Mayor Foley, From Dregs To Brim

MAYOR, LELIA FOLEY

How does a mother of five become the highest elected official of a small midwestern town? Lelia Foley, interviewed by Alice A. Dunnigan in the October issue of Essence magazine, describes her journey from welfare recipient to city hall in five concise words, "Black women can do it!" And, she's living proof that whatever you set your mind to you can accomplish, if you try.

Ms. Foley was elected Mayor of Taft, Oklahoma in April 1973 and became the first Black female in the nation to hold such a unique position. Because of her noteworthy accomplishment, she received special recognition at the Second Annual Convention of the National Black Women's Political Leadership Caucus.

In an exclusive interview with Essence, Mayor Foley offered no apologies for mistakes she made early in life, or for becoming the mother of five children born out of wedlock. She admits that she was young and inexperienced when she finished high school, and concludes, "I was just 'used'."

Because she had no means of supporting the children when they were small, she found it necessary to go on welfare; but was always unhappy receiving public assistance because "unemployment is not her thing." She admits that she likes nice things and was resentful of continuous harassment by social workers who constantly questioned her regarding everything she bought; however she found it necessary to endure this embarrassment for six and a half years.

When she finally found employment, she worked as a teacher's aide, then as assistant staff director of Taft's Office of Economic Opportunity Community action center. In 1970 she was promoted to director of the center but was laid off due to budget cuts in '72.

In 1973 she launched an unsuccessful campaign for membership in the local school board but was defeated. Hurt and disappointed, she never gave up hope. Says Mayor Foley, "I've always wanted to be a leader and do something to help my people, so I was determined to keep up the fight."

Ms. Foley launched an inspired campaign for mayor carrying on a door-to-door vote getting strategy with her five children. She recalls, "It was hell! Some people opposed me because of my past. Others because of my limited education. And still others questioned my ability to effectively address the public.

But the greatest objection was because I am a woman." In spite of slurs snubs and humiliating remarks, she continued and won over the male incumbent by a narrow margin of 30 votes.

The mayorship of Taft, Oklahoma, a Black community with a population of 600, is not a salaried job. It pays a token salary of $100 per year, but Ms. Foley devotes fulltime to the position. "I go to the office every morning and spend at least eight hours each day, just as though I was receiving an adequate salary. I pledged my full time for at least two years, and I intend to keep that promise," says Mayor Foley. One of her first projects is cleaning up the city and she hopes to do this with a small grant received as part of the federal government's revenue sharing plan. In Taft's years of existence, this is the first time the town has ever received any federal funds. Her next project is to bring some type of industry into the city to provide employment for its citizens.

Mayor Foley would not divulge any details about long-range political plans to Essence; she is not even sure she will run again, but, we get the idea she has her eye on higher ground — perhaps a seat in the state legislature. And, to build a firm foundation for this lofty goal, she has expressed a desire to return to school for additional study in political science and government administration.

Help For Black Businesses

Carmichael said that "individuals who organize, finance and operate business enterprises are at the very heart of this system" and called upon the entire community to join MVC, Inc., in the effort "to bring minority group individuals in the Michiana area into the mainstream of our economy."

MVC, Inc., operates under a license and regulations of the Small Business Administration of the U.S. Department of Commerce and offers both financial and technical assistance to entrepreneurs from minority group backgrounds.

Minority groups are defined as those groups "underrepresented" in the free enterprise system and include blacks, women and individuals of Mexican and some other ethnic backgrounds. At least 50 per cent of a business must be owned and managed by such individuals to make the firm eligible for assistance.

Financial assistance through MVC, Inc., will include loans, debt securities, or capital stock investments, or a combination thereof. Carmichael said the company will encourage financial packages in which banks and other financial institutions join in providing assistance to the small business firm.

Carmichael, explained that federal guarantees of MESBIC loan packages provide a possible total financial assistance of up to $2.25 million for all minority business firms in the area.

VIEWS and REVIEWS

by James B. Morris

Responsibility Of The Press

The news media, which includes newspapers, radio and television, is a great force in the nation. The writers of the constitution recognized that when it was drafted. And because of that value they are protected not only with freedom of publication but also reporters from divulging the source of their information possibly now.

All powerful institutions often get drunk with power. Undoubtedly the press has reached that stage in its report of the Watergate affair and activities of political figures. The publication of rumors and innuendoes has created an atmosphere which will make it difficult for anyone to receive a fair trial on charges in any way related to the Watergate affair or with anyone connected with the administration.

But leaving aside the Watergate affair, it seems to me that one of the most glaring examples of unfair reporting was the charge that the bombings in Cambodia had been kept secret. Senator Hughes got sucked in on the report and made several forceful speeches condemning these bombings. It turned out that Senator Mansfield, the Majority leader in the Senate, and the late Senator Russell of Georgia who was chairman of the Armed Services Committee at the time, and several other Senators were briefed on the bombings and approved it. The public was given the correct information in fine print while the original charge glared in large newspaper headings and glaring condemnation by radio, and television announcers.

The news media must remember that with the great privilege they enjoy goes responsibility to be fair.

Downtown Urban Renewal

I had hoped that the downtown renewal program would be settled before the Fall election. Politicians, in their wild scramble to get elected, mislead the public on the many issues often twisting their minds to vote against proposals that are beneficial.

