Vol. 79 Thursday, July 5, 1973 No. 4

Demolition of Black Sand Castles.

(NMS) — The suspension in January of federally subsidized housing programs has had its impact on low and moderate income blacks who generally depend heavily on federal subsidies for home purchasing power and affordable rent units.

But that impact has spread from the black communities; has crept its way into middle America and has resulted in a shortage of homes for even those Americans with dollar in hand. Not even builders are capable of wrangling enough money from bankers to finance housing developments or rental complexes without the federal money that was attached, if they agreed to build units that would accommodate low and moderate income families.

The Department of Housing and Urban Development has insisted that the subsidy programs have not been terminated — just suspended.

Fact is, the programs have been terminated since January and the terminology made little difference to black home buyers and renters who still wait in line with small paychecks and the American dream of a decent home.

The choice of words has made little difference to the contractors and construction workers whose jobs ended with the moratorium.

The administration has explained that the programs needed evaluating. Their fanciful projections of what might happen are overshadowed by the real and cruel facts of what has already happened to untold thousands across the U.S.

who live in sub-standard housing.

Federal housing assistance has generally meant rent supplements to developers by the federal government for tenants who did not have adequate income. It has meant public housing. It has been the instrument by which most suitable housing was built in black communities since the developer always got the fair market value of his units, never lost; and never had to undercharge because a portion of the tenant's rent was underwritten by the federal government.

New legislation pending in Congress would end the moratorium and reinstate funding for subsidy programs. Congress enacted the programs, and the responsibility for their fate, legally, still rests in Congress.

An amendment to the proposed bill authorizes the government to subsidize the interest rate, down to three (3) percent on direct loans to purchase homes.

Low interest loans have always been a means to saving and preserving structures in urban renewal areas and in Federally Assisted Code Enforcement (FACE) areas. In FACE areas alone, more than 163,000 housing units have been renovated. Supported with an additional grant from urban renewal monies, persons with low incomes were able to correct code violations and perform home improvements for themselves.

Without federal assistance, thousands of homes will eventually become tenements of decay when they are deserted for newer homes by older families. Their history from there is documented by the slum areas in every metropolitan city across the nation.

The use of federal funds for rehabilitation is not isolated. San Francisco is proof alone of the program's worth. New construction there is estimated to cost between $15,000 and $35,00 per dwelling. The average loan rehabilitation has amounted to about $4,100.

But that loan provision, like other programs that the administration wants to consolidate — under its special revenue sharing apparatus for community developments — is being starved of funds.

Senator Alan Cranston (D-Calif) supporting the proposed bill and an amendment of his own, said that the most cruel aspect of the moratorium is that it need not have happened at all.

In July 1971, he said, Congress appropriated $90 million for Title 312 loans. $40 million of that appropriation was impounded by the President. The following year, the President requested nothing for such loans, relying on the funds he impounded from the previous year. Congress appropriated $70 million the following year. The President also impounded that.

For the fiscal year beginning July 1, the President requested nothing for such loans, but intends to use $20 million from last year's congress appropriation in urban renewal areas that are scheduled to close out in the near future.

Should cities want to continue their urban redevelopment after June 30, that is their affair — and their financing.

One of the most frequent questions I get thrown at me is what is the matter with Arthur Ashe? How come he plays superb tennis for a couple of days and then goes to pieces in the final or maybe semifinal matches? Well I would guess the guy's feet has quite a bit to do with that, although I don't think he would admit it. He plays with a bone spur in his heel, and I am told that those things can be painful. So he probably goes as far as he can and then gives in to his pain. I think this because in the matches that I saw him lose he was always just about a step or a step and a half from where he could be to get a good return, and when he tries to lift the ball to compensate for this, he gets the ball over the net with nothing on it, and his opponent can reach it for a return, and maybe a winner. I don't know if you can have an operation on that thing, and if he wants it or not. I can't recall a famous athlete having an operation on his bone spurs, or if he did, they came back.

