Little Bear Can't Get Out Of The Woods

Al Garrison, President of Little Bear Mfg. Corp., here in Des Moines, had a meeting with the State Representatives of S.B.A. and Western Electric Corp. of Nebraska.

Western Electric (Omaha works, Supplies and Develops), is said to be the largest single employer in Nebraska, requested S.B.A.'s involvement and indulgence in helping their company give aid and assistance to the continued success of the Little Bear Corp.

At the outset of the forming the Little Bear Co. a loan of $100,000 was secured via S.B.A. for the purpose erecting a manufacturing plant to engage in the making of industrial skids on a contractual basis. Western Electric is one of Little Bear's major customers. Company representative, Richard Robertson said his Company is prepared to give Little Bear ten times the amount of business they now receive from them if Little Bear can qualify to perform the work.

Garrison's argument was that S.B.A. will help Black entrepreneurs get into debt expecting them to fail. But if they are successful to the point that added help would enable them to become firmly established in a competitive market there is no help available. Little Bear did not ask for more money but they did ask for classification that would enable them to borrow from other sources in the event larger bids were secured. S.B.A. appeared to be unwilling to extend this help at the time of the meeting. But they did suggest that Garrison move his company to Omaha and they would recommend him to the S.B.A. office in that area. Little Bear failed to realize that the S.B.A. in S.B.A. means Small Business.

Martin Luther King Center Grows

Dennis Ashby, Administrator of the Martin Luther King Center for Human Development said Saturday that the Center is growing. At this time, fifteen organizations, both profit and non-profit in nature are headquartered at the Center. All of the organizations are community-oriented and provide goods or services to the people of the area. The Center is located at 1000 College Ave., and is there for you! Following is a list of the organizations; check them out, they can't do anything for you if they aren't aware of your needs and interests. Spanish-Speaking Cultural Center, everyday people, DSM Area Community College-Urgan Campus, Gateway Opportunity Center, American Indian Development Center, HOME Inc. Counseling Service, Model

Cities Citizen's Board, Emergency Food Distribution Center, Child Development Center, Model Cities Library, Catholic Social Action Center, Community Concern, Community Law Offices, Birthright & The Minority Contractors Assoc. Ashby noted that negotiations were presently taking place between the Martin Luther King Center and these organizations; Polk County Social Services, YMCA, YWCA, Boy's Club, and Addicts' Reform Committee. If an agreement is reached, these organizations will be establishing branch offices in the Center.

Visit the Martin Luther King Center. If you are one of those rare, fortunate people who don't need anything from anyone, then offer to help those who do.

Black Writers Conference

The first Midwest Black Writer's Conference will be held on the Coe College Campus October 10-13, according to Mark Johnson, editor of MWENDO, the Coe Black literary magazine, which will sponsor the conference.

The four days will include workshops, lectures, poetry reading and other entertainment.

The theme of the conference will be "Developing Black Criteria for Excellence in Literature." The purpose, according to Jackson, is to answer such questions as: What is the role of the Black critic in defining Black culture? "What images should be portrayed in film and why?"; and "Does a Black writer's job go beyond just 'writing'?"

Speaking on campus will be Hoyt Fuller, editor of "Black World" (formerly "Negro Digest") of Chicago; Darwin Turner, Ph.D., author and chairman of Afro-American Studies at the University of Iowa; and Etheridge Knight, poet, primarily known for his book "Black Voices from Prison".

On Saturday, Oct. 13, The Katharine Dunham Experimental Dance Theater will perform at 7:30 p.m. in Sinclair Auditorium. The dance troupe, from Southern Illinois University, has more than 20 dancers as well as drummers and musicians.

Also that weekend, there will be two showings of the film "Georgia, Georgia", the fictional story of a Black actress, starring the late Diana Sands.

