BIAS SUIT

Washington (NBNS) — A former and a current employee of the Library of Congress this week filed suit in U.S. District Court charging that library officials discriminate in hiring and promotion policies and asked $15.5 million in damages for the library's 1,503 black employees.

The suit contends Librarian Quincy Mumford and personnel manager Robert Hutchison, the defendants in the case, maintain "all black or predominantly black work forces in menial and lowest grade jobs" while refusing to grant promotions to well-qualified black employees in the 4,000-person work force.

May Proclaimed Senior Citizens Month By The President

Mrs. Claudia Bueford (in the middle) is the oldest Senior Citizen in the community, at 106 years old. She stays with her daughter Mrs. Pinkie B. Good at 1047 11th St. (On the Far left) is Mrs. Margureite Howell and (on the far right) is Mr. Peter Gus.

By Venise Berry

More than 20 million Americans will lay a rightful claim to the 31 days in May because by Presidential Proclamation, May is Senior Citizen Month.

President Nixon has called upon the Nation "to renew the recognition, the respect, and the active concern which properly belong to elder Americans."

Declaring "Active Older Americans" as the theme for this years observance of Senior Citizens Month the president emphasized that most of our elders "remain vital, versatile and highly valued contributors to American life."

Programs for the Senior Citizens include: RSVP (Retired Senior Volunteer Program). RSVP offers significant volunteer opportunities in local communities in 50 states, Puerto Rico and the District of Columbia for retired men and women age 60 and over.

Vista and The Peace Corps (Volunteers in Service to America), Vista Volunteers may serve their own communities or elsewhere in the country, and the Peace Corps sends volunteers to 59 countries through out the world.

SCORE (Service Corps of Retired Executives. Score volunteers are men and women who have successfully completely business careers, counsel small businessmen with operating and management problems.

The Foster Grandparent Program in which over 8,000 low income men and women are serving, offers opportunities to people age 60 and over to provide individual companionship and guidance to physically, mentally and emotionally handicapped children in institutions.

The Massachusetts Association of Older Americans (MAOA) have worked with the elderly worse off than themselves in hospitals, nursing homes and Senior centers.

Ernest Hemingway once argued that retirement was the most loathsome word in the language. To lose what once shaped the center of one's identity was a kind of annihilation, he decided.

While Hemingway's view may be shared by millions of retired people who occupy what they might call 'Roleless Roll' Active Older volunteers have found and alternative.

There are many other Senior Citizens Programs and each and every one of them is very worthwhile. So this week The New Iowa Bystander Officially Salutes The Older Generation of Senior Citizens.

The Model Cities Senior Citizens Incorporated of course includes such activities as: Pot Lucks, Conventions, Christmas Parties, May Baskets, Valentine Parties, Trips, and just recreation in general.

It is located at 1721 Forest Ave. and all Senior Citizens are Welcome.

By Ken Warren

It is game time again, this one is called "Blame, Blame Who's Got The Blame". If you are not easily nauseated no doubt you were able to listen intently to our president attempt to explain the scandal his administration is presently involved in. If you didn't catch his magnificent performance you really missed an excellent example of the double talk I refer to in this column. Once more the powers to be indulged in their favorite pastime, that is running game on the unsophisticated political illiterate common folk who place their faith and trust in the elected official who is supposed to look out for their best interest. The great man made a very emotional and impassioned plea for the understanding and prayers of the ignorant masses on which many travesties of injustice have been perpetrated. I really can't conceive of a person having the nerve to come before the very people he has alienated by withdrawing assistance from them for the same offenses he is asking forgiveness for. Namely mismanagement, graft, corruption and failure to disclose the facts of a wrongful act. The strange aspect of this matter is that this man with the stroke of a pen eliminated jobs, services and subsistence for thousands of persons for the same reasons he now stands accused of. Now the words and deeds of his act have come home to haunt him and his top level so-called advisors. If it wasn't for the tragic aspect of this whole affair it could be considered humorous but from the lowest echelon to the archives of the highest the echoes of the lack of laughter seems to be deafening. It is amazing how the moments of truth come crashing thru the veils of secrecy and intrigue leaving in its wake the implications and innuoes of wrongdoing no matter at what level it occurs. It is extremely difficult for a layman such as myself to deal with or interrupt such words as creditably, responsible government and loyalty to the concept of free enterprise when at the uppermost echelon we find there is no immunity and the vices of men are so brazenly condoned. I think that Mr. Nixon will find the famous nickname TRICKY DICKY will in history carry a different connotation than what he had anticipated. Another thought to ponder is that now there is no need to worry about reelection the real Richard Nixon is standing up, it has been apparent he had no real apathy for poor folk and it could be not much for people in general. Power and prestige become extremely hard taskmaste and many a man has fallen slave to their wills. In the consumer world there is a famous adage "BUYER BEWARE" if you allow yourself to be sold a bill of goods when you have had a opportunity to examine the merchandise then you have only yourself to blame.

