Black Woman Heads NAACP Board

Margaret Bush Wilson

NAACP ELECTS FIRST BLACK WOMAN HEAD

"I suppose they elected me because I'm competent and professional," says Margaret Bush Wilson, newly elected board chairman of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People. Mrs. Wilson is a lawyer in St. Louis, Mo., and has a 24 year old son attending Harvard Law School.

Elected over three males

She defeated three male candidates in the election at a closed session of the board. Roy Wilkins, executive director of the NAACP, appeared at the scheduled news conference with Mrs. Wilson. "It was not a close vote it finally became practically unanimous," Wilkins said.

Mrs. Wilson hopes to attract more young members to the NAACP. She also said she didn't think the position meant dissension in the NAACP, but exciting, creative tension.

Mrs. Wilson said the NAACP offers young people a chance to be trained in the art of leadership. She said, "I came up from the ranks all the way."

Strong NAACP Family

She came from an NAACP family and was elected to the executive committee of the St. Louis branch in 1956, and became its first woman president two years later. In 1962, she became the Missouri state conference president and was elected to the National Board of Directors in 1963.

To eliminate racial discrimination is the same goal the NAACP is striving for as it was 65 years ago when it was founded says Mrs. Wilson. However, she feels it must focus on "institutional racism." She defined that as "those subtle things that keep people out for artificial reasons."

COLEMAN TO HEAD TRANSPORTATION

William T. Coleman, jr., of Philadelphia, Pa., is to be nominated as Secretary of Transportation by President Ford. He will succeed Claude Brinegar who has resigned.

Former NAACP Official

Coleman, a republican, is a former president of the NAACP Legal Defense and Educational Fund. He is also a Harvard Law School graduate and practices law in Philadelphia. He is also the second black to hold cabinet rank. The first was Robert Weaver, Secretary of Housing and Urban Development from 1966 to 1968 under President L.

President Ford Names Philly Attorney

B. Johnson.
Law Clerk

Coleman has served as a part-time official or consultant in four previous administrations. After graduating from Harvard Law School in 1946, he was chosen by Justice Felix Frankfurter to be the first black law clerk in the history of the Supreme Court.

He was member of the Warren Commission, served on the Price Commission during Richard M. Nixon's presidency and was a U.S. delegate to the 24th United Nations General Assembly.

Coleman's formal nomination apparently will await completion of FBI checks of his background. This procedure was adopted after Mr. Ford had to withdraw the nomination of Andrew Gibson to be energy chief over his link to an oil transportation firm.

Mr. Coleman's father attended Hampton Institute with Mr. James B. Morris, Sr., where they both graduated in 1912.

Navy Air Museum Honors 1st Black Naval Aviator

Ensign Jesse L. Brown, first black Naval Aviator and pilot with Fighter Squadron 32, sits in the cockpit of an F-8F Bearcat Fighter. The history of Ensign Brown's achievements remain enshrined in the new Naval Air museum in Pensacola, Fla.

When Jesse L. Brown was selected to become the Navy's first black aviator he wasn't looking for a spot in a museum.

But his accomplishments as a Naval aviator have earned him a place of honor in the new Naval Air museum opening April 13, 1975 in Pensacola, Fla.

Ensign Jesse Brown made Naval history in 1948 when he became the first black Naval aviator. Two years later, his name went down in history again — the first black Naval aviator to die in combat.

Ensign Brown's career ended when his jet fighter was shot down on a strafing mission during the Korean conflict.

On Dec. 4, 1950 Brown's plane crashed near the Yalu River after being struck by Chinese anti-aircraft fire. In a valiant rescue effort, Captain (then Lieutenant) Thomas J. Hudner, Brown's wingman, crash-landed his jet near the burning wreckage of Brown's aircraft.

Twenty-one years later, Capt. Hudner stood on the launching platform as the main speaker for the christening of the USS Jesse L. Brown (DE-1089), the first ship to be named in honor of a black aviator.

Ensign Jesse Brown's contribution to aviation history will not be forgotten in the space age. His history and the history of other aviation heroes will remain enshrined in the Air museum in Pensacola, Fla.

5 Black Men Mysterious Death

Tyrone Brooks, Director of Communications for the National Southern Christian Leadership Conference (SCLC), said the bodies that were recovered and supposedly that of five black Atlanta men fishing in Pensacola, Florida, were so mutilated it was impossible to identify them.

Brooks said that SCLC suspects foul play on the part of local law officials in Pensacola involving the mysterious death of the men. According to the SCLC spokesman, several calls have been made warning them to keep out of the Pensacola area investigating the deaths.

Brooks met with the Atlanta Federal Bureau of Investigation (FBI) and turned over information SCLC had gathered in its investigation. The dead men have been identified as Leroy Holloway, Lonnie Meritt, Marvin Walker, Robert Walker, and John Sterling.

The bodies of the five black men were found after several days of having their whereabouts being reported as "missing." It was reported that the boat had been "cut" loose from the pier and was unperturbed on the inside. There had been no reports of bad weather.

Brooks questioned a Pensacola "Journal" article that said a black fisherman claimed he saw the five men shortly before they went out into the water and warned them that

Tax Cut Misses Those Who Need Help Most

President Ford and the Democratic leadership in Congress have suggested a cut in the 1974 federal income taxes as one of the programs designed to help get the country moving ahead again. The figures range from 12% suggested by the President to 10% by the Democrats, with a maximum of $1000.

The tax cut will put some extra money in some people's pocket, particularly those who were employed, who made a profit in the operation of their businesses or had sufficient taxable income from other sources in 1974.

But what about the millions who paid no taxes particularly those with small fixed incomes? The price they pay for what they buy continue high and they will be bidding for goods and services at the same rate as the fellow who received the refund. In other words, people with low incomes must pay 40 to 50 cents a pound for sugar and other items along with others.

