Chisholm Will Not Campaign For McGovern

But She Backs His Candidacy

WASHINGTON—(NBNS)—Congresswoman Shirley Chisholm isn't going to campaign actively for the Democratic Presidential ticket because she feels she's been snubbed by aides of Sen. George McGovern. She, however, is telling everybody that asks her that they should vote for the McGovern-Shriver ticket this November.

"We can't have another four years of Richard Nixon in the White House, I guess we'll have to vote for McGovern," she said candidly when asked about her preference this November.

"I'm not attacking George McGovern," she added, "I think he's a decent and serious man. It's those troops he has around him that are arrogant and insensitive. They're going to prevent him from getting to 1600 Pennsylvania Avenue."

Earlier in the week, in a speech at Spellman College, Mrs. Chisholm said the "McGovern-Shriver ticket is the only thing for us. They (the students) know they have to go for the McGovern-Shriver ticket. There's no place else for us to go."

The New York Congresswoman was an unsuccessful candidate for the Democratic Party Nomination for President. She received 152 delegate votes at the convention.

She was a little irritated that the rift which started shortly before the convention had not been resolved immediately after the July confab. Shortly before the convention a number of black leaders formed a committee to support and advise Sen. McGovern, and

Mrs. Chisholm, as a candidate herself, was not on it. But she was again denied a seat after the convention as well on the steering committee.

"I felt that after the Miami convention was over, if they were going to set up a committee of black leaders... to have some input into the national ticket... I would have proved that I have a following in this country, and at least the courtesy should have been extended."

"I was not contacted in any official way... I waited about two to three weeks... Mr. McGovern made calls directly to Humphrey, Muskie, Mills, Teddy Kennedy. Mr. McGovern never made a call to me. The first time was on Labor Day weekend when I was up in the Pocono Mountains. He wanted me to know that his wife Eleanor was coming into my district, and I indicated quite clearly that I knew."

Mrs. Chisholm believes she could have contributed substantially to the grassroots campaign of McGovern.

"I have tremendous organizing ability on the grassroots level... I could have been one of the speakers on the stump... no charismatic person... no could stimulate people in sections of the country where the campaign was lagging... I'm not going to beg anybody to use me... I'm just taking it easy, sitting this one out. I need a rest anyhow."

Mrs. Chisholm is busy on a speaking tour raising money to eliminate the $50,000 debt from her presidential campaign.

Nixon Finally Okays Anti-Poverty Bill

WASHINGTON—(NBNS)—President Nixon has quietly approved a two-year extension of the nation's anti-poverty programs, but without the controversial free legal services provision which had brought repeated veto threats.

Congress approved the OEO bill authorizing $2.1 billion in the fiscal year which began last July 1. The figure is $200 million more than the President had budgeted for the year.

In sharp contrast to rather elaborate bill signing ceremonies in the White House recently, the President chose to approve the measure with no fanfare and a simple announcement that the White House had signed the bill into law with Presidential comment.

Earlier, a Senate-House conference committee agreed on transfer of the Legal Services program to a private corporation, which the President supported. But they placed a number of restrictions on who the President could appoint to the board. This subjected the entire OEO bill to a possible Presidential veto.

Later, the conferees decided to abandon all attempts in this session of Congress to revise the Legal Services program. They left the program entirely within the OEO structure.

The bill establishes a fee system, for the first time, for enrollees of the Head Start pre-school program for children of parents who can afford it.

Under the new schedule of fees, children from families with an annual income of $4,320 or lower will get free Head Start services. Fees, however, will be charged on a sliding scale for children from families with incomes above that level.

