(BALSA) and Drake U. Agree

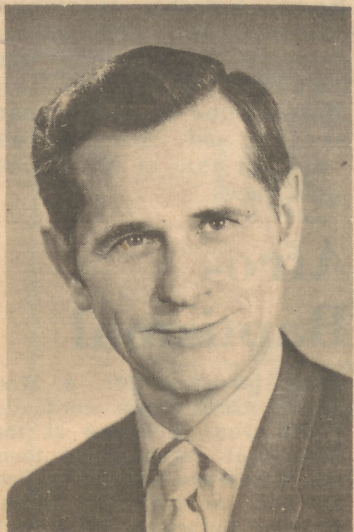

Drake University, in conjunction with the Law School, and the Drake Chapter of the Black American Law Students Association (BALSA) have agreed to develop a program to bring more minority students into the legal profession and to provide them with the means to receive the best legal education possible.

At a meeting on September 19, 1973, held in the office of Dr. Wilbur C. Miller, President of Drake University, representatives from BALSA and the Law School Administration, along with key university officials, discussed the problems of the minority law students. Assisting in the negotiations was Mr. Milton D. Lewis, Mediation Specialist with the Community Relations Service of the Department of Justice. Also participating were Mr. Al Correll, Director of the Des Moines Human Rights Commission, and Mr. Al Parrish, Advisor to BALSA. Agreements were made which defined goals and provided for certain action to be taken immediately by the Law School and the University. In subsequent meeting with Balsa and the Law School Administration, these actions were further defined in light of the specific policies adopted at the September 19th meeting.

Agreements were made in the following areas:

1. In order to bring more minority students into the Law School, the current admissions policy is being re-examined and revisions have been proposed. An effective recruitment program will be developed to accomplish these objectives. Efforts will also be made to eliminate or minimize the relocation problems faced by many minority students.

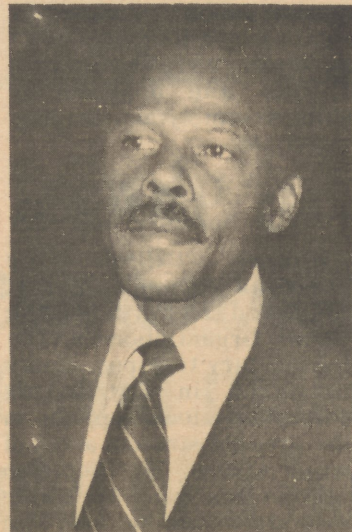

2. In light of the financial difficulties experienced by many law students, the current financial assistance program is being revised. The Law School will provide financial aid counselling for all law students in addition to that available through the University's Financial Aid Office. This will include the collection and dissemination of information of financial assistance available from sources outside of the typical university programs. The Martin Luther King, Jr., Scholarship Fund which provides scholarship assistance for black law students will be reviewed and other efforts will be made to make financial assistance for minority students available in more effective packages. Steps have been taken to resolve the financial problems of those minority students who had previously been an urgent concern of BALSA.

3. Having recognized the need for representation of students on Law School Committees, the Law School will make continuing efforts to ensure the maximum representation of minority students on these committees. The establishment of a committee specifically concerned with problems of the minority law students is presently under consideration. Curriculum additions or supplements will be developed appropriate to the needs of minority students and of future lawyers representing clients from minority background. Programs for placement of the minority student in jobs while in law school and following graduation will also be developed.

4. The minimal minority representation on the faculty and staff of the law school is a current concern of both the University and BALSA. Drake University has for some time followed an affirmative action policy in the hiring of faculty and other staff. The Law School currently has two faculty members from a Spanish-speaking background. Though there is presently no black member on the faculty, there was one last year. The Law School will work diligently to implement the goals of affirmative action in the area of employment.

Both the University and BALSA are working together to continuously improve the quality of legal education available at Drake University Law School.

Willie Mays An Example

Willie Mays has announced his retirement from baseball at the end of the present season. His appearance in a special ceremony accorded him in New York a few days ago, and as a matter of fact each time he comes to the plate, illicitly standing ovations and thunderous applause. These evidences of respect are in recognition of his long service as a top baseball player and his ability as a leader of men especially at times when the going was rough.

Mays came from down behind the tracks in Alabama with little opportunity for a formal education. But apparently he is the product of solid parents who taught him the ingredients of a man: respect for self and others, responsibility, integrity, hard work and the ability to get along with other people.

Willie's career as an athlete bears out these attributes and is an example to youngsters that respect for self and for others can go a long way to success.

Willie Mays is a fine living example of good citizenship. He never squawked or cried race prejudice when he was penalized for disobeying rules of the game, one of the attributes of a top competitor.

