Water & Sewer Approval

The Des Moines City Council approved Monday, October 29, an amendment to the Supplemental Rehabilitation Project that will bring water, sewer and plumbing facilities into homes that were previously without them.

The Home Plumbing and Hook-ups Project is financed with nearly $200,000 in Des Moines Community Development Program funds and will provide grants to qualified persons for water, sewer and plumbing facilities. The grants will be offered to elderly, handicapped and low-income residents of the six Community Development Prime Service Areas who own and live in their own homes and have resided there at least six months before applying for the grants.

Priority will be given to owner/occupants without water, sewer or plumbing facilities who have City water or sewer within 60 feet of their property line and are either: 1. 62 years or older who are on Old Age Assistance, Social Security or not earning more than the Social Security maximum ($2,100 per year per person) or 2. Permanently or totally disabled as defined by the Iowa Department of Social Services.

Secondly priority will be given to owner/occupants who have no water, sewer or plumbing facilities and have City water or sewer within 60 feet of their property line who meet public housing income guidelines.

VIEWS and REVIEWS

by James B. Morris

Abuse of Power

As the fall school term began in September, many communities were plagued with strikes by teachers. They could not come to terms with school boards so they disregarded the interests of the public and deprived many students of a part of their education.

This week firemen in New York City and some other communities have either threatened or have struck often leaving the public without protection.

As a matter of fact, it seems that every segment of our work force—professional, mechanical and common labor—has organized "to get mine" disregarding the rights of the public. These strikes tend to discommode the citizens and ignore the responsibility they assume when they took the job.

True, labor organizations have forced capital to give its members a bigger share of the profits, better working conditions and more protection against slack employment periods and illness. They took a cue from capital to use their power to do some good but having done so often abuse it just as capital has done in the past.

This is further illustrated in the almost total exclusion of minorities in membership in union promotions and thus to get a job.

Under the federal Equal Employment Opportunity law complaints have been filed to adjust such matters in the federal courts. Decrees have been agreed to or courts have ordered cities and business establishments to change their patterns of employment and give minorities a fair share of work force.

Why Poor Turnout at City Elections

The city election Tuesday ran true to form in that the turnout at the polls was not good.

Voters come to the polls in proportion that big issues are at stake and a large number of people is engaged in the campaign.

Since Des Moines had a city manager form of government, voters have shown little interest in coming to the polls. Coupled with the non-partisan form of government and the small salaries paid to members of the city council few lively contests are generated.

Then too often, we don't seem to get the type of candidate that breathe interest much because a few people use their influence to smear and gouge peoples records unduly. Not that candidates should expect to escape close scrutiny but they should not be bludgeoned by character assassins.

Des Moines has had some "barn burners" in past years. Remember when Frank Harty, a former police officer who was accused being allied with the underworld, challenged John Jenney, an admitted member of the Klu Klux Klan. In spite of Jenney's connection with Klan, the public was unwilling to elect a candidate of the type of Frank Harty.

Another such election involved the attempt in 1928 by the Klu Klux Klan group to get control of public school board. Thoughtful citizens just could not stand controls of the schools by the Klan. Citizens organize with the late Herb Mulock as the campaign manager and won handily at the polls. Elections need not be dirty but people can show interest in how the city is run by going to the polls and exercising their citizenship privilege.

WHAT ALTERNATIVE DOES THE BLACK COMMUNITY HAVE?

Iowa's Low Pay Law

Recently compiled figures from the U.S. Department of Commerce show that Iowa per capita income is nearly $200 below the national average.

Iowa AFL-CIO Secretary-Treasurer James J. Wengert attributed the lagging income figure to the state's right-to-work law.

"In 1948," Wengert said, "Iowans were $160 above the national per capita income average."

"Now the August issue of the Commerce Department's Survey of Current Business tells us that Iowa is $192 below the NATIONAL AVERAGE.

"This means Iowa's so-called right-to-work law is costing each man, woman and child $352 a year."

Iowa's law was enacted in 1948.

Wengert said Iowa's income when compared with non "right-to-work" states is $407 lower. And he said the official figures show that Iowa is not alone in lagging income. "Of the 19 right-to-work states, 18 of them fall below the national per capita average annual income. Only Nevada is above and that state's sparse population thrives on bit-time show business, gambling and prostitution," Wengert said.