But the fellow isn't doing too badly. He has won over eighty thousand dollars this year, and I guess that would buy a few pairs of shoes even the kind he wears. While I am on it, there is another fellow who is called the best black player since Ashe came along, but he decided to play basketball for the University of Maryland. His name? Gosh, I can't think of it! But maybe I might later.

But do you know that is good to see just what we used to pull for in the thirties and forties. The joint sanction by the two tennis associations, the USLTA and Church building.

The general Missionary Society will continue to have commemorative 75th anniversary plates available to sell. Anyone interested in purchasing plates, may contact any member of a missionary circle, Mrs. E. A. Gaiters, or Mrs. Henry Wilcots.

A look at sports in retrospect the ATA. Now when you get a meet sanctioned by one it is good and recognized by the other and that is as it should be. But, now how do you determine the best black player? Should the ATA champ be called the best? And if you do that what do you do with Ashe?

There is a young black women player, Bonnie Logan, playing on the circuit this year. She hasn't won many matches, so far but she has had the luck to draw all of the tough ones in the early rounds. She usually makes it to the first round, getting by the qualifying round, and that is it. She had a good article in Tennis World Magazine a while back in which she told how hard she worked to get some instructions and then they didn't pay off. But she admitted that she had never realized how hard one had to work just to become pretty good at the game.

Looking over the boxing situation, I was astonished to see how few black fighters rank in the world lists. In the heavy weights, of course, you have the trio of Frazier, Ali, and Norton. After that comes a bunch of guys named Joe. In the light heavyweight division after Bob Foster and Eddie Jones who is number four, there are a whole bunch of fellows with strange sounding names between the fourth man and the eight spot.

Incidentally, the eight, ninth and tenth spots are held by Americans. And you have to sneeze or get a mouthful of food in order to be able to pronounce the names of the number one, two and three fighters in this class. Among the middleweights the top spots are held by guys who have Latin names and we don't rate until we come up to four with Benny Briscoe, and then come in order Emille Griffith, George Cooper, and Bill Douglas ahead of fellows from far away places.

seems to be in the welterweight class with Hedeemond Lewis as the challenger, and Clyde Gray, a black from Canada, ranking with Eddie Perkins from USA. Ernie Lopez of USA is at sixth and Jack Tillman of the country bring up the rear. We have only one guy in both the lightweight and featherweight lists, Jimmy Heair as a lightweight at five and Bobby Chacona at six in the featherweights.

Now, we never did much in the flyweight class before, but we used to have titleholders in the other ranks, and we owned the titles from the lightweight up to the heavyweight for so long that we wondered how we didn't get them forever. When a white man won one of those titles, we figured he had to be double good, and most of the time he was.

Who can forget the battles Sandy Saddler used to have with Willie Pep, with just about everything going and the referee just trying to get out of the way. But then those fellows from across the water began to come over here as hungary as the blacks used to be, and they began to take over the titles, and we had a heluva time trying to get them back. Why, one fellow had the nerve to take the heavyweight title back overseas with him. But he made a mistake by forgetting to leave the thing home when he fought Floyd Patterson again, and that was that. But the kids don't take to boxing because they can make too much money fighting other battles on the baseball, football, and basketball floors and fields. They can last longer and have a good chance of having all their marbles when they quit.

INTELLECTUAL DISASTER!

One of the most outstanding examples of Black Womanhood is leaving the Cedar Rapids area this month.

She is Mrs. Phyllis Jones of Iowa City who is currently working in the Self Help Enables Program of Cedar Rapids, under the direction of Hugh Gibson, Executive Director.

For many years she has been an inspiration to the young college set, to fight on for the benefits of higher education. For the needy she found jobs. She was an encouragement to the discouraged, strength to the oppressed and was here, there, and everywhere. A familiar figure, known, loved and respected by the black citizens of this city. You could always find her and depend on her to work hard to encourage the Community to fight on for the black hope of freedom and equality, here, there and everywhere. She became, through her labor, a symbol of black life and victory in this city.

Cedar Rapids will be hard put to replace here. One of our Elderly Citizens said, "A light will truly go out in this city when Phyllis Jones leaves."