It is not my intention to build up division between the haves and have nots; the little fellow against the big fellow. But unless some method is adopted to level prices, the little refund that goes into the individual pocket will do little to help solve our predicament.

Level Heads Have The Law On Their Side

In an effort to comply with the federal law and state guide lines with reference to segregation in the public schools, the Des Moines school board appointed a committee to study proposals to accomplish results with the least disturbance among the citizens of Des Moines. And since the U.S. Supreme Court has ruled that busing is one of the means that may be used to accomplish integrated schools, busing includes a part of the committee's report.

Beginning at the first public meeting of the committee at Tech High School a hard core of citizens has engaged in all kinds of tactics not only to discourage the committee but also attempt to intimidate some of its members.

I assume that the school board expects to carry out the law and those who wish to vent their feelings against it should do so in an orderly manner.

The trouble in Boston has been the unwillingness on the part of some citizens to obey the law. And law enforcement officers have not been willing or able to convince them that their efforts were fruitless and only create hatred and discord in the community about something which, in the final analysis, they cannot prevent without changing the law.

Monday, the U.S. Supreme Court refused to review a desegregation plan worked out by the school system in Huntsville, Alabama.

If and when the Des Moines School Board comes up with a reasonable proposal, and I think they will, the federal courts will uphold them and all these threats of violence and intimidation will do nothing but hurt the community.

I had thought that Des Moines would be more reasonable in this situation in view of the level headed position the majority of citizens have taken in racial matters over the years. I hope again that the citizens of both races will not sit ideally by and allow a crowd bent on violating the law run things in this community.

Citizens Must Help Neighborhood Business Survive

Citizens in some cities with large ghetto populations of various racial and ethnic groups where the crime rate is clearly out of hand are organizing to help correct the situation.

Much of this high crime rate is due to unemployment, poor housing conditions, failure of city officials to provide health and sanitary programs; also gambling, dope, illegal handling of liquor and organized prostitution contribute heavily to these bad conditions. In many cases politicians have contributed to these unfortunate conditions by offering protection to leaders of crime and or providing more welfare money as a bait for their votes.

Model cities in Des Moines has been saddled with some of the ghetto conditions which have left it with some bad areas. One of the results has been the closing of every grocery store in the area except Hinky Dinky and there has been threats to close this one because the store has lost a lot of money during the past few years.

Responsible people in the community have been meeting with officers of the company and managers of the store including Model Cities officers, ministers and the NAACP in an effort to suggest means of cooperating with each other and management to reverse the trend. Management blamed these losses not only on poor trade but also shop lifting and other unauthorized remove of goods from the store. Unfortunately other businesses suffer the same pillaging.

This movement should have the support of every family in the area. They have a responsibility to emphasize to customers, young and old, that no good can come from unauthorized taking of other people's property and that no business can thrive when it's profits are being funneled away by people in and out of the store.

Meetings have been held at King's Elementary School and have received cooperation from many of the teachers who, after all, should have a telling influence in the lives of young people.

Second Cabinet Post

The Time Magazine says that President Ford will appoint William T. Coleman, Jr., a Negro lawyer from Philadelphia, to the cabinet post of Secretary of Transportation. This is the second time in history that a Negro has been a member of the cabinet.

Coleman is well qualified by education, training and experience in government affairs and has been active in Republican circles.

Early in his administration President Ford called in a number of Negro leaders of both parties to suggest means of creating better relationship between the races and the White House; fairer enjoyment for minorities of what the country has to offer. He met with the Black Caucus, composed of Negro Democrats in the lower house of Congress, and asked their suggestion.

The President is interested in building a better image of the Republican party among Negro voters. Appointments such as that of Mr. Coleman and his willingness to sit down and hear the views and suggestions of Negro leaders, are moves in the direction to change the bad image.

Workshop To Gain More Readers For Black Press

Black newspapers need more readers. This is a fact. How this is to be achieved is one of the major problems facing black editors and publishers today.

Ways of gaining more readers for the Black Press will be emphasized at the Mid-winter workshop of the National Newspaper Publishers Assoc., Jan. 22-25 in Washington. Other significant issues such as verifying circulation, figures and increasing advertising linage will also be discussed.

Dr. Carlton B. Goodlett, N N P A president and editor-publisher of the San Francisco Sun Reporter and Metro Reporter announced the speakers on the circulation panels. They are; Howard W. Kutz, vice president of Audit Bureau Circulations, Dr. Geraldine Parker Knight, president of Verified Audit Circulation, Clarence G. Klopp, managing director of Certified Audit circulations and several other noted journalist.

Black newspaper circulation now stands at more than four million out of a total of 6,500,000 homes where black citizens reside in the United States.

important thing is that the report be made."

The number for the toll-free line is 800, 362-2178. Residents of Polk county are asked to use a local line in making a report. That number is 967-6603.

Child Abuse Line

Last Wednesday, the toll-free line on which Iowans may report cases of child abuse went into operation at 8:00 a.m. By 9:00 a.m. the first call had come in: a report of alleged abuse in a central western county. The total number of report calls for the first eight hours of operation was four, two mandated reporters, two by permissive reporters.

Jo Ann Sheeley, child abuse specialist within the Division of Community Services, mentions that it should be emphasized that the new direct lines to the Central Registry are additional rather than replacement lines. In other words the new lines are not intended to replace previous procedures used by Iowans to report abuse. They can and are encouraged to continue to notify their local county offices directly. "What the new lines do mean," said Jo, "is that citizens now have a choice as to where they can make their initial report. In the past it has sometimes happened that an abuse case was not reported because people — particularly within smaller communities — have been uncomfortable making a report about someone in the community to someone else who probably knows both them and the person they are reporting. Such people feel more comfortable making a report to someone they don't know and in a manner in which a degree of anonymity can be maintained.