The figures cited in the Survey of Current Business are for 1972. They are:

National average per capita personal income $4,492.
"Right-to-work" states average (19) $3,959.
Non-"Right-to-Work" states $4,707, Iowa average per capita personal income $4,300.

Congressional Black Caucus News

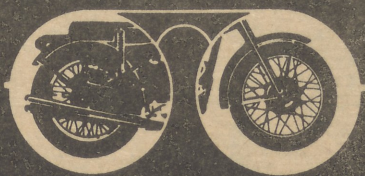

It is urgent that the U.S. Government make commitments for grain deliveries after October when the harvest is expected. Due to the prolonged continuation of the drought and the late arrival, uneven distribution, and periodic interruption of the rains, substantial food shortages are likely in the year to come, at least in certain areas. We urge the U.S. Government to take every precaution against food shortages and to commit grain and protein supplements with a margin of safety adequate to cover the inevitable underestimates which inadequate communications always produce.

The Caucus is not convinced that the preservation of human life and culture in the Sahel is of sufficient importance to the officials of the U.S. Government. In particular, we note with alarm that Portugal whose colonial policies in Africa are officially disapproved by the U.S. has been receiving $30 million worth of feed grain with which to build up a commercial dairy industry, in direct competition with the human needs of the Sahel. The Caucus opposes the diversion of food away from Africa to feed the animals of a colonial regime responsible for brutal repression in Africa. We demand that human life take priority.

IMPLICATIONS FOR U.S. AFRICA POLICY

Due largely to the emerging interest in Africa among many communities in the U.S., the United States has become the major supplier of relief food to the Sahel. This relief effort should be supported by a generous appropriation to a development program and a genuine commitment to cooperation on a regional basis.

The disaster in the Sahel has brought home to us the ineffectiveness of U.S. aid to Africa. U.S. aid tends to be concentrated on the relatively prosperous States, where U.S. strategic interests lie; this is an untenable basis for an aid policy, which should be seen as an impartial expression of concern for and solidarity with the poorest areas.

In the long run, last-minute relief efforts are a huge and wasteful drain on U.S. aid resources. The airlift in Mali may have cost as much as the construction of an adequate road system, which has been repeatedly requested by the countries concerned; this would have ensured distribution of food in the years ahead. This painful lesson should lead U.S. aid officials to seek a new policy of anticipating food shortages, and planning ahead, in cooperation with international agencies, to provide the tools with which the countries themselves can plan their own development without major disasters like the seven-year Sahelian drought.

Development is, in the end, cheaper than emergency relief. Should the U.S. revise its aid policy for Africa on the basis of maximum development potential it could, as a disinterested participant in the struggle for economic self-determination in Africa, avoid the malign neglect of current short-sighted foreign aid policies.

Your Court System

Charlotte, N.C. — The state and federal courts continue to work together to keep Jim Grant locked up. He is a leader in the black liberation movement in North Carolina.

The U.S. Supreme Court in Washington refused to hear Grant's appeal from a 10-year sentence for helping two young men to run off to Canada. The jury that tried him was illegally constituted because it discriminated against black people, according to Grant's attorneys.

In Raleigh, the North Carolina Court of Appeals upheld sentences given to Grant, T.J. Reddy, and Charles Parker, the Charlotte Three. All are accused of burning a riding stable in Charlotte. Their sentences total 55 years.

The appeals court disposed of their case by saying: "Defendants cannot expect the impossible — a perfect trial." This was in response to 56 pages of errors cited by attorneys for the three men in telling about their trial in July, 1972.

The high court did not discuss the fact that the Charlotte Three were found guilty on the testimony of two young men who were granted immunity from prosecution if they helped to send the Three to prison. However, former Vice-President Spiro Agnew covered this question when discussing his own case on television on Oct. 15, he said:

"The government's case for extortion, bribery, and conspiracy rested entirely on the testimony of individuals who had already confessed to criminal acts and who had been granted total or partial immunity in exchange for their testimony against me..."

"Will the prosecutors be restricted and controlled in their ability to grant immunity and partial immunity to coax from frightened defendants accusations against higher targets?"

"Certainly these procedures need closer supervision by the courts and defense counsel and the bar. As things now stand, immunity is an open invitation to perjury. In the hands of an ambitious prosecutor it can amount to legalized extortion and bribery."

CEEBS PUBLISHES COLLEGE GUIDEBOOK FOR MINORITIES

"Young men, young women — brothers and sisters! This booklet is about serious business." The business is education after high school for students from minority communities — black, brown and Native American. The booklet is GOING RIGHT ON.

