"A Mind Is A Terrible Thing To Waste"

Since 1837, when Cheyney State College in Pennsylvania was founded, Black colleges and universities have been established, have survived, and have grown. Today, 103 such institutions live in the U.S., examples of the Black American quest for self-determination.

Most Black colleges, both private and public, were established in the late 1800's. The early years of the twentieth century brought more schools into being, and after a relatively slow 40 years, the late 1900's show a resurgence of building.

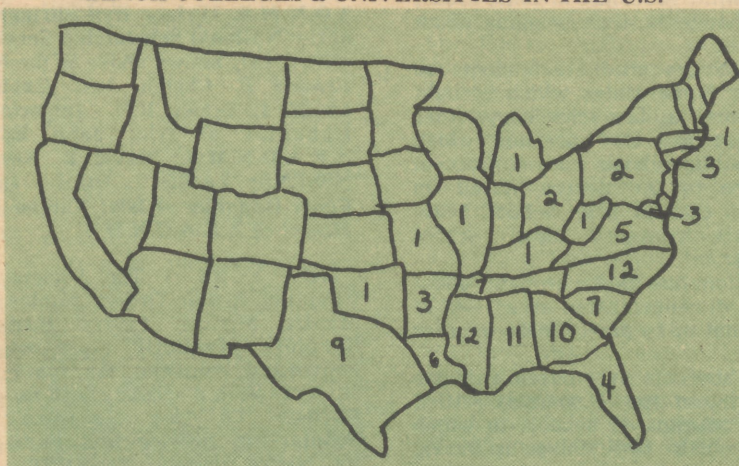

Malcolm X College in Chicago is a relatively new school.

Established in 1969, it is one of the most progressive, offering undergraduate degrees in a multitude of fields of study. It is the only Black college in Illinois, one of three in the Midwest.

Not surprisingly, the overwhelming majority of Black colleges are located in the South. Mississippi and North Carolina lead in the number of institutions per state, each boasting twelve.

Black colleges reach no further west than Texas. A map noting locations of these schools leaves the entire western half of the country looking forlorn and culturally deprived. One wonders why Black Californians haven't established a school, since the Black population is large and stable.

National News Briefs

Montgomery — The U.S. Public Health Service has been ordered by a federal judge to search for any survivors of the infamous Tuskegee syphilis study spanning 32 years. The judge wants to know whether any Black men beyond the 80 already known are still alive.

Baltimore — Representative Parren Mitchell has mentioned that he is thinking of running for mayor of Baltimore next year.

Kingston — U.S. citizens may soon have to have passports to enter Jamaica, as the Jamaican government has been making drug-related arrests of Americans.

New York — White supremacist William Shockley was again met with jeering crowds as he tried to address a group of Black and white students at New York University. Students were objecting to Shockley's theory of white racial superiority.

Washington — Unless food prices stabilize by July, 1976, more than 60 million Americans will become eligible for food stamps. Presently, the food stamp program costs $3 billion annually, it could cost $10 billion in 1976.

New York — Damon J. Keith, a U.S. Judge for the Eastern District of Michigan will be the recipient of the 59th Spingarn Medal, presented since 1914 by the NAACP. Judge Keith will join the likes of James Weldon Johnson, Ralph Bunche and Langston Hughes, all past winners of the Medal.

Washington, D.C. — Minority groups who received SBA (Small Business Administration) loans were asked to contribute to the 1972 Nixon campaign, according to testimony received by the Small Business Subcommittee.

Boston — Actress Cicely Tyson was recently honored by Harvard University for her role in the "Autobiography of Miss Jane Pittman." The honor acknowledged her ability to "capture the marvelous strength and greater dignity of Black women."

Campus Life

Most Black colleges are small and personal. The faculty-student ratio averages about 1 to 15, providing a person-to-person basis of communication. Almost all students receive some kind of financial aid, and most students live in campus housing.

Aside from academic excellence, students of Black colleges stress another positive aspect of attending a small Black school—the sense of community. Students do not necessarily encounter racism in the course of their academic day, nor must they spend time explaining "what it feels like to be Black" to curious whites.

The Importance of Black Schools

Black colleges and universities are more than institutions of higher education. They are symbols, evidence of a peoples' struggle spanning four centuries. Black schools represent the important absence of twisted, racist minds using classrooms as courtrooms. Black schools mean "a freedom to be", a place to make the transition from student to professional. To guarantee that Black colleges and universities survive and flourish, your help is needed.

There's more than one way to contribute to the continuation of an important Black institution. Students should choose to attend Black schools, non-students should contribute to the United Negro College Fund or the Black college of their choice. Self-determination never did mean "let somebody else do it."

Competition For Overseas Study Opens

The official opening of the 1975-76 competition for grants for graduate study or research abroad and for professional training in the creative and performing arts was announced today by the Institute of International Education. It is expected that approximately 570 awards to 50 countries will be available for 1975-76.

The purpose of these grants is to increase mutual understanding between the people of the United States and other countries through the exchange of persons, knowledge and skills. They are provided under the terms of the Mutual Educational and Cultural Exchange Act of 1961 (Fulbright-Hays Act) and by foreign governments, universities and private donors.

Applicants must be U.S. citizens at the time of application, who will generally hold a Bachelor's degree or its equivalent before the beginning date of the grant and, in most cases, will be proficient in the language of the host country. Except for certain specific awards, candidates may not hold the Ph.D. at the time of application.

Creative and performing artists are not required to have a Bachelor's degree, but they must have four years of professional study or equivalent experience. Social work applicants must have at least two years of professional experience after the Master of Social Work degree; candidates in medicine must have an M.D. at the time of application.

Selection is based on the academic and/or professional record of the applicant, the validity and feasibility of his proposed study plan, his language preparation and personal qualifications. Preference is given to candidates between 20 and 35 years of age who have not had prior opportunity for extended study or residence abroad.

Information and application forms for "At-Large" applicants may be obtained from the Information and Reference Division, Institute of International Education, 809 United Nations Plaza, New York, N. Y., 10017. The deadline date for receipt of completed applications is November 1, 1974. Requests for applications forms postmarked later than October 15, 1974 will not be honored.

VIEWS and REVIEWS

The Fight of School Busing

Prior to 1954, the fight over segregation in public schools raged in legislative halls and the courts. The system was a creature of legislative statutes and because of the way of life in some parts of the country.

