VIEWS and REVIEWS by James B. Morris

A fine Soldier

I attended the funeral of James L. McGuire Tuesday. As I set through the service, I could not keep from recalling the day I met him.

It was in September, 1918 in the 5th Corps School of Commissioned and Non Commissioned Officers at Gondre Court, France. I heard that a Des Moines soldier was billeted in the non commissioned barracks and went to see him. It turned out to be McGuire and after introductions he remarked, "I am surprised that a Commissioned Officer would come down to seek out a non-com." I could not have done otherwise.

Lloyd was a kid when the war was declared in 1917. Without waiting to be drafted, he went to Chicago where he joined the 8th Illinois National Guard. (It was a Negro Outfit). The regiment went to France, was billeted with the French Army and saw heavy gruelling fighting long before I landed in France in June, 1918. At the school I met several members of his regiment, many of whom never came home.

McGuire lived his life just as he did while in the military service. As a Polk County Deputy Sheriff, as a policeman, and then a detective, McGuire was a man. He never stooped to hold a job, never feared any reprisal for doing what he thought was his job even though he might step on toes of his fellow officers. He never got out of line all of which brought him respect as a good officer.

From September of 1918 to February 1974 is a long period in anyone's life. All I could say as I passed the casket, "Here lies a man who served his country and community well".

Too Much Time

President Nixon in his State of the Union Message, stated that Watergate was in the hands of the courts and Judiciary Committee of the House of Representatives. That it should be left to deal with these problems so that the rest of the government can proceed to solve the immediate problems that confront the country today. Senate Majority leader Mansfield (D) of Montana, in his reply to the president's message stated the same thing except he would fix no time limit on the Senate committee.

I believe that the Senate Watergate committee has taken long enough time to do their job which is only for the purpose of obtaining the facts so that the Senate might legislate intelligently to curb such things as Watergate. The committee is not trying anyone. They can only turn over their information to the proper authority so that it may be dealt with. We must not become a nation of year around investigations in order to make hay for political campaigns.

I only say let the chips fall where they may so that the country will not be kept in an uproar by television shows that constantly rehash the same statements.

Bystander Subscriptions For Senior Citizens

During the months of February and March, the Bystander will offer special subscription rates to senior citizens in Iowa. Instead of the usual $5.00 per year that most senior citizens living on small fixed incomes cannot afford, a special rate of $2.50 per year will be available.

We hope that people will take advantage of this offer and give gifts of the Bystander to senior citizens. We also hope that senior citizens who have had to cancel their subscriptions for lack of money will take advantage of the offer and re-subscribe.

SPECIAL SENIOR CITIZENS SUBSCRIPTION RATE:

$2.50 per year. Offer ends March 31, 1974.

Says Roosevelt Black Students Are Different

To the Editor:

In reference to the editorial comment, by James B. Morris, Sr., "Wrong Way," of January 24, found in "Views and Reviews", I wish to erradicate the misconception which it publicly conveyed.

I cannot understand how you arrived at your interpretation of the elimination of "tokenism and tomism." You are entirely incorrect concerning our participation in school affairs and we do not look with disfavor on those who do.

For your information black students were executive members of the Roosevelt Student Council, blacks are involved and participate on the debate team, and the editor of the school newspaper was Black, just to mention a few.

You were totally misinformed when you implied that we tried to be the boss of the school.

It appeared as though you were intermingling situations at other schools with the situation at Roosevelt when you discussed black students in athletics.

The small number of young Black men participating in sports are not quitters nor are they disobeying any rules.

In speaking for the black students at Roosevelt, we are nothing like the characterization that was published and we wish to make this known.

President,

Editor's Note. My main thrust is what is "Tomism and Tokenism" in your school.

National Negro History Week

ATLANTA, GEORGIA, JANUARY 29, 1972 — During National Negro History week, February 10-16, 1974, a time when the nation will turn its eyes toward observing the contribution of blacks to American History, Coca-Cola USA announced that it will offer an illustrated history book titled

"Black Americans" by Dr. John Hope Franklin, a distinguish historian. In making the announcement, Charles H. Boone, Market Planner, Coca-Cola USA, stated that the book will be distributed to consumers through mail in redemptions and will be offered at the point-of-sale as a near-pack premium by participating Bottlers throughout the country. The Time-Life Book, valued at $7.95, is being made available from February to March at less than half its published price: $3.25 with the purchase of the consumer's selected package of Coca-Cola.