Notes From The Editor

O.K. Let's fight. Not each other but the local ABC Television Station! One of the finest Black actors in modern history is being given the treatment. He's Cleavon Little, star of ABC's new series "Temperatures Rising." The show is not shown in Central Iowa during prime time because they've already decided it would be a flop! The program is rebroadcast Sunday at 4:30. This matter is extremely important because these things happen all the time. Someone decides what you want or don't want and you never know why. There may not be many of us but let's do it. Now is the time. Let's get that television program where it belongs! You don't have to write a long letter just say that you want Temperatures Rising back in prime time! Come on let's do it. We'll go after a certain other network next, if YOU don't write it won't work. Write today! The New Iowa Bystander, 1016 Forest Ave., Des Moines, Iowa 50314. We'll take the letters in personally.

Fajilawa To Appear At Black Art Expo In Des Moines

The YWCA Black Arts Council will present Fajilawa at the Black Art Expo on Sunday, October from 3 to 7 p.m. at the YWCA, 717 Grand. Fajilawa is a trio of musicians from the Iowa City area playing African oriented music and traditional African instruments.

The group began doing research on African music soon after Gary Gray, one of the members, received a shipment of Ghana talking drums and mbiras from his brother in Ghana, West Africa. Since then they have received African flutes to complete their original African sound. They are now making appearances to allow others to experience the unique sounds their music has to offer.

The members of Fajilawa have one thing in common. They thrive on the rhythmic robustness and complexities of African music.

Ted Davis, on the Ghana talking drums, has developed his own method of coordinating stick and hand patterns to more nearly meet the unique sounds of African drumming. He also plays bongos, timbale and a conga drum with characteristic African rhythmic patterns.

Gary Gray plays a variety of African mbiras, most of which he has made and others sent him by his brother. He supplies adjoining cross-rhythms and also adds sounds of shaker, beads and bells to set a more colorful pace.

Linda Dillon sings out on African, Indian and Western flutes of all kinds to create just the right mood for the total rhythmic flow. Her spontaneity and mastery of the African sound brings the

"Our drive is a joint effort of the Communications Workers of America and Northwestern Bell management," Carrie, of 1236 Stewart Street, explains. "When Herb Randels, our CWA local president, asked me to represent the CWA as co-chairman, I thought it over and then said 'I'll do it.' It was certainly flattering to be asked to serve." The company's other United Way drive co-chairman is Les Jung, district directory production manager.

Helping others is in Carrie's blood. "When I see a need, I try to fill it if I possibly can," she says.

Carrie, a Northwestern Bell employee for 24 years and presently a house service attendant, sees her temporary task as "getting across to our employees the need for fair share giving to the United Way Drive." And she believes in it, too.

"United Way is a vital, worthwhile organization. I wouldn't have accepted the job as co-chairman if I didn't think so," she adds firmly.

She emphasizes that her United Way position has been "a great experience and an education" for her. "I keep running across people who tell me how they've been helped by United Way agencies. I think if people knew more about the 37 agencies and what they have to offer, they'd be even more willing to contribute their fair share."

Carrie and her retired husband, Burks, are members of Kyles A.M.E. Church in Des Moines. Her daughter, Mrs. Bertha Cassell, is the director of Logan Opportunity Center.

Carrie's main hobby? "Flowers," she quickly responds. "Indoor plants, mostly. Anybody who gets to know me finds that out quickly once they come inside our house," she laughs.

Q's Honor Houston

A cocktail party and dinner were held at the Savery Hotel Saturday, September 23, 1972 by Mu Omicron Chapter of Omega Psi Phi Fraternity and their wives (the Quettes) and sweethearts.

Honor was paid to Brother Marsh Houston, outgoing Basileus. Houston served in that capacity with honor and distinction for thirty years. He was the first Basileus when the chapter was organized in 1941. Brother Jesse Hawkins recalled some of the work and dedication of Brother Houston during his terms as Basileus. Hawkins also stated that Brother Houston gave unstintingly of himself the graduates in helping make Mu Omicron a strong chapter. He stated further, that Houston believed strongly in the four cardinal principles of Omega-mannhood, perseverance, uplift, and scholarship.

Brother Kirk Glover spoke of the help and guidance he and other undergraduates received from Brother Houston. Other expressions of praise came from Brother Michael O'Bannon and Quette Glanton. Mrs. Glanton spoke for Brother Glanton, who was in the hospital following an automobile accident.

