"LAW AND ORDER"

The October 13th Raid

in Des Moines: An Update

On October 13th 1972 Robert's Lounge, The Ebony Lounge and a house next door were entered by Federal Agents under the auspices of operation D.A.L.E. (Drug Abuse Law Enforcement). U.S. District Attorney for Iowa Allen B. Donielson coordinated the massive raid. Community reaction was stirred when all patrons of the clubs were lined up and searched despite the fact that specific warrants had been issued for 9 specific individuals most of whom were found later at their homes. Reverberations of that raid are still resounding.

The community Action Committee after conducting secret hearings compiled the testimony into a formidable document which after 6 months of meticulous preparation will be filed in Federal Court. On another front, the Chamber of Commerce through its Police Community Relations committee has taken an unusually "high Profile." That group after contacting former U.S. Attorney General Kleindist has just completed a two week tour of several cities around the U.S. studying relations between various Black Communities and the Police Departments. The cities visited under sponsorship of the Department of Justice were: Dayton, Ohio Boston, Mass. San Bernardino, Calif. San Francisco and Oakland California. Des Moines' residents included were; Police Chief Wendall Nichols, Assistant Chief Harold Fryman, Richard Bates of the CAC, Monroe Colston of the Chamber's Urban Affairs Dept., Carl Williams Bystander Editor, Richard Reed of Chamber's PCR Committee and Dale Nelson of the PCR Committee. Mr. Howard Carington of the Justice Department's Community Relations Service official host for the two trips.

One of the prime observations was that all of the cities were having problems recruiting Black Policemen. However, the brightest spot was the San Bernardino Plan for Law Enforcement Trainee Recruitment. The uniqueness of this plan lies in the fact that the city administration was completely sincere in it's desire to attract black and Chicano recruits and that sincerity was communicated to the minority communities intact.

In essence the plan calls for the creation of an additional step in the Police Career Ladder, that of law enforcement trainee. The position is open to all men and women who want to pursue a career in law enforcement. The recruit is first given a 40 hour orientation course covering the basics of the profession. Upon successful completion of that step he is then enrolled in one of two police academies, there. Upon completion of the academy he would then be given a valid patrolmen's written test. After that the recruit would be eligible for any permanent patrolman's position in San Bernardino county or any other area in California. A total of 12 Blacks and Chicanos have completed the program so far.

Des Moines has a recruitment program similar to the San Bernardino Plan, however because of the credibility gap between the Black Community and the City Government the program has not resulted in any increase in minority recruits. Those who participated in the visitations feel that a meaningful campaign can be launched in Des Moines only if there is a genuine community wide cooperative effort, towards recruiting Black officers.

Adult Education at Old Dowling

This classroom consists of people who need help primarily with reading difficulties; some have speech problems; some are trying to improve reading skills as well as work toward the GED and high school completion.

The Comprehensive Learning Center (Room 106) is designed to accommodate students on all educational levels, from non-readers to people who want to brush-up on vocabulary or speedreading for college courses. Teachers work with students on an individual basis, making assignments according to the wants and needs of each student. Many of those who study in the Learning Center are working toward their high school diplomas. Some are enrolled in the Area College's Diploma program, and others are taking courses for credit at one of the public high schools in Des Moines. Other students are taking courses in preparation for entrance into a vocational training program (such as Medical Technician or Accounting) offered on the Ankeny Campus. We can serve anyone who is 16 years of age or older, whether he is interested in building basic reading or math skills, earning his high school diploma, preparing for college entrance, building skills for a job promotion, preparing for a Civil Service Test, preparing for the GED tests, or improving various skills for personal enrichment.

Many of our students enroll in order to earn a GED (High School Equivalency) certificate. A person must pass five tests in order to receive his certificate. We offer instruction in preparation for each of the five tests, depending upon the needs of the individual. The GED tests are administered at the Center.

The Nurse-Aide orderly training course offered by the DMACC offers hospital training on a practical bases to a broad spectrum of students who come from varied backgrounds. The course includes 60 hours of classroom theory and 60 hours of clinical experience. Students upon completion of the course fan out in many directions of endeavor reading their vocational calling some become employed in our various medical institutions and others go on to school in related fields such as nursing, Lab Techs, and Etc.

As an introduction to college for incoming freshmen with no previous college experience, this course uses the literature of social science and current social issues as a basis for preparing students to cope with the academic system, and to use the system to their advantage, in order to achieve their personal educational goals.