Fine Print

By Michael Morrow

Maybe this scandle at Washington will show the people of this country that the man in the White House is just that- a man and not a god.

Sure the job of a president is a tough one; most people will agree... and that the person in that office needs a certain amount secrecy for national security but one has to realize that the people having voted for the man have a lot of emotional trust on him - along the lines of a father figure.

Black people have known for years that the man in the White Palace will screw you over the first chance that it is politically opportune to do so. But now with the Watergate fiasco, middle-America that was bludegon with the club of law and order voted for Nixon, these white people are coming to realize that they can be use just as well as black people are—every day.

Another thing is, that Agnew was blasting the American press, and middle America was stupidly shaking their heads yes, yes. But little do they realize is that the same press that Agnew was blasting a few years ago is the same press that is helping to show how corrupt this administration is to the mass of America.

Sure, there were some things that you could agree when Agnew first opened his mouth about it, but now that the press has learned their lesson it is being used against "four more years" men. All I can say is that You deserve to suffer and suffer you will when we get done running through that press "wringer."

Well, it looks like ole John Connally finally did it. What did he do you ask? He switch his party affiliation from Democrat to Republican.

Anyone, that switch their party loyalty to back the king there has to be something up...The only thing is to figure out what he is going to do.

The best bet is—what are his chances at the vice-presidential slot in '76. But that is going to be a tough one for the elephants to decide, because I think there is the possibility of the Massachusetts Sen. Brooke being considered.

Connally said when he switched, "...the Republican party best represents the broad views of most Americans, whatever their formal political affiliation."

That's just has to be about the biggest pile of b.s ever—and in the last few years we have witnessed a lot of piles. But I just can't

Letter to the Editor

Dear Editor

On this date 4-17-73 a young black man was convicted of breaking and entering, the charge which states as follows: On the twenty-sixth of January this year, a Benjamin White was accused of the crime 61663 under Iowa law, B & E at 1949 Jefferson Street in Des Moines. Please note the evidence in this case: 1. fingerprints found on a footlocker inside the house, but please note that the defendant had lived at this house for a while and while there had, had use of the room where the fingerprints were found. But since the accused had moved he had returned only three day's before the so called breaking and entering with given authority.

There is no other proof of the defendant being at 1349 Jefferson Street on January 26th, 1973. No one saw the accused come or go from the house on this date, but still the state has found the defendant guilty because the residents of this address thinks he had something to do with it. But what about evidence? The residents at this address claim that the defendant was looking for a gun in this locker but police records will show a thirty-eight pistol of the residents is still down to the police department and that the defendant knew about this since last year.

Why would he the defendant go looking for a gun knowing it's not there? But yet in still the accused was found guilty of B & E and now awaits in the county jail for sentencing, while in court a fingerprint-detective stated that the prints were two maybe three days old.

The statements above are not the only circumstances in which the defendant was accused unjustly. Last year while the defendant was in prison, the Des Moines police arose Mrs. Lola Mae White with a lie to obtain entrance into her home looking for they said the defendant one Benjamin White Junior, already in prison.

It caused her to call the warden at Anamosa Men's reformatory and the defendant was called from his job by the warden to hear him tell about checking his cell last night to make sure he was there and how Des Moines police had gotten a tip that the same inmate in prison was suppose to be hiding out at the mother's house.

The defendant was then trasnfered to Fort Madison prison, only to meet the most animalistic staff this side of hell. While there he and the Beasts would disagree causing the inmate to lose more, and his discharge was moved from 10-26-72 to 12-17-72.

After being out only one week the young black man understand how he can say that with a straight face.

Instead of using laughing gas at the dentist just bring along a tape recorder with a tape of comments like the one above and play it. You will be too much involved laughing your head off to feel the dentist taking your eye teeth out.