Brother Jesse High, incumbent Basileus, made the presentation statement with Vice Basileus Eddie Violette making the presentation.

In his expressions of appreciation Brother Houston charged the younger brothers particularly to be alert to the needs of the less fortunate.

Brothers with their wives and sweethearts were: Jesse High, Eddie Violette, Nathaniel Bryant, Leslie Carter, Kirk Glover, Marsh Houston, John Mapp, Mandrid Williams, Edgar Bridges, Larry Harris, and William High. Other brothers were: Jesse Hawkins, Frederick Johnson, Michael and George Stone.

Kalonji Lumumba Speaks

What is to be done?

I'm sure that at one time or another we have all asked ourselves this question. Before this question is answered we must examine ourselves thoroughly. What is my goal in life? Is it to own a new car, color T.V., house, more dope, or is it to be free and determine our own destiny?

Those of us that choose to fight for freedom instead of losing our souls trying to acquire material goods must recognize that we as individuals must discipline ourselves and struggle against oppression in the correct manner. We must set the example for our people to follow. In order to do this we must be:

1. Mentally aware: We must know why, what, and who we are struggling against. We must know what we can and cannot accomplish.

2. Physically in tune: Our minds can function only if our bodies are in tune. We must build the physical capacity to sustain us during our fight for liberation.

3. Spiritually enlightened: We can win only if we believe we are right, and our struggle against racial discrimination and violent repression is just.

In Des Moines our task is even greater than in the large cities. We constitute less than ten per cent of the population so realistically speaking we can't talk about taking over the city machinery, but what we can and need to talk about is:

1. Forming a Black independent political party, so in cases where we cannot run our own candidate we can at least form a solid Black voting block.

2. Holding all so-called Black leaders accountable to the Black community.

3. Forming of economic co-operatives such as small clothing factories, small farms (isn't it ironic that in the most agriculturally rich area in the world that we do not produce one iota of the food we consume) etc.

The time for bowing, snivelling and begging is over. If we do not respect ourselves then we should not become upset when our oppressor does not respect us.

Again I say let us recognize our true power. If we were not so potentially powerful the white racists would not have to use so much power to suppress us. We can accomplish what we want to. It is time for us to set the correct example for the younger generation. They pattern themselves after us. If all we do is bow, snivel and beg then we are fostering a generation of inferior people.

Let us respect each other. Let us forge ourselves into a nation of men and women instead of inferior sloths.

ALGERIA RETURNS $1 MILLION

WASHINGTON, D.C. (NBNS)—Elaborate security precautions were taken to return more than $1 million in ransom paid to a group of eight persons who hijacked a Delta DC-8 in Detroit and took it to Algiers.

A Des Moines Technical High School graduate, Darrell took carpentry as his core area, and he attributes this to being partially responsible for his being accepted as an apprentice. Darrell was first made aware of the opportunities that existed in making carpentry a career when he was visited at Tech by members of the Apprenticeship Information Center. After carefully going over all the pertinent facts concerning the carpenter's apprenticeship program, he decided he would like to apply his high school training as a career choice in the field of carpentry.

Cropp Studies Carpentry

It is important for young men interested in entering carpentry to obtain the all-around training given in apprenticeship programs, particularly because technological innovations increasingly are affecting carpentry. Carpenters having such training will have especially favorable long-range job prospects. They will be in much greater demand and have better opportunities for advancement than those in the trade who can do only the relatively simple, routine types of carpentry.

Darrell D. Cropp is one such young man learning a skilled craft through the apprenticeship program. A second year carpenter apprentice with Austin Construction Company, he is also a member of Carpenter's Local No. 106

APPLYING THAT WHICH SHE HEARD and felt as she attended various community meetings, Georgena Alexander, evolved a program which Joseph Alexander, her husband, put into action. He knew how to make her idea work. We have as a result of the thinking by this pair a neighborhood construction company named "Urband Services, Inc."