War In The Middle East

It is exceedingly unfortunate that war in the Middle East has erupted, far more so in view of the threats of confrontation by Russia and United States over it.

As much as I respect both sides, I would be opposed to America entering another war shortly after the close of one that almost wrecked the country.

Nations must learn somehow that give and take are essential to the peaceful settlement of disputes and until nations finally come to that level the world will continue a state of fear and disillusionment over efforts to bring peace to the world.

National News

BLACK TO HEAD NEWARK POLICE FORCE

Newark, N.J.— (NBNS)— Police Lt. Edward L. Kerr was sworn in recently as this city's police director and immediately tried to nullify the anxieties for what he called the "controversy" aroused by the appointment of a black man to head the police force of a major American city. Kerr said he could "foresee a hot summer and maybe even a hot winter" as a result of tensions created by the dispute over the construction of Kawaida Towers, a housing project supported by black nationalist poet-playwright Imamu Baraka and opposed by white Assemblyman Anthony Imperiale.

SENATE PASSES JOB TRAINING BILL

Washington— (NBNS)— By an 88-to-5 vote, the Senate last week passed a bill to revise federal job training programs and continue federal funding of community action antipoverty projects.

The bill, like President Nixon's revenue sharing program, would leave planning of manpower training projects largely to the cities and states. Sen. Jacob Javits (R-N.Y.), a principal sponsor of the bill, said the program will call for $1.8 billion for the current fiscal year, although the authorization is still indefinite. The bill now goes to the House for action.

Africa Report

Brussels— (NBNS)— The European Common Market has asked the North Atlantic Treaty Organization (NATO) for military transport planes to assist in distributing emergency food supplies in the drought stricken areas of west Africa. The Common Market has been distributing food stocks but has said that inland distribution from the coast is difficult.

Salisbury— (NBNS)— Zimbabwe liberation fighters who seized control of a Roman Catholic missionary school and left with 292 of its African students are still being searched for by white authorities in Rhodesia. Although there have been several clashes between the pursuing troops and the liberation fighters, they have not been captured.

Nairobi— (NBNS)— Major General Juvenal Habyarimana who overthrew the Rwandan government headed by Gregoire Kayibanda last week has promised ousted politicians their freedom provided they keep out of politics for the time being. In a radio broadcast Gen. Habyarimana called on Rwandians to love one another without regard to tribal and regional differences. He has also appointed a commission for peace and unity.

Former President Kayibanda is under arrest.

Dar Es Salaam— (NBNS)— Negotiations at the ministerial level between Tanzania and Uganda began last week on the amount of compensation to be paid by Uganda to 24 Tanzanians murdered in Uganda over the last two years.

Seven of those killed were students arrested in Kampala. 17 others arrested have not been seen since their arrests.

The talks are a sequel to an agreement signed at the recent O.A.U. meeting in Ethiopia.

Salisbury— (NBNS)— Low flying military helicopters from South Africa flew over Salisbury last week heading north towards the area where Rhodesian security forces are searching for African liberation fighters.

The helicopters were French built Super Frelons capable of carrying 30 men and described by a government spokesman as "normal back-up aircraft for South African police in this country." South Africa has some 5000 military personnel assisting the Rhodesian military forces.

London— (NBNS)— A Church official returning from an extended stay in Mozambique has reported a massacre in Mozambique. Portuguese troops have slaughtered men, women, and children in the tiny village of Wiriyamu. The Rev. Adrian Hastings reported that Portuguese soldiers have wiped out entire villages in Mozambique in a two year string of massacres "rivaling that of My Lai in ghastliness."

Hypertension Hits Hard At Blacks

Free blood pressure tests will be given in Greater Des Moines October 1 through November 17, co-sponsored by the Des Moines-Polk County Health Department and the Polk County Heart Association.

Hypertension (high blood pressure) is the leading cause of death among blacks, says Dr. David F. Gordon, Des Moines cardiologist. For every black who dies of Sickle Cell Anemia for example, 100 die of hypertension.

Dr. Julius S. Conner, Director of the Des Moines-Polk County Health Department, says that national studies show hypertension is three times as common among black males, as among their white counterparts, and twice as common among black females as among their white counterparts.

The test is simple, easy, and painless, performed in less than two minutes.

Royal Wilkins Speaks Out

"Integrity in government," Mr. Wilkins said, "is only one of our problems. If we try to work in civil rights we are stopped, physically or psychologically, by crime, whether it is in Boston or Biloxi. In New York City one of the candidates for public office has said that until we do something about housing, employment and schools, we cannot hope to do anything constructively corrective about crime.

