Let's All Pull For Good Government!

Named Ambassador To Africa

(From Milwaukee Courier)

Milwaukee Alderman Orville E. Pitts will be named an Ambassador to Africa by Secretary of State Henry Kissinger, according to an informed local source and a report in the current issue of Jet.

Reached Wednesday, Pitts would not comment on the article, terming it "inappropriate" of him to do so. Nor would Presidential assistant Stanley Scott confirm or deny the report. In a telephone interview, Scott commented, "I understand he is in consideration for a slot in the president's second four years and I'm sure they're moving ahead in that regard. Unfortunately, I can't tell you any more."

In the Jet article written by Simeon Booker of the magazine's Washington bureau, it is reported that Pitts is expected to receive an Ambassadorship to an English-speaking African country. Booker added in a telephone conversation that his sources in the federal government had indicated the appointment is "imminent".

A federal appointment for Pitts has been anticipated since the election of 1972, when the two-term alderman left the Democratic Party to join the GOP campaign for Nixon.

Milwaukee's only Black Republican elected official made national news during the campaign by challenging Georgia State Rep. Julian Bond to a debate after Bond had branded Black Nixonites as "political prostitutes". The invitation was not accepted.

Subsequently, Pitts has been examined for at least one federal appointment and has been the focus of relentless rumor about others.

Pitts' term of office expires in 1976.

Quote Of The Week

"Blacks are not a community, but a settlement because we do NOT share a common set of values." (Tony Brown, Dean of Howard University School of Communications.)

and 6, sponsored by the Waterloo office of the Iowa State Employment Services.

Mrs. Anna Marie Weems, director of minority placement and services with the ISES Waterloo office, says the workshop will include emphasis on "Your Affirmative Action-Working or Worthless?" for businessmen.

An "Eye Survey Evaluation" tour will be made during the two weeks prior to the meeting with the Black Hawk Chapter of the NAACP participating in the inspection of businesses and employers' hiring and affirmative action practices.

The NAACP and the ISES conducted a tour of area businesses two years ago. This year's tour will be a comparison with the last tour to evaluate progress.

Mrs. Weems says the tour will be conducted to evaluate whether employers have "made enough progress in minority employment in the last two years."

A report of the results of the tour will be presented during the two-day workshop, she says.

"Too many times companies have had their affirmative action programs approved and then put them on the shelf."

The theme of the workshop is IF YOU DEAL WITH PEOPLE, YOU NEED HUMAN RELATIONS TRAINING. HERE'S HELP FOR YOU!

The workshop is part of a continuing program sponsored by the IS office, according to Donald Fleming, ISES director. A monthly session is conducted for any business men who wish to participate, he says.

"It's good business to make your business an equal opportunity employer" is the motto for the sessions.

Fall Term At Drake

Drake University's enrollment for the fall term, 1973, is relatively stable compared with statistics for a year ago. Dr. Wilbur C. Miller, President of the University, announced today (Tuesday).

Drake's full-time day enrollment is 4,959, compared with 5,037 a year ago.

"Even though this represents a slight decrease," Dr. Miller said, "it is not as large as would have been predicted on the basis of national trends."

"Stability of enrollment reflects a very healthy condition for Drake. The decline which has occurred has been due primarily to the teacher surplus and a resulting decline in students enrolled in programs related to teacher education."

Drake's part-time day enrollment this fall is 731, compared with 754 a year ago. Enrollment for University College, Drake's adult education division, declined from 1,634 to 1,509 this year. Drake's total enrollment is 7,202, compared with 7,524 a year ago.

Drake's Black enrollment totals 215 this term, compared with 188 a year ago.

Mid East Nations Help Solve Problems

It is fortunate that the war in the Middle East has been brought under control to the extent the opposing nations have agreed to negotiate with each other and achieve a complete cessation of hostilities. It has been clear that they can solve their troubles in a peaceful manner and which has kept each side on edge for years.

Long ago I had been disappointed at the United Nations as it had not been able to do the job. They have occupied a great show case in New York with delegates from all these nations talking about everything else except the dangerous problems at hand.

Of course, the tip off here is that the United States and Russia found themselves so deeply involved that with their great strength they had the sense to combine their pressure in order to bring these results to pass. This could not have been done had not the United States and Russia learned to understand each other better during the last few months. I hope that the warring nations come to equitable terms not only for their sake but also so that friends and friendly nations are not continually living in fear that a terrible war will be upon us.

