Hinky Dinky Store To Remain Open

Tuesday evening members of Model Cities and management of Hinky Dinky stores met to bring an end to some of the problems facing the store and the community it serves. Residents were told that Hinky Dinky at Nineteenth and Carpenter has no immediate plans to close.

The chain stores vice-president for labor and employee relations, James Herron and Bill Fast, district manager, both from Omaha, Neb. are hoping that the problems be resolved and the store remain open.

Charles Freund, store manager, said that he cannot Bishop E. A. Tindrell brought out many different points such as cost factor, stocking of shelves and security. He feels this is just the beginning and that the pressures are more deep seated than what they appear now.

control the youth that are in the store. It seemed that recreation programs to attract children are not serving the needs of the people. It was a general feeling by citizens that the money being poured into programs for the children must be more appealing. Citizens agree that they should recommend ideas to the already established rec. centers.

In November there was an incident between an off-duty policeman, working as a security guard, as he attempted to arrest a woman for shoplifting. Unnecessary force was used by the officer witnesses feel. The case is still pending. Dave Pickett, chairman of the Model Cities Advisory Board, said that its a problem for the courts, after there was lengthy discussion concerning the matter.

Pickett, clarified the point of the meeting was to iron out problems between the store and its customers and to keep the store in the neighborhood.

Store Up-Keep

Members of the audience voiced complaints that the store was dirty, carried poorer quality items and had slower service when compared to other Hinky Dinky stores or supermarkets in Des Moines.

Freund, store manager, said that some of the items don't look as fresh because sales were low and items tended to set longer before being purchased.

Most of the meeting centered around the problem of youngsters using the store as a meeting place. Herron felt that this was only a minor problem. By increasing sales and cutting losses Herron felt that the store can remain open otherwise there will come a point when it will have to be closed.

Since 1961 the store has lost $264,000 reported Herron. He said the store lost $122,000 in 1974 and has lost an average of $1,500 a week over the last four weeks. scheduled in a month. A volunteer committee chosen from the audience will study suggestions from residents and make some specific recommendations on what can be done to keep the store open.

James Herron, vice-president for labor and employee relations of Hinky Dinky stores and Bill Fast district manager, both from Omaha, Neb., are in hopes that the store will remain open.

National News Briefs

YPSILANTI, MICH. — Retiring Rep. Martha W. Griffiths (D-Mich.) says federal welfare laws are forcing poor families to break up in order to get help for their children. Aid to Dependent Children, she said, is "one of our saddest laws because it breaks up families."

SAN FRANCISCO — A federal judge has ruled that I.Q. tests must not be given to black children in California if the tests do not reflect the cultural background of the students.

U.S. District Robert F. Peckham, who ruled two years ago that San Francisco schools should not use the tests as determinants of whether black children should be placed in classes for the educable mentally retarded, extended his ruling to cover the states. He said the tests could not be given to black children at all. His ruling was a victory for the NAACP Legal Defense and Educational Fund, Inc., which filed the suit.

ANAMOSA IOWA — James Hall, former Univ. of Iowa student, has been released from Anamosa reformatory on $50,000 bond pending his appeal to the Iowa Supreme Court for the conviction of murdering a Univ. of Iowa co-ed. He was a former football player and will register at the Univ. for the spring semester.

Tributes To Dr. Martin Luther King

ATLANTA, GA. — The 46th Birthday Anniversary of Dr. Martin Luther King, Jr., will be observed in January with four days of activities in his home city of Atlanta, including a Conference on saving one of the greatest achievements of the movement Dr. King led — the Voting Rights Act.

At the same time, communities across the nation will be holding services, celebrations and other activities honoring the slain civil rights leader on his birthday January 15.

The events in Atlanta, announced by The Martin Luther King, Jr. Center for Social Change, are as follows:

January 12: "Martin Luther King Sunday," with church services throughout the city emphasizing Dr. King's life and teachings, and receiving offerings for the continuation of his work through The Center.

January 13: The Southern Policy Conference on the Voting Rights Act. This law, which helped to revolutionize politics and race relations in the South, was passed by Congress in 1965 as the direct result of the mass movement for voting rights which began in Selma, Alabama. The Act is due to expire in 1975. The Conference, called by The King Center, will be held at Ebenezer Baptist Church where Dr. King was Co-Pastor with his father. Movement leaders (Civil Rights and Labor) and key members of Congress will be featured in discussions on continuing voting problems for Black people in the South and strategy for renewal of the Act in 1975.

January 14: Student Activities in Colleges and Public and Private Schools.

January 15: An Ecumenical Service at Ebenezer Baptist Church, followed by formal dedication of Dr. King's restored Birth Home, Groundbreaking Ceremonies for the First Phase of The King Center physical site, and, that night, the Fourth Annual Martin Luther King, Jr. Benefit Concert. Proceeds of the Concert go to The Center.

NATION-WIDE OBSERVANCES

This is the seventh year in which people across the nation will celebrate "Martin Luther King Day" in honor of the leader who was assassinated on April 4, 1968. Many cities, states, school systems, businesses and labor unions observe January 15 as an official holiday. Thousands of churches, community organizations and schools have special events on the birthday, and many groups conduct programs for carrying on the nonviolent movement, such as voter registration, political organizing, economic development, and nonviolent action.

