Jerry Clark student body v.p.

by Valerie Scott

Jerry Clark, senior, was elected Vice-President of East High's Student Government by the student body on January 23. Jerry is about the fourth black to hold an office in Student Government.

When asked why he ran for office, Jerry stated, "I want to bring about better relations around East High School."

Jerry feels that with this office he will open doors that black students did not see or want to open and possibly arouse more black student motivation. He believes there should be a development of student motivation, and better relations with students and teachers.

While in office, Jerry's ambition is to see more blacks involved in school functions and better involvement within the community. He would like to see East High School have better relations within itself and a better name given to the school.

Jerry Clark's plans after graduation, are to attend Drake University or Central College to become a liberal arts teacher or to major in sociology.

East High News

Sickle cell anemia testing will be February 5 at East. Any student who wishes to be tested must turn in a consent slip.

Miss Ruth Ann Gaines is recuperating at Methodist Hospital from an appendectomy.

East High Scarlets' challenge Hoover Friday, February 2 at Hoover.

Greg Williams' outstanding East High debator

Travis (Gregory) Williams, junior, is the only black member of the East High debate team. Since he became a member of the team Greg has won 12 trophies, 5 for first place.

"More black people need to get into forensics because it's another bag, like basketball or football except the instruments you use are your voice. I feel it's a key to expressing one's self and his blackness," commented Greg.

When asked about his favorite topic or subject to debate on Greg said, "I like the topic in itself, preferably debate cases that are strange and different, requiring innovative thinking."

Mr. James Nelson, the English teacher that works with the forensics team, "I personally think that he is the best black debator in the state," said Mr. Nelson. Gregory is especially good in oral interpretation.

Gregory over came some personal problems last and placed first, second or third in all the tournaments he entered.

Gregory said he entered forensics because he thought it would be fun, and it would increase his ability to grasp ideas.

The next debate tournament will be Friday and Saturday, February 2 and 3 at Iowa State University in Ames.

'Sounder' a modern classic

Boy and hound

Sounder, the hound after whom the film is named, leads young David Lee (played by Kevin Hooks) on the long journey in search of David's father, who has been sent to work in a labor camp.

Winfield hopes many will see it

PAUL WINFIELD

"I'm enthusiastic over 'Sounder'," says Paul Winfield, who plays the father, Nathan Lee Morgan.

"I think Lonne Elder III has written a beautiful screenplay, one of which all of us can be proud.

