Kaiser To Head Police Community Relations Dept.

Chief of Police Wendell Nicholls' appointment of Sgt. Frank Kaiser to Lieutenant head of the Police Community Relations Department last week is big news and good news in the Black Community.

Lieut. Kaiser entered the Police Department January 15, 1952, when he applied for a position. In fact he and Mr. Robert Wright came on together. He was first a patrolman. He attended school for twelve weeks at the Police Academy. His class was the Academy's second class.

His first assignment was to walk Center Street and alternate with Bob Wright. They alternated between walking the beat and driving a car. He knew the people and they treated him decently.

He next went on traffic in the loop and walked a beat, also. His next detail was night patrol, working from 11:00 p.m. to 7:00 a.m., walking a beat on Center Street. Following this he had a day patrol and worked with Herman Hansen on a two-man car arrangement. Then he went back to nights downtown. This was followed by a year at the jail. He then became sergeant of the jail.

For two years he worked the late evening and night shift in charge of records until we had the riot on Center Street. He left the jail and became a patrol sergeant, working for six years in that capacity. He then went into the Detective Bureau as sergeant over special assignments. This consisted of checks and larceny of autos. He worked for one year and then returned to patrol as Sergeant in charge of squad. At times this included the Eastside a couple of days, then north and east, then south, then west and then his two days off. He next came to Day Patrol where he remained until his present assignment in the Community Relations Department.

Last summer, between July 4th and Oct. 4th, Lieut. Kaiser led, six patrol officers in plainclothes along with a cadet, Marcus Burnett and two civilians, Howard Clyde and Michael Williams on an unusual but worth while patrol. There had been complaints of children being shot at with slingshots and beaten with baseball bats. The incidents had taken place in the University Ave. area, and because of the patrol, the problem has ceased to exist.

Lieutenant Kaiser is married to the former Barbara Smith. They have a daughter, Susan, and a 14 year old son, Jeffrey, living at home. Frank, III is in Detroit, Michigan, working for Ford Motors. Frank is married to the former Joyce Sayre, of Chicago, Illinois. The couple has a three year old daughter, Kimberly.

Carter To Easter Seal Board

Ronald Carter

Ron Carter, coach of the wheelchair basketball team, the Roadrunners, has been named to the Board of Directors of the Easter Seal Society of Iowa.

Carter, Supervisor of Mails for Iowa State government, has donated hundreds of hours to enrich the lives of the physically handicapped through recreation. For his work with the Des Moines wheelchair athletic club, he has been honored with an "Outstanding Service Award" by the Governor's Committee on Employment of the Handicapped.

The club, known as the Roadrunners, has won many honors and has traveled extensively to promote recreational activities for handicapped persons.

Carter is president of the State House Singers, president of a Des Moines Toastmasters club, State Director of Education for a Hawkeye Elks Lodge, a director of the State Employees Credit Union, and a trustee and choir member of St. John's Baptist Church. He is serving his second term as president of the Des Moines Umpires Association. Carter is married and is the father of two sons and two daughters.

Cora Douglass

Miss Cora Douglass, 25, as an administrative assistant in the Governor's Office.

She is the second woman on the six-member Ray staff at the executive level. The other is Mrs. Janet Van Note, who is also an administrative assistant.

Good Appointments

Gov. Robert D. Ray has appointed Ms. Cora Douglas as Executive Assistant in his office; Chief Wendel Nichols has promoted Sgt. Frank Kaiser to rank of Lieutenant in the Des Moines Police Department. Both are first among Negro citizens in Des Moines.

Kaiser grew on the east side, graduated from East High School, and attended Drake University. He has progressed from patrolman, to sergeant, then lieutenant in the department and has earned the praise of Chief Nichols who stated that the appointment was made on the basis of performance, not race. Ms. Douglas has been a social worker following graduation from Jacksonville, Illinois College and has served as equal opportunity officer in the Iowa Department of Social Services.

The Negro community is appreciative that some of their public officials have the courage to move Negro employees up to positions of responsibility and recognition should be given them for doing so.