A BOARD FORMS THE BACKBONE OF THIS COMPANY: They are representatives of the community: Georgena Alexander, A. June Franklin, Joanna Cheatom, Connie Smith, Ann Knowles, Helen Lynch, Marri Johnson, Prentice Townsend, Floyd Loggins, Joseph Alexander, Mrs. Harry Bradley, and Michele Brennen; and a Youth Advisory Board made up of Mary E. Moore, Michael Williams, Candy Johnson and Gregory Rochan.

SUBCOMMITTEES HAVE NOT YET BEEN SET UP. This will be done. Each of the six prime service areas will be set up.

THIS COMPANY IS COMPOSED OF NEIGHBORHOOD (local) residents to do construction of various sorts. Such construction will consist of a variety of building tasks including remodeling, rehabilitation and new construction.

CONGESTED AND UNUSUALLY BLIGHTED AREAS will derive increased benefits by engaging in their "own" construction, i.e. (increased jobs, education, training, and better living area).

NEIGHBORHOOD RESIDENTS, with the aid of technical assistance from various sources such as the elderly and retired, handicapped, and specialists in a specific phase (carpenter, contractor, masonry, etc.) would be coordinated and trained to provide the labor force necessary to do the actual construction.

WIDOWS AND LOW-INCOME RESIDENTS will be served and those who cannot afford these services. Community action will be carried out to the letter, and we will be working closely with Health Department officials on bringing substandard homes up to code.

WITH THE CONSTANT INCREASE IN THE COST OF LIVING AND THE DEMAND FOR HIGHER WAGES THE COST OF construction has risen to an all-time high rate. What then is needed is a "system" which would reduce the cost of construction and provide more job opportunities. A workable solution is for individuals to engage in their own construction. This type of community action would decrease the amount of construction cost.

THE URBAN SERVICES, INC. utilizes the labor force within the community to erase blighted areas while lowering construction costs to the consumer. A great portion of monies expended in construction will be used for salaries of construction crews. Hence, money for construction will remain within the local economy of the given area by employing local residents. Full-time, gainful employment and on-the-job training are offered. The result is low-cost home improvements and new construction by making use of talent and human resources available within a given area.

LOCAL INDEPENDENT CONTRACTORS WILL BE CONTACTED and a system of unified approach will be devised with their assistance. The purpose of this program is to cover all phases of housing. SOME OF THE JOBS CREATED ARE AS FOLLOWS: office managers, secretaries, legal counsel, receptionists, bricklayers, masons, carpenters, electricians, plumbers, landscapers, painters, interior decorators, exterminators, carpet layers, floor covering experts, appliance installers, real estate dealers, insurance salesmen, appraisers and land evaluators, housing inspectors, property management and homemaker services.

THE IDEA FOR THIS COMPANY BEGAN IN 1969. It was really pushed in June of 1972. It has its corporation seal. Officially its office will be at 1000 College Avenue, though it is not there yet, it is off the ground and growing.

Sammy Davis Jr. At Expo

MGM recording artist Sammy Davis Jr., who has long been hailed as the World's Greatest Entertainer, will be lending his talents to PUSH EXPO at Chicago's International Amphitheater on Thursday night, September 28, 1972. On the bill with Sammy will be the Staple Singers and Gladys Knight and the Pips, both of whom recently completed highly successful engagements with Davis at the Sands Hotel in Las Vegas.

Davis is donating his time talent to benefit PUSH (People United to Save Humanity), a young organization under the direction of Rev. Jesse L. Jackson, which has been in existence less than a year. Each year, however, Rev. Jackson has staged a Business and Cultural Exposition in the city of Chicago, the traditional hub of Black business.

This year's PUSH EXPO will be held from September 27, through October 1, 1972, with more than 500 Black businessmen exhibiting their goods and services; demonstrating with pride, the continuing growth of economic development in the Black community. In addition, Black culture will be demonstrated in keeping with the general theme of this year's EXPO "Save the Children", by an extensive photo essay on the Black artist from all over the world.