Easter Seal Society

The Easter Seal Society for Crippled Children and Adults of Iowa, Inc. cites the life of Miss Susan Noon of Harlan, winner of the Society's National Award for Gallantry last year, in reminding the public of "National Employ the Handicapped Week." Sponsored by the President's Committee on Employment of the Handicapped, the October 7-13 observance recognizes the continuing struggle of the handicapped to secure employment.

Miss Noon was born with cerebral palsy and severe involvement of her arms and legs. Despite this handicap, she was graduated from Elk Horn High School in 1959 and today is a full-time secretary at Harlan's Myrtle Memorial Hospital and an independent taxpayer. Long an Easter Seal volunteer, Miss Noon was recognized last fall for "outstanding courage in overcoming severe disabilities and building a successful life."

The National Easter Seal Society provided vocational counseling, evaluation and testing to 6,374 handicapped persons in 1972, an increase of 854 people over the previous year. It also trained 3,337 people for jobs, nearly 300 more than in 1971. Vocational services were offered in 75 Easter Seal rehabilitation and treatment centers around the country as part of an overall increase in Easter Seal vocational services nationwide to equip the handicapped with marketable job skills.

In Iowa, Homebound Training at Camp Sunnside, co-administered by Easter Seals and Rehabilitation Education and Services Branch of Iowa Department of Public Instruction, provides instruction in craft skills for Iowans too severely disabled to seek employment outside their homes. Articles produced by these homebound men and women are marketed for them through a related program, Easter Seals Iowa Elks Homebound Handcraft Sales.

Calamity Howles

A few speakers have been making the statement that the Civil Rights movement has slowed down. With this, I don't agree.

But if they are talking about violent protests, marches and sit-ins then I do agree.

More than once, I have tried to compare the Civil Rights movement with a battle wherein the commander is ordered to take a certain position. This order includes solidifying the position looking for a possible counter-attack by the enemy.

There will always be those who do not subscribe to equality and do what they can to maintain the old status quo.

Negroes are continuing to avail themselves of better education in the colleges, universities and trade schools, preparing themselves to take advantage of new opportunities that are opening every day.

The Civil Rights movement is still doing a good job in the courts, at the ballot box and in legislative halls knocking down barriers, which over the years, have prevented them from taking advantage of the great industries and institutions in this country.

In many states, including Iowa, such matters as enjoyment of equal accommodations, employment of teachers, job opportunities in and public and private institutions, voting, housing accommodations have been pretty well conquered. There will always be isolated cases to contend with which must be challenged by the local Civil Rights committees and the federal Civil Rights laws of 1964.

The Civil Rights program has not slowed down. The job is being done and in an intelligent and lasting manner.

The senate approved the weapons bill Monday by a vote of 91 to 7. Both Iowa Senators are included in the seven which makes them pretty well out of step with what Congress and the administration are trying to do to maintain our military position.

Open Letter

EDITOR: The 1973 PUSH Expo was held in the Chicago International Amphitheatre from Sept. 19 - 23rd and the theme this year was Save the Black Colleges.

The saving of the Black colleges is of paramount importance. Research has shown that many of the nations Black Colleges are presently in jeopardy because of inadequate financial assistance or that they are no longer considered viable institutions.

I am of the opinion that money with fewer strings of influence attached would at least aid in the resurrection of viability. Money is the life fluid of all institutions in the nation but all the PUSH Expo's that have been held to this date or even those to come can not muster enough to keep the many Black Colleges in America fed. I am not suggesting that this was intended but the thought caused sincere concern about the annual Expo's and its effectiveness as being an instrument for amassing funds that could be a source of aid not only to colleges but to other areas of importance.

The expo as it is now being presented appear to be losing the mass interest of the people. This is to say the novelty is wearing off. But since that is the case it is time to take another step. There should be a more realistic approach taken in Expo's efforts to help Black

Businesses and related persons.

I suggest that a permanent merchandising mart could be established. This mart would house those firms engaged in merchandising or offering services on a wholesale and contractual basis. The acquisition of contracts to produce on a mass scale whether it be goods or services would cause these firms to hire more people and their good fortune would be the good fortune of many.

