National Communications For Freedom Week

Position Statement

by

Dean Tony Brown

The period of March 10-16, 1974 has been declared "National Communications for Freedom Week" by the School of Communications at Howard University.

By emphasizing communications as viable and a potential solution to the problems of Black people, we hope to increase our society's level of awareness of our problems and the potential solutions. The racist nature of American society has introjected a set of values shared by both Blacks and whites which are contrary to the healthy psychological growth and progress of Black people individually and as a group.

White people get a false impression of Blacks and Blacks get a false impression of themselves. Both groups act on this false information and the result is social and psychological difficulties between Blacks and whites, psychological conflicts between Blacks and neurotic personality behavior patterns.

Only a community educated to the origin and vicissitudes of this phenomenon can interrupt this vicious-cycle of self hatred, redefine the shared values and structure corrective mechanisms and institutions to counteract the present inequities which result from a "mass media brainwash." In other words, "He who would slay an elephant must first learn his habits."

Organizations and individuals in the Black and white communities are, in celebrating "National Communications For Freedom Week," being asked to examine the vicious cycle of self-hatred imposed upon Black people by the oppressive nature of mass media and to devise a strategy as a corrective mechanism in a way which will also educate the community to an awareness of the problem.

Journalism as practiced by whites, or white journalism, has clearly defined its objectives as a liberating tool for white people. It reinforces whiteness as a positive value, organizes a consensus around contemporary issues based on a doctrine of positive whiteness and regulates ideas of privileged and non-privileged members of our society.

In the absence of a legitimatizing force among Blacks for the definition of Blacks and their value in this society, we are completely in the hands of whites who editorially control the media and through it the relative relationship of the races. The Black media, primarily newspapers and radio, to a great extent, either rewrite white newspapers or "rip and read" the wire services' interpretation from white journalists about Black people and Black events.

This vicious cycle must be interrupted in a way which will free the white society from the awesome burden of oppression and Blacks from an obligatory accommodation to an enforced oppression.

The approach must be a positive one and not a negative one, i.e., a futile expression of anti-whiteness must be replaced by a meaningful understanding and execution of something positive for Black people.

Anti-whiteness and pro-Blackness are antithetical because anti-whiteness is simply an expression of the need to be accepted by white people — or a reaction formation to whiteness — rather than a need to constructively develop a Black identity. Hatred does not build, it destroys. And the alternative to being oppressed is not to become the oppressor; it is to liberate all concerned.

In applying the knowledge of the use of mass media to the struggle for the freedom of Black people, an educational program among the masses of Black people is essential. By participating as individuals or institutions, our community can create the essential missing ingredient from our freedom movement, i.e., the constructive means of "taking back our minds." It can rechannel some of the destructive planning for violent confrontations which always places us finally in a relatively more regressive position.

A liberating identity can truly identify our real enemy as the inability to define resources (e.g., television and films as psychologically corrective experiences and educational in nature using entertainment as an element only) and to accept the fact that the freedom of Black people is the responsibility of Black people. This responsibility must be exercised through and intelligent approach to the solution of the problem of white racism by seizing the initiative in mass media dissemination, reorienting resources of our mission and constructing mechanisms for the implementation of our goals.

DID YOU BUY A BLACK NEWSPAPER OR MAGAZINE THIS WEEK?

There is no greater support that you can offer the Black media than your dollars. If the Iowa Bystander is to remain a Black newspaper, it must have Black support. Submitting social news items for publication is not a supportive act, but rather a selfish one. If everyone who submitted news items submitted a subscription request along with their news, this newspaper would not be struggling now as it has struggled for almost 80 years. For less than 10 cents per week, the Bystander can be delivered to you. That's a very small amount of money to pay for the only Black oriented publication in the state of Iowa published with regularity. It is not much to pay for the only publication in the state that cares about your life, cares about your future. It is not much to pay for a weekly report relevant to only you, unhampered by racial misunderstandings and racial slurs.

If you don't show visible monetary support for this newspaper, it won't long be one of the six oldest Black weeklies in the country. Instead it will die as countless other Black almost-institutions have died, not because its enemies killed it, but because its people abandoned and starved it. Genocide is a reality we all recognize as a crime, but suicide is a greater evil because one can perpetuate it only upon one's self. Take Back Your Mind!

feared civil rights organization, the NAACP.

The Honorable William Hargrave, member House of Representatives from Johnson County, Iowa, brought out that there is no blue print for freedom. He said we are especially concerned today with two groups; the white supremacist and the black bourgeoisie. He said there is a trick technique about which we should beware. If someone comes up to you and says, "Don't you agree ...?" be sharp. Think.

Representative Hargrave gave NAACP credit for paving the way for other organizations, like the Southern Christian Leadership Conference and the Panthers — the Black not the gray! God is alive, well and thriving today in the NAACP.

WASHINGTON, D.C. — Bobby Seale, co-founder of the Black Panther Party said he felt that the President and Vice-president of the U.S. ought to be replaced by "a group of experts" appointed or elected by Congress. Leland Ahern announced at the NAACP 65th Anniversary Meeting, Sunday Feb. 12th, that The Friends of the Deaf have established a scholarship fund in honor of Clara Bayles. The Clara Bayles Scholarship Fund will be used to help the deaf continue their higher education. Leland Ahern is the founder of Friends of the Deaf and contributions may be sent to him.

Carl Parks, Director of Juvenile Court Services emphasized the need of warm, vital social workers such as Clara Bayles had been Katherine Stewart, along with Attorney Johnna Greffenius, president of AAUW said that a five hundred dollar Fellowship for advanced study, was named in honor of Clara Bayles. Attorney J. B. The Niagara group founded by W.E.B. DuBois merged with the former and the NAACP came into being. From the beginning both the Des Moines Branch and the National have approached situations from the legal aspect. They have won battles in the courts and have won every case they brought before the Supreme Court. On paper things are just about OK in the USA but Attorney Morris said there is still much discrimination under the table and we have to be alert at all times. That is a main function of the NAACP today. Attorney Robert Wright, membership chairman, echoed the thoughts of Attorney Morris, when he emphasized the need of working in the NAACP to overcome the discrimination which still exists in spite of laws by joining the biggest, the oldest, the most effective, the most respected and the most

Slackening Efforts in Behalf of Civil Rights

For many years, the Des Moines Branch of NAACP has spearheaded the fight for civil rights movement in Des Moines and in Iowa, generally to a great extent, since its organization in 1915.