Just published by the college Entrance Examination Board, GOING RIGHT ON is the only booklet of its kind designed to help a large group of minority students decide if they want to continue their education and to encourage them to consider going to college.

The 44-page booklet, written by Carl E. Drummond, former director of Afro-Americans for Educational Opportunity in Cambridge, Massachusetts, contains hints, advice and general information about things like:

- * Different types of colleges and universities — public, private, black, two and four-year, vocational/technical.

- * What to look for — size, location, religious affiliation, ethnic composition, curriculum.

- * Finding out about and getting into a college — application forms, fees, grade reports, recommendations.

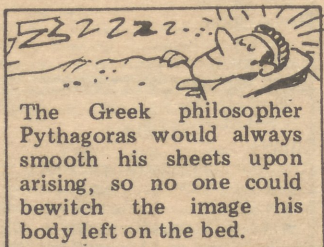

- * Financial aid — what it is, how to apply, how aid is awarded and what kinds are available.

- * College admissions and achievement tests — what they're all about, test schedules and test-taking hints.

- * Getting more detailed information — from counselors, libraries, directories and agencies.

"GOING RIGHT ON was prepared with the help of students and professionals, concerned and knowledgeable about education, who come from the black, brown and native American communities," reports Lawrence V. Barclay, the College Board's minority affairs officer. "The author himself has been able to draw on a wealth of personal experience as a member of the black community, as a student, and as a recruiter for institutions that offer post-high school education."

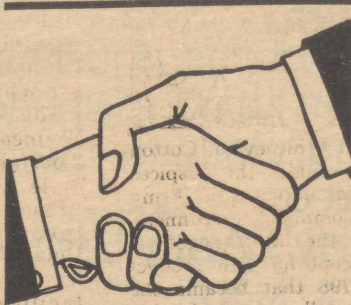

The first printing of GOING RIGHT ON was made possible by a grant from Aetna Life & Casualty, Hartford, Connecticut. Therefore, the College Board was able to distribute supplies without charge to schools and agencies across the country that serve minority communities.

"Love thy enemy..."

This is a religious precept that challenges the mind. Love my enemy when I can barely deal calmly with my in-laws? Yet this hard saying has validity in a world where even a small act of violence has such unforeseeable repercussions. Scientific advances have heightened our mutual vulnerability. Only love and non-violence can sustain us. We may concede violence is in all of us. So is God. Try His way. It works. Get together with your family, friends, neighbors, or co-workers to discuss the problems of violence and how you can work together to help solve them. children.

"He's going to be punished, but the punishment is going to be primarily supporting five children and a widow," Criminal Court Judge Dan Satin said.

Larry Clark pleaded guilty to second-degree murder in the shooting death of Rudolph Smith, 36. Police said Smith, a member of a local band, was shot in the chest and back of the head at point-blank range after an argument between the two Miami men April 18.

Satin said that if Clark was sentenced to life in prison he would be a burden to taxpayers and the widow would receive no financial help except from public assistance.

"We would not be coddling this man," Satin added. "In my judgement this type of sentence would be more effective because his energies would be directed at helping the widow and children of the man whose life he took."

Satin asked Mrs. Smith if she thought Clark should be jailed or made to make amends.

Mrs. Smith, who works as a $60-a-week cook to support herself and her children ranging in age from an infant to 13 years, said she did not know.

"She never would have to see him (Clark) and she would have some help with the children," Satin said.

Satin said he would decide whether to adopt the plan which would involve Clark, a high school graduate with no previous criminal record, taking a vocational training program and spending some time in prison. He said Clark had some training in auto body and fender work.

Defense lawyer George Nicholas described Satin's idea as "novel and new," a fresh approach and something we should not dismiss lightly.

But prosecutor James Woodard said it was "disgusting, abhorrent and abominable."

AN EQUAL OPPORTUNITY EMPLOYER 4T

Electrician Apprentice

In Taik Lee was selected earlier this year by the electrician's Joint Apprenticeship Committee to receive training as an electrician apprentice. In Taik, who was born and raised in Korea, has spent the past four years of his life in the United States.