The rent paid by the firms would maintain Staff, Bldg. and promotions. Each firm would be accessed an agreed standard percentage of each contract dollar that would be directed to a central account to be used for creating new forms of economic involvement on an international level. Also institutions such as Black Colleges and others involved in Black economic growth in America could submit proposals for financial aid as they do now to the central Government; "with little success."

BIBBS

Shindana Toys

Shindana Toys, manufacturer of the world's most complete line of black dolls, was founded in 1968 as a part of Operation Bootstrap, Inc., a self-help business organization founded in the ashes of the 1965 Watts riots in South Central Los Angeles.

Operation Bootstrap was — and is — an effort to establish business enterprises in the ghetto whose profits would serve that community. Shindana has been its most successful project.

As with all Operation Bootstrap divisions, Shindana was founded without government subsidy. Initial working capital and technical help were provided, with no strings attached, by Mattel, Inc., as an expression of that company's commitment to discharging its social

Veterans Administration

Questions and Answers

Q. - Can the Veterans Administration restore a veteran's GI home loan entitlement?

A- Yes, provided the veteran was required to dispose of the property for compelling reasons such as destruction by fire, condemnation proceedings, etc. However, before entitlement can be restored, the loan must have been repaid in full, and the VA released from liability for the loan.

Q. I was just discharged from military service, and would like to become a physician's assistant. Which Veterans Administration hospitals may I apply to for this training?

A- Apply to the college or university of your choice for the training, and contact the nearest VA office if you want to train under the GI Bill. VA hospitals provide clinical training to students enrolled in physician's assistant programs of colleges and universities.

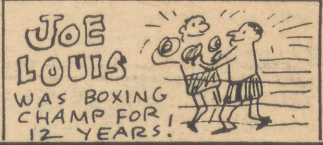

Q - I've been having trouble lately with a stomach condition developed during military service. I have been out of service three years and wonder if I can still apply for disability compensation from the Veterans Administration?

A - Yes. There is no deadline for filing a claim for a service-connected disability.

Q- How many Vietnam-era veterans employed by the Veterans Administration are women?

A- A recent count revealed more than 1,200; almost 7 per cent of the Vietnam-era veterans working for the VA, were women.

A.M.E. CHURCH NEWS

The final session of the 102nd session Illinois Annual Conference of the African Methodist Episcopal Church was held in the auditorium of the Fine Arts Building of St. Ambrose College on Friday evening September 28, 1973. The highlight of the closing session each year wherever the Conference is held in the world is the suspense-filled reading of the appointments of the itinerancy by the presiding bishop.

Each year the five conferences (Canadian, Michigan, Indiana, Chicago and Illinois which includes southwestern Illinois and Iowa) of the 4th Episcopal District make a resolution on the State of the nation. The Illinois Conference went on record.

Presiding Elder Ulysses S. Robinson of the Chicago Conference gave an inspiring and enlightening message on the biblical "Watergate". We were entertained by the singing of the male choir of ministers of the Conference and a solo "I'd Rather Have Jesus" which was rendered by Maggie R. Johnson the minister's wife (Rev. D. Eugene Johnson) of Keokuk, Iowa.

The last of the Conference we were honored by a visit from the Mayor of Davenport, Mrs. Kathy Kirschbaum, who took time out of her busy schedule to make a personal appearance. The response which followed her message was given by the Conference President, Mrs. Isabelle Patrick. Bishop R. Thomas Primm is presiding during all sessions. Reporter Cecile Cooper

HELP FOR BLACK BUSINESSSES

SOUTH BEND, Ind. - Association of North America and the University of Notre Dame have announced the formation of a minority enterprise small business investment company (MESBIC) to help bring blacks, women and others fully into the free enterprise system.

Announcement of MVC, Inc., with an initial capitalization of $150,000 was made by Dr. O. C. Carmichael, Jr., chairman of the board of Associates, and Rev. Theodore M. Hesburgh, C.S.C., president of the university.

