Executives To Air Employment

On Thursday, February 27, 1975, the Iowa Civil Rights Commission and Drake University will convene a one-day Governor's Conference entitled Conceptual Variables in Affirmative Action.

The Affirmative Action Division of the Iowa Civil Rights Commission was set up as a result of Executive Order No. 15, issued by the Hon. Robert D. Ray on April 2, 1973. The Order is also referred to as The Code of Fair Employment Practices. This Order is congruent with the Chapter 601A of the Iowa Code (1973) in that the Iowa Civil Rights Commission has been delegated the authority and responsibility for its implementation.

The Conference has been designed to bring together representatives of top management and academic humanists for the purpose of exploring the various issues related to the impact of disparities in income earning opportunities in Iowa. It is hoped that the best methods for resolving the problems related to these issues will be determined; and that a broader understanding of the many attempts to equalize employment opportunities in

VIEWS and REVIEWS by James B. Morris

Ill Conceived Legislation Should Be Defeated

When legislators are grappling with legislation based on sentiment rather than reason and practical benefits, they fall into passing unreasonable illegal and unenforceable laws.

This is well illustrated in the revised Iowa Criminal Code which provides a "No Knock Provision" which would permit a police officer to enter a residence without knocking or announcing his presence in order to arrest a particular person. Congress once passed but repealed such a law.

Decisions of the United States Supreme Court, in recent years, have required arresting officers to accord greater respect for the civil rights of a person accused of crime. And while many of these safeguards have been long overdue, some have argued that the court has tied the hands of officers in their efforts to track down and secure convictions of many persons who otherwise may not have been convicted.

It often happens that when the legislative pendulum swings in one direction opponents come along and swing too far the other way.

Undoubtedly legislators are upset about why so many criminals go unpunished. Few crimes have gone unsolved but conviction and punishment of offenders is another thing. Speaking with personal knowledge of how crime has operated in Des Moines, most of the offenders have been brought to justice and it has been done, in most cases, without the entry of the homes of people without a warrant.

On the other hand I have noticed how some unscrupulous officers, operate in low income areas of both white and Negroes. There have been instances where unscrupulous officers have victimized these people by the use of the very thing that this no knock legislation provides for.

In recent years, policemen have come in disrepute springing from protests of the 1960s. All of the charges against officers are not justified, but on the other hand, like any other group, there are some rotten apples in the barrel.

No doubt, if such a law is passed lawsuits against the violation of civil rights will thrive. Unfortunately, the plaintiffs will be those who have little of this world's goods - to pay lawyers and court costs while the defendants will be represented by county and federal legal assistance with unlimited funds to make it almost impossible to pursue the case to a decent conclusion. Legal aid programs are so set up that they are not permitted to sue for damages in such cases all of which makes the law even more ridiculous.

Complain About Taxes At Budget Hearing

Polk County officials announced that taxes next year would rise considerably and this in spite of revenue sharing which is expected to pay some of the operations.

During the last few months the Board of Supervisors has created one agency after another many of which could well be handled by government units now in operation.

A recent proposal is to furnish special counsel to represent juveniles in their brush with the law is an example. Most district judges are opposed to the move. It has been my experience with the juvenile court that cases are fully investigated by competent juvenile court workers, considered two or three times in the presence of and in conjunction with their attorneys and come up with the best decision to better the interest of the youngsters.

Considerable complaint has been lodged by investigating federal officials that local officers have abused revenue sharing by using the funds for things which the local government should provide in the first place. The idea of revenue sharing is not to relieve the local government of their responsibility to pay for ordinary services but help reduce the heavy burden on the taxpayers.

Few people complain about budgets until the time comes to pay taxes. The Polk County Board of Supervisors should be held down in their reckless expenditure of the taxpayers' money.

Cannot Last Even With Aid

President Ford has asked Congress to provide 300 million dollars in economic and military aid for Cambodia. He has stated that without aid, the Communists will overrun the country and possibly annex it. Secretary of State Kissinger has expressed similar views further stating that if we fail in this instance our standing in the world will be damaged.

When America left Viet Nam in 1972 it was thought that with a small amount of assistance these people would be able to stand on their own feet. Similar conclusion was drawn with respect to Cambodia but it did not turn out that way.

We sympathize with the people of Cambodia but there seems little chance that even with the aid President Ford has suggested they will not be able to resist the raiders. In fact, it seems to me that complete collapse is evident and maybe it is just as well happen now than later on. If aid to these people will keep the reputation of America high maybe this has some merit but the cause is lost.

IOWA DEPARTMENT OF ENVIRONMENTAL QUALITY

DES MOINES — The Land Quality Management Division of the Iowa Department of Environmental Quality (DEQ) will be conducting an information seminar to acquaint industries in the Des Moines area with the DEQ policy toward disposal of hazardous materials. The seminar is scheduled for Wednesday, Feb. 26, 2-4 p.m. at Chamber of Commerce Bldg., Eighth & High, Conference Rm. C and all interested parties are invited to attend.