The school board lost a large bond issue election several years ago. In doing so, they discovered their mistakes and came back in another election which was successful. The downtown urban renewal proposal should be resubmitted to the public at a time distant from the present election and the managers should be more mindful to avoid some of the mistakes they made while missing the first election.

Letter From The Editor

Dear Reader:

Why does it appear that you are so complacent? Are you really satisfied with the scope of your world? Is it true that your mind is so narrow that the only events of interest to you are who preached last Sunday, who visited who, who died and when your club is due to meet?

Aren't you ever satisfied or dissatisfied enough to ask questions? Everything that happens within the universe has a direct effect on you. With reason you will become aware that everything that happens on this twenty-five thousand square miles of earth also has an effect on you. Of course, the above mentioned events are important, but is that enough? If it is enough for you, then why bother to fight for better education; why bother to want physical liberation if you aren't desirous of a mental liberation.

The Iowa Bystander has been published since 1894 and some companies pass out more hand bills than we do papers. What is your problem? It is evident that you don't understand the cliché the pen is mightier than the sword.

A newspaper can be one of your strongest tools. But it is nothing but waste if you don't support it. What other voice do you have in Iowa? What better ear to listen to the sounds of the world around you than your own?

The key that everyone is talking about when they mention communication is designed to open the mysteries of life and forestall death.

Please bear in mind that a newspaper is your voice with which to shout with joy or pain. But if you don't use your voice it will wither and when the day comes that you wish to raise it in acknowledgement of liberation or the fear of genocide no one will hear you.

There are approximately thirty-three thousand of you and I in Iowa. At least two-thirds of our number should be supporting the Bystander with requests for subscriptions, opinions, and questions.

P.S. The only generation gap is between our ears.

Sincerely,
Raymon Ray,
Managing Editor

IT

We're finding new gas supplies.

We promise to keep that quiet, efficient blue flame burning at your house. Cooking your food, heating your water, drying your clothes, heating and cooling your home.

And, that's not an idle promise. We have opened new gas supply and exploration offices. We have intensified our gas buying and exploration efforts in our traditional supply area in the southwestern United States. We are looking hard for new gas supplies in some far away places like the north slope of Alaska and the Arctic Islands. And, in 1972, we tapped a new source of supply by bringing gas in from Montana.

This intensive quest for gas costs a lot of money, but it's worth it. And, the efficiency of gas will keep its costs below that of most of the other forms of energy.

So, there's no reason why you shouldn't buy a new gas water heater, a new gas range, a new gas heating or cooling system, and continue to enjoy the benefits of gas.

FOREST AVE. COGIC CHURCH NEWS

On October the first the members of the Forest Ave. Church and several friends of Bishop Carter's attended the Musical and Birthday Celebration which was held in honor of Bishop Carter. The occasion was most enjoyable as we praised the founder of the Forest Ave. Mission Center. Also a free will offering was raised and given to aid in financing the Mission Center.

One day of appreciation service was shown toward our State Supervisor, Mother J. Broadus on October 3rd. In the appreciation service various saints throughout Iowa were able to support Mother Broadus, as she will be a representative from Iowa in the 1973 International Convocation of the Churches of God in Christ. The Convocation convenes this fall in Memphis, Tenn.

On Saturday Bishop Carter and the members of the Forest Ave. Church were invited to attend Elder H. Bassett's Pastor's Anniversary which was held at New Jerusalem COGIC Church in Cedar Rapids. Due to complications on the road the majority of us were unable to make the trip. However, we are still looking forward to being in service with Elder Bassett and his members.

Bishop Carter delivered a dynamic Sunday morning message. His subject was "The Importance of Joy" and the text was found in Phillipians 4:4.

ST. PAUL A.M.E. CHURCH

On Sunday morning, Oct. 14th, Rev. Robert G. Clay's sermon subject will be "What Manner of Man is This?" This will be Building Fund Day. The Laymen will hold their regular meeting after the morning service.

OBITUARIES

REV. WILLIAM SMITH

The city of Burlington was saddened by the death of one of our most beloved prominent sons Rev. William Smith. Born in Hickman, Kentucky, William Smith came to Burlington in his early youth with his father and mother. He went to the public schools here and excelled in all his studies. He was an outstanding athlete. Entered the Ministry at an early age. Served his country by hard work, was a Commissioned Officer in the Army. Directed a choir that made an appearance before the Queen of England.

Survivors are four sons, two daughters and three sisters, Mrs. Mary Irwin and Mrs. Helen Ray both of Burlington. Mrs. Eula Dorsey of Rock Island, Ill. A brother, Charles of Rock Island. Several nieces and a nephew. Funeral Services were held Sunday, Oct. 7th at St. Petersburg, Florida.

DR. WILLIAM SMITH

Funeral for Dr. William Smith, 62, St. Petersburg, Florida, who died Tuesday, Oct. 2, was Sunday afternoon at the McRae Funeral Home, St. Petersburg, Florida.

Dr. Smith, former pastor of Union Baptist Church, was a 1929 graduate of Burlington High School where he lettered in track, football, and basketball. He attended Drake University, graduating with distinction. He was all-conference guard on the Des Moines School grid squad.

Dr. Smith was head of the Sociology department in Florida State University, Tallahassee, for many years. He authored several books and numerous articles in his field. The educator also served as Bishop in the Southern Baptist Church.