Shortsighted

Kenneth Adrian, with Community Development, in his evaluation of the Sickle Cell Anemia Program in Des Moines, has recommended that it be discontinued. In doing so he states:

1. That it is too costly.
2. That an insufficient number of people have availed themselves of the services.
3. That the wrong test is being used.

I suggest that someone has failed in his job.

Such programs have succeeded in other communities and there is no reason why it should not do the same in Des Moines.

The medical profession recognizes that Sickle Cell Anemia is a dangerous disease and if only one person is saved during the year as a result of the program, it is worth the money expended. Most of the funding comes from federal funds. Thousands of dollars are being spent in other programs that are producing far less results, are extremely expensive and yet they roll on just like "Old Man River".

Vote Tuesday

Des Moines holds a municipal election Tuesday, November 6th. The campaign has been somewhat lively but far from the overall participation by a lot of people which has heretofore produced great interest and thus brought out a big vote.

In any event, be sure to cast your vote!

Editor's Note

The Iowa Bystander's Stand

The present City Council election is shaping up to be a replay of bygone fiascos. The shouting and cursing and outright lying on the part of some of the candidates may be viewed as ignorant and diversionary tactics. Of course, they are overshadowed by our display of ridiculousness at being impressed.

The so-called Black voter, as well as the so-called poor white voter, should open their minds eye to the truth of those who overtly declare themselves conservative or liberal. (A conservative politician is one who opposes change; a liberal is one who is favorable to progress and reform.) Some of the political aspirants seeking our endorsement have applied other definitions to these terms.

Racists and opportunists that are bent on feeding themselves and not the flock use the badge of conservatism to win elections. They seize upon our frustrations which are generally derived from others as well as their lack of positive social - political action. In essence, these persons have judged their assumed constituents as racist in their social stance, gullible in understanding, and narrow-minded towards political awareness. Via this arrogant and disrespectful attitude, they hope to secure our vote.

Disregarding those who may try to cloak themselves in the liberal garment for the purpose of hiding similar attributes as the afore mentioned, the New Iowa Bystander will apply itself to humane progress and social reform.

We think the avenue to this end is not with those ones that are politicians only, but with those that appear to be diplomats first. Tim Urban and William Reichardt, in my opinion seem to exert qualities related to diplomacy. This ingredient is necessary if you are going to work for and with the people. At least they should be given the chance to prove that they are indeed for the people.

Guest Editorial

John Estes, Jr.

In the recent City Council primary, a few facts are worthy of mention. Fact number 1, Black people did not get out and vote even though this election was of the utmost importance. It is in a primary election that you as a voter can either guarantee the success of a candidate who is for the people or guarantee the elimination of a candidate who has no intention of representing you should he be elected.

Fact No. 2, because you didn't vote, and because you are not yet aware of the importance of your collective vote, Bill Reichardt did not win the primary in a Black precinct. He is the only candidate who has declared his support for the aspirations of the Black community; but you either didn't know that or you thought your vote (and consequently yourself), to be irrelevant.

You have a responsibility to register and vote in the upcoming election - IF YOU DON'T THINK THE VOTE IS IMPORTANT: think again.

Remember all those people in the South who died for their RIGHT to vote? They thought it was important enough to die for; all I'm asking is that you go to the polls on Nov. 6th and cast your vote for the man who is concerned about you and your community. With this simple gesture you will defeat those who find you to be unworthy of their time and efforts, and you will be providing the city of Des Moines, as well as yourself, with the kind of leadership we need to grow and prosper.

Bill Reichardt means reduction of property tax, concern for the elderly and ethnic minorities, continued day-care programs and most important, your participation in making decisions that affect your life. Vote for Reichardt; it's the same as voting for yourself.

Region VII Citizen Organization Interview

By Ken Warren

David Pickett, Des Moines Local Region Chairman.

Chester Walker, Executive Director, Kansas City, Mo.

Marvin Groves, Technical Advisor to Region VII C. P. Organization.