Hazardous materials, according to DEQ, include poisons, pesticides, herbicides, acids, caustics, pathological wastes, flammable or explosive materials and similar special wastes.

"Black Journal..." Explores psychic phenomena with clairvoyant Lillian Cosby, numerologist David Swarm

New York — The world of psychic phenomena is the focus for the next BLACK JOURNAL... THIS EVENING. Host Tony Brown welcomes psychic Lillian Cosby as his co-host, and numerologist David Swarm, who explains and demonstrates how the numerical meaning of letters in names, birthdates, and even street numbers can reveal personality and one's future.

Musical entertainment is provided by singer Ronnie Dyson. Theme and incidental music for BLACK JOURNAL... THIS EVENING are provided by the big band of Billy Taylor, former music director of "The David Frost Show".

In previous appearances on BLACK JOURNAL in 1971 and 1974, Black clairvoyant Lillian Cosby made many predictions about the future, several of which have come true. On BLACK JOURNAL... THIS EVENING, Tony Brown updates many of these predictions, which in 1971 included her prophecy that Richard Nixon would be reelected but would not serve out his full term, and that he was suffering from a severe disease that had not yet been made public.

Other predictions by Lillian Cosby could be interpreted as having been completely or partially verified by such events as the current state of the economy, the appointment of Nelson Rockefeller as vice president, the attempted assassination of Dr. Martin prohibit the disposal of hazardous materials unless special permission is obtained from DEQ; obtaining this approval may require more than a simple request. This is beginning to affect industries, and by July 1, 1975, when all Iowa cities and counties are required to have a sanitary method of solid waste disposal, it could have a far reaching effect on industries unless they begin finding acceptable disposal methods soon.

DEQ urges that any company which has wastes that may be categorized as hazardous plan to attend the seminar and begin working with the Land Quality Management Division of DEQ to find acceptable disposal methods. In some cases, it will be possible to obtain permission to use the local sanitary landfill. In many cases, alternate methods will be required and Iowa industries should be investigating the options.

Luther King Sr. that resulted in the killing of the wife, and the death of comedian Jack Benny.

Numerologist David Clarkson Swarm describes the "science-art" of numerology, which "uses the meaning of names and dates of birth to go beyond." He traces the history of numerology from the time of Pythagoras, and demonstrates how numerology works by analyzing Tony Brown's name and birthdate as well as the birthdates of members of the studio audience.

On BLACK JOURNAL... THIS EVENING, Swarm predicts that Ford may not complete his term, and that his current numerological situation "does not allow him to take great initiatives."

Ms. Cosby sees another possible worldwide war in 1975 or 76 as well as more economic problems, a Wall Street scandal, new relations between the United States and Mexico, some sort of new agreement between Japan and Germany, and "startling news" in the 1976 elections, including a "very prominent" role for Alabama Governor George Wallace.

Singer Ronnie Dyson, who was one of the stars of Broadway's "Hair," performs "Life and Breath" and "One Man Band" the title song of his new album.

Letter To The Editor

Is the free enterprise system really working?

In a time when all one hears is recession, inflation and government expenditures, it may surprise some in our community to know that in a period of distressed economy the 1974 United Way Campaign raised the largest amount in its 57 year history — a total of $3,373,000, an increase of 6% over last year's campaign.

Where did this money come from and where did it go?

It came from people in the Greater Des Moines area who cared enough about the betterment of their community to dig into their corporate earnings, their paychecks and in some instances, their savings.

It went to support 38 United Way member agencies providing health, family and character-building programs and services.

The Campaign took a lot of stamina and leg work — eight thousand legs, in fact, all belonging to volunteers who received a pat on the back when the campaign was wrapped up, but even more, a great deal of personal satisfaction in the knowledge that their efforts were for a better way of life for all of us who live and work in the Greater Des Moines area.

ST. PAUL A.M.E. CHURCH NEWS

Since Ash Wednesday, Rev. Robert G. Clay has been giving us the historical background, and sermons, concerning Lent. On this First Sunday the Lenten theme will be centered around Communion. Rev. Clay has shown that Lent, begins with Ash Wednesday, forty days before the Resurrection.

In some communities Lent begins on shrove Tuesday, which is the day before Ash Wednesday. The key word of the Lenten season is, "self-restraint." The etymology of the word "Lent", is from lentils, an herb from Lenz, and Saxon, for Springtime. It was instituted in the Second century.