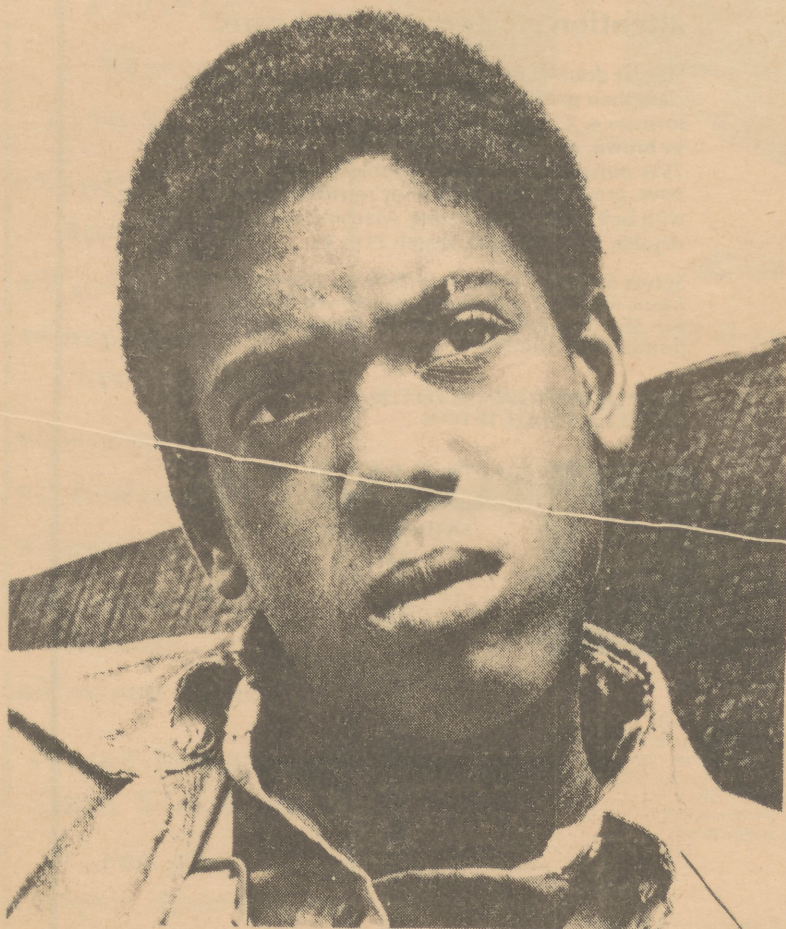

"And I'm happy to see that various organizations such as CORE, the National Council of Negro Women, the American Library Association and such people as Mrs. Martin Luther King, Jr., Ossie Davis and Brock Peters, Abbey Lincoln, Rev. Jesse L. Jackson and Actor

Raymond St. Jacques like what we are doing in this picture and endorse it.

"The love and devotion the Lee family expresses in 'Sounder' is what it is all about. This is the real Black experience.

"I only hope that as many Blacks as possible will see, enjoy and appreciate 'Sounder'."

Kevin loves basketball

KEVIN HOOKS

"It was fun doing 'Sounder'," says young Kevin Hooks who stars as David Lee in the film.

"But I'd rather be playing basketball," he claims.

Basketball may be his first love, but Kevin has decided to make acting his career. When he graduates from the Friends' Central School in Philadelphia, where he is now in the ninth grade, he plans to enroll at UCLA as a theater arts major.

"I'm afraid of growing up as an actor," he says. "I'm afraid it may do to me what it's done to a lot of others I've read about. They never did grow up."

But young Kevin has a head on his shoulders. He'll grow up, just as he did in "Sounder". He emerges as a sound young man.

"I think this picture is important," he says. "It shows that what we need is to do for ourselves, each one of us. If we each get ourselves together, then we can all make it."

That's a grownup statement. Not that of a 14-year-old, wouldn't you think?

CICELY TYSON

'Sounder' will turn the tide

Cicely Tyson thinks her role in "Sounder" is "one of the most rewarding experiences of my life".

"It's a beautiful film. A family film with a wonderful story of love within the family. I just hope many, many Blacks will see it and share this beautiful Black experience."

Cicely already has won one award for her portrayal of Rebecca Morgan, the hard-working, illiterate sharecropper mother in the film.

When "Sounder" was presented in Atlanta, Ga. at the International Film Festival, Cicely was voted the "Best Actress" award by a jury, which included international critic Rex Reed and Director Peter Bogdanovich.

Not surprised

Cicely is not surprised at the tears that flow among audiences that see "Sounder".

"It's a story that gets to you", she says. "It has strong emotional appeal. I've had men and women tell me they've cried over some of the scenes in the picture."

"Sounder" is certainly a different Black film from many of those now flooding the screens.

LINES

by Marri Johnson

THIS WEEK WE WILL INTRODUCE A COUPLE OF YOUNG MARRIEDS in the Navy! They met and married in the Navy—our story is Navy all the way!

I MET FIRST PO3 WILLIAM D. SMITH, the title means hospital foreman third class. He entered the Navy service February '70, so he has made progress.

HE HAS BEEN TO SAN DIEGO, CALIFORNIA, twice, Great Lakes, Illinois, Camp Pendleton, California where he served six months with the Marines and is now in transit, headed for Guam, the Mariannes Islands.

I NEXT MET HIS WIFE, beautiful Gloria E., who was formerly Miss Blue. Smith met her at Great Lakes. She had entered the service in 1971. She went to Bainbridge, Maryland, for boot camp and remained 2½ months, then to Washington, D. C. to the White House, where she was placed on special staff where she did secretarial and receptionist work. From there she went home for a visit. Home incidentally, is Toledo, Ohio. Then she was ordered to Great Lakes, Illinois. Here she met her husband in August, and they married March 5, 1972. Then they both received orders directing them to California. His orders were for Camp Pendleton, Calif., and her's were to Naval Air Station, Miramar, California.

