

ACOA Says:

Don't go Gulf, "Boycott"

Cabinda, shown circled on map, is the site of the last major oil strike by Gulf Oil on the continent of Africa.

The American Committee on Africa has released a new brochure, WHY WE PROTEST GULF OIL IN ANGOLA, to support the Gulf Boycott campaign that is growing in many communities. Gulf Oil is the largest U.S. investor in Angola, Mozambique, and Guinea-Bissau where the African people are now fighting for liberation from Portugal's brutal colonial rule. Portugal could not afford its colonial wars in Africa without the important financial support received from foreign corporations such as Gulf (Gulf's 1972 tax and royalty payments totalled $61 million) and military supplies received through NATO powers, including the U.S.

WHY WE PROTEST GULF OIL IN ANGOLA gives extensive and up-to-date documentation of Gulf's role with Portugal in Angola and how Gulf's activities support Portuguese colonialism. The brochure also outlines the growing Gulf Boycott campaign, which has received the support of Congressional, community and church leaders. The Gulf Boycott campaign is part of broader international efforts, supported by strong resolutions in the United Nations and by the Organization of African Unity and the World Council of Churches, to end activities by foreign corporations which support Portuguese colonial and apartheid rule in southern Africa.

Gulf Oil is the largest single U.S. investor in "Portuguese" Africa. Gulf began prospecting in 1964 in Cabinda, Angola (a small enclave located between Zaire and the People's Republic of the Congo), making its first important oil discovery in 1966. By the end of 1972 Gulf's investments in Angola had reached $209 million and Portugal, which granted the Angolan concession, now derives a large income in taxes and royalties from Gulf's oil production. Payments by Gulf for 1972 operations will reach $61 million, an amount which represents 13% of the total Angolan provincial budget for the year and 60% of the province's 1972 military expenses.

Angola, as well as Mozambique and Guinea-Bissau, are still ruled by Portugal as colonies in defiance of the world community and the people of these countries, who are now engaged in wars of liberation. In Angola there has been open armed revolt for independence from Portuguese rule since 1961. The major Angolan movement, the MPLA (People's Movement for the Liberation of Angola), has gained strategic control over the eastern third of the Citizens Express Views: Strong Objection to Phasing Out Settlement House Assn.

Responding to a meeting Tuesday called by the United Way in the Hawley Building to plan a program for agencies under the jurisdiction of the Settlement House Association which had been phased out by a vote earlier, citizens from all areas turned out and in no uncertain terms expressed resentment and dismay at the action.

Donald Taylor, president of the United Way board of directors, in his opening statement at the meeting assured those present that the $185,000 originally earmarked for the Settlement House Association "will not vanish into thin air." He said it would be used to continue programs at the center, in one way or another.

Taylor said that the main reason for the action of the board was that less than half of the members on the board were citizens from the neighborhood served.

The statements did not satisfy the group many of whom live in the area of the centers and their services have been utilized for many years.

DIFFERENTIAL IN FUNDING

Speakers complained that large sums were being spent on other agencies while the board's plan would strip the Settlement House agencies of funds which would be channeled to other projects. They reminded the

Black Mayors Elected

Black's in this fall's voting were elected or re-elected mayor of at least 10 U.S. cities, according to a survey conducted by the Joint Center for Political Studies in Washington, D.C.

The cities varied in size from the tiny town of Greenville, Ga., to the giant, decaying metropolis of Detroit. And although there were some key defeats in Miami, Louisville and Houston, to name a few, many analysts said the diverse successes represented a continuing drive toward Black political power.

The winners included the following: Maynard Jackson in Atlanta, Richmond Hill in Greenville, Ga. Coleman Young of Detroit, Clarence Lightner in Raleigh, N.C., Lyman Parker in Grand Rapids, Mich., Howard Lee of Chapel Hill, N.C., Dervey Lomax of College Park, Md., James McGee in Dayton, Ohio, William Hart in East Orange, New Jersey, Luska J. Twyman in Glasgow, Kentucky.

Voting patterns in most places, did not adhere strictly to racial lines. Of the ten cities where Blacks were elected in October and November, eight have white majorities, and two of them—Atlanta and Detroit—are about 50-50.

board further that in the 1960's when conditions were pretty bad these centers had served to influence and steady the troubled waters and several members had been called on to quell the disturbances.