It is an encouragement for youngsters in schools to see that preparedness pays off and that they have a chance should they stay in school and follow through with their education after leaving whether they prepare for a mechanic or professional job.

Help Keep Youngsters Busy

A recent survey appeared in Jet Magazine showing that 40% of the Negro youngsters in large cities between the ages of 16 and 19 years old are unemployed.

The cause for this is debatable. Some may have dropped out of school without finding any place to better themselves, some would work but have been unable to find jobs; some are just not interested in working to make a living.

Last summer dozens of Negro youngsters roamed the streets in much of the so-called north side area here, with nothing to do but idle away their time in worthless activities. Many would have worked had there been jobs available.

Much of the responsibility for this condition can be traced to the unwillingness of public officials to provide work to keep youngsters busy rather make some street repairs work like that on Keo Way between 5th and 8th which makes no sense at all and costs thousands of dollars.

Several companies in Des Moines have taken on youngsters, given them a chance to work up in their institutions thus helping them to a productive employment. It seems that most of the money allocated to the blighted areas by federal agencies has gone to recreation, dancing and to provide gathering place but few projects or programs to help these youngsters to a better life. More practical facilities would have kept some of these youngsters off the streets and made good use of funds which the government has poured into this and other communities.

Letter To The Editor

LETTER TO THE EDITOR

Dear Editor:

This is an open letter to the people and all concerned. I hope you will print this for all to read. Because of my love for my people, I now sit in federal prison. And because I find that the government that I had begun to have faith in turned on me, I ask people to come to my aid. First of all, I am serving time for something I didn't do. I let that go by because I didn't have the money to fight back. In the few months that I have been here the system has come up with other charges, charges I am not guilty of. It is because of a crime like this that we should come together. It is because of the rage of our women that we should come together. And it is because the poor kill the poor that we should come together. For crimes such as these I blame no one but ourselves. We can no longer just talk of unity, it is a must. It is all our fault because we are afraid to get involved. Many people know of my fight. I may not have been as outspoken as some of our so-called leaders, but I was out there. You did not see me, but the government did, and that is why I now come to you for help.

I am going to need a lawyer. More so now than ever. Now, more than ever before, poor people must come out to be seen and heard. Not with violence but with a new unity. I know life as it is and I do not want my kids to have the same problems. We must start looking out for each other, for life can only be better if we work together. I am going to be extradited to Chicago in February. My hearing for a armed robbery is on Feb. 20th. Then to Boston for charges there that are a frame-up. I need help and I need it bad. I have taken my fight to the community and the Black news media and I will see if they will come to my aid. My name is Emanuel Sistrunk, No. 9356, P.O. Box 1000, Sandstone Federal Prison, Sandstone, Minn. 55072, and I would like to hear from people. In my new fight in the courts I will need your help. Please come to my aid. Thank you in advance if you decided to print my letter or a part of it. If you decided not to print it thank you anyway because I understand your position.

Emanuel Sistrunk

EDITOR'S NOTE:

We printed a part of Emanuel's letter because we felt it was important. If you are thinking of responding to his letter, be aware that we also received a letter from prison officials regarding his correspondence. The prison states that they have not opened nor inspected his letter. They also request that we, as a newspaper, contact the prison should we have any questions regarding statements made. We were invited to tour prison facilities, and if we wished to do so, we were asked to contact the warden. We were told that any responses to Emanuel's letter would be opened and inspected for contraband or any content that "would incite illegal conduct." If you respond to Emanuel's letter, PLEASE keep all of this in mind. Your carelessness or emotionalism could create problems for him. By all means, respond, as we will do, but respond with your sensibilities intact.

An Open Letter

January 7, 1974

To the Editor, The New Iowa Bystander:

So often, when someone does something of significance, his efforts are soon forgotten. An example of what I mean is the late Dr. Martin Luther King. During his life, he was denounced by some as overly militant. By others he was considered too soft.