The banch solicited and received support of most Negroes and a great many whites. At one time, practically every elected state, county and city official and many substantial white people were active members.

It carried on a forceful fight for the fulfillment of the right to full enjoyment of public accommodation (it was not available for many years); supported the national organization financially in its successful litigation carried on in the courts; it helped to secure the Negro teachers in the public schools when we had none; it advocated and secured better employment for Negroes in both public and private jobs; it supported better housing accommodations; it encouraged more education for young people to the end that they would be prepared to accept opportunities as they arose; it was involved in many other problems, both in the courts and legislative halls, in behalf of some programs that were favorable, it opposed some that were unfavorable and which tended to deny Negroes the full enjoyment of their civil rights.

Des Moines Negroes have been dealt with favorably in the courts and no question of voting rights has ever arisen.

All of the work, including court proceedings, has been donated and some by people, in many cases, who could not afford the time or effort to get the job done.

In cooperation with other organizations, a Mayor's Commission on Human Rights, later changed to the Des Moines Commission on Human Rights and Job Discrimination and the Iowa Civil Rights Commission were established which the civil rights advocates felt would take up the cudgel and build on the foundation that had been laid in the field of civil rights. The old civil rights statutes with criminal provisions for violations have been repealed. So far the changes have not lived up to the expectations, due in some instances, to the fear of their existence by those who finance them.

During upheavals on campuses and in the streets led by some who vowed to get their rights by "whatever means necessary", a great many people became frightened. And in spite of the fact that no reasonable person accused the NAACP of taking part in any illegal activities, many Negroes and whites pulled away from the fight for civil rights with the excuse, "I do not wish to be involved".

Many people forget that rights must be won and their continuance maintained otherwise the old head of racism will come out of seclusion and become bold in their operations.

Today, there is too much of this drawing in attitude. In spite of the fight carried on by NAACP and others many who heretofore have helped in the fight have good jobs now or have saved some money and become flabby or just plain lazy forgetting that the movement is not self-sufficient and still need their help. Too many young people do not realize or fail to recognize that increased opportunities they enjoy today have come about as a result of the fight the NAACP and other civil rights groups have made. This attitude has caused the organizations, which have carried on this great work, to suffer in its membership and financial support.

This is not good. The NAACP should be given support necessary to carry on the important work it has pursued over the years which includes a prodding of the U.S. Supreme Court to emplement the 14th Amendment to the Constitution of the United States.

Citizens should realize that good racial relations help build and maintain a better community.

A small nucleus of members has continued to carry on in spite of the lack of support which the NAACP is receiving. The civil rights organizations, city and state, should be encouraged to do more about the inequalities which prevail practically under their feet. Right thinking people should come to the front and help hold the gains that have been made and eliminate the remaining inequalities which exist against minorities now.

How First Africans Reached Russia

MOSCOW — As far back as 2,600 years ago, Africans are said to have lived in Russia on the east coast of the Black Sea in what is now Abkhazia with a population of 500,000 black and white Russians.

How the first Africans reached Russia from their homeland thousands of miles away is explained in legend and folklore. According to one epic, millenniums old, 100 Russian brothers of the eastern Black Sea coastline once saddled their horses and traveled southward for 18 months in search of glory.

One night their campfire attracted black-skinned people who joined them in their camp and gave them a great feast. The Russians remained in the area for a month and then journeyed home with a number of Africans accompanying them to see how people in the north lived.

While most of the Africans returned to their native land after a brief stay in Russia, some remained there, becoming the ancestors of the blacks who are said to have lived in the Caucasus ever since. No one knows for sure until this day whether the epic is merely a story or a historical truth.

In more recent times, other Africans were brought to the region as slaves or servants by the Turks during their 300-year domination of Abkhazia as part of the Ottoman Empire, beginning in 1598.

But the African slaves who were brought to Russia are said to have found a more favorable environment in race relations than those who were shipped to America. In Russia there was said to be little or no racial antagonism.

Among the descendants of these slaves is Dr. Nutsa Abash Bobilyov, a 40-year-old physician. She is a graduate of Tbilisi University of Medicine and a well known gynecologist who is on the staff of the Sukhumi city maternity hospital.

Dr. Bobilyov's father, Shirin Abash, and his brother Shaaban fought in the 1917 socialist revolution. In recognition of his valor, Shaaban was elected to the Central Executive Committee of the Abkhazian Soviet of the Working People's Deputies, the highest executive body in the republic.

Often Dr. Bobilyov tells the children the stories of Africa she heard as a child from her grandmother who related what she herself had been told by her grandmother. Language has been lost, places forgotten, and customs and traditions long blurred. Only the dim memory of an African village where children played and fathers were honored and respected until the slavers came remains as their heritage to be passed along from generation to generation. Yet how the first Africans got to Russia is still uncertain. (The author is the son of a black American agronomist George Tynes who moved to Russia in 1931.)

Key To Successful Training

For Blacks

WASHINGTON — Training programs will not work for young ghetto workers unless the programs guarantee job opportunities different from those usually available to them, a study prepared for the U.S. Department of Labor's Manpower Administration finds.

The study, "Interregional Migration, Education and Poverty in the Urban Ghetto: Another Look at Black-White Earnings Differentials," was prepared by Arvil V. Adams and Gilbert Nestel of the Center for Human Resource Research, Ohio State University.

It finds that young black males in the metropolitan non-South are interested primarily in "liking the work" and are less "committed to work" than their peers educated in the South.

The study was designed to test the widely held belief, reinforced by the Coleman Report on "Equality of Educational Opportunity," that the inferiority of southern black schools provides one explanation for the generally low financial returns from black education and for urban poverty in the non-South.

Instead, the report states, the differences in financial returns from education of blacks stem from environmental problems facing blacks in non-Southern ghettos and differences in attitudes towards school experience and work in the North.

There is little reason for optimism, according to the study, that black-white earnings differentials will diminish in the near future.

Among the other findings are the following:

— Blacks educated in the metropolitan non-South are less likely than those educated in the rural South — even those in the metropolitan South — to prefer good wages alone.

— The financial returns from education for blacks measured in terms of annual earnings are positive and significant — but less than for whites at each level of education. There is an absence of any additional financial return from college experience for older black males when compared with similar blacks with 12 years of school completed.

— The financial returns from college experience for young black males are substantial, approaching those of whites, which may explain the rapid growth in numbers of blacks enrolled in college during the 1960's.

The report can be obtained free of charge by contacting the Center for Human Resource Research, 215 W. 11th Avenue, Columbus, Ohio 43201.