The meeting was adjourned for the purpose of enabling the Wilkie House, Julia B. Mayer Center and Roadside Settlement to come up with a program operation.

COMPLAINTS NOT NEW

Edward Harris, president of the Settlement House Association, said that the complaints voiced by the speakers at the meeting had been urged on the board for sometime but ignored. They now have the sentiment of the people. A program cannot be worked out in one meeting but that they had at least shown their resentment to the recommendations made by the study committee upon which the action was taken to phase out the association.

BASIS FOR BOARD ACTION RECOMMENDATIONS

Recommendations from the committee were:

1. Central office to be moved to one of the Settlement Houses thus reducing part of the overhead cost.
2. Phasing out Julia B. Mayer Center.
3. A consolidation of the full time staff which is now at Julia B. Mayer Center to the other houses.
4. To explore with Day Care Center expansion of their program to include a definite before and after school program.
5. Explore with Soul Village and possible use of facilities.

6. Concerning meaningful programs in houses.

7. ...The development of cultural enrichment programs for teenagers and a participation of youth in the planning of their own programs at Wilkie House.

It was felt that in many cases where other neighborhood based agencies were conducting programs similar to those of the SHA, these other programs seemed to have greater involvement of residents.

BOARD MEMBERS

Mrs. Mae Shetworth, Frank Lowery, Mrs. Cecilia Diaz, Frank Bailey and Mrs. Effie Walker are the Negro members of the United Way board.

No Negro members of the study committee and only one of the few members of the United Way Board Mrs. Ettie Walker was present at the meeting. Ed Harris is president of the association and Ms. Ross Steinkrause is its director.

Mr. Harris reminded the board that individual centers had been handicapped for want of repairs and that inadequate salaries paid the Directors made it difficult to maintain efficient staff.

John Taylor, representing Julia B. Mayer Center, told the board that individual center boards could not compete with federally financed Center boards because their members are paid to attend meetings. Lupe Romes explained the programs carried on at the Roadside Settlement.

James B. Morris appeared on behalf of the continuation of Wilkie House as a Community Center as requested by the Cowles Foundation at the time the original grant.

Eating Their Own Crow

Fortunately, the Settlement House Association is not taking this proposal passively and are fighting back with people living in the community. No doubt the board will take heed and make plans to help solve the difficulty and maintain these centers so they can function because they are an asset to the community.

We still have some Negroes who insist that the race is making no progress. I do not subscribe to this view. True, there are people who think otherwise but at last that does not dominate selection of football players. As Negroes become better educated and trained to do their job in not only athletics but in other fields, they will continue to receive their deserved recognition.

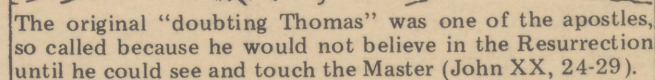

State Department officials have claimed that passage of the bill will "be consistent with important foreign policy interests of the United States government."

National Urban Fellows Sought In Des Moines

Applications are being sought in the Des Moines area by the National Urban Fellows, a nationwide program now in its fifth year of recruiting and training young people for careers as urban administrators. Frank Logue NUF Director, announced that applications are now being accepted for the sixth Fellowship year, which begins on August 1, 1974 and ends on August 30, 1975.

The program is sponsored by the National League of Cities, the United States Conference of Mayors and Yale University. It is supported by grants from private foundations and payments from cities to which Fellows are assigned. NUF enters into contracts with cities throughout the country for the training of Fellows by means of assignments to top-level administrators.

The National Urban Fellows are people in their twenties and thirties, mainly women and members of minority groups, who are selected competitively on the basis of their leadership potential. During the first five years of the program, Fellowships are awarded to 133 men and women, primarily blacks, Mexican-Americans and Puerto Ricans. Graduate Fellows are now employed in key positions in city, county and state government throughout the country.

The core of the Fellowship program is a nine-month on-the-job assignment as special assistant to a mayor, city manager or other urban administrator. In these assignments, Fellows have worked closely with Mayors Wes Uhlman of Seattle, Neil Goldschmidt of Portland, Kenneth Gibson of Newark, Richard Lugar of Indianapolis, and Tom Bradley of Los Angeles.

The 1974-75 Fellowship year will begin in August, 1974 with a short, intensive urban studies course at Yale University. From September, 1974 to June, 1975 Fellows gain nine months experience in urban administration performing staff assignments for the mayors and city managers with whom they will be working.