Caldron First Year Elevator Constructor

Robert Calderon

Robert Calderon is a young man with an unusual occupation. A 1965 graduate of Boystown High School, he is employed as a first year elevator constructor apprentice with Chenoweth-Kern Elevator Service here in Des Moines.

Elevator constructors (also called elevator mechanics) assemble and install elevators, escalators, dumb waiters, and similar equipment. In new buildings, this equipment is installed on-site while the building is under construction. In older buildings, these craftsmen may replace an earlier installation with the latest available elevator equipment. Once the equipment is in service, elevator mechanics perform regular maintenance and repair work.

To install and repair modern elevators, most of which are electrically controlled, elevator constructors must have a working knowledge of electricity, electronics, and hydraulics. They must also be able to repair electric motors, as well as control and signal systems. Because of the variety of their work, they use many different handtools, power tools, and mechanical and electrical testing meters and gages.

Robert is currently working on the nine story low-rent housing project located on 11th and Crocker Streets here in Des Moines.

Rev. Orzelyea Roberson has the best to say of her visit to the Eldora Training School!

Accepting the invitation of Superintendent Carl F. O'Neil to visit Eldora Training School, Rev. Roberson enjoyed three day stay here! She began her story with the statement that there is no way for the public to be acquainted with the intricate program in progress there without investing some time there!

Rev. Roberson met the total staff which includes social workers, psychologists, nurses, doctors, a chef and cottage

parents. She was housed in a cottage while there — cottage No. 8. The staff credits Supt. O'Neil's leadership for their success there. His leadership is inspirational and tempered with love, and is said to "bring out the best in his staff." Rev. Roberson says this spirit pervades the entire staff, in relation one to the other, and to the young boys.

The boys are taught many things: there is a farm, which they are trained to operate; they are taught horticulture. There is an enormous greenhouse to support this training. She stated that Eldora is a young City. It has its own power plant. She was exceedingly impressed with their big printing plant. She states that they have many opportunities to use their plant commercially but hold their efforts down to meeting their own needs.... Restating the enormity of the training school, she described it as a large complex — many buildings. She was impressed with the condition of the walls of the buildings — every single building was fresh and beautiful. The boys are trained to paint and to keep things up. They display fine discipline at all times and in every sense of the word.

Eldora Training School has a pilot program being carried out by a clinical psychologist, Mr. Pointer, who is there for a year to do this special research study.

They have restructured and organized the home residency. The boys have been categorized into groups according to their emotional problems as well as their backgrounds as closely and accurately as they can judge. They attempt to treat them along these lines. Rev. Roberson thought this an exceptional approach. Mr. O'Neil said that this is a pilot program and it is hoped that other agencies might be interested.

Rev. Roberson described in glowing terms the magnificent meals served at Eldora. The food is prepared by the boys. Even to the bread which they bake. It is said that the boys bake much of the bread used there. The menus were varied and well turned out by the young men.

The boys are taught journalism. Rev. Roberson found their prose exceptional and their poetry excellent. She found the calibre and professionalism of their efforts remarkable.

In summarization, she states, "I would say it certainly isn't the fault of the state of Iowa or that of the on-going program of Supt. O'Neil that any boy who goes out unprepared to make it. If a child came out unable to read or write, he would be able to be a maintenance man. They would know how to scrub and clean. For any child wanting to learn or to prepare himself, the State offers him every opportunity. They have unlimited resources at their command, if they want to do anything. They certainly see love in action. There was teamwork approach with love in action beginning with the Superintendent and spreading out to his staff.

It brought tears to her eyes that I have never seen there before to witness the involvement, the work that is going on. When you go to a place and see for yourself, then you know, she concluded.

On Monday May 7, 1973 I sat in on one of the training sessions of the Auxiliary Police Unit that is being formed at this present time. The gentleman who was conducting this session was Patrolman Noble. I interviewed Patrolman Noble on some of the activities and qualification of this group. The persons who will become members of this group will be a back-up unit for the present police force. They will assist the police officers in the performance of their duties. They will ride in one man cars, direct traffic, be used during disasters of all kinds, disturbances and any other police duties deemed necessary by the Police Administration. They will be trained by members of the staff of the Police Academy in same procedures as regular police officers. I had an opportunity to read the qualification sheet for membership in the organization. In my opinion even though it is restrictive it is not at all unfair and should produce qualified, well adjusted applicants to be selected as members. The application for the police was also a document provided me and I must confess I find it to be too lengthy and selective to really be realistic.