Father Hesburgh called formation of MVC Inc., "a significant step toward the full equalization of opportunity for all citizens of this area by making available resources to bring those hampered by social or economic disadvantages not of their own making into the business entrepreneurial system."

Scholarship Program

Names of about 1,400 Semifinalists in the tenth National Achievement Scholarship Program for Outstanding Negro Students were announced today by the National Merit Scholarship Corporation. NMSC administers the annual Achievement Scholarship competition for black students, as well as the National Merit Scholarship Program which is open to all high school juniors who are U.S. citizens. In the nine annual Achievement Scholarship competitions completed, 2,800 black students have won awards valued at $8.3 million.

"One of our goals is to help colleges locate talented black students," says L.C. McMillan, NMSC Vice-President for the Achievement Program. "The recognition and identification of able black youth is an important element in the quality and quantity of black students now receiving the attention of colleges, universities, and organizations that offer scholarships and other financial aid. Secondary schools that enroll these students find themselves on the regular itinerary of admissions and recruitment officers for many institutions."

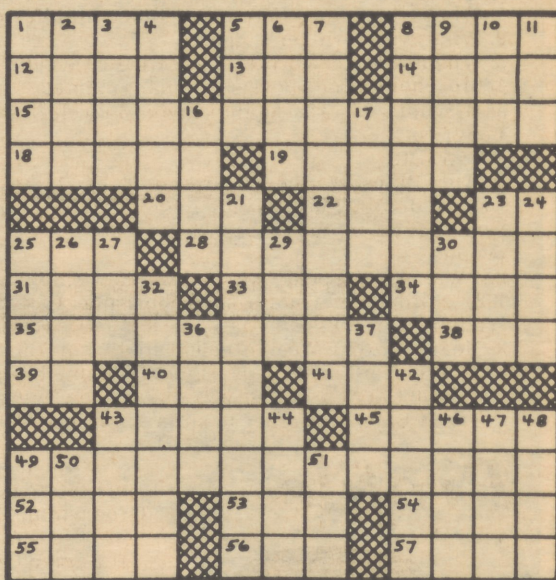

Some 350 of the students named today will win Achievement Scholarships in the spring. At least 225 of the awards to be made in 1974 will be National Achievement $1000 Scholarships that will provide a single payment of $1,000 to the winner next fall, after he enrolls in a regionally accredited U.S. college. About 125 Achievement Scholarships will be four-year renewable awards in 1974, ranging in value from $100 per year to $1,500 per year ($400 to $6,000 for the four college years).

To continue in the competition, Achievement Semifinalists must qualify as Finalists by receiving the endorsement of their schools, submitting information about their academic and extracurricular attainments, and meeting other standard requirements. Over 900

Profile-

BLACK AMERICA 1973

"Facts" have a way of misleading optimists and pessimists alike. For example, it is 1973 and there are more than 2,600 Black elected officials in the U.S. Optimists call that progress, pessimists say it ain't nothing. Given the full facts, both attitudes are correct because the 2,600 officials, while they do indicate progress, comprise less than 1 percent of the total. The Black population of this country is said to be 22 percent of the total; so we are not really represented at all.

If we look at our employment situation, one side of the story again looks good. One-third of all Black employees have white-collar jobs. Sounds like progress? The whole truth paints a slightly different picture, for while one-third of us may be making it in a manner of speaking, our unemployment rate is twice that of whites. Quality or quantity, which do you prefer?

Education statistics paint a misleading picture, too. It is wonderful that 65 percent of all Blacks in their twenties are high-school graduates. But 63 percent of those presently in school are still attending institutions that provide an inadequate education. To graduate is one thing, to be properly educated is quite another.