"But in any case, it isn't to whom or over what lines a report should be made. The

it was unsafe on the afternoon of Nov. 29.

The men, according to their families, left Atlanta on Nov. 29 at 7:30 p.m. and could not have reached Pensacola until after 2 a.m. on Nov. 30. The experienced men had been making the trip annually for the last 20 years.

It is suspected that whites may have abducted and killed the five. It was reported that they got into an argument with a white store owner over the price of bait.

The case is a mystery because the five fishermen had left their coats and lunches behind in a camper, all the life jackets were still in the boat and the craft had not capsized.

The 19-foot fishing boat was lying bow up in about 20 feet of water with the key in the ignition switch, the throttle in neutral and both tanks filled with fuel. There were no holes in the bottom of the hull.

Authorities ruled out the possibility of the boat being swamped due to bad weather, because the area in which it was found is always calm under ordinary conditions and there were no storms in the area.

Nedra Walker, daughter of one of the dead men, Robert Walker, said at a press conference, "I know they wouldn't have left those coats and lunches unless something wasn't right. And Daddy was always ready to use his lifejacket."

Klan-like attack that illustrates the extremes to which racial hatred can go." He said he was encouraged by reports that the act was not a reflection of the sentiments of the Rosedale community.

Noting that two suspects have been arrested in the case, Mr. Reich said: "The guilt or innocence of these parties is a matter for legal determination, but all New Yorkers are secure in knowing that our law enforcement officers acted swiftly and will continue their investigation until all the facts are known."

The New Year's Eve bombing of the home of Glenda and Ormistan Spencer and their three sons was followed last Friday by an assault on New York City police James Klein, who was guarding the house.

Jan. 18 Deadline At Drake

Applicants and re-applicants for Iowa Tuition Grants for 1975-76 must make their initial applications no later than Saturday, January 18, according to Dr. Wilbur C. Miller, President of Drake University.

Ralph Flowerree, Drake's Director of Financial Aid, added that the applications must be accompanied by parents' or guardians' confidential statements.

Flowerree explained that all eligible applicants for the private college tuition grants are determined by evaluations based on need that are made for the Iowa Higher Education Facilities Commission by the College Scholarship Services.

He said the evaluations are analyses of family income and assets and other sources of financial resources available to students.

Commenting on the value of Iowa Tuition Grants to students who want to attend private colleges and universities in Iowa, Dr. Miller said:

"Because of the greatly increased costs connected with higher education, the forthcoming Iowa General Assembly needs to increase the maximum grants available to students from $1,000 to $1,500. This means that the total statement budget for the tuition grant program should be $14,900,000.

"This increase would enable the state to aid Iowa students from low and middle income families more adequately in their pursuit of an education at a private college or university in the state."

The tuition grant is applied toward a student's cost after an initial outlay of $610, the average tuition at the Iowa regents' institutions.

Because of the limitation in total funding for the program, only 6,500 of the 11,730 Iowa Tuition grant applicants in 1974 received awards, according to the Higher Education Facilities Commission.

AN INTRODUCTION
By Pamela Spencer

I feel it is time to introduce myself to the readers of the Bystander. I am a senior at Roosevelt High School. I have been writing articles for the Bystander for about three months now.

I was born April 18, 1957, in Vallejo, California. My parents are Winston and Jeanette Spencer. I have two older sisters, Deborah and Vickie, and a younger brother and sister, Winston and Jeanette.

My father was in the Air Force, which caused us to move a lot. I have lived in Puerto Rico, Texas, and Massachusetts, before moving to Des Moines. While my father was stationed in Massachusetts, I attended Dorman Elementary, in Springfield. My family moved to Des Moines in 1963. I have attended Nash Elementary, Bird Elementary, Callanan Junior High, and now Roosevelt.

I began taking flute lessons in the fifth grade at Bird. I went on to play in the Callanan Band. Entering Roosevelt as a sophomore, I continued to play in the Band. I also joined the Girls Football Team, the Track Team, and I was a member of the Girls Club Convalescent Committee. I didn't take an active part, during my junior year.

During this year, I have ran for a Senior Office, I am a member of the Student-Faculty Assembly Committee, a member of the Pep Band, and Yearbook Salesman. I am planning on joining the Track Team again this year. Next semester, I will be on the Roosevelt Roundup Staff. Since this is my final year, I will be trying to keep up my grades, presently I am an honor roll student. Upon graduation, I plan on attending Drake University.

Drake Offers For Senior Citizens Sit-In Courses

Persons aged 62 or older may make arrangements to sit in on day or evening courses, normally offered for credit, at Drake University on a "space-available" basis for $5.00 a course, according to Dr. Wilbur C. Miller, President of the University.

Even though no credit will be offered, senior citizens may participate as regular classroom members in all class activities. Dr. Miller said the $5.00 fee covers processing costs, so Drake essentially is offering the courses without cost to the students. He said any laboratory fees would be extra. Commenting on the new policy, he said:

"This new policy reflects our desire to help senior citizens continue to fulfill their lives through worthwhile activities and the acquisition of new ideas."

"We have opened areas in upper undergraduate divisions and graduate studies that have never been available before in higher education in the Des Moines area. This is also a contribution in our effort in the Des Moines Area Consortium for Higher Education, incorporated last November."

Dr. Miller said the new program will be coordinated by University College, Drake's continuing education division. Dr. Philip D. Langerman, Dean of University College, said persons over 62 could obtain certificates to attend spring semester courses where seating space is available. He said they may sign up for the certificates between Wednesday, January 15, and Friday, January 31.