An applicant must be a citizen of the United States between 24 and 39 and must have a bachelor's degree or, in exceptional cases, equivalent experience. Experience will be considered potentially equivalent where written application materials demonstrate a high level of analytical ability and writing skill.

Other requirements are that an applicant must have been employed fulltime for at least two years, preferably in an administrative capacity, and must have demonstrated, in his or her career to date, exceptional ability, leadership potential and commitment to the solution of urban problems.

Mr. Logue said that although the deadline for receipt of completed applications is March 1, 1974, applications should be submitted as far in advance of that date as possible.

Additional information on the program may be obtained by writing to National Urban Fellows, P.O. Box 1475, New Haven, Connecticut 06506.

VETERANS ADMINISTRATION QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Q — Are World War II veterans eligible for pensions? I am 65 and my wife and I need more than the $3,000 annual income we now live on. I served in World War II but I wasn't wounded.

A — Any 65-year-old veteran who served a minimum of 90 days and received a discharge other than dishonorable is considered permanently and totally disabled for pension purposes. A married man with your income could be eligible for $69 per month pension at current rates.

Q — When a veteran who dies of service-connected causes is buried in a private cemetery, will the Veterans Administration pay the $150 plot allowance in addition to the $800 allowance for funeral expenses?

A — No. The $800 payment is for all funeral costs, including a burial plot. However, if death occurs in a VA facility, an additional amount is payable to transport the deceased to place of burial.

TWO WEEKS AGO, I wrote about 2 year old William Conrad White shown here with his mother, Mrs. Irene White and two brothers. In my story I told of his waking his mother at 3:00 a.m. singing a tiny tot song, "If you're happy and you know it, clap your hands and the remaining verses. Then next he rendered "One little Indian two little Indians," on up to ten little Indians. Here his mother put a stop to the concert.

MRS. IRENE WHITE'S entire household is involved in school: there's tiny William and his brothers at Tiny Tot Day Care and Irene is enrolled at the Urban Center where she is completing high school. Isn't that a lot to say for a mother of three?

IRENE WAS BORN IN Hollykanow, Mississippi, moved to Elizabeth, then to Cleveland, Miss. then to Des Moines. She is the daughter of Mrs. Lola White.

THIS COLUMN WISHES MRS. IRENE WHITE AND HER THREE SONS THE BEST IN THE WORLD BECAUSE THEY ARE ALL FOUR TRYING. We wish them the best in their efforts.

Black Medical Schools May Lose Federal Funds

((C), NMS) — With some black medical schools severely short of money and a few facing financial ruin, the Nixon administration is considering further cuts — or elimination — of federal funds.

The justification does not consider the conventional supply-and-demand equation, but is based on the administration's contention that health care services have not been available to everyone at a cost that both the individual and society can afford.

Actually, the administration has impounded the program's funds.

As a result, when health manpower legislation expires at the end of the fiscal year, so will the funds that have been pumped into the nation's medical schools.

Quite obviously, the most significantly affected institutions will be those which turn out a heavy number of black doctors, although a chief complaint of the administration is that not enough black and women students are being trained by programs.

Dr. Charles C. Edwards, assistant secretary for health at the Department of Health, Education and Welfare, said that the federal government in the last decade spent 3.5 billion on programs to train health care workers. He admits that the programs have been "highly successful in turning out more medical men," but doubts the program's effectiveness in bringing service to the people at an affordable price.

Thus, he argued "there is little reason" to invest large sums of money to further expand our capacity to train health professionals. "We have clearly moved beyond the point at which concerns about a shortage of positions were genuine," he said.

Edwards charged that the nation's medical schools have not adequately dealt with the uneven quality of health care, its uneven geographical distribution or the overproduction of specialists at the expense of training general practitioners. Nor, he said, have the schools done their best to make good health care available to the poor.

Medical schools have sharply criticized the Nixon administration's impoundment of funds, particularly those appropriated by Congress to help them increase minority student enrollment. Edwards, however, ignored the impoundment issue, although he acknowledged that many medical and dental schools are having financial problems.

While suggesting that "we should seriously attack the problem of minority and female under-representation in the problem of minority and female under-representation in the health professions," he also questioned "whether taxpayers should continue to be expected to subsidize tuition costs for medical students but not for students in other fields whose income expectations fall far below those of physicians."