The early crack in the system came when the U.S. Supreme Court decreed that states must provide equal education facilities for all students. Expenditures for white students, in some areas, were twice the amount for Negro students, thus bringing about unequal facilities and buildings.

Later, the court required that Negro graduate students be provided with training within their home states which brought about the establishment of a few hurry up law schools and other graduate facilities. Then followed the 1954 decision which declared that segregation in the public schools had no place in America. And while resistance to the decree flared up immediately ("the confrontation in Central High School, Little Rock, Arkansas" was an early example), slowly school compliance began in a token manner.

In the North, defacto segregation has been brought about because of the location of Negroes in concentrated areas, and of course their schools are generally not up to par of those in other areas.

Over the years, white and Negro students were bused from one area to another to maintain the system and in sparsely settled areas it was necessary to form consolidated schools to which students were bused even in the north. Des Moines is busing students from one end of the city to the other in order for students to secure special training in schools where it does not exist otherwise.

Whites in many northern communities have been bitter against busing to achieve integration. It has paralleled the action of southern communities. The Supreme Court has said that busing was one method of achieving integration and lower courts have generally approved that position.

The attitude of the courts on segregation has frightened law makers in Congress. Not only has the President come out against busing, but majority leader Senator Mansfield, (D) of Montana and Senator Scott, (R) Pennsylvania minority leader are collaborating in a bill which would outlaw busing to achieve integration. The lower house of Congress has already approved such a measure with the leaders of both parties favoring the measure. Senate supporters have been looked to block passage but the situation does not look to good at this time.

Segregationists have been able to pick up some strength among some Negroes who are black separatists, some who do not wish to compete, some who are just uncomfortable around white people.

I have always believed that even with some rough spots here and there American people must learn to get along together and there is no better place to begin than in public schools. The nation cannot afford two systems and at the same time continue its strength and security and also add to the financial burden on tax payers.

Poor City Planning

Des Moines continues to spend a lot of money planning programs but which, in the final analysis, demonstrate that the plan does not work.

In the last few years, citizens in several parts of the city have had trouble with floods in the basements of their homes in every part of the city. Apparently little has been done of value judging from the protests that have been made to the city council during the last few weeks.

On the other hand, the city has spent thousands of dollars rearranging Keosauqua Way between 5th and 8th Sts., which has done little other than making it difficult to travel the area. Money spent for this project might well have been diverted to repair sewers which would make living more pleasant for these people who are harassed by flooding every year.

PRINCE HALL SHRINERS GIVES TO NSSFNS

In a recent meeting in New York, the Ancient Egyptian A.O.N.M.S. (Prince Hall Shriners) presented a check for $8,000 to the National Scholarship Service and Fund for Negro Students (NSSFNS). Shown above in the NSSFNS office are: Left to right, Elwood R. Clough, Asst. Rabban No. 91 of A.E.A.O.N.M.S.; Lucille L. Scales, R.N. - Imperial Director of First Aid & Health, Daughter of Isis; John Edghill - Imperial Potentate of A.E.A.O.N.M.S.; David B. Kent, Jr. - Executive Director of NSSFNS; Lucille I. Boyd - Imperial Commandress Imperial Court Daughter of Isis; Nathan Johnson - Imperial Deputy of the Desert of A.E.A.O.N.M.S.

NEW YORK — The Ancient Egyptian Arabic Orders Nobles Mystic Shrine (Prince Hall Shriners) recently expressed continued concern for black students with a second check for $8,000 to the National Scholarship Service and Fund for Negro Students (NSSFNS). The two recent grants from the shriners to NSSFNS total $23,500.

John Edghill, imperial potentate of the 81 year old organization of shriners, said the continued development of young minds is a duty not to be taken lightly.

"When responsible black organizations fail to express concern for higher access to education for black students, these organizations cease to be responsible. There can be no brighter tomorrow without an investment in the youth of today."

Edghill praised NSFNS for its 27 years of Pioneer service to black students. NSSFNS, which services 40,000 to 50,000 black students yearly, is the largest counseling and referral agency in its field and the only such agency geared specifically for black students.

David B. Kent, Jr., executive director of NSSFNS, called on other black organizations to follow the Shriners' example.

"This fall thousands of needy black students around the country will be seeking and struggling to find funds for college admissions. Many of them will be the first in their family to go to college. This is important to the survival of all black organizations."

Working with some 3,000 colleges and 8,000 high schools throughout the country, NSSFNS counsels black high school students and directs them to colleges most likely to offer admissions and financial aid. The service is free to all black high school students.

An electric heat pump is like a furnace and air conditioner rolled into one. In the summer, it operates like an electric air conditioner. In the winter, it automatically reverses itself and pumps warm air into your home.

And the interesting thing about a heat pump is that except for a few of the coldest days of the year, it furnishes more energy in the form of heat, than is put into it in the form of electric power. That's because it removes the heat from outside air and pumps it inside your house.

The Black Press believes that America can best lead the world away from racial and national antagonisms when it accords to every man regardless of race, color or creed, his human and legal rights.

For Black Students:

Black Writer's 12-Year Odyssey

New York — A true first-time story of one black man's 12-year-long quest for the origins of his identity is told in Roots, a book by noted author Alex Haley. To be published originally in a two-part condensation in the May and June issues of the Reader's Digest, Roots documents the lineage of one black family over a period of more than two centuries — and in so doing documents much of the history of the black man in America: his traditions, beliefs and conditions of slavery.

The book is the culmination of a dozen years of painstaking research by Haley, ranging over three continents and ending, finally, in the village of Juffure, in the back country of Gambia, West Africa. There a seventy-three-year-old griot, living archivist of African tribal tradition, supplied the author with key pieces to the intricate puzzle of a black man's search for roots.

In confronting the problem of tracing his own ancestry through the barrier of slavery, author Haley also faces the larger, more difficult question of the source of current Black American consciousness. "It is not just the story of a man," he said in an interview recently. "In tracing my own beginnings I got into the culture of black people, then I was involved in American history, and then American history through black eyes."

Family tales told by his grandmother motivated Haley in his complex search. But it was the fierce determination of his proud African ancestor to maintain his own identity despite the terror of slavery that made possible this reconstruction of African heritage.