Dr. Langerman said Drake would accept a senior citizen's word about age as sufficient.

Certificates may be obtained from University College, 27th Street and University Avenue. They will also enable senior citizens to use Drake's libraries during the spring semester and to obtain auto stickers from Drake's Security Office, 1442 27th Street, so they can park in University lots.

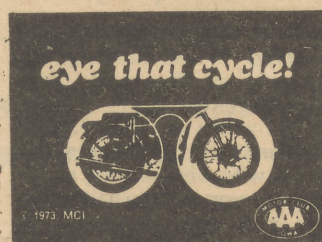

Documentary film shown

On Friday and Saturday at Drake and Monday at the Wilkie House the documentary film Who Is Guru Maharaj Ji? will be shown.

This film, winner of the 1972 Atlanta Film Festival's Golden Jury award, describes the meditation called Knowledge that Guru Maharaj Ji teaches. It is also a biography of his life through 1972 when he was only 15 years of age.

Now, at 17, his Divine Light Mission has grown so that there are now more than 8,000,000 devotees throughout the world. There are more than 50,000 devotees in the U.S.

Guru Mahaj Ji's message is simple: "People who look for peace get it."

Humphrey Proposes Joint Committee Over U.S. Intelligence

Senator Hubert H. Humphrey said on Monday he will introduce legislation when Congress convenes in January to create a permanent Joint Committee on National Security, composed of House and Senate members, to oversee the nation's intelligence gathering operations.

Humphrey also said that the proposed Committee would investigate present allegations against the Central Intelligence Agency (CIA), as well as oversee the workings of the National Security Council.

"The time has come for Congress to face up to a responsibility it has shirked for too many years," he said in a statement issued from his Minneapolis office. "The Congress must organize itself to review the entire intelligence operations of the U.S. Government."

Humphrey maintained that allegations against the CIA "should not be examined by the CIA itself, by the President or the Secretary of State. Nor should a blue ribbon citizens' panel, appointed by the Executive Branch, be put in charge of such a task. This responsibility should be vested in the Congress."

But unless a Joint Committee on National Security is "quickly established," Humphrey warned, Congress will be conducting at least four separate investigations of the CIA.

Laundrying and clothes care sometimes can become a little confusing-with its myriad of washing instructions.

To make it simple and remove the guess-work, here are a few ground-rules to follow:

* Start by saving all the hang-tags attached to new clothing. Keep them in a manila envelope or a recipe box for easy reference.

* Be sure to read your washer's manual so you understand every function of your machine.

William Riddley
President Of
Riddley Construction Co.

WILLIAM A. (BILL) RIDDLEY

The Riddley Construction Company, Inc. is the largest and most successful minority owned construction business in the Des Moines area. Some of the large jobs the company has had since its inception in 1968 are the 3000 Grand Apartments, the recent Merle Hay Plaza Addition, Olde English Village Apartments, Adventureland Park, River Hills Housing Complex, the Mental Health Center and many other projects both large and small. At the present time the company is working on the Army Post Shopping Center which will be one of the largest shopping centers in the state when completed.

Riddley Construction Company, Inc. is primarily a concrete sub-contracting firm but gets involved with all types of commercial building. The company has agreements with most of the craft unions and employ's carpenters, cement masons, iron workers, operating engineers, and laborers. One of the main reasons the company is successful is because Bill personally supervises each operation. He constantly oversees all of the construction activities and continually strives to upgrade and improve all company functions.

Bill's wife, Janice, is the company's secretary-treasurer and office manager. She has been involved in establishing the business and is another reason for its' success. They have three daughters, Carla, 17; Kathy, 15; and Krista, 11.

It hasn't all been easy. Bill started out with very little capital or equipment but because he had construction experience and a desire to succeed and because he and his wife were willing to put in long, hard hours of work the company is now established in the community. Last year the company had work in excess of $600,000 which is good for a company of its type and size.

The men who work for Bill's company work hard and are paid well. Anyone who now or has ever worked for or with him can tell that he was treated fairly. Both white and Black employee's work together and get a lot of construction work done in a spirit of cooperation. Bill and his company are an excellent example of what can be done if one has the desire to succeed and is willing to work toward that goal.

TUNE UP WITH TUNA

You may not be happily aware of it, but you can get 100 percent of your daily protein requirement in a seven ounce can of tuna. Tuna's protein supplies your body with a rich source of amino acids, which are the essential building blocks of the body.

Canned tuna in vegetable oil is lower in fat than lean red meat. Doctors and nutritionists concerned about cholesterol and reducing the incidence of coronary heart diseases recommend that people eat more fish.

BAPS ARE THRIFTY SCOTS FAVORITE

Any homemaker trying to economize knows that budget meals often need a little zip. Home-baked rolls with their warm yeasty fragrance and flavor could be just what your menus need. Serving for serving, rolls are one of the most economical kinds of baking you can do.

Leave it to the Scots to originate a roll using only the most basic ingredients, staples that you already have on your pantry shelf. These simple Scottish specialties simply known as Baps, are familiar items on tables from the Highlands to the Lowlands. Thrifty Scots make their rolls do multiple duty as breakfast breads, tea time treats and accompaniments for hearty soups, stews, and casseroles.

The recipe for Baps was developed by the Test Kitchens of Fleischmann's Yeast. The dough is prepared by the Rapidmix method so the dry yeast is added right from the package to part of the flour, sugar and salt. Heated liquids are added all at once and initial beating is done with an electric mixer. The tender, oval-shaped Baps are dusted with flour before baking. Serve these delicious and economical rolls the next time your meal needs a lift.

