Biographical Sketch Of Wm. T. Coleman, Jr.

Wm. T. Coleman, Jr.

Coleman, Ford's Nominee For Secretary Of Transportation, Has Outstanding Background

Following the announcement that William T. Coleman, Jr., has been named Secretary of Transportation by President Ford, I called his office in Philadelphia offering congratulations and asked that he send a photo and autobiography for the Bystander. It came too late for publication last week.

This biography shows Mr. Coleman a valuable man. His accomplishments have been so remarkable that the editor felt that it should be published in full to acquaint the public with it. Such a record is an inspiration to those young people who aspire to success in their chosen field.

Iowa Civil Rights Commission

This is the first of a series of five articles the New Iowa Bystander will print concerning the Iowa Civil Rights Commission. It is hoped that these articles will help clarify any questions you may have concerning the function of the commission. If you have any further questions contact the commission by mail or phone at 515/281-8286 or write to 1209 East Court Ave., Des Moines, Iowa 50319.

Joseph Tate was appointed Executive Director of the Iowa Civil Rights Commission November 1, 1973. Mr. Tate came to Iowa from the Kansas Commission on Civil Rights.

In 1965, the Iowa General Assembly passed the Iowa Civil Rights Act and created the Iowa Civil Rights Commission to administer the Act. The legislated purpose of the Act is to eliminate and prevent discrimination.

The original legislation in 1965 provided for the eradication of discrimination on the basis of race, creed, color, religion, and national origin in the jurisdictional areas of employment and public accommodations. In subsequent years, the Iowa General Assembly expanded the jurisdictional areas of the Iowa Civil Rights Act to include housing and credit and expanded the basis upon which a complaint of discrimination could be filed to include sex, disability, and age. Finally, the legislation provided for a commission composed of seven (7) citizens of the state to make policy and a staff to administer and implement policy decisions.

National News Briefs

MILWAUKEE — Rev. Ralph D. Abernathy, president of the Southern Christian Leadership Conference, injected a note of hope to the speculation in an interview taped several weeks ago and telecast Sunday on Channel 4's "The Making Of...A Civil Rights Leader."

"I do not believe that Milwaukee would stoop to such a shameful act" as resorting to violence to stop the bussing of Black students into white neighborhood schools, Abernathy told host Pete Wilson. "For these (lawless Boston bussing foes) are the people who endanger the very future of our nation."

WASHINGTON — The U.S. Department of Justice filed 158 legal actions during 1974, including the first nationwide, industry-wide employment discrimination suits affecting thousands of workers and obtaining nearly $31 million dollars in back pay. Acting Attorney General Laurence H. Silberman reported last week.

ATLANTA — A study by the Southern Regional Council has found that Southern hospitals built with Federal funds are not providing free health care for the poor as required by the Hill Burton Act that provided the construction funds.

To accomplish its legislated objectives, the Iowa Civil Rights Commission has established both regulatory and preventative programs. The Affirmative Action Program and the Educational Staff Development Program are established preventative programs, which the Compliance is an established regulatory program. The Affirmative Action and Educational/Staff Development Division provide technical assistance in their respective areas in the following ways: assistance to individuals, groups and entities who require aid in locating the proper agencies to handle particular problems; assistance to governmental

Civil Rights Struggle Of The 1960's Has Not Failed

Speaking in Atlanta, Georgia at the memorial service commemorating the birth of the late Dr. Martin Luther King, Jr., James L. Farmer, former head of the Congress of Racial Equality, said the "1960's Civil Rights Struggle Failed in Its Purpose". He said there had been no significant change in the quality of life for the masses of blacks pointing out that the right to sit in the front of the street car or eat a hamburger stand has not closed the gap between the income of blacks and whites which had reached 58% so far. He said that the mortality rate among black babies was twice that of the white community.

I do not attempt to dispute Farmer's figures but I do know the 1960 struggle opened doors for blacks never entered before; more opportunity exists than ever before which can be verified by simply looking in one place or another. (This is pretty well true in Des Moines).

He warned blacks that "as jobs decline, affirmative action (hiring programs) will be a thing of the past..."

"Don't expect that, because you're black or because you're a woman or because you've got an Afro, you're going to walk up front because of affirmative action."

"Those days are over. From now on, you're going to have to compete."

Undoubtedly, this is true but more educational opportunities are available to them and there is little excuse to do otherwise.

I have complained that the apprenticeship programs added few Negroes to the higher paying jobs in the labor market. Many took this apprenticeship training only to be rebuffed by some unions and they went no further. On the other hand, some failed to take advantage of the opportunity available in these programs and later used racial discrimination as an excuse for their failure. This must not happen if the percentage of income Mr. Farmer speaks about closes faster because these are the jobs where more people work than in the higher echelon positions.