In March of this year, having become slightly bored with his job as a warehouseman, he decided to visit the State Employment Service to check out other job opportunities. While there he visited with Merle Haley the Director of the Apprenticeship Information Center. In reviewing his background it was discovered that In Taik had spent three years at the Hanyang Electronics School in Seoul, Korea. With this information in mind, the possibilities of an electrical apprentice were discussed. Shortly thereafter he was sent to the National Electrical Contractors Association to make application for their apprenticeship program, and was eventually selected for training by their A.C. Committee.

This committee determines the need for apprentices in the locality, establishes minimum apprenticeship standards, and schedules a diversified, rotating work program.

As an electrician apprentice, In Taik has four years of on-the-job training to go through before he can be certified as a journeyman electrician. In addition, apprentices are required to attend several hours of related classroom instruction each year. His performance in the classroom as well as on the job is checked thoroughly to insure that he has both the desire and aptitude to make good in his chosen field.

Information on this trade as well as others in the state of Iowa is available through the Apprenticeship Information Center, Iowa State Employment Service, and the Des Moines Area Outreach Program, 1223 6th Avenue.

Head Start Program

"FUTURE SHOCK", is the theme of an up coming "Benefit Style Show" for the Head Start

That Eli Whitney (of Cotton Gin fame), under the auspices or financial support of Army Materiel Command forerunners, developed the interchangeable parts concept for gun production in 1798 that became the seedbed for all mass production processes?

Program. The Greater Opportunities, Incorporated 4-County Head Start Program serves approximately 400 pre-school children in Polk, Warren, Jasper and Marion. Head Start is a learning experience for socially or economically disadvantaged pre-school children.

This event will take place on Wednesday, December 5th with 2 performances 8 & 10 p.m.. The Style Show will be held at the "Black Playboy Club which is located at West 9th and University Avenue. Mr. Haskins is donating the use of his facilities for this up coming event. The Head Start Staff, parents and Head Start Volunteers will be working to make this style show a great success. Mr. James Piggee and Ms. Linda Smart are busy coordinating the show.

Donations from this show are going to be put into the Head Start Emergency Fund. The purpose of this Emergency Fund is to assist Head Start parents in emergency crisis situations. And the additional use of these funds will be to assist those families who may be slightly above income and who are requested to pay a fee for Head Start Services.

We feel that even though the Federal Government has seen fit to charge a sliding scale fee for over income families, the present circumstances will not allow payment of these fees on an on going basis without working hardships, and we cannot see the children being deprived of the benefits of Head Start because of a few dollars.

Round the City

By Ken Warren

As I sit here and reflect on the tenure of the present City Council it makes me wonder if there is a change in the present physical structure of this group, will it be any better for our people or our community? The list of candidates aren't in my opinion very impressive, and speaking from a black man's viewpoint they do not make my imagination soar to any new heights. As I can determine they have not had the type of exposure to deal with the problems of poor blacks or for that matter poor whites either. If at one time they did fit that mold they have long removed themselves from these ranks and surely have forgotten from whence they came. In all the statements of their intentions if they are elected, I have not read where they mentioned they intend to eliminate any of the human suffering within our community. I would have been more appreciative of the slate of candidates had they addressed themselves to the eradication of some of the social problems we still face. Such as endeavoring through involving the federal and private business sectors to relieve the welfare rolls by the creation of meaningful employment, the opening or partial opening of closed trade unions so people can with dignity elevate their own living and economic standards.

With the proper leadership there can be the redirection of monies and expertise within the city structure to help people to become self sustaining and productive members of the community. This could be done by the same people who are financially and morally supporting some of these candidates. It is time the present and hopeful city officials realize that ignoring, whether intentional or unintentional will not make our problems go away, and the burden of these ills rest upon the shoulders of all of us. To be sure a chain is only as strong as it's weakest link. Building attractive complexes, new houses, amusement centers or any number of other physical achievements are worthless if people do not have the economic power to participate in these pursuits. I do not want to be a prophet of doom but many cities have withered and died because they did not recognize or pay heed to the internal problems that they did not take positive action to rectify. I really cannot see much the present council has done and if the people decree that a change is to occur, I sincerely hope the new council will be realistic in it's approach to our community problems; that is the utilization of the total community for the betterment of all the people. In this effort every segment must make a extra effort, or to coin a phrase "TAKE A GIANT STEP FOR THE SAKE OF HUMANITY".

Social Security

"If you pay a household worker $50 or more in cash wages in any 3-month, quarter—January - March, April - June, July - September, or October - December," Sladek said, "you must send a report of wages, along with the social security contribution, to the Internal Revenue Service within one month after the end of the quarter."