Pastor Clay has sought to show us how the Lenten season is suggestive of some very significant events in the growth of a Christian. We have found such interesting facts that recall a Hebrew pilgrimage to Jerusalem, where they would pause at the desolate valley of Ba-Ca, or the valley of weeping. This is found in Psalms 84th Chapter, 5th and 6th verses. The early Hebrew's faith was of such that by passing through this valley their faith made wells where there was no water. In many ways the trip through the valley of Ba-Ca, became a retreat to the Hebrew children and made them "spiritually" fit for the mountain top.

The Official Board meets Monday, March 3rd at 7:30 p.m. at the church. All officers are asked to be present.

MESSIAH TEMPLE CHURCH NEWS

Messiah Temple was blessed to hear Evangelist Zora Reed speak about the "Romance of Faith" last Sunday. Her text was taken from Matthew 14:22-31, the story of Peter walking on the water thru faith. We show our love for Jesus by our faith in Him. Our faith in bold action, like Peter's, shows an open romance of Jesus. If we continually hold back from acting on faith, then we do not love Jesus very much.

Messiah Mission Circle will meet this Saturday at 1:00 p.m. Sunday school is at 10:30 with services beginning at 11:30 a.m. The Life of Christ is taught every Sunday at 7:00 p.m. Prayer meeting is every Friday at 7:30 p.m. Guest speaker this Friday will be Mrs. Mary Leach of Des Moines. New education loans for veterans

The Veterans Administration in Iowa is now processing applications for new education loans for veterans attending school under the GI Bill. The loans, up to a maximum of $600 in one academic year, were established by the Vietnam-era Veterans Readjustment Assistance Act of 1974.

Robert L. Winters, Director, VA Regional Office, Des Moines, said that all eligible veterans, wives, widows and children will be considered for initial loans based upon the full amount of their tuition and all other costs of attendance anticipated for the entire 1974-75 academic year.

He said that under the new law, those granted loans will be required to execute promissory notes agreeing to repayment of principal plus 8 per cent interest. Repayment of principal and interest will be deferred while the student is attending classes on at least a half-time basis.

Installment payments must start nine months after the student ceases at least half-time enrollment, with full payment within 10 years and nine months after that date. Part or all of the loan may be prepaid without penalty. Interest will not accrue on the loan balance until the required beginning date of repayment.

The VA official said that a 3 per cent loan fee will be deducted from the approved loan amount to provide a fund to insure against defaults under the loan program. Defaults will be considered overpayments and recovered in the same manner as other debts due the government.

The new measure provides that applicants must have exhausted all efforts to obtain student loans administered by the Department of Health, Education and Welfare. The student must list all lenders applied to, with dates notified of final decisions. If denied a guaranteed student loan, copies of denial statement from each lender must accompany the VA application.

Iowa Civil Rights Commission

The three initial articles which were prepared on the Iowa Civil Rights Commission provided an overview of the Commission's overall programs as well as activities and responsibilities of the regulatory component of the Commission - the Compliance Division - and one of the preventative components of the Commission - the Education Staff Development Division.

As you will recall, the Commission had two (2) preventative program divisions. The second preventative program division which we will discuss will be the Affirmative Action Division. The duties and the responsibilities of this division of the Iowa Civil Rights Commission is most important because this division is responsible for assisting employers within the State of Iowa with developing programs which will ensure all Iowans of an equal opportunity to compete for jobs and thereby have the opportunity to be gainfully employed.

The Affirmative Action Division of the Iowa Civil Rights Commission is staffed by two (2) persons. The personnel who are assigned to this division are paid through state funds. This program division consists of one-fulltime professional intergroup relations worker and one-half (1/2) clerical professional. The Affirmative Action Director is Maude Esther White who began her employment with the agency as Affirmative Action Director in February, 1973. Prior to this period, Ms. White had been employed in state government in the Office of Planning and Programming. The clerical professional who is assigned on a half-time basis to this division is Ms. Carol Carter.

The Affirmative Action component of the Iowa Civil Rights Commission is the newest program component and began in February, 1973. All programs which have been developed by this program division were developed since this period. The division's primary responsibility is to provide technical assistance to state agencies in developing affirmative action programs in accordance with Executive Order No. 15. Another primary function of this division is to prepare on an annual basis the Governor's Report on Affirmative Action for the Commission to be submitted to the Governor. This report provides the necessary data for an assessment of the affirmative action efforts which have been made. This division of the Iowa Civil Rights Commission is responsible for the following agency activities: providing technical assistance upon request to employers within the state of Iowa on affirmative action; providing technical affirmative action; providing technical assistance to entities which wish to develop and institute affirmative action programs or aspects of affirmative action programs either voluntarily or as a result of a provision of a conciliation agreement; monitoring the affirmative action efforts of entities as a result of conciliation agreements; devising technical booklets, pamphlets and brochures on affirmative action; conducting seminars on affirmative action; conducting A-95 Reviews in regard to equal opportunity for the agency; and managing the agency motor pool. The accomplishment of all these duties and responsibilities is essential to the agency and assisting it in the elimination and prevention of discrimination.