"Black Americans," a timely, provocative book, traces the growth of the slave trade and details how the trade helped ravage the ancient Kingdoms of Africa. It tells of the former slaves in the civil war, of blacks hopes and frustrations through the two world wars and the depression. Further, the book tells of the development of black culture --- literature, music and the arts. Finally, its presents in text and pictures the leading black spokesmen of today. The publisher describe the book as a concise and authoritative presentation by Dr. Franklin which cuts through centuries of misunderstanding to recount the history of America's blacks from their origins in Africa to the epic events of the 1950's and 1960's.

Poet Don L. Lee (Haki R. Madhubuti) has recently had his sixth volume of poetry published by Broadside Press. Entitled Book of Life, this volume should be read because the author puts forth some challenges not easily ignored. What Madhubuti advocates in his poetry is a return to that which he deems natural and an effort towards a future that is humane. He seems to have overcome the American tendency to gather "things", to live "alone", to thrill-seek. He advocates much of what is being determined by contemporary thinkers to be old-fashioned and incompatible with progressive capitalistic life in this country. The poetry is idealistic and will be rejected by many who feel threatened by what the author suggests. Many will reject his writing because it is simple and rather prophetic.

What may be most upsetting about Book of Life is not the solutions it offers but rather the aptness of the descriptions of life in these times. Anyone who thinks he is making it will not react favorably to this book because it provokes a great deal the need of expensive clothes, cars and homes to impress others and yourself only means that you have no meaning without them which also means that you have no meaning with them.

There are no vacations when a people are enslaved there are just more sophisticated forms of slavery disguised as three weeks off with pay.

"Work In Africa"

"WORK IN AFRICA"

The Pan African Skills Project began operation in January 1970. In the scant four years of our existence, PAS has recruited hundreds of U.S. Afro-Americans with technical and scientific skills for committed service to the non-capitalist development of Africa and has placed a number of these Brothers and Sisters in actual employment situations in the East-African nation of Tanzania.

Quite simply, PAS is a recruitment agency officially recognized by Tanzania and Zambia and moving rapidly towards a working relationship with Somalia. PAS recruitment offices throughout the United States and a full-time staff at PAS headquarters in New York City.

Through our primary task is recruitment, our efforts do not end there. Our Dar-es-Salaam office was instrumental in organizing the largest anti-war rally on the African continent during the height of the war against the Vietnamese people. Our efforts at home and abroad have been consistently anti-imperialist.

In our recruitment efforts we seek those who are unalterably opposed to racism and imperialism and whose past and present activities evidence that fact. Those recruited by PAS to work abroad receive the same salary as an African worker in a similar position. Skilled personnel are needed in the areas of science, health, teaching (science and math), etc. This is only a partial listing.

If you possess any of the above mentioned skills or feel that your skill would be helpful in nation building and non-capitalist development, please forward a resume to our New York office - 475 Riverside Drive, rm. 576-immediately. Members of our New York staff are available for speaking engagements and consultation.

THIS WEEK WE'LL TALK ABOUT THE TOLSON'S' 90th FAMILY REUNION!

Lora Tolson Ward and John Arthur Tolson, the two children of the late Colonel Green and Molly Jane Told hold their family reunion each New Year's Day. This year it was observed at the American Legion Hall, 1625 Washington Street.

NEW YEAR'S DAY WAS THEIR FATHER'S BIRTHDAY, hence the selection of New Year's as the day for family reunions. The Day begins with devotions led by Arthur and Lora with relatives and friends joining in for one hour. Nieces present were Lela Jones and family, Elsie Robinson, Helen Dukes and family, Gertrude Madison and family, Vera Rowland and family. Other relatives and family were Eleanor Tolson and family, Elmer Tolson, Jr., Thomas Rowland and family of Chicago, Illinois; Theodore Daniels and family. There were forty children, grand- and great grand-children.