A CALL FROM SOME AFRICAN businessmen makes for a shopping trip, as it turns out. Some years ago, through the courtesy of Mrs. Willie Glanton I viewed the wares of some African merchants. I insisted that they contact me whenever here - a source of news, I felt. Being a jewelry fiend, it turns out other wise. This year Mr. Sillah did not come but gave my name and number to his brother, who contacted me. As usual my daughter - in - law and I went to see their wares. And as usual were accompanied by Branda and her baby brother, Brian. This time it was Saku Sillah, from Kankam, Guinea, West Coast of Africa. I asked the route he takes to the States. He goes from Guinda to Monrovia, Liberia where they have a shop, named Charlied No. 9; then by air he goes to New York. He sells there and then flies to Chicago and then Des Moines. He returns by the same route. In Africa he travels to all parts of West and Cenral Africa and ships his wares to Liberia, to the shop!

FARMINGTON, Conn., June — Dr. Elbert A. Powell, an assistant professor at the University of Connecticut School of Dental Medicine, has become the first black specialist in dental public health in the country.

According to Dr. Norman F. Gerrie, executive secretary of the American Board of Public Health, Dr. Powell thus becomes one of about 95 active "diplomates" in this dental specialty area in the U.S.

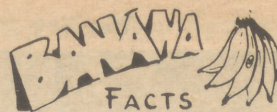

To become certified as a diplomate, each candidate must pass rigorous examinations given by the Board. Dr. Powell took his exams June 4-7 at Bethesda, Md., just outside Washington, D.C.

According to the Board, the dental specialty was formally recognized by the American Dental Assn. in 1950 and "is the science and art of preventing and controlling oral diseases and promoting oral health through organized community efforts. It is that form of dental practice which serves the community as a patient rather than the individual..."

Also the first black to join the U of C dental faculty, Dr. Powell became an assistant professor of behavioral science and community health in 1970. Prior to that he was director of the department of community dental health at the Eastman Dental Center in Rochester, N.Y.

A native of Cape Charles, Va., Dr. Powell devoted special attention to education while earning his B.S. degree at Hampton (Va.) Institute. He went on to receive his D.D.S. degree from Howard University College of Dentistry in Washington, D.C. in 1947.

Then came a year's internship in pediatric dentistry at the Murray and Leonie Guggenheim Dental Clinic in New York City and private practice of general dentistry in Brooklyn, N.Y., until 1964.

Dave Calderon Begins Apprentice

Dave Calderon began work this year as a glazier apprentice with the locally based firm of Harkin Gates, Incorporated. As a glazier apprentice, Dave will be taught how to cut, fit, and install plate glass, ordinary window glass, mirrors, and special glass items. Glaziers generally install all types of structural glass, both interior and exterior, that is set or glazed with putty, moulding, rubber, and mastic. These craftsmen also set a wide variety of automatic doors, and fabricated aluminum store front units constructed with glass that are installed in many buildings.

As an apprentice, Dave will undergo 6,000 hours (3 years) of on-the-job training, in addition to receiving a minimum of 144 hours a year of related classroom instruction. During this period he will be taught how to use and handle the tools, machines, and materials of the trade.

A fairly rapid increase in employment of construction glaziers is expected through the 1970's. This increase is anticipated because of the increasing use of glass in building construction. Also replacement and modernization work, frequently involving large glass installations, will contribute to the demand for these workers.

Currently working on a project at the Iowa Employment Security Commission office building here in Des Moines, Dave has expressed delight with his job and the duties it entails. He was directed into this field by members of the Des Moines Area Outreach Program. Information on this particular apprenticeship and other apprenticeable occupations in the state, is available through this office and through the Apprenticeship Information Center, Iowa State Employment Service.

PRACTICAL NURSE PROGRAM

An experimental high school Practical Nurse program is now being initiated in Iowa as part of career-oriented education. According to a survey, over 50 per cent of Des Moines high school graduates do not pursue additional training, adding to an already overcrowded unskilled labor force. In an attempt to correct this situation, a self-contained Practical Nurse program is being added at Des Moines Technical High School to such specialized curriculums as aviation, mechanics and computer programming.