Several features have slowed down the movement: (1) the radical movement frightened away many people who heretofore had given open and substantial support to the civil rights movement feeling that they might be subjected to some of the penalties other people have suffered; (2) too many blacks carry the "chip on the shoulder" blaming white people today for what their parents did 100 years ago; (3) there are white people who fear trained Negroes will compete with them for positions; (4) there are those of both races who simply oppose any cooperation between the races and often make it difficult for either side to be cooperate in an effort to improve racial understanding.

I know that there are still bars in some places; I also know that some blacks have reached the top in their endeavors in the professions, politics, the stage, athletics, art and in labor. There will be more of these if they will follow Farmer's admonition that you have to compete if you expect to advance in these days.

President Ford's Program

President Ford's program to cure the recession, among other things, would provide jobs for those who have been laid off because employers have been forced to cut back operation for lack of business.

Apparently these people will be working in public service jobs where employment will be in tax supported work.

This is just where they are not needed as most public offices have entirely too many employees already. Often they are in each other's way and services are poor at that.

It seems to me that looking around in most communities (Des Moines is not an exception) a lot of old houses need to be cleaned up or torn down, old car dumps need to be cleaned out, streets and alleys need cleaning, parks and recreation facilities could stand a lot of work which would make them used more and certainly more presentable. This is work where many unemployed can do a better job for the community.

The person who needs work can't choose his job when, in the long run, he can't dictate where he earns the money.

by Sen. Edward M. Kennedy

Each year since his death, Dr. Martin Luther King's birthday has been a day of reflection and reassessment. His life has continued to inspire people of goodwill in the campaign for justice and equity.

Dr. King struggled to end suffering and oppression. He encouraged all people to abandon their feelings of hatred and bigotry. For, he knew, that with love and hope Americans can surely produce a land where equality and racial justice may be more than just a dream.

Yet, even today, racism in America is still our most shameful and crippling national disease. Relations between black and white Americans have still not improved because too many people have abandoned the idealism Dr. King pursued. When Dr. King died, the people he led were told they would not be abandoned. And the peace he sought, was the premier goal for men and for governments around the world.

Let us all pledge today to fulfill the prayers and hopes that he had for our great land. We should continue the struggles and the campaigns that he launched in the stride toward freedom for all people.

During his life Dr. King sought to eliminate the crises that divide us. He struggled to ensure that future generations of Americans would not suffer the oppression endured by too many generations of black Americans.

And so, it is my hope that Americans will gain inspiration by the model exemplified by this great man. He showed the world that the witness of a single man can move those in authority to act against injustice in our society. He lived in an era when Americans were challenged by her leaders to improve society and to produce valuable change.

As we in the Congress begin anew to grapple with the serious problems facing this country, let us gain strength and guidance and wisdom from the hopes that his leadership inspired. Let us embrace the legacy of that exceptional American and continue the work that was interrupted when his life was ended.

Statement by the Executive Board of the Des Moines Education Association.

The Executive Board recognizes that the Des Moines School Board has the final authority in desegregating the schools in the district and to abolish policies and practices which promote or hinder the development of democratic human relations among different racial, religious, nationality, and socio-economic groups in our schools.

There may be some question about how the Steering Committee of the City-Wide Advisory Committee for Intercultural Affairs held its final executive sessions and why it released its final recommendations ahead of the anticipated March deadline. Our Board feels that those questions are not important and knows that the Steering Committee had good reasons for resolving their assignment as they did.

Resolution Unanimously Passed

The Executive Board, at its special meeting Thursday, January 16, unanimously passed this resolution:

"The manner in which the final recommendations of the Steering Committee were made public should not constitute prejudgment of subsequent actions which the School Board must take.

"The Executive Board commends the Steering Committee and the sub-committees for the decisions they made in producing the recommendations developed for the School Board and thanks them especially for the considerable time and effort put into their report.

"The Executive Board strongly urges the School Board to study the report carefully, holding further public hearings, but above all, study the recommendations in light of the knowledge it sheds and desegregate its schools."

Desegregation Emotional Issue

Desegregation in Des Moines is an emotional issue!

The pressure our community has exerted on the Steering Committee resulting in the premature release of their final recommendations illustrates well how emotional the desegregation issue is. The Executive Board continues to urge dispassionate study and evaluation of these final recommendations.

The Des Moines-Polk County Health Department is coordinating a free Carbon Monoxide Testing Program for all Polk County residents. Results from checking 800 open flame burning appliances during the previous two winters showed that dangerous levels of carbon monoxide were being emitted by 36% of the gas kitchen ovens, 16% of the space heaters, 3% of the hot water heaters and 3% of the furnaces.

Integration is a total community problem:

...Transportation as a means of effecting integration is an issue our community needs to resolve.

...Real estate as an influence upon integration is an issue our community needs to recognize.

...Metropolitan integration is an issue that needs to be explored.