1. What are the goals and priorities of the Region VII organization?

Mr. Walker, To help develop leadership on the local level by providing information, setting up workshops, planning and training sessions; to help them organize in their efforts to become more knowledgeable of Federal, State, and City funded programs. To help them participate more meaningfully in the implementation of programs affecting their communities. There are City Managers' Associations and Governors' Conventions, etc., which are funded by city and state funds. We need to combine our forces to make our programs more effective. We need people who can identify with the structure, jump in and change, or try to work within the structure we are going to have to live with.

Mr. Pickett, We have to provide information to the area residents so that they become better informed as to what is going on around them, so that they can act and react to whatever comes down.

2. How effective is C.P. in Des Moines?

Mr. Walker, C.P. in Des Moines has not failed, for a fact, people in Des Moines are aware of what is happening in the city now. There was a time when Des Moines' people did not know about the city or state or what it was doing for its people, and they didn't even know who the mayor was. So when we talk about C.P., whether it has done anything at all, it has made the people more aware of City, State, and Federal structure.

Mr. Pickett, To discuss the level of C.P. at the present time in Des Moines, we would have to go back to the old Model Cities program, which had a demoralizing effect on the people. We went down hill at that time, and the other areas felt that we got ripped off when Model Cities went city-wide, and we did. But then you have to look at the other areas and their needs too, and the problems that we are both faced with. When you talk about C.P. and revenue sharing, many cities are going to have a demoralized reaction. C.P. structure had not broken down in Des Moines. This also ties into the leadership and structure we have, and also the matter of indecision as to which funds we should be getting ready for in 1976.

Mr. Groves, I would like to make a comment in my own personal opinion as to how successful it is. From the evidence, if nothing else, that the people hear at the conference tells me that C.P. in Des Moines has not broken down. We make reference to what was, rather than to what actually is. You are only going to be as effective as the kind of people and comment you can get from them. It is not what C.P. can do for you, but what can you do for C.P., to help it. 3. In fulfilling the regional concept, what are the plans to strengthen cities like Des Moines?

Walker, One of the things that the region is about to do is providing information on new programs, new legislation coming from the states, Federal Government, and cities, so these local organization can take this information and it is almost assured that they will be far ahead of the local officials when they get it. This includes holding the idea of building leadership. There is nothing that the region can do to come in and rectify a local program.

4. The housing shortage seems to be the number one priority, what steps are being taken to rectify these shortages?

Mr. Walker, Some of the local cities and model cities directors did not know that they could write contracts past June 30, 1974; they now know this. By putting information in the hands of facilities in Des Moines, you have to have advisors on your staff that deal with everything from politics, to health, whatever, and this is one of the things that we are about the business of doing. Government has committees that require citizens on these committees. (C.P. citizens) and we should have local people on those committees in the revenue sharing areas. But the cities have all kinds of committees that aren't even working, and their jobs call for citizen input to make their needs known, we have to get to the people and make them aware of this problem.

Mr. Pickett, We have already submitted a proposal for housing. We are trying to get a hand on the $73 thousand left over from relocation funds.

5. Is the C.P. top echelon both on a local level and regional level receptive to other organizations within the community?

One of the crises that we get right back to is the question that we eventually are going to have to start dealing with the Federal Government. We have been existence for only two years; a very short amount of time to immediately start dealing with the Federal Government. We have to know how to deal with all structures, and make all organizations a part of region VII. Whether they deal with health or what ever, each city should set up a committee dealing with health and that organization could become our health committee.

6. Do you feel the seminar approach to C.P. is effective in creating the atmosphere of informing the public in general?

Mr. Walker, Yes, it is an adequate method at this point until we devise another one.

Simpson College

Indianola, Ia. - "Who Killed JFK?" will be the topic of a film - photograph - lecture program to be presented by free-lance journalist Robert Katz of Boston, Mass., at 8 p.m. Wednesday, Oct. 31, in Camp Lounge of the Brenton Student Center at Simpson College.

Katz, who has worked with the Washington-based Committee to Investigate Assassinations, contends in his presentation that the assassination of President John F. Kennedy on Nov. 22, 1963 was a conspiracy, thereby discounting the Warren Commission report. He also contends that the assassination was not the act of Lee Harvey Oswald alone, but rather was the product of a government-endorsed domestic espionage apparatus which has been exposed only partially in the Watergate hearings.

The program, sponsored by Simpson's College Activities Board, is open free to the public.