Free tax assistance for indigent residents in the Des Moines area will be offered in the evenings during March and April by the Business Aid Society of Polk County.

The service will be offered from 6:30 to 9 p.m. Monday through Thursday, March 4-14 and March 25-April 15, according to Craig Warnimont, Drake University's director of tax assistance for the Business Aid Society.

Warnimont said the Monday sessions would be held in the Roadside Settlement, 620 Scott Avenue; Tuesdays in the Boys Club of Des Moines, 1435 East Grand Avenue; Wednesdays in the offices of Drake's Revitalization Corps, 1323 27th Street, and Thursdays in the Center for the Study and Application of Black Theology, 1016 Forest Avenue.

The purpose of the sessions, Warnimont said, is to help low income individuals with their income taxes. The volunteers, he said, were prepared for their work through a two-day Warnimont said three or four volunteers would be on hand in each center. For more information about the service, telephone 271-3761.

A Jasper, Georgia, man was indicted by a federal grand jury today on charges of threatening to shoot and burn down the home of a trailer park owner and his wife for renting a house trailer to a black.

Attorney General William B.

Saxbe said a two-count indictment was returned in U.S. District Court in Atlanta, Georgia, against Larry K. Richards.

Richards was charged in one count with issuing the threats to Richard F. Grotefend, operator of the trailer park, and his wife on September 1 and 2, 1973.

Richards was charged in the second count with issuing similar threats to Ezra C. McCowan, on September 1, 2, and 3. McCowan, a black man, rented a trailer from Grotefend on August 29, 1973.

The indictment charged Richards with violating the Fair Housing Act of 1968 by willfully attempting by threat of force to injure, intimidate, and interfere with the legal rights of the Grotefends and to rent or occupy any dwelling.

The maximum penalty upon conviction of each count is one year in prison and a $1,000 fine.

How much heat can a heat pump ...pump?

An electric heat pump is like a furnace and air conditioner rolled into one. In the summer, it operates like an electric air conditioner. In the winter, it automatically reverses itself and pumps warm air into your home.

And the interesting thing about a heat pump is that except for a few of the coldest days of the year, it furnishes more energy in the form of heat, than is put into it in the form of electric power. That's because it removes the heat from outside air and pumps it inside your house.

WE WILL REPORT THIS WEEK ON SOMEONE WHO IS EVERYONE'S DARLING, and who has merited this claim all of her life. I speak of Veronica Brown Whiteside. She has been a serious student all of her life and has continued some claim to her father's church all of her life.

VERONICA BEGAN WRITING ON THE DES MOINES REGISTER AND TRIBUNE last June. Before that she had been going to Drake University and majoring in journalism. She will graduate in August of 1975.

Veronica is married to Darrell Whiteside, who is a student teacher at Callanan Junior High School. They have a daughter, Twyshawna, who will be 5 years old this month.

It is possible that in June, Veronica will be going to New York to write for a magazine on a summer internship. This is only a possibility but we hope for her success in this regard.

Some of Veronica's hobbies are yoga and transcendental meditation. She is also a free lance model and is quite well-known in this work.

Mrs. Whiteside did her first college work at Northeast Missouri State College, Kirksville, Missouri. She went there about a year and a half.

Veronica is the daughter of Rev. and Mrs. Theodore Brown, 1330 18th Street.

A delicious and palatable dinner was served by the Chef of Holiday Inn South, Mr. Norman Oakley. One of the highlights of the evening was a report given by Mrs. Maria Webb-Bey of the newly organized young adult Federated Club called Sojourner Truth. Mrs. Webb-Bey told of the club's organization and gave a brief history of the famous lady after which the club was named. Mrs. Roberta Frazier was their organizer and the Parliamentary Club is its sponsor.

The speaker of the evening was Mrs. Myriel Jean Johnson, wife of Rev. Ivan Johnson, pastor of Bethel A.M.E. Church. Mrs. Gladys Tobin, Mr. Buddy Carter and Mrs. Elsie Robinson

by marri johnson

Under the leadership of Mrs. Elsie Robinson and Mrs. Gladys Tobin the Elks Lodge No. 160 observed "Buddy Carter Day", or "R. C. Carter Day", which is his true name. These two daughters sat down together and talked over the friendship Buddy has displayed over the years for many other members of the Elks. At any time someone was in need and needed a helping hand, it was he who extended the helping hand. Since this was generally known and felt by many, many others, they decided to reach out in the membership and organize and set aside a day in which to give honor to Buddy Carter. Their idea met with wholehearted enthusiasm from men and women alike. The idea caught on and everyone responded. They took up money to purchase gifts and to have a big Soul Food Feast.

People poured in all evening. A spirit of gaiety pervaded the entire evening. Mrs. Robinson set the tone of the evening by making the opening remarks over the public address system. As she told the purpose of the gathering and making it clear to one and to all the occasion was in honor of Buddy Carter, she repeated the wonderful friendship he has shown throughout the years. As she talked, she caught sight of the exalted Ruler Gilbert Randle arriving. She called out to him and he ran to her side and taking over the public address system added a spirited speech and carried the enthusiasm of all present to a feverish pitch. Everyone was happy and joyful to be gathered in Buddy's honor and to have him in the center of things sharing their joyful spirit. Buddy had to say a few words over the microphone, he had to be heard from, too. Helping Mrs. Robinson keep up a merry line of chatter was Johnnie Roberson, who makes a good m.c., too.

Next Mrs. Robinson invited all to gather at the well set table which included among other foods, fried chicken, pig feet, neck bones, navy beans, cabbage, bowls of salads, corn bread, macaroni and cheese, different pies, just a world of food.

Sharing Buddy Carter's night, was his 21 year old son, Michael, who is a Service Area Coordinator of the Community Development in the Southeast Area. Tall and handsome Michael, made a striking pair at his father's side. Buddy has two other sons: Roosevelt, Jr., an attorney in Columbus, Ohio; and Arthur Hunley Carter, of New York City, who is a retired Navy man. Buddy explained how he came by the name, Buddy: his two sisters, Florence and Mattie, when they were small tried to call him Brother with the resulting "Buddy". The neighborhood picked up the name and he has carried it for life. His sister, Florence, lives in Detroit, Michigan. His sister Mattie, as Mrs. Ollie Upwright with Mr. Upwright was killed in an auto accident enroute to Iowa City, where his father was ill. His parents were Mrs. Effie and Mr. Ernest Carter, who lived at 723 Southeast 28th Street.