The wage report and social security contributions for the last quarter of 1973 are due by January 31, 1974, Sladek said.

Homemakers may file the report on an "Employer's Quarterly Tax Return for Household Employees (for Social Security)." This form is available at any Internal Revenue Service Office.

For 1973, the employee contribution is 5.85 percent, and the employer pays a matching

General Electric Foundation

BRIDGEPORT, CONN. — Grants totaling $100,000 to the Schools of Engineering at four predominantly Black universities have been announced by the General Electric Foundation.

A grant of $25,000 has been made to each of these schools: Howard University in Washington, D.C.; North Carolina A&T State University, Greensboro, N.C.; Southern University in Baton Rouge, La., and Tennessee State University in Nashville, Tenn.

According to Dr. Donald J. Watson, Secretary of the Foundation, "The funds in each case are intended to supplement those resources normally available to the Dean of Engineering, and are for unrestricted use according to the needs and priorities established by his office.

"Significant usage will be concentrated on increasing the number and quality of Black Americans enrolled in the Schools of Engineering and on improving all aspects of the schools' programs designed to assist in the retention of such students through graduation."

Dr. Watson, noted that in any program designed to increase the number of minority engineers, "it is imperative that we provide continued support to the predominantly Black engineering schools which have, over the years, provided the preponderance of Black engineers."

The grants are part of a more than $3,720,000 educational support package sponsored in 1973 by the General Electric Company and the General Electric Foundation, an independent trust established by the Company in 1952.

There are lots of great things about this new Flynn plastic gallon jug.

Actually our new plastic gallon jug is the next best thing to the cow herself for keeping Flynn Milk fresh. The re-sealable screw on cap insures complete freshness. The built-in handle makes it easy to carry and easy to pour from. The plastic is translucent so you can always see how much milk is left. Of course, we wouldn't be so excited about the container if we weren't so sure about what we put inside it. It costs no more than milk in waxed cartons. And you pay no deposit. Beauty Liberian Style

by Habiba

"How beautiful they are!" was a comment heard at a recent event sponsored by the Forest Avenue Gospel Temple of 1121 Forest Ave. in Des Moines. The comment was made by a gentleman in the audience, who was referring to the Black women modeling Liberian fashions presented by Dr. Dorothy Newbury of Cornell College in Mt. Vernon, Iowa.

Dr. Newbury is a trader; she owns a small shop in Mt. Vernon where she sells Liberian jewelry, artifacts, fabrics and clothing. The fashions seen at the "Liberian Boutique" once belonged to Mrs. William Tolbert, the wife of Liberia's President. Mrs. Tolbert, in a recent visit to this country, gave the fashions to Dr. Newbury and asked that she sell them so that the proceeds might go to the Liberian elementary school that President & Mrs. Tolbert sponsor. Next month, Dr. Newbury will be leaving for Liberia to attend President Tolbert's Inauguration. Liberia is the African country settled by ex-slaves who sought a life free of oppression.

The Liberian Boutique was the fashion show's title; and Brenda Carter of the Forest Ave. Church was responsible for arranging this event. Brenda says her purpose in presenting the show was twofold; firstly, she was hoping to raise money for the Pastor's Aid Club, and secondly, she felt that it was important for the community (especially young people), to be exposed to African culture and its unique beauty. She contacted Dr. Newbury, and the arrangements were made. The show was given on Saturday, Nov. 3rd at 12:30 pm at the Ramada Inn in downtown Des Moines.

Anyone fortunate enough to have seen the show will remember not only the beauty of the clothing, but the beauty of the models as well. In western clothing, each of the models would certainly be declared as attractive women, but in Liberian fashions they became more than attractive, they were beautiful. Traditional Liberian clothing is at once modest and sensual. The movement of the cloth becomes the movement of the body, and a graceful woman is twice as graceful in these definitely non-European fashions. The gentleman who exclaimed about the beauty of the models was reacting to a style of dress designed to be both practical and appealing.

The basic costume worn by the models was the lapa and buba. Although the lapa is recognized as a floor length skirt, it is actually a length of measure; that is, a lapa is a piece of fabric 7 feet by 4 feet. Lapas are not only used as skirts but also as head ties and blouses. The buba is a little like a shirt, it is influenced by western styles of dress. For daily wear, cotton is the fabric; the Liberian climate makes other fabrics impractical.

