Secret hearings held

C.A.C. rally nets approx. 50 witnesses

Approximately 350 people attended a rally on the parking lot of Robert's Lounge at 11th and University Sunday, October 29th. The rally was put on by the Community Action Committee to publicize the hearings which were held on October 31st. The over-whelming majority of those who attended expressed joy and enthusiasm about the results. "It was really beautiful" was the most common remark heard.

After a 12 minute delay the program opened with the Master of Ceremonies, Ken Johnson, calling for all to join arms and sing "Lift Every Voice and Sing." Then came the invocation by Rev. Henry Bevel, he was followed by Ada Jackson who gave a brief speech called, "Why we are here." Next Zack Hamlett, Jr. read a poem on involvement and oppression, Eleanor Tate then read "Bubble City," both selections were original works by Hamlett and Tate. The crowd was then asked to think on the words of the song Freddie's Dead, it was played.

Give Moving Speech

Carl Williams acknowledged representatives of various community, civil rights and civic groups present at the rally and mentioned national news sources that were following events in Des Moines. He then introduced the keynote speaker, Adin Nyemi (formerly Bob Davis). Nyemi's deeply moving speech lasted approximately 15 minutes. The keynote speaker moved slowly up the steps to the stage to the music of Syl Johnson's "Is It Because I'm Black?" following the speech Bishop Tendrill and Rev. Bevel came to the stage and Bishop Tendrill gave the benediction. Aretha Franklin's version of "Young Gifted and Black" was played and the entire audience moved to form a giant circle with all joining hands in a moving tribute to the struggle.

The CAC gave special thanks to the Security Force. The force was made up of members of the Military Committee of the Black United Front.

Secret Hearings Last 9 Hours

The closed hearings conducted in the Black Theology Center were a big success according to the CAC (Community Action Committee). Approximately 50 witnesses were heard as they told of various encounters with law enforcement officials. The hearings were designed not only to hear testimony from the innocent involved in the Oct. 13th raid on Robert's and the Ebony Lounge but other incidents as well.

Two court reporters were utilized in the 9 hour marathon sessions. The Panel members were asked to keep their breaks short and food was brought in so that all complaints could be heard. A strict air of secrecy surrounded the basement of the Theology Center. Members of the Military Committee of the United Front checked credentials and lists to be sure that only lawyers, witnesses and panel members were admitted to the area.

The Community Action Committee estimates that it will take until Thursday or Friday to compile panel recommendations. At that time specific action will be decided upon.

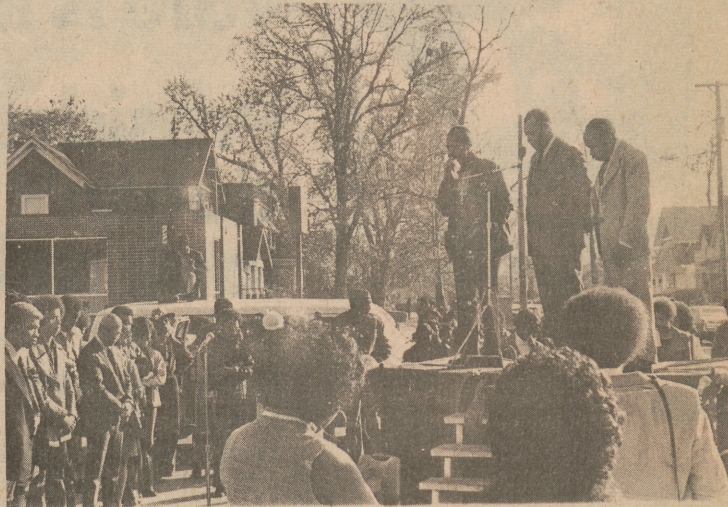

Editors Note: In the wake of the rally and hearings Adin Nairibi (Bob Davis) was arrested ostensibly for 2 traffic tickets that were processed but not paid. Nairibi is now clear. We shall keep watch on future incidents of this nature. On investigation we found that the Police Dept. is some 3100 warrants behind. We wonder how Brother Nairibi got such speedy service.

Adin Nyemi addresses crowd on Sunday. Nyemi was arrested on Tuesday night for two traffic tickets which were already processed but not paid. Community Action Committee has begun to take legal action to prevent harassment of its members.

Bystander backs McGovern

an Editorial

The first and most fundamental right that a human being is entitled to is the right to life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness. The preamble to the U. S. Constitution is not the first time in history that this inalienable right has been mentioned. Any American especially a 'Black' American is to be strongly reprimanded if he is naive to the Nixon Administrations side stepping of that most basic issue. That Administration has sold out to the rich and powerful leaving the poor to grapple over the 'crumbs' that are left. To wit: 18,648 wealthy taxpayers last year paid approximately 1/2 the taxes paid by a $3,000 a year wage earner. A $3 billion oil company with taxable income last year of $109 million paid no income taxes.

George McGovern has a long history of showing concern for the rights of Black America. He's not a end-all-cure-all for the ills of Black America but the Senator stands out so clearly as the choice for concerned Black and White Americans that to miss seeing it is a gross mistake. One of the first priorities of the McGovern-Shriver Administration would be to call for a complete investigation of the F.B.I. which has spent more time investigating Blacks than any other Americans. You should well remember their blatant harassment of the late Dr. Martin Luther King.

If you're one of those Black folks who's being 'Super Shaft' Black and not voting at all because you think there both alike... Look out! The fact is that one of those two men McGovern or Nixon is going to be in office during the most critical years of our nation - building time. If you don't vote at all you GIVE Nixon TWO votes! It is too late for us to avoid the war of wits that we must wage in this country! You've had to taste of what the Nixon Administration cares about YOURS Rights as a common citizen in the raid of October 13th. You must be aware of the recent explosion of privacy invading electronic gadgets. What is going on with the massive information gathering on private citizens in this country? 1984 is coming! The cold and calculating methods that the aristocrats of this land use to protect their greedy fairy tale - like existence know no bounds! Don't fool yourself! If you're Black you're obligated to make a basic choice: Will you vote for the aristocracy and Nixon or will you vote for the average American and McGovern.