The most honorable Bishop L.H. Ford, first assistant to the Presiding Bishop of the Churches of God in Christ, was in Des Moines on Oct. 15th at East University COGIC Church. We enjoyed Bishop Ford's message as he dealt with how Christians can be successful people. Bishop Ford also spoke about our upcoming Convocation in Memphis, Tenn., and of our financial responsibilities to national endeavors.

Truly this is the year of Jubilee for the Forest Ave. Mission Center. One of the locally owned appliance stores donated 8 stoves to the Mission. We are very thankful for blessings such as this.

Bishop A.B. Carter Sr. delivered a dynamic Sunday morning message. His subject was "The Whole Truth."

Bishop Carter and the Forest Ave. Church extend deepest gratitude to Mr. Anthony Negrete, a minority painting contractor, for his generosity in lending painting equipment to aid in the painting of the Forest Ave. Missions Homes.

Richard Hunt Exhibit

Richard Hunt

Sculptures by Richard Hunt, considered by many one of the most gifted artists working in the direct metal, open-form medium at any time or in any country and certainly the foremost Black artist of his day, will be exhibited in the Municipal Galleries of the Waterloo Recreation and Arts Center during the month of November. Mr. Hunt will also be at the galleries in person for the formal opening of his one-man exhibit on Sunday afternoon, November 4th from 2-5 pm and will give an informal talk for the public and members of Friends of the Center in the Hope Martin Theatre on Monday evening, November 5th, at 7:30 pm. The community and the Center are indebted for both the Richard Hunt Exhibit and for Mr. Hunt's personal visit to Mr. James D. Profile-

BLACKS ABROAD

There are approximately 40,000 Black Americans living abroad. According to the 1970 census, the U.S. Armed Forces were responsible for most of the 40,000. Only 2,378 of the federal employees abroad were classified as civilians. The total count includes the families of federal employees. Almost as many people, 2,281 to be exact, were said to be crewman aboard merchant vessels. A total of 6,034 people are doing a variety of things unconnected with the U.S. government. Seven countries were used for this census, The Americas, Africa, Canada, Mexico, Europe, the U.S.S.R. and Asia. Depending on your attitude, it is either wonderful or terrible that only a handful of Black Americans, numbering well under 10,000, are living in countries other than this one. It is said that travel broadens the scope, and if travel can do all of that, how much more can one gain by living abroad?

"An Equal

Round the City

By Ken Warren

In the light of the unpredictable political atmosphere of our nation at both the federal and local level, it behooves every citizen to seriously examine the motivation of their choice of candidate for public office. This criteria must be adhered to even to the extent of electing the local dogcatcher. In the upcoming election, there are so many issues being thrown around that it is difficult to zero in on an issue that really merits consideration. One of the issues being discussed to a great extent has been the ideas concerning sectionalism. For most of us this is irrelevant because the only true division here and most places is not geographical; rather it is of an economic nature. The difference is known as the haves or the havenots, and I will dispense with theorizing in this area as I have previously expressed my views in this area. There is the ugly head of racism, bias, and bigotry towering above this campaign. This issue has and always will be with us because whoever is elected, these factors will be there. There is no way a Black, Wasp, Mixed American or so called Pure American can divorce themselves from this concept because our total indoctrination toward life is geared to emphasize that one nationality is superior to another. Our educational system, numerous outlets, entertainment medias and most facets of knowledge somehow reinforce these ideas. There are many other issues, or should I say Myths I could uncover and discuss, with the same conclusion arrived at which is the haves and have nots syndrome. The basic issue in my opinion is, "What is your candidate going to do to enhance your survival," means employment of a beneficial nature because for you survival is a day to day process for existence and partial economic stability. In the employment picture, due to the decentralization of the federal dollar control there has been a definite decrease in job opportunities for grass roots uninformed people, and incidentally, they constitute the largest population segment of our nation. The other issue getting a lot of attention is the downtown revitalization plan of which I am in favor of very much, not because of tax rates, beauty, or any other superficial reasoning but for the employment aspect and economic factors that can be derived from it's adoption and implementation. We desperately need the replacement of jobs and income that has and will be eliminated by the redirection of federal and private dollars due to the rerouting of capital and thinking from social endeavors to physical accomplishments. Remember one basic fact "BEAUTY IS IN THE EYE OF THE BEHOLDER...AND DOES NOTHING FOR THE STOMACH."