Perhaps the two most interesting facts brought to light by Dr. Newbury were these. Fanti (cotton) cloth that is worn in Liberia is manufactured in Europe and Japan for the African trade and is not available for purchase except in Africa. And a cultural note; the most vulgar thing a tribal woman can do in Liberia is expose her legs. Imagine the impact when we visit the country wearing our best minis!

The Liberian Boutique was a learning experience for all who attended. Brenda plans to do it again soon; there was so much of interest and so little time. It is apparent from this event that styles of clothing have a greater effect on the eye than one might imagine. It seems that African clothing can change ordinarily attractive women into very beautiful women. At least that's the impression that the men in the audience gave!

Myra Bolin wears the traditional lapa, buba and head-tie.

That Eli Whitney (of Cotton Gin fame), under the auspices or financial support of Army Materiel Command forerunners, developed the interchangeable-parts concept for gun production in 1798 that became the seedbed for all mass production processes?

That national weather-reporting duties were first assigned to the Army Signal Corps by the U.S. Congress in 1870, and under the leadership of Signal Corps meteorologists, the first truly nationwide weather service was developed?

That military research has developed a new series of pesticides that, unlike most pesticides in commercial production today, can be degraded easily to nontoxic fragments and as a result do not upset the ecological balance?

That you can get a free reprint of a magazine article about military research and its value in the civilian world? It's available by writing to: Reprint Editor, American Defense Preparedness Association, 819 Union Trust Building, Washington, D. C. 20005.

Why Blacks Kill Themselves

Why despite the Black pride movement that seems to have taken hold, are young Black people killing themselves at an alarming rate?

According to Dr. Alvin Poussaint, a Black professor of psychiatry at Harvard Medical School, Black suicides have risen 400 per cent in the past five years in urban areas such as Chicago. Dr. Poussaint feels that the Black pride movement has not been able to counteract the daily ghetto conditions that make Black pride more of a dream than a reality. In other words, the immediate environment is the most influential factor in a person's life, and can undo a hard-fought search for pride and self-esteem more effectively than anything else.

The solution to this growing problem seems to lie far beyond any mere attitude change. If immediate environment is the number one cause of Black suicides, then the most important step would seem to be the eradication of this death trap. The process is lengthy and involved and requires the combining of political and economic efforts. Political means exercising your voting rights, it means electing into municipal office those persons who will do for you and not to you. Economic means patronizing existing community (Black) businesses and encouraging more people to enter the realm of business. It is not enough to talk that talk; our suicide rate makes that very clear. Walking that walk is the ONLY solution; and unless we begin to do something quickly, how many of us will be around take the necessary actions?

BILLY JOE WILLIAMS, or William Joseph Williams is one of our most fascinating personalities on The Urban Campus, of Des Moines Area Community College. His jolly behaviour belies his basic seriousness. He is a 27 year old divorced man who readily informs one that he is the father of three darling little girls: Bridgette 10, a fifth grader at Windsor School; Billiejo, 8, a third grader at Smouse School; and Brette, 3, whom he plans to place in Soul Street Day Care Center under Marion Eppwright's superior guidance.

WILLIAMS IS A VIETNAM VETERAN, having served six months short of four years in that War. He was assigned to Fort Ord, California. He was an escort at the Monterey Jazz Festival in '65 and '66. He attended a disc jockey school for six months and in this capacity met many show business people. He served as caddy in the Bing Crosby Golf Tournament for two years. He was a member of an all-Army Basketball Team and traveled extensively in the Western Part of the U.S. between '64 and '67 at which time he returned to Des Moines.

UPON HIS RETURN? WILLIAMS entered the employe of the CEP Program as a work training specialist. He has enjoyed seeing many of his clients succeed. He has been involved in people programs and drug programs since 1967. He is presently working parttime in Model Cities Program. He is a fulltime student at the Urban Center, in the Drug and Alcohol Program. As soon as he receives his Associate Arts degree he plans returning to San Francisco. He plans continuing his education at the University of California at Berkley and reside in San Francisco.