The only thing I can say is; it could only happen in the United States.

was picked up for a charge that was dropped the year before, no one would listen to the defendants plea of innocence, a bond was denied so the just released black man spent two and a half weeks in jail awaiting this charge. When the trial went to court the charges were dropped and the man was released. The judge said that he was sorry and that the law was sorry and so was the unemployed black man because it was certain that if he had not been forced into jail he would have had a job.

Now already there was another search warrant maybe just in case the black man was released. In an answer to one of the police's questions the residents at 1349 Jefferson, Mr. and Mrs. Allia Sloan stated "I think it was the defendant who broke into my home, if not then who? and if he didn't he knows who did." they went on to testify that the defendant is always in jail that's why they think it was him who did it.

I finally understand this and other institutionalized laws at evidence that is unconstitutional therefore a violation of every law which now stands to accuse and find me guilty because I have been convicted before. The law states that every man is innocent until proven guilty but since my past records show that I have been convicted before and that my own people believe me guilty, surely I must be then guilty so the court has found me guilty in the first degree, there rests another false injection of the law. And especially if it is a white jury and a white judge who listen and pronounce judgment upon me, this law is a law against the first law, my future has been laid for me once again.

It is a truly animalistic way of providing that in this case you were guilty at time of arrest therefore the law feels you are guilty now. So wait in jail, while we the white enforcers of the law do a par-sentence search deeper into this case. Lamumba Sekau Slave name: Benjamin White Jr.

Starts Apprenticeship

Abelardo Aquilar

An apprentice is a worker who learns, according to a written or oral contractual agreement, a recognized skilled craft or trade requiring two or more years of on-the-job training through job experience supplemented by related instruction, prior to the time that he may be considered a qualified skilled.

Abelardo Aquilar was chosen this year to learn the various aspects of the bricklaying trade. Accepted as a apprentice bricklayer by the Joint Apprenticeship Committee of Bricklayers Local Union No. 2 here in Des Moines, Abelardo will first undergo an intense eight weeks of pre-apprenticeship training prior to actually going to work for a contractor.

Provisions for the Bricklayers Apprenticeship program regularly include length of apprenticeship; a progressive scale of wages; work processes to be taught; and amount of instruction in subjects related to the craft or trade, such as characteristics of materials used, selected shop mathematics, and blueprint reading.

The Arthur E. Sidners, Aaron and Alison were weekend guests at the home of their brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. John E. Johnson, Jr. and their two children, Branda and Brian. Since the father-in-law and mother, Mr. and Mrs. John E. Johnson, Sr., live six houses down the street, they were their guests, also. Mikel (Mrs. John E., Jr.) and I waited up Friday night until the St. Paul guests arrived.

We had a merry time welcoming the four travelers. Things went along beautifully; Alison (Little Miss Naughty) played her favorite role — that of getting into mischief: one of the mother's came into Branda's bedroom and found Branda and Alison playing together on the floor. Nothing usual about that except that with the aid of Branda's little rocking chair, Alison had lifted her out of the crib. The wonder of it all is, how did a tiny four year old lift the chunky little Branda from the crib onto the floor without any noise? Mike was put out to say the least and refused to discuss the incident, saying, I don't want to think about it: Of course, Granmarri thought otherwise and proceeded to marvel that Alison could accomplish the feat with a rocking chair: It brought to mind the old adage; "Where there's a will, there's a way: And Granmarri always assures Alison that she is Grammarri's good little girl—which I may add is the only good little girl rating she merits: Am still wondering if Alison's ballet could have been an assist in her balancing on the rocker? (Enough of this? Ok, I'll just pursue the thing in my mind.) Hey, John E., Jr. doesn't care to talk about the event either. Is real icy about it.

Met Miss Charlene Park, a '66 Technical High School graduate, who has a unique job! She works at United Parcel on The Tower, which means she works at a point controlling the belts on which going-out packages are routed. Fancy? Interesting!

Every now and then I have occassion to pick up a youngster—a hitch-hiker. My most recent pickup was a 23 year old who had just returned from a ramble that took him to Dubuque for Easter. He was a Catholic and chose to spend Easter there. I was very impressed by his desire to spend Easter with the monks. I believe I felt a little envy at his choice. He spent Friday, April 20, at the Abbey New Mallory, and Easter Sunday there, arising and leaving on the 23rd.