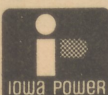

Survivors include four sons, Rev. William Smith, III, Burlington, Martin, John, and Henry Smith of St. Petersburg, Florida, two daughters Willmetta of Fort Valley, Georgia and Tereasa of Media, Pennsylvania.

Bake Sale October 20

Saturday, October 20th the Red Circle Girls are sponsoring a Bake Sale at Safeway Supermarket, East 14th & University beginning at 10:00 a.m.

Cure
common
house

For people who want a home that doesn't take on a chill at the first sign of cold weather—may we suggest electric heat. Electric heat is the modern, clean and quiet way to heat. It's also the most versatile. Many systems offer separate thermostatic controls for individual room-by-room control. Before you start your new home, talk to your architect, builder, or Iowa Power specialist. Compare the difference. Then you decide.

Social Services Report

A couple of weeks ago, Des Moines Tribune Columnist Gordon Gammack used a short item passed on by a friend. The friend had seen a woman in a Des Moines supermarket buy a large supply of food with federal food stamps, then drive away in a 1972 Thunderbird.

Many employees in our central office thought the article's obvious interference, that another welfare cheat was living high, was unfair. A department spokesman called the columnist with this concern, suggesting that there were many possible explanations of what that scene might really have been...that it didn't automatically indicate a fraudulent act.

In his next column, Mr. Gammack, fairly acknowledged the phone call and said the woman might have been a friend picking up the groceries for a disabled client, but that if there is doubt, a license number or some evidence should be given to county social services authorities.

The following morning a woman called our office, and pleasantly explained she was sure she was the woman in question. She said she was receiving assistance and very recently had been shopping with food stamps. Her car, which she said was not a late model auto, had broken down, and her ex-husband had loaned her his 1971 (not 1972) Thunderbird. She related that she had been receiving assistance for only two months, was starting a job

Monday, and hopefully would not need assistance after that.

Now, whether she was really the woman in the story, neither she nor we will ever know. But her call pointed out two things: She did not want to be a part of perpetuating a common welfare myth; and she was using an assistance program in the manner in which it was intended, i.e. as a short-term help program rather than a way of life.

Because its creation dates back to 1777, the flag of the U.S. is the fifth oldest national flag in the world.

Editor's Note

I am announcing my intentions of creating a minority reference service within the Iowa Bystander Office. The purpose is to bring about a closer relationship of our paper and the citizens of Iowa. I sincerely hope my intent meets with your approval.

The Minority Reference service will concentrate on providing information dealing with three minority peoples: Black, Chicano and American Indians. Information will relate to the state of Iowa, with future plans to broaden into national and international coverage as well. General, statistical, bibliographic and other information will be available to media people, students on all levels, federal, state, county and city employees, all school system personnel, private enterprise people and citizens with curious minds. A complete list of available services will be printed at the beginning of operation.

FRIENDS OF ED. BROADCASTING

The Board of Directors of Friends of Educational Broadcasting today took action to establish the John A. Montgomery Fund. The resolution adopted by the Board cited Mr. Montgomery for his accomplishments and leadership in the development of educational broadcasting in Iowa. It also stated that the fund will be used "...specifically in furtherance of broader public understanding of the medium of Educational Television and greater cooperation in support of its sound expansion and development in Iowa."

Any persons or organizations seeking information may direct inquiries to: Friends of Educational Broadcasting, Box 1758, Des Moines, Iowa 50306.

Contract Award

Jensen Construction Co. of Des Moines, Iowa is being awarded a $1,168,877 firm - fixed - price contract for the raising of two sections of a road to include rip rap, culverts and guard rails. Work will be performed near Madrid, Iowa, following competition in which seventeen bids were solicited and two bids were received. The Rock Island Engineer District, Rock Island, Ill. is the awarding activity.

The Jensen Construction Co. is classified as a small business by the Government. Maybe there is yet some hope for the Little Bear Manufacturing Co. of Des Moines.

Attended Workshop

Christmas Seal Volunteers from a 16 county area of South Central Iowa attended a regional workshop at the Hyatt House in Des Moines recently.

The day-long workshop discussions were held by the AMERICAN LUNG ASSOCIATION of Iowa (formerly Iowa Tuberculosis and Respiratory Disease Association) and mark the beginning preparations for that organization's annual Christmas Seal Campaign.

New activities of the organization were discussed and participants had the opportunity to attend five "How To" workshop sessions concerned with enacting new programs at the local community level.

A key item of discussion was a new mobile van which will become the "Superbreath Lungmobile." The lungmobile, a bright red mobile van outfitted with four animated characters, will present fifteen minute shows to Iowa children about the dangers of lung disease.

In the short drama, Superbreath, a character patterned in the image of superman, triumphs over such "heavies" as Nick-O-Teen, his assistant, Hack the Cough and Bad Bertha and her evil bag of tricks.

During the 15-minute presentation youngsters will be alerted to the dangers of cigarette smoking and air pollution. Serious lung diseases such as tuberculosis, emphysema and bronchitis will also be illustrated and explained by the hero, Superbreath.

News From Broadlawns Hospital

During the first two weeks of operation in the new Family Health Center at Broadlawns Polk County Hospital in Des Moines, a total of 323 patient visits were made, according to Dr. Loran F. Parker, director of family practice at Broadlawns.