I expect nothing from McGovern as far as a personal favor and damn well don't expect anything from Nixon. So you say: "Nixon has done more for minority business than any other President." Right on! But tell me what a Black business can do if Black folks are out of work and whites are so uptight that they won't come out in bold support of Black enterprise?

McGovern can restore a more reasonable and peaceful climate in this country so that radical whites in Pontiac, Michigan will at least think twice before taking vigilante action against Black children.

This nation has always admired bold and courageous men. I ask you, does it take more courage to stand against the greedy and powerful in this country as McGovern has or run rag tag behind the military-industrial profiteers as Nixon has?

In the U.S. Congressional race we would remind our readers that Neal Smith has the strongest Civil Rights voting record of any Iowa candidate in this election. Smith has 14 years on Capital Hill. Many Republicans will be crossing over to vote for this man. We also caution you to remember that the candidate with the biggest advertising budget is not necessarily the best man.

Nixon will renew anti-busing fight

WASHINGTON—(NBNS)—President Nixon, in a 15-minute "political" address to the nation, has pledged to renew his fight for legislation to prohibit court-ordered busing of school children in the new Congress.

In defending his Administration's proposals on the busing issue, Nixon said he was "irrevocably committed" to the course of action.

"The answer to inequities in our educational system is to spend more money on learning and less money on busing." He claimed the Administration anti-busing bill would have "legislated an end" to busing and "concentrated funds for the improvement of education of underprivileged children." He criticized the Senate for allowing the bill to be filibustered to death by pro-busing Senators.

"No one profits by the confusion and resentment that is generated when whole school systems are disrupted by the forced busing of school children away from their neighborhoods," he said.

"This administration's Equal Educational Opportunities Act of 1972 would have concentrated funds for the improvement of education for underprivileged children, and would have legislated an end to arbitrary court-ordered busing of children out of their neighborhood."

"I will once again press the next Congress for passage of this legislation," he promised.

Shortly after the President's address, David Selden, president of the American Federation of Teachers, said the Nixon stand is just another example of the White House generating "fear and racism."

A hint of Nixon's decision to press for stringent anti-busing legislation came earlier in the week when Vice President Spiro Agnew suggested the President make outlawing of school busing "a matter of first priority" when Congress convenes in January.

"This administration believes the neighborhood school strengthens the community, perpetuates close family ties and offers the single best opportunity for total education of children," he said.

"Our position on busing is simple, clear and unequivocal. We are irrevocably opposed to busing children to achieve an arbitrary racial balance in the schools."

Hanrahan acquittal no surprise

CHICAGO — (NBNS) — Cook County State's Attorney Edward V. Hanrahan and 13 other law enforcement officers have been acquitted without even being required to offer a defense to charges that they conspired to cover up the facts in a police raid which killed two Black Panthers here nearly three years ago.

No one was very surprised by the verdict, least of all the Special Prosecutor Barnabas F. Sears who released a printed statement accepting the judges decision seconds after the verdict was rendered.

Sears said in his statement: "The court has spoken. It is my duty as a lawyer-participant in the case to treat that judgment of the court with respect."

Cook County Circuit Court Judge Philip J. Romiti had ruled that Sears failed to prove the conspiracy charge after nearly 14 weeks of testimony from more than 40 witnesses.

Judge Romiti said the "gut issue was whether there was a conspiracy by any of the defendants to obstruct justice" by falsifying information in an investigation of the raid on the Panther headquarters.

"The prosecution," he said, "failed to establish its case."

Judge Romiti did not acquit the defendants of any wrongdoing in connection with the pre-dawn raid in which Panther leaders Fred Hampton and Mark Clark were killed on Dec. 4, 1969.

Romiti said he was not judging the conduct of the police officers because their actions in bursting into the Panther apartment with guns blazing "were not an issue before the court."

In Oakland, Calif., Black Panther Party Chairman Bobby Seale said Hanrahan's acquittal "is like murder."

"Now the judicial system conspires along with Hanrahan and his 13 henchmen for the murder they have committed," Seale said. "The system is fascist and racist because it upholds the murderous activity of Hanrahan and his henchmen."

The indictment charged that Hanrahan, his top assistant and 12 policemen had conspired to obstruct justice during the investigation of the raid in order to protect the raiders from prosecution. It was charged that they conspired to "plant false evidence and furnish false information" to investigators as part of the cover-up.

Most of the charges involved false reports concerning who fired first and where the participants were when the shooting occurred. Hanrahan was accused of trying to influence public opinion by leaking inaccurate information to a newspaper and by presenting a false mock reenactment of the raid on local television.

Hanrahan claimed that the police fired into the Panther apartment only after being met by bursts of gunfire.

A subsequent FBI investigation determined that only one shot was fired by the Panthers inside but that more than 80 shots were fired into their apartment by the police raiders.

This testimony was partially undercut, before the defense even had an opportunity to call witnesses, when Prosecutor Sears presented documents including four statements from surviving Panthers which they had given to their own lawyers. They said at least five Panthers in the apartment had guns and that they came up fighting when they were attacked. They claimed to their lawyers that they had fired five shots in defense of the Panther headquarters.

The raid took the life of 20-year-old Fred Hampton, deputy chairman of the Illinois Panther party, while he was asleep in a bedroom. It also claimed the life of Clark, a 21-year-old Panther leader from Peoria, Ill.

Chicago's Mayor Richard J. Daley, who had sought to prevent Hanrahan's renomination as State's Attorney after he was indicted, called him on the telephone to offer his congratulations on his acquittal. He described his decision to Hanrahan off the Daley ticket as "just a mistake."

Hanrahan's acquittal gives a boost to his campaign for re-election. He won the Democratic nomination over the candidate designated by Daley in the primary. He now faces Republican Bernard C. Crey in the general election.

If he is successful on Nov. 7, Hanrahan is expected to be a leading candidate to succeed Daley as mayor of Chicago.

friends who were good musicians. Henchi put all six elements together and began playing dates in the local area. Hadley Murrell, a Phoenix DJ at the time, began to handle bookings.

Between Henchi's exciting dancing and Freddie's powerhouse singing, backed by solid lead guitar, bass, organ, trumpet, drums and congos, the group's reputation for dynamic entertainment spread throughout Arizona and the Rocky Mountain states.