This two year experiment, beginning in September 1973, will emphasize basic nursing principles in addition to biological, physical and behavioral science. It will allow students to continue their education in a registered nurse's program, if they wish. But more importantly, graduates will be able to complete state licensing exams. An introductory Home Nursing course will be offered to second semester 10th graders as an exploratory nursing course, but will not be a prerequisite to the Practical Nursing program.

When You Adopt a Child Part II

There are many reasons, some which are not always clear to those who want to adopt a child. But whatever the reason you will bet a very real satisfaction from taking a child into your home.

Some hope for a full and richer life. Those who cannot have children want a family. Others may wish to add to their family.

Some may feel guilty when they fail to have a child. A woman may try to adopt a child because she fears going through the normal birth process to have one of her own. Some couples foolishly believe that by adopting a child they will be able to keep their shaky marriage off the rocks. Such an expectation is both unfair and unrealistic. A child certainly cannot be expected to be or provide the solution to problems which two adults have been unable to handle.

Adoption should never take place unless the child is more than a means of meeting your needs. A child is a person. He has needs of his own. And he has rights. His future is at stake.

Give this question your most honest thinking: "Why do you want to adopt a child?" Weigh everything. How much will it cost you in time and money and effort? Think of the human side - do not make a move unless you and your partner are of the same mind and heart in the matter. A house divided rarely succeeds in providing a permanent home for a child.

WHAT KIND OF CHILD DO YOU WANT?

You will have a chance to tell the child-placing agency the first time you go there. Do not leave out anything. They will want to know all you desire in a child: your hopes, what you want to gain, what you expect. Without question, you want a child you can have a happy family life with.

It is best not to hold out for physical characteristics since they add little to building up a happy family life. But what will go a long way toward that goal are the love and affection you give the child for himself, for what he is.

Adoption is your business and the business of your child, only. Therefore, the agency probably will tell you that it will be wiser if you keep to yourself what you have learned about the child. If you want to, tell anybody who asks: "The agency would not have let us adopt him if we were not good for each other."

CAMP SUNNYSIDE

A record-breaking 468 orthopedically handicapped Iowans from 92 of the state's 99 counties are scheduled to vacation this summer at Easter Seals' Camp Sunnyside, near Des Moines.

According to Camp Director, Robert "Barney" Barnhill, the number exceeds even last year's record attendance of 434 campers.

Sunnyside, the residential camp owned and operated by the Easter Seal Society for Crippled Children and Adults of Iowa, Inc., is located on 80 wooded and rolling acres. Approved for membership in the American Camping Association, it provides one and two week sessions with programs designed for seven age groups from eight to 80.

Young Iowa adults aged 18-23 attended the opening session of Camp Sunnyside, June 10-16, followed by 8-11 year-olds June 17-29. The third session, July 1-7, is planned for campers over 45 years old. Residential camping for other age groups will continue through August 18.

Despite crutches, braces, artificial limbs; crippling cardiac, pulmonary and other problems, campers at Sunnyside can enjoy most of the same activities offered at camps for the able-bodied.

Other sessions will come to grips with such crucial issues as revenue sharing, cutbacks in federal programs, health, housing, the political system, and manpower.

Among the speakers scheduled for major addresses at the conference are Senator Edward Kennedy (D-Mass.), Secretary of Health, Education and Welfare Caspar W. Weinberger, Former General Counsel of the Treasury.

URBAN LEAGUE

The impact of revenue sharing on minorities and the poor, and the controversy surrounding the status of the nation's health, housing, education and manpower programs, will be the focus of the 1973 National Urban League Annual Conference to be held in Washington, D.C., at the Washington Hilton July 22-25.

Among the major speakers who are expected to exchange views on the New Federalism are National Urban League Executive Director Vernon E. Jordan, Jr., Governor Linwood Holton of Virginia and Samuel R. Pierce, Attorney and former General Counsel U.S. Treasury Department.