The mass media contribute to the holiday with editorials, articles, public-service broadcasts and other presentations on the Movement

Discipline In School Athletic Teams

When Forest Evasheski was head football coach at Iowa University he was criticized by some outsiders for playing a large portion of Negroes on the team and being dictatorial. He announced that he was not at Iowa to solve the race problem but to coach a football team. Evasheski was a highly successful coach and he felt that social problems were not his responsibility.

Today, the situation is somewhat different spawned by trouble on college campuses during the 60's and other disturbances growing out of the unsettled state of many young Negroes who had gone to predominantly white colleges and found themselves disappointed about what they had anticipated. The trouble with the basketball players at Michigan State and similar incidents at other schools are examples of this unrest.

On a high school level here in Iowa, East High in Waterloo and East High in Des Moines have been troubled with racial conflicts during the past few years. Prior to this situation each team led their leagues most of the time while today they are just mediocre.

The head coach of any team should have an understanding with his players in the beginning that there must be cooperation, sportsmanship, and decent conduct with each other. This plays a great part in the success of a team and those who do not subscribe to this would best be left off the squad.

A coach should emphasize the degree of conduct he expects of his players in the beginning so as to not run into these troublesome instances after a team has been built up. It would help maintain discipline by the players both off and on the field and create a feeling of responsibility that they represent their school.

Teachers in schools, of whatever capacity, have a responsibility to help maintain good racial relations in their schools and those who don't very often fail to do a good overall job for the pupils entrusted to their charge.

Strict Controls Are Needed

The public has been watching President Ford and the Democrat leadership in Congress for directions to take to slow down inflation and unsatisfactory conditions of the economy.

President Ford has not announced his program but judging from hints some of his plans are somewhat similar to those announced by the Democrats and vice versa. Both seem to lean toward a tax cut to bolster the economy. I have little faith that this program will do much good.

Both are opposed to strict controls which means that they are unwilling to face the problem squarely.

As long as the war was going on there was full employment, the rate of production was high and so were wages. Now all of these features are in reverse and the cost of everything we use continues to rise and nobody seems willing to take bold steps to correct the situation. The country should not be washed out entirely before drastic action is taken to prevent further problems.

Coping With Unruly Gatherings

It appears that some of the people who have been fighting the school busing problem in Boston are now calling for patience and orderly settlement of the controversy. This is encouraging and makes it easier on both school officials and law enforcing bodies. Those who encourage peaceful settlement realize that a better distribution of Negroes in the school system will help solve racial differences in the community.

Beginning in January, some of the schools in South Boston, which has been closed because of violence, are scheduled to reopen. Unfortunately, law enforcement officers express fear that they are unable to cope with unruly crowds.

The mayor and governor are hesitant to make it known that force, if necessary, will be used and that everyone is subject to the law.

Politicians fear to enforce court order against mobs, disturbances like those occurring in the 60's on campuses and other places or against labor mobs or mobs wishing to vent their feelings to intimidate others and release their venom on them.

Enforcement officers should not renege on orders to comply with the courts decisions. When the problem occurs it should be met promptly and courageously and in such a manner that everyone who takes the oath of office should carry out their responsibilities.

An Open Letter To The Editor Honor Those Who Have Made Valuable Contributions

With the advent of the new year also comes a reminder to Black Iowans to remember those who died in the struggle for human dignity.

One of the traditional remembrances has been during Black History Week, usually celebrated during one formal week in February. However, festivities, programs and other events have been/are held throughout the month.

Dr. Martin Luther King, jr., was born Jan. 15. Some schools and groups around the country celebrate his birthday, which is, in my opinion, in much better taste than holding memorials in memory of his death.

The same holds true for El Hajj Malik Shabazz, who was born May 19 and who was killed Feb. 21, 1965. Dr. W. E. B. DuBois was born Feb. 23.

But in addition to nationally known Black persons of the past, Black Iowans, with a little research, can pay homage to our own local people who contributed much while living in Iowa.

What about U.S. consul general to Haiti Alexander Clark? or attorney S. Joe Brown? Or Gertrude North? The late attorney Henry T. McKnight? Arch Alexander? George Washington Carver? Attorney George H. Woodson? Duke Slater? These prominent Black persons are only a few of the hundreds to which Black

Iowans can turn and give praise.

Some might question whether turning to the past is an obsolete and unnecessary barrier to the progress of the future. To dwell too much on the past, of course, can be negative; but to ignore the past and to slide slipshod into the future can be disastrous.

And there are those who might question whether such observances are of merit. Many Black persons have/do scorn what another Black person attempts to do, or has done. Many Black persons feel that Booker T. Washington, for example, did not provide enough beneficial leadership, as Dr. DBois did.