This division was successful in attaining a grant from the Iowa Board for Public Programs in the Humanities to sponsor in cooperation with Drake University a Governor's Conference on Affirmative Action. This conference is scheduled for February 27, 1975 and will be held at Olmsted Center which is located at Drake University in Des Moines. The featured speaker for the conference is Dr. Debbie Partridge Wolfe who is Professor of Education at Queens College in New York. Dr. Wolfe's topic will be "What Values are we Losing as a Result of Discrimination?" The conference will begin at 8:30 a.m. and adjourn at 4:00 p.m. and will encompass three (3) workshop discussion group periods and provide a choice of eighteen working groups. Program participants will be: Professor Stewart L. Burns of the English Department at Drake University, Mr. Wes Chapman - Director of Intercultural Affairs - Des Moines School Board, Mr. Anthony Costantino - Department of Economics - University of Iowa, Mr. Russell Davis - Vice President and Counsel - American Republic assurance Company, Ms. Betty Durden - Special Assistant to the President - Drake University, Mr. George Garcia - Chief of Urban Education - Iowa Department of Public Instruction, Mr. Serge Garrison - Director of Iowa Legislative Service Bureau, Mr. Donald Hauser - Vice President - Brenton Banks, Associate Professor Michael Husband - Morningside College, Professor James Jones - University of Wisconsin Law School, Mr. Wallace Keating, Director Iowa Merit Employment Department, Professor Irving Kovarsky - Department of Economics - University of Iowa, Dr. Philip Langerman - Dean - University College - Drake University, Professor Burton Leiser - Department of Philosophy - Drake University, Mrs. Frances Lowder - Chairperson - Iowa Civil Rights Commission, Mr. Darwin Lynner - President - Darwin T. This division of the Iowa Civil Rights Commission is available to the public for technical assistance.

On February 4, 1975, the Executive Director made a presentation before the Joint Human Resources Legislative Committee. During the presentation, the Executive Director indicated that the number of case closures for the month of January numbered ninety-three (93). After staff review of the computation, it was determined that the number of closures for the month of January for the Iowa Civil Rights Commission numbered seventy-three (73).

The Executive Director does apologize to the members of the Legislative Committee, the public and the press for this error in computation.

AN EQUAL OPPORTUNITY EMPLOYER

For Black Students:

By Pamela Spencer

Focus on Roosevelt's asst. principal

Mrs. Betty Jean Hyde was born in Kansas City, Missouri. She attended the University of Northern Iowa in Cedar Falls, Iowa. There she received her BA degree. She won a fellowship after graduation, she then went on to get her Masters in American Literature before teaching.

Mrs. Hyde taught high school English in Monona, Iowa for two years. She was the only black person living in Monona during her stay. There, Mrs. Hyde also directed plays and did speech contest work.

Mrs. Hyde is married to Robert Hyde, who is the principal at Casady Elementary school. She holds a Principal Certificate which she received from Drake University.

Mrs. Hyde was an English teacher at Callanan Junior High School from 1955 until 1967. She went on to become the girls' adviser there until 1974.

This is Mrs. Hyde's first year at Roosevelt, the students seem to have taken a special likeness for her. Mrs. Hyde is the assistant principal here, she is in charge of the sophomore girls and the senior class. Mrs. Hyde is also attached to the English department. She helps supervise teachers and coordinate all student activities. This year she is working with two other people to reactivate faculty newsletters.

Adjusting to Roosevelt students was easy for Mrs. Hyde, the hard part was learning the rules and procedures at a different school.

Mrs. Hyde remarked, "I like to see the former Callanan students doing so well at Roosevelt. I will always have a soft place in my heart for Callanan."

During her spare time, Mrs. Hyde collects owls, drinks coffee, reads, and sews. She also attends St. Paul AME Church, on Day street.

Two instrumental music programs will be presented by Des Moines schools during the next week.

The All-West Band Festival will be held Thursday (February 27) at Roosevelt high school and will feature approximately 300 musicians. Groups scheduled are the combined junior high school bands from Callanan, Merrill and the 9th grade at

Simpson College

INDIANOLA, IA.—Two appointments to the staff of Simpson College's Office of College Relations have been announced by Dr. Richard B. Lancaster, Simpson president.

They are Frank Nowasell, who has been named associated director of development, and Robert MacKenzie, who has been appointed assistant director of development.

The new staff members will be responsible for coordinating the field work for Simpson's "Commitment 125" capital fund campaign under the direction of A. Edward Couch, vice-president for college relations.