In Part I of Roots, appearing in the May issue of the Digest, to be published April 25, Haley tells the story of a small Gambian village in the mid-eighteenth century. Recounting the customs and rich cultural life of the Mandinka tribe, he focuses on the growth and education of young Kinte, his ancestor seven generations removed. At sixteen, graduated to manhood, educated to tribal tradition and Muslim religion, Kinte was kidnapped, bound and taken to a slave ship — victim of the steadily growing and highly lucrative slave trade. Barely surviving the wretched conditions of the area voyage, Kinte arrived in America.

In Part II, to appear in the June issue, Haley reconstructs the ordeal of an African tribesman in captivity — Kinte's sale into slavery, his desperate attempts to escape, his unceasing efforts to maintain his Mandinka identity and Muslim beliefs. Providing a rich background to this personal account is the Revolutionary War as seen through slaves' eyes. After Kinte's marriage there is a daughter, Kizzy, who Kinte instructs carefully and often on her father's background, teaching the Black American child African words and tribal names. The generations are recounted, taking the family through American history — the cotton gin, the Civil War and ultimately freedom from slavery.

In 1872 a 29-wagon train of black families left North Carolina for Tennessee. "The last wagon," Haley writes, "was driven by Tom Murray, with his wife Irene and their seven children, the youngest a two-year-old girl named Cynthia."

"The little girl was my grandma. At her knee I first heard the story of 'the African,' Kunta Kinte, and began my search for roots." The still-to-be-completed fifteen-hundred-page manuscript for Roots, which will describe the author's family to the present day, will be published by Doubleday in 1975.

Haley, a black author with impeccable credentials, was the first writer to call attention to the Black Muslim movement in the United States in a national publication. He spent months researching the structure, politics and philosophy of this movement. In addition to obtaining an exclusive interview with Elijah Muhammad, the powerful Muslim leader, Haley also attended Muslim meetings and traveled with Muhammad's assistants. During his research for this assignment he came to know and earn the respect of Malcolm X. An outgrowth of this meeting was a long-term friendship between the two men, which led to the best-selling Autobiography of Malcolm X, for which Haley did the actual writing.

Basic Grants Available

Basic Educational Opportunity Grant Program application forms for the 1974-75 academic year are now available. HEW Secretary Casper W. Weinberger announced today.

The Secretary urged all eligible students who began their post-secondary education after April 1, 1973 and are planning to enroll on a full-time basis for the 1974-75 academic year to obtain one of the new forms and apply for a Basic Grant.

"During the coming year," he said, "$475 million will be used to assist an estimated one million students. Basic Grants will range from $50 to over $800, with an average of $475 per student."

These grants can be used to help defray the costs of tuition, fees, room, board, and miscellaneous expenses for students attending over 5,000 eligible colleges, universities, junior colleges, vocational technical, career training schools, and hospital schools of nursing.

To apply for a Basic Grant, an "Application for Determination of Basic Grant Eligibility" must be obtained, completed and mailed to P.O. Box 2468, Washington, D.C. 20013. Within a month the student will be notified of his eligibility index, which is calculated on the basis of a formula applied consistently to all applicants. He then submits the notification to the school of his choice, which calculates the amount of his Basic Grant.

Applications forms may be obtained from high school guidance counselors and student financial aid officers at institutions of postsecondary education. During the summer months they will also be available at public libraries, or by writing to P.O. Box 84, Washington, D.C. 20044.

Other forms of Federal student assistance, such as Supplemental Educational Opportunity Grants, College Work-Study, National Direct Student and Guaranteed Student Loans, are available in addition to Basic Grants. A student may also be eligible to apply for State or private sources of aid.

Receipt of a Basic Grant in no way limits a student's chances to obtain other financial assistance as long as that student needs additional aid to pursue his postsecondary education.

Foreign Students Face Tighter Job Market

WASHINGTON — Foreign students seeking summer employment will have to obtain permission from the Immigration and Naturalization Service rather than from school officials.

In making the announcement, Immigration Commissioner Leonard F. Chapman Jr., said the decision was based on labor market advice furnished by the Labor Department's Manpower Administration. The requirement is to protect summer job opportunities for American youths, including members of minority groups and Vietnam veterans.

The Manpower Administration warned that unemployment among American youths is so high that summer employment of aliens is depriving young Americans of needed jobs.

According to Labor Department statistics, of 90,691 foreign students in the country last summer, 17,739 received permission to work.

Foreign students needing employment for emergency reasons may still apply for work permission at any time. They are not limited to summer work.

Prior to making the decision to limit foreign student employment, the Department of State was consulted and expressed the view that there is an important foreign policy benefit to the United States from the presence of young foreigners studying in this country who later take home not only academic knowledge, but also greater knowledge of this country.

"In balancing the labor market impact against the foreign relations aspects," Commissioner Chapman said, "I have concluded that protection of job opportunities for young Americans, including minority youth and Vietnam veterans, is the paramount consideration at this time."

A bill in Congress, H.R. 982, which has twice passed the House of Representatives and is pending in the Senate, would impose criminal penalties on employers of aliens not authorized to work.

oldest living mother and to the mother with the largest number of children. We suggest that you be present if you like good singing.

There will be a very unique program presented at Bethel on the 9th of June. Please watch this paper for further announcements concerning this program.

The Elizabeth Tolliver Missionary Society presented a program last Sunday that was of the highest spiritual nature. Mrs. Patrick Ann Clay, wife of Rev. Robert G. Clay, pastor of St. Paul African Methodist Episcopal Church, gave a dynamic message, it was challenging and inspirational. The St. Paul Choir sang out of the depths of their hearts, and then there was the song "Pray For Me" so beautifully done by two representatives of the Young People's Department.

Sunday services include Sunday School at 9:30 a.m., and divine worship at 11:00 a.m. Mother's Day sermon by pastor, "Are Children Growing Up Too Fast?"

A Time For Empowerment

The 1974 Worldwide Convocation on Evangelism will convene in Jerusalem, November 16-23. A 7-day Athens/Rome Extension will be available to those who desire it.

Exposure to Christian leaders from the world over will be a memorable experience. Inspiration will come through actually visiting the historical places surrounding the birth, life, death and resurrection of Jesus Christ. There will be time to walk the streets of a city that is sacred to three of the world's great religions: Judaism, Christianity and Islam. Part of the Convocation's value will come as we "walk in the footsteps of Jesus," and at the same time attempt to discern where the steps of the Prince of Peace are leading today. Persons interested in making this trip with us, may contact Frealy M. Garrison, Kyles A.M.E. Zion Church, after May 19th for more information.