"Seeing an average of more than 32 patients a day isn't bad for an opening office," Dr. Parker said, adding that there are now 886 patients on the active family practice roster.

Family practice staff members and residents moved into the recently completed building during the last two weeks of August and are now operating their health care and medical education program in the new facility.

Broadlawns administrator Charles C. Ingersoll revealed those facts and figures while announcing final plans for opening and dedication ceremonies for the model family practice clinic, set for 2 p.m. Sunday, September 23, with a public open house following from 3 to 4 p.m.

Michael's Point Of View: Communication

What Des Moines needs is a Black radio station. We need to have the news, weather, sports and public information reported by Blacks. This station will also help meet the needs of the white listening audiences. That is, whites need to hear Black opinions as well as white opinions in order to get a clear picture of what's happening. In fact, white people have enjoyed our Black stations in the past as much as we have.

Radio is that vital part necessary for true communication. Newspapers do a good job, but nothing is like the radio when it comes to keeping people informed and up to date on what's going on. Some people would rather listen to what's happening rather than read. Let's put Black radio back into our homes, our cars, on our jobs or just any place that radio can be heard.

You know that we need our own station on AM. The last time we had an FM station, people bought FM radios. The station faded out, and the people were still stuck with a lot of expensive radios. As a last resort, if we can't have our own station, we need a part of the white AM stations. Broadcasting of our programs will occur during the day time and early evening when the listening audience would be greatest. (Presently we have a talk show on late Sunday evenings when our people are too tired to listen, and are resting for work or school the next day). Surely, the white stations will want to share the cooperate with us in meeting our needs as to what's happening that is relevant to us.

Will we ever be able to hear the same Black sounds that can be heard in other major cities across the country? We're always talking about what we don't have. Now is an opportunity to do something about it.

Check Out Your Mind

by HABIBA

People with an interest in Southern politics will want to read Amazing Grace, as will people who are just plain admirers of Charles Evers, the Mayor of Fayette, Mississippi. Amazing Grace is about Charles Evers, his fantastic campaign and the people who supported him. It is of course, also about the people who did their frightened best to prevent his election. Southern politics are unique-so is Mr. Evers. He dealt with apathy, fear and hostility from Blacks as well as whites. Fayette is no longer an obscure Mississippi town. It is a focal point for the world, and Mayor Evers carries the burden of being considered a representative of all Southern Black municipal officials. His attitudes and actions are considered to be the norm; the way that he deals with his town and its problems are scrutinized and judged. He is watched most closely when he must handle a racial question; something that comes up quite often in a small Mississippi town populated by Black and white people alike.

You will enjoy Amazing Grace, you will learn from it too. There is a slow but sure migration of Blacks to the South, re-migration might be a better word. Whatever the word, the reasons are partially found in this book. Read about what's happening where it all began, and read about the man who is creating a new beginning for himself and his people.

IEBN News

The concept of aging as a process rather than as a time of life is the thesis for a one-hour special on aging, "The Elders", to be telecast on the Iowa Educational Broadcasting Network (IEBN) (Channel 11, Des Moines; Channel 12, Iowa City; Channel 24, Mason City; Channel 32, Waterloo), Sunday, October 21, at 7:00 P.M.

The special considers the process of age in the context of a society that is obsessed with what Sidney Harris calls "The virtue of youth" ... a society with an inflationary economy, accelerating technology, an inadequate medical system, and lagging political effectiveness in help for the growing group of aging Americans.

Musical Director of TV Special

MARGARET HARRIS

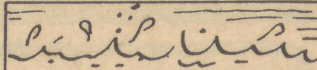

For a unique television special, a producer needs unique talent. For "The Shape of Things," the female comedy special airing Oct. 19 on CBS.

Executive Producer, George Schlatter, vowed that every important behind-the-scenes post would be held by a woman.

In Margaret Harris, the young black woman who is serving as the show's musical director, Schlatter got more "uniqueness" than he bargained for. If "unique" means "one of a kind," then take a moment to figure how many composers have: (1) played her first piano recital at the age of three; (2) performed their own Piano Concerto with the Los Angeles Philharmonic; (3) written the National Football League's television theme; and (4) served as musical director for the rock hits "Hair" and "Two Gentlemen of Verona." If, when you're through figuring how many musical figures have done all those things, you come out with any number other than one, then Margaret Harris isn't unique. Otherwise, no argument.

That extraordinary assemblage of talents all come together in Ms. Harris' assignment on "The Shape of Things."

Although only 225 miles long, the Plata River, in flood time, discharges a volume of 2 million feet a second, even more than the maximum of the Mississippi!

REV. AND MRS. ROBERT G. CLAY, daughter, Camille 9, and son, Gordon 4 are our subjects this week. They are St. Paul A.M.E. Church's new pastor and his family.

I ATTENDED SUNDAY MORNING'S SERVICES in order to meet the Pastor and enjoyed a spiritual experience: a greater gain than the interview I sought. The services moved along beautifully. The singing by the choirs, senior and junior, was superb. When the pastor had need of someone for a special task, he designated a person with such ease the move was scarcely perceptible -- it was as though planned ahead.