Everyone had a gay evening. In the midst of the merry chatter I picked up a bit of news: that John Haskin's Playboy Club is bringing in a band. I have known Buddy Carter all of my life. He and my brother, Maurice Corbett, were very close friends. I felt very proud when upon my arrival, Buddy invited me to his table and made me welcome to share his table. I was off to a fine start to get my story.

Among some of those gathered I spotted Mrs. Bernice Carter, Linford Willis, Mrs. Geraldine Conway, J.D. Johnson, Mr. Lafayette Fowler, Travis Fowler, Jim Davis, Mr. Ron Carter, Wm. Freeman, Richard Baker, Deputy Willa Mae Rowe, Financial Secretary Ada Humburd, Dtr. Ruler. Mrs. Vivian Pruitt, Calvin Pruitt, Treasurer Norva Terrell, Recording Secretary Thelma Calderon; Past Grand Exalted Ruler, Norville Tillman, Andrew Brown, Beverly Winfrey, Asst. Dtr. Ruler; Red Harris, Gene Cheatom, Jasper Wilson, Johnny Thompson, James Wright, Mrs. Claudine Redmon, Melvin Barber, Albert Winfrey, Jr., Gabe Taylor, Glenn Whiteside, Marvin Werby, Nathan Johnson, Jim Cooper, Harlan Thomas, Delores Davis, Marlyb Allen, Floyd Harvey, Jim Pryor, Clifford Terrell, Margaret Russell, Mary Rogers, Billie Jean Moore, Robert Burke.

In the course of the evening a stunningly dressed woman arrived, whom I knew very well. She was Mrs. Nadine Abbott. She brought a gift from someone dear to all of us. A gift of $25.00 from Kansas City, Mr. David Jackson, known to all of us. This was his remembrance to Buddy Carter.

Somewhere during the course of the evening Buddy opened his gift box. Elsie Robinson, knowing Buddy quite well, selected items which would add to his comfort at home: a beautiful bed spread and curtains for his entire apartment. He was well pleased at her thoughtfulness. And everyone else well-satisfied with her suggestions.

Resuming an effort at naming some of those seen on this occasion: Calvin Butts, Patricia Brown, Mayetta Ayers, Mr. and Mrs. Langsdon Abbott, Russell Collins, Alvin Myles, Mrs. Arlene Freeman, Mrs. Bridgette Alexander, Wylie Townsend, Charles Floyd, Leonard Perry, Johnny Williams, Norvajeau Mash, Ollie Sanders, Mrs. Esmeralda Troupe, Mrs. Olivia Williams, and Jim Claybourne.

Alpha Ball-Climaxes Winter Social Season

By Maude Esther White

Last Saturday night, in keeping with its tradition of "par Excellence," the Zeta Kappa Lambda Chapter of the Alpha Phi Alpha Fraternity, played host to Des Moines social elite at its annual Black and Gold Ball.

In a sumptuous setting, especially arranged for them at Eddie Webster's Supper Club in West Des Moines, guests danced to the music of the Sunday Socials until the wee hours of the morning. At exactly half after Eleven O'Clock, the guests were retired to a Buffet, beautifully laid and tastefully prepared by the maitre d'hotel. Servings from an overflowing fruit salad basket which served also as a decorative piece, a variety of meat and egg dishes and other gourmet delights were followed by champagne drawn from a fountain which flowed throughout the evening.

Each guest was greeted by members of the Fraternity and their wives; hospitality was in keeping with any homesetting. Dr. Walter Riley, president of the Chapter and his very gracious and charming wife, were the epitome of southern hospitality (they are from Tennessee). While the doctor is currently serving as staff surgeon at the Veteran's Hospital, they indicated he may soon enter private practice in Des Moines. The Vice-president, Dr. Ed Easley, chairman of the Department of Marketing, Drake University, and his lovely wife; Ma Bell's PR man, and St. Paul's vibrato, Everett Mayes, completely captivated the audience when he vied with younger competition by dancing the "funky chicken" and the "Bump" (with equal facility) serves as the Treasurer of the group; Dr. Lewis James and his talented wife, Barbara; Des Moines' leading marriage counselor, Paul Danforth and his wife, Delores. Other members who were present but not serving as hosts were M.S.

Clinton, Billy Ray and W.L. White.

The Guest List

While the number of guests were too numerous to enumerate, the room was filled with laughter and gaiety all evening. We caught glimpses of the J.B. Morris Jr., the Hon. Luther B. Glanton and his MOST gracious wife, Willie, the William Cropps, the Russell Davis, American Republic's Insurance Exec.; the Robert Wrights, the William Wells, the Paul Cains, Iowa Des Moines newest bank exec.; Attorney and Mrs. Oscar Jones, the Virgil Millers, Iowa Employment Security Exec.; Peter Hawthornes, she has recently been named the director of Education at the new Edmunds elementary school; Albert Brewers, Nolan Gentrys, Harold Wolks, Richard Holts, Howard Kelsos, Edward Reeves, James Parkeys, Sam Bradleys, the Leroy Bells, from Mason City; and the John Estes, Jr's.

BUILDERS OF MEN

While this social event topped the social season's winter affairs, this group is known as the first black fraternity to be formed in America, it has chapters throughout the world, and their major emphasis is on scholastic achievement. National figures who have membership in this organization include the Hon. Edward Brooks, Senator, Massachusetts; Chief Justice Thurgood

Marshall; the Rev. Martin Luther King, Adam Clayton Powell, W.E.B. DuBois, John Hope Franklin, Charles Wesley, Paul Roberson, Ebony's John Johnson, Belford Lawson and Whitney Young. (to name a few).

The first chapter was formed at Cornell University, Ithaca New York, in 1906, when a group of blacks who had previously organized for social and literary purposes was able to garner enough votes to establish a black fraternity. Known as the Seven Jewels, there is only one living member of this original group, Henry Callis, Washington, D.C. The organization was integrated in 1947, and while their major emphasis is excellence, they see themselves as builders of black men since most of the presidents of our black colleges and universities are members of this Greek Letter organization.

NEW HUMAN HAIR LINE FOR BLACKS

MIAMI, FLA. — La Contessa, one of the country's leading manufacturers of wigs and human hair products, has just introduced a complete line of human hair products for blacks, according to Joseph Alter, executive vice president of La Contessa.

"To complement the recent introduction of our 'Black is Beautiful' line, synthetic wigs designed especially for blacks, we are now introducing seven different styles of 100% human hair pieces for blacks," said Alter.