MONDAY MORNING ABOUT 4:00 O'CLOCK my telephone rang! It was Maude White. Without any explanation she invited me to toss some things into a bag and take off with her to cover some of the activities that were going on in the Northern Iowa Community Colleges. I was in for a surprise!

Dr. Prem Sahai

OUR FIRST STOP WAS FORT DODGE WHERE WE MET THE FACULTY AND ADMINISTRATIVE STAFF OF NORTH IOWA COMMUNITY COLLEGE, AMONG WHOM was Dr. Prem Sahai, who has a Masters Degree in math and a PhD in education, and his charming family. Among his family are his son, Dr. Subhash Sahai, a general practitioner at Broadlawn Hospital, and his wife, Dr. Sahai, who soon will be a pediatrician on the staff at Iowa Methodist Hospital; daughters Shashi and Neena who are attending the University of Iowa, a son, Anil, who is attending Iowa State University, and a nephew, Lalit, who is attending Central Community College in Webster City.

Enroute home we were the guests of the Sahai's overnight and learned many things about the family in terms of their decision to make America their home. Dr. Sahai first came to the United States in 1957. But it was not until 1967 that he brought his family here. In addition to his academic career with the college, he and his lovely wife, Urmila, are engaged in an import business. We viewed some of the most exquisite pieces of art and wooden pieces made from the sheesham trees of India. These were indeed objects d'art.

OUR TRIP INCLUDED THE CAMPUSES AT FORT DODGE, EMMETSBURG AND ESTHERVILLE. It was most interesting to note the type of programs these vocational schools have developed for minority group members. This includes actively going out seeking blacks and others and they have offered programs designed to meet all of the students' needs. For further information, phone the Iowa State Civil Rights Commission, 281-3286.

Mrs. Delores Peguese Returns

Mrs. Dolores Peguese

Mrs. Dolores Peguese returned recently from Detroit, Michigan where she attended the 4th Episcopal District Mid-Year Convocation of the A.M.E. Church. During this session plans were completed for the Fourth District Education Congress, which will convene in Indianapolis, Indiana, at Bethel A.M.E. Church July 15th through the 19th, 1974. The purpose of the Congress is to bring together in a united thrust the clergy, laity, missionaries, children, youth and young adults.

social

The theme for the Congress is: "United for Christ, Expose, Explore, Involve." Each department will hold their own workshops.

While in Detroit, Mrs. Peguese was the houseguest of Rev. and Mrs. John E. Hunter, former Pastor of St. Paul A.M.E. Church.

Mrs. Peguese returned to the city Sunday from Chicago, Illinois, where she attended a workshop for the Debutante Master's Commission which is a part of the Congress. She served as chairman of the Fourth Episcopal District which is comprised of Illinois, Chicago, Indiana, Michigan and Canada.

Honoring A Mother

THE DAUGHTERS OF SAMARIA, "Order of Calanthe", Knights of Pythias, met in March and agreed unanimously, for our Annual Spring Project, each member visit a Mother, other than our own, on Mother's Day.

Mrs. Anna Griggs was born in 1869, just after the Civil War, remembers and talks about the good and bad old days as if they just happened yesterday. She is a very interesting person to listen to and gets around very well for a person her age, 105.

Mrs. Griggs has two sons still living in Clarinda with their families, and one married daughter in Burlington.

Mrs. Griggs came to live with her son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Glynn Griggs, from Clarinda, Iowa, where she made her home for many years. She was an active member in St. Jacobs A.M.E. church, under the pastorage of the late Rev. Burnett, until his death.

Thanks to Mrs. Griggs for a colorful and heart warming visit. Look out "MOTHERS", the other girls will be out Sunday and who knows one of them might be knocking at your door with a basket of fruit.

NAACP Board Urges Probe Of Barbara Watson Ouster

NEW YORK. — The National Association for the Advancement of Colored People has called upon President Nixon and Secretary of State Henry Kissinger to rescind the recent ouster of Miss Barbara Watson from her post as administrator of the Bureau of Security and Consular Affairs in the U.S. Department of State, Bishop Stephen G. Spottswood, chairman of the Association's Board of Directors, announced this week.

A resolution passed by the NAACP Board of Directors at its regular quarterly meeting here, Monday, April 8, also called upon the Senate Foreign Relations Committee "to deny approval of the proposed replacement and to make a full investigation of the circumstances that caused this latest example of racism in our Department of State to come to the surface."

Miss Watson's "record of performing her duties in an outstanding manner," is cited in the resolution which "sternly condemns the Administration's move to oust" her and replace her with Leonard F. Walentynowicz, a white male Republican. Under these circumstances, the resolution asserts, "We can only conclude ... that racial discrimination is the chief reason for replacing her." Miss Watson was appointed to her position by President Lyndon B. Johnson.

Meanwhile, Clarence Mitchell, director of the NAACP Washington Bureau, wrote to Senator J.W. Fulbright (D., Ark.), chairman of the Senate Committee on Foreign Affairs, urging "that there be full exploration of the circumstances that led to his (Walentynowicz's) selection and that a determination be made as to whether his qualifications for the position meet the statutory requirements."

A Back Door Look At "Equal Opportunity Employment"

by Habiba

So you think we're making progress in the area of employment, huh? You've seen a brother or two sitting in the window of a bank, sisters are gliding up and down the aisles of airplanes asking "coffee, tea or liquor", and every once in a while Charles Somebody appears with a microphone in hand on the five o'clock news reporting from Lower Slabovia.

O.K., some progress has been made, thanks to the federal government's Equal Opportunity Employment program. Black folks are getting jobs, keeping them, and steady climbing the income ladder, so you figure you can make it too. You check the Want-Ads, looking for that magical "EOE", symbol of Black folks are welcome to apply. You do apply, and what do you know, they just hired someone five minutes before you walked in the door. You might grumble a little, wish you had applied a day earlier, and try again somewhere else. Your thoughts didn't turn to that ugly word racism, because the "EOE" took your mind.

Don't reject the thought of racism so quickly. If you knew what employers knew about how to get around that Equal Opportunity Employment law, you'd change your tune.