Perhaps the most misunderstood statistic regarding Black people is that of income. A few months ago a statement was issued claiming that Black people had reached a point economically where they could be called "middle-income" earners. A rash of editorial cartoons began to appear in the Black press depicting a Black family living in a rat and cockroach environment. One of the family members is saying, "Isn't it wonderful? They say we're middle-class." The irony of the cartoon is not misleading, but the statement of "middle-classness" definitely is. When the whole truth is told, 30 percent of all Black families are earning more than $10,000 per year, but 33 percent of the families are living below the poverty line. Where the remaining 37 percent are can hardly be called middle-class. The importance of this kind of fact-twisting is not so much that it is dishonest but that it is misleading. People with a tendency towards complete relaxation of effort may be lulled into a sense of false security by half-truths. Beware the soothsayer.

Minority Filmstrips

Chicago, Sept. 25 - Filmstrips designed to teach Chicago minority businessmen how to succeed have proved so effective that they'll soon be used nationally.

Continental Bank, which invested $25,000 in the public-service venture, said today the training materials will be used by economic development organizations, other banks, and governmental agencies throughout the country.

The announcement was made at the 73rd annual convention of the National Business League held at the Hyatt Regency O'Hare hotel. The group is primarily composed of black businessmen.

Continental announced in May it had developed the filmstrips to help inexperienced minority businessmen attack one of their most pressing problems - management of their operations and finance - and would make them available to Chicago-area groups.

"However, the word has gotten around and interest in them has been expressed by various groups around the country," said Fred W. Shewell, vice president in charge of the bank's lending to small, medium-sized, and minority businesses.

There are lots of great things about this new Flynn plastic gallon jug.

Actually our new plastic gallon jug is the next best thing to the cow herself for keeping Flynn Milk fresh. The re-sealable screw on cap insures complete freshness. The built-in handle makes it easy to carry and easy to pour from. The plastic is translucent so you can always see how much milk is left. Of course, we wouldn't be so excited about the container if we weren't so sure about what we put inside it. It costs no more than milk in waxed cartons. And you pay no deposit. LINES by marri johnson

The Third World Arts Council will hold its second annual Third World Art Expo, formerly called the Black Art Expo, Sunday, February 3, 1974, at the YWCA.

All interested artists, poets, dancers, performers should contact Pat Miller at the YWCA, 244-8961, before noon on Monday through Friday.

I certainly encourage participation. I have a beautiful pair of handmade, silver earrings from last year's Expo — made by Mr. Connors. I hope to shop next year, also. It is fun to collect mementos from such affairs.

One of the most interesting personalities I have met since starting school at DMACC is Mrs. Peggy Gaines (Mrs. LaFoy Gaines).

Peggy was born in Marcelline, Mo., February 23, 1941 and completed North High School in 1959. She was married to LaFoy Gaines in 1960.

Her work career is interesting and shows planning. Her first job was that of elevator operator at Younkers, which lasted three years. This she describes as great fun. It seems that everyone works for Younkers at some time in their lives. The elevator crew was made up of four of her friends. This in itself afforded the most fun. She wearied of the job, as she came to contemplate its future. She left Younkers and took pre-clerical training at Woodland Opportunity Center. When she returned to work it was at Greater Opportunities as reporting clerk. She remained on this assignment for about six months, when she was promoted as a youth counselor on the Neighborhood Youths Corps. She spent 3½ years on this position. She then stayed home for the birth of a son. She came to the Urban Center in November of '71. She is an instructor in Adult Education at the Urban Center. It was here that her college training began. She is specializing in sociology. She will major in philosophical history.

Peggy and LaFoy have five children: they are Cynthia 13, Julia 12, Kelly 10, Lena 4 and LaFoy, Jr. 2.

Daughters of Des Moines Club

The members of the Daughters of Des Moines Club entertained their husbands and about 10 friends at their Annual Autumn Semi Formal Party, on Sept. 29, 1973 at the "Hiatt House" on Fleur Drive.

Out of town guest were Mr. and Mrs. Herman Wallace, Jr. of Kansas City who were here visiting their parents, Mr. and Mrs. H.P. Wallace, Sr.