Following his tragic death in 1968, many radicals sought "revenge" for the brother they had formerly ridiculed: they rioted, bombed, and killed in his name. Liberals expressed their shame and sympathy, renewed talk of gun control, and began naming "Martin Luther King" parks, hospitals, expressways, etcetera. Within months, the Movement Dr. King had led fizzled into near nothingness as people turned their interests to Vietnam, Watergate, and the high price of beef.

The Center for Study and Application of Black Theology, in cooperation with the black churches of Des Moines, is sponsoring a program in observance of Martin Luther King's birthday, Tuesday, January 15, at the Center, 1016

Forest, 7:30 p.m. Rev. Robert Clay of St. Paul A.M.E. Church will deliver a major address, and choirs from several churches will help to make the event an evening to remember.

The Center has begun direct sponsorship of commemorative programs because black people are in danger of losing their heritage through neglect. The most charismatic black theologian who ever lived, Dr. King, has been to his mountaintop, but most of us who yet live have unfinished business with the oppressor, with ourselves, and with God. Although Dr. King has died, the memory of his exemplary life can inspire and guide us to new heights of freedom.

Further information regarding the Martin Luther King Program and future programs sponsored by the Center for Study and Application of Black Theology can be obtained by calling the director, Ms. JoeAnna Cheatom, at 284-1660.

Police Officials Dispute Charge Of Muslim Crime

CHICAGO — Police Chiefs, and law enforcement officials in Newark, Los Angeles, Chicago, Compton, New Orleans, Washington D.C., Atlanta and New York disputed printed charges of "grave concern" over crime among Muslim followers of the Honorable Elijah Muhammad, in interviews given to Muhammad Speaks, the official Muslim newspaper.

"They stand out; they're conspicuously trying to do something positive, and that's different in many parts of the Black community," Edward L. Kerr, Director of Newark, N.J. police said.

"The manifestations of the Muslims have positive influences on the Black community," Los Angeles Police Captain Homer F. Broome stated, despite strained relations with Muslims in that city because of two unprovoked attacks against the unarmed Muslim Temple there in 1962 and 1965.

"Religious philosophy such as the Muslims' can go a long way toward reducing crime even in the most adverse circumstances," Sheriff Richard J. Elrod, of dense, urban Cook County (Chicago) Ill., said.

The slanderous charges that "The sources said some factions of the Muslims were engaged in such activities as extortion, robbery and burglary, with the money going to some of the leaders," were written by Black reporter Paul Delaney, and printed last Dec. 6, in the influential New York Times later sent out on the Times' News Service and reprinted in several local newspapers.

The story was written after: "An independent investigation by the New York Times over several weeks, coupled with the findings of police and other government agencies..." and was refuted emphatically by Minister Louis Farrakhan, National Representative of Mr. Muhammad and the Nation of Islam.

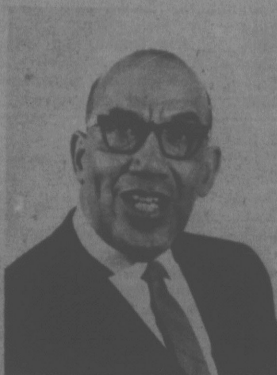

"This is an outright lie!" Farrakhan, Minister of the New York Temple said. "The Honorable Elijah Muhammad is a man of principle. He is a man raised among us to reform us from a life of crime — not only crime against civil law, but crime against Divine Law."

"It is highly unthinkable, unworthy of a Divine Messenger of God, to in any way encourage those whom he has reformed from criminal ways to return to criminal ways, simply because of a need for money," Farrakhan continued.

"Now we cannot be held responsible for any individual Muslim falling back into a life of crime, anymore than the Pope in Rome can be charged with the disobedience of any Catholic to the Divine Law of God — anymore than a Jewish Rabbi can be charged with the disobedience of a Jew to the Law of Moses," He said.