Besides faulting medical schools for other shortcomings, Edwards criticized the "large percentage of faculty time spent on research" and the failure to devote sufficient attention to training young doctors to work more productively with other types of health personnel, such as nurses and physicians assistants. He termed efforts in this regard as "half-hearted and unsatisfactory".

Life Of 110-Year-Old Former Slave Set As TV Special

NEW YORK — "The Autobiography of Miss Jane Pittman," a two-hour dramatic special, based on a recent novel, about a one-time slave who lived to participate in the Civil Rights movement, will be sponsored by Xerox Corporation Thursday evening, Jan. 31 (8-10 o'clock,) over the CBS Television Network.

Cicely Tyson, an Academy award nominee last spring for her role in the movie "Sounder," stars in the title role. The special, filmed on location in and around Baton Rouge, La., was written by Tracy Keenan Wynn, based on Ernest J. Gaines's novel.

The epic story of this nation's southern blacks is told in the 110-year-life of "Miss Jane Pittman." Reflected in her "autobiography" are the period of slavery, the Reconstruction era and the Ku Klux Klan, the stirring events that led to the Supreme Court's desegregation rulings in 1954 and, finally, the birth of the Civil Rights movement.

More than the tale of a century of change, it's a warmly intimate history of one person's long life, of her loves and personal tragedies, her triumphs and her never-failing courage.

The supporting cast of "Miss Jane Pittman" features, among a number of Broadway, Off-Broadway and TV actors, folk singer Odetta and Haitian singer Josephine Premice.

John Korty directed the drama, produced by Bob Christiansen and Rick Rosenberg for Tomorrow Entertainment, Inc.

TREE

Keep your tree outside until you are ready to set it up.

For setting up your tree, use a sturdy stand that can hold water.

Set the tree so it doesn't block doorways, and away from sources of heat.

Keep the water container filled.

In trimming the tree, use flameproof decorations of glass or metal, not flammable cotton or paper.

According to the Fire Prevention Bureau, there is no effective way to fireproof your Christmas Tree. The boric acid, Borax and water solution commonly seen printed does not fireproof your tree.

LIGHTING

A metal tree should never be strung with electric lights. Instead, use off-the-tree lighting, with colored floodlights for safe and colorful illumination.

Inspect your lighting sets for fraying and loose sockets. Discard damaged sets. Make sure the ones you use bear the UL label. Avoid overloading your electric circuits.

Have a separate switch at some distance from the tree for turning the lights on and off.

Never leave tree lights burning when you go out or to bed.

Check the needles around the lights from time to time. If they begin to turn brown, change the position of the lights.

Decorative lighting should not be so concentrated as to overload circuits.

HEALTH & SCIENCE DENTAL SHORTS

In Central Africa among Wawira tribes, men pointed their teeth to attract women. In early Japan married women dyed their teeth black to discourage their husbands' jealousy of other men. Black teeth became the married woman's status symbol of taboo to others. Until not long ago many black porcelain teeth were made in America for Japanese use in dentures for married women.

Accidental injuries to teeth can be prevented with the use of safety belts in automobiles and mouth protectors when engaged in contact sports. Children should be encouraged to follow safety rules in running, playing games, and when using water fountains.

TIPS ON TOYS WHEN BUYING TOYS CONSIDER: THE CHILD

What are his interests and abilities? What toys can help him further develop these interests? What toys could help him develop new skills and interests?

THE TOY

What can a child do with it? What skills or interests will it teach? How long will the toy last? How much space will be needed to store it?

SAFETY

Are these sharp edges or corners which might hurt? Is the child old enough to use the toy safely and correctly? Is it fire safe? Is paint on the toy non-toxic (non-poisonous)? On electrical toys look for this seal, UL, on either the toy or the cord. This seal means the toy has been tested and is electrically safe.

CHOOSING A VARIETY OF TOYS

Children are sometimes very active; sometimes very quiet. They need toys to use in their noisy, active periods such as blocks, dolls, trucks, tricycles, etc. They also need toys for quiet play such as puzzles, books, etc. They should have some toys to play with by themselves; some to share with others.

THE COST

Is the cost of the toy in line with how long it will last? Will the child value and take care of an expensive toy. Is there a similar toy which you can buy for less money? Above all, think carefully before borrowing money to buy Christmas toys. The length of time a child uses and is happy with toys is short enough that it generally would not be wise to go into debt to purchase Christmas toys.