Sammy will be among more than thirty artists who will be appearing for the benefit of PUSH EXPO and who will be filmed as a part of the event, for use in a

Black Scholars Named

Names of over 1,400 Semifinalists in the ninth National Achievement Scholarship Program for Outstanding Negro Students were announced Wednesday by Edward C. Smith, president of the National Merit Scholarship Corporation (NMSC). Some 325 of the students will win Achievement Scholarships next spring.

About 100 of the Achievement Scholarships will be four-year renewable awards ranging in value from $250 per year to $1,500 per year ($1,000 to $6,000 over the four years). The exact amounts depend on the individual need of the winners. These four-year awards are sponsored mainly by corporations and corporate foundations. About 225 of the awards will be National Achievement $1,000 Scholarships that provide a single payment of $1,000 to the winner after he enrolls in a regionally accredited U.S.

Renters Can Now Sue The Landlord

DES MOINES—(NBNS)—If you're a renter, you can sue your landlord if the house or apartment you lease is unsanitary or unsafe.

In a landmark ruling, the Iowa Supreme Court said there were a series of implied warranties which should affect all houses, condominiums and apartments when a renter moves in, whether a formal lease has been signed or not.

In a unanimous ruling, the state's high court said renters have the right to sue landlords for losses and damages, including back rent, when it can be proved that the premises are not up to state, local or city standards.

Uganda Claims Victory Over Invaders

By RONALD DANIELS
National Black News Service

KAMPALA—(NBNS)—The Ugandan Government has claimed victory over the remnants of a 1,500 man invasion force but President Idi Amin ordered his air force to continue striking at bases which he alleged contained 10,000 additional rebels and Tanzanian troops in neighboring Tanzania.

"We must stop them before they penetrate into Uganda and the only way to do it is by striking at them before they enter the country," Amin was quoted, by Radio Uganda, as saying.

In Dar-Es-Salaam, the Tanzanian capital, President Julius Nyerere said Tanzania would not tolerate any more bombing of its cities. He said further bombing would force him to change his orders prohibiting Tanzanian troops massed near the border from crossing into Uganda.

While claiming victory over the initial rebel thrust, President Amin sought to strengthen his military forces by bringing in additional arms and military forces from Libya.

The effort was thwarted by the Sudanese government which ordered five Libyan transport planes to land at Khartoum, Sudan's capital, after refusing them permission to overfly Sudanese territory.

The Sudanese Foreign Ministry said 22 Libyan officers and 377 soldiers were aboard the planes which were bound for Kampala to help President Amin, a fellow Moslem, in his conflict with the Tanzanian-backed rebels.

Black Builders Rap HUD

WASHINGTON — (NBNS) — A group of black builders say the Department of Housing and Urban Development discriminates against minority businessmen and is just a good example of how government regulations make it harder for minority businesses to do business.

"There are regulations in the Department of Housing and Urban Development which say to the minority church which wants to sponsor a low - income housing development, 'Your plan is good, the need is there, but the people who will live there are all black and that makes your project poor. You must give me a very good reason why the government should help an all - black project or we won't approve it," said Dempsey Travis, president of the Sivart Mortgage Company in Chicago.

The charges were leveled at the first joint conference of the United Mortgage Bankers of America, the National Association of Black Architects, and the National Association of Minority Contractors.

Cholera Death Toll Exceeds 13,000

BRAZZAVILLE, Congo Republic — (NBNS) — The World Health Organization reported there that more than 13,000 people have died of cholera in Africa in the last two years.

More than 85,000 persons contracted the disease and 13,216 of them died, the report said.

Cholera is a major health threat in Africa because of widespread migration, poor general hygiene and inadequate medical facilities to apply the new techniques for dealing with the disease.

The therapeutic use of a simple salt solution to reverse the fatal dehydration of cholera has been found to cure the once dread disease.