The drive aims to raise $11 million during the next 10 years for construction of a new physical education center, music facility, general campus renovation projects and expansion of the college's endowment. The drive will be completed in 1985 on Simpson's 125th anniversary.

This year, Nowasell and MacKenzie will conduct concentrated campaign efforts in Iowa. Nowasell will coordinate drives in the greater Des Moines area and throughout western Iowa, while MacKenzie will coordinate those in the Indianola area and eastern Iowa.

Before joining the Simpson staff, Nowasell taught Asian and European history and coached cross-country and track at Punahou School, a college preparatory school in Honolulu, Hawaii. A 1960 graduate of Simpson, Nowasell received his master degree in East Asian History from the University of Hawaii in Honolulu.

MacKenzie, who was graduated from Simpson in 1970 with a major in physical education, previously worked in the college's Admissions Office for 2½ years. During that period he served as the Simpson representative in western New York, Chicago and eastern Iowa areas. Prior to joining the Simpson staff, he did substitute teaching for a year in Cedar Rapids and did graduate work at the University of Iowa in Iowa City.

The museum exhibit is sheltered under an aluminum frame octet truss, one of Fuller's own engineering feats, and is divided into three major sections which cover the three periods in Fuller's life.

Fuller describes his goal "as finding ways of doing more with less, to the end that all people, everywhere, can have more and more of everything".

Jazz's brightest new stars

New York, N.Y., ... Esquire, in the March issue published today, calls them "jazz's brightest new stars," but, notes the magazine, for the most part "they stoutly deny any identification as jazz musicians."

"I don't consider myself playing jazz, I play music," declares saxophonist Azar Lawrence, 22, above left.

Natural Essence, below, "prefers to think of itself collectively as a music group rather than as a jazz group," says Esquire. Though Yvonne Fletcher (horizontal), vocalist for the group, admires jazz singers Billie Holiday and Dinah Washington, she thinks "it isn't very cool to be a jazz musician or a jazz anything."

Readily admitting his jazz roots is the young man with the horn, Jon Faddis, above right, who at 21 is making a name for himself as a sideman for jazz genius Charles Mingus. "My influence is Dizzy and Dizzy and Dizzy," he admits in the Esquire article. Mingus notes that Faddis "has the chops, when he develops his own style, to be one of the greatest trumpet players in the world."

Veteran's Admin. Ques. & Ans.

Q— I was separated from military service in April 1973. Am I eligible for five-year, nonrenewable Veterans Group Life Insurance?

A— Probably yes. However, you must send application, first premium and proof of service before Aug. 2, 1975, to: Office of Servicemen's Group Life Insurance, 212 Washington Street, Newark, New Jersey.

Q. I understand that GI home loans valued at more than $110 billion have been approved by the Veterans Administration for 8.9 million veterans and servicemen since World War II.

Have they been good credit risks?

A— Yes. An overall 3.5 per cent foreclosure rate on mortgages attests to their credit worthiness.

Q— My mother, who is ill and requires almost constant attention, receives dependency and indemnity compensation (DIC) from the Veterans Administration based on the service-connected death of my father during World War II. Is she also eligible for aid and attendance benefits?

A— Probably yes. A $64 monthly aid and attendance allowance is available to widows who draw DIC, if they are: patients in nursing homes, helpless or blind, or so nearly helpless or blind as to require regular aid and attendance of other persons.

Logan students work to save Clark home

Twenty-six fifth and sixth grade students at Logan Elementary school started a Black History class project, a fund-raising drive to help save the home of a prominent Black Muscatine resident of the 1800's.

The students and their teacher, Mary Jones, have been collecting soda pop bottles and had a bake sale at the school, E. Seventeenth Court and Garfield Avenue.

The children hope to raise at least $15 from the drive, and resulted with a total of $55. About $40,000 is needed to save and restore the home of Alexander G. Clark of Muscatine. The Merchant Bank of Cedar Rapids is holding the donations.

Clark was known nationally as an orator and spokesman for civil rights.

In 1867 Clark was a prominent leader in Iowa's first "colored convention," which resulted in the legislature passing a Black suffrage amendment to the Iowa constitution.

Ms. Jones said she and most of the students had not heard of Clark until she happened to have been watching the Mary Brubaker Show, which was discussing the problem of the Alexander G. Clark home. "The children wanted to pay tribute to someone they could see to promote brotherhood, plus they wanted to honor someone from Iowa."

To publicize the children's effort bulletins and newsletters were written and distributed by the students in the school and neighborhood.

Ms. Jones said she received "quite a bit of response from parents and other children in the building wanting to contribute bake goods to the bake sale."

Ms. Jones and her students said "that most students probably haven't even heard of Alexander G. Clark, because the teachers just don't know about him. But this is one way to alert Iowa residents to this great man and to help take part in something they can save for all Iowa to enjoy."