A special luncheon Monday, July 23 will hear an Administration spokesman, the Honorable Caspar W. Weinberger, Secretary of the Department of Health, Education and Welfare.

On Monday afternoon, a plenary session entitled "Special Revenue Sharing: Two Points of View," will contrast the views of Paul O'Neill, U.S. Office of Management and Budget, with those of Eddie Williams, president of the Joint Center for Political Studies, Washington, D.C.

Tuesday, July 24 will be devoted to discussions of national health, housing, education and manpower programs and problems.

SUPPLEMENTAL FOOD WILL BE DELAYED

Mrs. Velma Flisher, Greater Opportunities, Inc., Supplemental Foods Program Coordinator has announced that SUPPLEMENTAL FOOD WILL NOT BE AVAILABLE FOR DISTRIBUTION UNTIL JULY 9. Therefore, schedules for picking up the food will be set back one week.

The Supplemental Foods Program provides food for prenatal and postnatal women and children up to six years of age.

Red Cross News

The American Red Cross, Central Iowa Chapter will be conducting one multi-media first aid course per day on July 9, 10, 11, 12 and 13 from 8 a.m. to 4 p.m. at Des Moines Technical High School in the boys gym.

Completion of this course satisfies the Federal and Iowa occupational safety and health act first aid requirements.

To register for any one of the five eight hour courses, call 243-7681, Ext. 31.

NUL CONFERENCE

Samuel R. Pierce Jr., Governor Linwood Holton of Virginia; Congressman Louis Stokes (D - Ohio), and Former Assistant Secretary of the Department of Housing and Urban Development Samuel C. Jackson.

A special feature of the conference will be a panel presentation on Tuesday night, July 24, that will bring together for the first time the four black women now serving in Congress. They will be joined by women legislators from the state and local level. The panel will be questioned by a group of distinguished journalists.

SOCIAL SECURITY

Beginning July 1, Medicare can help pay for limited chiropractor's services under medical insurance, but only under certain conditions, according to Howard J. Sladek, social security district manager in Des Moines. Sladek pointed out that the chiropractor must be licensed or legally authorized to furnish chiropractic services by the State and also meet federal standards in order to qualify for payment of eligible services by Medicare. In addition, Sladek said, "we want to emphasize that coverage of chiropractor's services under Medicare is very limited. It is important for beneficiaries to know that Medicare can help pay only for manual manipulation of the spine for the purpose of correcting a subluxation which can be demonstrated by x-ray."

Consumer Expenditure Survey

July marks the start of third quarter interviewing in this area for the Federal Government's nationwide Consumer Expenditure Survey, according to Mrs. Ruth Zych, Supervisor of the survey area office in Kansas City, Mo. The sample of households participating in the survey will be interviewed for the third time sometime this month or in August or September.

The survey, which began here in January, is being conducted by the Bureau of the Census, part of the Department of Commerce's Social and Economic Statistics Administration. The Bureau is acting as data collection agent for the Department of Labor, Bureau of Labor Statistics (BLS). Results of the survey will provide data on 1973 consumer expenditures, information needed by BLS to update the Consumer Price Index.

Mrs. Zych's office is headquarters for the survey program in the metropolitan areas of Kansas City and St. Louis, Mo., and Des Moines, Ia., and in these counties: Camden and Dallas, Mo., and Greene and Boone, Ia.

A sample of about 540 households in these areas, part of the 17,000 across the Nation, will be interviewed a total of five times during the course of the survey which will be completed in March 1974.

This column of questions and answers on federal tax matters is provided by the local office of the U.S. Internal Revenue Service and is published as a public service to taxpayers. The column answers questions most frequently asked by taxpayers.

Q) Because I've taken a job, I'll have to get someone to take care of my child. For the purposes of the child care deduction, will it make any difference whether I pay a babysitter to come into my home or take my child to a day care center?

A) Yes, it will make a difference. The maximum deduction for child care services performed within your home is $400 a month. However, for child care services performed outside your household, the maximum monthly deduction is limited to $200 a month for one child, $300 for two children, or $400 for three or more children.