In essence, an employer must comply with "EOE" in one important manner. He must advertise job openings in the "minority media" if he has access to one. Well, all of Iowa has access to the Bystander, but very, very few advertise their employment opportunities, and most get away with completely ignoring the Black media. Those who don't manage to pull that stunt have another way of avoiding having to hire Black people. They simply place the employment ad, advertise as an Equal Opportunity Employer, pay a couple of dollars for the front, and then fill the advertised position with someone white. Simple as pie; while you're being "interviewed," the white employee has been working for three days.

This is a problem the Bystander is aware of, has encountered, but can do nothing about because no enforcement clause is written into the EOE guidelines. Until someone finds a way to help racist employers understand their erring ways, "EOE" is more decorative than for real. As the song says, "Smiling faces sometimes lie."

Poetry & Prose

Dennis Or: Redfro
Touches Sunlight

Blackform. Strong in fatherimage, yet gentle. Added touch is of mother tenderness, and good. Convictions. Historic years built of suffering, mount. These pin-you-down-burdens. The penalty for blackness, yeah. We cannot change, skincolor.

The stars know secretly by night the truth. Bop away pastday problems across the galactical expanse of dance/floor. From fatigue, they fall. Weary of racial battlecrises, at best will rise again.

Denoted here, is determination. Most specifically struggle. Innerman's secret D.J.-2 commitments. To be played and replayed as die-for-people martyr oaths. Aspire. To do more than the average sensehead. But who accredits you for anything beyond the wrong or doubt.

Skullfaces and gossiplips claim more knowing of personal strivings, than next of kin. Nearby, vultured deaths await. Look to broadcast downfall from here. To innercity, in event these failures come about. Thus you must not fail.

The storm departs, despite the hardnesses of cost or loss. A woman thing ever soft love appears. Steps through sunbeams, radiating light. Thin whispers fill your heads with beauty thoughts.

This completes the bond of natural enduring. She will not let you fail in trying or fall shortly below success.

McDowell and Sally A. McDowell, executed and delivered to the Plaintiff, who is the absolute owner thereof, and said note and mortgage given to secure said note are due and payable by reason of the failure of the Defendants to pay the installments of principal and interest when due. The Petition further asks for foreclosure of said mortgage of even date and the note of April 4, 1973, on the following described real estate, to-wit:

Lot 49 in POLK PLACE, an Official Plat, now included in and forming a part of the City of Des Moines, Iowa; and also asking that said mortgage be declared a prior and paramount lien to that of each and all Defendants and further praying for the appointment of a receiver, and for the amount paid by the Plaintiff for legal attorney fees, abstract expenses and all accruing costs of this action, and for such other relief as may be just and equitable in the premises.

You are further notified that the mortgage herein provides that in the event of foreclosure and sale of the property by Sheriff's sale, the time of one year redemption shall be reduced to six months provided that the mortgagee waives any right to take a deficiency judgment. Plaintiff reserves the right to waive all rights to a deficiency judgment prior to Sheriff's sale.

You are further notified that the mortgage herein provides that in the event the Court finds in the Decree that the titleholders who are personally liable on the mortgage have abandoned the premises and the mortgagee has waived any right to a deficiency judgment, the redemption period shall be reduced from one year to sixty (60) days.

The foreclosure Petition of the Plaintiff prays for a writ of possession in the event that any part of the mortgaged premises be sold under foreclosure decree and not redeemed from Sheriff's sale as provided by law without any other additional proceedings.

You are further notified to appear before said Court at Des Moines, in Polk County, Iowa, on or before June 17, 1974 and 9 o'clock a.m. on said day and that unless you do so appear, your default will be entered and judgment or decree rendered against you for the relief demanded in the Petition.

SIoux CITY

Welcome to the fold to Tucker Temple Church of God and Christ. Elder Tucker extends a welcome to all to come and worship with them at the Temple, 6th & George Streets, Sioux City, Iowa.

The Human Rights Commission voted to expand their 701 Advisory Committee. It was felt by some citizens in the community that this Advisory Committee, which was to compile or recommend to the Commission action after receiving stats from the Discrimination Survey which is being done for the Human Rights Commission, was made up of only Human Rights Commission Members and that there would be no unbiased conclusions rendered. By recommendation of a group, the committee was expanded from 6 to 11 members.

There was a meeting held at the Mary Treglia Community Center, Monday evening. Members of the City Council were explaining to members of Mid-City and Hamilton PAC groups and citizens in those areas about the Urban Renewal bid they would be making to officials in Washington May 1st. A Briar Cliff student asked what percentage of the funds would be used for the neighborhoods to complete their urban redevelopment projects. Mayor Cole stated that $3,700,000.00 would be used for Downtown Sioux City, $700,000.00 for the Mid-City redevelopment and $1,700,000.00 for the Hamilton project. The Council members stressed that the amount they were quoted to receive for the 1974-75 year was $76,000, which they claim would be just enough to pay the interest on the bonds they used for some of the programs. Ernestine Boykin asked what Revenue Sharing was ear-marked for since the Council had the attitude that if we couldn't get the $6,000,000.00 we needed, some of the Urban Renewal projects would go uncompleted. The City Manager, Gary Pokorny stated that some of the revenue sharing funds would be used for urban development, as a last resort funding method. Rev. Charles Glover, Mt. Olive Baptist Church, stated that the citizens would be behind the City Council 100% if they would establish some definite goals and work toward completing them and stop pushing projects further behind people become disillusioned and no one will have faith in anything you do or say. He also told the Council that he hoped they would go to Washington PRAYERFULLY and maybe something good would come from their trip.

Emery Hines, James Holloway and Floydane Sumner reminded the City

Council that officials of the city promised in 1969 to provide the Westside with a swimming pool for the young children. Now, in 1974 they have pushed the swimming pool to "Phase II" of the Hamilton Urban Development which should get underway in 1975. Councilman Jan Albertson said that any Councilperson who promises anyone anything should be kicked in the pants because the Council is in no position to fulfill promises. A lengthy discussion followed.

Red Tagging a houses was also discussed. It seems that the City is asking for funds to provide housing on the westside and in other areas of the City. People on the westside have been trying to get the city to tear down several houses that have been boarded up for several years and use that land to construct new housing for people. This would certainly eliminate alot of the needs in the area of housing. The City Manager said that they would look into their system of red tagging and try to work on that problem. It was also mentioned that some property owners, who don't live where they own vacant lots have been allowed to let their lots go, become filth infested and the citizens also wanted something done about this.