THEY ARRIVED IN MAY. She lived in barracks with the rest of the WAVES for two months, when they got an apartment in San Diego. In Miramar she was an instructor and receptionist. Here she worked for Lt. Comdr. J. B. Ramsey, four Lieutenants, and three Lieutenants junior grade. This office was Instrument Academics. They taught other officers from the Navy, Air Force, Marines and the Army to fly TA4F fighter planes. Seaman Smith has a backseat license to fly fighter planes. Hospital Foreman 3 Class Smith also owns a backseat license.

NEXT PO3 SMITH RECEIVED ORDERS FOR GUAM. Seaman Smith put in to be transferred with her husband. It was granted and so they are headed for Guam—he to hospital service and she will go to Naval Air Station about two miles away. They will be there 13 months. PO3 Smith and Seaman Smith plan to reenlist at the end of this tour as it marks the ends of their enlistments. They will reenlist to earn schooling rights. He plans to study to become an X-ray laboratory technician. Seaman Smith wishes to become a recruiter.

WE CONGRATULATE THIS RARE COUPLE and wish them the best in their efforts!

NOW HERE IS A STORY OF WILLIAM SMITH'S BROTHER, PFC Paul Leon Smith. This Smith enlisted with one year remaining of high school. He was a student at Des Moines Technical High School. He plans completing high school in the service. He studied cooking at Des Moines Tech and won a State prize in cooking. He is stationed in Germany and will be there for three years. He reached Germany a week before Thanksgiving of '72. Paul is a cook in the service and cooked at Millie's Drive-In when he entered the Army.

THE SMITHS ARE THE SONS OF Mr. and Mrs. Fred Reese, 1336 18th Street here.

A look at sports in retrospect
With Allen Ashby

People keep asking about games such as basketball and football as they were played back in my day and as it is played now. Well, I might say that, except for the size of the players, and the coming of special players, the football game hasn't really changed that much. The game still is based on blocking and tackling, knocking people down, as I like to say. No matter what fancy names you give the various positions, and what you call the plays, they are basically the same as they have been for some time. And success requires execution or your play and strategy don't go.

Used to have a center jump after each basket

But basketball has changed no end. We used to have a lot of little fellows running around the floor, floor guards, they were called. Their job was to harrass the opponents and if possible, steal the ball, much as the guards do today. Then we had one fellow who never came past the center of the floor. He was a back guard, and he wasn't supposed to let anybody get behind him. After each basket there was the long walk back to the center circle for another tipoff jump. So it paid to have a rough rugged fellow who could jump in there and battle for the tip offs. An amusing thing about that center jump after each basket was the fact that you could nearly always tell who scored the basket. He would usually run clear around the floor, some times licking his fingers before he took his place for the tipoff. Now, if a fellow tried that the opponents would have a whole gang of points before he got into the game.

The one Hand Shot comes of Age

Nobody dared to shoot with one hand. It wasn't until the forties. I think that people began to realize that a one hand shot was effective. And passing like these guys do now would get a player kicked off the team. Besides pulled out of a game. I had a guy at Arkansas State High who was really a fine behind the back passer, and the fellow nearly gave me ulcers, when he was in the game. His teammates were used to him, and he didn't surprise them, but he sure surprised hell out of me. But the guy seemed to know what he was doing, so I let him have his way, and it worked. But I was always expecting the ball to end up in row fourteen, and if it had, he would probably have had to turn in his suit. Maybe.

Dribbling like the players do today was taboo. We believed in passing the ball and I always thought that if you moved the ball fast enough and long enough, you could work a man loose for an easy shot. That is about the only phase of the old game that holds good today, and even they have a limited number of seconds in which to get off a shot.