"It is in this context that the work among the minorities must proceed. Black alleged criminals hold the spotlight in the violent crime picture. While this must be dealt with firmly and fairly, - and swiftly - it must be always recognized that the unemployment rate for blacks is twice to three times higher than that for the general population, with teenage black unemployment at an all-time high. Nothing excuses the coldblooded and senseless, sickening crime charged to blacks, but no purely punitive measures are consonant with the high aims of our society. It must be remembered, too, that the black population is the principal victim of black criminals."

This Sunday pay tribute to a man about to break a record, challenge an image and make history with the stroke of a bat.

MESSIAH TEMPLE CHURCH NEWS

Last Sunday's message, "Conditioning for the Race," was given by Reverend Jacob Reed. Just as a track runner sheds all the weight he can so he can run his fastest, we as Christians must rid ourselves of all the weights of sins so as to run our best for God. The way we can do this is to avoid even the appearance of evil. We must avoid the danger of contamination. That is, if we are where we shouldn't be, we will eventually sin. There is also the danger that our good acts or words will be spoken of as evil if we are not careful of how others watching are going to see it. A meek and a quiet spirit are of great price in God's sight. We may try to get away with something, but God sees all we do, whether in secret or in the open. The best way to prepare for the race is to study the Bible daily. There are signs along the way to show us how we are doing. If we condition our minds and hearts for God, we can become His true champions.

Visitors last week were Debra Thomas, Barbara Bell, Eileen Black Cloud and daughters, and Ruth Allen and sons.

Sunday school meet at 10:30 a.m. with services at 11:30 a.m. The Life of Christ is taught every Sunday at 7:00 p.m. Prayer meeting is Wednesday at 7:30 p.m. The Youth for Christ class is held on Thursday at 1001 East 17th Street at 7:00 p.m.

Veterans Admin.

Veterans Day this year will honor more than 29 million Americans, the most in the nation's history, according to Claude Gillam, Director of the Veterans Administration Regional Office at Des Moines.

Iowa's veteran population has risen to a record 369,000.

More than half of the 43.5 million men and women who served from the American Revolution through Vietnam are alive today, the VA said. The oldest in this group are the less than 2,000 veterans of the Spanish-American War with an average age of 93. Veterans of World War II represent the largest group, about 14 million. The current Vietnam-era has produced 6.6 million veterans.

Once known as Armistice Day, the event commemorated the end of World War I on Nov. 11, 1918. Following World War II, sentiment grew for the day to be a tribute to veterans of all wars. A Congressional resolution by Rep. Edwin K. Rees of Kansas was passed and signed into law in 1954.

The same year, President Eisenhower created the Veterans Day National Committee which coordinates the national ceremony and the observances within each state. "Peace With Honor" was chosen by the committee as the official Veterans Day theme and has been in use continuously since 1954.

National observance of Veterans Day was changed by Congress in 1968 to the fourth Monday in October. Many states, however, by legislation or proclamation, hold to the traditional November 11 date.

TO HANDLE BLACK ORIENTED ADVERTISING — Zebra, Inc., New York, the largest Black-owned, Black-operated agency in the country, has been named to handle Black oriented advertising for all brands of the Miller Brewing Company. Discussing advertising plans for 1974 are from left, John A. Murphy, Miller President; Bill Castleberry, President of Zebra, and Lauren S. Williams, Miller Vice President Market-Sales.

MILWAUKEE, WIS. — The Rev. Jesse L. Jackson, President of Operation PUSH, and John A. Murphy, President of the Miller Brewing Company, announced today an agreement that would have a $53.5 million financial impact on mutual goals for the expansion of economic opportunities for Blacks and non-whites.

As a significant part of the agreement, Miller will establish a management intern program with Black colleges as a further contribution toward the development of Black industrial leadership in the nation. Mr. Murphy emphasized that the Black intern program is highly relevant and in perfect concert with Operation PUSH's 1973 EXPO theme — "Save The Black Colleges".

Iowa Power

Iowa Power and Light Company announced today that due to the continuing uncertainty of additional natural gas supply, the firm will suspend construction of new gas mains and will no longer be able to offer firm gas service to new commercial and industrial customers in all of its operating area, including Metropolitan Des Moines. Service to new customers will be limited to single family residences that can be served from existing gas mains.

This column of questions and answers on federal tax matters is provided by the local office of the U.S. Internal Revenue Service and is published as a public service to taxpayers. The column answers questions most frequently asked by taxpayers.

Q. I've been awarded a scholarship to graduate school. I haven't decided yet whether I want to stay in school to get a degree or just to take some courses I'm interested in. Will it make any difference from a tax standpoint whether or not I'm a degree candidate?