Why Northwestern Bell Telephone Company Sponsors Motivating And Racial Programs

Everett Mays

Sunday morning January 13, 1974 at 9:15 a.m. the St. Paul A.M.E. Church Sunday School will present Mr. Everett Mays, Public Relations Staff Supervisor (Schools) of the Northwestern Bell Telephone Company, in a special program entitled "The Road Ahead". This program is designed to encourage students to remain in high school and it makes them aware of what high school records have a bearing upon employment possibilities. The Telephone Company welcomes the opportunity to sponsor a program that it believes in and wants to portray the same to the communities in which it serves. The purpose of informing students of what companies want in desirable applicants is to reduce the number of applicants rejected for lack of qualifications. The company does not try recruitment in this presentation because they expect to get their fair share from the "hoped for" increased number of qualified applicants.

Mr. Mays has been employed with the telephone company since 1941. In May, 1967, Mr. Mays received an award for "Service to Youth" from the Iowa Personnel and Guidance Association. He has given over 250 talks of "The Road Ahead" to approximately 10,000 yearly since the program began; over 400 talks of "Black Pride" and "Black and White" programs to over 24,000 yearly.

You are cordially invited to attend with your families. Rev. Robert G. Clay is Pastor; Mrs. Clara Fant Eaves is Sunday School Superintendent.

Harris Spotlighted ENCORE

James Harris, Des Moines educator and recently elected president of the National Education Association (NEA), was noted in the January 1974 issue of ENCORE Magazine. The article mentions, among other things, Mr. Harris' involvement in improving school lunch programs. He was an NEA consultant to the 1970

White House Conference on Food, Nutrition, and Health, and has been a leader in efforts to expand the federal program to provide reduced cost lunches for needy children. It is a tribute to both Mr. Harris and ENCORE that efforts made are succeeding and that magazines are informing people of this fact.

Chavez To Receive Peace Prize

Cesar Chavez, president of the United Farm Workers Union, will receive the Martin Luther King, Jr. Nonviolent Peace Prize on Jan. 14th in Atlanta, Ga. Chavez was chosen because of his courageous, nonviolent struggle for economic independence and human dignity. The prize will be awarded at the third Annual Martin Luther King, Jr. Birthday Benefit Concert.

High Blood Pressure: Major Health Problem For Blacks

High blood pressure is the major health problem for Black Americans, according to Dr. F. O. W. Voigt, President of the Iowa Heart Association. And though it affects approximately 3,500,000 Blacks, he said, statistics indicate that almost 3,000,000 of them either have not yet been discovered or are not receiving proper treatment.

High blood pressure is a serious but frequently undetected disease, which if not controlled medically can lead to heart attack, stroke and other cardiac and kidney problems.

"It now affects an estimated 23 million Americans of all ages and races, but Blacks are particularly vulnerable," Dr. Voigt said. "We don't know why, but Blacks are twice as likely to have the disease, and those who develop high blood pressure probably will do so at an earlier age and have a more severe form of it than Whites." He added:

"What complicates the problem is that about half of all those who have the disease in one form or another are not aware of it because it has no set symptoms. The statistics, from various studies, also indicate only half of the others who know they have it are being treated, and only half again have had their blood pressure brought down and maintained at a level likely to avoid major complications. In other words, only 1 in 8 are receiving proper treatment for their high blood pressure."

The irony in this situation, according to Dr. Voigt is that high blood pressure can be detected easily, painlessly and inexpensively. And it can be brought under control treatment. There are many drugs developed in recent years that singly or in combination can do the job, he said, adding:

"These are among the reasons we stress that people — even those who are feeling well or have no symptoms of illness — see a doctor to check for high blood pressure. Only a doctor can detect and then control it."

Tax Returns

Des Moines, Iowa — Want a faster refund this year? The Internal Revenue Service said today that all taxpayers who file their tax returns in January should get their refunds in four to five weeks. After January it may take six to eight weeks.

James T. Rideoutte, IRS District Director for Iowa District, said that January filers gain about a two-week advantage over those who file later because the 10 IRS service centers can process returns and approve refunds much faster early in the filing season when workloads are not heavy.