In Those Days a Six footer was a Big Man

Now the players are so tall and agile. In our time a six foot man was a big men, and now he is referred to us as a midget. When you had a team that averaged six feet, you were said to have a big team. Now they wouldn't get the ball enough to know what to do with it. The really tall guys we met, six feet seven or six, were rather clumsy, and we could handle them easily. I recall one game that our Crocker Y team played against a fellow who was six seven. Well, he had just one move to the basket, and our man in the whole with him simply got the timing on his move and snatched the ball out of his hand when he came up with it. So we crushed them. Then most of the teams played some sort of zone defense until the traveling black teams began to come through Des Moines. They featured man to man defense, and a low post offensive man. Of course all of our guys tried it, and it was the ruination of our Crocker Y team. We didn't have the players who were good enough to play man for man, but they could work together in a zone. Likewise in what we called the pivot. Our guys didn't know that you had to pass the ball out of the hole sometimes in order to get shots. So by the time we learned to play that type of game, we were so far behind the rest of the teams that we never did catch up. Watching UCLA work the ball around last week end, I thought that it would have been wonderful if our teams could have passed like that just too many years ago. Yes, the round ball game has changed a lot.

Sioux City Equal opportunity officer

director of a hospital central services department.

He worked as a recreation leader for the City of Denver and was administrative assistant to the city administrator of Lockwood, Colo., participating in a minority intern program until last August.

He also has completed some work on a master's degree in guidance and counseling.

Rights

The City Council Tuesday confirmed the Sioux City Human Rights Commission's appointment of a Jefferson City, Mo., man as the city's new human rights director.

The commission last week appointed Robert E. Walters, 24-year-old black, to the post which has been vacant since Ralph Greenwood resigned last September. The appointment was submitted for council approval Tuesday.

His annual salary will be $10,680, and he will assume his duties here the first of next month.

Walters, a graduate of Lincoln University in Jefferson City, has for the last four months been a field representative for the Missouri Commission on Human Rights. Before that he was a patrolman with the Jefferson City police department for two years.

Walters is married and has one child.

The appointment was presented for council approval by John Stokes, chairman of the Human Rights Commission, and the Rev. Marvin Boes, vice chairman.

City Manager Wes McAllister Friday announced the appointment of Stevenson T. Holmes Jr., 28, of Denver, Colo., to the newly created position of city equal opportunity officer.

Mr. Holmes will be an administrative assistant to the city manager in administering the city's new affirmative action program. That's the program for equal opportunity in the recruiting and hiring of city employees and for enforcing the equal opportunity requirements of city contractors.

Holmes will begin his duties Dec. 18 at a starting salary of $10,176, McAllister said.

"We feel fortunate to be able to hire a person with his education, experience and understanding of minority problems," the manager said.

Holmes, a former school teacher and administrator, will receive his master's degree in public administration at the University of Colorado this month. He received a bachelor's degree in elementary education in 1966 at the University of Northern Colorado.

After three years of service as an Air Force officer, he attained the rank of captain. Holmes taught for a time in the Denver public schools and later was employed as

LBJ-a people's president

"Goodbye, Big Daddy!"

Former President Johnson, who died last week at 64, is shown in one of the roles in which he was a master—campaigning. The little Black girl is unidentified.

A black construction worker stood quietly, holding his hardhat almost in military salute, as he watched the funeral procession move towards the Capitol.

A few hours later, a black Congressman, from

Harlem, said: "I admired that man as much as it is possible for me to admire any white man."

It was the day that the nation's capital city said goodbye to the man of whom Roy Wilkins said: "He did more to advance the cause of black America than any President since Abraham Lincoln.

It was a day to forget the plastic quality of the just-concluded inauguration of an administration that seemed not to care, as they danced, that the poor grow poorer and the young lose hope and the old are forsaken.

It was a time to rejoice — even in sorrow — that a man of the stature of Lyndon Baines Johnson had once been President of these United States.

When Lyndon Johnson had power, he used it, mightily.

Even as the nation mourned the murder of John F. Kennedy, President Johnson proclaimed that the first order of business was the passage of civil rights legislation.

And the Civil Rights Act of 1964 became law.

When black Americans in the South were being beaten, and gassed, and shot, because they wanted to vote, President Johnson called a joint session of the House and the Senate, and said in a voice not to be ignored: "We Shall Overcome." And the Voting Rights Act of 1965 became law.

When black anguish at the murder of Martin Luther King exploded into violence, Lyndon Johnson understood and said, again, to the nation, this time more desperately: "We Shall, we must overcome."

And later, when the power had passed, and his health was almost gone, Lyndon Johnson persevered. He called together the men and women, black and white, who had been with him in the fight for a free America. Once more they would "reason together" to see how they could stem the retreat from the dreams they all had shared.