Picketing Private Home

Henry's plan to open a tavern in a suburban neighborhood raised the hackles of nearby residents. One afternoon, several men showed up at his house with protest signs and began to picket.

Equally incensed, Henry went to court for an injunction against this "intrusion into my private life." At the hearing, the picketers insisted they were mainly exercising their right of free speech.

But the court sided with Henry and issued an injunction.

"The home is a retreat from outside affairs," said the judge. "When the right of free speech is weighed against the right to privacy, the balance favors the privacy of the home."

Courts generally have concurred in placing a high value on the home as a privileged sanctuary from strife.

Nevertheless, residential picketing has sometimes been allowed under special circumstances — such as the fact that the occupant of the house is a public official.

Thus, the picketing of a governor's home by a civil rights group was upheld in court. The judge said the picketers "had a legitimate right, protected by the Constitution, to appeal to those in authority for redress."

And the picketing of a landlord's home by disgruntled tenants was sustained on the ground that he had no other known headquarters where they could vent their feelings.

Of course, even if picketing itself is considered lawful, it may still be condemned because of the manner in which it is done.

In another case, the home of a hospital executive was subjected to mass picketing by boisterous marchers. Furthermore, they flaunted signs that were plainly libellous. This time, a court held the picketing unlawful.

"Conducted at a considerable

Thursday, November 1, 1973

distance from the hospital," said the judge, "in a residential area, it was apparently aimed to cause humiliation and mortification to (the victim) and his family. It represents a form of direct and unmitigated coercion, a foul blow."

Bible Published for Blacks Only

Just two years ago a new concept in Bible translation was introduced. It was the Living Bible, a contemporary, modern version of the scripture that reads "a lot like your daily newspaper," according to one reviewer.

The New Testament of the Living Bible has now been published in an edition especially for the Black reader in a volume called Soul Food. It is a vinylized paperback edition, generously illustrated with actual "today style" photographs, and is available nearly anywhere books are sold at $1.95 per copy.

The popularity of the Living Bible and its understandable style of paraphrasing the scriptures has been proven by sales of over 12-million copies since publication. The publisher, Tyndale House of Wheaton, Illinois, is currently shipping over 12-thousand copies of the Living Bible per day, to book retailers throughout the nation. "Publishers Weekly" magazine, the barometer of the publishing industry, rated the Living Bible as the best-selling book of 1972 in the non-fiction category. The book outsold the fiction best seller, Jonathan Livingston Seagull, during 1972.

It is the New Testament of this same best selling Living Bible that comprises the text of the recently published Soul Food. Each different book in the New Testament is preceeded with a brief example of how the theme of that book relates to life in today's world by Twentieth Century people. In addition to the introduction, there are pictures at the first of each chapter of Black people in actual life situations that illustrate the ideas and thoughts in the following book of the Bible.

According to the publisher, Soul Food is the first New Testament that makes the scriptures more comprehensible to, and fits the specific needs of, the Black society in this nation.

GEORGE FLAGG

Des Moines City Council At Large 2 yr. term Nov. 6, 1973

George Flagg IS a Man of Action! He is vice chairman of Central Advisory Board of Community Development Program for the City of Des Moines. His record on the board has been outstanding.

As you read further you will see that George Flagg is a Man of ACTION!

Flagg is the only candidate with a legal background. He is a successful family lawyer.

George Flagg was the originator of the program that paved over 20 miles of streets at NO COST TO TAXPAYERS.

Flagg insisted that Federal Revenue Sharing money be spent to build up homes, rather than tear them down.

WANT MORE ACTION? Flagg supported programs to provide in-home services for the elderly and for hot meals for the senior citizens. Flagg also helped in the obtaining of funds for health and preventive care clinics.

George Flagg was a member of the BUDGET STUDY COMMITTEE. This committee made 175 recommendations to save money. Some 132 of these proposals have been adopted by the city saving hundreds of thousands of dollars to YOU THE TAXPAYER.

Flagg supports the concept of a Performing Arts Theater and Botanical Center. Flagg says the city should expedite the correction of sewer and water and basement problems.

Flagg says mass transit problems can be solved and that a North-South Freeway will not be needed.