There is a written examination and an oral interview, at this time I do not know the composition of these documents and if they are realistic or a method to screen out certain applicants. I asked Patrolman Noble if minorities are being recruited, he replied that this was going to be done and that he hoped there would be participation on the part of the minority community. Now that I have touched on some of the pertinent facts of this group, I'd like to inject my personal thoughts into this matter. If you are concerned about the quality of The Police Department and the treatment of people within our area, then it is a must that you take this opportunity to participate in this organization. Even though you may not be a full fledged police officer you can influence the type of Law Enforcement that is used on your friends, relatives and members of your ethnic group. Active involvement in the system is the only guarantee of a fair and impartial government or police enforcement of the laws we must live under and abide by. The first step in creating an atmosphere in which all people can feel comfortable and equal is by having representation by elements in our society. Anyone can criticize and create dissention but to elevate or eliminate the problems there must be activity from within the agency you want to change. This group has at this time 14 members the full component is scheduled to have a maximum of 60 persons. It is my hope that at least 20 of these members will be from the minority community. Here is an excellent opportunity for minorities to be involved and work toward equality in Law and Order, also to work for the betterment of their particular community. If you are interested in doing something constructive rather than the usual lip service you contact Patrolman Noble at 283-4853 for further information. Remember all elements of your government are as responsive as you demand that they be by your active involvement in their activities.

Who says that Des Moines is Dull? It's not at all dull. Take last weekend for instance, take the man on top of the tower—Tv tower that is.

Of course he had a very good reason to be up there. Wouldn't you do something drastic if your children were taken away from you forever without your consent?

But then this could set a precedent for protesters. You could say you'd have to make an appointment to scale the tower, I can see it all now A.I.M., Women's Lib fighting over which one had the right to be on the top of the tower.

The Indians would have a nice time scalping women libbers and the women libbers would be thoroughly enjoying themselves stomping each others eyes out. I feel sorry for the birds who go to the top of the tower trying to get away from it all, but who knows.

Another sad thing about the whole incident is the Drake student who risked his life and scaled the tower to try and talk the man down and the police arrested him for criminal trespassing. That's like the good samaritan being arrested for trying to help his fellow man.

I can see it now: "Hey You" said the Roman Centurian to the Good Samaritan. "Who Me?"

"Yeah, You, what do you think your doing there?" "I'm trying to help my fellow man"

"Trying to help your fellow man? now how does that sound, If you want to help your fellow men go do it on your own time"

"But sir this man needs help"

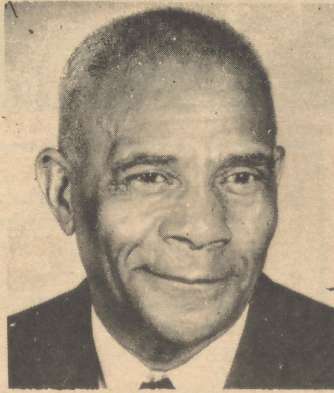

"Well your going to need help too if you don't move on, now come on"

But then of course it could only happen in Des Moines.

Well it's time again for burning - skin that is. Yes Folks it's time once again for the rash of commercials on Sun Burns and all that other bs. being forced upon us Black Folks on TV.

Don't they know that we don't need to know how to prevent sunburns (of course it's natural thing for us not to worry about it) But then if it keeps up like it's going those white folks might have to worry about something else besides sunburn, how sports

With Allen Ashby

Probably the biggest reward I get out of writing this drive each week is when people stop me and tell me that they are glad to read about somebody who played some sport back in the distant days. And then some former athlete who walks with a cane and can hardly see tells me that he wants to thank me for remembering that he wasn't always as he is now. Then people wonder how I can recall all those things. Really, I can't recall them. You see, I lived in the era I mention most, so it was part of my life, and you just don't forget things like that. I don't worry about getting stories about games today in my column because just about everybody who is interested in sports knows who won what by the time the Bystander comes out, so my story on that would merely be a repeat of other earlier stories. When I used to do stories on black athletes in the earlier days, I would sometimes hear that I had to wait and see what the daily paper said before I could write, which was as far wrong as two left feet. So I hit upon the idea of commenting on the games and players without giving game details and results, unless there was some specific thing that I thought the daily papers missed. I thought there was a good case of that last year and the year before when Tech High was in the running for the city basketball title. Now, maybe I saw it wrong, but I couldn't help but notice that just too many times in close games, when a Tech player was about to break away for a sure two points, the whistle was blown and the team got one shot, or this year, the ball out of bounds. Do that four or five times a game there was often the margin of victory for the other team. This is just my personal opinion, and I could have been wrong, but that was the way I saw it. But since I wasn't doing sports in the present, I didn't mention it. But now that is history so I can talk about it. Maybe it is just as well, because some of the Tech rooters might have become heated up if they had read this earlier, and maybe we would have started something that we wish we hadn't.