"We have had a tremendous response to our new synthetic wigs for blacks and expect that the new human hair pieces will also be well received by blacks throughout the country. As is the policy with all La Contessa wigs and human hair pieces, these new products will be sold exclusively to beauty salons.

"Since blacks account for a substantial portion of wig purchases, we felt that there was a definite need for both wigs and human hair pieces designed especially for them.

We created a special fiber, 'Afrilon,' which was developed after two years of extensive research.

Attitudes & Services- Your Entertainment Dollar

By Habiba

For $2.50 you can enjoy an afternoon or evening of beautiful Black entertainment. I'm talking about a movie, Five On the Black Hand Side, currently running at the Galaxy Theatre in Des Moines, a place Black families ought to go for a positive viewing experience.

Five On the Black Hand Side is rated PG (Parental Guidance suggested.) Most people who saw a preview of the film suggest that the "PG" rating ought not be interpreted as a warning but rather as an order - "Parents, Guide your children right down to that movie!" Few of us noticed anything in the film that a Black child would be hurt or offended by, and in all the opportunity for a child to see a proud, humorous Black film overshadows one or two "damns" uttered by the characters.

On a more serious note, it would be wise to take lightly any reviews or critiques of this film written by white reviewers. One of the local newspapers recently carried a review of Five On the Black Hand Side by a white writer. The reviewer in question called the movie a "mild, harmless film". I might have called it a gentle, positive experience. He also claimed that the dialogue was "stilted" and that there was "too much jargon". I would have made neither of these criticisms and I can't help but think that the reviewer may not have "understood" the film, hence the need to criticize technicalities.

You can be sure that technicalities won't be of concern to you while you're digging this film. All I can do is reiterate-it is a beautiful Black film that far surpasses Walt Disney when it comes to family entertainment. Don't miss Five On the Black Hand Side!

To Find An Image, Black Films From Uncle Tom To Superfly is a history of Blacks in films. What is especially important about this particular book is its approach to the subject. Reading To Find An Image is not only a trip through motion picture history, but also a trip through Black life. The author, James Murray, deals with far more than just the celluloid and screen. Black actors, actresses, producers and directors emerge as people; what they experience is directly related to being Black in a white industry, and Murray does not fall into the trap of treating history as a dead entity.

The book is valuable as a chronicle of Blacks in films; it introduces you to people you might not otherwise come to know. An appendix provides the reader with a list of Black films from 1900 to 1973, as well as a list of producers, directors, screenwriters and scorers. There are 16 pages of photographs and an excellent index. This book would make a great gift, especially if you read it first.

Donny Michael

by Julie Williams, student

Donny Michael, a junior at Roosevelt, was the first place winner of the "Art Fair" sponsored by the Des Moines Youth Recreation Center, 922 Locust St., Des Moines on Sat., March 3rd.

The prize gave him $15.00 worth of art supplies from the Art Store at 1227 25th St.

An active student, he serves as the president of the school's Black Student Union and has also participated in Karate and Judo for the past five years.

As a lifetime aspiration he stated, "I just want to do something that will make me happy. If art is that thing, then that's what it will be."

Donny doesn't sell any of his work; however he will do sketches and drawings for others if and when he has the time.

He mentioned that he found himself drawing or in some way involved with art at least three hours daily.

He's been drawing since an early age and he said the initial motivation was that most people would discourage him from drawing since he is left-handed. His obvious artistic talent has proven his advisors wrong.

Photography and poetry are a few of his other hobbies in which he has encountered equal success. He has had several pieces of poetry published. Donny, a promising young producer of Black art has displayed his work at Roosevelt as well as at the YWCA Third World Art Expo.

HIGH SCHOOL REPORT By Diane Banks

Dowling

Dowling High's Black Student Union sponsored Black Awareness "74" Wednesday. The guest speaker Rev. Robert Clay, spoke to the predominately white audience about black inventors and their accomplishments and the direction in which young blacks should try to move today.

Rev. Clay spoke of his objective, "... for the benefit of whites so they will know how blacks have contributed and for the blacks because they have something to be proud of."

He encouraged the black students to push forward and the white students to learn to respect blacks for who they are rather than what they are.

Rev. Clay added, "... the future will belong to those who organize. We need to get involved in politics."

The school provided the BSU with two class periods. The BSU devoted time to poetry reading, films dealing with black awareness, a panel discussion and rap session.

The Black Student Union invited representatives from the other five Des Moines area high schools to attend.

The student body response was positive. The BSU is planning another day of activities.

Tech

Tech High Afro Club is off on a fund raising campaign. Among many of the projects the monies will be used for, is a trip to Chicago for the club's graduating seniors.

Val Turner will speak at the Roosevelt High Black Student Union meeting this Friday. Donald Michael is president of the organization.

The Black Student Union sent representatives to the Dowling High School Black Awareness "74".

An art exhibit is on display in the Roosevelt library. The artistry is the work of black students attending Roosevelt.

NORTH HIGH AFRO CLUB BLACK LIBERATION CENTURY II

According to Gail Hoffman, secretary of North High's Afro Club, "togetherness is what North High's Afro Club is all about. Uniting with black sisters and brothers all over Des Moines is what we want. That's why once again this year we will present Black Liberation Century II, a fashion and talent show, including poetry, skits, and a lot of other things you wouldn't want to miss. In order to have it together we've got to be together. Check it out if you can dig where we're coming from Saturday, April 13, 7:00-10:00 p.m."

Minorities, Jobless To Get Training With AFL-CIO Help

WASHINGTON — Nearly 600 jobless or underemployed persons in 11 states will get on-the-job training under a $1,314,250 contract with the Operating Engineers Union, Secretary of Labor Peter J. Brennan announced.

The AFL-CIO's International Union of Operating Engineers (IUOE) will develop subcontracts among employers with whom the union has collective bargaining agreements during the 18-month contract to train 125 new hires and provide upgrading for 466 low-skill employees.

Of the new openings, at least 50 percent will be reserved for minority trainees and Vietnam-era veterans (20-34 years of age). All participants will start with wages ranging from $4.00 to $8.50 an hour, and receive full fringe benefits.

More than 400 of the upgrading opportunities will be for equipment operator, the rest for heavy duty mechanic.

About $334,200 will be set aside for training allowances for classroom instruction lasting 6 to 8 weeks. On-the-job training will last from 18 to 20 weeks, depending on individual skill level.

Approximate direct training costs and number of trainees for Iowa is as follows: 36 trainees, $74,800.