SUNDAY WAS SPECIAL BECAUSE IT WAS COMMUNION DAY. Rev. Clay mastered the event as though he were bringing in the sheaves, one might say. He seemed to bring us all closer together. At least this was what I felt. I felt drawn into the group. For the first time in my life I participated in the altar call. I felt that I had to and this was a thing I should do.

A MOST MOVING EVENT was when the pastor descended from the rostrum and beckoned to his young daughter and his family to come and join him. When they had done so, he told his listeners that he and his family were joining the Church, this church; that he had brought his daughter from a private school to be here at this time that she might be with the family as they became members of the church on this occasion. He also stated that he and his wife would be class members and his daughter and son class members. What tremendous leadership ability. This single move won me on their side. I am sure that this was the reaction to all in attendance. They are with us all the way.

NEXT FOLLOWED MY INTERVIEW WITH REV. CLAY: He did his undergraduate work at Crane City College, Chicago, Illinois, (Malcolm X City College); Moody Bible Institute; Roosevelt University; Chicago

State University; Jameson Bible College, Philadelphia, Pa. Here he earned D.D.

REV. CLAY SERVED A NINE YEAR STINT WITH THE ARMY. Five of these years he served as an instructor at West Point.

REV. CLAY SERVED IN GREATER ST. PAUL on the Westside of Chicago. He came here from this assignment.

OTHER THAN THAT his work has been running youth crusades in Iowa, Illinois, Indiana, Michigan, Canada, parts of Wisconsin and Minnesota. He pastored a youth church in Chicago for six years. He was assistant pastor at St. Stephens A.M.E. Church in 1969. In the Chicago City College System he served as a Project Coordinator for the community. Then he ran a $150,000.00 institute and plan the curriculum for the first fall semester of Malcolm X College. This was after doing a study at Merritt Junior College, Oakland, California, which at that time had the only Black Studies Program in America. Also included in this study was the study of Malcolm X Liberation School which at that time was situated in Durham, North Carolina.

AFTER THIS REV. CLAY SET UP THE FIRST book store in the Chicago City College System to be run by students. He now served as onbudsman at Malcolm X College and before taking a church his last job there was Director of Student Activities.

IN 1970 HE WROTE A CHAPTER in a book put out by the University of Illinois by the Center for Continuing Education on Student Personnel and Its Practices. He wrote on "What the Students Say They Want." This was published by Prentiss-Hall.

HE RUNS A MAJOR CRUSADE in Detroit annually at Ebenezer A.M.E. Methodist Church. This church is the largest in the fourth district, having a membership in excess of 5000. And he runs two other crusades annually: they are St. John's in Springfield, Illinois, and Allen Chapel, Danville, Illinois. In the making is an interdenominational crusade for the City of Fort Wayne, Indiana, to be held next Spring.

There are lots of great things about this new Flynn plastic gallon jug.

Actually our new plastic gallon jug is the next best thing to the cow herself for keeping Flynn Milk fresh. The re-sealable screw on cap insures complete freshness. The built-in handle makes it easy to carry and easy to pour from. The plastic is translucent so you can always see how much milk is left. Of course, we wouldn't be so excited about the container if we weren't so sure about what we put inside it. It costs no more than milk in waxed cartons. And you pay no deposit. sports retrospect

by Allen Ashby

It was a tough week end for Iowa's three major teams. I couldn't help but wonder what would have happened if Phil Hayman had been able to play. He might have made the difference. Arizona had a well coached and well balanced club, and one would think they should have a national rating. Caldwell had trouble getting his passes off, but he can really scramble. Maybe before he ends his college career, he will likely be a running back who will also pass. The defense didn't do too badly, but the guys have got to score some points. True, they made more points Saturday than they had made in one game all season, they had trouble first down when they really needed them. But, they still have good shots at Minnesota, Northwestern, Indiana, Michigan State. Forget Ohio State.

Iowa State lost a game they should have won. Long scoring strikes did them in in spite of the running of Mike Strachan. It is going to be hard to keep this fellow off all conference teams, no matter what the Cyclones do. And they have their hard rows ahead with Nebraska, Oklahoma, Kansas, and the rest of the big Eight teams coming along. This may be the week that Bruce decides to change quarterbacks, although the one operating now is a good scrambler, and if given time, can hit his mark. Stanley is the second black quarterback at the Cyclone school, and the other one had trouble getting his passes off, too. I still have to cling to the idea that the quarterback is little more than a ball handler and a passer. Reminds me of the old single wing days when the quarterback was a blocker, so they used to get some big fellow weighing at least two hundred or better who could run and play him at quarterback. The plays were often called by the tail back or sometimes a lineman, and the big fellow called the cadence, and knocked people down. Now the plays are sent in by the branch, and the signal caller simply follows orders. Now in the case of a few veteran quarterbacks this may not be so, but even they check with the bench in critical spots.

Now, to Drake. There isn't really much to say when you get the hell beat out of you, is there? This could be a long season for the Bulldogs.

High Schools

At the beginning of the year, I thought that possibly Valley might have a chance at Dowling, but I wasn't too sure after the Lincoln game. East really had a good shot at them because of the weather, but that game must have done the Lee Township boys in, because they didn't look like the same team against Roosevelt. True, the Rough Riders were up for this one. East didn't play like they did against the Maroons. But Roosevelt thinks they have a chance against Dowling, and if they can get that high again, they may throw a scare into the big red machine. North begins to look like they have been capable of looking all season as soon as they got their offense coordinated. From now on, look out for the Polar Bears. Tech,

Well, what can you say. They have lost some good men to other schools, and they just don't seem to have it. I thought they would have a good mark, too.