No one who was at that Austin meeting, just a month ago, will ever forget the sight of that giant, ailing, aging, but determined man of Texas, as he ignored his doctors, took his heart pills, and spoke eloquently of his fear and hopes.

No one who was there will ever forget those last words of Lyndon Johnson, spoken softly, in a southern drawl, a last urgent appeal to a nation that seems to have forgotten:

"To be black — to one who is black — is to be proud, to be worthy, to be honorable. But to be black in a white society is not to stand on level ground."

"While the races may stand side by side, whites stand on history's mountain and blacks stand in history's hollow."

"Unless we overcome unequal history, we cannot overcome unequal opportunity. That is not — nor will it ever be — an easy goal to achieve."

Let those words serve, for black America, as the epitaph for Lyndon Baines Johnson of Texas, the 36th president of the United States, the first southern president since Reconstruction, a man who understood — and cared.

We have lost a friend.

Youth Tells of Apparent Racism on City Council

It has been the intent of the Community Development, City Manager, and City Council to eliminate the Young Peoples Council from the comprehensive Community Development Plan. The Young People's Council was constantly annoyed by nit-picking, finding fault here and there, and criticism at everything relating to our on-going projects.

The Youth Council was subjected to various harassments, but continued to have faith; hoping and praying, presenting proposal after proposal pressing for a contract. Finally November 15, 1971 our contract was accepted by City Council and funds were received in the amount of $39,171.00 to operate for a period of 8 months or until all funds were expended. Although the original contract asked for $51,800.00.

Monday, January 15, 1973, two white youths appeared before City Council with a resolution to keep a recreation type place called Nowhere Going. The City Council suggested $50,000.00. The Youth Council is not trying to be segregated but that is the way the times have made us. We are not only concerned with people in school but the people out of school too. We give education as much or more than recreation.

The assistant to the City Manager for Community Development has arranged for the Youth Council to not be Federally funded. He promised that City Council will do his bidding.

In light of this power, we question whether our presentation of an action oriented proposal for 1973 to the City through neighborhood Priority Board and Central Advisory Board is not an exercise in futility.

If so we want to know what do you do with the youth of Model City, sweep them under the carpet and forget it or can we have a Responsive City government.

We (the youth) are articulate if only we are listened to, not looked at and upon as inhuman creatures without any sense of feelings.

For us, it isn't a matter of choosing between the Mayor's son's group and Minorities groups. It is a question of choosing between right and wrong. Let's be honest.

Quit agitating about the Civil War

It has been more than 100 years since the close of the Civil War and still representatives from South Carolina, the state which precipitated the Civil War, continue to beg for a flag which the brave boys from Iowa captured. Iowa soldiers deserve some respect and consideration for their bravery and sacrifice. And to compound the agitation, they offer in return a rare medal which commemorates the defense by a Texas regiment of the strategic position which was attacked by the northern armies. This is an insult.

Having lived all over the country, it appears to me that the only people who continue to agitate about the Civil War are those who started it and lost it. It does no good to rub these old sores by agitating about this flag. To do so is about the same as the continued

Did city council favor mayor's son?

On Monday, January 15, 1973, two young caucasian males appeared before City Council and presented a very flimsy resolution. The youths were representing a group called "The Inter-Des Moines Student Council", which to my knowledge "The Mayor's son" is a member and holds an office of this organization.

The I.D.M.C.'s were asking for a recreational facility to replace and reopen the recent closure of "No-Where" located in West Des Moines, while other groups are concerned with education, employment, culture for dignity of identification and leadership training.

Without any hesitations or questions, whether or not the group had presented their complaints, a resolution, a proposal, etc., before a Neighborhood Board, Taskforce Committee or Central Advisory Board, but immediately accepted their resolution with favorable comments and suggestions in giving the Mayor's son's group $50,000 with further assistance for proper processing.

Now other Youth Organizations of "The Have Nots" among the poor minorities and poor whites are asking is this fair and honest city government...naming a few youth groups — such as the Young Peoples Council, City-Wide Predominate Black Student Organization, The Indians and the Chicano's.. did not receive this type of reception, respect, advice nor encouragement in having or producing worthwhile projects from our City Manager or City Council elected officials. The question coming from these young people of "The Have Nots" is: Why?