A. Yes. If you are a degree candidate, there is no limitation on the amount of scholarship or fellowship grant that may be excluded from your income. On the other hand, if you are not a degree candidate, the amount you receive as a scholarship or fellowship, including the value of services and accommodations provided to you, may be excluded from your income only up to $300 times the number of months for which you receive amounts under the grant during the tax year. There is a 36 month limit under the exclusion for non-degree students.

Q. Do you have a booklet that explains what a taxpayer's rights are in case he's ever audited by the Internal Revenue Service?

A. Yes. Write your nearest IRS office for a free copy of IRS Publication 556, "Audit of Returns, Appeal Rights and Claims for Refund."

Q. I work as a waitress in a restaurant. Any tips I get I have to split with the busboy.

How much of the tips do I have to report to my boss for purposes of income and social security tax withholdings?

A. Only those tips you receive on your own behalf are counted. Thus, where employees split tips, each employee reports only his share to his employer when his monthly tip income is $20 or more.

Q. I earned over $2,500 from my summer job before I went back to school. Will this cause my parents to lose my dependency exemption?

A. No. If you are a full-time student for any part of five months of the year or under 19 at the end of the year, your parents can claim you as a dependent regardless of how much money you make. Of course, they must meet all the other dependency tests, including the furnishing of more than one-half of your total support.

The new regulations were contained in revised gas tariffs filed late yesterday with the Iowa State Commerce Commission and, according to Company officials, are designed to offer gas service to limited new residential customers located in developed subdivisions, without jeopardizing service to all of the Company's present customers.

The new restrictions are effective immediately and apply to Des Moines, all suburban Des Moines communities, and to Adel, Ankeny, Avoca, Colfax, Dallas Center, Missouri Valley and about 35 other Iowa towns served by the company from the Northern Natural Gas system. Similar restrictions were placed into effect last year in towns served by Iowa Power from Natural Gas Pipeline. Iowa Power expects the present regulations will remain in effect until the Company receives assurances from its pipeline suppliers that they are able to provide more gas during the colder days of the 1974-75 heating season, including assured reserves for the future.

Freedom To Read

Iowa librarians recently heard a controversial speech addressing the censorship issue. This issue is of course, something librarians relate to, and it is something you as a reader should be interested in too. For some people, the issue of censorship extends only to books and magazines of a pornographic nature; they fail to realize that most of the hassle behind books in school libraries has to do with political writings. Eldridge Cleaver's Soul On Ice has been the subject of many anti-freedom campaigns. Although some persons strongly objected to his statements concerning the rape of white women on an "obscenity basis", the real issue was his so-called revolutionary stance. Anti-Soul On Ice people were not afraid that a mass rape movement would develop, but they were

World Wide Travelers Club

The World Wide Travelers Club Met on Oct. 6th at the home of Mrs. Marie Kiser, 1106 School St. It was reported that Mrs. Ruth Moore, Club Chaplain, was confined to Northwest Community Hospital. A get-well card and small token was sent to cheer her.

Election of officers was held and all officers were retained for a second term. Mrs. Joan Jackson was appointed Social Chairman. A report on the Black Expo, which was held in Chicago in September was made by some of the members who attended. The next meeting will be with Mrs. Lulu Harris. Mrs. Felice Rhodes is President.

Scientific Solutions Sometimes Simple

To solve the problem of trying to get newly hatched turkeys to eat, poultry scientists put bright-colored marbles in the feed trough.

As the poult pecks at the marbles, his beak slides off into the feed. Then after about a dozen or so attempts, he finally begins to eat.

fearful of Cleaver's political eloquence and the questions he might provoke in the minds of seemingly complacent youth. Are they right? Where do you stand on the censorship issue? As you advocate the freedom of the press do you also advocate the freedom to read? "Freedom to read" means that any man, woman or child may have access to any and all printed matter that he or she may deem necessary or desirable. If you are thinking that you would draw the line at free access for children, where would you draw the line? Most people will say that the age of 18 constitutes adulthood; therefore let anyone under 18 be declared a child.

But we all know some 17 year-olds who are ready to handle anything we might allow an 18 year-old. Do we punish a teenager person for not being 18? Do we deprive him or her of a basic right for the sake of convenience? It is an important question because the freedom and privacy of mind is an important right. What value has the freedom to print if the freedom to read is not guaranteed? A whole lot of people would holler if the bible were declared censored, why should the title of a book take on such importance? One man's bible is another man's bane, where do you stand on the freedom to read?

Attended Craft Skills Classes

By Nathan Stewart

Ten Polk County residents were among the 34 physically handicapped Iowa adults who recently completed five weeks of residential training in craft skills at Easter Seals' Camp Sunnyside.

There, in a program co-administered by Easter Seals and Rehabilitation Education and Services of the Iowa Department of Public Instruction, Iowans too severely disabled to seek competitive employment are taught to produce saleable crafts in their own homes.