BILLY JOE IS THE SON OF Mr. and Mrs. J. Walter Thompson and Felix F.W. Williams. He has eight brothers and sisters. He has two married sisters, Mrs. Tim Barker, and Mrs. Clifford Hobbs. His oldest brother, LaVerne, is chief engineer at the new Logan High Rise Apartments. A brother, Felix, Jr., is married to the former Elaine Brooks and is employed at the Delavan Manufacturing Co. Walter is one of the first Black fireman in the City. Tonly, who is orientation instructor at the CEP Program. And then there is Mike, who is a liaison officer for the City and a school teacher at Amos Hiatt Junior High School. Bobby, the younger brother is a 9th grader at Amos Hiatt Junior High.

WILLIAMS IS A GROUP COORDINATOR at MIDAC and is available on Thursday nights 7:00 to 8:00 p.m. He can be found on the tennis courts anytime.

AFTER LAST WEEK'S UPHEAVALS, Williams has this to say to the people of Des Moines, "Wake up before we all die. Let's get it together." He is the tall, slender guy with the red and white tennis bag and who wears a red, black and green beret!

Medallions

A freshly-minted supply of silver and bronze Terrace Hill Preservation Medallions will be put on sale by Iowa banks November 12.

When the medallions were first offered last winter, the initial supply of some 45,000 was exhausted quickly. An additional 15,000 silver medallions and 27,000 bronze medallions will now be available through the banks in November and December.

The 99.9% pure silver medallions, which sell for $15, and the bronze medallions, which sell for $2.50, feature a relief picture of the Victorian Terrace Hill home on one side and the Great Seal of Iowa on the other. One and one half inches in diameter, they were designed and struck by the Franklin Mint of Philadelphia.

Baha'i Celebration

On November 11 the Baha'is of Des Moines will celebrate the 156th anniversary of the birth of Baha'u'llah, Prophet-Founder of the Baha'i Faith.

The observance will be at Drake University, Old Main, in the Administration Lounge at 7:00 p.m. Sunday November 11th.

A film will be shown: The New Time Religion. There will be music, interpretive dances and short talks about the history of the Baha'i Faith.

The Baha'i Faith was first proclaimed in Persia in 1863. The Founder, Baha'u'llah, taught that in order to establish unity among all of humanity, prejudice in all forms must be eliminated. Among his other teachings were equality of men and women, compulsory education, the creation of a world government, and harmony between science and religion. There are Baha'is in more than 5,000 communities in the United States and 300 nations and territories of the world.

CONGRESSIONAL ACTION

The House version of the Foreign Aid Bill contains a provision for $30 million in backing for reconstruction in the Sahel, which was introduced by Congressman Charles C. Diggs, Jr. The Senate Bill contains a weaker clause, without any specific commitment, and we consider it essential that the conferees agree to retain the House version. We appeal for letters to be sent immediately to Congressmen Morgan, Zablocki, Fascell, Mailliard and Frelinghuysen, and to Senators Fulbright, Case, Church, Aiken and Humphrey, urging them to retain the House provision for the Sahel.

In addition, we call on the responsible officials of the U.S. Government to give top priority to work out a long-term development program with (1) the six countries concerned and their permanent Interstate Committee; (2) the United Nations and its agencies involved in regional programming; and (3) other donor countries. We deplore the duplication and uneven concentration with resources in certain sectors and areas which ultimately unbalance the whole economy and environment of the region. We call for an integrated, carefully coordinated African Sahel Development Program.

We also support the appeal of the six Sahel countries for the rescheduling of their debt burden as an essential first step towards the recovery of their economies. We endorse their request for the financing of the dam projects designed for the conservation and efficient use of their water resources-projects which for years have been largely ignored by the donor community.

ENERGY TALKS

By Warren B. Davis
Director, Energy Economics
Gulf Oil Corporation

"Should the consumer's number one objective be the lowest possible price for his gasoline and fuel oil?"

"What the consumer's first objective ought to be is to have enough gasoline and fuel oil to satisfy his needs. Once he is assured of that, then his second objective should be to obtain them at the lowest possible price. Prices so low that they result in inadequate supply are not in the best interests of consumers."

retrospect

by Allen Ashby

Another winless week-end for two of our major football teams. One can't help but wonder what is wrong at Iowa U. This coach was strong on defense, and last year he had a tough defense, but just couldn't get any points. This year he not only doesn't get many points, but his defense seems to have collapsed. One of the first things a new coach does when trying to regain a losing team's confidence, is to construct a tough defense. Then he works on the offense. New Iowa's coach has to work on both. Yet, Saturday there were times when it seemed as if the Hawks might get it all together. Maybe next time. Butch Caldwell didn't look bad at quarter, and they came up with a hard running fullback. Maybe they will get em next time out.