Is Football fun any more

I wonder if the kids playing the game today have as much fun as we used to when we picked up a team and just went out and played, sometimes in our underwear. Now there is so much organized coaching and playing and evaluating players from the Little League to college that kids just don't go out for fun. Now they play to get into high school, then they play to get into college, and then to get into the pros. Never because the game is fun. Maybe I am wrong, but that is the way I see it. Football isn't fun, it is business.

Black Schools Scores

Granbling finally lost one, going down to Tennessee State 19 to 13. Other scores: Central (Ohio) 33, Lane College 12. Hampton Inst. 13, Moorhouse 13. Howard 29, Delaware State 13. Morgan State 24, Maryland Shore 21. Bethune-Cookman 16. Alabama State 14. Florida A&M 21. Albany State 0. Jackson State 60, Bishop 12. So. Carolina A&T 28, No. Carolina 26. Tuskegee 48, Alabama A&M 19. Virginia Union 23, Elizabeth City 0. Langston 19, Panhandle State 14. Prairie View 17, Texas Lutheran 6.

Nutrition For The Elderly

U.S. Commissioner on Aging Arthur S. Flemming today announced the appointment of Dr. Donald M. Watkin, to direct policy for the new $100 million national Nutrition Program for the Elderly.

Dr. Watkin is on long-term detail from the Veterans Administration.

Projects funded under the nutrition program will provide low-cost hot meals at least five days a week for persons 60 years of age or older and their spouses.

Dr. Watkin, 51, will be Chief, Nutrition Programs Staff, in the Office of State and Community Programs of the Administration on Aging. The program, now getting under way, is authorized by Title VII of the Older Americans Act.

Miss Black International Beauty Pageant

New York City has been selected to host the 1974 MISS BLACK INTERNATIONAL BEAUTY PAGEANT. A different world capital city will host subsequent annual pageants.

Miss Black Jamaica International - 1973, 18 year old Terri Cooper, is presently traveling throughout the country promoting state pageants.

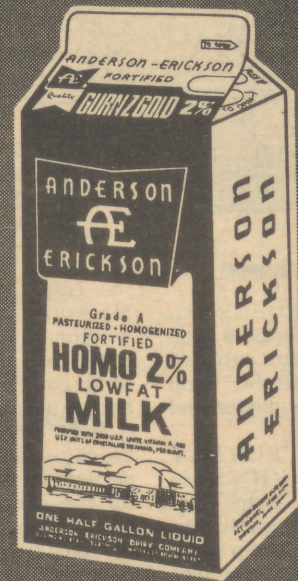

The Miss Black International concept is explained by Wyndelynn Harvey, the pageant's worldwide coordinator and veteran pageant producer, as "an international beauty contest with a proud sociological sensitivity to the color Black."

The lucky girl who wins the Miss Black International - 1974 title will need more than looks, grace and talent. She will have to possess that special glow that lights up a movie screen, because one of her many prizes is an actual movie screen test.

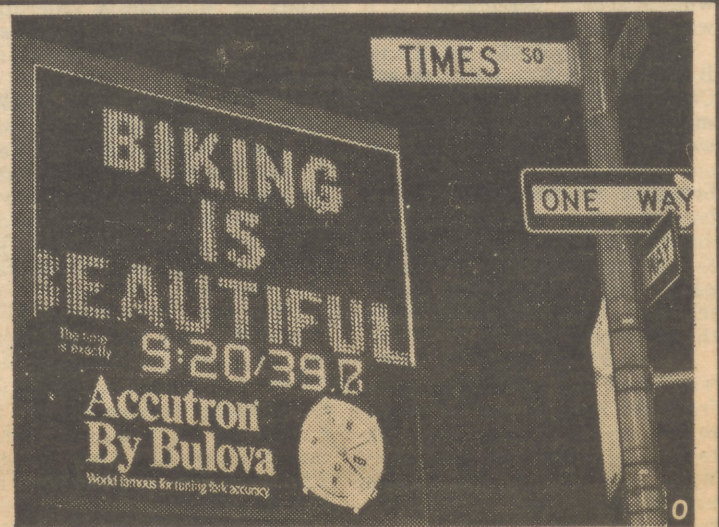

Interested producers and contestants can obtain further information by writing the Pageant Headquarters; P. O. Box 12, Jamaica, N.Y. 11434.

As the title indicates, the pageant is open to ladies of African descent (Black, African, West Indian, Afro-Canadian, Coloured English, etc.), INTERNATIONAL" will take seventeen (17) to twenty-four her place among the beauties of (24) years of age and single. the world as the most beautiful M I S S B L A C K Black Woman in the World.