GUESTS AND FRIENDS WERE REV. AND MRS. GEORGE PARRISH, Rev. Albert Fox, Rev. and Mrs. Henry Simmons, Rev. and Mrs. Willie Bumpus, Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Seigh and son, Jimmy, Rev. and Mrs. Frank Hogan, Mrs. Margaret Yancy, of Omaha, Nebraska; Mrs. Lillian Haynes, Mrs. Paula Walker of Los Angeles, California, and Mrs. Mae Wyatt.

DINNER WAS SERVED AND SPIRITUAL RECORDS played in the background.

THE CELEBRATION OF A REUNION BEGAN when the youngest Tolson was one year old. There were ten children in the family. The mother and father decided that they would celebrate this day by giving each child to the Lord on this occasion. The children promised their parents that they would celebrate this day yearly. The parents have been gone some thirty-five years.

(The family reunion is not confined to just family. There is a rule by which a few friends are invited. We appreciate the family's sharing the story of this their 90th reunion. Let us hear from others who have something special happening in various family circles. This was an exciting event and especially interesting when one takes into account the labor called for to make this event continue.)

Betty Lewis.

LAST WEEK WE RAN A STORY ABOUT Mrs. Betty Lewis, of Oklahoma City, Oklahoma, and her new position of first vice president in the Employee's Association of the Aeronautical Center. We take this opportunity to show a picture of Mrs. Lewis, who is the former Miss Betty Henry, daughter of Mrs. Oradell Henry of Des Moines.

THE Y.W.C.A.'s THIRD WORLD ART EXPO held Sunday afternoon at the Central Building was most interesting. I found the Gateway Dance Theater group very talented and beautifully costumed. I could have watched them the whole time I was there.

SIMPSON COLLEGE'S MISS VALERIE CARSON, a poet, read a wide assortment of poems of her own creation. Her voice is so soft that at first one wonders how will the reading go. The thought is immediately forgotten because she uses the voice so well, she gives a superb performance. Of the many she read, I was enchanted with the one entitled "Walk on, Brother."

Miss Carson, now in her senior year, hopes to find employment at Simpson. Failing that, she would like to be a parole officer for the State of Iowa. She came here in '71 from Willingboro, New Jersey. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Carson.

I MET A YOUNG ARTIST EXHIBITING FOR THE FIRST TIME: Richard Delaney, a '73

graduate of Des Moines Technical High School. His work was predominantly oil on black velvet and very beautiful. He is the son of Mrs. Barbara Wade and Mr. George Delaney. He lives at 1322 Washington.

MRS. FRANCES JOHNSON, not a participant in the show, nevertheless put on a most beautiful exhibit, her family. She was accompanied by her lovely family: Gwen 16, Linda 15, Christian and Castinee, twins, 14, Pamela 12; son, Michael, 10, Joe 5 and friends, Cordie McGuire 17, Jimmy Collier 15 and Steve Collier 12.

With so many lovely girls, there has to be some special talent among them. Some of them are hairdressers because they send mother to class with a different hair style everyday. I watch her enter the classroom with cool envy! I'm not kidding!

Home Buyers' Consultant Service

Each of us in our lifetime hope to create something new to offer the world. Few of us succeed, but it isn't because we have not given some thought to such a project. Delbert Jones, a well-known carpenter, has created that something new.

Mrs. Jones has created a Home Buyers' Consultant Service. It is a service to prospective buyers of homes. If Mr. Jones is consulted, he will look over the property with a critical eye for repairs that may be needed. Being a carpenter, he knows what to look for. He can save people large sums of money by advising them of what their prospective home may need in repairs. This could serve well in newer homes and would certainly be a great service for older homes.

Ms. Tonie Pickett

Brooks College for Women in Long Beach, California is pleased to welcome Miss Tonie Marie Pickett the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. David Pickett of Des Moines, Iowa who has been accepted and is officially enrolled as a student for the Fashion program beginning September 30, 1974.