"Gypsy" opens at Drake

"Gypsy," the Broadway musical depicting the story of a stage mother and her drive to gain fame for her two daughters, will be presented as a scholarship benefit by Drake University's Theatre Arts and Music Departments at 8 p.m. October 18-21 in the Hall of the Performing Arts of the Fine Arts Center.

Drake's four-day run will be a full-scale performance with dancers, full orchestra, more than 100 costumes designed by Mary Mullins of the theatre arts faculty and extensive sets designed and constructed by Dr. Glorienne Engel, also of the theatre arts faculty.

Stage director is Dr. William S.E. Coleman, professor and chairman of Drake's theatre arts department and music director is Dr. Marion Hall, professor and chairman of Drake's voice department. With Lynn Wichern, choreographer for the show, they have recreated the mood of vaudevillian song and dance throughout the production.

Tickets at $5 for adults and $2.50 for students are available at the Fine Arts Center box office, telephone 271-3841. All proceeds from the production will go to a newly created scholarship fund for talented theatre arts and music students in Drake's College of Fine Arts.

Taxes Run Higher Than Food Costs

Taxes take almost twice as big a chunk out of the consumer dollar as food does.

In 1973, the average American will have to work 2 hours and 39 minutes of each 8-hour day just to pay his taxes.

But he'll only have to work 58 minutes to pay for his food and beverages.

HEW NEWS

Financed by a $250,000 grant from the Department of Health, Education, and Welfare, a program to coordinate social services agencies in Polk County is moving ahead with staffing almost completed.

Wayne E. Laufenberg, former acting director of the Iowa Office for Planning and Programming, has been named director of what is known officially as the Secretariat for the Integrated Services program of Polk County/Des Moines, Iowa. Assisting him are John Fletcher as administrative analyst, Bob Sunderbruch, community resource mobilizer, John Brandt, evaluation specialist, and Mabel Lau, planner-data processing specialist.

The Integrated Services staff will report to an executive coordinating board headed by Richard Brannan, chairman of the Polk County Board of Supervisors. Other members are William Smith, representing the governor and the state of Iowa; Mrs. Helen W. Barlow, city mayor's office; Mrs. Kate Goldman, Des Moines board of education; and Larry Matthews, United Way representative.

"Integrated Services is a new program designed to efficiently link together the many types of social services that public and private agencies are providing to meet individual or family needs," Max M. Mills, regional HEW director in Kansas City said in announcing the quarter-million dollar grant.

"This is an experiment in our four-state region (Iowa, Kansas, Missouri and Nebraska) designed to prove that all levels of government — local, county, state and federal — can cooperate in serving those citizens who need help in a better yet less costly way," Mills continued. "I am most gratified to see this project getting off the ground with whole-hearted cooperation from every level of government."

The office for Integrated Services is located in the Polk County Building, 112 Eleventh St. in Des Moines.

Right to Work essay contest

For the seventh straight year Iowans for Right to Work will sponsor an essay contest and prizes again will be shares of stock in an Iowa-related company.

In announcing the contest, open to all juniors and seniors in public and parochial high schools, Robert K. Beck, Centerville publisher who is chairman of the group, said that stock shares will be given for the fourth straight year. "Our committee feels strongly that the free enterprise system should be supported," Beck said. "And this is best exemplified in the stock market where one is free to buy or not to buy and where the profit motive is not frowned upon. Our group believes one should have that freedom of choice whether it is in the labor market or the stock market."

Entrants are asked to write an essay of not more than 300 words on the subject "Voluntary or Compulsory Unionism: What's best for Iowa?"

Prizes totaling some $600 will be awarded, including shares of stock valued at up to $50 in each of the six congressional districts; shares valued at up to $200 for the state winner, chosen from the six district winners. The teacher of the winning writer also will be awarded a prize as will the district runner-up and county winners.

Last year's winner was Steven Termont of Wahlert High School, Dubuque, who was awarded stock in Martin-Marietta. Previous winners have been awarded stock in John Deere & Company, Winnebago Industries and Maytag.

Deadline for the contest is December 10, 1973. Essays will be judged by National Right to Work committee staff.

SOME TIME AGO there appeared about three inches telling the story of Rear Admiral Samuel Lee Gravely, Jr. I phoned Chief Warrant Officer George LeBlount asking for more information and he promptly sent the following:

FROM THE POOL HALL TO COMMAND: So far as is known Samuel Lee Gravely, Jr. is the only person to run a pool hall who became a U.S. Navy admiral. But that is not why he will go down in U.S. Navy history. He is also the first black man to ever become a U.S. Navy admiral and in June became the first black man to command a U.S. Navy force at sea, Cruiser-Destroyer Flotilla 2.