...Physical boundaries of rivers and freeways as integration hurdles need to be explored also.

...Over-crowded schools and under-utilized schools in our district need to be studied as they relate to segregation.

...Tracking and testing need to be studied for their impact upon segregating students in our schools.

These are only some off the issues all of us face. They are difficult to resolve, and most of us have sensitivities that preclude acting calmly. But act calmly, we must.

Finally, every citizen and student in this District — and of course, all others — should recognize that the report submitted to the School Board is the outgrowth of a frank and realistic analysis of the Des Moines community background and its educational practices. The report is addressed to all of us who care deeply about the cause of democracy in action, and the recommendations should be priority considerations for school administrators, teachers and the School Board.

The schools play a vital role in eliminating or fostering discrimination and prejudice.

Cook's Nook

Mrs. Emma Williamson

"I began cooking when I was twelve years old, we didn't have all the modern conveniences in the kitchen then as we do today. It's a lot easier," says Emma Williamson. A native of Des Moines, Mrs. Williamson, attended Sabin elementary, Warren Harding Jr. High and North High schools.

Lots of changes

Mrs. Williamson has really seen the city of Des Moines grow. In recalling some of the things which were happening during her youth she says, "I can remember going to the theatre and only being able to sit in the balcony if there was a second floor. And if there wasn't a second floor there was a space reserved in the back for black's to sit. You, like my daughter find that hard to believe."

She says that blacks have good jobs now and are in responsible positions. "Times have changed for blacks. It used to be a matter of survival," Mrs. Williamson said, "with a roof over your head and 3 meals a day. As time has gone along things have become easier and survival in that sense is no longer the issue."

Family life

Mrs. Williamson and her husband Chester, a retired employer of Firestone, are members of Corinthian Baptist Church. Along with her cooking she also likes to sew and does a lot of that for her grand children Susan and James Sloan. The Williamsons have one daughter Vesta Sloan who is married to James Sloan. Mrs. Williamson is an active member of the Eastern Star, Ammoran and CWA.

Her is one of her favorite recipes which is some 30 years old. It was handed down from her mother-in-law.

Social Security Administration

The IOWA BYSTANDER has made arrangements with the Des Moines office of the Social Security Administration to answer questions for our readers about social security and Medicare. Send your question to Social Security Representative, Room 293 Federal Building, 210 Walnut Street, Des Moines, Iowa 50309.

QUESTION: I plan to apply for supplemental security income payments. What kind of papers will I need to take to the social security office?

ANSWER: It will save time if you take along material which show your income and value of property and other resources.

such as your checkbooks, savings account books, stocks and bonds, life insurance policies, auto registration cards, latest real estate tax statements, last year's income tax returns and W-2 forms, evidence of all other income, and your social security card.

QUESTION: I thought the annual wage reports on my farm employees were due by January 31, but my neighbor said the due date is February 10. Which is the correct date?

ANSWER: The 1974 wage report and social security contributions for your farm workers should be sent to the Internal Revenue Service by January 31. However, if you deposited your employees' social security contributions in a bank or other approved depository in 1974, you have until February 10 to send in your report.

QUESTION: Back in October, I hired a maid. I pay her $10 a week. Do I have to report her wages for social security purposes?

ANSWER: Yes. People who pay a household worker $50 or more in cash wages in any 3-month calendar quarter must send a report of the wages, along with the social security contributions, to the Internal Revenue Service within one month after the end of the quarter. Wage reports for the last quarter of 1974 are due by January 31.

QUESTION: I was eligible for Medicare medical insurance last March, but decided not to take it. Now I would like to have it. Can I still sign up for it?

ANSWER: Yes. People who declined Medicare medical insurance protection when they were first eligible can enroll now through March 31. For information about how to sign up, call or write any social security office.

UNION BAPTIST CHURCH NEWS

Pastor Thomas Sermon last Sunday pointed out the Dangers of being over weight and under weight spiritually. He stated we are digging our graves with our teeth, how much do you weigh spiritually? How do you weigh God's scale? If you can't love it's a good sign you are under weight, if you can't forgive you are under weight, if you are not stronger today than you were when you first joined church you are under weight. His sermon subject was "How much do you weigh?"

Sister Lillie Mae Seigh encouraged the morning worshippers to utilize the services of our older members. This was motivated by the loss of Mother Mae Subberfield, a faithful member at Union and the mother of the senior usher board for many years.

Mike Hogan

Hogan Served 26 Years With The Internal Revenue Service

With some hesitation, Malcolm C. Hogan (Mike) consented for the New Iowa Bystander to present this article.

Mr. Hogan was employed with the U.S. Treasury Department for approximately twenty-six years. He was assistant group supervisor with the audit division for approximately ten years, during this period he was assistant to the selection officer who selects returns to be audited in the State of Iowa. He estimates that he selected over twenty thousand returns after reviewing more than one quarter million returns during the selection process. This process determines the faulty filing of returns by tax preparers.