As a student at Brooks College for Women Miss Pickett will receive a specialized education in Fashion, which includes field trips to the various manufacturing firms, textile mills, fashion and interior design studios, and the fashion and furniture marts. Although a heavy academic schedule is planned, she will also enjoy visiting points of interest such as Disneyland, Sea World, movie and television studios, and the Queen Mary.

The dents in furniture can be removed by steaming with a hot iron. First wipe the dented place with turpentine, then cover the dent with several thicknesses of damp cheesecloth. Next, place a metal bottle cap, metal side down, right over the place where you think the dent is. Now press it with a hot iron. The steam will swell the wood fibers, and the dent disappears.

There are lots of great things about this new Flynn plastic gallon jug.

Actually our new plastic gallon jug is the next best thing to the cow herself for keeping Flynn Milk fresh. The re-sealable screw on cap insures complete freshness. The built-in handle makes it easy to carry and easy to pour from. The plastic is translucent so you can always see how much milk is left. Of course, we wouldn't be so excited about the container if we weren't so sure about what we put inside it. It costs no more than milk in waxed cartons. And you pay no deposit. Child Care Center Nearing Completion

After nearly two years of work and planning the Child Development Care Center is nearing completion. The Child Care Center is a part of the Martin Luther King Center for Human Development, located on the corner of 9th & Washington. When the carpeting is laid and the interior is attractively painted, the remodeling of the former chapel building will be complete, and the dream of it's Director, Mrs. Constance Donnelly, and the Staff, to provide "a nice place for children to be" will be fulfilled.

The Center, open from 6:30 a.m. to 5:30 p.m., provides an educational day care program for some 60 children ranging in age from 2 to 6 years. A staff of fourteen, including 4 certified teachers, carry out the program which endeavors to provide preschool age children with a language, number and reading readiness background that will prepare them for a successful later school experience. Music, art and physical development are also an integral part of the program.

In an atmosphere that fosters independence, self-respect and happy early childhood experiences the children are encouraged to progress at their own rate and develop their own interests.

In the efficient, modern kitchen, a nutritionist-cook plans and prepares healthful, wholesome meals and snacks. A fenced-in play yard assures safe, happy hours out of doors. At naptime the children take a much needed rest on their own cots equipped with colorful sheets and blankets. A trained nurse carries out the Center's health program.

The Center, licensed by the State Department of Social Services for the care of 80 children, offers quality child care to neighborhood residents at low cost.

For information call or visit the Center.

INFLUENZA IN DES MOINES - POLK COUNTY

With the anticipated influenza epidemic developing in Des Moines - Polk County in the next two weeks, Dr. Julius S. Conner, city-county health director urged today that ill persons should avoid close contact with others to help prevent spreading the disease.

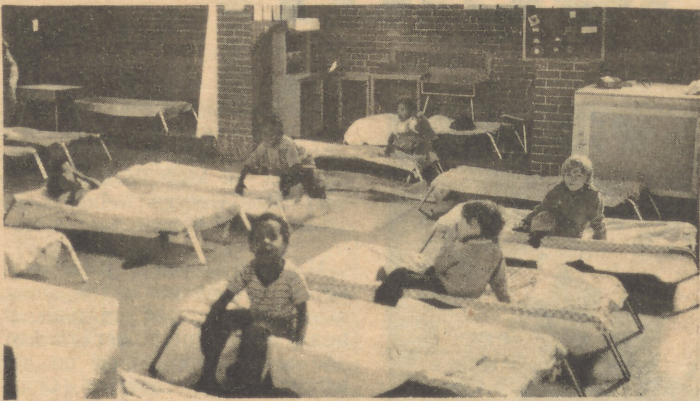

"At the present, the outbreak seems to be isolated in several communities in Polk County, but we are expecting it to spread throughout the county within the next couple of weeks," Dr. Conner said.

"Persons suffering from a chronic disease such as heart, lung, or kidney ailment should take special precautions and seek their physician's advice if flu strikes them. Most influenza patients without a chronic disease should be able to remain comfortable with adequate bed rest, taking aspirin for fever and cough syrup and anti-histamines, if necessary, for the upper respiratory infection," said Dr. Conner.