Within a few years they were sharing bills with top names—James Brown, The Chambers Brothers, Three Dog Night, Mountain, Bo Diddley, The Friends of Distinction and others.

Stability—a rarity in rock groups—is one of this group's assets and a reason for their excellent reputation. Throughout their six year history, only two personnel changes have been made.

Today the group consists of Freddie, Henchi, Eppi Guerrero, Quills Uyeda, Rocky Duarte and Larry Wilkins.

On Monday evening, October 16, 1972, Mrs. Dorothy Blackburn, Public Information Officer, Department of HEW, Washington, D.C. from the Office of Dr. Rudolph Ellsworth Jackson, Director of the Sickle Cell Branch, addressed an open meeting of the local Sickle Cell Education and Detection Program Advisory Committee Meeting.

In a clear and concise fashion, Mrs. Blackburn reviewed and explained the known aspects of sickle cell disease.

Briefly, sickle cell disease is a hereditary blood disease in which the red blood cells sometimes assume a strange sickle-like shape. Because of this distortion in the cell structure they are unable to carry out the normal oxygen carrying process of the red blood cell. This causes pain and illness in the patient.

People whose ancestors came from Africa are more likely to have sickle cell disease. The mild form, called sickle cell trait, is likely to be found in one out of 10 black Americans. The severe form, sickle cell anemia, is likely to be found in one out of every 400. Some Caucasians—particularly those people whose ancestors came from the Mediterranean area, the Middle East, and parts of India—may also have either form of the disease.

At present, there is no cure for sickle cell disease but despite this, it is extremely important for all those who might be effected to be tested. It must be remembered that nine out of every ten Black Americans have neither the sickle cell trait nor sickle cell anemia, but a person with either form of the disease should be cognizant of the fact in order that doctors may plan better care in case of surgery or pregnancy.

Mrs. Blackburn pointed out that the only way to get either form of the disease is to be born with it. It cannot be contracted or spread from person to person like a cold.

Mrs. Blackburn praised those in the Des Moines Sickle Cell Project for the planning and programming that has already gone into the project of this area. Along these same lines, she cited the many, many different resources, which exist in the Des Moines community. (The Salvation Army Social Services, Public Information Center, etc.). These agencies working together in a cooperative effort can make a project successful even where there is little or no money available ($115 million dollars has been allocated for Sickle Cell Studies by President Nixon, but thus far no appropriations have been made). If written a commitment for services can be obtained from agencies volunteering services, the need for money to purchase services is all but eliminated.

Mrs. Blackburn cautioned that several things must be kept in mind by those planning this program. First of all the program must provide not only for clinics but for supportive services as well. The patient must be dealt with on many levels besides the medical: psychological, social, etc. An examiner cannot merely tell a patient he has a disease and then disregard the ramifications of this knowledge in his personal life. Secondly, the program must be launched "with dignity and respect." No one must be made to feel that they are a curiosity.

In relation to this, Mrs. Blackburn pointed out that the citizenry must carefully monitor their lawmakers to insure that sickle cell testing does not become mandatory. For the project to be a success it must be a voluntary one.

Finally, if black people are to be those tested then employ other blacks to do the testing. It is important in a project of this personal nature for the person being tested to be comfortable and have someone to identify with at this time.

In conclusion, Mrs. Blackburn cited a cohesion in this community which she has not noticed in many other communities. This she explained will be a great asset to the sickle cell effort. Her final reminder was that to insure success for the project, each and every citizen in the community must be educated as to just what sickle cell disease is and isn't.

On Tuesday afternoon, Mrs. Blackburn was scheduled to give a workshop for nurses in sickle cell screening at Brody Junior High School.

Following are the Program Objectives as recommended by the Sickle Cell Disease Advisory Council on September 18:

National Sickle Cell Disease Program: (National Heart and Lung Institute)

1. To foster research and development, both at the funds and clinical level.
2. To initiate and expand community education, screening and counseling programs.
3. To educate medical and allied health professions regarding problems of sickle cell disease.
4. To explore ways to broaden monetary support through federal, state, local and non-governmental agency participation.

5. To strengthen and expand the base of black professional and technical personnel.

6. To improve clinical care for victims of sickle cell disease, including the application of current technical knowledge.

FOREST AVENUE COGIC NEWS

On last week another successful State Evangelist Meeting of the Fellowship State of Iowa had come to a close. On the last night of the meeting we were inspired by the singing of Sister Margaret Richardson, who is a dynamic evangelist from Kansas City.

Our Bishop expounded to the members and guests present last Sunday on how it is essential to love whatever aims that you endeavor to achieve in life.

In recognition to our Pastor's wife on last Sunday night a special service was held in her honor. I'm sure our Pastor's wife was pleased by this service.

Once again we must mention that for the first time in about 17 years of pastoring, Bishop Carter has accepted the honor of having a Pastor's Anniversary. The anniversary was to end on November 3 but this date has been extended.

MACEDONIA BAPTIST CHURCH NEWS

There will be a Banquet Saturday, November 4, at 6:30 p.m. Mrs. Naomi Banks and her Committee are in charge of the banquet. The speaker will be Mrs. Myriellean Johnson from Bethel A.M.E. Church. She is the wife of Rev. O. J. Johnson Pastor of Bethel A.M.E. Church. There will be other speakers. Last Sunday's Dedication service was preached by Rev. F. W. Strickland, Pastor of Corinthian Baptist Church. His choir and church also joined him. Mark Mariani of Omaha and Pastor of St. Mark's Baptist Church preached the morning service. A Banquet will be held in the Lower Auditorium.

Gospel Pearls celebrating anniversary

The Gospel Pearls are celebrating their 2nd anniversary starting Friday night, November 10, at Macedonia Baptist Church, 31st and Iola St. Rev. Avance Harden, Pastor. With the Gospel Pearls will be Eric Fountain's Senior and Junior Choir.

Saturday the Wings of Joy from Waterloo will join the Gospel Pearls. Next Sunday the 12th at 3:00 the Gospel Pearls will be at Morning Star Baptist Church, 1150 W. 13th, Rev. Alex Crawford - Pastor. Joining with them will be the Spiritual Clouds of Joy from Omaha and the Spiritual Travelers of Omaha. Special guests are the Mighty Star from Minneapolis, Minn. It's free and you are invited.