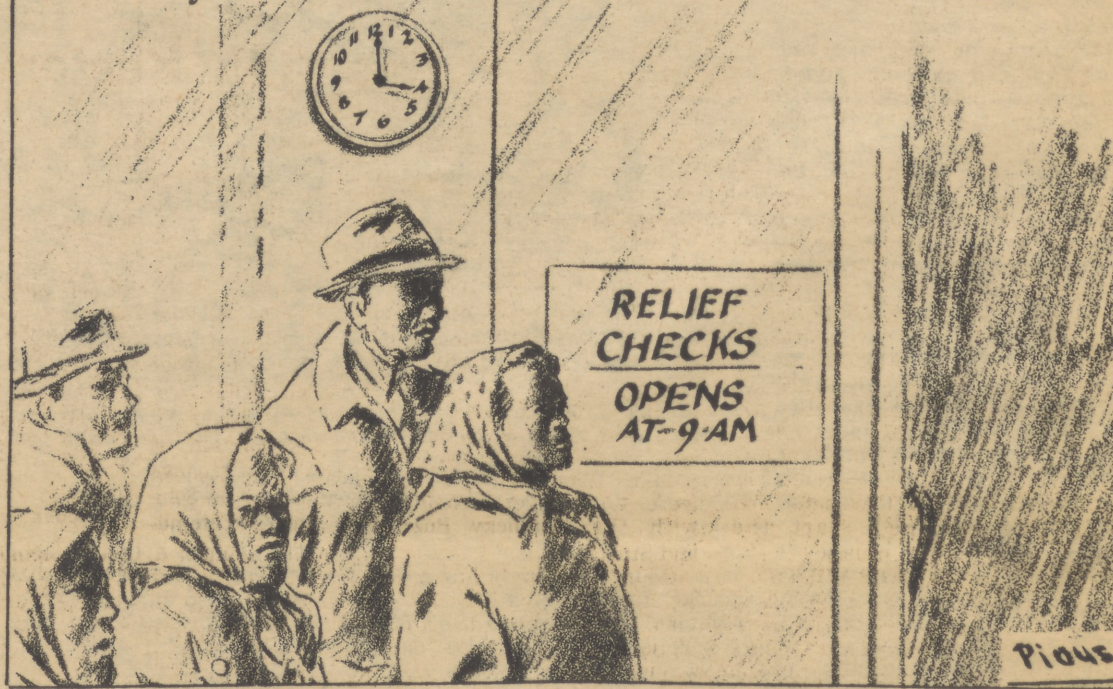

Such comparisons are trivial since each person has, in his or her own way, done all that was feasible during his or her lifetime, to advance the cause of human dignity.

To compare or degrade one person to another is like comparing the abilities of the left foot to the right.

Each has basic weaknesses, but to walk fully upright, one usually needs both

They Would Rather Have Jobs, Mr. President

Letter From The Editor

We're already nine days into the New Year and many of us have thought of resolutions or said, "why even make one I won't stick to it." What a pity. What may seem the most minute thing to you could turn out to be the biggest and best step in the right direction you've ever made. Be nice to that person you can't stand, share a brotherly/sisterly love which is deeper than race, creed, color or religion, make it to church, try to understand your parent, child, husband, wife, attend some neighborhood meetings, attend a school board meeting, quit smoking. These are only a few things which one could consider I've considered most of them.

It wasn't so long ago that Dr. Martin Luther King, the most noted Black theologian, lived by his resolution for civil rights for all man kind. He, also died trying to fulfill that resolution. The beautiful thing about it is that Dr. King made it to his mountain top.

Those of us who yet live (the majority) have unfinished business with ourselves and with our maker.

Right now within our community there is a big-to-do about desegregation in city schools. When this was happening in the South, to many Northerners it was just a two sided issue right vs. wrong. Now that it's in the North and on our front steps the issue has so many sides it looks like a crystal.

Desegregation, true has many entities, busing, housing, schools, equipment, facilities, teachers, money, politics, students, etc.

I must admit when I had my first dealings with busing I was as bitter as the next guy. Seven sisters and myself attended East High School, 10 blocks from home, in Waterloo. My two brothers, the babies of the family, were bused to Central High over 5 miles away. It was senseless to me then and it still is.

Time, is a good healer. I visited Central high. I saw the books, gym, library, study hall, science room, art room, auditorium, student lounge, cafeteria, driving range, class rooms, I met members of the faculty and staff, I saw what classes they could offer. Time showed me that busing shouldn't be the main issue in desegregating our schools but that the equality and quality of schools should be the same for all students. Quality is the issue not quantity of black students vs. schools or areas.

Those of you who haven't made a resolution, let me give you something to consider. If you're like me I want my child to have the best education that he can get. Hopefully all the schools will be the same in quality one day soon, but until that time let the board of education know what you want. Write a letter, make a call and best of all attend some school board meetings so that they'll know that you are concerned about bettering all schools so that your child won't have to be bused to achieve a good education.

GEORGE BREWER

If you're looking for someone who knows about entertainment the man you're seeking is George Brewer. George, who is a native of Des Moines, is the President and Manager of Brewer Enterprises.

George is also a board member of the Big Brother program. He says that they are in need of black males. He is also Asst. Dir. of Douglas Learning Center. Richard E. Petters, Dir. of the center and George helped start the program in April of 1969.

LIKES TO HELP YOUTH

Brewer enterprises began in 1964 during the Drake relays. "That was really one of the biggest dances I've had," says George. He handles dances, concerts and clubs. "I try to have at least two or three dances every month for the kids, because if I don't they won't have very much to do." He doesn't think there are enough adults interested in doing things for teenagers.

Georges first big promotion was in 1967 with the "Four Tops". "The Four Tops weren't on in the Des Moines area in '67 so the show wasn't as successful as it should have been", says George. There are many problems in the entertainment business one of the best things is to get good publicity which George has experienced.

George would like to bring bigger and better black entertainers to the Des Moines area but says that there aren't enough blacks to support such entertainers financially. What he does is have a cross-section of entertainers that will draw both white and black business. His most recent group was Earth, Wind and Fire which were on at Vet's Auditorium with the Kentucky Buzzard's and Sticks.