The ladies were dressed in princess style formals half in Champaign pink and others in mint green, the Clubs colors.

The tables were assembled in pink and green.

The evening was made enjoyable to the music of the "Children of Music" a local band featuring Ronnie Langford, Pat Singleton, and Jimmie Watkins.

The next business meeting for the D.D.M. Club members will be held October 22, 1973, of Mrs. Walter Thompson.

Cooking & Sewing Classes-Bird School

Who says that grade school youngsters can't take care of themselves? Students in the Bird area, soon to be the new Lillian Edmunds school, are learning how to sew their own clothes and cook their own meals.

Every Monday, Tuesday, and Wednesday after school, you'll find either a cooking or sewing class at Bird School jammed with anxious students making everything from baggies to pizza.

These classes started September 24th and are a part of the total program geared in community education. The new community school, Lillian Edmunds, is hoped to provide a wide range of recreational and educational programs for the surrounding community.

The sewing and cooking classes are being run by Teacher Corps Interns, Pearl Lowery and Diane Kaiser. Two parent volunteers, Mrs. Janice Riddley and Mrs. Mary Powell are heading two sessions of cooking. A cooking unit was donated by Marilyn Martinez of the Dairy Council. Yard goods and cook books were donated by parent volunteer, Mrs. Lena Smith. Also, the building principal, Don Brubaker, has been instrumental in seeing that the program got off to a good start.

In all, 160 students from the Bird area will participate in the six sessions scheduled from September 24th until December 19th. There will be afterschool activities sometime in October at Grant.

sports retrospect

by Allen Ashby

I guess the biggest fuss to come along in recent years is the twelve man deal down in Arkansas. Of course, I have always argued that if a close game is decided by one last break like that, it could have been put away long before that happened, and it then would not have affected the outcome. But, I can't see for the life of me how or why all of the officials working a game today couldn't have detected that before the play got off. In the old days one official certainly would have told one team or the other if they had too many men on the field, or even on the line of scrimmage. So, how could four or five guys miss it. Iowa State might not have won the game or even tied it, but they certainly have a good cause to gripe if it will do any good. I didn't hear the Arkansas coach saying he wouldn't accept the win. And yet, Iowa State didn't look too bad, and may cause some ripples in the Big Eight race, especially since people have found out that Nebraska is human.

Iowa U scored in Penn State, and that is something, because the Nittany Lions don't pile up many scores, but they don't give up many either. Maybe this week it will be Butch Caldwell at quarterback where one of my pool hall coaches says he should be. I wonder how he would handle a real team if he had one. But I still say that these tough early games are going to make the Hawks a better team if they can keep everybody healthy. But with the rest of the so called weaker teams getting stronger, it will be a merry battle to finish up behind Michigan or Ohio State.

Drake got down to where they could look good, and I guess they did. Playing La Mar was like Iowa State playing that team last week; it was a good chance to give the team a workout and see just who is really who. Maybe the Bulldogs have gotten back on the right path and will be tough from now on.

High Schools

The arguments are raging all along the high school front as I write this. Everybody blames what ever happened to them on the miserable weather Friday night. And East had an official's mistake to fuss about. It seems as if the official thought an East player was offside when he really wasn't, and this cost East what would have been a game winning score. But, that aside, the Scarlet claims that on a dry field they would have won in regulation time, and Dowling supporters say that on a dry field, they would have eaten East alive. We will never know now. Will we? North had the same argument against Lincoln. On a dry field, says the guy from North, the Polar Bears would have swamped the Railsplitters. And as it was, it required some timely calls on pass interference for the south side fellows to get home free. Nobody accused the officials of cheating but had it not rained, North is sure they would have piled up so many scores that the Lincoln fellows would have been wondering why they ever scheduled those guys. But Tech put up a better game against Roosevelt than most of the pool hall coaches thought, and maybe they were helped by the wet field. But they don't care. The Engineers are determined to upset one of the other schools before the season's end.