Multi-Cultural Institute At Drake University

The Multi-cultural Institute at Drake University held an all day work shop on Saturday, Feb. 16, 1974. This was not an ordinary workshop by any means, that is, it involved a play. The play wasn't any old play but one taken from a book by Dee Brown about Indians, presented in most parts by Indians.

The Play, "Bury My Heart at Wounded Knee" was presented to a group of teachers and administrators who have been taking part in the Institute over the past twenty months. It was directed by Juanita Pudwill, who is a speech and drama teacher at South Tama Senior High School. The cast was made up of mainly Indian students from the Mesquakie tribe at Tama. Also, other students from the Senior High school at Tama played parts in the play.

The play has been presented in a number of cities, schools, and colleges across the state. It was first presented to the South Tama's entire faculty and the community on November 13-14, 1973. Some people have stated they prefer reading the book, but I have seen these students present the play twice, both in Des Moines and in South Tama and the effects were greater each time that I saw it. It was far more effective than the book.

The entire workshop that day focused on Native Americans' experiences. The play dealt with the Native Americans livelihood since America's inception and came through the "Manifest Destiny" era to the time of Custer at Little Big Horn. Mr. Reuben Snake, who is the past president of A.I.M., dealt with the facts from that point to the present and stated some alternative strategies for Native Americans in the future in this society.

This institute is one of many in the four state region that has as its primary function the setting up of special sessions for teachers and administrators in the various school districts in Iowa with relation to problems incidental to or occasioned by desegregation.

A Study Mission To Brazil And Africa

BY Congressman Charles C. Diggs, Jr.

My recent trip took me first to Brazil to continue our Subcommittee's policy of having discussions with the foreign ministers of other countries on their policy towards Africa.

The foreign minister of Brazil, a country of more than 40 million Blacks, had visited last year some nine Africa states to encourage the development of Brazil-African relations in line with Brazil's need for markets. While Brazil seeks trade outlets in Black Africa, South Africa remains its largest trading partner and Brazil continues, with the United States and South Africa, to be among the few United Nations members staunchly supporting Portugal.

I talked with Brazilian officials on the directions of Brazilian foreign policy. I returned convinced that Brazil cannot carry water on both shoulders-developing economic ties with Black Africa while continuing to be one of the mainstays of colonialism in Africa. The cost to Brazil of its United Nations voting record is being brought home. But, even were Brazil to change its current support for Portugal and endeavor to play a bridge role between Africa and Portugal, no influence is likely to be significant on Portugal as long as the United States continues to undergird Portugal economically, politically and militarily.

From Brazil, my study mission toured three of the six drought-stricken Sahelian countries-Senegal, Upper Volta and Niger. The United States' emergency relief program in the Sahel-an area the size of the continental United States-has saved hundreds of thousands of lives. Although untold numbers of children and old people died, our grain shipments helped to prevent much worse disaster.

Our government's efforts were the result of spontaneous reaction all around the United States, especially among African-Americans, to the famine-and I observed that our efforts were deeply appreciated.

Responsible officials advised that the food shortfall might be at least as great this coming year. Rains were spotty, irregular, and completely stopped in mid-September when the grain needs moisture. The people will be facing starvation again very soon unless action is taken immediately. More grain must arrive at the major ports now through May when the roads become impassable.

In Upper Volta I visited a road improvement project, made possible by the $25 million amendment I sponsored to the Foreign Assistance Act for immediate relief to the Sahel.

Sahelian officials unanimously told me their major priority is utilization of their precious

Come To New York In April!

The African Heritage Studies Association is holding its Sixth (6th) Annual Conference in New York this year at the Statler Hilton Hotel on April 4, 5, 6, 7th 1974.

The conference theme this year will be: The Imperatives of the African World: Cultural Heritage, Political Struggle and Common Destiny. The continuing attack on the function of Black Studies makes it imperative that serious attention be focused upon the relevance of education to the goals of Pan Africanism.

The thirty-five (35) members water resources by irrigation schemes, construction of dams, and the use of underground water. Other priorities are reforestation, livestock improvement and rural development. They all agreed that the underlying problem of desert encroachment requires a long-term program with large injections of capital to stabilize and develop water and other resources in the area. We need a broadly-based commitment to cooperation with Africans according to their own aspirations for a life free from hunger to restore the Sahel to its ancient role as the breadbasket of Africa. Thus, in the Foreign Assistance Act the Congress enacted my amendment pledging U.S. support for a long-term comprehensive African Sahel Development Program.

The study mission then journeyed to Lesotho and Swaziland. Despite the pressures of their vulnerable location in the mids of South Africa, they maintain their independence of that colossus. Their difference in approach reflects the diversity of African nationhood. I will leave no stone unturned to encourage U.S. business investment in those majority-ruled countries rather than in South Africa.

The study mission proceeded to the historic city of Addis Ababa for the Fourth African-American Dialogues, a gathering of distinguished Africans and Americans, government officials, journalists and educators. This frank African American interchange contributes to our efforts to effect a rational U.S. policy towards Africa-a policy conceived in the enlightened interest of our country in an Africa truly independent, politically and economically.

Commends The Law Enforcement Administration

The Commission for Racial Justice of the United Church of Christ commended the Law Enforcement Assistance Administration (LEAA) on its recent ban of the use of Federal Anti-Crime funds for behavior modification, psychosurgery, medical research and chemotherapy on prisoners.

Dr. Charles E. Cobb, Executive Director of the Commission for Racial Justice was called behavior modification "a cruel hoax perpetrated on prisoners and society alike." In a mass mailing Dr. Cobb called upon responsible citizens to protest the opening of the Federal Center for Correctional Research (Behavior Research Center) "... use prisoners in an involuntary setting, under the guise of research or mental health therapy, to experiment upon." Dr. Cobb said that "the systematic manipulation of the behavior of inmates and others is immoral, unconstitutional, cruel and inhuman treatment.

There is no reason to justify the use of drugs, electric shock treatments, aversion therapy on prisoners, especially when they are forced to participate against their will. In many cases prisoners used for these experiments are minorities and the poor. To these types of experimentations we take serious exception. A ten (10) member Investigation Team, headed by Dr. Cobb, recently toured the Federal Center for Correctional Research in Butner, North Carolina to investigate the proposed research and mental health programs at that facility. "We can see no difference between the proposals for the Federal Center for Correctional Research and those of other dehumanizing research programs conducted in state prisons and other mental health facilities," stated Dr. Cobb. He concludes "... if only the Federal Bureau of Prisons would learn from the Law Enforcement Assistance Administration's experience and step back into the 20th Century, it would allow all of us to concentrate our energies of developing, in conjunction with prisoners, effective models that will rehabilitate offenders."