George presently has a group of his own called the L S Movement and the Mystics. Some of the groups which he has brought to Des Moines are: the "Ohio Players", "Temptations", "Dionne Warwick", "James Brown" and he was the local promoter for the fairground when the "Jackson 5" appeared.

GEORGE'S FAMILY

George has three children. Georgina, who is 20, attended UNI for two years and is presently working for Standard Oil. Mitzi 15, attends Callanan Jr. High and is vice-pres. of student council. Marcus, 4, attends Soul St. pre-school and shows an interest in music. He is also the vice-president of Brewer Ent.

Nat'l Big Bro. Week

In honor of National Big Brothers Week, January 5-11, a proclamation was signed at Gov. Ray's office, Monday, December 30, 1974.

A number of big and little brothers, a little sister applicant, board members and staff of the Big Brother program were present at the ceremony. The Big Brother program is in need of many big brother volunteers. We have at least 50 waiting children including 13 little sister applicants. Please help us out. Call 244-1181 Ext. 22 for further information.

Rev. Jackson's "Silver Rights March"

Necessity is compelling us to move and January 15, 1975, which is Dr. King's birthday, is our target date. Full employment or wages (the Hawkins' Bill) is our goal.

On that day, we will begin our "Silver Rights" program by marching around the White House 7 times. Just as Joshua marched around the Walls of Jericho, we intend that Ford's present economic policies shall fall, and towards that goal we shall deal with 5 vital issues:

1. Full employment - the unemployment is rising at an unprecedented rate. "Jobs for All" is our theme.

2. Housing - 300,000 housing units are scheduled for foreclosure next year - the right to shelter as a Human Right must be recognized.

3. Hunger - we are closer to soup lines than we have been since the Great Depression of the 1930's.

4. Small business - the little man's drive for economic self-determination cannot be sacrificed.

5. Spiritual regeneration - the character of our life must reflect sound moral conduct. We have not made progress if death has changed its name from Southern Rope to Northern Dope. For what we seek is an abundant moral as well as material life. America must drastically cut its military budget and make its national priorities healing at home rather than killing abroad.

January 15th - Martin Luther King's birthday is the occasion for a rededication to the kind of unrelenting mass action that will make these goals a reality in this decade.

Find Former Iowan Slain In Rectory

MILWAUKEE, WIS. — A former Iowa minister was found dead in the second floor office of his rectory here Monday.

Police said the body of the Rev. Alvin Moore, 48, was found about 3:30 p.m. by two women parishioners at the parsonage of the Solomon's Community Temple, a United Methodist church, here. The Rev. Mr. Moore had been shot three times in the chest, police said.

The Temple is located in central Milwaukee.

A native of Fort Wayne, Ind., the Rev. Mr. Moore was a 1948 graduate of Purdue University. In 1968 the Rev. Mr. Moore was appointed to head an all-white Methodist Church in Des Moines, the first black minister to do so. The Rev. Mr. Moore became pastor of Trinity United Methodist Church in Des Moines. From 1966, until he moved to Des Moines, he had been pastor at Bethel A.M.E. Church in Council Bluffs.

His former wife, Betty, and nine children live in Fort Dodge.

Chlorine Suspected In Drinking Water Impurities

Minute quantities of potentially dangerous organic chemicals in New Orleans drinking water were found recently by EPA scientists after a three-month study made at the city's request.

Administrator Russell E. Train promptly announced a nationwide survey of municipal water supplies to determine if other cities had the same problem, what the dangers are, and how to forestall them.

Chlorine gas, widely used to disinfect water, is suspected of being a causative factor. The chlorine kills bacteria, preventing the transmission of disease, but it may also combine with trace chemicals usually present in surface water to form the hazardous compounds. One of these is chloroform, composed of carbon, hydrogen, and chlorine.

There is no immediate danger to New Orleans, which gets its water from the Mississippi River and filters and treats it (including chlorination) until it meets Public Health Service standards. The nation-wide study is designed to find the sources of such trace chemicals, to evaluate their health effects, and to study techniques for preventing their formation or removing them from city water systems.

Thomas of Union Baptist Church, who brought us a message about the supreme gift which was Jesus Christ, which is found in John, leaving us with a soul stirring message.

On December 30, 1974 the end of the year program was held, with Mr. Chancie Davidson as the Master of Ceremonies. The program was opened with the Lord's Prayer, by Mr. John Danforth followed by a paper read by Mrs. Alice Sloan, entitled "Looking Back over the Year '74". The paper told of the things that were done during the year '74. A solo by Rev. Fox was sang in conjunction with the reading. ## Michigan State Seeks Applicants East Lansing, Mich. Applicants are being sought by a new Michigan State University institute established to train "central city" counselors.

MSU's Urban Counseling Institute is accepting applications for fall term, 1975, for masters' and doctoral programs in urban counseling.

Institute director Thomas S. Gunnings says the institute teaches the "systemic intervention" approach, that is, "positive adjustments in institutions will result in positive adjustments on the part of clients."

Gunnings believes this approach is particularly appropriate for minorities of the central cities.

"How can a minority child be told to work hard in school," Gunnings says, "if he sees that it hasn't done his friends any good to do so."

"Counselors should focus on changing institutional practices that prevent minorities from fulfilling their potential."

The counseling curriculum combines training in counseling techniques and research methods with field work in community, school and prison settings.