And while I am on the subject of Big Ten football, I got a look at Ohio's State's black quarterback, and I can't wait to see him and Michigan's Dennis Franklin when they get together. That game just might decide the all conference signal caller. Actually Iowa's trouble are largely manpower as I see it. They can go out and get maybe twenty five or thirty guys who are probably as good as any of the rest in the conference. But, getting forty of fifty men is almost too much. So a return to two way football would give the teams like Iowa, Indiana, and Northwestern a chance.

Iowa State continues to look as if this might be the week for the big win. But they never seem to quite get it done. Do you know, I can't help but think the Cyclones are going to surprise someone before the year is out. But, my pool hall coach says they better hurry. Maybe they will. Drake got on the win column, and I guess they were happy. They also seem to have found that big, hard running back that all teams must have to make their ground game go. We will tell more about the Bulldogs next week. But I didn't think Drake was going to keep up with the other two schools in losses. No way.

WHAT IS THE NATIONAL MEDICAL ASSOCIATION?

The National Medical Association is a predominantly black organization of some 6,000 American physicians. Its membership is distributed throughout the United States and in several foreign countries.

The Foundations was formed by the NMA at its 1967 annual meeting in St. Louis, Mo. The NMAF is the vehicle for transforming the ideas and philosophies of the NMA membership into working programs.

The NMAF organizes and demonstrates health care projects and systems for the benefit of the inhabitants of inner-city and other medically deprived areas in the United States.

It also seeks to develop programs which would help to incorporate "both the poor and non-poor into a single system of high quality health care."

One of the NMAF's high priority tasks is the establishment of an Office of Statistical Studies and Surveys that will maintain, for the benefit of staff planners, up-to-date data banks on health manpower and health related subjects.

The NMAF is about to open a multimillion dollar, four-story, 256-bed Extended Care and Rehabilitation Facility in Washington, D. C. It will provide both ambulatory and nursing home care for the elderly and poor in the capital's inner-city community.

The Detroit Medical and Surgical Center was opened in 1971 by a group of physicians from the NMA's local chapter. It offers comprehensive health care services to both indigent and non-indigent residents.

The NMAF is sponsoring health career programs in Washington, D. C., and the Watts-Willowbrook area of Los Angeles.

Leslie C. Alexander, MD, is president of the NMAF, and E. Leon Cooper, MD, is its executive director. NMAF headquarters is located in Washington, D. C.

High Schools

Dowling made the playoffs again, and the other Metropolitan schools aren't saying much about what they are going to do about the Irish. But I would guess, that unless public opinion is so much against it, that Dowling is halfway out of the league right now. But, the other schools beat the Maroons in other sports, so why worry about football? Roosevelt has dominated tennis so long that it was really big news when they didn't win the district meet this time in the boy's singles. That was probably the first time for at least twenty years that they hadn't. But there has been no cry to get them out of the tennis league. The Riders were dominant in basketball for years, too, but nobody suggested that the rest of the schools quit playing them. But, if you want my opinion, the reason for Dowling's wins in football are simple, and the other schools could do the same things if they would. I believe the coach uses iron discipline, and works the boys so hard that they are actually glad when game time rolls around. They are in condition, and they can go all out all the way. That is winning football, no matter where you play it, if the other things are anywhere near equal, and in Des Moines they are. The other schools have as many players as Dowling does; they are just as big as the Dowling boys, and in most cases just as fast. So, it all boils down to motivation. I bet that next year this deal will make the Dowling boys rougher than corn cobs, and they will probably have another all winning year, because the other school principals have really given them the motivation.

Black Schools

Tennessee State rolls along to an unbeaten season. They scalped Chattanooga 44 to 7. Grambling, has slipped in the ratings, now being in the second ten, but they did in North Carolina State 62 to 7. Other scores: Morgan State 27, Howard 7. Alcorn 44, Miss Valley 0. Bethune Cookman 32, Alabama State 0. I think these guys have only lost one game. J.C. Smith 15, North Carolina Central 7. Livingstone 14, Elizabeth City 0. Muskegee 27, Miles 0. West Carolina 41, Florida A&M 9. Lincoln U. 23, Central Missouri State 13, Jackson State 44, Texas Southern 14. Lamar Henry 53, Bluefield State 12.