"Taxpayers who file early avoid making the thoughtless errors that often occur in their rush to meet the April 15 deadline," said Mr. Rideoutte. "Those who wait until the last few weeks to file often fail to read the instructions carefully, neglect to sign the return, or forget to attach all schedules and W-2 forms. These mistakes can delay a refund for as long as four additional weeks."

To avoid the rush and beat the January filing deadline for an early refund of the money due them, Mr. Rideoutte urged taxpayers to start getting their tax records together now.

Minority Apprenticeship In Des Moines

What is really happening with the efforts to get more minority persons involved in the building trades apprenticeship programs?

All across this country we find that building trades are under attack. Young minority men who seek to enter the industry are preconditioned to suppose that it is useless to try. Where does the fault for this attitude lie? Is it racial in nature, is it the steady competition for high-paying jobs, or bad publicity about negative happening to home-town plans such as those in Chicago, Philadelphia and Boston? If Compliance Officers continue to sit by while millions of dollars are spent without the involvement of minority workers, then it is their fault. If old and revered organizations begin to seek court orders at this late date, then it is their fault. Despite the pre-conditioning, there are persons throughout this country who feel a direct responsibility to see that minority people get into the building trade and they are succeeding. The formula for success seems to be perseverance. What is really happening is that these are people in the thick of the fight. They are people who are not necessarily making loud noises, but they are succeeding by persevering - in other words, they keep on keeping on.

This kind of determination exists all across the country. It also exists in Des Moines, Iowa, and that is important. Des the banquet and the roster of speakers was to show how an apprentice fit into the structure of trade unions. Ray Sullivan, of the building trades, spoke of the numbers of minority workers employed in this industry. Robert Jackson related the history of minorities in building trades prior to the coming of the Outreach program in Des Moines. Ernie Comito, Director of the Des Moines Outreach Program, told of the history of the Outreach Program, and included important statistical information. Frank Saffel, International Vice-President of Operative Plasterers and Cement Masons, spoke of mobility within the structure and presented awards to the following young men who had successfully completed an apprenticeship program. Tommy Hawkins, electrician; David Hawkins, electrician; Basil Townes, bricklayer; Gary Elliston, sheet metal worker. Jimmy Gunn received a special award for fortitude for his efforts on behalf of apprentices. Following the award program, Norman Hill, Associate Director of the A. Phillip Randolph Institute - AFL-CIO, pledged support to the Apprenticeship Club being formed in Des Moines and stated that the support would be both monetary and political. He stressed the importance of becoming self-supportive, and the responsibilities that journeymen have to be active within their unions and to support those persons still in the apprenticeship programs. The final speaker of the evening was Bill Riddle, a Des Moines general contractor who received an honorable mention because he accepted more minority apprentices on his work force than any other contractor.

The elements necessary for a successful outreach program seem to be simple and compatible. Most important, the program itself needs a member of the administration who is both a minority person and a tradesman. He needs to be determined, and he must keep the lines of communication open and functioning between the top level administrators and the apprentices. Because the only largescale outreach program in the state exists in Des Moines, Vern Hill can be said to be the man in the program to whom both administration and apprentices look to for understanding and help. He is, in fact, a middleman, dealing not with products but with people. This is a position requiring a knowledge of two worlds, and it is an important position - not one to be distorted by self-interest. No doubt the administrators, and apprentices will agree.

Norman Hill, Associate Director of A. Phillip Randolph Institute AFL-CIO

Vern Hill, Assistant Director, Des Moines Area Outreach Program

Apprenticeship

Victor Carson, Johnny Taylor, and Luther Fulbright, the three young men pictured above are all first year sheet metal apprentices with the Sheet Metal Workers Local Union 45 here in Des Moines. As pictured above, they are engaged in the related classroom instruction portion of their apprenticeship which is currently being held at Tech High School each Saturday.

This related instruction is required in addition to the training received on the job, and is under the direction of the local joint apprenticeship committee which acts as advisory and consultant body in determining the subjects to be taught.