"Quality You Can Taste"

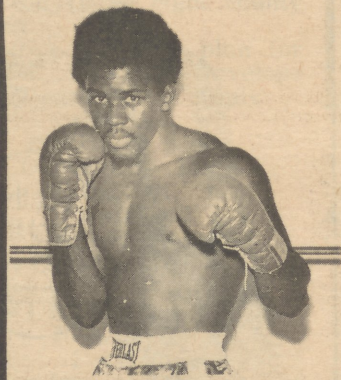

TIMES SQUARE SALUTE—The famous Bulova Watch sign in Times Square calls attention to the tremendous national interest in bicycling. This is further manifested in the recent passage of the Federal Highway Act of 1973 which allows for $120,000,000 in highway trust funds over the next three years for the development of bikeways. Biking is indeed beautiful, particularly if it is conducted in concert with the safety rules of the road, according to the Bicycle Institute of America.

The Sick: Mrs. Lucy back in the hospital. Mrs. Alice Green is a patient at St. Joseph Hospital. Mr. Samuel Bell is a patient in Iowa City Hospital.

DEVELOPMENT HEAD COUNTS OTTUMWA'S BLESSINGS

In addnes to the Rotary Club, Monday at Red Lyon Inn, Ernest A. Hayes of Mt. Pleasant, Iowa chairman of the State Commission, could give Ottumwa a more stable base for further growth. Among the many things you have to be thankful for, is the largest private employer labor in Southeastern Iowa, the John Deer Co..

He said "you are also fortunate to have very fine citizens here". He added the comment about the fine support of Labor to improve the situation in the wake of the closing of the Morrell Iowa pride meat packing plant.

Hayes referred several times to importance of the community attitudes for attracting new industry. "You have to have the entire back your efforts", he pointed out. All the people in Ottumwa that Mr. Hayes talked to during his visit here gave him a very fine feeling that Ottumwa is the best place to bring up your children.

Jackson Wins In Atlanta

Congratulations are in order for Atlanta's Vice Mayor Maynard Jackson who captured 47 percent of the Atlanta vote in an election for mayor of that southern city Tuesday, beating his nearest opponent, the incumbent, by more than a two-to-one margin. We wish him similar success in the October 16 runoff election, into which he will undoubtedly put all his efforts, since large numbers of registered voters did not bother to go to the polls for this week's election. What pleases us most about this contest is that a Black appears to have united large segments of the population in an election that has proved remarkably free of racial appeals and polarization. And this has happened in the south!

Black Newspaper Publishers On Tour Of Russia

Eight members of the National Newspaper Publishers Association departed last week for a two-week study-tour of the Soviet Union. The party will return October 7.

Heading the group are the president and vice president of the NNPA, Dr. Carlton B. Goodlett, publisher of the Sun-Reporter Newspapers of San Francisco and Howard B. Woods, publisher of the Sentinel Newspapers of St. Louis.

The Soviet Union of Journalists, with the support of Novosti Press Agency Journalists, extended the invitation to the association. The Black publishers will reciprocate with an invitation in 1974.

The party hopes to be able to visit the Africa Institute and to meet Ms. Lily Golden, who has written about Africans and Afro-Americans in the USSR. It also plans to visit Lumumba Friendship University where students from all over Africa, Latin America, Asia, and the Caribbean study. Also on the anticipated itinerary is the City of Leningrad, the famed Hermitage and Pushkin Museums.

The party will examine Soviet newspapers and participate in television appearances.

HEW News

Proposed regulations setting conditions for payments for chiropractic care, an optional service in State Medicaid programs, were announced today by James S. Dwight, Jr., Administrator of HEW's Social and Rehabilitation Service.

The proposed regulations limit chiropractors' services to be paid by Medicaid to manual manipulation of the spine. Chiropractic care would have to be given by State-licensed chiropractors who meet Medicare standards.

The proposed regulations implement Section 275 of Public Law 92-603.

Comments on the proposed regulations may be submitted within 30 days to the Administrator, Social and Rehabilitation Service, 330 C St., S.W., Washington, D.C. 20201. They may be examined at the address in Room 5224 from 8:30 a.m. to 5:00 p.m. Monday through Friday.

National Convention of L.P.N.s

The 24th Annual National Federation of Licensed Practical Nurses met in Denver amid Governor John Vanderhoof's proclamation of "L.P.N. week in Colorado September 23-29, 1973." Congresswoman Pat Schroeder gave the keynote address using the convention theme "Make it Happen." Over flow crowds attended the early bird sessions of parliamentary law procedure conducted at 7:30 a.m. by Mrs. Donald D. Funk registered Parliamentarian from Kentucky. The nurses adopted a policy statement on continuing education stating "The role of a state association includes cooperative planning for and continuing education activities in its geographic area. It requires knowledge of and wise utilization of the educational resources of the state. A resolution on child abuse was supported and noted in the congressional record." Among the greetings to the convention was one from Mr. Earl W. Rowe from Cleveland. Each year states of similar size challenge each other for membership. This year Iowa lost to Rhode Island. Tuesday's session highlighted the work of eleven constituent state associations in which fifty percent or more of their members have been active in continuing education. Iowa ranked high in this area. Among the noted points of view from speakers was Dr. Joseph R. Dolce in his speech titled "No Deposit No Return". Quote "Your differences must be resolved. You must stick together like glue. Your home must be foolproof. There must be no cracks in your roof. There must be no leaks. Your foundation must be solid. Before you leave this convention solve your problems patch up your differences, remain solid. This is the only way you can get the recognition you so rightfully deserve. Make it happen. Unquote.