Malone AME Church Youth Organization is sponsoring a roller skating party May 13th at Siouxland Arena, South Sioux City, Nebraska.

There will be vacancies on the Human Rights Commission this June. Anyone wishing to serve on this commission should submit their request to the City Council by June 3rd.

The Sioux City Black Caucus will hold its monthly meeting May 21st, 7:00 P.M. at the Sanford Community Center. Laura Sudduth, chairperson presiding.

Since this week's issue focuses on Black colleges and universities, this column will concentrate on reviewing material related to Black institutions of higher education.

GOING RIGHT ON is a small pamphlet for minority students who want to continue their education after high school. It offers basic information, including valid arguments for continuing education. The booklet introduces the various kinds of schools one might attend from community colleges, universities, and junior colleges to vocational technical schools.

Financial aid is thoroughly covered in GOING RIGHT ON, in fact, this is an excellent booklet for high schools to have on hand. Students unsure of their future plans ought to read this before making any decisions.

A FACT BOOK is another informative pamphlet. It deals with historically Black public colleges and includes a chapter relating to the evolution of such schools. It provides statistics concerning the number of Black students enrolled in higher education, the number of degrees awarded by Black institutions, faculty salaries, and sources of income for Black colleges. Information relating to school locations, degrees available and tuition costs are listed. A FACT BOOK is a concise examination of Black public colleges, beneficial to both potential students and the curious.

Last week I discussed the MOTON GUIDE TO AMERICAN COLLEGES WITH A BLACK HERITAGE. There's no need to repeat myself at length, except to say that Black high school students should read this booklet before deciding to attend any particular institution of higher education. High schools need the GUIDE if they are to responsibly counsel Black students in choosing a college.

Order information for all booklets mentioned available by calling the Bystander office at 277-8736.

U of I Museum Of Art To Show African Sculpture

IOWA CITY, Iowa — "Art of the Mende" is the title of an exhibition of sculpture from West Africa which will open at The University of Iowa Museum of Art Wednesday (May 1) from 5 p.m.-7 p.m. and be shown through June 5.

The Mende are a tribe of some 700,000 persons living in the southern part of Sierra Leone. They are ruled by a hierarchy of chiefs, with a paramount chief as head of each district. Their economy is based on rice farming.

The exhibition of 84 pieces of sculpture was organized by the University of Maryland Art Gallery, where it has just been shown. The Maryland Gallery's director, Eleanor Green, will be present at the opening of the exhibition Wednesday evening at the U of I.

William L. Hommel, associate director of the University of Maryland Art Gallery, spend three months in Sierra Leone collecting information about the cultural background of the societies whose sculpture is represented in the exhibition and filming rituals and ceremonies in which the pieces are used.

A 25-minute film which Hommel brought back showing the carving of masks and ceremonial dances will be shown at the U of I Museum of Art in conjunction with the exhibition on a schedule to be announced later. A slide packet and 10-minute tape recording will also be available to provide background information on the show.

Hommel wrote the catalogue for the exhibition, which features a definitive study of the art of the Mende based on his field work.

Organization of the exhibition was made possible by a grant from the Interpretive Exhibition Program of the National Endowment for the Humanities. Pieces have been loaned for the show by major museums and private collectors across the country.

Preferred Viewing

Tuesday, May 14th at 6:00 pm, Interface will examine the struggle over Kawaida Towers, a housing complex in Newark,

New Jersey, between Italian Americans and Blacks. The second segment of the show will study the South Carolina "Sea Islands", an isolated area where lifestyles remain virtually unchanged since the first African slaves arrived.

Interface airs on KDIN-11 in Des Moines.

Sixth Pan-African Congress

The proceedings for the SIXTH PAN AFRICAN CONGRESS have been changed to June 19 through June 27, 1974. Congress convenors, Courtland Cox, International Secretary-General and T.A.N.U., announced just recently that the previous Congress dates, June 3 through June 13, 1974, would conflict with the regularly scheduled summer meeting of the Organization of African Unity (O.A.U.). The North America Secretariat staff, Sylvia Hill and James Turner, are adjusting air travel arrangements and delegate preparations according to this new timetable.

This Congress, the first on African soil, will convene to examine concrete strategies of developing self-reliance and self-determination for African people.

Between 400-600 delegates, observers, and special guests from eight regions of the world are expected to attend the Congress. All African and Caribbean Heads of State, as well as the Organization of African Unity, have been invited to be Patrons of the Congress. The Congress has some 24 International sponsors including: Imamu Baraka (Pan-Africanist), Lerone Bennett (Historian), St. Clair Drake (Sociologist), Owusu Sadaukai (Pan-Africanist), and Chancellor Williams (Historian).

Delegates from Africa, who will be the majority, will come from governments, political parties and liberation movements. Delegates from South America, the Caribbean, Pacific Islands, Australia, and Europe, are being selected through procedures developed by each regional steering committee.

The Congress format will include plenary sessions, workshops and special working sub-committees. Major agenda items include a discussion of: 1) strategies for developing support for the liberation of southern Africa, 2) prospects and programs for developing scientific and technological capability, 3) economic progress for developing self-reliance, 4) strategic uses of the current land and manpower resources, and 5) mechanisms for developing political unity within the Black world.

Between 150 and 250 members of the Black community will travel to Dar es Salaam as the official North America delegation. Delegates and observers were selected by District Steering Committees and the Credentials Committee of the North America Steering Committee. Working meetings have been taking place throughout North America to develop and refine political concerns which pertain to the status and conditions of Black people in North America as well as other parts of the world. The selected delegates consists of members from the scientific and technical communities as well as political, church, educational and cultural organizations. All members of the delegation are linked to their district structures as they prepare to participate in this historical occasion.

While the North America delegation is limited to 250 people, people of African descent are being encouraged to view the SIXTH PAN AFRICAN CONGRESS as a mechanism to accelerate unity among Black people and an opportunity to reflect on ways that we can harness our manpower and financial resources to contribute to the development of African people wherever we may find ourselves in the world.

Persons who are just hearing about the SIXTH PAN AFRICAN CONGRESS are welcomed to join local district organizing meetings. Your contact person in this area is: Beatrice Waiss, 1116 Wright St., Milwaukee, Wi. 53206.

of any historically black institution in connection with desegregation would create a presumption that a greater burden is being placed upon the black student and faculty in Louisiana," HEW emphasized.