As first year apprentices, these young men will be given instruction in such diversified subjects as sheet metal drawing, applied mathematics, safety practices, and general orientation to the trade. This related instruction is an integral part of the sheet metal apprenticeship program and all apprentices attend classes for a minimum of 144 hours a year throughout the entire four year program.

A master record of the apprentice's work experience and related instruction is kept by the local joint apprenticeship committee and the apprentice is called before this committee during each six month period for examination. Statements are furnished by his instructor as to his attendance and progress in related subjects. The committee examines his records, both on the job and in the classroom, and if satisfied with the progress of the apprentice, he is advanced to the next period.

For young men considering this trade as a future vocation, this may seem like quite a challenging situation to go through, as indeed it is. Today's sheet metal journeyman must be highly skilled in order to meet the demands of our industry.

Additional information on this trade, and other trades in the building and construction industry is available through the Apprenticeship Information Center, Iowa State Employment Service, and through the Des Moines Area Outreach Program.

HEAT LEAKERS COST YOU MONEY

If you can feel drafts around a window or door on a cold winter day, chances are that 15 to 30% of your family's heating bill is being caused by warm air leakage or cold air infiltration.

Here are some money saving tips that will save you money on both your heating in the winter, and cooling in the summer.

- Install weather stripping at all movable joints around windows and doors.
- Caulk the frames of windows and doors. A small crack is a big heat waster.
- Install storm windows or insulated glass to cut down the amount of heat lost through the glass areas in your home.

Crowd shot of Banquet audience.

Moines isn't known for its perseverance in matters of social or political importance, but that may change if local minority apprentices have their way.

The evening of Jan. 8, 1974 was an important one for those people involved in minority apprenticeship programs. An Awards Banquet took place that evening, with much more than awards being offered to those who had successfully completed apprenticeship training. Speakers presented background information on apprenticeship in Des Moines, as well as information on future plans and responsibilities. The banquet opened with an introduction by Vern Hill, Assistant Director of the Des Moines outreach program. Rev. Fox delivered the prayer. Vern mentioned that the purpose of

Attitudes & Services-- Your Entertainment Dollar

Generally, this column deals with where you spend your entertainment dollar, and why you should or should not patronize a particular business. Usually we emphasize the attitude of the owner management towards you as a patron. This week we'll be concerned with something of a different nature—it might be worthwhile to think about expanding our concept of entertainment, and really expanding our method of spending.

Night clubs and movies are practically the only "evening entertainment" that we are familiar with in this city. Black people in other areas (not necessarily more populous areas), have created other kinds of nighttime entertainment. Our population could certainly support a number of establishments beyond movies and clubs. We could support, and we definitely need, something culturally oriented. We find the thought of theatre, or stage performances to be alien and unfamiliar. That's a sad attitude, because the stage definitely offers itself as a medium with unlimited possibilities. Both the audience and the actors are involved in a theatre production. The stage offers a method of communication among Black folks not found in clubs or movies. A Black theatre group in this city might provide itself and its eventual audience with an uncensored, unhampered and unfettered medium for communication. Tragedy, comedy or just plain drama could unfold upon a Black stage and encompass all.

It is an alternative to Superfly and his million - to - one moral victory and it is an alternative to bumper pool and bad beer. It is a medium completely controlled by its participants, and it is non-existent in Des Moines. Add the theatre to your list of "Things We Need". Add your money and support to the list of "Things A Black Theatre In Des Moines Would Need."