The African office of the World Health Organization reported, in contrast to the continuing cholera deaths, a sharp drop in the incidence of smallpox, polio and tuberculosis.

Core Denounces Hollywood Filmmakers For 'Wrong Image'

HOLLYWOOD — (NBNS) — The Congress of Racial Equality has threatened to boycott films which hold up an unrealistic portrayal of blacks, especially in recent box office hits.

Demanding that Hollywood studios stop making black films unless they have CORE approval, Roy Innis, CORE's national director, said studios must submit to the review boards the scripts of all planned films involving blacks and produce the movies only with its approval.

The review boards would have the right to "pre-edit" all black movies before they reached the theaters as well, he said.

"CORE— will take all action necessary to stop these films from being produced" including possible boycotts and suits, Innis continued.

"We are sick and tired of these bad films being made, destroying the black image and producing the wrong kind of symbol for black youth," he announced. Innis was especially critical of the hits, "Shaft," "Super Fly," and "Come back, Charleston Blue."

In a number of cities already, black civic leaders have led the picketing of theaters at which Super Fly was shown. The protagonist is a dealer in cocaine, and the black leaders have felt the film glorified drug pushers and as such constituted a seriously harmful influence on its young viewers.

Innis also said white producers using blacks on screen would be required to turn over portions of the profits for black college scholarships and black education in film skills.

He said he was confident his demands would be met and that the movie industry would not be scared away from the black film market.

Although he denied that his proposal smacks of censorship, he said he preferred to use the term "review." However, he said if a script didn't meet review board standards, the board would "strangle it in its crypt."

Although he has not suited up for a practice this season, Duane Thomas, one of football's premier running backs, is still practicing his reverses. Previously it was though he would retire from football following his trade from the Dallas Cowboys to the San Diego Chargers. But Thomas then reported to the Charger camp after a discussion with his probation officer, Thomas received a five-year probated sentence after pleading guilty to charges of possession of marijuana and the sentence may be reduced if he completes a successful season with the Chargers. Now Thomas has left the camp after urging Coach Harland Sware to talk about his contract. Sware said, "I told him I don't talk about contracts - Gene Klein and others do. He said he was going home. I said I have a team of 40 men to worry about, not one player." Daily fines amounting to $3,650 still await Thomas' return.

After a debate with Colt management over his retirement, former all-pro tight-end John Mackey was placed on waiver. When a trade could not be effected, Mackey asked to be put on waivers in lieu of retiring. Mackey was picked up by the San Diego Chargers whose current tight-end is Pettis Norman Nebraska's All-American half-back Johnny Rodgers has been cited for his second traffic violation. Earlier Rodgers was convicted of driving with a suspended license and recently he collided with a pick-up truck while driving a small foreign car. Neither driver was injured.

Looking back on the controversial boxing decision in this year's Olympics, American boxing coach Bobby Lewis says he wants some changes. In asking that more American judges be added, Lewis pointed out that 16 of the 23 officials were from European countries. Lewis also suggests a rules change that would require each judge to disclose his decision after each round instead of waiting until the bouts, end before announcing his point total.

In the first international track meet to follow the Olympics Lee Evans gained some revenge. Evans, the 1968 gold medalist in the 400 meter run who failed to qualify this year, defeated this year's champion Vince Matthews.

Nate Colbert of the San Diego Padres is having a great year while leading the League with 33 homeruns. The big first baseman topped the August voting for the Hickock Athlete of the Year award.

In a game against the Cincinnati Reds Hank Aaron of the Atlanta Braves smacked two homeruns to reach the 30 mark. The 30 homers make this year Aaron's 14th season with 30 or more. This breaks Babe Ruth's record of 13 campaigns while narrowing the margin in the all-time homerun race to forty-five.

In the battle over 6-foot-6 forward Julius Irving the Milwaukee Bucks have the upper hand. Irving, an outstanding rookie for the ABA's Virginia Squires averaging 29 points a game last year, was originally drafted by both the Bucks of the NBA and the Squires of the ABA. His pact with Virginia has now been ruled "voidable, terminated an of no further force or effect," by Superior Court Judge Ernest Tidwell, and he has reportedly signed a $1-million plus contract with the NBA's Atlanta Hawks.