"Quite understandably," it is time for the NAACP to substitute brain power for lung power on the higher education issue," Ennis suggested.

W. O. Thompson, president of the Grambling Alumni Association, called the NAACP plan "an affront to the people of this state."

"It is infantile in program, scope and mission," he said.

The two alumni officials asserted that the predominantly Black institutions serve a special function in Louisiana.

"Grambling college and Southern university are unique in the state system in that they provide the kinds of programs that are tailored to meet the special needs of underprivileged minorities."

"No other institutions in the state have the expertise to take these students and achieve the same results. To merge or destroy these schools would deprive both races of the special benefits they offer," Thompson emphasized.

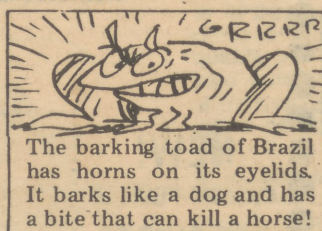

He said the 45,000 member alumni association will use every resource at its command to fight the NAACP plan.

President R.W.E. Jones, who earlier addressed himself to concern of the Black community, had no particular comment to make about the NAACP plan.

"As most of you know, the U.S. Department of Justice has already filed suit against the State of Louisiana and its agents demanding that the state establish a unitary system for higher education. Grambling College and I as its president, are involved in that suit."

"I will say in passing however, that the State Board of Education, the Louisiana Coordinating Council of Higher Education, the Attorney General's Office and other official agencies are in the midst of dealing with government's case."

"It is my feeling that these official agencies and the proper leaders and representatives of the Black community will, in due time, provide some feasible plan for further desegregating Louisiana's colleges and universities."

Rangel Applauds Portugal Coup As Positive Beginning

Congressman Charles B. Rangel (D-N.Y.), Chairman of the Congressional Black Caucus, today applauded the coup in Portugal as a step toward freedom and dignity through a democratic government. "The successful take-over of Portugal's dictatorship by General Antonio de Spínola is a positive step in providing the civil and moral rights of all the Portuguese people and for Angola, Guinea-Bissau, and Mozambique, the three Portuguese colonies in Africa," Rangel said.

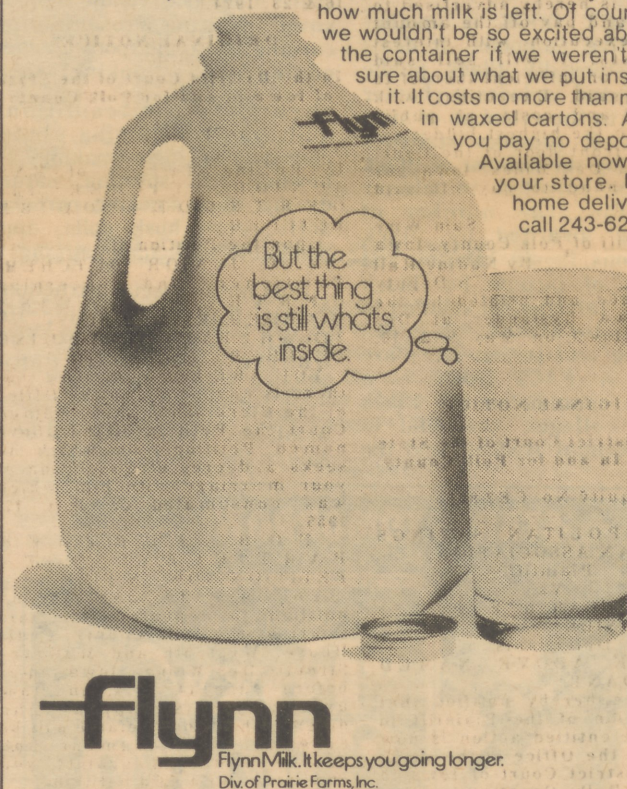

"It is my sincere hope that the freedom from dictatorial control that was so joyously celebrated in Lisbon after the coup will be as enthusiastically afforded to the African nations which seek the same end — freedom from oppressive control. General Spínola has stated in his book, Portugal and the Future, that Portugal could not win the three wars it was fighting in its African colonies and that he hoped a political settlement could end the fighting and hostilities. The Congressional Black Caucus also hopes that the bloodshed and exploitation can be settled equitably and without further killing. But it is imperative that the three African countries be accorded the freedom for self-determination that is so cherished by the new Portuguese government," Rangel concluded.

There are lots of great things about this new Flynn plastic gallon jug.

Actually our new plastic gallon jug is the next best thing to the cow herself for keeping Flynn Milk fresh. The re-sealable screw on cap insures complete freshness. The built-in handle makes it easy to carry and easy to pour from. The plastic is translucent so you can always see how much milk is left. Of course, we wouldn't be so excited about the container if we weren't so sure about what we put inside it. It costs no more than milk in waxed cartons. And you pay no deposit. Grambling Rejects

Integration Proposal

(from the Milwaukee Courier)

GRAMBLING, LA. (SPECIAL) — The Grambling College Alumni Association scoffed at the desegregation plan released Monday by the NAACP, labeling it "irrational, unreasonable and generally deficient in good sense."

The NAACP plan calls for the merger of eight black and white institutions in Louisiana.

It would amalgamate the predominantly black and white state schools in Baton Rouge, New Orleans, Shreveport and at Ruston and Grambling.

Bob Ennis, executive alumni director, said the NAACP plan does little more than mouth empty words and dry and meaningless platitudes.

"It shows clearly that Emmitt Douglas and the NAACP are not concerned about, nor seriously interested in the development of an affirmative plan that will improve educational opportunities for Black in this state.

"The plan does not represent the views of Black people," Ennis said.

He warned that "the U.S. Department of Justice opposes any plan that embarks on a course of action designed to dismantle, downgrade or wipe out the predominantly Black campuses."

A major point made by the Department of Health, Education and Welfare in its directive for desegregation of Louisiana college and universities was that "any plan and its implementation may not place a greater burden on Black as compared to white students, faculty, or staff in any aspect of the educational process."