After retiring from the Internal Revenue Service, Mike stated that he has not advertised his services to help others in the preparation of returns because this is not ethical and precludes him from representing them if some error in tax return is made during the filing period.

He emphasized that the average taxpayer needs guidance in the final preparation of their returns. He would estimate that he has helped more than twenty five thousand persons in the filing of their returns while on taxpayer's assistance with Internal Revenue Service. The review of the individual's filing is important since the tax law changes each year and this complicated law requires the preparer to attend the technical change sessions provided by the Internal Revenue Service, the Bar Association or the Accounting Association School.

Mike believes in continuing education in his field. He attended Drake University during the last two years majoring in Accounting and Tax Accounting. He has only six semester hours left to secure a degree in the field of psychology at Drake University which he will complete during the summer session. He says he must have a second field of endeavor if he fails to service taxes in the future.

Mike is involved with many organizations and businesses in the city of Des Moines. He is president of Morris and Associates at 221 Locust and owns the Hogan's Accounting Service. He is the owner and manager of the J.J. Toga Club at 7101 SW 9th and makes contributions to the business seminars in the State of Iowa. He plans to take the CPA examination during the spring. He has worked two years with CPA firms involved in accounting.

Mr. Hogan and his wife, Tony, live at 4302 Wakonda Parkway. They have three children; Tina, Marca and Susy. Marca is the wife of John Johnson, superstar with the Portland Trailblazers NBA Basketball team; Susy is married to Robert Wright, Jr. they reside in East Moline, Illinois and is employed with John Deere. Wright is an executive with IBM in that area. Tina is employed by Iowa Power and Light in Des Moines.

Mr. Hogan is a 4th Degree Knights of Columbus, former president of the Des Moines Branch of the NAACP, member of Post 126 American Legion and member of many other organizations.

You may contact Mike to analyze your tax planning for the current year as his background definitely shows that he is prepared to service your needs. He believes that the poor and minority people pay more than their fair share of tax based on current laws because tax services that advertise are not qualified, in many instances, to provide your need in the technical areas and representation before tax courts.

Mr. Hogan has present seminars in tax law with the Des Moines Public Library and is available to arrange discussions of recent tax law changes for any group or organization. He has trained officers for tax audit with the Internal Revenue Service and served as a Revenue Officer in the collection and enforcement division. He serves by appointment only.

Tested Tips To Help You

Q. My kids wear blue jeans almost everywhere. Their new jeans are stiff and even when the jeans soften up with a little wear, washing makes them uncomfortable again. Is there any way I can wash jeans and make them soft like they get after lots of wear?

A. To add softness to jeans and other denim items, the manufacturers of Coconut NuSoft fabric softener recommend adding 1 to 2 capfuls fabric softener to the final rinse water in the washing machine. Your kids should be happy with the softened, more lived in feel on their jeans right from the first washing.

For Black Students:

Write-In Candidate Wins Roosevelt Student Council Presidency

Jan Archer

Senior Jan Archer has been elected to serve as President of Student Council this semester. When he first decided to run, he wasn't sure if he had the necessary student support, which is needed when running for an office. Many people talked to Jan, and told him they would support him.

Any student who attends Roosevelt is eligible to run for an office, of Student Council. A misunderstanding caused Jan to withdraw his name from the Presidential office. At this point many people encouraged students to vote for Jan as a write-in candidate.

During the Student Council Assembly for candidates, one student, who was running for an office, urged all students to vote for him and Jan. Applause continued, which proved many students felt the same as the student who supported Jan.

Following the assembly, the final election was held during homeroom. It was announced during all sixth period classes, that write-in candidate Jan Archer, had become the new President of Student Council. He had received 54 per cent of the votes.

Jan remarked, "I was surprised by how much I won. I hope this semester will be a good one, student support is needed, no council can run without student support."

Jan has a very good reason for wanting to serve. He wants to see a change in the school. At one time, Roosevelt had been a very progressive school.

Previous Student Councils have presented the students of Roosevelt with open campus, open lunch, a Student Center, a Snack Bar, and many other privileges. Not enough has been accomplished within a three year period of time Jan wants to see the Student Rights Bill completed during this term. Jan is the first write-in candidate at Roosevelt, to ever win the Presidency.

Rangel, Black Caucus Responds To State Of The Union Message

Congressman Charles B. Rangel (D-N.Y.) announced today that the Congressional Black Caucus, in a letter sent January 16th to President Ford, has offered a 13 point program to improve the American economy.

Included in the program is the creation of 1,000,000 public service jobs, cuts in the military budget, an expansion of Federal housing projects, and the vigorous enforcement of anti-trust laws.