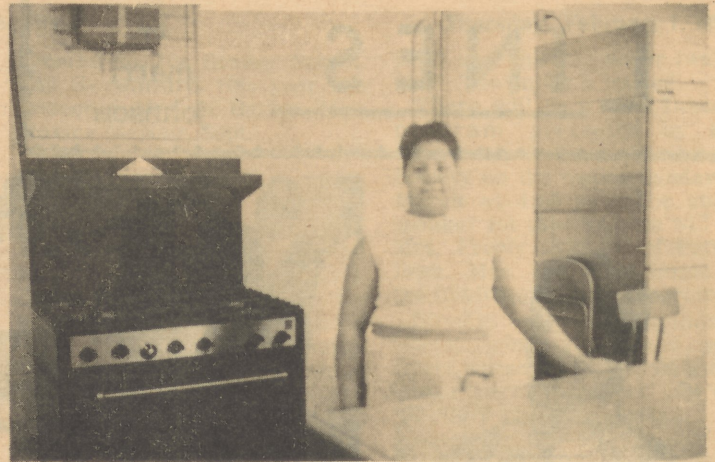

"Practicing good health habits such as getting plenty of sleep and eating regular, well-balanced meals, washing hands frequently, and dressing properly for environmental temperatures will all help to keep up one's resistance to infection. Also try to keep your distance from people who do not cover their coughs and sneezes with a handkerchief or tissue," Dr. Conner advised today.

Reported symptoms of the disease have been sore throat, fever, headache, generalized body ache, red and running nose and eyes.

Influenza vaccine affords the best protection when taken in the fall of the year. To give protection against influenza, the vaccine has to be administered at least a month before one comes in contact with flu to allow immunity to build up.

Happy children with smiling at the child development care center.

Ms. Pat Smith, coordinator and temporary cook shows off the centers spotless clean kitchen in which food is prepared for their children.

"Apprentice" Jones

Nathaniel Jones

Nathaniel Jones is a first year electrician apprentice and presently employed by ABC Electric Incorporated here in Des Moines. This firm does electrical construction and maintenance of industrial and commercial offices, apartments, hospitals, and institutions. Nathaniel is currently engaged in the electrical wiring of old and new houses, and is subsequently called a residential electrician apprentice.

The International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers and the National Electrical Contractors Association, sponsoring agencies for the apprenticeship program, have jointly developed an extensive training format for new apprentices. The program is conducted under written agreement between the apprentice and the local joint union-management apprenticeship committee, which supervises the training.

The apprenticeship program usually consists of 8,000 hours (4 years) of on-the-job training, in addition to a minimum of 144 hours of related classroom instruction each year. The schooling includes instruction in such areas as electrical layout, blueprint reading, mathematics, and electrical theory, including electronics.

The work of the electrician, like that of other building trades, is active but does not require great physical strength. Because most of his work is indoors, the electrician is less exposed to unfavorable weather conditions than most other skilled building trades workers. Also, at a base pay of $8.85 an hour, he is among the highest paid of construction workers. Apprentice electricians usually start at 55% of the journeyman's pay, with regular wage increases each six months.

For Black Students. . .

EAST HIGH REPORT

by Diane Banks, student

The second semester East High School Executive Board election was held last Wednesday. The Student Government consists of the House, Senate and the Executive Board. It is a mock form of our federal government. The offices filled were president, vice president, secretary, and treasurer. Other positions in the Student Government are appointed by the Executive Board.

Two Blacks ran for positions on the Executive Board. Valarie Scott sought the office of treasurer and Kathy A. Johnson ran for the office of secretary. Both candidates were defeated.

East High School's Human Relations Committee has declared February 14 (Valentine's Day), to be "Togetherness Day". The purpose is to promote better relations and unity among the student body, faculty, and the administration at East.

A special breakfast will be held in the school cafeteria for the students to fellowship with other students. Mr. Donald Graves is the sponsor of the committee.

DOWLING BSU

by Julie Williams

To establish a Black identity in a predominantly white, parochial school is the guiding light of Dowling's Black Student Organization.

The group, formed while Dowling High School and St. Joseph's Academy were separate, remained together when the two schools combined.