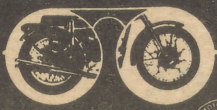

All qualified persons may apply, but black, Latino, native American, Asian American, and women applicants are especially urged. Financial aid, including a stipend for living expenses and allotments for dependents, is available.

The program is funded by a grant from the National Institute of Mental Health.

More information is available from Dr. Gloria Smith, Urban Counseling Institute, Michigan State University, East Lansing, Mich. 48824.

For Black Students:

Black Young Leaders(BYL)

The Black Young Leaders, a new youth organization, has been formed. The purpose of the organization is to provide positive community activities for young people.

The youth group joined together in October 1974, to combine ideas and create a constitution to govern the youth body. Also, at this time a President, Vice-President, Secretary, Assistant Secretary, Treasurer, and Information Officer were elected. President presiding officers are Denese Luten, President; Roderick Bradley, Vice-President; Kim Jackson, Secretary; Joan Wesley, Assistant Secretary; Pam Rumley, Treasurer; and Larry Fowler, Sargent-at-Arms.

To date the youth group has sponsored dances, including one at The Fort Des Moines Hotel, others at the local opportunity centers, also; enjoyed dinner at The Adventureland and O.K. Corral Restaurants. The Black Young Leaders experienced a week-end bus trip to Lincoln University, Jefferson City, Missouri; provided six (6) Thanksgiving baskets to the Des Moines Community and sponsored a Christmas Party for Gateway area elementary children. Our program provides for many other activities, and will hopefully include a summer trip to Washington, D.C.

ROOSEVELT STUDENTS REMEMBER DR. MARTIN LUTHER KING, JR.

By Pamela Spencer

A man who was arrested on more than 15 occasions, was referred to by Militant blacks as an uncle tom, because he preached the goodwill doctrine, and who in 1964, won the Nobel Peace Prize - such a person could and did change America's entire history concerning Negro affairs.

This man was born 46 years ago Wednesday. His name was Dr. Martin Luther King Jr.. Not enough people were aware of Dr. Kings' accomplishments, before he was assassinated.

Wilkie House Activities

An exciting, free recreational program with activities for young and old is being started this month. This program is a joint endeavor under the Des Moines Park & Recreation Department Central District (Woodland- Willkie Prime Service Area) in cooperation with Willkie House Inc., Community Development, and the Des Moines Public Schools. The Schedule is as follows:

TENNIS for adult beginners - Allen Ashby will instruct starting this Saturday from 2-4 p.m. at Willkie House, 900-17th Street.

ARTS & CRAFTS

AFRO DANCE - Edmunds School, Thurs. Jan. 16 - Feb. 27, 7:30 - 9:00 p.m.

FAMILY AFTERNOON - Willkie House One Sunday each month 2-5 p.m. Dates: Jan. 12, Feb. 9, Mar. 9. Various activities for all ages.

JAZZ DANCE - Willkie House, Thurs. Jan. 16 - Feb. 27, 4-5 p.m. for beginners.

PUPPETRY - Willkie House, Tues. Jan. 14 - Feb. 11, 4-5 p.m. For 5th and 6th graders. You will construct puppets and put on a show.

Students were asked, Did you know about Dr. King before he was assassinated?

Senior Cathy Jones commented, "Yes, but very little. I knew he was a person with a wonderful sense of humor and worked for what he believed in. When Dr. Martin Luther King died, a lot of peoples' hearts went with him."

Rosa Parks was arrested, December 1, 1955, for refusing to give up her seat to a white person. This marked the beginning of a boycott, headed by King, which led to a Supreme Court ruling which declared segregated busing unconstitutional.

And my comments (I am a senior), I don't remember hearing about Dr. King before 1968. King was the greatest, most prominent black leader, that I know of. It took a man of his education, to be able to educate people with nonviolence and the civil rights movement.

Dr. King was the third Negro, and the youngest man ever to be awarded the Nobel Peace Prize, at the age of 35.

Bobbie Mash, a senior, remembered King slightly because of her age. She remarked, "During more recent years, I've come to understand why and what he was all about. He was murdered because he had the power to lead black people out of these hard times."

Junior Hank Drayton didn't know of him, until after his assassination. He recalled, "I knew who he was afterwards. I think all people black and white should know more about him. Afterall, he helped the black people to get more freedom."

Senior Dorothy Claytor commented, "He was a good black leader. He went out of his way to help black people out."

Bobbie Mash summed it all up by saying, "Never will there be another black leader as Dr. Martin Luther King, Jr."

Roosevelt Graduate of 1927

By Pamela Spencer

Julia Marie Manuel was born in Huntsville, Missouri. In September of 1925, Miss Manuel moved to Des Moines to finish her junior and senior years of education at Theodore Roosevelt High School.

Upon her arrival at Roosevelt, there was only one other Negro attending. Miss Manuel was therefore the second Negro to graduate from Roosevelt High School in 1927.

Miss Manuel revealed that there were no restrictions concerning Negro enrollment at Roosevelt. There were boundary markings then, just as there are today. The Negro students who attended Roosevelt in the late 20's wanted to go there. They also lived within the boundaries. The Negroes who went to Roosevelt were outstanding students who worked very hard to achieve.

Miss Manuel was a member of the Mixed Chorus at school, which was under the direction of Miss Laura Duncan, music teacher. She also belonged to the Girls Club organization.

When she first arrived at Roosevelt, Miss Manuel set a goal, she was determined to finish her high school education within the two year required period. Since she was from a small town, the schoolwork was a little harder. Miss Manuel said, "If it wasn't for the teachers, I might not have made it."