An electric engine heater could save you a lot of time and money this winter.

All you do is plug it in when you get home in the evening, and all night long the heater will circulate warm water through your car's cooling system. And the next morning, your car's engine will be toasty warm and willing . . . not cold, stiff, and irritable.

The Campaign Against Gulf

The position of the Angolan liberation forces on the activities of Gulf and other foreign corporations in Angola has been stated by Agostinho Neto, President of the MPLA: "Investment by U.S. corporations such as Gulf Oil can only help the Portuguese as they fight us and reinforce their determination to stay in Angola."

The United Nations has called for an end to foreign investments which strengthen Portuguese colonial rule in Africa in numerous General Assembly votes. Most recently, in Resolution 2918, passed November 4, 1972, the General Assembly called on

"... all states to take forthwith all possible measures to put an end to all activities that help to exploit the territories under Portuguese domination and the peoples therein and to discourage their nationals and bodies to corporate under their jurisdiction from entering into any transactions or arrangements that contribute to Portugal's domination over and impede the implementation of the declaration with respect to those territories."

The resolution also called on governments and organizations to give moral and material assistance to the peoples of Angola, Mozambique, and Guinea-Bissau in their struggle for self-determination and independence, and called on Portugal to enter into negotiations for independence with the liberation movements as the authentic representatives of the aspirations of the peoples of Angola, Mozambique and Guinea-Bissau. The resolution carried 98 to six with eight abstentions (the U.S. and Portugal among the six opposed).

The Organization of African Unity, representing the 41 independent nations of Africa, has also repeatedly called for an end to corporate activities which strengthen Portuguese colonial domination. This position was reaffirmed in Resolution 268 adopted at the OAU meeting in Rabat, Morocco, June 12-15, 1972.

Efforts by Gulf to divert public attention from their ties to Portuguese colonialism have included hiring a Black public relations firm, (Zebra, Inc., New York, N.Y.), well-publicized charity donations in the U.S. Black community, and heavy advertising in the Black media. Gulf President B.R. Dorsey has adopted a posture of corporate responsibility in several recent speeches that received wide publicity, saying that "profits must take second place whenever they are in conflict with the well-being of society."

The obvious contradiction represented by Gulf's role in Angola is clear and the magazine Business & Society noted that "Gulf has been one of the most wretched performers on the social front, the Dorsey rhetoric notwithstanding."

Protests about Gulf's operations in Angola have continued to grow since the issue was raised in 1969. In 1971, shareholder resolutions filed by the Southern Africa Taskforce of the United Presbyterian Church calling for an examination of Gulf in Angola were opposed by the corporation, but gained the support of 27 Congressmen, including the Congressional Black Caucus, as well as prominent church and civil rights leaders. In December, 1971, the City Council of Dayton, Ohio rejected a low bid of $56,650 submitted by Gulf for a city contract because of Gulf's minority hiring record and Gulf's role in Angola. The World Council of Churches, representing Protestant denominations around the world, voted in 1972 to sell all investments in companies, including Gulf, which continue to operate in southern Africa.

MARY LOU MILLER, Defendant.

TO THE ABOVE NAMED DEFENDANT:

You are hereby notified that the Petition of the Plaintiff in the above entitled action is now on file in the Office of the Clerk of the District Court of Iowa in and for Polk County, Iowa, claiming personal judgment against Mary Lou Miller, and judgment in rem against the property hereinafter described in the sum of $16,399.80, with interest at the rate of 8 1/2% per annum, from and after March 1, 1973 on the promissory note of Mary Lou Miller, executed and delivered to the Plaintiff, who is the absolute owner thereof, and said note and mortgage given to secure said note are due and payable by reason of the failure of the Defendant to pay the installments of principal and interest when due. The Petition further asks for foreclosure of said mortgage of even date and the note of November 19, 1970, on the following described real estate, to-wit:

Lot 71 and 7 feet West of the adjoining said Lot 71 in EAST CAPITAL PARK, now included in the forming a part of the City of Des Moines, Polk County, Iowa; and also asking that said mortgage be declared a prior and paramount lien to that of each and all Defendants and further praying for the appointment of a receiver, and for the amount paid by the Plaintiff for legal attorney fees, abstract expenses and all accruing costs of action and for such other relief, as may be just and equitable in the premises.