Hank Didn't Make It

I had said earlier in the baseball season that Hank Arron would be just short of the home run mark, but they came close enough to make me wonder if I wouldn't be wrong. Stay healthy until April 74, Hank.

Black Schools

Grambling rolled along, swamping Prairie View 37 to 12. The rest of the schools come along behind as follows: Central, (Ohio) 20 Arkansas AM&N 18. Albany State 23, Tuskegee 15. Bluefield State 29, West Va. State 19. Elizabeth City 3, Hampton Inst. 3. Fisk 30, Savannah State 0. Howard 41, Virginia State 20. J.C. Smith 15, No. Carolina State 11. Partial Report from Mary Coates, and daughter Rosemary, and Gayness Brown. From Rome, to Africa, From Jerusalem to Greece.

When you speak with Mary Coates, you can still see the thrill of the trip in her face. Her eyes all aglow, her voice seems to drift back across the spacious seas and we once again grasp the beauty of a most unforgettable experience.

Rome she says, you know was built on seven hills, and we arrived on one of the Roman Holidays August 14th, and 15th, Celebrated in memory of the ascension of Mary. There were many celebrations on those days inasmuch as the Muslim Organization celebrates its Christmas on August 15th, and Mussolini the Dictator or prime minister of Italy lived in Rome.

We saw the Colloseum, The Arena, Called an ideal place of entertainment which seats over 15,000 people. Here slaves were taught to fight and kill one another. A somber, and staunch reminder of The results of mans inhumanity to man.

It was under condition such as those that Christianity was born. At that time Christianity was prohibited by State Law, under penalty of death without mercy. Christians loyal to Christ therefore resorted to secret meetings in underground passageways. (or sewers as we call them today.) You cannot imagine the inhuman horror that the early Church suffered, to perpetuate the cause of Christ. St. Peters square is typical of such a place, where the early Christians worshipped under ground, and were discovered, surrounded, and killed. Then buried in the tunnel. We saw the common prison, and the chains of St. Peter. It is said that the body of St. Peter is buried in a tomb underneath the Church. Peter, and Paul were both killed by the anti-Christian in Rome.

The visit to Rome is a great spiritual awakening that one will never forget. The Statue of Moses, The Catacombs, which were the hiding places for the Christians, and the Vatican, a unique Roman Spiritual Center, of the Roman Catholic Religion, is also there.

After we left Rome, we heard of the invasion of the fleas, The fleas were so many and so bad that they forced even the snakes out of their holes. We wondered if God hadn't remembered the wickedness of this sinful city, and was still avenging the death and suffering of his saints. Because we do know that the Lord will surely visit for sin, and we thanked God for this experience and for his mercy, and kindness to us. (to be cont.)

'Alarming' Cancer Rise In Blacks

An "alarming" increase in cancer deaths has occurred in the black population over a 17-year period, scientists at Howard University said.

The mortality rate per 100,000 people increased 20 per cent for blacks but remained unchanged for whites, said Dr. Ulrich K. Henschke in a telephone interview from Washington, D.C.

In males alone, the rate rose 50 per cent for blacks and 16 per cent for whites.

In females, the cancer mortality declined three per cent for blacks and nine per cent for whites.

A study period covered 1950 to 1967, but Henschke said recent figures show the trend is continuing.

Before 1950, the cancer mortality rate for blacks was two per cent lower than for whites. But in 1967 it had become 18 per cent higher.

B. B. King Receives Degree

B.B. King will receive an honorary doctorate of humanities degree from Mississippi's Tougaloo College on Sunday, September 30, during the famed 104-year-old Black college's annual Founder's Day observance, thus making him the first blues musician ever to receive an honorary doctorate for his contribution to the world of music.

The degree will be conferred upon the ABC Dunhill recording artist by Tougaloo College's president, Dr. George A. Owens, a native Mississippian and the first alumnus to head the college.