David Adair is Apprentice Plumber

David Adair

David Lee Adair was selected as a plumber's apprentice this year by the Plumbers and Steamfitters Local No. 33. As a 1st year apprentice, David has a 5 year training period that he must successfully complete before a journeyman status in this field can be conferred upon him.

For David, the next five years will be filled with training, both in the field and in the classroom. As an apprentice plumber he will be exposed to all the facets of the building trades in general, and the plumbing and steamfitting trade in particular.

David was first made aware of the Plumbers Apprenticeship Program when members of the Apprenticeship Information Center visited the counselors and students at Tech High School while he was a student there.

"Reconciliation." An offering for World Mission will be received following the service.

Chamber will compile directory

The Greater Des Moines Chamber of Commerce and the Delta Sigma Pi Business Fraternity of Drake University will be conducting a Minority Business Survey in the near future. The purpose of this effort will be to expose as many businesses as possible to the total community for their information and support.

This advance letter is to advise that students from Drake University will be calling on you for some pertinent data so that this Minority Business Directory can be compiled.

We would appreciate your cooperation in this project. Our total efforts are to both the minority business and the community, however, if we missed you, please give us a call. Or, if you know of any other minority business, please notify us as we are striving to utilize every possible means of getting minorities in the economic mainstream of our community.

'Reconciliation' for Baptist Women

Baptist Women Union of Greater Des Moines will be observing the annual Baptist Women's Day of Prayer on Monday, Nov. 6. The service will be held at Maple Street Baptist Church, East 16th and Maple at 10:00 a.m. Mrs. Lillie Seigh is Chairman for the day. The theme is

A memorial to Jackie Robinson

With Allen Ashby

At 6:26 A.M. Tuesday morning, Mrs. Rachel Isum Robinson summoned the police when her husband suffered a heart attack. External heart massage and oxygen were unsuccessful and Robinson was dead on arrival at Stamford Hospital in Connecticut. He had been suffering from diabetes and glaucoma.

The death of Jackie Roosevelt Robinson ends an era of sports that has been both turbulent and exciting. From that day in 1947 when he first broke baseball's line and donned a Brooklyn Dugger uniform to his last public appearance, a ceremony honoring him during the second game of the World Series, Jackie Robinson has signified determination.

As a player he withstood the concentrated assault of a time period when blacks were considered second-class citizens by even the most liberal. But no jeers or insults could deter him from the play that was to make him Rookie of the Year, Most Valuable Player and a Hall of Famer.

He wielded his bat and ran the bases with a nerve that had never been seen before in sports.

His very appearance on the baseball diamond meant instant excitement. Soon he had captured the hearts of the Bums of Brooklyn and not long thereafter all of America was accustomed to integrated sports. Robinson had thus indirectly provided a great advance in civil rights that he was to continue the rest of his life.

Jackie Robinson, whose son had been a drug addict, also fought drug abuse with the same dignity and sincerity that he displayed as a ballplayer. Often his great enthusiasm would capture a group when he was supporting a reform and his guidance would be missed.

Although these exploits would be downgraded by many black militants his restraint was not a result of any deficiency in his character.

On the contrary, he was a fierce competitor and only his inner strength withheld his emotions. He was a unique man who has shaped a great deal of our society and a true hero in a world where they are all too scarce.

This comes a little late, but, since everybody is talking about the late Jackie Robinson, I guess I can take my turn. I never knew Jackie, although I did shake his hand in 1946. Since I was only about the fortieth thousand person who did that, I am sure he didn't remember me. But, I was lucky enough to have had a brief acquaintance with his older brother, Mack, who was a world class athlete. Chet Williamson and I, met Mack at the running of the Drake Relays, where Mack competed fresh from his participation in the 1936 Olympics where he ran second in the two hundred meter run. He won the broad jump here at Drake with a leap past twenty five feet, and came so close to winning the hundred that I bet he thinks to this day that he was robbed. He told me about his kid brother Jackie, who had broken all of Mack's records in high school and junior college. Mack said the kid would be a super athlete some day, and he was right.

You have heard all about his career at UCLA in football and basketball and such. Robinson, Kenny Washington, Woody Strode, and Ray Bartlett were the cause of UCLA refusing to bow to custom when they played Texas Christian. In those days it was considered good relations to keep your black athletes either at home or out of the game whenever your school played a southern school. Well, the Uclans knew that without these four guys, they may as well stay home, and they simply refused to bow to that custom. The four played in spite of people worrying what would happen to those nice colored boys. I later read a Texas paper account of the game, and it was called the cleanest game most of the writers ever saw. And they marveled at the sportsmanship on both sides in spite of the hard hitting. Then the paper went on to tell how the fellows were given a standing ovation as they left the game. The writer said he never thought he would live to see the day when white Texans would be standing up cheering for a black athlete, but there they were doing just that. So, you see, Jackie broke more than one color bar. After that game, other northern schools began to insist on using their black athletes against southern schools, although some of the incidents didn't turn out quite like the one involving the Uclans. But, as always, once the bars began to tumble, they went down for real, so far as blacks playing against southern schools was concerned. And also I happened to be in Chicago the day the Brooklyn Dodgers and Jackie came to town. The owner of the Chicago Cub baseball team was afraid his beautiful stadium would be torn down, and said so. "They're not going to tear up my ball park." There were probably more police at that baseball game than there were at all the rest of them played in Wrigley Field the rest of the season put together, and maybe the next season too. But, nothing happened. There was a baseball game, and that was it. Black people yelled every time Robinson made a move, and slapped each other on the back, no matter if they knew each other or not. As I recall, Jackie did pretty well that day, and we all went home happy. He came into the plate scoring a run. I can still see him charging up the line half bent over like a halfback digging with his short steps as if he intended to run over the catcher. The throw got away from the plate, and there was no collision.

But as I think back, I saw then how the next nine years would be with the man, although most of us didn't realize it. You must have read enough about the life of the man, so I won't bore you with details which I am sure you have heard or read before.

