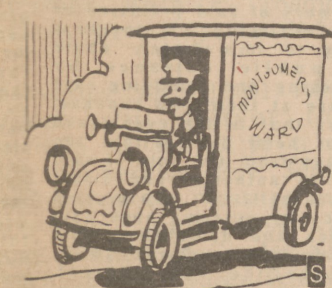

This year's US Boxing team is the best ever and much of their success may be due to an unique team spirit. The unofficial leader of the team is light heavyweight Ray Russell. Russell speaks of a current of 'soul and rhythm' that unites the team behind each fighter during his bout. The team has won six of their first seven fights with the only loss a much disputed defeat of Reggie Jones by a Russian.

The unusual Olympic rules state that no judge can declare a draw. Because of this a score of two for, I against and two neutral in favor of Jones was changed to two for and three against. The Munich crowd was close to a riot for fifteen minutes.

The world's championship boxing match coming up or probably held by now brings up a lot of thoughts about way back when. I don't know just when it happened, but boxing was declared illegal in Iowa. You could hold exhibitions, but no fights. Therefore there could be no decisions or any judges or Gleaned from an earlier Base release: Leroy and Patrick Kelly, currently one of the hotter brother acts in athletics are a part of the Base Enterprises team. Both are public relations representatives of the company during their respective off-seasons.

Leroy is again honing his running skills for the upcoming season. He is the leading active ground-gainer in the NFL. Meanwhile, Patrick is lending his speed and bat to the efforts of the Chicago White Sox. How's that for a dynamic duo?

Though battery-powered vehicles are becoming increasingly popular and practical for industrial use, the idea of using them is far from new. Montgomery Ward, for example, was moving freight with electric trucks as long ago as 1904!

such. In spite of this handicap, boxing did right well in the state. There were boxing bouts held in Des Moines, Sioux City, Mason City, Waterloo and other such places often enough that a fighter could make a pretty fair piece of change. I had a friend, George Bourland, who put himself through school by boxing around Iowa.

The big handicap in this sort of boxing was the possibility that you wouldn't get any money, or at least not as much as you bargained for. It was a favorite trick of the promoters to claim that the house was too small, and they couldn't pay you what they promised. You had no recourse, because, as it was explained to us, you couldn't haul a fellow to court for an illegal activity, and boxing was in the same category as gambling. Sometimes you could catch the promoter after the fuss had died down and make him come across with a little bit more cash, but oftener you didn't do a thing. One of my recollections was that a bunch of fellows who were taken to a small town in Iowa to put on combined boxing and wrestling show, the promoter skipped with all the dough, leaving the athletes to get home the best way they could. There weren't too many cars in those days, and so the fellows gave the train conductor a hard luck story, and he let them ride into Des Moines. Well, a couple of weeks later these four fellows happened to be at the old Coliseum for a fight, and who walked up but the promoter. He had a big wad of money and a girl. The wrestlers and boxers that a fighter could make a pretty fair piece of change. I had a friend, George Bourland, who put himself through school by boxing around Iowa.

with the news boys, you had to get kayoed to lose a fight. These were called newspaper decisions, and they were just that. Sometimes they were called hometown decisions, and nobody could dispute that. The sports magazines used to carry a fighter's record, and they would often carry the letter N after a fight. That stood for a newspaper decision, and you didn't have to accept it if you were evaluating the fighter.

We had some good ones here. There was a fellow named Kid Lawson who used to fight a local favorite. Lawson was black, and black fighters had to knock one dead to win. But, anyhow, Lawson fought this local favorite about four times. The fellow would climb out of the ring shaking his head and muttering, "I just can't whip that man." He knew he lost. But he always won the decision according to the local papers. There were a lot of them like that, and I suppose that was common practice all over the country. That was one of the main reasons why black fighters had a tough time making it to the top. They just ran into too many of those hometown decisions, and they were used against them to keep them from a deserved rating. But then guys like Joe Louis, Sugar Ray Robinson and Henry Armstrong came along and they began to knock out fighters by the bushel. Then, sometimes the count went like this: "one-get up, two, come on get up from there, three" and so on. So you had to make sure the fellow wasn't about to get up for at least two days if you wanted to win.

SPORTS—THE GLUE THAT HOLDS AMERICA TOGETHER

By CHARLES A. BUCHER

Sports are the glue that holds our society together. Football, track, swimming, baseball, cycling, tennis and the host of other sports played in America say something about this nation—its people—its character—its values—its philosophy of life. Sports are the common bond with which white and black, young and old, and rich and poor can identify.

The words were spoken by the Vice President on August 17 in Washington, D.C. to some 400 athletes the night before they left for Munich and the XXth Olympiad. The dinner, in honor of the U. S. Olympic team, was sponsored by the President's Council on Physical Fitness and Sports.

Captain James Lovell, C. Carson Conrad and the staff, by bringing together not only the Vice President, but also many past Olympic athletes such as Congressman Bob Mathias and Don Schollander; Clifford Buck, president of the U.S. Olympic Committee; sportscaster Chris Schenkel, master of ceremonies, and other distinguished guests, provided a stimulating and fitting send-off for America's youthful competitors.

As I looked over the vast throng of clean-cut, physically fit young Americans who were present at the dinner, I couldn't help but think that if these youngsters symbolize some of the values derived from sport, then such activities certainly do provide the glue that has helped to mold and shape this country into a great nation.

Furthermore, just as sports represent the glue to hold the U.S. together, so also the peoples of the world, despite such divisive events as cold wars, hot wars and border disputes, are tied together by the Games.

The Olympics ended this week and many persons concentrated on which country won the most gold, silver and bronze medals. More important, however, the Games represent an adhesive thread that, despite many differences, pulls peoples of the earth together.

The athletes from many nations living happily and cooperatively in Olympic Village, throwing their arms around each other after hard-fought contests, and socializing together in the evenings offer support to this thesis.

Each person at the dinner was given a medallion—a replica of the belt buckle from the official parade uniform for the U.S. Summer Olympic Team. On back of the memento are these words reflecting the purpose behind sports and the Olympics: "The rings which form the Olympic symbol originally represented the five major continents, namely, Europe, Asia, Africa, Australia and America (both North and South). The true concept, however, is that the rings are linked together to denote the sporting friendship of the peoples of the earth, whatever their creed or color. The colors were chosen because at least one of them appears in the flag of every nation in the world."