Rear Adm. Samuel L. Gravely Jr.

REAR ADM. GRAVELY is completing two years as Commander, Naval Communications Command and Director, Naval Communications, under the Chief of Naval Operations. Gravely tells that he once felt he'd "had it" with the Navy and resigned in a considerable huff. But the way he tells it illustrates his fierce pride in his service and gives an insight into why he thinks Blacks can find it a satisfying career.

SAM GRAVELY'S climb up the Navy ladder is a remarkable one. His father was a post office laborer in the Richmond, Va. area. When Gravely got a chance to go to Virginia Union, a Richmond Black college, he went. There he starred on the gridiron as a tackle, and did well in the classroom too, with history as his major. He also delivered newspapers and did other odd jobs to get himself through school.

SCHOOL WAS INTERRUPTED BY WWII and Gravely decided to go into the Navy. He'd heard the Navy was opening all its ratings to Blacks. He wound up becoming a motor machinist, as enginemen were called then. While awaiting further orders at a San Diego recruiting center, he was given something to do — running its pool hall.

WHILE SEEING THAT THE CUE sticks were properly put away and the pool hall floor was reasonably tidy, he heard about the V-12 program, which offered men the chance to go to college and become officers. He took the V-12 exam and was accepted. He became a member of a V-12 unit at the University of California. Then he went on to a midshipman school at Columbia Being that the ball is an oriental affair, a prize will be given to the man or woman wearing the most authentic costume.

All men are expected to wear a turban or some form of colorful head dress, costume if possible. All women please wear costume if at all possible. (But this is not compulsory to attend)

University, where he became the first Black to graduate from such a school and become an ensign.

HE WAS ASSIGNED to the PC-1264 and served aboard this subchaser as communications officer, electronics officer and executive during the last phase of WWII. When the war ended, he left the service and returned to Virginia Union, finishing up his studies and graduating.

THEN HE TOOK A JOB AS POSTAL CLERK. THE NAVY ASKED GRAVELY TO COME BACK as a recruiter. He decided to "try it for a year." After his recruiting stint, he served aboard the battleship Iowa, then went to the cruiser Toledo, participating in Korean War action in both ships. He went on to serve in a number of other ships — the cargo ship Seminole, the destroyer Theodore E. Chandler and the radar picket destroyer escort Falgout. He became skipper of the Falgout, the first Black to be given command of a U.S. warship.

HE SAW ACTION IN VIETNAM as CO of the destroyer Taussig and won two Commendation Medals for the outstanding fire support his ship gave "while aggressively operating in both coastal and inland waters."

AFTER THAT, he became coordinator of the Navy Satellite Communications Program, which led to his present job as the Navy's communications chief with command of the guided missile frigate Jouett in between. As communications director he's been helping install digital communication — a computerized setup that will GRAVELY SAYS THE NAVY is "one of the most integrated structures of American society. It surpasses many of our churches, most of our schools and certainly the majority of our neighborhoods." When he first went into the Navy, there wasn't a single Black Navy officer. There are now 660, about 200 more than just two years ago.

INTRODUCING NEWS IN THE MOTHER TONGUE

For Black people, the mother tongue is the same all over the country. It's the unique way we have of expressing ourselves. That's one of the reasons the National Black Network saw the need for a national Black news service.

What do we call Black news? It's simply news reported by Black people, edited by Black people, and affecting the lives of Black people.

That's the National Black Network—a vital communications link between Black communities everywhere.

It's a bet that when you listen to an NBN station, you'll know where it's coming from. After all, it's carrying your news.

Davenport

The final session of the 102nd session Illinois Annual Conference of the African Methodist Episcopal Church was held in the auditorium of the Fine Arts Building of St. Ambrose College on Friday evening September 28, 1973. The highlight of the closing session each year wherever the Conference is held in the world is the suspense-filled reading of the appointments of the inteneracy by the presiding bishop.

Each year the five conferences (Canadian, Michigan, Indiana, Chicago and Illinois which includes southwestern Illinois and Iowa) of the 4th Episcopal District make a resolution on the State of the nation. The Illinois Conference went on record.

Presiding Elder Ulysses S. Robinson of the Chicago

Conference gave an inspiring and enlightening message on the biblical "Watergate". We were entertained by the singing of the male choir of ministers of the Conference and a solo "I'd Rather Have Jesus" which was rendered by Maggie R. Johnson the Ministers wife (Rev. D. Eugene Johnson) of Keokuk, Iowa.

The last of the Conference we were honored by a visit from the Mayor of Davenport, Mrs. Kathy Kirschbaum, who took time out of her busy schedule to make a personal appearance. The response which followed her message was given by the Conference President, Mrs. Isabelle Patrick.