Rangel, Chairman of the Congressional Black Caucus and a member of the House Ways and Means Committee, said, "I, and many of my colleagues agree with the President that 'the State of the Union is not good.'"

"However, we take exception to the way in which he seeks to improve that state," said Rangel.

Quoting from the text of the Black Caucus letter, which was signed by all 17 Black members of Congress, Rangel said, "We are concerned that you neglected some of the most critical possible actions that should be taken to begin a substantive, long-range economic turn-around, and to measurably improve conditions for millions of low and moderate income families and individuals."

Other Black Caucus proposals included:

- Closing tax loopholes which aid wealthy individuals and corporations.
- Increasing unemployment benefits
- Reducing interest rates
- Establishing meaningful price controls
- Acceleration food stamp outreach efforts
- Adopting welfare reforms.
- Offering relief for low-income and non-taxpayers consumers
- Beginning actions to compel energy industries to increase productive expansion.

-Reevaluating energy policies regarding foreign governments, including African nations.

"The Congressional Black Caucus stands ready to work with the President in order to solve the desperately urgent problems before us," said Rangel.

"We seek no political gain, rather, we seek to unite our hearts and minds with those who care deeply about improving the quality of life for all Americans," Rangel declared.

Mellon Foundation Gives Wilberforce $100,000

The Richard King Mellon Foundation has made a grant of $100,000 to Wilberforce University, Wilberforce, Ohio. President Rembert E. Stokes announced that the grant would be used to help construction of the Learning Resources Center on the New Wilberforce Campus, which will begin this spring.

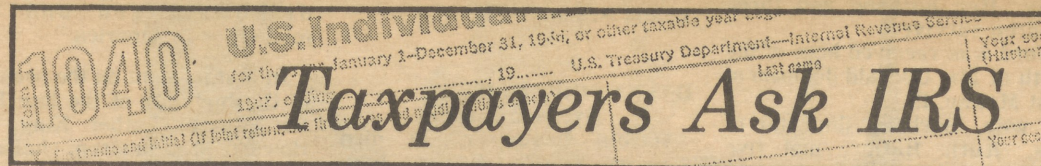

Wilberforce University is currently in the process of raising funds to build its new campus which will replace the old one, extensively damaged by the severe tornado of April 3, 1974.

Q. Is it true that the IRS will figure my tax for me?

Yes, but you must meet certain qualifications. On Form 1040, your income must be $20,000 or less on line 15 and be made up only of wages or salaries, and tips, dividends, interest, pensions and annuities. In addition, you must choose the standard deduction and file by the due date. Then the IRS will figure your tax for you. If you file Form 1040A, you may have the IRS compute your tax regardless of the amount of your income. The instructions for both forms explain what lines to fill out so the IRS can determine your tax from the proper tax table. You will then receive a refund for any overpayment or a notification of the amount of tax due.

Q. When will I get my refund?

A. The IRS makes a special effort to send refunds back to taxpayers as quickly as possible. This normally takes from three to five weeks after the return is filed. Several factors can delay a refund, but you can avoid some of them. For example, be sure all the arithmetic on your return is correct, and make certain your Social Security number and your spouse's are right and that they are written in appropriate order in the blocks provided. Place the peel-off pre-addressed label from the forms package mailed to you on your return. Its use will speed the processing of your return. Finally, remember that the IRS cannot send you your refund unless you sign your return.

Q. How do I report my dividend and interest income for 1974?

A. Schedule B, Dividend and Interest Income, has been reinstated for those who have such income to report in detail. If you have $400 or less of dividend or interest income, you will not have to list it on Schedule B, but only include the totals on lines 10a, 10b and 10c of Form 1040.

Q. How can I correct the information on my W-2 Wage and Tax Statement for 1974?

A. If you receive an erroneous Form W-2, you should ask your employer to issue a new W-2 to you clearly marked "corrected copy." You should then file Copy B of the corrected statement with your Federal tax return.

Amanda Anders, 58, of 1636-26th Avenue, Moline, Illinois, died January 13, at Moline Lutheran Hospital.

She had become ill that morning at her job as manpower representative for the Illinois State Employment Service. In her 24 years of service with the state employment agency, she took every opportunity to help her people, finding them jobs and encouraging them to develop their best qualities. Her appreciation and love for her many friends was returned warmly. Her home, which she designed herself, was a house of hospitality for hundreds of people over the years.

She had been church organist for Bethel A.M.E. Church, Davenport, and previously for St. Paul A.M.E. Church, Moline. Her creative talents were put to use in designing ceramic tile art objects and oil painting. She also enjoyed gardening, fishing, reading, playing contract bridge, gourmet cooking and entertaining. Neighborhood children were constantly in and out of her home, offering to run errands for a tip, but in fact there for the love and support Amanda gave freely to all she came in contact with.