You are further notified that the mortgage herein provides that in the event of foreclosure and sale of the property by Sheriff's sale, the time of one year redemption shall be reduced to six months provided that the mortgagee waives any right to take a deficiency judgment. Plaintiff reserves the right to waive all rights to a deficiency judgment prior to Sheriff's sale.

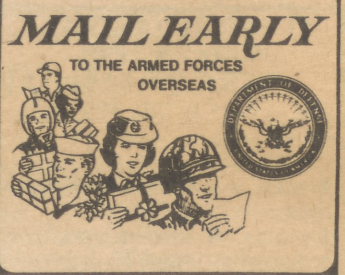

You are further notified that the mortgage herein provides that in the event the Court finds in the Decree that the titleholders who are personally liable on the mortgage have abandoned the premises and the mortgagee has waived any right to a deficiency judgment, the redemption period shall be reduced from one year to sixty (60) days.

The foreclosure Petition of the Plaintiff prays for a writ of possession in the event that any part of the mortgaged premises be sold under foreclosure decree and not redeemed from Sheriff's sale as provided by law without any other additional proceedings.

You are further notified to appear before said Court at Des Moines, in Polk County, Iowa, on or before the 18th day of January, 1974 and that unless you do so appear, your default will be entered and judgment or decree rendered against you for the relief demanded in the Petition.

There are lots of great things about this new Flynn plastic gallon jug.

Actually our new plastic gallon jug is the next best thing to the cow herself for keeping Flynn Milk fresh. The re-sealable screw on cap insures complete freshness. The built-in handle makes it easy to carry and easy to pour from. The plastic is translucent so you can always see how much milk is left. Of course, we wouldn't be so excited about the container if we weren't so sure about what we put inside it. It costs no more than milk in waxed cartons. And you pay no deposit. Available now at your store. For home delivery call 243-6211.

Round the City

On Monday night I attended a meeting as an interested spectator and was appalled at the deception that was perpetrated upon the misinformed persons at that gathering. This meeting was pertaining to the withdrawal of funds from the Settlement House Association. Many factors were discussed, but the basic reasons for the seeming failures of the centers under this administration was never mentioned. The fault lies either with the funding agency or the administration governing these centers. If the fault is that of the funding agency, which seriously I doubt, then it is time to end this dictatorial reign.

Since I have had some experiences with the Settlement House Association, I would like to relate a few facts to you. My first encounter was with the director of this particular entity. It so happened that I had to go to the KIOA Radio Studio to do a recording for the Moulton School's Expanded Use of School Facilities Program of which I was the coordinator. The parking lot was full with only one space available which belonged to the Settlement House Association. Upon returning to my car ten minutes later, I found this director's car parked crosswise, blocking my car; and then when I went to their office to ask to be let out, I was told that this particular parking space was to be only utilized by them and a few other such kind remarks were directed my way. To me, it seems this same philosophy is the one carried on to the centers that they were the private province of this director and not the domain of the general public whose money supports these centers.

My next experience was in trying to co-ordinate some programs with the local agencies delivering services to the community. Most were cooperative but not the Settlement House Association; for example, we tried to institute a swimming program to no avail, all they wanted was for us to pay for repairs to the swimming pool, provide staffing and all other necessities such as lockers and etc., yet they wanted to limit our use of the pool and they wanted to collect a fee which they would keep; this we could not allow because as a

ECOLOGY OF THE UNBORN

THEY TALKED about "Ecology of the Unborn: Maternal and Infant Health." That was the subject of a workshop when the Women's Auxiliary to the National Medical Association met recently in New York City. Physicians and health professionals discussed improving delivery of these medical services, particularly among the nation's black population. The meeting, co-sponsored by The National Foundation-March of Dimes, heard (l. to r.) Janice Kissner, Director of Community Affairs for the Foundation; Dr. Ezra Davidson, Chairman, Department of Obstetrics and Gynecology, at Martin Luther King Jr. Hospital, in Los Angeles; Dr. Effie O. Ellis, Assistant to the Executive Director, American Medical Association, and Lullelia W. Harrison, March of Dimes Volunteer Advisor from Houston. Mrs. Kissner was honored with the WA-NMA President's Plaque for arranging the program.

federally funded agency, we could not charge for any services delivered, so we refused to participate in this activity. The next year they managed to secure the funds through the Model City Youth Component and the Chamber of Commerce to repair the pool. They secured the services of the CCRAP program to staff and pay all cost pertaining to a swimming program. After securing all these services free of charge, they still charged the participants a fee. They allowed the swimming area to become unsanitary from dirt and grime, plaster was falling from the ceiling into the pool, there was no hot water for showers, there was inadequate ventilation and improper heating facilities. They wouldn't even accept phone calls concerning the activity, in fact, they would refer the calls to the CCRAP office. They refused other agencies and service oriented persons from performing their services in their facility. These are facts that can be substantiated if you care to check and there are more irregularities I have not related here.