Easter Sunday morning he arose at 3:00 a.m. Easter service began at 3:30 a.m. The liturgy was in three parts. The first part was the lighting the new fire of Christ: Christ is the light of the world. There is one candle lighted; it is first blessed and carried; written on it is Alpha and Omega. Thus referring to the words of Christ saying "I am Alpha and Omega", the beginning and the end. Also written on the candle was the year 1973. It also carried a cross sign. On the candle were carved the five wounds of Christ. Each participant carried a candle lighted from the original candle. What a beautiful sight: Symbolizing that we do have Christ in our lives.

The 2nd part of the liturgy is the word. A portion from Exodus is read followed by prayer. The gloria is intoned: Glory to God in the highest, Peace to Men of Goodwill. Here the mood of the liturgy changes. You have the sacrifice of the mass; the blessing of the bread and wine: the breaking of the bread; this is eaten. This is the end of the liturgy.

Our young friend then had breakfast with the monks. He talked with them and with other visitors. He returned to bed about 9:00 a.m. He arose about 10:00 a.m., returned to church for regular Sunday mass. After mass he enjoyed dinner. The rest of the day was free; he went for a walk and read a little. At 6:30 p.m. prayers were said and everyone retired at 7:00 p.m. He arose and left the next morning about 10:00 o'clock.

The Leroy Carters spent Easter Sunday putting in some of their garden. The rest of the day was spent in making pop calls. What fun?

Mrs. J. W. Morrow finding her husband, J. W. Morrow somewhat depressed over the prospects of hospitalization decided to have an Easter birthday party and so she did. She marveled at the kind people who accepted and joined them in the party. Some of these people, who whatever other plans they had, changed and joined the Morrow's birthday party: Mr. and Mrs. Marshall Smith, Mr. and Mrs. Adam Johnson, Sr., Mr. and Mrs. Lonnie Warden, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Johnson, Mr. and Mrs. John Spencer, Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Whitney, Mr. and Mrs. K. L. Howard, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Flipping, Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Redd, Mr. and Mrs. Virgil Winter, Mr. and Mrs. Sylvester McCracken, Jr., Mr. and Mrs. John Jackson, Mr. and Mrs. Otis James, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Wilcots, Lawrence Oliver, Atty., James B. Morris, Jr., Charlie Robinson, Clyde Morriw, Marvin Brown, John Estes, Sr., Fred McCracken, Everett Newcomb, Larry Fowler, Andy Wolder and Miss Helen Paul, of Tampa, Florida, and Mrs. Ethel May.

It is late to join the party, but this Column wishes J. W. Morrow a happy birthday, too, and many, many more happy birthdays: And congratulations to Vera, for the clever idea of bringing him joy.

With Allen Ashby

I sat out there at the Drake Relays last week end, and thought about how marks and distances that would have been records even six or seven years ago wouldn't have even qualified this time. For instance, there was Al Lanier of Cincinnati in the long jump and triple jump. Al got off a twenty six foot plus long jump. And another guy from Pittsburg came up with a twenty six foot plus some more, and Al got second place. Then he cracked the record in the triple jump with a leap of over fifty one feet. And so along comes Barry McClure of Middle Tennessee with a jump that topped our hero's by about four inches. So he got another second place medal. Later that night I was talking to Lanier, and I remarked that his luck was enough to drive a man to drink. He remarked that he had tried that on Friday night and still came in second. "Well, I said, you should have drunk enough so you could have flown, and maybe got off a ninety foot leap." "Yeah" he answered, "But with my luck, some guy would have come up with a ninety one foot jump."

Now, this is not an attempt to relate what all the black athletes did out there. There were so many of them that I would have to have the entire edition of the paper to get that in. In fact, just a list of the names would probably fill a page. They came representing schools like Texas, Texas A&M, Louisiana State, Texas Christian, and other schools that a few years ago wouldn't let a black walk across the campus. Then there was that bunch from Eastern New Mexico featuring Mike Boit from Kenya. This remarkable athlete brought his team to a win in the distance medley, and chased Texas Southern to the wire in the sprint medley, nearly making up about thirty yards on Tommy Foutton of Texas Southern. He was voted the most outstanding athlete at the meet, an honor he richly deserved.