Amanda McKee was born September 12, 1916, in Frankfort, Kentucky, one of six children of the late Theodore and Julia Dent McKee. She received her B.S. degree from Kentucky State College and her masters degree from Cornell University, Ithaca, New York. She taught at Arkansas State College, Pine Bluff, Arkansas. She also conducted a radio program out of Lexington, Kentucky. She performed at Small's Paradise, Harlem, New York. During World War II, she was employed at Picatinny Arsenal, New Jersey.

Amanda was employed by the American Red Cross Special Services in Southeast Asia, New Guinea, and Europe after the war. She met James Anders in Germany and after their marriage in Giles, Ohio, in 1951, they settled in Moline, his hometown.

She had recently accepted appointment to the board of directors of Project Now, Rock Island County Community Action Program.

Amanda was crushed by the deaths of her husband, James, in November, 1974 and her brother Leon McKee in December, 1974. She is survived by three brothers, Theodore, Thomas, and Murray McKee of Jamaica, Long Island, New York.

Amanda was a member of Class 4, Bethel A.M.E., Cecile Cooper, Class Leader.

Services were held January 16 at United Methodist Church, Moline, with Rev. Esau Williams of St. Paul's Church and Rev. Alexander Wright of Bethel Church officiating. Burial was in National Cemetery, Rock Island Arsenal.

Blacks and Jews

NEW YORK, — The American Jewish Congress today called for "a great coalition of commitment" among Blacks and Jews to demand solutions to "the problems of recession and inflation which hurt every American but none more severely than the poor, the disadvantaged and the minorities in America."

In a statement on the occasion of the birthday of the late Rev. Dr. Martin Luther King, Jr., Howard M. Squadron, chairman of the national Governing Council of the Congress, said the Jewish organization would "pledge anew its dedication to Dr. King's goal — full equality in a free society, with legal and economic justice for all."

The full text of his statement follows:

"Martin Luther King Day of 1975 finds the nation disappointingly short of the goal of equality which Dr. King held up to the American people and did so much to achieve."

"It finds the nation facing a severe, and potentially destructive, economic crisis that could undo much of the progress that has been made toward equality and intergroup harmony."

"The American Jewish Congress takes the occasion of Martin Luther King Day to pledge anew its dedication to Dr. King's goal — full equality in a free society, with legal and economic justice for all."

"At the same time, we call on Black and Jewish organizations to join hands in a great coalition of commitment that will enable us to take strength from one another in confronting the tasks ahead."

"Together we must demand a program of full employment, housing construction, mass transit and health services as the answer to the problems of recession and inflation which hurt every American but none more severely than the poor, the disadvantaged and the minorities in America."

"May the memory of Dr. Martin Luther King inspire us to follow the path set for each of us to pursue justice and love of our fellowman."

Sheet Metal Worker Apprentice

MARIO ROCHA

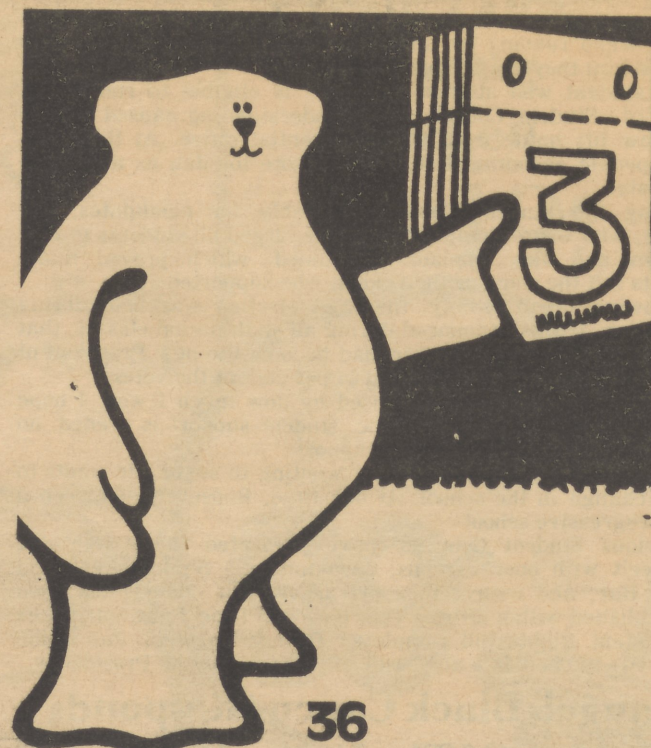

Mario first made application to the Des Moines Area Apprenticeship Outreach Program in June of 1972 for summer employment. He stated at that time that he was taking sheet metal work at Tech High School and would like to apply for that trade when he graduated in June of 1973.