SCOTCH BAPS

2-3/4 to 3-1/4 cups unsifted flour
1 teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon sugar
1 package Fleischmann's Active Dry Yeast
1 cup milk
1/4 cup (1/2 stick) Fleischmann's Margarine
Milk
Flour

In a large bowl thoroughly mix 1 cup flour, salt, sugar and undissolved Fleischmann's Active Dry Yeast.

Combine 1 cup milk and Fleischmann's Margarine in a saucepan. Heat slowly until liquid is very warm (125°-135°F.). (Margarine does not need to melt.) Gradually add to dry ingredients and beat 2 minutes at medium speed of electric mixer, scraping bowl occasionally. Add ½ cup flour, or enough flour to make a thick batter. Beat at high speed 2 minutes, scraping bowl occasionally. Stir in enough additional flour to make a soft dough. Turn out onto lightly floured board; knead until smooth and elastic, about 8 to 10 minutes. Place in greased bowl, turning to grease top. Cover; let rise in warm place, free from draft, until doubled in bulk, about 1 hour.

Punch dough down; turn out onto lightly floured board. Divide into 16 equal pieces. Shape into flat oval rolls and place on greased baking sheets. Brush with milk and sprinkle with flour. Cover; let rise in warm place, free from draft, until doubled in bulk, about 1 hour.

Bake in hot oven (400° F.) 15 minutes, or until done. Remove from baking sheets and cool on wire racks. Makes 16 rolls.

Mary Burks, Navy's 1st Black Woman Lawyer

Mary Lou Burks, a pretty 26 year old Milwaukee lawyer, has become the Navy's first Black woman lawyer. She became an officer in the Judge Advocate General Corps on December 20 during the swearing in ceremony conducted by Warrant Officer Bernard A. Spriggs.

As a lawyer in the Navy, Ms. Burks will have world wide practice. In addition to legal areas common to civilian practice, her job as a member of the Judge Advocate General Corps encompasses such specialties as maritime law and international law for both inner and outer space. These fields, as well as military law, will be among the subjects which she will study at the 10 week long Naval Justice School in Newport, Rhode Island.

Ms. Burks' desire to travel was one of her motivations for joining the Navy. She chose an overseas assignment in Guam, the U.S. Naval Base in the Marianas Islands, because, "I've never seen it."

She was born in Forest, MS, but has lived in Milwaukee, WI, since 1956. She attended St. Mary's High School, and received her Bachelor's degree from Cardinal Stritch College in May 1970.

Pursuing her long time involvement with civil rights issues, she worked part-time for the Department of Health Education and Welfare's Office for Civil Rights, while working toward a law degree at Howard University School of Law in Washington D.C.

Mr. Kurt Fanstill, Public Affairs Officer, Navy Recruiting District Milwaukee, paraphrased Admiral Gerald Thomas. "Ms. Burks' commissioning is more symbolic than significant," he said. "Commissionings like this will be truly significant when they have absolutely no news value."

FASHION THAT'S FITTING

When Spring '75 arrives, the fashion world may feel as if it's been all turned about. Now, seams should be seen on the outside, and showing them is in.

The top tops for tomorrow, the type that practically every sort of sweater girl will probably be panting to pair up with her casual clothes are pert and pretty pullovers that can really pull for your pulchritude, as this trim trio gotten up by the glamour-minded group of designers at Garland goes to show. All of a similar stripe, they come in an assortment of chic colors and are cut to become shirts, jackets or sweaters that become you. They can fit your figure flatteringly and suit your lifestyle with equal style, while keeping you warm (and perhaps raising the temperatures of any gentlemen gazing at you as well).

In fact, you can look forward to taking a clothes line that, when you put it on, can show you off in style!

Local Housing Group Seeks Law Changes

The housing crisis for low income people in Des Moines demands immediate action by the State Legislature and Des Moines City Council, a spokesman for a local housing group said in an interview in Des Moines Wednesday.

Dean Wight, Executive Director of HOME, Incorporated and a member of the Ad Hoc Housing Committee, said the plight of low income housing consumers "requires action by elected officials in at least three areas: 1) Creation of a State Housing Authority by the legislature, to finance desperately needed low-cost housing; 2) Changes in local and State codes to allow tenants to escrow rent on properties that have violations of the Housing Code; and 3) Increased benefits for families forced to move from condemned housing."

All three proposals are under consideration by government officials, according to Mr. Wight, but will be "pigeonholed unless people call personally on their councilmen and representatives to take action now."

The Ad Hoc Committee, made up of persons from various agencies and neighborhood groups in Des Moines, was organized last September. Its purpose, according to members, is to advocate for changes that benefit low income housing consumers, and to draw public attention to housing problems in Des Moines.

Ad Hoc Housing Committee representatives point out that "hundreds of tenants are paying rent for properties that are not fit to live in, and landlords are collecting rent illegally for those properties. Tenants who complain find themselves out on the street". Information obtained from City officials indicates that over 7,000 units in Des Moines are either "deteriorating" or "dilapidated". 3,319 units lack some or all plumbing facilities, according to the 1970 Census.

The Des Moines City Council has referred to the City Manager a proposal by Councilman Tim Urban that a procedure, allowing tenants to escrow rent until landlords make needed repairs, be set up by the City or through the Courts. Governor Ray, in his State of the State message, has proposed establishment of a State Housing Authority. That proposal died in committee during the last legislative session.

Blacks, Women Increase In Medical Schools

The number of Black students attending medical schools in the United States has nearly quadrupled in the last six years, according to a new report issued by BHRD. However, Black Americans still constituted only 6 percent of all medical students in the Nation in the 1974-75 school year.

Representatives of other minority groups increased during the five-year period but their numbers are negligible. For example, there were nine American Indians enrolled in medical schools in 1968-69, and the number rose only to 97 in 1973-74.