My all star team? This took precedent, I thought, so you will just have to wait another week, and am I glad. I will have my stuff straight then, and it will come out.

Common Cause speaker will be J. Gardner

Common Cause, John Gardner's non-partisan political organization, will sponsor an election night party, November 7, 8:30 PM until Midnight at Babe's Restaurant Upstairs, 417-6th Avenue, Des Moines. Election returns on four channels may be observed. Dr. James Chastain, Central Iowa Chairman, says that John Gardner will speak via amplified telephone during the evening.

Common Cause, called the "Citizen's Lobby," has supported the withdrawal of American forces in Indochina; the campaign funding reporting, environmental preservation and equal rights.

The party is open to the public and will help fund the Common Cause programs in Central Iowa. Tickets are $2.50 or $1.00 for students and may be purchased at the door.

Fall Festival and Bazaar Nov. 8

Polk County Farm Bureau Women will hold their Fall Festival and Bazaar at the Runnells Christian Church November 8th. Come and join in the fun!

The Bazaar tables (one by each Township) will be open for business from 12-1 p.m. The Bazaar is one of the ways the clubs use to raise funds for their special projects. You may find such things as Holiday Items from table decorations to gifts; Baked Goods: Jams & Jellies; Craft Items and supplies; perhaps a few batches of candy.

The Polk County Board of Supervisors spends over $24 million of your tax dollars — every year.

Doesn't it make sense to vote for a man who is qualified for this kind of responsibility?

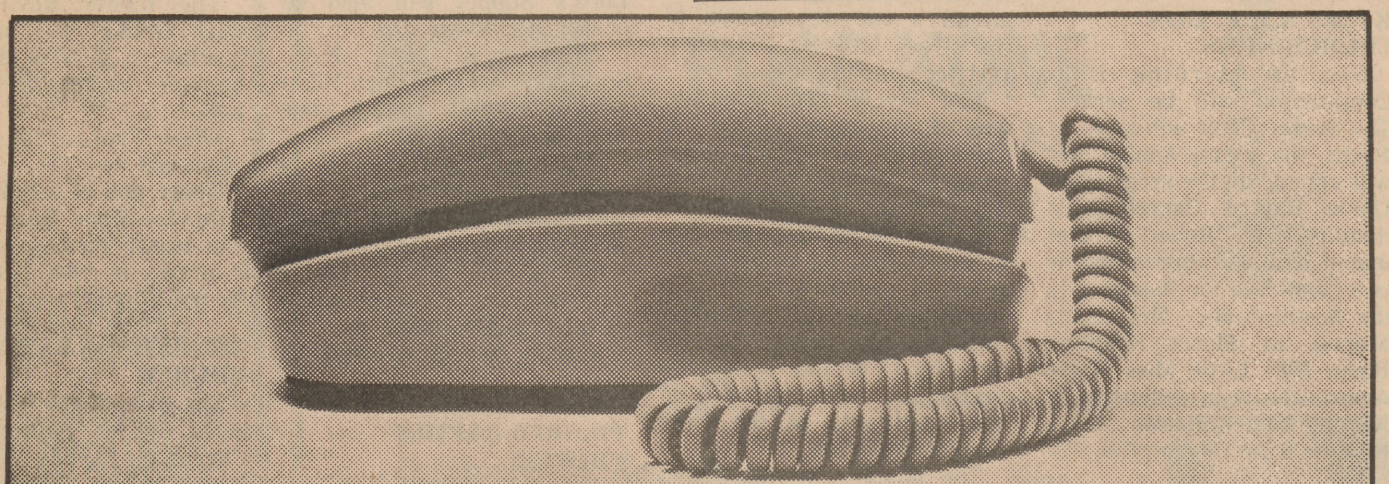

Yes — and his name is George Malcolm, Republican, For 1st District Supervisor

Malcolm is a lawyer, recently retired as General Counsel for the Central Life Assurance Co. He is a graduate of Iowa State University and the University of Michigan Law School... He has had no experience as a politician... just a working career of making important decisions with judgment and integrity.

Trim and attractive, with good family connections.

Here's where glamour and value come together. Today you can use our Trimline® telephone—or any phone for that matter—to place some calls for a lot less than they used to cost.

For example:

1930: A 3-minute station call to New York City after 5 p.m. went through several operators. The call cost as much as $5.75.
1937: The same 3-minute station call to New York City cost as much as $4.25.
1954: Long distance rates were going down, but the same call still cost as much as $2.05.

Today: The same call that cost up to $5.75 in 1930 can be placed for 75¢ or less, in an average of under 15 seconds, when you dial direct without operator assistance after 5 p.m. and weekends.