Mario was notified of the orientation classes being held to prepare applicants for entrance into the building trades apprenticeship programs and he attended all the classes in the spring of 1973. In July of 1973 Mario applied for the sheet metal workers apprenticeship program and after submitting the necessary documents and being interviewed by the Joint Apprenticeship Committee he was accepted into their program.

In addition to his on the job training for Backman Sheet Metal Works, 1188 Sixth Avenue, Des Moines, Iowa, he must participate in related training classroom work each week. This combination of O.J.T. and classroom training will enable him to become a competent craftsman upon completion of his four year apprenticeship. At this time he is working on the new stadium and continued education building at Ames, Iowa.

Mario, who was married December 1, 1973 and his wife Denise live at 4278 N.W. 11th Street Court. They attend Sacred Heart Church in West Des Moines. He is continuing a family tradition — his late father, George Rocha, was also a member of Sheet Metal Workers Local No. 45 and his uncle, John T. Rocha, is a member of Plumbers and Steamfitters Local No. 33.

A Step In The Right Direction ...the Jeffersons Have Left

THE JEFFERSONS

Louise, George and Lionel Jefferson have left "Bunkerville" for mid-town New York and their own series "The Jeffersons," which premiered Saturday, Jan. 18.

Inspired by viewers' reactions to the Bunker's neighbors on the top-rated "All In The Family", the new contemporary comedy series stars Isabel Sanford, Sherman Hemsley and Mike Evans as Louise, George and Lionel Jefferson, respectively. Also featured in the new comedy are Roxie Roker and Franklin Cover as the Jeffersons' new neighbors, and George's nemeses, Helen and Tom Willis; Paul Benedict as another new neighbor, Englishman Harry Bentley; Belinda Tolbert as Lionel's fiancée, Jenny Willis, and Zara Cully as Mother Jefferson.

With George Jefferson's cleaning business booming, he insists his family leave the "plain folks" and move up to the east side with the "fancy folks." The Jefferson family has quit Queens and the Bunkers on "All In The Family".

George hopes relocation and his newly acquired wealth will mean the end of his problems in general and his troubles with neighbors in specific. But life in a luxurious Manhattan highrise holds some unexpected pitfalls for the Jeffersons, including Lionel's struggle to convince his father that his impending marriage into a racially-mixed family is cause for celebration, not disappointment.

In the premiere episode, the Jeffersons' new affluence is creating marital mayhem between Louise and George especially when George insists Louise hire a maid to take care of their new luxury apartment. Not only did Louise reject the idea of having a maid, she's also upset by George's snobbish reasons for wanting one.

Don Nicholl, Michael Ross and Bernie West are the producers of "The Jeffersons." Jack Shea is the director. Nicholl, Ross and West also serve as script supervisors with Lloyd Turner and Gordon Mitchell as story editors. The premiere episode was written by Nicholl, Ross and West. "The Jeffersons", developed by Norman Lear, is a T.A.T. Communications Company production in association with NRW Productions.

"Stomp and Buck Dance"

The Crusaders

ABC/Blue Thumb recording artists The Crusaders have released the premiere single from their LP "Southern Comfort," entitled "Stomp And Buck Dance."

The LP, which has already shot to a top position on the industry trade charts, is expected to move even higher with the release of the single.

The Crusaders have been together for a lengthy twenty-five years, making them one of the few groups in recording history with such permanence. Some years ago the group dropped the prefix Jazz from their name because they felt that it restricted their music and the strict classification of jazz lessened their acceptance.

With the release of "Stomp And Buck Dance," The Crusaders' "crusade" is well on its way.

By Allen Ashby

So the football season has finally dragged off for a few months, and now we have a basketball season and a wrestling bag on us before we go into indoor track on a big scale. Perhaps the most welcome thing I saw about the past gridiron year was the fact that some of the players from the black schools were included on the selections for all star teams.

You have to credit the pros for that. When the NFL was challenged by first the American and then the WFL leagues, they had to begin to beat the timbers for talent. Now, there have always been those great big fast backs in the black schools as well as those big linemen. But folks just wouldn't believe that they were real. It took black school football a long time to get recognized, and just a few of the players got a chance to show their wares. With all the competition for players, scouts began to look under every rock and in every cornfield for prospective players. So they discovered the black school players, and it was just a matter of time before the college poll pickers began to know they were there also. I recall way back when the subject of all star football players playing the pros came up, the black schools wanted such a game too. They finally got one with the New York Giants. But the players were selected. I don't think not so much on ability as who they knew. Anyhow, there were entirely too many one hundred sixty and seventy pound linemen in the key positions, and the Giants literally ran them off the field. They cut the quarters, the halves, the game, and still the score was too big to tabulate. Some of our black sportswriters said this had set the football back twenty years, but one fellow said that now the black schools knew what they had to do if they wanted to compete with even the small white schools. So they went out and did it, by getting bigger and faster men, and today you can see them on just about every professional roster in both leagues. People who can't find the ghetto in their home town can tell you where schools like Grambling, Florida A&M, Morgan State, Alcorn, Southern and the likes are.