Austin Carr, former high-scoring guard for Notre Dame and now a second-year man for the Cleveland Cavaliers, reported to camp at 222 lbs. In his rookie season he missed half the year because of a broken foot. It necessitated a bone graft and a three month cast. In his attempt to lose weight Carr has shaved off seven pounds but he is still 25 lbs. above his play weight of 190.

The Golden State Warriors have expressed their faith in star center Nate Thurmond by signing him to a new contract. Thurmond, although often injured, has remained one of league's premier rebounders and scorers. He is expected to receive $250,000 a year.

New York's star center Willis Reed has signed a multi-year contract. Reed was the key to the Knicks' 1970 NBA championship and now that he has recovered from a bout with tendonitis he hopes to lead this team to the dynasty predicted for them two years ago.

Wilt Chamberlain of the Los Angeles Lakers is seeking to negotiate the second year of his two-year contract. Chamberlain led the Lakers to a record number of victories.

The Baltimore Bullets are considering the trade of high-scoring guard Archie Clark because Clark is now asking for a $375,000 contract. Clark earned an estimated $135,000 last year and the Bullets say they can do without Clark and his big contract because they will direct their game around rebounders Wes Unseld and Elvin Hayes. But as the exhibition season nears and no trade is in sight, Baltimore may impose daily fines on Clark as long as he is absent.

DIGGS URGES END OF GOLD PURCHASE FROM SOUTH AFRICA GOVERNMENT

By National Black News Service

Washington— (NBNS)— Detroit Congressman Charles C. Diggs, Jr. has urged the Joint Economic Committee to discontinue the purchase of gold from the racist, apartheid government of South Africa by the International Monetary Fund.

Addressing the committee's subcommittee on international exchange and payments, Diggs called for an end to the IMF's agreement with South Africa in which the IMF agreed to purchase gold from the African nation whenever the country runs a payments deficit or when the world price is at or below the monetary price of $38 an ounce.

Gold is currently selling at a rate about $30 higher than the floor price set in the 1969 agreement, and the African nation is running a substantial payments surplus, partially spurred by the high gold price, monetary experts concede.

Treasury Undersecretary Paul Volcker told the committee that the agreement could be viewed again, but he thought the issue was not "critical" because he said it highly unlikely the world gold price will fall as low as $38 an ounce again. He also pointed out that South Africa is not expected to run a payments deficit for a long time.

But after prodding from Rep. Henry Reuss, D-Wis., the subcommittee chairman, lie Natase in the US Open finals, defeated Australian Ray Emerson 6-4, 3-6, 6-2, 7-5 to win the Rothman's Montreal singles championship. Ashe received the winner's purse of $10,000 to bring his earnings in this World Championship Tennis series to $64,725. Last year Ashe picked up almost $100,000 on the WCT tour.

Muhammed Ali scored a technical knockout on Floyd Patterson in the seventh round. Ali led all through the bout while he circled and jabbed Patterson at will. Patterson connected with left hooks and body shots but he never hurt Ali. Ali appeared to tower over Patterson as he enjoyed a nine-inch reach advantage and a 29 1/2 pound weight edge. In the sixth and seventh rounds, Ali continually rattled Patterson with solid punches. And midway through the seventh round blood poured from Patterson's closed eye and Dr. Harry Kleimann signalled referee Arthur Mercante to stop the fight.

The long-awaited rematch between heavyweight boxing champion Joe Frazier and the man he defeated, former champion Muhammed Ali. The fight is scheduled for the Los Angeles Forum which is owned by Jack Kent Cooke, the man who promoted the original fight in New York, March 8, 1971. Both Frazier and Ali will receive a guaranteed $1.5 million plus 15 percent of the closed-circuit television revenue. The date of the bout is as yet undetermined, but it is expected to be in late February or early March. Each fighter will fight at least two tune-up bouts prior to the title match.