In 1929, Miss Manuel enrolled at Drake University. She attended the Education College for Elementary Education. Miss Manuel married Stanley E. Proctor in 1930. Mr. and Mrs. Proctor have two daughters, Imogene and Cleota.

While the girls were coming up, Mrs. Proctor was active in the Girl Scouts, and the YWCA. She was a member of the PTA at Crocker Elementary, Washington Irving Junior High, and North High for a total of 17 years. Mrs. Proctor has always thought it was necessary to be active in the community. Volunteering her services has taken up Mrs. Proctors' time through the years.

Mrs. Proctor is a member of the League of Women Voters, she is the treasurer for the Des Moines Federation of Womens' Clubs, and a member of the Philanthropy Club. She has been a Sunday School teacher at St. Paul AME Church, for 25 years. She is presently a helper in the Reading Lab, at Irving Junior High.

Mrs. Proctor stated, "I found the teachers dedicated. My stay at Roosevelt was wonderful." She went on to comment on the black students today, "Negroes should have a sense of pride. There are of course more opportunities today for Negro students."

Mrs. Proctor knows she has a contribution to make in service to the community. She feels words, actions, and deeds are important. A person mustn't continuously speak of things they are going to do. Instead action is necessary, if anything good is to come out of being vocal. It is necessary for people to set a goal, and then pursue it.

NOISE LIMITS SET FOR INTERSTATE TRUCKS

Starting next October all heavy duty trucks in interstate commerce will have to meet federal standards for noise.

The rules are the first to be formally adopted by EPA under the Noise Control Act of 1972.

Members of the newly organized Cedar Rapids Chapter of the Links Inc. were installed at the University of Iowa Athletic Club on Sunday, November 17th. at Iowa City.

Links Inc., a national service organization is exclusively involved with altruistic activities in the community. The Links are nationally known for the unselfish regard for the welfare and interest of others. The organization has made extraordinary contributions to selected worthwhile causes each year and has contributed more than $300,000. to various projects in the past three years.

Installed in the service About 70,000 vehicles would have to have mufflers or tires replaced, or both, to meet the new limits, EPA officials estimated.

Heavy interstate trucks are mostly diesels. Their main sources of noise are faulty exhaust systems and tires with "pocket tread" patterns, in which enclosed cavities contact the road surface.

EPA has proposed noise control standards for all new medium and heavy-duty trucks, starting with the 1977 model year; and for portable air compressors. Agency experts are working on airport noise control standards and expect to have them in the proposal stage next summer.

Hues Corporation Skyrockets To Success

With three successive hit singles, "Freedom For The Stallion," "Miracle Maker," and their million plus selling, "Rock the Boat." The Hues Corporation, a three member soul and pop group, have hit the bigtime. All three singles are contained on their debut RCA album, "Freedom For the Stallion."

Their success is no fluke, for behind their music, The Hues Corporation has spent five years putting together a polished fast-paced live act that has earned them enthusiastic nightclub and concert acclaim. Among the prestigious gigs The Hues have already played are the Circus-Circus in Las Vegas, King's Castle in Lake Tahoe, the Santa Monica Civic Auditorium, the Riviera in Palm Springs, and The Starwood Club in L.A. and in June 1974 they stormed the East Coast beginning with a weeklong gig at New York's Apollo Theater. The Hues have also been active in other media, having appeared in the horror movie, "Blacula" and two "Dick Clark" TV shows.

The Hues Corporation members are H. Ann Kelly, St. Clair Lee and Fleming Williams. Born in Birmingham, Alabama, and brought up in L.A., Ann has a pure bell-like singing style that she developed from years of singing in her church choir. She is also a fashion freak, who makes practically all the clothes she wears on stage. The other members of the group call her "Cool Kelly" because she never seems to get upset or hassled.

St. Clair Lee was born in San Francisco but spent most of his life in Detroit and Los Angeles. He is better known to his friends as "The Dancer" because he would rather dance than do (almost) anything else. St. Clair has been active in show business since he was fifteen.

In addition to singing (baritone and falsetto), Fleming Williams, plays trumpet and congas. Brought up in Flint, Michigan, he made his TV debut at the age 9, at 13 sang with a group called The Creators, and then with another called The High Boys. Fleming decided to become a professional singer after winning several talent shows while he was in the Navy. For a short time, too, he was lead singer for the Successful New Breed.

On stage and on record, The Hues Corporation deliver something for everyone...liquid soul that dissolves into dynamic funk, followed by a ballad for a change of pace. With their rapidly growing success, it's a safe bet that The Hues Corporation will be around for a long time to come.

"The Others"

On Wednesday, January 22, 1975 at 9 PM the Iowa Educational Broadcasting Network (Channel 11, Des Moines; 12, Iowa City; 24, Mason City; 27, Sioux City; and 32, Waterloo) will present a revealing documentary examining Iowa's retarded and multiply handicapped citizens and the current shortage of appropriate housing for them.

The film follows an Ames family as they place their 12 year-old daughter in the Winnebago Handicapped Services in Forest City - one of the few residential facilities in Iowa for severely handicapped children. For six years prior to placement the young Ames girl had lived in a foster home in nearby Nevada. Its closing forced the family to seek new housing for her. A noticeable improvement in her development was evident when the film crew returned to Forest City at six and nine month intervals after initial placement.