Women did somewhat better, accounting for better than 15 percent of medical school enrollments in the 1973-74 school year. The 7,824 female students enrolled for that term presented a growth of 2½ times the enrollment five years before.

In other health professional schools, women also improved their standing in enrollments. While women still accounted for less than 5 percent of the enrollments in schools of dentistry, osteopathy, and optometry, they made up 14 percent of enrollments in veterinary medicine and 26 percent in schools of pharmacy.

In a preface to the report, readers are cautioned that the figures presented are based upon data which is in some cases incomplete and even conflicting. It points out that intensive efforts are underway in HRA to improve the quality and quantity of data on health resources, and holds out the hope that statistical studies over the next few years specifically concerning women and minority group members in the health field will be much improved. The report, "Minorities and Women in the Health Fields," is available from BHRD.

WORLD

All's not quite on the Jefferson Front — The Jeffersons soon find out moving up in the world doesn't necessarily mean happiness — actually, it's creating quite a bit of tension in the household, as Archie Bunker's former neighbors begin a new and luxurious life as stars of their own comedy series, "THE JEFFERSONS," premiering Saturday, Jan. 18 (8:30-9:00 PM, PT) on CBS-TV. Pictures (l to r): Series stars Isabel Sanford, Sherman Hemsley and Mike Evans as Louise, George and Lionel Jefferson, respectively.

The Tymes Are Back!

The Tymes are Back! The Class of the Classy! After a three year sabbatical from the recording studio, the five gentlemen from North Philadelphia signed an exclusive recording contract with RCA Records, in 1974. Their first release, "You Little Trust Maker," the first rhythm tune ever to be done by the group, was so well received by the public, that in its first week of release, the record sold over 100,000 copies.

Excited about the record, RCA pressed the disc jockey copies of "You Little Trust Maker," on golden vinyl, a first in the company's history.

"The new enthusiasm that greeted this record reminded me of the old fun days of the record industry when there was less emphasis on money and more on the sheer joy of making records and seeing a record happen," says Billy Jackson with a broad grin.

The present Tymes lineup consists of four original members. George Williams, age

34, known as "the black Bing Crosby," and co-author of "So Much In Love," remains the group's lead singer. Al Ceasar Berry, age 32, who retains his throne as the group's lover sings first tenor. Donald Banks, age 33, the quiet one, provides the big earthy bottom — bass, and Norman Burnett, age 32, the group's noted dresser and baritone rounds out the veterans. The newest member, second tenor and lead, is Charles Nixon, "the rookie" age 31.

Once hailed as the "love group" because of the soft, romantic sound, they have preserved their polish and drive of the early sixties. In addition to "So Much In Love," the magic of The Tymes struck in 1964 with "Wonderful, Wonderful," and in 1966 with "Somewhere."

In 1970, they caught the music world by surprise with a dazzling revival of "people," the Barbara Streisand show-piece from "Funny Girl."

Earth, Wind & Fire and Kool & The Gang

Bobby Vinton, Earth, Wind & Fire, Triumvirate and Kool & the Gang guest star on the ABC Television Network's "Wide World: In Concert." FRIDAY, JAN. 17 (11:30 p.m. - 1:00 a.m. EST).

Don E. Branker hosts the concert taped before an audience at the Aquarius Theatre in Hollywood, California.

Vinton's songs include "The Most Beautiful Girl," "Melody of Love," "Mama Don't Allow" and "Mr. Lonely." He will also do a medley of his greatest hits and will be interviewed by Don E. Branker.

Earth, Wind & Fire performs "Mighty, Mighty" and "Kalimba Story." The group's rendition of "Devotion" closes the show.

Triumvirate does "Triangle" and the medley of "Flashback Schooldays."

Kool & the Gang opens its act with "Higher Plane." The group also does "Summer Madness," "Rhyme Tyme People" and "Jungle Boogie."

Theatrical Happenings

The black movie fad seems to have also fallen into a recession. The current list of the "50 Top-Grossing Films" does not include a single film that you could call "black," unless you type "The Klansman" as half-black because of its cast, theme and black producer. It's ranked number five on the list.

There are some "black" movies around. "Boss Nigger" with Fred Williamson is on the scene, written and produced by Williamson and with his buddy, D'Urville Martin. And then there's "Abby," a black version of "The Exorcist" with Carol Speed as Abby, the woman possessed by the Devil and starring William Marshall, one of the best black actors, who lately has been enjoying some peculiar roles considering his enormous talent. And then there's something called "Shoot It: Black, Shoot It: blue," a melodrama about police corruption and black vengeance.

Lena Horne and Cary Grant head the NYC Mayor's new Advisory Council on Motion Pictures and Television will coordinate more films and TV being made in Fun City. Lena's son-in-law, Sidney Lumet is one of two screen directors on the Council, the other being Elia Kazan.

America's best black modern dance company, the Alvin Ailey City Center Dance Theater has recently closed out its third winter season in NYC and other parts of America should soon be enjoying this remarkable repertory company. And one of its best numbers this year is "Portrait of Billie," a beautiful tribute to the late Billie Holiday. Whether danced by Judith Jamison or Sara Yarborough, it's a moving experience.

Women's Lib comes of age with the Warner Bros. film,

"Alice Doesn't Live Here Anymore," the story of a woman facing the start of a new lifestyle. Among the production crew, women enjoyed such positions as script supervisor, art director, hair stylist, wardrobe, film editor and associate producer.

URBAN CAMPUS DRAMA CLUB

The Des Moines Area Community College Urban Campus has a newly formed Drama Club called D.R.E.A.M. Its purpose is to increase an awareness and interest in the arts, especially drama on campus and through out the community. The membership is open to anyone who is interested, not merely to Urban campus students.