Texas Southern came to the meet needing three wins to take over first place on the all time winning college list. They were two wins, 30, behind Abilene Christian which moved up into the university section. So the fellows came up with wins in the half mile relay, the sprint medley, and the two mile relay. The hundred yard dash was a complete blackout and it looked as if the race was back in our column again. So was the hurdle race. Marshall Dill, who looks big enough to play football powered his way into a strong wind to snatch the century title from Kansas State's Dean Williams, and everybody up to fifth place was black. Rod Milburn ran away with the high hurdles and said that he might have done the distance in really record time if he had that wind at his back. But I thought that would have depended on what was after him. He gave it all he had trying to catch the Kansas anchor man in the high hurdle shuttle relay, but just couldn't make it. Southern entered the race with three guys named Joe, and hoped they could stay close enough to Kansas to give Milburn a chance, and they almost did.

Last year the Mayor Hatcher relay team of black girls had tough luck, and they vowed to come back here and make up for it. They ran the legs off the Iowa track club in the women's medley relay, and finished a close second. The whole crowd saluted them, and their decorum was above reproach. I would have to say that the two best boys I saw in the high school section were Tech's Norm Gant and Dennis Green of Central Davenport, who won the long jump. Both boys are powerful young men who should do well in college. Personally I think Gant is at his best in the two-twenty or four-forty. He is strong, and gets faster as he goes along. He doesn't seem to get out of his blocks fast enough for the hundred, but maybe coaching will bring that out. Just as I was wondering where all the black high school athletes were, along came Central Davenport, East Waterloo, and Tech, and maybe a couple of others with just about everybody black, so I stopped wondering.

There were so many guys in the University section, that I could tell about them forever, so if you didn't read the papers last weekend, just stop me and ask about them and I will tell you. But be sure to have plenty of time, because you are gonna need it, if I tell you all about them. But, do you know that when schools like Southern, Texas Southern, Alcorn, Lincoln, and Prairie View get together, they are running so hard trying to beat each other that any other opposition had just better get off the track or get run over. They have eyes only for each other, and they go after the races as if there really wasn't anybody else running.

Davis Elected To Board

WILLIE DAVIS

New Schlitz Director — Willie D. Davis, former Green Bay Packer football star, has been elected to the board of directors of the Jos. Schlitz Brewing Company. He is the first black director on the board of the 124-year-old company which is the world's second largest brewer. Davis has been a Schlitz wholesaler in Los Angeles since 1970. For seven years before that he was employed in the Schlitz marketing department between football seasons. A standout defensive end, Davis spent 10 years as a Green Bay Packer star on the teams of the late coach Vince Lombardi that marched to six division titles, five world championships and two Super Bowl victories. In 1968 Davis won the Byron (Whizzer) White award for outstanding contributions to his team, to the National Football League and to his community.

In addition to the frank and winning way he handles this otherwise tricky task, Luther is also helping to raise funds for one of this country's most important social causes.

Jackson Sisters Rise Above The Ghetto

RECORD 'WHY CAN'T WE BE (MORE THAN FRIENDS)'

The ghetto is a strange phenomena. Those who live in one probably know more about survival than people who live elsewhere. And those who are fortunate enough to make a name for themselves and see success — however small or large or for how long — can really appreciate it after having experienced the ghetto more than those who have not.

Even though it is tough on them to have a young male vocal group with the same name and already established, as competition, and having little other help than their parents and two enthusiastic managers who believe in them, the Jackson Sisters may prove skeptics wrong. Though they have yet to prove themselves as a bona fide success, they have started on the right track with their debut single on Prophecy Records, "Why Can't We Be (More Than Friends)," quickly becoming one of the hottest singles by a new act in the country.

But Jackie, Lyn, Rae, Pat and Gennie, who range in age between 11 and 16, more than have a good idea of how tough the road to success has been and will be. They still live in Compton, Calif., where they were all raised (only Jackie and Lyn were born elsewhere), and still double and triple-up in bedrooms (often sleeping on the floor), surviving on a less than modest budget.

So it is more than a tribute to their own desires to rise above their economic plight and become a cohesive, well-polished professionally choreographed, and vocally-balanced unit. After rehearsing diligently for a period of time, the girls performed in a local talent show for Mobil Oil. There they were discovered by their managers, Oscar Williams and Elaine Linnett, who were floored by the girls' professionalism.

After working with them for a while, the Jacksons were signed to a recording contract with Prophecy. And if things didn't happen fast enough, the group's first major exposure was in a concert at the Forum in Inglewood before over 18,000 who came primarily to see Al Green, but left knowing the Jackson Sisters had given a great performance.

But, despite what has happened so far, the girls have still remained down to earth, working constantly to make their show work better.