"THE OTHERS" will air on all stations on IEBN Wednesday, January 22, at 9 PM.

Now they're together

New Year Brings Changes In U.S. Wage Hour Law

The New Year brought changes in several provisions of the Fair Labor Standards Act, as a result of Congressional changes last spring, a Labor Department official pointed out today in Des Moines, Iowa.

Paul Lynn, Iowa Area Director of the Department's Employment Standards Administration, Wage-Hour Division, said a boost in the minimum wage is the principal change.

Workers whose statutory minimum was $2.00 an hour beginning last May, went to $2.10 on January first; those whose floor was $1.90 must now be paid $2.00 an hour, including domestics.

Lynn said the minimum for covered farm workers went from $1.60 to $1.80 on January 1.

Also effective January 1, the Act's coverage was extended to some additional employees of retail establishments, Lynn said. Employees of retail firms which have more than one outlet are now protected by the Act if the outlet in which they work has a gross annual volume exceeding $225,000.

Previously, outlets with gross annual volume of up to $250,000 were exempted. Independent single-outlet retail firms remain exempt from coverage if their gross annual volume is $250,000 or less.

Moses Malone

One had to read with interest the story about young Moses Malone who signed with a professional basketball club at the tender age of sixteen. There was a lot of talk that he couldn't adjust to the pros and that he would be a hinderance rather than a budding star. Some people thought he should wait and put in his time in college before joining the league, and that is what Maryland University thought, because they had anticipated having this youthful gate attraction for four years, and knew he would fill the fieldhouse. So when he went to the pros, there was the usual cry about passing up an education. But with all the dough the fellow has, he can get whatever education he wants or needs as he goes along. From the story he is smart enough to let people who know what they are doing handle his money, and hopefully he will have some later on. At least he is on the right track. I never worried about his physical ability, because I have seen so many kids who were literally grown men at sixteen. I recall a young middleweight boxer who was climbing into the ring with men at sixteen and holding his own with them. Then I knew a wrestler who was competing with men old enough to be his father at sixteen and beating most of them. Both of those fellows had at least ninety percent of their physical development at sixteen, and I guessed that Malone was in that category. And it turns out that he is, because he is holding his own in the league with the best of them. The thing one missed at that age when competing with men is the boyhood companionships and the growing up with fellows in his age group. You become a man with thinking like a man before you are ready, and it is hard for you to express yourself, because you think like a boy, and yet are expected to be a man. One of the fellows I knew was lucky enough to get back in school and got a chance to develop himself so he could handle himself around people. Maybe Moses Malone will be lucky, too.

WHAT GIVES?

You pick up the paper today and read where the black basketball players have left some team. Brigham Young, Michigan State, to name a couple and even here in our high schools. Now, when just about all the black players on a club walk out, one can't help but wonder if race had anything to do with it, no matter how hard you try to be open minded. Then just about all the coaches insist that race had nothing to do with it, and I hope they are right. But when one realizes how polarized folks are today, he wonders.

When one doesn't know all the facts about a situation like that, he can't say too much. Here at home, I haven't talked to the boys who left the East team, but maybe I would like to just hear their versions of it. I have talked to people who have children in school and some whose kids have graduated from school, but who still keep up with affairs at their high school. Some of the statements one hears have to be taken in the light of realizing that folks are really polarized today, and you think you could get a clearer picture from the kids. But when these things crop up, you have to wonder, and yet, don't want to be put in the position of fanning flames by putting out a one sided story.

The games

Iowa U really got hot, and as this is being written, has won two Big Ten games, and is working on a third. Drake has dropped a couple of games that make people cuss to anybody who will listen, and Iowa State nearly grabbed the Big Eight tournament crown. So look for brighter days for the three big(?) schools. And here in our high schools, things haven't changed much. Lincoln is still the toughest according to the ratings, but Hoover keeps on winning. North comes up with a good game and then sluffs off, and so does Dowling. Tech hustles all the way, and should really pull some surprises before the year is done. East is having problems, and maybe they can get them ironed out in time to get back in the thick of things. Hope so.

Anderson Regimental Commander

DORIAN ANDERSON

WEST POINT, NEW YORK. — Two aspects of Cadet Captain Dorian T. Anderson's life at the U.S. Military Academy, West Point, are unique. First, he is the Regimental Commander of one of the four Cadet Regiments. Second, he is the first black man ever to hold this important leadership position.

Anderson, a 21-year-old native of Brazil, Indiana, is a First Classman (senior) and as Regimental Commander is responsible for the leadership of 1,000 Cadets. He speaks of the Academy as a great opportunity for himself and for other young blacks who are interested in attending West Point. He cautions, however, "it isn't going to be easy, you will be treated as a Cadet first."

A halfback on the Army Lightweight Football team (158-lbs. or less), Dorian lead the team in scoring with 62 points, and rushing with 435 yards, for the six-game season. The team has won 20 straight games and gained five consecutive Eastern Collegiate Athletic Conference titles. Dorian has also lettered in wrestling and is active in the Cadet Rugby Club and Behavioral Science Club.

Falk Heads Easter Seal Campaign

Television and film star Peter Falk will serve as National Chairman for the Easter Seal Society's 1975 campaign, according to Mrs. Ann Baker of Waterloo, Iowa, president of the voluntary health organization. The campaign will run from February 24 through March 30, Easter Sunday, she announced.