VFW 5487

On January 26, 1975, The Ladies Auxiliary of Post 5487 V.F.W. hosted the Fifth District Convention. This was the first time in our history to do so. Our very own Margaret Harper presided with many special guests present.

Dolores Fleming, State President, was guest speaker.

There was about one hundred members and guests present. It was an exciting and informative meeting.

The meeting was held at our post home, 1338 Harding Road.

The President wishes to thank each and every one for all of their help. A special thank you to Mrs. Maxine McNair and Mrs. Kathryn Bryson for the superb job done in the kitchen. A beautiful dinner was served.

Two new members were added at our last meeting: Sister Jane Brown and Sister Bertha Weeks. Next meeting to be held on the 2nd Wednesday in March.

Gary Elliston, journeyman sheet metal worker

Gary Elliston, a journeyman sheet metal worker, is a lifelong resident of Des Moines. He graduated from Tech High School where he took shop courses and other studies that enabled him to become an excellent craftsman. As an apprentice he participated in related classroom training in drafting, blueprint reading, mathematics and layout work.

Gary completed four years apprenticeship training and became a journeyman in July, 1973. Journeyman sheet metal workers earn $8.83 per hour plus another 77 cents in fringe benefits. He has worked for National Sheet Metal Company, 101 Southwest Fifth Street, Des Moines, Iowa for five years. He is a member of Sheet Metal Workers Local Union Number 45 of Des Moines.

Gary said he had to work hard and make some sacrifices to get where he is today. He enjoys his work and gets along well with the other craftsmen. The picture above was taken at the Iowa Jewish Home at Sixteenth and Pleasant Street where he is working on construction.

Earl M. Willits
State Senator

Senate Report

Floor action in the Senate this week was dominated by consideration of a bill revising Iowa's Criminal Code. Parts of this are very controversial. The bill is an attempt to rationally classify crimes into categories with uniform penalties according to the severity of the crime. The bill is the culmination of a six-year study effort by the judiciary, legislature and bar of this state.

The first major amendment dealt with the insanity defense. I supported the bill's proposal to change the Iowa definition of insanity to state that a person could not be convicted of a crime if a mental defect or disease prevented the person from appreciating the criminality of his act. This rule is used in the federal courts, but the Senate voted by a narrow margin to retain the present Iowa insanity rule of "the ability to distinguish between right and wrong."

The Senate defeated three separate amendments to reinstate capital punishment in Iowa. I opposed all these efforts simply based on my own conscience which says this is wrong. Any of the statistical studies show that homicide rates in states without the death penalty are no different than in states with the death penalty. Thus, it is no greater deterrent than life imprisonment. But when you get down to it, each person must make their own philosophical decision on this and I do not believe the state should sanction this.

The Senate debated a proposal to increase the penalty for possession of more than one ounce of marijuana to $1000 fine and/or one year in jail. The present law provides a $1000 fine and/or six months in jail. At the same time the amendment would have reduced to a simple misdemeanor (30 days and/or $100) the penalty for possession of less than one ounce of marijuana. One ounce of "pot" makes about one pack of cigarettes. I voted for this proposal which lost 23-27. I felt this made the punishment more reasonably fit the crime. I am not prepared to vote to completely legalize "pot."

Finally, we adopted laws controlling abortions. We have had none in the two years since the Supreme Court case. The bill would completely prohibit abortions after the second trimester. Only licensed doctors may perform them. If a twenty week or older fetus is born alive, the doctor must try to save it and it is, of course, a felony to intentionally kill it. I supported all these amendments.

Pay TV?

Will pay-TV enrich our lives, or will it deprive us of television programs we're now getting free? It depends in part on whose argument you listen to.

According to the National Association of Broadcasters, which represent free television interests, pay-TV will buy the exclusive rights to movies, sports events and other shows you're used to seeing on free-TV and make you pay to see them. Not so, say its backers. Pay-TV will offer the consumer many options free-TV doesn't provide—commercial-free movies, full-length opera, guitar lessons, chess matches, you-name-it.

The fuss, according to an article in the March issue of the Reader's Digest, is about what pay-TV can or can't show on its channels. While pay-TV is still a relatively small industry, the Stanford Research Institute has predicted that by 1985 there would be 25 million sets hooked into pay systems. Commercially sponsored free-TV worries that it will be outbid on big-audience spectacles such as the Super Bowl or movies like The Godfather.

To forestall such competition, broadcasters and movie exhibitors have prevailed upon the Federal Communications Commission to pass series of tough "anti-siphoning" rules. As they now exist, these rules prevent pay-TV from showing 99 percent of existing movies and most live sports events.