Basketball

Black school basketball was recognized before football was even given a chance. Perhaps this was because so many of the major conferences wouldn't let blacks play, and a lot of them went to schools where they could play the game. So, long before anybody realized it, black college basketball teams were on a par with many of the other college teams. But they had a devil of a time getting games with anybody so they could prove it. One of my biggest kicks was being in a crowd at a professional basketball game and hearing one of the players introduced and his school given as Tennessee State. People around me wanted to know where that school was, and I had a lot of fun telling them. Then they got to asking about other black schools, and one fellow let it be known that this fellow knows a lot about those er, colored schools. But now that is all behind us, and you can see the names of schools like Jackson State, Alcorn and maybe State pretty well up in the small college polls.

Now, back home.

I don't know when Iowa U will get it all together if they ever do. Iowa State keeps everyone on the edge of their seat, even if they do lose, and Drake just can't seem to get the ball to fall for them at the right time. But the Bulldogs are my pick to surprise some rated ball club yet, and maybe Iowa State will do it too. Iowa U. I don't know. Here at home, Lincoln is on top of the heap. They set down North last week, but not before Bruce Smith got his points. That Tech team keeps pecking along, and wins a few, loses a few, but they are in there all the way. East might finally be getting a ball club together, and Roosevelt needs some help that they probably won't get this year.

Speedy Tax Refund

Des Moines — Taxpayers entitled to a federal income tax refund this year will receive their refund check sooner if they attach their pre-addressed label on the return they file, the IRS said today.

"If returns are otherwise error free and all necessary documents are attached," James T. Rideoutte, IRS District Director for Iowa, said, "these labels speed processing and refund checks can be mailed out without delay."

The labels, which are provided in the forms packages mailed to taxpayers at the beginning of each year, contain the taxpayer's name, address, and social security number.

Rideoutte said that, if the name or address on the label is incorrect, taxpayers should lightly strike over the error and correct it. If the social security number on the label is wrong, taxpayers should write their correct number on the return.

Those taking part in the program were: Patricia Pigott, Greta Brown, Robert Mannheimer, Lynn K. Vorbrich, and Elizabeth S. Turner, all of Des Moines, and Edith Mowry of Ankeny.

Muhammad Ali To

MUHAMMAD ALI

KINGSTON, Jamaica.—Muhammad Ali, heavyweight boxing champion of the world, is going to buy a house in Jamaica, where he will spend a few months of every year. Prime Minister Michael Manley is assisting him in finding a suitable property, Ali said.

The champion made the disclosure after being presented with the keys of the city to Kingston by the Mayor, Councillor Ralph Brown, at a Muslim rally held at Kingston's National Stadium, and attended by more than 20,000 fans. Ali was accompanied in Jamaica by his wife Belinda, his daughter and son and a group of U.S. Muslim leaders.

Prime Minister Manley welcomed Ali with these words, "We see you as a symbol of courage—a man who has climbed the mountain top and stretched out a helping hand to the suffering people of this earth. . . . You are welcome because you have been rightly described as one of the greatest athletes of this century. You are welcome because of your intellectualism, but most of all you are welcome, my brother, because you are a man of righteousness."

The citation, read by Kingston's Town Clerk, Mr. Basil Daniels, said Ali, as a young man, had set an admirable example to the youth of today of strength of character in moral and social issues and had shown an ability to face up the adversity with unswerving courage.

NEW BOOK HIGHLIGHTS

Pioneers Of Black Sport

In PIONEERS OF BLACK SPORT, to be published by Dodd, Mead on February 10, Ocania Chalk pays tribute to the first black athletes to destroy the race barriers of professional baseball, basketball, boxing, and football. The activities of those athletes, most of whom played on all-black teams, claims Mr. Chalk, have been obscured by the fact that, at the outset, the professional ranks of major sports were dominated by whites.

Mr. Chalk presents the little-known, the near-great, and the occasionally great black "pioneers" in his book. Included among them are Moses and Weldy Walker, the first known blacks to appear on the roster of a major league baseball team, "Goose" Tatum of the Chicago-based Harlem Globetrotters, who developed the art of basketball comedy to an elevated plane, Jack Johnson, the heavyweight who beat James J. Jeffries in the "Fight of the Century," and Henry McDonald, the first black professional football player.

PIONEERS OF BLACK SPORT is thoroughly researched and chronicles fully the history of these early black athletes. It is profusely illustrated with photographs, many of which have never before been reproduced in a book.

Ocania Chalk has had a lifelong interest in sports and researching the history of blacks in athletics. He has been a reporter for the Washington Evening News and lives in Washington, D.C., where he works for U.S. Labor publications in the Bureau of Labor Statistics.