Jackie (Jacqueline) is the eldest of the five sisters, a Leo, and the most outgoing. "My favorite subject is English," she explains. "I am also involved with student government and hold the office of student body president."

Aside from her singing abilities, she has been playing the violin for nine years and can read music. "Being able to read and write music, I feel the need to compose music and eventually produce recordings."

Lyn (Lynetta), unlike her elder sister, is more reserved. The Scorpio enjoys homemaking courses in school and can be found at home sewing in her spare time. "I like designing and I have a desire to look the best I can at home and on stage," she points out. In the future, she would like to travel and perform in Europe as well as Louisiana, where she has relatives.

Pat (Olivia, a Sagittarian, thinks good things are going to happen for the group soon. One who enjoys people, she remarks, "When someone comes along and has a great personality, I really respond. I love people." A sports enthusiast, she enjoys volleyball.

Rae (Rachelle), the Aquarian of the family, is the most musically inclined. Besides singing, she also plays violin and piano. Her favorite school subjects are science and physical education. "I really like to play volleyball like my sisters, and I play whenever I can."

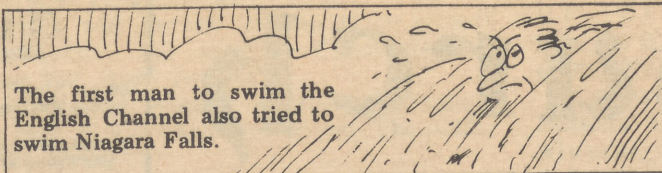

Gennie (Genine) is the youngest member of the group. At 11 years old and weighing 75 pounds, she is one of the youngest female singers in the industry. Like her elder sisters, her school average is good and she prefers English to math anytime. She adds, "I also love to play volleyball, baseball, and basketball with my sisters, and we are always playing everyday after school."

The future holds a lot for these five talented sisters, and what it will bring, only time will tell. But they aren't going to sit by and wait. They intend to work hard to make it happen. And as Jackie would say, "Singing makes people happy, and that's why we do it."

THE ZINC IN YOUR DIET

To a nutritionist, zinc is truly a baffling element. While there is no doubt that small amounts of zinc are vital to tissue growth and repair, no one really knows for sure just how it works in our bodies.

It is also known that diets containing green leafy vegetables, fruit, whole grains, organ meats and lean meats generally supply enough zinc to meet most adult needs.

Cabaret To Be Presented

CABARET, the hit Broadway musical, will be presented by the Drama Workshop in the Arena Theater at Bell Avenue and Casady Drive on May 3 through 6 and May 10 through 13. The full-scale Des Moines production will feature a large cast directed by Freda Nahas and two orchestras conducted by Paul Dieke. Choreography is by Richard Powell.

The New York Times critic, Walter Kerr, said "CABARET is a stunning musical. We have come for the floor show, we are all at tables tonight, and anything we learn of life during the evening is going to be learned through the tipsy, tinkling, angular vision of sleek, rouged-up clowns, who inhabit a world that rains silver. A marionette's eye view of a time and place in our lives that was brassy, wanton, carefree and doomed to crumble. The Kander-Ebb tunes snatch up the melodic desperation of an era and make new sprightly high-voltage energy of it." Richard Watts, Jr. of the New York Post commented: "CABARET is both brilliant and remarkable. It is a bright, handsome and steadily entertaining show. It is the glory of CABARET that it can upset you while it gives theatrical satisfaction."

Most famous of the musical numbers in the show is the title song, Cabaret. Other selections include: Willkommen, Don't Tell Mama, Sitting Pretty, Married, It Couldn't Please Me More, Meeskite, Two Ladies, and others. Principal roles are taken by Diane Miller, Sharon Ullery, Mary Sams, Jack Mishler, Steve Pudenz, John Thompson, and Ivars Stelmachers. In addition to the evening presentations at 8:30, an added matinee has been scheduled for Sunday, May 13, at 2:30 p.m. Admission for all performances is $3.00, students are $2.00, with tickets available at the door. Persons living outside of Polk County may mail ticket requests to Drama Workshop, c/o Mr. L. K. Boutin, Bell Avenue and Casady Drive, Des Moines 50315.

Iowa Power and Light Company May Start Giving Rate Refunds

Customers of Iowa Power and Light Company would begin receiving electric rate refunds totaling $3.5 million on June 1, 1973, according to an order issued April 18 by District Court Judge Thomas
S. Bown in Des Moines, Iowa

Power's 172,000 residential customers would receive an average refund of about $15.00, including interest and sales tax credits.