A look at sports in retrospect

I have often said that if I had spent as much time beside sports, I would have would not have been any such thing as this bit of the paper. So I wonder, does making money mean too much? I have enjoyed good health, gotten some wonderful experiences from my fling with the different games, and get to write about them, even to going back before the days of my youth which is some time ago, and it gives me a good feeling when somebody says he reads the thing. Then I get letters from people out of town whom I have forgotten and they tell me that they are glad to hear that so and so is still alive, and go on to tell me stories about the guy I have written about. Do you know, some day I think I shall do some of the stories I have heard about the old athletes and I bet some of them will get quite a kick out of them.

I really wanted to comment on the plight of Tech's Frank Miller, but that wasn't history. I can recount a lot of times when black players were held out of games here in the city while zheir age was checked and double checked. Sometimes the fellow was husky or muscular for his age, and if he was good he had to be checked out. In nearly every case the player was proved to be within the age limit, and got to play, but he had missed a few games.

about City Burns.

We haven't had a good city burn in a long time. Now, I'm not openly saying to burn Des Moines, Because it would cause too much pollution, besides it would do too few people too little favors and too many people not enough. But it would be great to have a nice genuine all-American, gigantic soul roast.

Oh well like the song says "hot fun in the summertime."

editorial

Police departments around the country are running headlong into a common problem: recruiting Blacks and other minorities. Recruiting efforts meet with distrust and some fear by minority communities and the ever present political games that little politicians play. I am particularly making reference to some little councilmen that our city is victimized by. These gentlemen who seek to be efficient and outstanding citizens are using the wrong measuring stick by which to gauge their actions.

It would be grossly unfair to point the finger at the police without pointing to City officials also. Police Chief Nichols has said that he is sincerely interested in having fair representation on the police force. Assistant Chief Fryman has said this, too. The Black community at large may doubt the sincerity of these men but let's look a little closer. Chief Nichols did recognize the need for more cooperation between the police and the Black community some time ago. This editor is very aware of the fact that many Blacks don't believe that. The record will show that Chief Nichols has never really had a free hand in doing the massive job of establishing credible programs with the Black community in Des Moines.

TO: Kenneth A. Miller, Florence Miller a/k/a Florence A. Miller

You are hereby notified that the petition of the plaintiff as amended in the above entitled cause of action is now on file in the office of the Clerk of the District Court of the State of Iowa, in and for Polk County, asking judgment against the defendants named in the caption hereto, and against the mortgaged property hereinafter described, for:

(1) The sum of $16,998.24 with interest at 7 percent from April 1, 1973, being the amount due plus interest upon the promissory note in the principal sum of $17,300.00, dated February 18, 1972, which note was made and executed by the defendants, Kenneth A. Miller and Florence Miller payable to this plaintiff, which note this plaintiff has declared due and payable forthwith because of the default of the defendants in failing to make payment of monthly sums of principal and interest due. (2) Also asking judgment for costs including statutory attorney's fees.

Tammy

Queen Tammy

The results of Davenport's New Hope Baptist Church baby contest are in and the winner is Tammy Warren, four-month-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Warren, 1633 Ripley St., Davenport.

Tammy wears the sparkling crown and white robe as the baby who raised more than $100 for the church building fund. She competed against five other youngsters.

As the youngest beauty queen ever crowned in the Quad-Cities, Tammy also received a high chair as a prize. She shed not one single tear when she heard the news. If she could talk, her parents think she'd thank all the kind folks who voted for her.

The young queen has two brothers and a sister.

The church fund drive is still on and the Rev. C.B. Westbrook, pastor of Community Church of God in Christ, East Moline, will be guest speaker and his choir will provide the music for a Sunday afternoon fund-raising program.

There are lots of great things about this new Flynn plastic gallon jug.

Actually our new plastic gallon jug is the next best thing to the cow herself for keeping Flynn Milk fresh. The re-sealable screw on cap insures complete freshness. The built-in handle makes it easy to carry and easy to pour from. The plastic is translucent so you can always see how much milk is left. Of course, we wouldn't be so excited about the container if we weren't so sure about what we put inside it. It costs no more than milk in waxed cartons. And you pay no deposit. Available now at your store. For home delivery call 243-6211.