Zack Hamlett, Urban Campus Director, is very proud of the group and intends to help them sponsor guest speakers and performers to enrich the cultural growth of the community.

On Thursday, January 23, at 7:30 p.m. D.R.E.A.M. is sponsoring a pantomime show performed by the East High pantomime group "Silent Vibrations." Admission is $1.35. For further information concerning D.R.E.A.M. or the pantomime show contact the Urban Campus at 244-4226.

Education Is Still The Key

A high school diploma used to be a symbol of academic excellence and a passport to stable employment. Today it has less value as a measure of excellence, but it is still the first step towards getting a good job. Black high school graduates are increasing each year, more and more of these students are entering college.

A college degree is truly today's key to a financially stable future. But it serves a more important function; it is the thing most of us will need to have a positive impact on the lives of multitudes of Black people.

Our individual and collective future depends upon people who will make decisions for and about the population as a whole. Since most Black people live in Urban areas, the decision makers will be government officials and environmental planners. Urban engineers (those who plan and organize cities), will be among the powerful. Whole ethnic populations will be subject to the determinations of professionals.

The classified ad section of any Urban newspaper tells a story. A copy of the Sunday edition of San Francisco, Los Angeles, and Chicago newspapers depict the future. Employment advertisements beg for engineers of any kind, while jobs for unskilled persons decrease each week.

If education was once important to the betterment of Black people, today it is important to our survival. A college degree and the resulting career position may make the difference between life and death for huge numbers of our population. Education today is more than important, it is imperative.

By Allen Ashby

When I was talking about the problems of black athletes on various college and high school teams, I got a chance to discuss the subject with a fellow who went to one of our major schools in the state, and he compared things as they are now to how they were when he was in school. In his day, which was not too long ago, there wasn't much of a problem with blacks. Most of them came to school to graduate, and athletics was secondary. Not that the good ones weren't taken care of, but they wanted to fit into the scheme of things. The big problem was then as now, mixed dating. In spite of so called liberalized attitudes, the two races have become more apart than they have been for some time. But, even today most of the most successful coaches don't go in for social rules except not letting the athlete bring dishonor to the team or school, and dishonor can mean just about what a coach wants it to. Well, as the fellow sees it, there have always been a lot of white people whose contact with blacks was nil until they met them in school. J. says our American custom won't let people see each other as people, but as one kind or another. What has happened now, he says is that lots of parents and other alumni get on the various coaches and want them to keep those fellows away from those girls. Well, some coaches try to please everybody. (I thought that would be Bob Cummings' trouble at Iowa, and I still have a wait and see theory on that. And, says J. so many of the coaches won't come right out and say it like it is, but will try to get the message over in a roundabout manner, and thus insult the intelligence of the athletes. When they walk out, they make it easy for people to put the blame on them, rightly or wrong. Sometimes this comes down to coaches who aren't their own men trying to please the sideliners by playing certain people, because there are too many of those fellows out there. Granted you have to have some to win, do you have to have so many?

High School levels.

J. says this gets down to the high school levels in places where there are several blacks. He doesn't think that if there were a school with five black basketball players good enough to start, and play a whole game, that they would be allowed to do it. In fact, he thinks that not too many blacks are wanted in any school around here with the possible exception of Tech. He thinks it would be a great idea for me to interview some of the athletes who are kicked off teams and get their story. I wonder if he is right. These are strictly his observations, and I have put them down as he told me, because he didn't think I would dare repeat him.

My nicke's worth

If I wanted to add my bit to this, I might say that so many of the athletes brought to the colleges without any idea of what they have to do in order to stay in school, and so they really don't know the rules of the setup, and when they are put straight, think they are being had, so they quit. I once got a letter from a friend who teaches school, and he said that it made him sick to see how many pupils are being shoved through school without any learning what ever. They come out of high school not learning to even read or spell, and if they happen to be star athletes, all they have to do is show up, and they pass. He said that was sewing the seeds of a lot of campus trouble among athletes who leave school because they don't get what they thought they were supposed to get. The athletes don't play for the school any more. It is with an eye on a scholarship while they are in high school, and the success of an athlete is measured by the number of people who try to recruit him, for a fellow just doesn't decide to go to X college because Dad or big brother went there, he must sign a contract, and I am not sure he can change his mind, once he signs. And in college it is with an eye on the pros, so the whole thing boils down to what can I get out of it. And this doesn't apply to just blacks, but to any boy of any other race who can play a game pretty well.

Now, Back at the ranch.

I am sure you all know what happened to Iowa's Hawks last week end, and you must have heard about the barnburner and boxing match they had with Drake and Tulsa last Saturday night. Iowa might have a slim chance to finish in the first division if they can regroup after Saturday, Drake could be the spoiler in the Valley race, and that would be something. I had predicted that Lincoln and Hoover would probably split games this year, but I thought they would win on their own floor. Well, now with both games on neutral floor, it is anybody's guess, but I still think they will split.

Iowans Break Phone Usage Records

Iowans again broke telephone usage records in 1974. And a record Northwestern Bell investment in telephone facilities helped the company keep up with the state's communications needs.

Phone users made an average of 6.2 million local calls every day in 1974. That's a boost of nearly 300,000 over 1973. They also placed over 148 million long distance calls, more than a seven per cent gain over 1973.

New construction necessary to provide service totaled $128 million in 1974, a significant increase over 1973's $90 million. Over $700 million in construction is planned for the next five years.

Bell's year-end figures were announced by William A. Stauffer, vice president and chief executive officer for Iowa. Stauffer said that at year's end the company served 1,325,000 phones in 230 communities, a gain of 49,000 phones over 1973.