Will not require garbage to be carried to the curb and will try to abolish the $2.50 per month garbage fee.

WORDS, WORDS, WORDS ARE NOT ENOUGH. What the City of Des Moines needs is a man of ACTION. George Flagg is that man. We welcome your support on election day. VOTE FOR GEORGE FLAGG FOR CITY COUNCIL AT LARGE (2 year term).

NEW DIRECTOR FOR URBAN LEAGUE

Ronald H. Brown (R) talks with Stanley S. Scott, special assistant to the President, at a recent reception in the nation's capital sponsored by the National Urban League (NUL). Office In Washington

Inez Kaiser

Mrs. Inez Kaiser has done it again! The President of Inez Kaiser and Associates, Inc., of Kansas City, Missouri announces the opening of the firm's Washington D. C. office on November 7th. It will be located in Suite 1028 of the National Press Building.

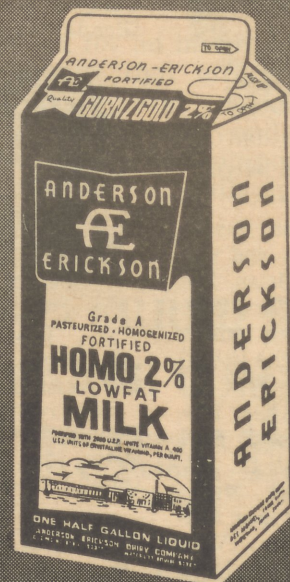

Inez Kaiser and Associates, Inc. is one of the oldest and most successfully owned firms of its kind headed by a Black woman. During its thirteen years of existence, the company has prided itself as a pioneer in the field of publicity, public relations, advertising, marketing, management and technical assistance long before it was popular or funds to establish a business were available.

The concept of entering this highly competitive field was conceived by the founder years before most Blacks and, especially women, ventured out to become a part of the mainstream of this nation's economy. The former home economics school teacher, who is recognized nationally and internationally as one who has specialized in rendering first-class service in an elegantly furnished office, thought big from the year she opened her first office in downtown Kansas City. She decided that the Company wanted to serve as a consultant to major corporations. The tract record of Inez Kaiser and Associates, Inc. is a testimony that a dedicated woman, with a predominantly female staff, can perform services comparable to her counterparts - and the opposite sex.

Once a princess, always a princess... but 20 years later, daughter's a queen!

"I couldn't believe it. I said to myself, 'They didn't say my name, did they?' I was stunned," said Ankeny's 1973 Homecoming queen Kim Boyd.

"After I had been crowned, some people came down from the stands and said that I should have seen my mother. They said that she was hysterical. My dad was telling her to shut up. Dad was trying to act cool but I know he was excited," said Kim.

Brother Billy, a member of the football team who was unable to play due to an injury, was out on the field taking pictures of his sister's crowning.

Mrs. Billy Boyd had a right to be "hysterical" as daughter Kim had followed in her footsteps by being named as one of the members of the homecoming court. Mrs. Boyd, now Dolores Brown, was an attendant in Ankeny's homecoming court two decades ago before Kim was named by her fellow classmates as queen.

Mrs. Boyd said that the old tradition of selecting the homecoming queen and her attendants was by the members of the football team. The senior class now is responsible for the task of naming the queen.

Ankeny may better recall Mrs. Boyd as the standout on the 1953 girls basketball team, which went undefeated until the first round of the girls basketball tournament where Kinross narrowly defeated the Hawkettes. Garnaville were the state champs, a team that Ankeny had earlier beaten.

Mrs. Boyd was named to the all-state team as a guard and was later honored by the Iowa Girls Athletic Association by gaining entrance to the Basketball Hall of Fame.

The basketball standout named some of the players of the 1953 team. They were Kim Boyd and her mother Dolores gaze at the crown which Kim had the honor of wearing at the 1973 homecoming as she was elected by her fellow senior classmates to represent them as queen. Kim's mother, twenty years ago, was a homecoming attendant also at Ankeny.

Darlene Johnson, Kay Thompson, Paulene Shoeman, Shirley Muehlenthaler, Barbara Johnson, Gale Johnson, and herself. These girls saw the most action during the year.

Mrs. Boyd said that only 26 graduated from the Ankeny class of 1953 where as 1973 will graduate from 200-250.