With Black History Week coming up this month, the students are preparing material for a three-day program. Panel discussions with Black students from various schools in the metropolitan area will be a major part of the presentation.

To get general ideas for their discussions, as well as to see the "Black Week" plans of other schools, the organization's president, Cathy Campbell, and the secretary, Mary Williams travelled to Tech, Roosevelt, North, East, and plan to go to Hoover, Lincoln, and Valley this week.

Also as a part of their three-day program there will be a display of Black art, fashion design and several selections of Black literature and poetry. In addition to this there will be chronological examples of Black music, dating back to early Satchmo (Louis Armstrong) to the music of today.

A few exchange days are scheduled for the week following Black History Week so the officers of Dowling's BSU may observe the situations prevailing for Black students at other schools.

Discussing the problems of the organization, Ms. Campbell cited "keeping together" as a main one. They have also attempted to reach the non-participating Black students in the school.

"We're all hoping that before the year is over we can get the majority of the Blacks to participate. By next year we'll be able to have a bigger and more efficient club than in the past," she commented.

The officers of the club are, Cathy Campbell, president; Leonard Bradley, vice-president; Mary Williams, secretary; and Debbie Hayes, the treasurer.

Rap Session

By Morrow

"Super Funk" by Funk, Inc. (Prestige), is a totally well done album. Funk, Inc. is Steve Weakley; guitar; Gene Barr, tenor sax; Bob Watley, organ & vocals; Jimmy Munford, drums & vocals; and Cecil Hunt on congos.

The songs I liked best were "Message from the Meters" and "Honey, I Love You". But what struck me most about the group was the sound. They have a really together sound which you don't find too often without electronic wizardry in the background. There is strong guitar and conga workout all throughout the record. "Super Funk" was produced and arranged by David Axelrod. This album is available at Hall's Records & Tapes.

Al Wilson's "Show & Tell" (Rocky Road Records), like the yellow '27 Phantom I Rolls Royce is slick and elegant. Of course, the title cut "Show & Tell" is good, but the others that struck me as good were "Touch & Go", "My Song" and the re-arrangement of "A Song for You". Considering that this is Wilson's first album, all you will have to do is sit back and wait for the next one.

For you jazz people, Charles Lloyd and Les McCann have new releases that are excellent. So does the First Choice.

Sioux City News

The Sioux City Black Caucus installed new officers at their January meeting. Newly elected are: Chairman, Mrs. Laura Sudduth; Vice-chairman, George Boykin; Secretary, Wilson Barnes; Treasurer, Miss. Lois Sabbe.

Revised by-laws were adopted at the meeting.

The Sioux City Black Caucus has issued the following statements to the City Council, City Manager and City Mayor:

In conjunction with the project, "Goals 2000", the Sioux City Black Caucus met in Executive Session with Ms. Christine Mihocka, Social Service Planner, concerning the implementation of the 701 Program. The meeting was called as a result of negative reactions to the survey which is circulating throughout the Black community.

Although the survey is one of our immediate concerns, we are more deeply concerned about the overall implementation of the survey once all the statistics are compiled.

The total conception of the 701 Program is also a concern of ours. Several studies, surveys and interviews are being conducted under the 701 Program, under the direction of the city. The Black community in Sioux City has been surveyed many times without visual improvements and the Black Caucus feels this is also a meaningless survey, unless the problems that have been identified are resolved.

It has come to our attention that citizens of only certain socioeconomic backgrounds have been asked to participate in this survey and the Sioux City Black Caucus would like to go on record by informing citizens that they are not compelled to participate in the survey. The Black Caucus is not in favor of the survey in its present format.

The Caucus is inviting members of the City Council and the City Manager to attend our next regular meeting, February 19, 1974, 7:30 p.m. at Sanford Community Center, 1700 Geneva Street, to discuss your position regarding the total concept of the 701 Program.

Yours truly,

HEW News

HEW's Office of Education has awarded $35.5 million to 28 developing colleges to improve the quality and the effectiveness of their programs, HEW Secretary Caspar W. Weinberger announced today.