Iowa should retain this flag. To do otherwise tends to attach a stigma on the North, that it, and not the South, started the rebellion.

Reveals muslim conflicts

by National Black News Service

Washington — (nbs) — The brutal massacre of two adults and five children in a house on Washington's "Gold Coast" two weeks ago brought to light the bitter but heretofore relatively secret conflicts that have been smoldering between various Muslim sects in this country.

The close range shooting of the two adults and one child, and the drownings of the three other children have been publicly blamed on the Black Muslims by Hamaas Abdul Khaalis. Khaalis, who is the leader of the Hanafi Muslims here is the husband of one of the two critically wounded survivors, father of three children, and grandfather of the others.

Khaalis told a reporter that his daughter, the other survivor, who remains in Freedman's Hospital following a partial recovery, has told him that the eight men who entered the house and committed the murders while Khaalis was away made several statements indicating that they were Black Muslims.

Khaalis confirmed reports that he had written letters to Black Muslim ministers in several cities charging that the head of the Nation of Islam, Elijah Muhammad is a fraud.

The Hanafi Muslim leader said his surviving daughter, Alimna Khaalis told him that the man who took her upstairs in the house and shot her said to her: "You know your father wrote those letters don't you? Don't you know he can't do anything like that?"

Khaalis, who was once a leader in the Black Muslims, said the Muslims wanted to harm him in retaliation for the letters. He said, however, he will continue his campaign against Mr.

Muhammad, whom he referred to by his pre-Muslim name Elijah Poole.

Asked what he planned to do about the deaths he replied: "I'm waiting to see what my country is going to do about that gang in Chicago that killed my family. I'm waiting and giving the police time." The Hanafi Muslims pledge their national allegiance to this country and fly the U.S. flag outside their headquarters.

Police are not talking about new clues they have to the identity of the murders, but they have been following a number of leads — one of which is the identification of a gun, used in a Philadelphia rape-robbery some days prior to the murders in Washington, as one of the guns used in the killings here. They are also said to be looking for a Philadelphia - licensed - plated car that is believed to be the getaway car.

BETHEL A.M.E. CHURCH NEWS

The "Voices of Soul" was presented in concert last Sunday evening, and they sang to a standing room only crowd. I am sure those who attended had never heard such singing from such a young group. This chorus came from the University of Iowa, and its members came from several states here in the United States. I think that the thing which impressed the audience more than anything else, was the sincere feeling that was displayed by the entire group. They made you to know that what they were singing was from the very depth of their hearts. I would suggest that if the opportunity ever comes, be sure to hear these Voices of Soul. The senior choir is to be commended for sponsoring such an aggregation. The Elizabeth Tolliver Missionary Society will serve it's annual "Feast Of Seven Tables, Sunday February 11, 1973, dinner will be at 1:00 p.m. It is hoped that you will come out and fellowship with us. Donations from adults $2.00, children $.75.

The Usher Board will be sponsoring two more skating parties, one in the month of February, and one in the month of March. The dates and time will be posted later. This is just to alert you as to what's in store for you.

There are lots of great things about this new Flynn plastic gallon jug.

Actually our new plastic gallon jug is the next best thing to the cow herself for keeping Flynn Milk fresh. The resealable screw on cap insures complete freshness. The built-in handle makes it easy to carry and easy to pour from. The plastic is translucent so you can always see how much milk is left. Of course, we wouldn't be so excited about the container if we weren't so sure about what we put inside it. It costs no more than milk in waxed cartons. And you pay no deposit. Available now at your store. For home delivery call 243-6211.

Diggs confirmed chairman

Washington — (nbns) — Rep. Charles C. Diggs Jr. (D-Mich.) this week became the first black chairman of the House District Committee after confirmation by the Democratic caucus on a vote of 154-36.

Diggs, who gained the post because of his seniority on the Committee, said he considers the occasion of historic significance because his chairmanship represents the first change in the Committee's leadership in more than 20 years and because there have been few chairmen in the House who were either black or from Michigan.