Kim was a regular on the Hawkettes as a sophomore guard but a knee injury shortened her career. The senior cheerleader tried to go out again this year but the knee was just not strong enough.

Mrs. Boyd called it a "freak accident" as Kim collided with another girl during a contest in the 71-72 season and that put an end to Kim's basketball years.

"I loved it, I was just hoping that Kim could do the same thing. Her knee took care of that," said Mrs. Boyd of playing basketball.

The Brown family also had another standout in Ray, who graduated in 1960. Ray was a track and football star for the Hawks.

Kim is presently active in many school function such as cheerleading, Student Council, A-club, FHA, and Pep Club.

As for future plans, the homecoming queen looks forward to a nursing career. She is seriously considering taking training at the University of Iowa nursing school.

There are lots of great things about this new Flynn plastic gallon jug.

Actually our new plastic gallon jug is the next best thing to the cow herself for keeping Flynn Milk fresh. The re-sealable screw on cap insures complete freshness. The built-in handle makes it easy to carry and easy to pour from. The plastic is translucent so you can always see how much milk is left. Of course, we wouldn't be so excited about the container if we weren't so sure about what we put inside it. It costs no more than milk in waxed cartons. And you pay no deposit. Available now at your store. For home delivery call 243-6211.

But the best thing is still what's inside.

sports retrospect

by Allen Ashby

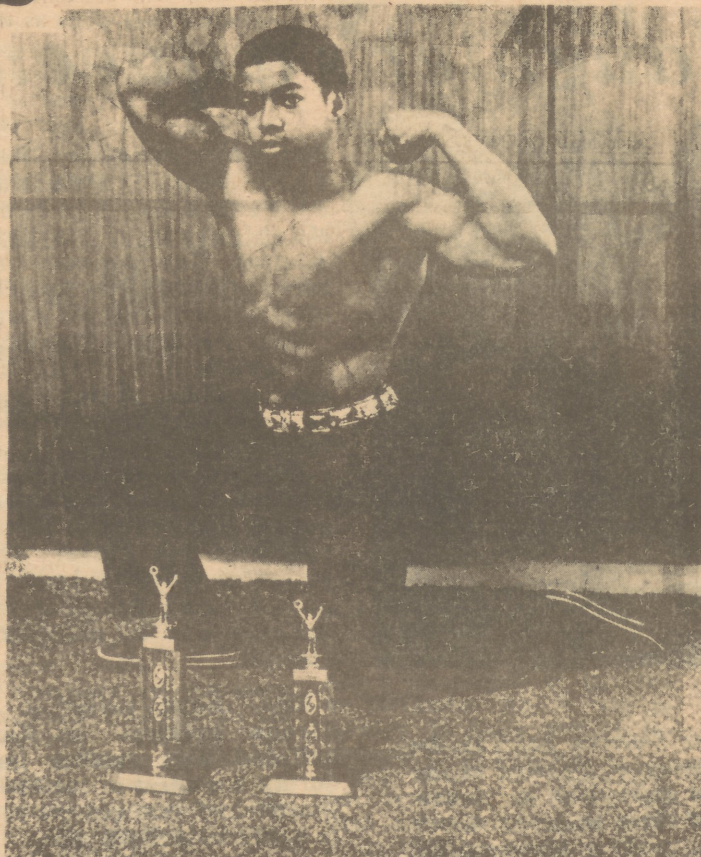

Well, Sir: the Hawks made it number seven last week-end, and now do you think they will try for eight? Now, I know that Frank Lautebur (?) is a good coach, because he had a fine record at his last school. But he also had some players who were on a par with the rest of his conference, and he was absolute boss. One of my friends argues that the man is under pressure from somebody he refuses to or can't name to play as few blacks as possible. How often have I heard that story before? This man had a black quarterback, and he was good, so he would have no hesitancy about naming one at Iowa. But my friend argues that he isn't his own man at the Hawkeye school. But I have to say that no matter how good a coach is, he has to have some players who can hold their own with the other players in his league. I would like to see Woody Hayes or John McKay or for that matter, Bear Bryant with Iowa's material. Maybe they'd have a winner, but you have to show me. No, my friend, players make the coach, no matter how good he is. I just don't believe that Iowa U. can stand another period like the one before the present coach came to the school.