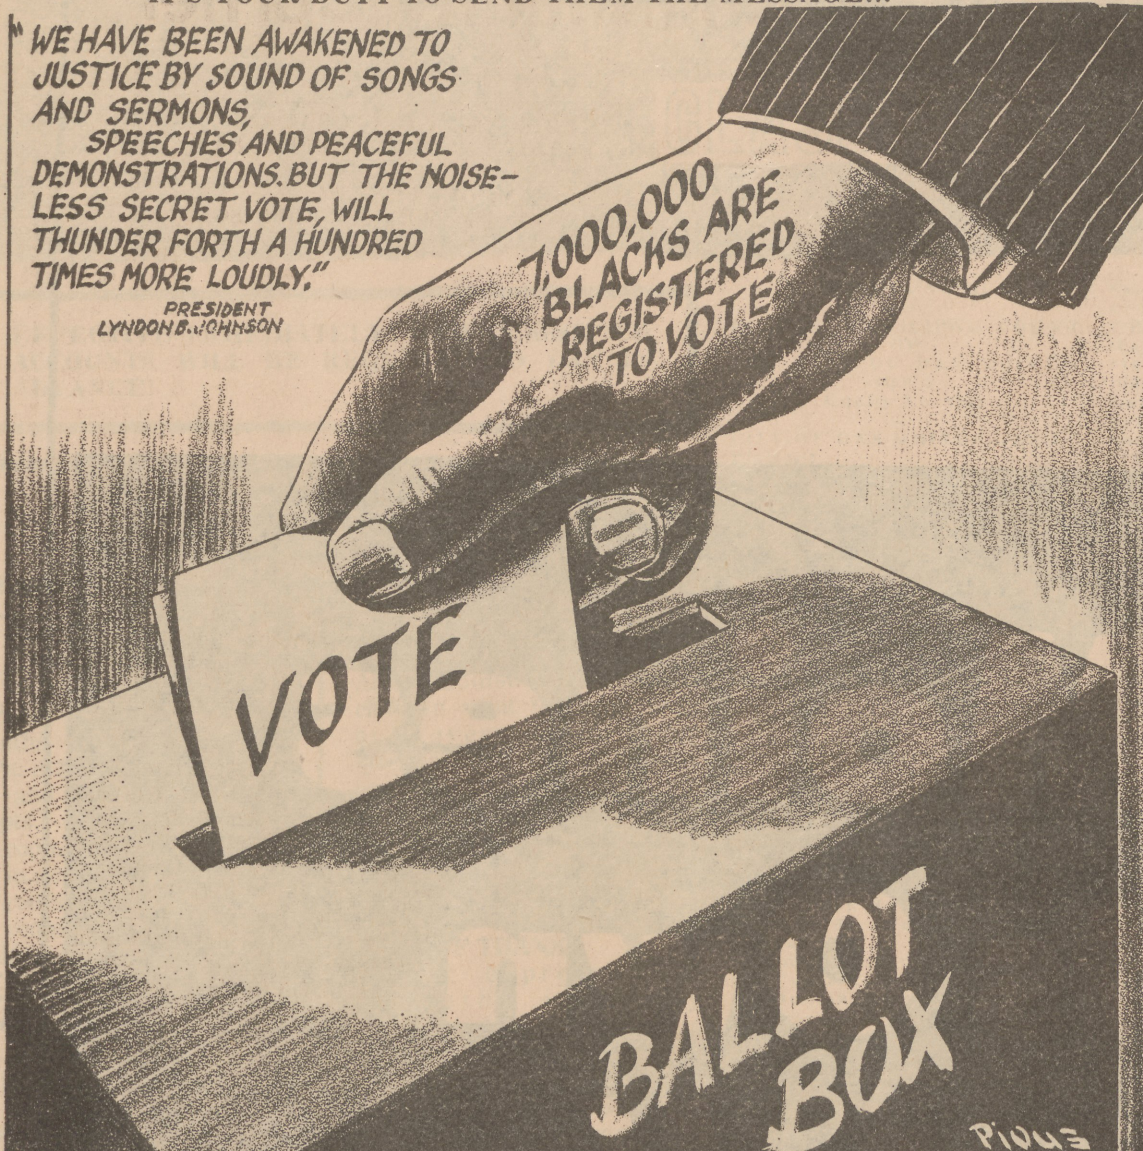

What's even more important, you can place the same kind of call the same way to anyplace in the continental United States, except Alaska, for 75¢ or less.

Which all goes to show we're never satisfied. We keep working to make your service faster, more reliable and pleasing—an attractive value, no matter how you look at it.

A little money still goes a long way on the telephone.  Northwestern Bell

Dial-it-yourself rates apply on all interstate dialed calls (without operator assistance) from business or residence phones anywhere in the continental U.S. (except Alaska) and on calls placed with an operator where direct dialing facilities are not available. Dial-direct rates do not apply to person-to-person, coin, hotel guest, credit card and collect calls, and on calls charged to another number. Prices plus tax.

Fletcher Wants Nixon, McGovern To Back Minority Hiring Quotas

By PAUL H. WYCHE, JR., National Black News Service
WASHINGTON—(NBNS)—The controversy over hiring quotas has grown to such proportions that former Secretary of Labor Arthur Fletcher wishes the two major Presidential candidates hadn't said anything at all about quotas ensuring a certain number of jobs for blacks.

As a matter of fact, the life-long Republican, is especially bitter at his former boss, President Nixon, for his Aug. 17 directive advising all federal agencies that no quotas guaranteeing minority hiring would be allowed by the Administration.

"I have a reasonable disagreement with the President about his failure to spell out how much enforcement he's for," Fletcher said. He has sent telegrams to both Presidential candidates asking them to "provide specific answers" to questions of education, housing and jobs for minorities.

Currently director of the United Negro College Fund, Fletcher said he believed the lack of support for quotas would lead to the abandonment of programs like the Philadelphia Plan and "leaves the door open for the program to be dropped."

Secretary of Labor James D. Hodgson had informed Fletcher that the Administration had not decided to drop the "quota" plan in more than 55 areas throughout the nation but was merely "reviewing" them.

"Reviewing is just another code word for putting the brakes on," said Fletcher who vigorously enforced the plan during his first two years in government.

Earlier, Fletcher had insisted that sources in the White House and Labor Department had told him that the Philadelphia concept would be eliminated in an effort to win labor-backing for Nixon on Nov. 7.

"I found it shocking," said Fletcher of the pending decision to drop the Philadelphia Plan and policy of job quotas in federal employment. "This is an indication that blacks and minorities are being excommunicated from this society. They're moving against the goals and timetables of the Philadelphia Plan, and if it goes, the others will go too."

"This is definitely a step backwards. The legality of the Philadelphia Plan was upheld in Federal District Court and in the Federal appeals court. The Supreme Court refused to review those decisions."

"President Nixon should reaffirm his support of the Philadelphia Plan and some kind of goals and guidelines to assure equitable of blacks," Fletcher continued. "The riots of the sixties were caused by the frustration of blacks who saw that a full employment economy meant whites were working and blacks were unemployed. The same situation is upon us again."

Fletcher believes its very popular this year "to run against everything black Americans stand for, their hopes and aspirations."

"Busing is a code word which means whites don't want to have anything to do with black folks. Opposition to low-cost housing in the suburbs is a code word for the containment of blacks. And the new code word is quotas, and it means whites don't want to see an systematic way to deal with minorities."

Once a vigorous supporter of the Nixon Administration, Fletcher admits he's having some problems understanding recent policy decisions that affect blacks.

Shoot to kill order draws fire from black community

All-African News Service
by Bobby Gilliard

New Orleans police chief Giarusso's recent "Shoot to kill" order has faced severe condemnation by the Black community.