Secretary Weinberger called these first-time awards a "demonstration of the Administration's faith in colleges and universities which historically have borne the responsibility for educating our disadvantaged youth."

The Advanced Institutional Development Program (AIDP) is a part of the Strengthening Developing Institutions Program authorized by Title III of the amended Higher Education Act of 1965.

The public and private 2- and 4-year colleges selected to receive AIDP grants are assured of substantial funding over a period of 3 to 5 years. Initially, reasonably small amounts will be used for planning and start-up. Initially, reasonably small amounts will be used for planning and start-up. Expenditures are expected to peak during the second or operational phase, followed by a decline when AIDP assistance is replaced from other sources.

Awards were made to institutions identified as strongest according to strict comparisons with their peers. Each applicant was required to submit a detailed 5-year plan along with evidence of genuine potential for reaching high academic and administrative standards.

The ins and outs of an electric heat pump.

In and out pretty well explains how a heat pump works. It's kind of like a furnace and an air conditioner all rolled into one.

In the summer, it acts like an air conditioner and pumps heat that's inside your house . . . outside. In the winter, it automatically reverses itself and takes heat from the outside air and pumps it in.

The amazing thing about the heat pump is that except for a few of the coldest days of the year, it produces much more energy in the form of heat than it uses in the form of electric power.

The three major schools of Iowa are having their problems. Drake can't seem to get two good half games, and Iowa State can't seem to get organized. But last week end both Drake and Iowa State posted wins and look to the future with optimism. But Iowa U. is really having problems. The Hawks can play the devil out of top opponents at home, but still lose, and just can't get anything going on the road. Do you know, they might be the first Big Ten team that I ever heard of to fail to win more than one game in either the football or basketball seasons. I can't recall if Chicago University won a game in their last cage season in the conference, but I think they may have won one. So, we may just well be in the market for a new basketball coach at the end of this basketball year. But to their credit, the Hawks are playing some exciting games, even if they are losing them at home, but they can't get started on the road. They seem to have some good individual players, but how do you put them all together? Bet the Hawkeye coach wishes he knew.

A fellow told me, and I don't know if he was kidding or not, that Iowa State coach, Maury John, figured to have a rather mediocre season, so he decided that this was as good a time as any to take a rest, and let Gus Guyden handle the team, so people could say that if John had been there things might have been different. That is a good argument, but for one factor. How did John know he was going to get sick? If he is that good maybe he missed his calling.

Things are back to normal on the college poll front, with UCLA back in front. But, they just might get nailed in the NCAA meet by some of the teams who don't figure to give them much trouble. They have disposed of their chief opponents, and it just happens that the two Carolina schools and Maryland are in the same conference and only one of them can come out of there. Then they have that silly tournament to decide the ultimate team in the national meet, and some team could have a bad year and get hot that week and end up playing ahead of the other three top ranked clubs. There are so many good cagers around this year that a friend of mine came up with the idea of two all star teams, one black and one white. They could have a game worth going to see if they ever got together in the same game. The black team would have Shumate of Notre Dame, Thompson of N. Carolina State, Lucas of Maryland, Wilkes of UCLA and Elston of N. Carolina.

On the white team would be Walton, of UCLA, McMillen of Maryland, Adams of Oklahoma, Garret of Purdue, and Birlsen of N. Carolina State.

Here in the city, I don't know who is going to stop Hoover as they drive on the metro crown and gun for a good shot at the state title. Lincoln might do it when they play again for the Railsplitters will likely have all their guys there this time. East has had problems, and is trying gamely to hang on, but their team has to miss their big gun. North plays in spurts, and if they ever got hot on just anybody that team better look out. Don't hear too much about Dowling being too unfair in the basketball league. Wonder why? But the Maroons have a tough mat team and may come under scrutiny for that. I remember when Tech had a stranglehold on high school wrestling here in the city, but now they seem to have dropped in just about all sports. Maybe this is because too many of their good athletes work at whatever they are learning as they practice it after school. Like building things and repairing things. In most cities the technical high schools have the toughest athletic teams because they get boys from all over town. No matter what people say about Dowling, there is heavy recruiting going on among just about all of the local high schools, and Tech isn't doing so well.