PLAN YOUR PROPERTY PROTECTION

Q. A neighbor says that my regular automobile policy applies not only to my own car, but also to the one I rent for two weeks each summer when I go on vacation. Can this be?

A. Your neighbor is right.

Few people realize it, but most automobile policies cover you when driving a rented vehicle so long as the car hasn't been rented for a long term.

If you rent for under three weeks, that could hardly be considered a long term, but check with your insurance representative before leaving.

CANDY FACTS AND FANCIES

Whether you have an affection for almost any confection or are sweet only on the latest "no jelly" peanut butter bar, you'll find that candy through the ages has a truly rich history.

The earliest known records referring to candy are in Egyptian writings and paintings dating from 2,000 B.C. Crude drawings on tombs of the 11th dynasty show the confectionery processes used. Baking and confection making took place in the temples. The treats were not available to everyone. They were offered to the gods or reserved for royalty.

The general public first associated sweets with medicine. Druggists used them to disguise the bitter taste of their pills. Not until the middle of the 16th century is there any reference to the manufacture of candy or the setting up of candy stores.

The first candymakers in the American Colonies were the Dutch bakers of New Amsterdam. In the 17th century they made fancy creations for special events such as Christmas and New Year's parties.

The confectionary trade began to flourish in the 18th century. Boston, New York City, and Philadelphia were the early centers of the trade.

Grocery stores featured large wooden pails filled with candy. The proprietors scooped out pieces of rock candy, colored sugar candy, and the first lollipops. These were simply dabs of sugar candy placed on the end of a slate pencil.

Toward the end of the 19th century penny candies became popular. When a child went to the grocery store with his penny, he had a hard decision to make. Should he buy a checkerberry drop or a chopstick, "chicken feed" (candy corn) or jelly beans, a sugar man or a jawbreaker?

Up until recently in the United States, the combination of peanut butter and jelly has long been "preserved." Now, however, Peter Paul, Inc., has barred the latter from its "no jelly" peanut butter bars. This idea has caught on with the tastes of modern Americans who appreciate the fact that jelly can be thoroughly eschewed.

As a matter of fact, like candy consumers through the ages, they are just eating it up.

THE FAMILY LAWYER

Reward To Policeman?

Arsonists set fire to a large warehouse one night, and the owners offered a $10,000 reward for catching the culprits. A few days later, an alert policeman picked up the guilty pair in a bar.

In this situation, was the policeman entitled to the $10,000? He insisted that he was, but a court ruled against him. The court said he could not collect a reward for doing what the city was already paying him to do: capture criminals.

This is the rule in most circumstances, that a policeman (or other public employee) cannot demand a reward for merely doing his job.

Otherwise, explained one judge, "whenever a crime was committed, instead of speedy efforts for the arrest of the offender, there would be a holding back in the hope that a reward would be offered."

On the other hand, an officer usually can collect the reward if what he did was outside the scope of his duties. For example:

A deputy sheriff, on vacation in a neighboring county, had occasion to help in the capture of a bank robber. Learning that the bank had offered a reward, he decided to put in a claim for it.

This time, the court ruled in his favor. The court said that, having acted strictly on his own, he had as much right to the reward as any other deserving citizen.

One famous case involved a hotel fire so fierce that firemen gave up their efforts to get into the building. Suddenly an anguished onlooker cried:

"I will give $5,000 to anyone who will bring out my wife!"

One fireman, galvanized into action, fought his way through the flames and managed to bring the woman out.

Later, when he tried to collect the reward, the husband argued that rescuing people was part of a fireman's job. But the court said a fireman's job did not include rescues involving such a dire risk to his own life. For action above and beyond the call of duty, said the court, this fireman had earned the reward.

CARD OF THANKS

"Today more than ever before in my life, I know what it is like to have wonderful Church leaders, family, friends and neighbors. During my recent illness, they were at my bedside to care for me, when I could not care for myself. When I came home from the hospital, they were there to see that my every need was provided for.

The many beautiful sick cards was a joy to read. The telephone calls of concern made me know there was those who cared.

The beautiful flowers from my church, The United Church Women, and friends was a welcome sight to see. And again for those who have offered prayer, and have repeatedly sent sick cards to my husband in the VA Hospital, in Knoxville, Iowa. Thank you. This has been a source of inspiration to him.

To these who have taken me to visit him, again thank you. All I can say to each of you is "May he who watches over all bless and keep you in his care always."

DAVENPORT

By Cecile Cooper
225 W. 11th Street

Charles W. Davis of Moline, Illinois was guest speaker at the annual "Founders Day Banquet" held recently at Bethel A.M.E. Church, Davenport, Iowa.

His speech dealt with subjects that have a direct bearing on our present mode of living, the way that we worship, the integrity of our schools, and the decaying morality of those that we have entrusted to govern this great country of ours.

He does not feel that our country is headed for doom and destruction. It is his feeling that we will pick up the loose ends and begin to rectify the many mistakes that we as a nation have been guilty of for past centuries; and that in view of our past experiences, we will persist in our efforts to elect men of integrity to high offices. He also feels that if we go back to the basics of the original concepts of Christianity and adhere to the teachings of the Ten Commandments, we cannot fail.

Mr. Davis further stated that as minority citizens we must insist that our youth prepare themselves morally, spiritually, and scholastically for this great emancipation that is bound to come about within the near future. That as adults we must begin to listen to our youth for they have something they are trying to tell us. He feels that we as adults have proven that we do not have all of the answers and that we must work together more closely. He also feels that we must back those seeking public offices; support our churches much better than we have in the past; become more self-supporting among ourselves; stand behind those who believe in right and down those who would betray us.

He concluded by saying that we must prove to the skeptics that we can and will take our rightful places in helping to rebuild the future; that it is high time along with our protesting and marching, we start doing.

Rev. A. T. Chester, Pastor of Bethel Church, commented briefly about Richard Allen, the founder of the African Methodist Episcopal Church.

One of the guests of Cecile Cooper, Theresa Clarke, who came from Chicago to attend the "Founders Day Banquet" has plans to go to Mexico for a vacation. She has lived in Chicago 2½ years. Her mother, Evelyn Clarke, also attended the banquet. She is with Davenport Bank and Trust Company.