Currently only a fifth of one percent of total set owners subscribe to pay-TV, and its backers argue that the idea won't get off the ground at all unless the FCC relaxes its siphoning rules. But if, as projected, pay-TV is in 33 million homes twenty years from now, it can offer the viewer dozens of choices not available on advertiser-supported free-TV. If only two percent of the estimated 33 million homes were willing to pay $5 to watch a live, commercial-free production of La Boheme, for instance, it would produce $3 million in revenue for a single performance—more than 60 times what the Metropolitan grosses for a sellout performance.

Bell labs flat screen
video system

An experimental flat-screen video system that transmits handwriting, reproduces pictures, and can be used to communicate directly with a computer has been demonstrated by scientists at Bell Telephone Laboratories.

The system consists of a commercially available plasma panel display (modified by Bell scientists), electronic control circuitry, and a special pen called a light pen.

Plasma panels are made up of thousands of tiny neon-gas cells arranged in vertical and horizontal rows. These cells glow when energized by an electric current.

In the Bell Labs' system the glowing cells, or dots of light, are turned on or off selectively to produce an image. Instructions for turning the cells on or off can be transmitted over telephone lines, so that an image can be sent from far away and appear on the panel.

When two panels are interconnected the light pen is used as a pencil or pointer, and "writing" on one panel is reproduced on the distant panel. To do this the pen and electronic circuitry work together to determine where the pen has been placed on the sending panel. The receiving panel then is instructed to turn on or off its corresponding dots of light to reproduce the writing.

A unique part of the Bell Labs' development is the method used to achieve the gray tones necessary for picture or facsimile reproduction. Graduation in tone is obtained by altering the density of cells turned on over a given area of the panel. The researchers, in Holmdel, N.J., believe this technique may be useful in other facsimile reproduction systems.

Bell scientists are conducting the work because the Bell System is seeking ways to improve how people and machines interact, and because two-way plasma panels could provide visual communications services between people.

To explore the potential of the display system, Bell Labs' scientists placed 8- by 4-inch panels in two telephone housings. Connected to a computer, and using the light pen as a pencil or pointer, this laboratory system can:

- * Record a person's signature, and then display it on command.
- * Reproduce pictures and charts at the rate of a few per minute.
- * Display a list of telephone numbers, and simulate dialing the one pointed to with the pen.
- * Serve as a desk-top calculator.

* Display the time and date on command.

* Display a typewriter keyboard, allowing hunt-and-peck entry to a computer.

Bell scientists are working to reduce the control-circuit costs, and lower the power needed to light the panel. The system is in the research stage, and the Bell System has no plans now to offer it to customers.

sports

By Allen Ashby

This isn't much of a sports story, but it certainly belongs on somebody's sports page. I was visiting with a friend the other day and his son was home. The fellow had just returned from a two year stretch in prison for breaking and entering. He had gotten off rather lightly, he thought. The fellow, about twenty five, remarked how sports could have changed his whole life. He said he was a good football and basketball player. He could outrun most of the fellows his age who had gone on to high school and had become well known athletes. "If you ask them today, they will tell you that I am telling the truth." But those kids had family backing, while I was almost always on my own. I could see the father wishing he hadn't got into this thing, so I tried to ease things. I said that I had always had a theory that a boy should let his dad know he was interested in games, by asking Dad about them. Since his dad was a very good softball player and a fine football player, I was sure he could have taught the kid all he needed to know, and sometimes just a word of asking for help would break down a lot of barriers. Dad interrupted to say that he was always away, playing games himself, and when he wasn't doing that, he was working two jobs to make ends meet. The kid said that he might have been wrong, but he said, "If I knew what I know now, I would have begged Dad to show me just one little thing. We could have maybe done without all that dough you made, don't you think?"

The young man walked away, and his father and I stood there talking. I could see the hurt in the man's eyes. "I could have had a son who would be a well respected athlete, and maybe doing something like coaching or such, but I helped him to be a loser." The man was nearly in tears. I told him that communication between father and sons was difficult unless it was started at a very early age, and since he couldn't see the situation because he was so close to it, he really shouldn't feel so badly. I pointed out that there were athletes whose parents had never seen them play, but they were lucky enough to fall in with the right crowd. And the right crowd wasn't fellows years older than they were. So maybe, now that he had gotten it out, the guy could use his mistakes to become a better man. "God, I hope so," said Dad. I do too.

Now, back to business

I had quite a time watching two basketball games last Saturday. The last time I saw Iowa University play, they didn't move when they had the ball, just stood around and waited for something to happen. They had stretches of that against Minnesota, but they came on like gangbusters in the closing minutes of the game, and nearly pulled it out. They had nothing to be ashamed of on that one. At Iowa State, the Cyclones hustled and acted as if they didn't know they were supposed to be in the Big Eight cellar. They looked like title contenders. When Ivy had a chance at the single game scoring mark the whole team helped him. They got the ball to him and set picks for him, and were as eager for him to get the mark as he must have been to get it. Coach Trickey says he is a complete player, but happens to shoot a lot because Iowa State depends on him to score if they are to have a chance to win. Now what if the pros want him? Will he turn down a fat contract and quit school? I don't think the young man knows the answer to that one himself. Drake had problems. When they lose like they did last Saturday, they are generally not moving when they don't have the ball, trying to work free for shots. That must have happened Saturday. But they have come up with what will be a winning season this time.