Sports Then

With Allen Ashby

Doing these football games now, and doing them a while back are two different ball games. I remember when I went to an Iowa-Minnesota game and the Hawks were whopped 34 to 6. I wrote a whole column about what Iowa's ends Ozzie Simmons and Homer Harris. Put in a few words about the guys from Minnesota, Horace Bell, who was a good place kicker and Dwight Reed, who was a fine end. Then we went to the games just looking for any black to do something. Sometimes a black made news by just showing up. But during the days when Iowa U was having troubles winning football games, and black players were leaving the school pretty often, Indiana came up with eight starting blacks in the lineup, and maybe you think that didn't cause some comment among writers and just about anybody else who was there. I think that was one of the few games the Hawks won that year, and so there were not too many heart attacks in the crowd.

Then teams went to the policy of having two or three blacks for one position. That was broken up when the platoon system came up, and coaches had to scramble for players to have both an offense and defense. Here at East High, the black players used to joke about it. They insisted that their positions were end and left halfback. And they would jokingly raise hell whenever a white boy got in at either one of those places. But the coaches would catch the drift, and before many years they took to playing the best man in a position, no matter how racially unbalanced the team was. I recall sitting in the stands at the Drake fieldhouse when East played Lincoln in basketball. The East team had four black boys, a thing unheard of then, and they were all the best shooters on the team. Well, I can still hear the loyal East fans around me yelling "Let the white boy shoot sometimes!" because fellows like Paul Walker and Haywood Brewer were making all of the points for East, and they were winning. Now, they'd probably look around and ask "What white boy?"

And this carried into the Drake Relays. My late brother Bill and I used to syndicate the meet, with Gill doing the pictures and me the story. We would catch a black runner on the track, no matter if he was forty fourth, get his picture, and head the caption, "So and so running in such and such a race" for whatever school he ran for. No mention that his team was so far behind that they thought he was winning the next race. Bill was perhaps the first photographer to stand against the west wall of the stadium so he could get the whole field at once, so we could pick out who we wanted. This was before the wide lense cameras. I bet I have or have had dozens of pictures of fellows who didn't win, but got their pictures taken. One that I really remember is a fellow who finished about ninth, but the string from the finish tape was still in the air as he crossed the finish line. It blew across his chest, and made him look like a winner.

This started out to be football. How did track get in? I would guess that the reason I never went to the Drake games very much was that for years there weren't any black players on the Bulldog teams. And when there was one, he wasn't really outstanding. Never went to many of the Iowa State games for the same reason. In fact, after they had a couple of tackles at Iowa State it was a long time before anyone else made the team. There was a tackle name Jack Trice who was injured against Minnesota and died from his injury. Then there was a big six foot black fellow named Smith who played tackle in the early 1920's. The Cyclone coach asked the Nebraska coach if Smith could play against them. The Nebraska coach said certainly, because if he was hit a few times, he would be glad to come out. Well, Smith singlehandedly demolished a good Cornhusker line, and earned the respect of everybody who saw the game and especially the Nebraska team including the coach. Yea, things have changed a bit since then.

Two of the five Ford Mustang models offered by Ford Division for 1973 are the convertible (top), and the sleek Mach I. The Mustang convertible is the only convertible offered this year by Ford Division. The Mach I has new body-side- and rear-tape treatment and is available with optional forged aluminum wheels.

A MIND IS A TERRIBLE THING TO WASTE.

People are born every day who could cure disease, make peace, create art, abolish injustice, end hunger. But they'll probably never get a chance to do those things if they don't get an education.

We're educating over 45,000 students at 40 private, four-year colleges every year. Most of these young people would never get to college on their own. Three-quarters need some kind of financial aid. Well over half come from families earning less than $5,000 a year. You can help us help more. By sending a check. Whatever you can afford. Because we can't afford to waste anybody.