The company continued its stormproofing program in 1974 by replacing over 20 per cent of the aerial wires in service at the beginning of the year with buried telephone cable. More than 46,000 poles were removed and about 3,000 miles of underground cable were placed. In addition to making service more reliable, Stauffer said, buried cable improves communities' appearance by removing many poles and wires.

The past year also brought the elimination of long distance charges on 292,000 calls between four pairs of Iowa cities. This resulted from expansion of their local calling areas.

At year's end, construction work was nearing completion on Directory Assistance and Service Centers in West Des Moines and Ankeny. Virtually complete and now in use is Bell's new Training Center in Urbandale, a northwest Des Moines suburb. Installations of new call-handling equipment were also made in many of Bell's Iowa locations during the year.

Service improvements in 1974 brought Northwestern Bell's investment in Iowa to $787.5 million. That's about $607 for every telephone the company serves in the state.

On Jan. 1, 1974 the company began collecting $16.5 million in increased rates, subject to refund pending a public hearing and decision by the Iowa State Commerce Commission.

The Commission conducted the first phase of a two-part hearing schedule in May, 1974. Hearings on the company's rate request will resume sometime in 1975.

Iowans are still part of the "mobile society," a final statistic shows. To gain the 49,000 telephones, Northwestern Bell had to install about 230,000 phones.

Vista Celebrates Number 10

Des Moines, Iowa — February 1, 1975 marks the 10th anniversary of VISTA, (Volunteers in Service to America). To celebrate VISTA's anniversary and start off with a successful year of recruitment for both VISTA and Peace Corps volunteers, the Des Moines ACTION staff has set aside January 16 through the 23rd for a major Central Iowa effort.

This year, more than ever before, qualified volunteers are needed for overseas service with the Peace Corps and domestic service with VISTA. Peace Corps currently serves 59 countries with over 7,500 volunteers. VISTA operates in 48 states, utilizing over 4,500 volunteers in 450 projects. According to Ms. Dell Daniel, former VISTA and now Director of Recruitment for Iowa/Nebraska, "The greatest needs still fall in the area of agriculture and skilled trades. We just never seem to get enough farmers, degreed agriculturalists, or building and construction tradesmen." Although agriculture and skilled trades comprise the greatest short-fall area for recruitment, Peace Corps and VISTA continue to need persons with degrees or experience in health, teaching, business, law, architecture, therapy, engineering and over 100 other areas. Anyone above the age of 18, with a degree or well-developed skill, in good health, with no dependants under 18, and a desire to serve, has a good chance of visiting one of 59 overseas countries as a Peace Corps volunteer for 2 years or helping across these United States as a VISTA volunteer.

Any person interested in applying to VISTA or Peace Corps, or simply desiring more information, should call 515-284-4087 in Des Moines or drop by the new Federal Bldg.

Bicentennial Ethnic Racial Council To Meet

Washington, D.C. — Representatives of ethnic and racial groups from more than 200 communities across the country will meet here in late January to discuss participation in the nation's Bicentennial.

The three-day meeting of the National Bicentennial Ethnic Racial Council (BERC) will be held at the Shoreham Americana Hotel January 20-22.

The Council is an independent group which met for the first time last June to develop methods to increase ethnic and racial participation in the commemoration of the nation's 200th anniversary.

The January BERC meeting, an expanded version of the June conference, is sponsored by the American Revolution Bicentennial Administration (ARBA) and convened by the National Center for Urban Ethnic Affairs (NCUEA) and the District of Columbia Bicentennial Commission and Assembly (DCBC/A).

The meeting will be co-chaired by Msgr. Geno Baroni, President of NCUEA and by James O. Gibson, Chairman of DCBC/A.

The June session led to the selection of a steering committee which has met twice since to develop an agenda for the upcoming meeting.

Among the major concerns that surfaced at the earlier session were that the terms "minority" and "melting pot" did not apply to the group. As a whole, the groups represent a national majority, "where diversity and variety of heritage and tradition should be valued and preserved," according to Msgr. Baroni.

Mr. Gibson pointed out: "The emphasis will be on community in its broadest meaning."

He added that BERC's concerns fit under the ARBA umbrella themes of Heritage '76, Festival USA, and Horizons '76. "BERC is addressing heritage as an integral part of education; working for the preservation and further development of ethnic and community arts; and the economic and social revitalization of neighborhoods," he said.

John W. Warner, Administrator of the ARBA, had emphasized ARBA's commitment of the continuation of BERC and its work and expressed the hope of total involvement of all Americans in the Bicentennial commemoration.

Additional information on attendance and participation in the January conference may be obtained by writing to:

Camping Fees To Increase

DES MOINES — The Iowa Conservation Commission today announced that camping fees in state parks are being increased this year. The Commission cited rising costs of maintenance and an effort to relieve competition between the state and private campgrounds as the main reasons. The previous prices depending upon the individual facility will be raised to the following prices.

Modern area; $2.00 + .06 tax to $2.50 including tax, Modern area; $2.50 + .08 tax to $3.00 including tax, Modern area with electricity; $3.00 + .09 tax to $3.50 including tax.

Census Bureau To Take Survey

Local representatives of the Bureau of the Census will conduct a survey of employment in this area during the week of January 20-24, 1975, Rex L. Pullin, Director of the Bureau's regional office in Kansas City, Kansas announced today.

The survey is conducted monthly by the Bureau for the U.S. Department of Labor in a scientifically designed sample of households throughout the entire United States. Employment and unemployment statistics which are based on results of this survey are used to provide a continuing measure of the economic health of the Nation.

Total employment, as measured by the monthly sample survey of households, declined by nearly 800,000 in November to 85.7 million — a level approximating that of a year earlier. Until this decline, employment has been advancing although slowly and unevenly, throughout the year.

Facts supplied by individuals participating in the survey are kept strictly confidential by law and the results are used only to compile statistical totals.