Round the City

By Ken Warren

For the last two weeks I have not submitted a column to be published for two reasons, one because of the holidays and two, I have been researching for this series of articles to follow that pertain to one of the agencies in this city. From the reports I have received this particular agency known as C.E.P. is all fouled up. They have had many complaints filed against them for misuse of personnel procedures such as: allowing an administrative staff person to run a small loan company for the employees and charging these employees interest, withholding an employee's check without notifying that person prior to their payday, also without proper authority to do so, using promotions fraudulently such as rewards for being the favorite of the administration at that time and the giving of jobs or promotions to personal friends instead of to the employees who by virtue of their performance deserved those jobs or promotions. Further jobs were given to particular persons without them being posted which is in direct violation of personnel procedures and the purpose and intent of the agency or the federal government guidelines. There is said to be a corporation within this agency's staff that rents apartments and houses to enrollees and employees. Is this not a conflict of interest on the part of the individuals involved? There have been positions created and persons employed in these positions when there were no funds available for such positions nor were there any authorization for these positions. There was the using of black staff members as negative examples by the top administrative echelon. They allowed certain favorites to use work time for personal business and or borrow sick time and vacation time when not authorized. It was also reported to me that top administrative personnel of this agency spend part of the work day in nearby taverns, in fact many decisions are made by these persons when they are not in a sober condition. They have been known also to include certain staff members in their work time drinking activities. It is said that one of the duties of the Assistant Director is to handle the employees parking lot which makes for a very expensive parking lot attendant and a tremendous waste of executive ability or is it? There are many other goodies to be discussed at a later date including naming some of the persons who are guilty of these offenses. All I can say is Hey Y'all BIG BROTHER caught you with your hand in the cookie jar and he is watching you, he will also see to it that there will definitely be further developments. In view of these startling disclosures I wonder if the general public has been made aware of these discrepancies. Will the real City Manager and City Council

Sapphire Publishing Company is a new effort by 10 Black women in the San Francisco Bay Area to organize and operate for the benefit of themselves and of course, Black women everywhere. Their first release, 70 Soul Secrets of Sapphire, is a sad funny, thought-provoking laugh-producing chronicle of Black womanhood. "Soul Secrets" is a book of cartoons, except that they aren't comic, they're just humorous and very easy to relate to. Carolyn Jetter Greene wrote the book, and I won't attempt to interpret her reasons for having written it; a section from her introduction states her purpose beautifully: "This collection of seventy epithets about the Black woman was compiled as a direct result of my need to confront my heritage in terms of the complete scope of Black womanhood."

"Soul Secrets" does encompass the complete scope of Black womanhood. Can you relate to soul secret number 15? (Sapphire) "... has frowned so much at the cold cruel world that even when she's happy her facial expression doesn't always show it." Or secret number 67 which says that (Sapphire) "... does not commit suicide unless she's been watching too many white folks' soap operas."

This book is for Black folks. It is for Black men and women who can handle their self-concepts. As the author says, "I hope that you will read this book in both a somber and humorous manner. You say that's contradictory? Of course it is — but, then I ask you who has led a more contradictory life than Sapphire?"

Get a copy of 70 Soul Secrets of Sapphire. It is for you and about you and it is a positive approach to all aspects of the uniqueness Black women possess.

Copies are available by sending $2.95 and 30c postage and handling to the Sapphire Publishing Company, P.O. Box 15072, San Francisco, California, 94115.

Some of the artists are: The O'Jays "Love Train", Billy Paul "Me & Mrs. Jones", The Intruders "I Love My Mama", and Bunny Sigler "Regina". This album will bring back a lot of memories because it's all good music.

Am about out of space, but I'll take the time to mention CREATIVE SOURCE, which is the name of the group and the album. All I can say is "fantastic".

Recently one of my readers (I hope) wanted to know what about my often repeated argument that black basketball teams could hold their own in fast company. I looked over the scores of college games and saw where some of the black teams had won a few and lost a few against some of the better teams, but the mixed schools had the better of it. So I had to explain to my friend that the black schools no longer had a corner on the black eager coming out of the north.

Time was when good black basketball players couldn't play in any of the major conferences, so they got into the black schools so they could play their game, but the schools never got the recognition that was due them, so people were surprised when names like Prairie View and Tennessee State began showing up on the rosters of teams in the NBA. I remember that I was sitting in a crowd in Moline watching a pro basketball game and one of the players was introduced as from Wiley College. People around me wondered where that school was. I informed a fellow next to me that Wiley College was in Marshall Texas, and that it was a black school. The guy was surprised that they would turn out a player of that caliber, and I said that he probably wasn't the best player to come out of there. So for about ten minutes the game on the floor was forgotten while I fielded questions about black schools and basketball, because the guy told the man next to him that I knew a lot about those "colored" schools.