Q) Are child care expenses for teenagers deductible?

A) Your child may qualify for the child care deduction if he is under 15, if you are entitled to claim an exemption for him and if you meet all the other requirements for the deduction, including the income limitation. A dependent who is physically or mentally incapable of caring for himself may qualify for the disabled dependent care deduction regardless of his age.

For details, see IRS Publication 503, "Child Care and Disabled Dependent Care." Just write your Internal Revenue district office for a free copy.

Q) I own a small delicatessen. If my meat supplier charges me more than the meat price ceiling and I pay it, will I still be able to deduct the entire cost of the meat as a business expense?

A) No. If you knowingly pay a price higher than that permitted by Economic Stabilization guidelines, that excess is not deductible.

Q) I lost my refund check. Can I get a duplicate?

A) Yes. Report the loss to the Internal Revenue Service Center where you filed your return and they will supply the forms needed to apply for a replacement.

NEWS FROM JANE BOYD CENTER

Marli Boedeker, and Evelyn Jackson, two strong fighters for human rights, are making the scene, and continually pressing for better Neighborhood Development programs.

There were over five hundred people at the latest ball game. Watch out ladies the Raiders aren't going to like that, and the city can't tax free activities.

I wonder why the men are letting the women fight the City Council. I guess I shouldn't say anything because we should be glad to have chicken livered men also, but wouldn't it be nice to see a strong black man stand up for a change.

Money for parks, money for streets, money for swimming pools, for the rich, but nothing for the poor who can barely make it, and whose homes are falling down. Brother we need people projects We Need You!

One of the greatest moments in Iowa's history of special happenings among the Churches of God in Christ occurred during the arrival and brief visit of International Presiding Bishop J. O. They were welcomed at the Des Moines Municipal Airport by Bishop A. B. Carter along with several parishioners, who cheered and carried banners.

We are very grateful for the return trip of our Pastor, Bishop Carter, from Brinkley, Arkansas. He was accompanied by church members who were visiting an ill relative.

Elder Elmer Carter, the son of Bishop A. B. Carter, delivered the Sunday morning message. His subject dealt on becoming a new creature and the scripture used was II Cor. 5:17 and Isaiah 35:8.

Defendants

To the above named defendants:

You and each of you are hereby notified that the Petition of the Plaintiffs in the above entitled cause is now on file in the Office of the Clerk of the District Court of Polk County, Iowa, claiming that the Plaintiffs are the absolute and unqualified owners in fee simple of the following described property to-wit: Lot 18, Block 23 in 2d Plat of CLIFTON HEIGHTS, now in and forming a part of the City of Des Moines, Iowa and that the plaintiffs are credibly informed and believe that the defendants make or may make some claim adverse to the title of the plaintiffs in said property and that the said unknown claimants to said premises claim or may claim some interest in or to the said real estate as the plaintiffs are informed and believe, but that the plaintiffs have no knowledge or information and do not know how said interest as may be claimed by said unknown claimants was or may be derived or claimed to have been derived or the method of obtaining the same and the plaintiffs aver therein that the names and mailing addresses of the unknown persons are unknown to plaintiffs and that plaintiffs have sought diligently to learn the same and the plaintiffs in said petition set out certain circumstances which cloud the title of plaintiffs to said real estate and you are referred to said Petition for a more particular statement thereof. The Plaintiffs in said Petition state that none of the said defendants or unknown claimants have in fact any right, title or interest in or to the above described premises or any part thereof or any color of right, title or interest therein and that the plaintiffs have been in the sole, complete, open, notorious, actual and undisputed adverse possession of the said premises for more than ten years last past under claim of title and ownership thereof. The Plaintiffs in said Petition pray for the establishment of their estate and title against the adverse claims of the defendants and that each and all of them and all unknown claimants and all persons unknown having or claiming any right, title, or interest in or to said premises and all persons claiming by, through, or under them, be barred and forever estopped from ever having, asserting or claiming any right, title, or interest in or to the said premises or any part thereof adverse to the plaintiffs or the plaintiff's title therein and that the plaintiffs title to said premises be quieted, established and confirmed and that the plaintiffs have all such other and further equitable relief as to the Court may seem just.