For a nineteen month period between June 1, 1971 and January 1, 1973, Iowa Power collected increased electric rates under bond while awaiting approval of the rates by the Iowa State Commerce Commission. The final Commission decision approved 64 percent of the increase and ordered the Company to refund the remaining 36 percent.
However, the City of Des Moines filed a legal appeal of the Commission order. In his decision, Judge Bown upheld the Commerce Commission ruling, ordered the Company to begin refunds June 1, and declared that customers receive 5 percent interest through April 15, 1973, and 7 percent from that date through June 1. The order is subject to further appeal within 30 days by the City of Des Moines.

Iowa Power will make the refund as a credit on customer bills starting June 1. Refund payments to customers who have moved and closed their accounts will be made by check and mailed to the last known mailing address. According to Iowa Power, the refund plan involves recalculating nearly four million customer bills. The Company also said that it plans to maintain a detailed listing of each customer's refund, which will be available for inspection and questions after calculations are complete.

Harold Melvin and The Blue Notes

It took a while for Harold Melvin and the Blue Notes to get where they are today. For years the quintet worked in nightclubs and concerts with virtually little recording product to aid them in their efforts.

Today, however, is different. After two huge singles, "I Miss You" and "If You Don't Know Me By Now" (the latter a gold disc), and another record currently on the charts, "Yesterday I Had the Blues," the Blue Notes are more popular than ever.

And their leader, Harold Melvin, has taken the opportunity to capitalize on the group's notoriety by developing his own entertainment corporation.

Harold Melvin Enterprises, a Philadelphia-based firm, is comprised of a record production company, Harold Melvin Productions; and a management organization, Million Dollar Management.

"What we've attempted to do with our company," exclaimed Melvin, "is to open a door to new artists who have potential, but, for some reason or other, haven't gotten the right break to make it. Right now we're working on three new local acts, the Castells, Seven of Spades, and a female singer, Weonaster."

Melvin also stated that his production company will work closely with the Blue Notes' highly successful production team, Kenny Gamble and Leon Huff. "It only seemed logical to set up a working agreement with Kenny and Leon. I want my groups to work with the best, and that's what Gamble-Huff are."

On the activities of his own ensemble, Melvin seemed rather pleased with the Blue Notes' recent recording session. "We've always been known as a ballad group. But we've just finished some new things that will change all that for the time being. Our next single will be a very hip up-tempo thing that should put us into another category altogether. This will really show our versatility."

BELL LABORATORIES CONTRIBUTES $7,000 TO MARTIN LUTHER KING FELLOWSHIP PROGRAM

Bell Laboratories recently contributed $7,000 to the Martin Luther King Jr. Fellowship Program for the fourth consecutive year.

The donation was presented to H. Ronald Rouse, National Director of the Woodrow Wilson Foundation, by Frank T. Johnson, Head of Bell Labs Affirmative Action Program Administration Department.

As part of its Affirmative Action Program, Bell Laboratories contributes to various scholarship and fellowship Programs which benefit minority groups.

The Martin Luther King Fellowship Program is administered by the Woodrow Wilson National Fellowship Foundation, Princeton, N.J. It is designed to help outstanding Black veteran college graduates pursue graduate or professional school training for careers of service to their communities and to the nation.

Candidates for fellowships are screened by predominantly Black regional committees of educators and professionals which interview the applicants and select the fellows. Selection of the 1973 Fellows will be announced next month.

According to Mr. Rouse, "King Fellows are enrolled in more than 30 graduate-level schools across the country. Their varied disciplines include law, business administration, social work and medicine."

He noted that one Fellow is the Executive Director of the Maryland Commission on Negro History and is studying for a Ph.D. at the University of Maryland; another is the sole Black member of Louisiana's constitutional revision committee. Former Fellows also include the Assistant Attorney General for the Division of Criminal Justice for the State of Ohio, and a Professor of Art at Trenton State University.

The three previous Bell Labs contributions have helped Cottrell A. Wesson of Baltimore, Md., to study social work at the University of Maryland; Perry P. Stewart of Jackson, Miss., to study law at Columbia University and John W. Milton of Bronx, N.Y., to study law at Rutgers University.

Since its inception in 1968, the Martin Luther King Fellowship Program has helped 206 Black veterans prepare for careers.