But then fellows who are playing with North Carolina State, Maryland, Alabama and such would be going to black schools, and you would never hear of them unless you happened to follow that basketball. That is also true of football. You can remember all the hell that was raised over blacks getting into schools like Texas U. Alabama U. and such. Now where would they be without some of those brethren. People like Wilbur Jackson, Roosevelt Leeks and such would have probably gone to Grambling, Alcorn or maybe Florida A&M, where you would have to wait until they made it in the pro ranks before you heard of them. But then maybe Notre Dame ought to be thankful for a few of the people too. They use them on just about all of their varsity teams, and are glad to have them.

But I can't help but wonder if the fellows in those schools as he put it, you will have to go across the tracks for your social life, and a lot of you just aren't used to that kind of loneliness that comes from that. And every now and then I see where a promising black athlete has quit a southern school and enrolled in another school, but you never really hear the reason. And sometimes a fellow is dismissed from the squad for what are called disciplinary reasons, which translated means most likely that he dated the wrong people. A boy going to a school like that has to be determined to get an education, or make it to the pros, and that has to stay with him constantly. It is bad enough to go to a school like Iowa or any of your Big Ten schools and then when the big game is over, go to your end of the campus or town while your white teammates go to theirs. So you can imagine what it must be like in a place like some of your large schools in the south. There are a few places where I would suspect that black athletes don't get too lonely. In a school where there are a number of black students, he might find his social life on the campus, but I wonder how many black girls go to those schools as compared to the males. I remember at Iowa at one time some time ago, there were about three black men to every black girl. Wonder what the ratio is now? You have to bring these things up because they are problems in the lives of all of us, and can't be swept under the rug. And what is being done about the problem? I am sure I don't know.

There were no black school games or high school games to mention over the holiday week end. I got about four games, and never did get the result of a meet in Missouri which had Lincoln and Langston in it. Here are your scores. Fisk 106, Knoxville Coll. 63 JC Smith 87, Clark College 72, Sam Huston 69, Texas S. 62, Tennessee State 88, SW Liberty 76, Alcorn '95, Southern 93, Jackson St. 114, Ark. AM&N 89.

Eddie Robinson First Black Pro-Football Coach

NEW YORK, Jan. 2 — A national magazine poll shows Grambling College mentor Eddie Robinson as an overwhelming choice by readers to be the first Black professional football coach, it was announced today.

Results of the Jet Magazine Seagram's Gin Super Poll had 30% of the total votes cast for Robinson over 100 leading Black players and coaches. Following him in order were O. J. Simpson, Buffalo Bills; Jim Brown, former Cleveland Browns' great; Gale Sayers, ex-Chicago Bears, and Emilen Tunnell, N.Y. Giants' assistant coach.

Robinson's 30-year record at Grambling is a remarkable 215 wins, 77 losses and 11 ties. Among current NFL stars that he coached are Buck Buchanan, Kansas City Chiefs; Henry Davis, Pittsburgh Steelers; John Mendenhall, Willie Williams and Willie Young, New York Giants; Solomon Freeborn, Houston Oilers; Billy Newsome, New Orleans Saints, and Willie Brown, Oakland Raiders.

Other former players who were poll candidates for first Black professional football coach included Willie Davis, Green Bay Packers; Rosie Grier, Los Angeles Rams; John Mackey, Baltimore Colts, and Deacon Jones, San Diego Chargers, still active.

A large majority of those participating in the poll also voted for changes in pro-football rules to eliminate regular season tie games. Now, post-season games that are tied by the end of the regulation four quarters continue into one or more "sudden-death" overtime periods until one team scores.

Other reader opinions revealed by the poll showed a favorable attitude toward the optional two-point conversion after a touchdown for pro-football, similar to that currently allowed in the college game. Lastly, polled opinions strongly disapproved the use of artificial turf, indicating that it did not improve the level of play.