Giarusso made the announcement during a press conference at which he revealed the formation of a new "Felony Action Squad." Given orders to shoot to kill any suspected criminals who happened to have something in their hand and refused orders to drop it, the group was described as Black and white policemen disguised as local citizens (undercover agents) in certain 'high crime' areas.

The idea was supported by the two white-owned daily newspapers here. There was some expectation that there would be sympathy from the local Black community.

New Orleans has one of the worst drug addiction problems in the South, with its estimated 25,000 heroine addicts. Burglaries and other crimes by drug users constantly take their toll on Black community homes.

However, there has been mounting Black community opposition to the announcement.

Both Black- oriented radio stations here, issued editorial statements against the operation, and community groups of various political persuasions have joined the call in a series of press conferences which continued into last week.

Community leaders have called the order a license for "legalized genocide against Black people." Groups such as the NAACP, the Southern Christian Leadership Conference (SCLC) and an organization representing the state's Black elected legislators have shown a unity absent in the wake of other similar occurrences.

SCLC demanded the abolition of the "Felony Action Squad" immediately, and urged other Black leaders to join them.

Spokesmen for the local NAACP added that "the answer to 'crime in the streets' is not just shooting to kill."

Five representatives of the Black Legislative Caucus—Dorothy Taylor, Louis Charbonnet, Terry Marchand, Johnny Jackson and Nicky Connors—ordered a public hearing to deal with the actions of Giarusso.

Observers of community opinion here have attributed the unified Black response in part to the use of plainclothesmen. The same shoot to kill attitude was applied when the police kicked down the door of a Black Panther Party office in a local housing project last year. However, at that time, it is said, some community people believed that the Panthers had brought the action upon themselves.

In the face of wholesale distribution of plainclothesmen throughout the Black community, combined with the fact that New Orleans police are said to have a real problem with "itchy trigger fingers," community feeling seems to be high under the threat of more outright killings to be dismissed in the name of 'justifiable homicide.'

(A similar program was undertaken by the Detroit, Mich. police department. Known as the STRESS squad (Stop The Robberies, Enjoy Safe Streets), the group accounted for almost a death per month in its first 15 months of operation. The Detroit Black community and a statewide Black police organization have called for the disbanding of STRESS operations, saying that the squad includes many officers openly hostile to Black people and that most of the killings have been murders.)

In New Orleans, with its 65 per cent Black population, the latest controversial police killing occurred last month when Raymond Lewis was shot while sitting in his car in a parking lot. Last summer a 16 year-old Black youth was also killed by police.

Although both instances left many questions unanswered, neither was met with as large a community opposition as the new 'shoot to kill' order has been.

Ironically, the idea of the "Felony Action Squad" reportedly the brainchild of a Black police sergeant, Warren Woodson. Its alleged purpose was to improve the image of the police in the eyes of the Black community.

Dream Power.

Every person that lives has some kind of dream. The day he doesn't, he's dead. The ability to imagine is one of the most precious powers we have.

Dreams change things. Some dreams may change your world. And some dreams may call for money.

U.S. Savings Bonds are the safe way to make sure some of your dreams come true. And, they're easy to buy. Your bank sells 'em. Or, you can probably buy them through the Payroll Savings Plan where you work. Bonds build you a sizeable nest egg. While you build a dream.

Bond power. That's real dream power.