Reprimand Lawyer

DES MOINES — Thomas M. Kelly, prominent Davenport civil rights lawyer, was severely reprimanded Thursday by the Iowa Supreme Court for alleged "delay and neglect of professional responsibility."

The court cited seven cases in which Kelly failed to file necessary court documents on time. He was ordered to prepare the documents within 60 days or face disbarment.

"We severely censure him for such conduct and caution him that similar dereliction in the future will result in more serious disciplinary action, including suspension or disbarment," the court said in a brief statement signed by Chief Justice C. Edwin Moore.

KELLY was brought before the court September 12 and charged with professional misconduct by failing to file "timely prosecute appeals, failing to observe the rules of this court and failing to properly protect the interest of his clients" in the seven cases cited.

The clients named were Elsie Dandridge, William Bash, Rick Stoltinberg, Joseph Houston, Daniel Maynard, Herschel Davis and Robert Boyd.

Kelly said he would prefer not to comment directly on anything the court said.

"HOWEVER, nearly everything involved has been corrected," Kelly said, referring to the seven cases cited by the court.

"I carry a heavy caseload and I guess I just didn't cut down in time," he said.

Court officials said the reprimand was based on delayed filing of documents in connection with appeals from criminal court cases Kelly had filed for his clients with the Supreme Court.

GIVE THE KID A BREAK

There are some things you can do to make your air conditioner's job a little easier and keep your cooling costs down.

- Seal air leaks. Caulk carefully around windows and window mounted room air conditioners.
- Don't cool unoccupied rooms and closet spaces. Close interior doors. Turn the air-conditioning off when you leave home.
- Close your blinds early in the morning and air condition when your house is naturally cooler. Don't wait until your house is so hot the air conditioner has to work overtime to catch up.

Iowa Power isn't worried about running out of energy...but we can't see any sense in wasting it either.

retrospect

What do you think of the University of Iowa's ball club now, someone asked me last Sunday. I had to say that I didn't know. Northwestern was one of the clubs I figured they could beat, and they probably would have if they could have gotten by that first quarter. Now comes Minnesota looking for another win over the Hawks. At times like these, the underdog sometimes rises up and comes alive. Maybe it will be a day like that. But it did look like pretty smooth sailing after the Penn State game until Ohio State. But, now, instead of looking for about five wins, I would settle for a couple of wins over just anybody, and they might not get them. Some of those supposedly weak teams have suddenly become tough.

Iowa State needed all the last second breaks they got in order to beat Brigham Young last week. A called back TD and a missed last second field goal attempt all played their part. But then Stanley wasn't in at quarterback, and that might have made a difference. But they won, and so Stanley wasn't missed. Now he will have to see about being the number one man all over again. But, do you know, I don't think I would want to be quarterback with Nebraska, Oklahoma, and Missouri coming up, to say nothing of Kansas, Kansas State, Oklahoma State and

National Urban League

Vernon E. Jordan, Jr., Executive Director of the National Urban League, called for depoliticizing the issue of crime and suggested important reforms in the criminal justice system to reduce the crime rate.

"If someone deliberately set out to design a system that would provoke rage, encourage recidivism, and throw the legal apparatus of our society into chaos he could not do much worse than our present system of criminal justice," Jordan charged.

His proposals for change, embracing a broad variety of proposals, were made in an address to the Annual Conference of Volunteers in probation, a division of the National Council on Crime and Delinquency, in Denver, Colo.

Mr. Jordan called for "a national moratorium on the inflamed rhetoric that poisons the serious attempt to reduce crime," in order to "provide the kind of calm atmosphere in which rational decisions can be made." He charged that "many of the actions and statements about crime are more an exercise in manipulating symbols to provide an outlet for the public's anger, that they are serious attempts to deal with the problem."

Black citizens, he stated, are most concerned with real solutions to crime, which victimizes them disproportionately. "Because we are the prime victims of crime," he said, "we cannot afford the luxury of fake solutions to the problem; pseudo-solutions that promise but do not deliver."

maybe someone else waiting in the wings.

Drake just had a bad day against Northern Iowa, and it looks like a long season for the Bulldogs, too. And I can't hear a word from my pool hall coaches. Someone must have heard my arguments that today's signal callers are little more than robots, because I read in a couple of stories that the quarterbacks called their own game. Fine, now let's have done with the specialty teams and players and make every body go both ways again. That will let us know who the football players are. Imagine a quarterback who has just stopped a two hundred thirty back struggling to his feet and staggering to the huddle. When they asked him what do we do, he would probably answer, "Let you know as soon as I get my brains back into my head."