This will be the second consecutive year the popular actor has spearheaded the Society's annual drive for funds to support some 2,000 Easter Seal facilities and programs for handicapped children and adults throughout the nation. Funds Falk will help to raise in Iowa support Easter Seals' Camp Sunnyside, the 80-acre residential camp near Des Moines, and treatment centers in Des Moines, Mason City and Sioux City which served a combined total of over 14,000 state residents last year, Mrs. Baker said.

Falk's involvement with the Easter Seal campaign began in 1972 with his participation in the New York segment of the National Easter Seal Telethon. Originally scheduled for only a brief appearance, Falk said he decided to stay and lend his support to the entire 20-hour telecast after he learned about the services the Society renders to the disabled. The following year Falk returned to host the New York Telethon and in 1974, as National Chairman, he headlines the star-studded nationwide telethon produced in Hollywood.

"I guess you could say I was hooked," Falk recalled.

A major highlight of his activities during the past year was his appearance in Washington as the head-off witness in a series of hearings on children's charities before a Senate sub-committee headed by Sen. Walter Mondale of Minnesota.

His testimony reviewed the great advances made in the care of children made possible through charitable organizations. His strong statement based on his personal observation of the urgent need for elimination of transportation and building barriers was widely quoted by the nation's press.

Broadlawns Selects New Officers

New officers of the Board of Trustees of Broadlawns Polk County Hospital were elected at the annual meeting of the group, held Friday, January 3, at Broadlawns, Eighteenth Street and Hickman Road.

Serving as chairman for the coming year will be Mrs. Esther Walter, 2429 Reynolds Lane. Mrs. Walter is director of the department of education for Planned Parenthood of Iowa. Her husband, the Rev. Richard L. Walter, is rector of St. Mark's Episcopal Church.

Vice chairman is Mrs. Jeanne Miller, 1201 Thirty-fourth Street;

Other board members include retiring chairman, Mrs. Marie W. Davis, 505 Thirty-sixth Street; Thomas C. Fredregill, 1049 Sixteenth Street, West Des Moines, and G. Edwin Schlenker of Ankeny.

Women Ignoring Cancer Checks

Fewer than one half of American women above the age of 17 have had either a breast examination or Pap smear in the past year.

About one out of every four women have never had either of these examinations, believed by most cancer specialists to be basic to the protection of women against the dread disease.

A new report from NCHS based upon the 1973 Health Interview Survey shows that the record is not much better when it comes to such other preventive health aids as electrocardiograms and glaucoma screening. Among people 40 years of age or older, only about 25 percent have had an EKG in the past year, and about 23 percent submitted to glaucoma detection testing.

The report also offers data on the use of such preventive health services as chest x-rays for the adult population, eye exams for persons 3 years and older, and routine physicals for persons under 17.

A summary of the findings appears in "Current Estimates from the Health Interview Survey, 1973," available from NCHS.

Activities For Dr. Kings Birthday Jan. 15

and Dr. King.

Among the documentary materials are two films, one film strip and speeches and sermons by Dr. King on cassettes. One film, "KING: A FILMED RECORD ... MONTGOMERY TO MEMPHIS," the authentic account of Dr. King's career and the movement he led. The other is "LEGACY OF A DREAM," which places the movement in historical perspective, showing the ongoing work of the nonviolent movement and focusing on challenges in the future. The filmstrip, especially prepared for elementary schools, is entitled "THE MAN AND HIS MEANING." Information on the availability of the films can be obtained from The Martin Luther King Foundation, 309 East 90th Street, New York City 10028 or from the temporary offices of The King Center, 671 Beckwith Street, S.W. Atlanta, Georgia 30314 (telephone 404-524-1956).

The King Center is the organization entrusted with building a permanent, living memorial to Dr. King and helping people to understand his teachings and continue his work.

Observance Of King's Birthday

The Model City Branch Library would like to invite everyone to observe the birthday of Martin Luther King on January 15, 1975 from 2:00 p.m. until 5:00 p.m. at the library located at 920 Washington Avenue. Activities will include movies, filmstrips and excerpts from the speeches of Dr. King. In addition, several people have been invited to make comments including the Rev. Ivan Johnson, President of the Des Moines branch of the NAACP, and the governor of Iowa, Robert D. Ray. Plan to stop in and view the films or listen to comments or just sign the guest register and have coffee with us.

Martin Luther King Jr., Day

January 15, Martin Luther King, Jr. Day— The People's Holiday, and the 46th Birthday Anniversary of the man who led a movement which helped change the course of history.

We urge all people in our community and communities across the nation to participate in some fashion in celebrating Martin Luther King, Jr. Day. Your church might hold a commemorative service; your community organization might plan some activity in keeping with Dr. King's nonviolent movement—such as voter registration, community development, economic programs, or feeding the hungry.

Each year, thousands of communities across the nation celebrate this special day with special observances, services, and programs. This year in Dr. King's home city of Atlanta, The Martin Luther King, Jr. Center for Social Change is sponsoring a Southern Policy Conference on the Voting Rights Act and holding an ecumenical service, student activities day, the dedication of the birth home of Dr. King, groundbreaking ceremonies for the first phase of the new King Center site, and a benefit concert are also included in the observances.

These are the kinds of things Dr. King wanted to be remembered for. And the best way to honor him on his birthday is to re-commit ourselves to the fulfillment of his dream by actively participating in activities which will carry forward his ideals and his work.