In observing the one of B.B. King's top selling recordings, "Indianola Mississippi Seeds", which pays tribute to his birthplace, won a 1971 Grammy Award for best album cover, Dr. Owens pointed out that B.B. King joins other well known Mississippians that Tougaloo has honored with doctorates.

Asked to comment, a spokesman for the American Cancer society said it is likely that the medical care received by blacks two decades ago was much poorer than at present and cancer was likely to be under-reported in death certificates.

Henschke attributes the rise mainly to environmental factors. Lung cancer for example, has risen more rapidly in blacks than whites, as has cigarette smoking.

"Increasing alcohol consumption might be connected to the rapid rise in mouth, esophageal and liver cancer," he added.

IEBN News

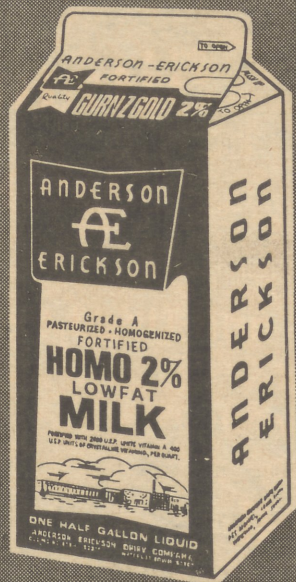

"If we have taken anything from the Dark Ages, it's our prison system!" says Mark Nelson, producer and director of IEBN's (Channel 11, Des Moines; Channel 12, Iowa City; Channel 24, Mason City; Channel 32, Waterloo) new series Behind the Walls that premieres October 3, at 8:30 p.m. The series will consist of 5 programs that will provide an overall look into the Iowa State Penitentiary at Fort Madison.

The complexity of all the aspects of prison life adds to the submergence of the basic problem — how best to help and reintegrate the inmate into society and a normal life. Nelson believes the basis for prison inadequacy is that the system is set up for punishment and not rehabilitation.

The series is built around interviews by Les Peck of the Burlington Hawk-Eye of people involved in the prison environment. "I want to show everybody's point of view — from the warden, to the tower guards, to the prisoners," says Nelson. "The people of Iowa need to be made aware of and sensitized to the problems and pitfalls of Iowa's penal institutions."

Immunization Action Month

Governor Robert D. Ray today proclaimed the month of October, 1973, as the first annual "Immunization Action Month" in the State of Iowa.

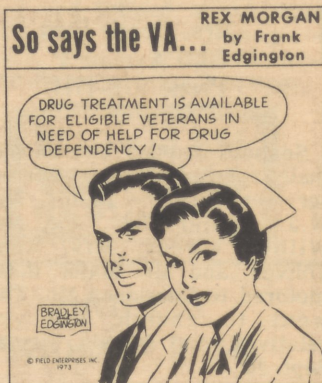

The Governor said, "It is important that every Iowa parent and physician review immunization records of their children and patients so as to assure that all Iowa children are adequately protected."

Immediately following the Governor's proclamation, Iowa Commissioner of Public Health, Norman Pawlewski, chaired a press conference of Iowa Health experts which included: Iowa State Board of Health Chairman E. E. Gamet, M.D.; Des Moines Polk County Health Department Director Julius S. Conner, M.D.; Iowa Medical Society President-elect Ralph L. Wicks,

M.D.; and, Iowa State Department of Health Director of Nursing Miss Thelma Luther, R.N., M.P.H.

Mr. Pawlewski opened the briefing by calling attention to the need for increased immunization efforts on the part of parents and physicians noting that: "Statewide surveys indicate that as many as 44,000 pre-school children in Iowa may not be adequately immunized against paralytic poliomyelitis, and since completion of the successful mass clinics held in 1970, nearly 25 percent of Iowa's children are not receiving the vaccine to prevent rubella. It should be obvious from today's events that Governor Ray and your State Health Department, as well as local physicians, nurses and health personnel, consider this a very real problem. We urgently request that parents of Iowa observe "Immunization Action Month" with positive efforts to obtain needed immunizations for all their children."