Mr. Louis J. Henry who is a resident patient at the Veterans Administration Nursing Home Care Unit in Knoxville, Iowa was visited recently by two of his daughters, Ms. Nancy Henry, Kansas City, Missouri and Mrs. William Grimes, Rock Island, Illinois and by Ms. Cecile Cooper, Davenport, Iowa, a dear friend of the family. Mr. Henry's condition is somewhat improved.

RHODESIA AGAINST ZIMBABWE ARMED STRUGGLE

Zambian papers have recently exposed new reactionary measures taken by the Smith racist regime of Rhodesia against the growing armed struggle of the Zimbabwe people.

The Zambia Daily Mail in a special report today exposed the fact that "On February 5 this year, the Rhodesian regime came out with a statement that it had decided to recruit forcibly Africans living in the war zone of Northeastern Rhodesia to work on various projects", including building dams, roads, new army camps, etc. On Feb. 8th, it said, the Smith regime further declared that it had decided to increase the size of its army to meet the Zimbabwe African National Union guerrillas' onslaught on Northeastern Rhodesia.

by Allen Ashby

The basketball season is coming down to the tournaments. For the teams in the two major meets, the season is just beginning. In the NCAA meet, somebody will play at least eight games to win the crown. As I write this, it isn't certain whether the current champs who have had a stranglehold on the thing will even be in the meet. They have to beat Southern Cal. this week-end. The Uclans squeaked past the Trojans last time, and if they aren't ready, they could blow their chances at another title. As it is, they have lost that big edge they used to have. Before everybody was about ready to give them the title, and the play was for second. But now people have seen that the boys are really human, and they can be beaten, and don't think everybody won't put just a little effort into it. If Notre Dame and UCLA get to the final round, you can put both teams into a hat and draw for the winner. The Irish have the memory of that awful night at Pauley Stadium, and would like to get even, just as Wooden's club didn't forget that squeaker at South Bend. Just for a guess I will go out and pick the Irish to take the marbles if they get that far.

The National Invitation meet has a new feature. Maryland East Shore is said to have one of the finest small college teams in the nation. People say they aren't rated higher than they are because they have an all black lineup. But at this writing they have won 24 and lost one, losing that after a long tough week-end schedule. They have always felt that they could make a big dent in this meet if they could get in, so now they are in. But sometimes a really good club or competitor gets that big chance, and is so eager to look good that they get too tight. The Maryland boys say this won't happen to them. All they ever wanted was a chance and they got it.

Will Iowa U have a new basketball coach? Your guess is as good as anybody else's. I really don't know what a new coach could do that this fellow hasn't tried, except win a few more games, and with a little luck, the team might have done that. So I guess we will just have to wait and see. I wish Gus Guydon had had a super mark while he has been guiding the Cyclones, but that is life. Certainly would have helped him to maybe land a head coach job that I have in mind.

Do you know that I really thought Hoover had the metro cage title all locked up, and it turns out that they had to share it with Lincoln. East had to slip in the standings, and did. Didn't like that. I hope that Tony Jones and his troubles at East don't keep him out of a chance to go to some college. He kept in shape by playing AAU ball, so he shouldn't be too far off. In the high schools this year I am still a little surprised that there were not more black girls playing basketball. Maybe next year. Don't know any really good reason for wanting to see them, but it just would be something to follow.

Read a good story on Arthur Ashe the other day. It made me wonder how many of the fellows I know would have paid the price to reach his level. Not in practice, for he is said to be so good that if he worked at the game, practically nobody would beat him very much. But in his court manners and never letting his temper or feelings show. I have heard that there have been several black tennis players who had Ashe's ability, but couldn't stand that idea of not letting one's self go. That was the general theme of the story, but maybe I shall elaborate more on it later.

Oh, yes, while I am on tennis, I was having breakfast with a tennis player from out of town a while back, and he told me that he thought that the main weakness of Mark Morrow was that he didn't vary his shots as to speed and depth enough. I know he can do this, for I have seen him do it, but never noticed it in matches. Guess I will have to see some of his matches from a spectator's viewpoint.

THE GATEWAY GLADIATORS

by del monaco

On Friday, March 8th at 8 p.m. another boxing show will be held at the Gateway Opportunity Center at 1000 Avenue sponsored by the Gateway Boxing Club. At least 20 bouts will be staged covering the junior, novice and open divisions. Admission is only 2 dollars for adults ... one dollar for children. This will be the only amateur boxing card in Des Moines for this month. Boxers from various points in Iowa as well as Omaha will be taking part. And this will be a complete night as far as the little extras go. The Gateway Boxing Club has arranged for a program to be issued to spectators featuring bits of information as well as some ads from generous merchants in the area ... prizes will be given out to the lucky people in the audience such as free Pizzas from Pancho's Villa on University Avenue ... 4 Barbecue Dinners from Joe's Bar B Q Pit on Southwest 9th. But the big attraction, of course, will be the fights. The Gateway fighters are slowly improving and are looking forward to the state AAU Tournament to be held next month in Cedar Falls. The night should prove to be very entertaining and enjoyable. Make it, if you can. First bell rings at 8 o'clock. See you at ringside.

Home Run

NEW YORK, N.Y., Feb. 22 — When Atlanta Braves superstar Hank Aaron hits his 715th homer in the coming season, he'll gain baseball immortality. And, somewhere in the United States, someone will be $25,000 richer.

The $25,000 is first prize in the Hank Aaron "715 - Stakes" announced today by The Magnavox Company and being launched throughout the country with participating dealers on February 28.

The Magnavox Hank Aaron "715 - Stakes" is the first promotion to feature Aaron since the Company signed him last month to a $1 million contract. Fans will pick up entry blanks at Magnavox dealers and try to guess the inning in which Aaron will hit his 715th record-breaking home run.

Those guessing the right inning will then qualify for entry in the "715 - Stakes," a chance to win $25,000 cash, or one of 715 Magnavox products with a total retail value of $30,000. Included are 15 deluxe Videomatic color consoles, 20 stereo consoles, 30 black and white TV portables, 50 Odyssey games, and 600 portable radios.

The "715 - Stakes" terminates on April 1, 1974, several days before the opening of the 1974 Atlanta Braves season.

The "715 - Stakes" will be supported with newspaper, TV and radio advertising and dramatic dealer displays which include a 6-foot high stand-up display of Hank Aaron, depicting the super slugger's 715th record-breaking blast.

The event will not be conducted in those states prohibiting sweepstakes: Maryland, Missouri, Georgia and Idaho.