For further particulars see petition now on file.

Memorial For Medgar Evers

June 12th marked the Tenth Anniversary of the assassination of Medgar Evers. On that day hundreds of Medgar Evers' friends and admirers gathered in Fayette to pay tribute to his memory at services conducted by Bishop Joseph Howze of Natchez-Jackson, the first black Catholic bishop in the South.

Following the services, Mayor Charles Evers and Medgar's widow, Mrs. Myrlie Evers, led a motorcade through Fayette to view the dramatic changes which have taken place there in the past four years. "These social and economic gains," said Mayor Evers, "are the living memorial to Medgar. They exemplify what he fought for and what he died for. Because of his sacrifice and the others that followed him, life in this part of Mississippi will never be the same again," he observed.

After the inspection tour, which included a number of black Southern mayors, the crowd gathered for an impressive Southern barbecue. That evening a motorcade of some 150 cars drove to Jackson to attend a memorial concert and dance at the Jackson Coliseum before an audience of seven thousand. The joyful tribute was headed by such famed Mississippi artists as blues singer B.B. King, the Staple Singers and gospel singer Rev. Cleophus Robinson. They were joined by dozens of local singing and musical groups, white and black, as well as by actor James Earl Jones and comedian Dick Gregory.

The Coliseum was remembered by many of those attending as the site of mass arrests in 1963 of Medgar and other civil rights activists who were leading demonstrations for racial justice at the time. Ten years later it had become another symbol in the movement towards reconciliation between Mississippi's black and white citizens, who shared the same dance floor and enjoyed the same music while honoring the memory of a man who had fought so hard to reach the day when such an event could be held in the State of Mississippi.

This summer's lecture topics and the dates are: "A Bird's Eye View," July 6 and 9; "The Sun," July 13 and 16; "The Stars," July 20 and 23; "The Galaxy," July 27 and 30; "Energy and Evolution of Stars," August 3 and 6, and "Depths of Space," August 10 and 13.

Auditorium as originally scheduled.

Cedar Rapids Mt. Zion Missionary Baptist Church News

Mt. Zion Missionary Baptist Church will observe the 6th Anniversary of its Pastor, Rev. Leroy White on Sunday, July 8, 1973.

Rev. F. W. Strickland of Des Moines and choir will be guest at 3:30 p.m. The Church is attempting to raise enough money to send their Pastor to visit the Holy Land.

Cedar Rapids Citizen's Comments

I'm surprised that more of the black citizens of the cities that surround Cedar Rapids have not heard what a progressive clean little city it is and come here to live.

There has been no killing, no mugging, no raping, and no shooting, no car stealing, no lynching, no burning, and looting. It's a good place if you want to live in peace and raise you a flock of kids. But to other wise men, "this place is dead."

That's what I said!

Bob Burke, A Lineman for Northwestern Bell Telephone, "I'm nobody's housenigger, I'll work for what I get and if I don't deserve it, I don't want it. Hugh Gibson, Executive Director of Self Help, "Why should the black man coming onto a job be required to have better qualifications than the white man leaving?"

Rev. L. R. White, Pastor of Mt. Zion Baptist Church, "Brother I'm willing to do anything that you're willing to help me do."

Willa Mae Brown,

Engineer Cherry Burrell, "Honey before you act a fool, let me tell you one thing, don't you know, a good man is hard to find."

CEDAR RAPIDS NEWS

As you know new ideas are being looked at to integrate the black man into the main stream of life in Iowa.

My concern is adult integration and not as some would suppose the integration of children.

In areas where we have been overlooked we are looking at critically and I will personally try to drive a wedge in every crack I see open if its to our advantage.

Race Bias will never be obliterated as long as race is the issue. Honesty and integrity to many are minor issue. Wisdom and Justice have become secondary concerns. A man exposure to academic studies, is more important to some than good sense or intelligence. The black seems to me to be America's black gold uncultivated but not forgotten.