High Schools

Well, I thought this would be Hoover's night, but it was not to be. It could just be that the Railsplitters could become one of the few unbeaten teams to win the state crown, but an upset by somebody over them would come as no surprise to me. Too bad Roosevelt couldn't start their season now. They have put together a couple of good wins that could take them into the tournaments ripe to surprise somebody. Then it may have been that North sort of thought this one was in the bag. And Dowling's Tim Lee had to have a career high when he dumped in all those points Saturday night. He is a junior, so he will likely be one of the really fine stars next year, as if he hasn't done a good job this year. And watch out for Tech next year. They could get some help and be mighty rough then.

Iowa Special Olympics

The director of the Iowa Special Olympics for retarded persons has announced a new dimension has been added to the expanding program. Mrs. Maureen Soliday said 16 young basketball teams will square off in tournament play beginning February 23rd, at locations around the state. Although the basketball program has been a part of the Joseph P. Kennedy, Jr. Foundation Special Olympics in the past, only a small number of states have included it in their programs.

Soliday said two divisions, designed to create a balance of play, equal opportunity between offense and defense, reasonably safety, and freedom of action, will begin play towards state championships in Des Moines in late March. Division I is for the educable mentally retarded (EMR), Division II for the trainable mentally retarded (TMR).

The first, first-round game will be played on February 23rd, at 1:30, in the gymnasium of the

The New Iowa Bystander - Des Moines, Iowa

Glenwood State Hospital-School in the TRM Division. The pairings for the first round are attached. Dates and sites for second round games will be announced at a later date.

The state championship games will be played at Hoover High School in Des Moines, on March 25th. The Division II finals are scheduled for 2:00 PM, and the Division I title game at 3:15.

The traditional Special Olympics track and field championships held for the past five years will again begin with nine district meets in April, culminating in the state finals at Drake University Stadium and

understanding YOUR CAR

FOR SAFETY AND ECONOMY

DRIVING FOR ECONOMY

Like almost everything else, gasoline and petroleum products are more expensive today than they used to be. Real savings can be achieved by knowing a few basic things about how to drive and maintain your car for maximum economy and efficiency.

Thursday, February 27, 1975

For example, fuel economy possibilities start the minute the engine is started. Don't let the car idle until it warms up; instead gently drive away after it has run no more than a minute. Idling takes minutes of gas-wasting. If the engine burns gas for 10 minutes every winter morning that's roughly 50 minutes per week and, depending on car and idle speed, the gasoline wasted this way could fuel a trip of up to 400 miles.

a short story about beards and bumps

How To Help Eliminate and Prevent Razor Bumps

Men shave in different ways because they have different beards and different types of hair:

A. STRAIGHT HAIR

Grows from follicles that are straight all along their length.

B. WAVY HAIR

Grows from follicles that are curved a little.

C. CURLY HAIR

Grows from sharply curved follicles. It often coils before it comes through the skin.

Straight hair, wavy and curly hair can be shaved with a blade or electric razor. Shaving very curly hair (common among Black men) may require another way to avoid "razor bumps".

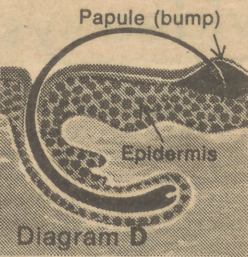

Diagram "D" shows what can happen when hair is very curly. This hair comes through the skin's surface and then curls back until the tip re-enters the skin, forming an "ingrown hair." A razor isn't always the best way to shave such hair. The hair can curl so close that the razor misses it. Those whiskers it does remove are cut at a sharp angle, making it easy for the hairs to re-enter the skin after a couple days' growth. The result is the same — either way.

WHAT'S THE ANSWER? For over 70 years Black Americans have been using Magic Shaving Powder (depilatory) instead of a razor. It actually "dissolves" hair rather than cutting it. It doesn't leave sharp tips on the hair it removes. And when used properly it gets them all. So it helps eliminate and prevent razor bumps.

No matter what formula you choose they are all fine products — the world's leaders. Blue Label (Regular Strength for the average beard), Red Label (Extra Strength for tough beards), Gold Magic — with a pleasant fragrance... or Magic Cream Shave — Ready-to-use formula that requires no mixing. And for after shave comfort, use Magic After Shave Skin Conditioner. It's especially formulated for depilatory users. Won't sting or burn!