From Sandra Tuel a student affiliate quote "As a L.P.N. I expect action from N.F.L.P.N. I expect a board that is up to date and willing to attack big issues affecting L.P.N.'S and Practical Nursing. I expect fearless leaders with one eye on the present and one eye on the future. N.F.L.P.N. has a right to expect support from me. A willingness to serve on committees and get the work

Hey Mr. Fireman Here I Am!

The Des Moines Fire Department and the Des Moines Jaycees have begun a new fire safety program called Operation Red Ball.

Des Moines fire stations will distribute Operation Red Ball stickers to youngsters to place on their bedroom windows. The stickers indicate that a child occupies the room. If fire breaks out, firemen can go directly to these rooms, speeding the rescue effort.

The Des Moines Jaycees and Simbro Transfer and Storage, Pleasantville, local agent for American Red Ball Transit Co., Inc., are providing the Red Ball stickers to fire stations as a community service.

"Surveys have shown that small children often hide under their beds or in closets when fire breaks out instead of evacuating the house," said Jim Hinkle, project chairman for the Jaycees. "Consequently, these children can suffocate before firemen get to them. Hopefully, with wide distribution of Red Ball stickers, this can be prevented."

Bulletins are being distributed in Des Moines elementary schools to encourage children or parents to visit their neighborhood fire stations and obtain Red Ball stickers.

done with as little strife as possible." unquote.

The grand Ballroom was packed at the Denver Hilton Hotel for the acupuncture anesthesia film. Greetings arrived from the American Nurses Association, American College of Nursing Home Administrators, Napnes, National League for Nursing and the National Black Nurses Association. Mrs. Pauline Wright of Nashville, Tennessee was elected president, Mrs. Pearl Rasin of New York first vice, Mrs. Gwen Hickey of Waterloo, Iowa second vice, the Iowa delegation met Tuesday evening and enjoyed a delicious repast at the famous "Top of the Rockies Restaurant." Attending the convention from the Des Moines area was Mrs. Shirley Sobotka State Treasurer from West Des Moines and Mrs. Clara Wade Des Moines president and delegate. Both traveled via amtrak. The 1974 NFLPN convention will be held in the famous east coast resort city Atlantic City, New Jersey.

WILKINS SEEKS BAPTISTS' AID

LOS ANGELES — "You are called to your covenant against evil, against the rulers of the darkness of this world, against spiritual wickedness in high places," declared Roy Wilkins before the National Baptist Convention. "You are called to aid man's continuing quest for freedom and peace, for equality of opportunity for all the races of mankind," he said in his address here Friday night, Sept. 7.

Leaning heavily on the moral teachings of St. Paul in the Book of Corinthians, the Executive Director of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People drew sharp parallels between the "wiles of the devil" that the Biblical apostle cried out against and the corrupt acts that many people have attributed to the present national leadership.

Americans, Mr. Wilkins said in his address on Youth Night, September 7, are in "bad trouble." He explained that, "We are sick and uneasy as a nation." To overcome these threats of disaster, he called upon the nation's Baptist ministers for continued help in the struggle for human rights.

Speaking for the NAACP he said, "We need help to fight crime amongst us, to take positive, not punitive measures to keep our youth out of crime." Statistics, he noted, show that Negroes are the greatest sufferers from crime.

The NAACP, he continued, needs the church's help in its nationwide voter registration program "and in marshaling the full power of our electorate, not only to elect qualified black men to office, but to elevate good government for the whole community."

The present 2,600 black elected officials should be doubled, he felt.

The NAACP needed help in building black economic power, he said.

But to do all this, the NAACP must have members and money. With the churchmen's help, he said, the NAACP could attain a membership of "at the very least a million" instead of the probable 450,000 the organization will have by the end of this year.

Accordingly, Mr. Wilkins urged the convention: "Go back to your home cities and towns and begin soliciting minimum memberships in the NAACP. Ministers can spread the word on memberships in their congregations. The totals by December 31, 1973, can be a cause for pride.

"Some ask why we need members in mounting numbers," he added. "One answer is that we in the NAACP want to continue this as an organization where people make things happen."

Introductory Pre-Publication Subscription Drive

For the past year, the recently formed, black owned, company of KCB, Inc., has been in the process of developing a national, monthly, general feature, pictorial type magazine, that will be geared wholly towards the black consumer interest market.

Titled "BLACK LIFE", this publication will present feature articles pertaining to such subjects as art, business, education, entertainment, fashion, food, literature, music, personalities, politics, religion, social events, sports and much more. Truly, it will be an all around magazine that can be read with interest and enjoyed by the entire family.

Because of the excessive cost involved in trying to circulate and establish a new magazine, "BLACK LIFE" will not be sold on newstands during its first year of publication. Instead, a nation-wide Introductory Pre-Publication Subscription Drive is now being conducted. The number of subscribers that we have set out to obtain for our first year of publication, is 500,000.

By working with a controlled circulation, we can afford to give you, our potential readers, a very low introductory subscription rate. Just $4.00 for 12 issues. This low rate insures that all who want to subscribe to "BLACK LIFE", can afford to do so!

If you are interested in subscribing, we ask that you please send in the form below as soon as possible, so that you will receive the first issue when it comes off the press in March, 1974.

If you are not interested at this time, please cut out this entire advertisement, because it may not be offered in this locale again.