The East 110 feet of Lot Twenty-six (26) in Broadacre, an Official Plat, now included in Plaintiff is credibly informed and believes that the Defendants

Plaintiff is informed and interest as claimed by said same and the Plaintiff avers therein that the names and the Plaintiff in said Petition sets record which cloud the title of this Plaintiff to said real estate and to the pretended claims or questions which have arisen with reference to said title and you are referred to said Petition for a more particular statement thereof. The Plaintiff in said Petition states that none of the above described premises of any part thereof or any color of right, title or interest therein and that the Plaintiff and her immediate grantors have been in the sole, complete, open, notorious, actual and undisputed adverse possession of the said years last past under claim of title and ownership thereof and have been the undisputed and unqualified owners thereof for over ten years, and that by reason thereof and of the lapse of time and the laches of the Defendants in failing to assert any pretended claim thereto and in permitting valuable improvements to be made thereon relying upon such possession and ownership, the Defendants are estopped from asserting any right, title, claim or interest therein adverse to the Plaintiff. The Plaintiff in said Petition prays for the establishment of her estate and title against the adverse claims of the Defendants and that each and all of them and all unknown claimants and all persons unknown having or claiming any right, title or interest in or to said premises and all persons claiming by, through or under them, be barred and forever estopped from ever having, asserting or claiming any right, title or interest in or to the said premises or any part thereof adverse to the Plaintiff or the Plaintiff's title therein and that the Plaintiff's title to the said premises be quieted, established and confirmed and that the Plaintiff have all such other and further equitable relief as to the Court may seem just.

HELPFUL SAFETY HINTS

SCHOOL ZONE--SLOW

Brightly colored clothing can give your child added protection as he walks to school, now that the nation has reverted to daylight savings time.

Many parents are worried about the safety of their youngsters now that they must leave home for school in near darkness. Clothing is important.

A child wearing a shocking pink cap, or a fire-engine red jacket, with reflective tape can be easily seen by motorists.

Drivers should use their heads and their headlights during early morning hours, using extra caution in school zones.

Elementary school children are hard for drivers to see.
Most are shorter than the hood of the average car, and they could dart across the street when you least expect it.

Drive slowly and have your foot ready to press the brakes.
Remember, as a driver you are presumed to have adult judgment. Children do not.

Help Bankers Trust beautify our city

Bankers Trust has donated over 250 new trees that have been planted in and around Des Moines area parks—Fairmont Park, Waveland Golf Course, Redhead Park, Hoyt Sherman Place, and Lions Park in Urbandale. The trees were planted last Saturday by officers and directors of Bankers Trust with the help of local Boy Scouts. It's our way of helping to beautify the city.

To help us in this project, visit any one of our 6 Des Moines area offices and pick up a

packet of flower seeds

There's no cost or obligation to you—just stop in any one of our offices for your free flower seed packet. It would also be a good time for you to add or open a new Bankers Trust savings account where your savings now earn the highest rates of interest permitted by law.

Come help celebrate the spring season this week at the Bankers Trust office nearest you.

There are a lot of stories about Hank Aaron coming out now. Fellows who were with him in his days with the minor leaguers say they knew he would make it to the majors. Turns out that they were right. Do you know, hindsight is never wrong? But I am more or less amused by the people who keep griping in various columns about the fact that the man had more times at bat than did Babe Ruth, and so an ad infinitum. Well, now, if they want to play that way, what about some of the greatest black players who never got the chance that the Babe had, and who might have hit as many homers as that one if they had the chance. Another fact that people overlook is the fact that during Babe's days, balls that lit in the outfield and bounced into the stands were considered home runs, while now they are ground rule doubles. I don't suppose there is any way of counting the balls that bounced into the stands for home runs when they were hit by Ruth, although he could knock one two miles if he got under it. And how many ground rule doubles has Hank Aaron hit to date? Then, I can't help but think that the pitching was any better then if as good as that of today. Hurlers stayed in the game just about as long as they could throw. Now, if a fellow gives up two many hits, let alone runs, out he comes. Then managers will frequently change pitchers to be playing percentages, a right hand pitcher against a right hand batter, or a lefty against a left hand hitter. The man will come in to pitch to one batter. Maybe this fellow can get that batter out better than the other men on the staff, so he comes in to do just that. If he does it, it was a smart move, and if the batter loses the ball, it was probably not the right thing to do. What I am saying is that Ruth never had to face this sort of percentage hurling, as good as the pitchers of his day were. There are perhaps as many really fine pitchers today, or maybe more than there were in the good old days. Your relief hurlers were usually guys who had had it, or rookies trying to make it. Today they are just that, relief pitchers. There are specialists who are to pitch not more than three or four innings and others called long relievers who could go all the way if they had to. Chet Brewer told me about three of the pitchers on the Kansas City Monarch staff who used to go three innings as hard as they could go, and he said you'd be surprised at the number of no hit games they pitched. That is about what the hitter faces in today's baseball.

My tennis hall of fame

There are so many halls of fame now that I have decided to have a tennis hall of fame among the black players around here. So hold on to your hats, here goes. I am not ranking them in any sort of order. There would be Charley Howard who used to get into all of the meets even though he never had a chance to win, because he said we should keep the door open for future greats, and he did just that. Then he advocated appearance at all times, dressing the part and acting like a gentleman at all times. Chet Williamson. Chet had what I think is the greatest backhand of any of the players black or white that I saw around here, and that goes for fellows like Coggeshall and Frank Brody and anybody else you care to bring up. Chet's big weakness was that he didn't believe how good his back hand was, and the fact that he frequently geared his game to play certain people. So whenever he met someone who didn't play like the guy he planned to beat, he had troubles. Bill Ashby. Bill was capable of beating just about anybody on a given day. He played the same type of game against anybody, and sometimes scored some stunning upsets and near upsets. If Chet and Bill had the competition of today, they would have likely rated right up there in tennis circles. Paul Williams. Paul was the first black to get the competition he needed to get good, and he made the most of it. But to Paul, tennis was just another game, and he didn't work at it as hard as some of the other fellows. If he had, he would have been way up on the local list. Everett Mays. Mays is picked, not for his play, but because he was largely the factor in making the Hilltop

Tennis club a solvent independent organization. Before, we used to have to scuffle to get our meets on, but when Everett got his program working we became financially independent, and still are. Esther Myers. She has won the Hilltop Open women's singles more than any other women playing, and she is an indispensable factor in our Hilltop meets. If she played in just a couple of more meets, she would have a high rating in the state. There are some others I shall have to bring up, but it will have to be another day, because I have just run out of space. But, how are these for openers?