Iowa State has lost more close games than anybody has a right to. The game last Saturday was decided by the big plays that seem to always go against the Cyclones. As they were driving for that last chance, a couple of dropped passes killed whatever chance they had. Why does a good receiver drop a pass? People who know say it is mainly because he doesn't see where he is going to run before he catches the ball. Then he may try to run with the ball the minute it hits his hands, forgetting to put it away first. But, anyhow, the schedule for Iowa State gets no better fast, and yet, they might come up with a big upset. If Owen Stanley had more time to pass, maybe he could hit somebody, but it is hard to pass when you have to hurry your throws most of the time.

Drake keeps pace with Iowa and Iowa State. It seems as if the Bulldogs are trying to lose as many games as the other two schools. Don't do it, fellows. Pull one out before you do catch them.

High Schools

My North High friend was happy Sunday. "Well, you won big Friday. Your team earned three scores, and was given three. A bad fourth down pass, a fumble, and two back to back penalties helped you a lot, each mistake resulting in a score. But the three earned scores were more than you needed. What do you think of the officiating, now? The fellow grinned and said that he thought his team was over due for some breaks from the officials, and they came just at the right time. "But," he said, "You have to admit, Mr. Ashby, We played like hell, too." That they did, so our argument ended in a standoff. The Tech fellows didn't feel too badly about their loss. They felt they were in the game most of the way, and are already talking about next year.

CHOSEN BEST POSER in the Mr. Mid-America contest last weekend in Marion, Iowa was Prince Riley, 18, of 3215 N. 29th st. He finished fourth overall in the interstate body building competition. A sophomore at UWM, Riley has been training in gymnastics and weightlifting for several years and hopes to compete in the 1976 Olympics as a gymnast. Beyond that, the art and recreation major plans to be a gymnastics coach.

Wonder what kind of a basketball team they will have this year.

I couldn't believe what I read about the rest of the schools wanting to kick Dowling and Valley out of the metropolitan conference. I have never seen Valley play, but have seen Dowling. I think all of the city high schools do as much recruiting as they can. I can recall the big drive to get a black basketball player to go to Roosevelt a few years ago. The keys to Dowling's success, I think can be laid to hard work, condition, discipline, and mastery of fundamentals. They go out and knock people down, which is the name of the game. And the coach runs the team. Maybe some of the other schools ought to try this formula. It might surprise 'em.

Black Schools

Tennessee State took a firmer grip on the top spot in the small college poll last week by dusting Southern 21 to 6. Grambling, at nine was upset by Texas Southern 35 to 21, but the Texas team doesn't consider it an upset. My old school, Arkansas AM&N did in Kentucky State 28 to 0. Other scores: Alcorn 45.

Genocide Convention

What Is the Genocide Convention? The treaty, passed by the United Nations General Assembly in 1948, makes it an international crime to attempt the destruction of national, ethnic, racial or religious groups as such. Seventy-five countries have ratified the Convention. It was submitted to the U.S. Senate in 1949 by President Harry S. Truman, but the Foreign Relations Committee refused to act on it. President Nixon sent it to the Senate on February 19, 1970. The Foreign Relations Committee approved the Convention in May 1971, reporting to the Senate: "As our planet becomes more crowded, man's behavior towards his fellows must be governed by standards even higher and more humane. This treaty seeks to set a higher standard of international morality and should be judged on that basis." Because it did not reach the Senate floor by the end of that session of the Congress, the Foreign Relations Committee again gave its approval early in 1973 and the treaty is now on the Senate calendar awaiting floor action. Senate Majority Leader Mike Mansfield has indicated that he will bring it to the floor of the Senate for action in September 1973, soon after the August summer recess.

Who Supports the Genocide Convention? Organizations representing 100 million Americans have urged ratification. Labor unions, civic and church groups, fraternal bodies, women's organizations, war veterans, and countless individuals have expressed support. Former Supreme Court Justice Arthur Goldberg is chairman of an Ad Hoc Committee on the Human Rights and Genocide Treaties, with which more than 50 national organizations are affiliated.

Why Should the Genocide Convention Be Supported? The Convention is in accord with the finest traditions and aspirations of the American people. If we do not now take a stand against mass murder we will not only lose heavily in world opinion but will do violence to our own principles.