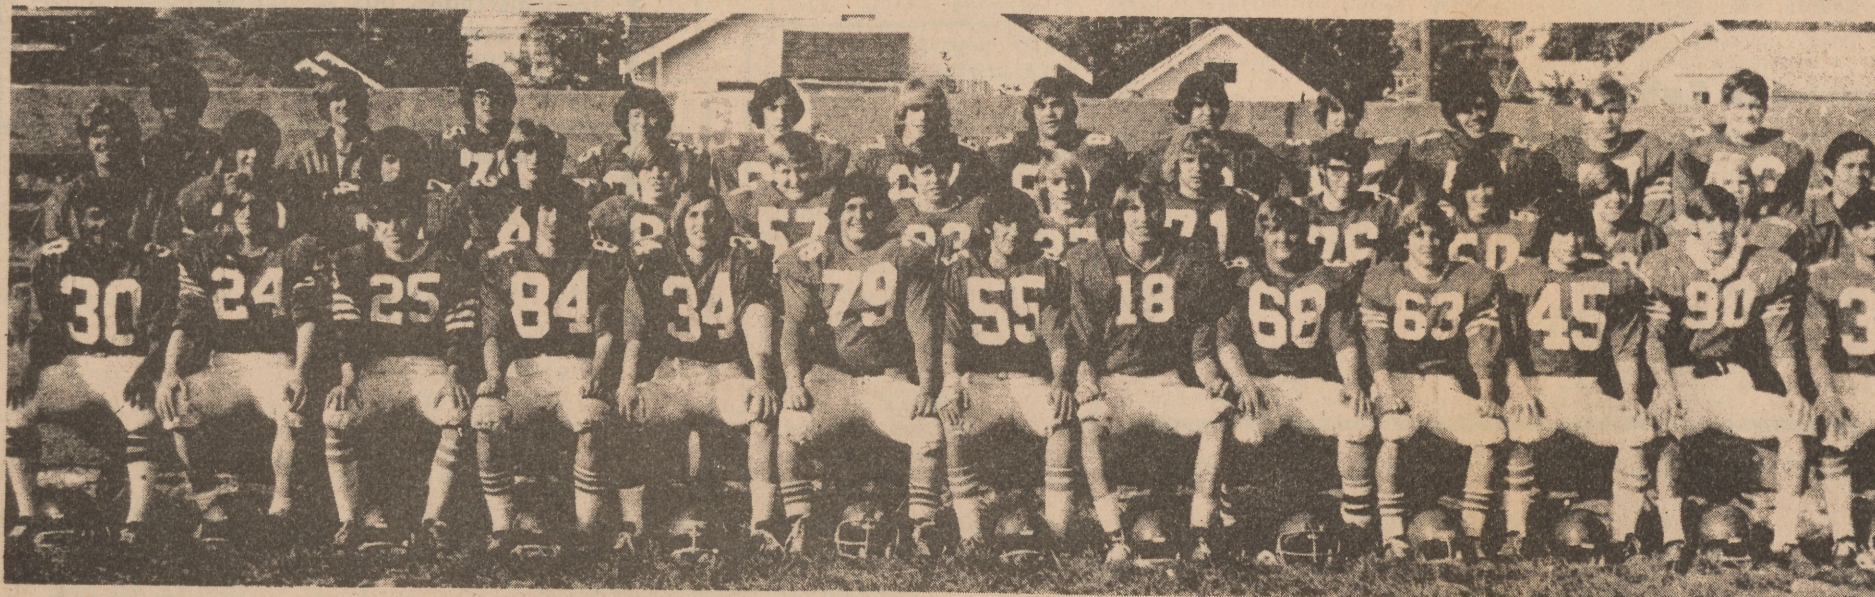

Now E Bonds pay 5 1/2% interest when held to maturity of 5 years, 10 months (4 1/2% the first year). Bonds are replaced if lost, stolen, or destroyed. When needed they can be cashed at your bank. Interest is not subject to state or local income taxes, and federal tax may be deferred until redemption.

Take stock in America.

Now Bonds mature in less than six years.

Black Caucus blasted by Scott

WASHINGTON — (NBNS)

... Saying the President has done more to advance the cause of blacks than any other chief executive. A top black White House had harsh words for the criticism by the Congressional Black Caucus last week of the endorsement of the President by several black entertainers.

Labelling their position a "vicious, personal attack on black leaders who have dared to give their endorsement to President Nixon," Stanley Scott, assistant to the Director of Communications for the Executive Branch, said the Caucus had "stooped to the 'Uncle Tom' lable in a scare campaign which does not credit the Caucus' ability to argue its case."

In the blistering rebuttal to the criticism by Caucus of entertainers Sammy Davis, Jr., Lionel Hampton, Billy Eckstein, James Brown, Johnny Mathis and Jim Brown who have supported Nixon, Scott said the Caucus was merely "posturing, hot air."

The Caucus had said the entertainers had been "duped by ... one of their greatest oppressors."

"These men have had their integrity impugned for exercising their constitutional right to endorse a political candidate," claimed Scott. "It is only in totalitarian countries where lock - step, blind obedience is expected, and that is what the Black Caucus statement suggest."

Congressmen Louis Stokes and two other members of the Caucus said the entertainers had "turned their backs on their own people." But Scott retorted:

"... Don't you dare accuse these men of turning their backs on their brothers and sisters. Don't you dare question their vision of what is right for America."

"And don't you dare arrogate to yourself some omnipotent right to speak for every black man and woman. Such thinking is the most outrageous example of black elitism I have ever witnessed. "I daresay that the men and women you have slandered have paid their dues twice over, and one of the reasons they have come over to Richard Nixon is this type of posturing, hot - air which has plagued the black man's emergence as a political force for the last 40 years."

Scott went on to recount why blacks should vote President Nixon instead of the Democratic nominee. He claimed that the President "has done more than any other American president to advance the well - being of black citizens in the United States."

And he charged that Senator George McGovern has "probably the worst civil rights record of any so - called 'liberal' Senator in Congress."

The White House assistant also said blacks should refuse to vote Democratic by reflex and commented it would a "healthy step forward in giving blacks leverage upon the political process."

"In effect, we have been political slaves," Scott said. "Because of such ill - informed advise as given by Louis Stokes, most Democrats fully expect a hip - pocket black vote of 85 - 90 per cent."

"Given this certainty, Democrat politicians see little reasons for doing anything to help blacks at the risk of losing their white constituency. Consequently, the Democrat politician shows up for his annual 'ghetto appearance,' puts away some ribs and greens, says his 'right ons,' and counts up his 90 per cent black vote on election night like Midas counted his gold."

"The result of such arrogant tokenism is that blacks are taken for granted by Democrat politicians. Blacks have lost their leverage by blindly following the advice of the Julian Bonds and Louis Stokeses," Scott contended.

Des Moines often questions the absentee ownership of some of our important businesses. Why should cable TV be added to the growing list? Des Moines people are qualified . . . we have our own cable TV experts: Hawkeye Cablevision of Des Moines.

The consultant hired by the City Council looked at the proposals of the two cable TV firms on the November ballot. He made the judgment: They're equally qualified to serve Des Moines.

But November 7, you will have a choice between these two firms. And there is a difference.

Service from Hawkeye Cablevision, the Des Moines Company, will provide service as good . . . and probably better . . . than ANY service from ANY cable TV firm, ANYwhere, ANY time.

Hawkeye has operating cable TV systems in Iowa, Wisconsin, and Minnesota. Hawkeye Cablevision is experienced. Hawkeye Cablevision knows what it's doing.

Yes, Des Moines people ARE qualified. We will operate our own cable TV system and operate it well. We're Des Moines people FOR Des Moines people.

McGovern on Blacks:

The most urgent moral priority in America today is to end the curse of racism in all its ugly forms.

All Americans must have equal rights—the right to secure a decent home, a good job, a quality education. George McGovern is determined that these rights shall be enjoyed by black Americans, as well as whites. Richard Nixon neglects black people; he has failed to fulfill our nation's most sacred promise—equal opportunities for all our citizens. George McGovern will move to make this promise real.

Two Americas

For some, America is a land of hope, where a decent, safe, and productive life is a reality. But for others, America is a land of despair where hunger, crime, and disease kill pride and breed hopelessness.

Too many black Americans still live in that land of despair. Too many must brave the extreme cold of winter and the stifling heat of summer in sub-standard or slum housing. Too many cannot find a meaningful job that will provide their families with an adequate income and give them the self-respect which every man and woman deserves. Too many must send their children to inferior schools, where real learning is not possible. Too many are powerless.

Come home America

Our land must be divided no longer. We must heal the wounds of racism.

When George McGovern is President of the United States, a first goal of his Administration will be to ensure equal rights for all Americans—black and white alike. Black people must have good jobs, safe homes, quality education. Black people must be free from the chains of poverty and disease and racism.

George McGovern wants black Americans to have the power to be equal. That's what America is all about.