I, in my personal opinion, think this agency doesn't deserve to continue receiving funds under the present leadership. The centers with the proper administration should be continued where feasible, providing the above mentioned faults are rectified and local neighborhood residents are allowed to have meaningful input as to who has the control of these facilities.

If you are truly concerned with what is happening to your centers, you will not let the game be run on you by persons trying to save high administrative salaries and could care less whether you get the services you deserve.

sports retrospect

by Allen Ashby

Now that the football season is over for all practical purposes, who or what do we roast now? Basketball? It looks as if the three major colleges in the state will at least have a winning year, maybe not win their conference titles, but win more than they lose. And one of them just might sneak into the title, but don't bet on it.

Last Saturday I watched Grambling lose to Western Kentucky in one of the small college playoffs. The Tigers just fumbled away the game. You can't give your opponents the ball six or seven times and win, as the Tigers found out. But the other semifinal game must have been a barn burner, with Louisiana Tech outscrambling Boise State by what used to be a basketball score. Now we shall see them in the finals next week.

UCLA CAGE TEAM

It looks as if the UCLA cage team is out to prove that they are number one before the season is really under way. This weekend they take on North Carolina State, a team given a very good chance to derail the Bruins, according to the experts. And if they get by this one they will have to play Notre Dame at South Bend where almost nobody wins. This was where the last streak of the Uclans came to an end, and they haven't lost since. Could history repeat?

You would be surprised at the black coaches in college ball. The fellow from Northern Ill. has a good ball club, and as soon as he gets back his two suspended stars, he will make it tough for just about everybody. Of course, pro basketball is way ahead of the other professional sports when it comes to hiring blacks as something besides players. They have positions in the league front office, and a couple of them are general managers of good teams. I believe Wayne Embry was the first to get a position like that with the Milwaukee Bucks. The other fellow's name just got away from me, but maybe I will get it sooner or later.

Baseball has the worst record for blacks in any capacity other than coaches of which there are few and players. Monte Irvin is in the front office of one of the clubs, but that is about it. Bob Feller was a great baseball thrower, but he didn't know from nothing about anything else. He says that "there isn't a black man around with the ability yet. Some day there will come one with that ability, and he will be hired." Can't dignify that with an answer.

BLACK BASKETBALL

I was all set to have a corner on black basketball scores, but they got away from me. I just found out how much research I will have to do in order to bring you the scores, and I wasn't prepared for that. But I will begin next week come up with week end scores of the major black school cage games. I have always contended that in this game, most of our high rated black colleges could play a representative schedule, and wouldn't need to be ashamed of their record. They wouldn't have the reserve problem that would bother black football team, but times change, don't they. I can remember when guys like North Carolina State's Dave Thompson and Maryland's John Lucas and Marvin Rowe would have had to go to black schools or play up north. That is why our black schools came along so fast in this game. They get several boys who were good basketball players and who had to go to black schools if they were to play. They couldn't even play in the Big Ten or the Big Eight, not to mention the Missouri Valley. But that has gone the way of high button shoes, and you know the people are glad for more reasons than you can think of.

That holiday basketball meet in Chicago, featuring some of our leading black schools will likely be a wide open affair, so we are told. In other years they haven't done a good job of letting the public know what they had going there. In a city as big as Chicago there shouldn't be standing room for the people of both races who might come out to see some fine basketball I guess if there has to be a pre game pick, it would be Le Moyne. Why? I suppose because they finished third last year, and have all their team back.

HIGH SCHOOLS

I haven't heard any complaints about the Dowling cage team. Nobody wants to kick them out of the conference. East seems to have a better team than they had last year, but I wonder if they belong in the top ten around the state. We shall soon find out. Tech will maybe have to hustle to win more than they lose. They had to come up with a whole new team, and so did North. So they will have rough sailing for now.