High Schools

The Tech fellows were on Cloud 9. They had really won a game, something they had vowed all season to do. Now, no matter what happens, their season is a success. And look out for next year. The North High boy was mad. He said that North had lost two games because of penalties in the second half. And they seemed to come at crucial times. After they had stopped a team on third down, a penalty would give them first down, and stuff like that. I said it was the breaks of the game, but the fellow was unconvinced. He said that they really should have lost only one game, and if they had another crack at Dowling, they might win that one. But the Maroons keep eking out. They have a tough defense that won't let your team score, and you can't score if you can't make much ground. So they can win the close ones. All of the rest of the city teams are beating each other so much that on any given night any one of them can be number one.

Black Schools

In the small college poll Tennessee State is number 2, and Grambling is at 8. They both won last week, State beating Virginia St. 24 to 16, and Grambling winning over Miss. Valley 17 to 6. Other scores: Albany State 20, Alabama State 14, Alcorn A&M 21, Lincoln 0, Arkansas AM&N 7, Prairie View 7, Bethune Cookman 75, Savannah St. 23, Elizabeth City 7, Shaw 0, Fisk 29, Alabama A&M 24, Florida A&M 40, Morris Brown 14, Glenville 24, Bluefield St. 7, Howard 46, W. Virginia St. 16, J.C. Smith 28, Langston 11 Maryland, Shore 22, North Carolina A&T 15.

Beating Someone At Their Own Game

LaMont Lovelady being interviewed in the dressing room at Vets Auditorium, Tuesday night after winning bout with Alvin Anderson by unanimous decision.

Tuesday night at Veterans's Auditorium Des Moines Middelweight Tiger LaMont Lovelady weighing in at 159 pounds decisoned, unanimously, Alvin Anderson of Baltimore who tipped the scales at 152½ pounds. Now Anderson is noted as Fancy-Dan type of boxer ... fast on his feet ... fast with his hands ... not much of a slugger but the kind of an opponent who can build up points against you. Apparently he didn't build up enough points against Lovelady that night because the Tiger beat him at his own game.

Lovelady may have learned a few boxing lessons but he also gave a few himself. He couldn't find the range for a knockout ... Anderson kept slipping away ... so the Des Moines middelweight boxed his way to victory.

Many forget that Lovelady is also an accomplished boxer as well as a hitter. Anderson found out Tuesday night.

There were no knockdowns ... there was no blood shed. But on a few occasions Lovelady staggered his opponent ... especially in the latter rounds. Of course, Anderson also stunned Lovelady a couple of times. But in the eye of the referee and the two judges, Lovelady had it and was awarded the decision.

The Anderson camp charges partiality ... a hometown decision. Also they complained about the ring. Anderson claims he was slowed up by bumps in the ring. He says it felt like concrete. If so, Lovelady didn't notice because he said nothing about it. Anderson came into the fight with a record of 20 wins, 3 losses and 2 draws. Lovelady with a 4 and 0 record.

Obviously Anderson is quite perturbed at losing to a fighter with much less pro experience than he. Lovelady had most of the in-fighting ... threw the heavier punches and looked the better most of the time.

Anyway there are cries for a re-match. Anderson wants it ... Lovelady says he's willing ... and the public saw such a terrific fight that they'll encourage it wholeheartedly. But wait a minute Mr. Anderson. Lovelady has a record for knocking out most opponents he meets the second time. Check with Sammy Naismith of Indianapolis. He knows.

Players of the week

Leroy Kaiser

Mark Balance

The Bystander's players of the week are East's Roy Kaiser and Mark Balance.

Kaiser is an end for the Scarlets, who are presently in the top division of the Metropolitan Conference.

Kaiser has caught six passes this fall for over 100 yards. Two weeks ago against Roosevelt, Leroy pulled in two receptions for 39 yards, one was a 33 yard touchdown. Coach Bill Charles says that Leroy's "blocking on off-tackle plays has been outstanding all season."

Leroy is a senior at East after transferring from Dowling in his freshman year. He has participated in football, basketball, and track while at East. As a junior, he concentrated on football and track.

Leroy, 17, resides at 1503 E. 17th Street in Des Moines with his parents LeRoy and Mildred

Kaiser and has a sister at Broadlawn Nursing School

Balance, a junior, first played organized football, basketball and track at East as a sophomore. While a sophomore, he received a Varsity letter in track.

He has caught 11 passes for 140 yards and two TD's. Last week against Lincoln, he caught three passes for 37 yards and one TD. Besides being offensive standout he has been a defensive stalwart at end, making 17 tackles and knocking down four pass attempts. His speed and quickness has forced the opponents' passers to throw 10 interceptions.

Mark, 1650 Cleveland, attended Logan Elementary and Amos Hiatt Junior High. He is the son of Mrs. Mary Day and has a brother, Michael, and a sister, Teresa.
