

Iowa Power Head Energy Conscious

In telegrams to President Ford and members of Iowa's congressional delegation, Dwight H. Swanson, president and chairman of Iowa Power, strongly supported the 9 point "Energy Policy Statement" presented in Washington today by the President's Labor-Management Committee.

Swanson said, "Consumers will be the main beneficiaries of a national policy which will permit orderly progression toward assurance of adequate energy for all sectors of the economy. There is general agreement that electricity, generated by relatively plentiful nuclear and coal fuel, must serve major uses, particularly in the heating and transportation areas, formerly met by oil and natural gas.

"The 9 point program announced today," Swanson continued, "will achieve two major goals. First, it will help assure that the nation's electric utilities will be able to raise the vast sums of capital necessary to meet demands now and in the 1980's, making the investment tax credit permanent is particularly important and is long overdue. For example, this year is the first time utilities have been afforded the same investment tax credit that other industries have long enjoyed. In addition, allowing tax-free reinvestment of dividends for utility stockholders would end the double taxation on utility earnings which now exists. This would greatly assist millions of individual shareholders in helping their local utilities meet local needs. These and other suggested actions will help assure that major generating plant additions that have been deferred or delayed due to financial constraints may get back on schedule."

The second major point emphasized by Swanson concerned cost of utility service. The chief executive said, "This package will also serve to get at the causes of increasing electric rates, and if adopted should assist in stabilizing utility rates. For example, streamlining regulatory procedures at both federal and state levels and maximizing the use of coal and nuclear fuels will assure future energy supplies and help considerably in keeping costs down."

Swanson also expressed the hope that the support of labor for the policy statement would call attention to the close interrelationship between energy supply and jobs which are necessary to provide employment and opportunity for all Americans.

CHAIRMAN GENTRY SAYS

Board Vulnerable To Suit

Charles McCauley, La. Tech. Grad., Joins New Iowa Bystander Staff

"You've got to go North, Charles, go North if you want to make it. You've got to get away from here," were words from an elderly gentleman referring to the economic situation in the area where I (once) lived.

Everybody should be aware of the economic situation but if you're not, take a trip South and you will be exposed, especially when trying to get a good job.

"You've got great potential, young man, but we just can't afford to hire you right now," said the many prospective personnel managers I interviewed.

Everywhere I tried to get a job, the businesses seemed to have a full staff or economic problems which curbed their desires of hiring new personnel badly needed. But being myself and with some encouragement I thought it best to be patient.

For some reason I am lucky but being religious I like to think of it as being blessed. Anyway, several weeks ago my older sister in Des Moines suggested I write some weekly newspaper in that city. Well, I figured it couldn't hurt so I did, expecting to be rejected again with the same old line. When I was accepted by the management of that newspaper I started thinking, first about the old man's counsel and secondly, based on my religious training, the idea that I was destined to come here like in an old movie.

So, I am here, that's right, here in Des Moines. I migrated from the northwest Louisiana town of Hosston. On some maps you may not find it since its population is less than 500.

The people I have met so far were quite friendly or do you greet all strangers so warmly. Speaking of the weather, I will probably need a few tips on how to survive the coming winter. If you have any ideas get in touch with me, you'll enjoy the meeting.

Sisters in Des Moines

Getting back to the essence of this writing, I have four sisters presently in this city. Two of them, Linda and Rosie have lived here for several years while Brenda and Tara are on vacation. We decided to leave our mother at home with Ronnie, our brother.

Besides being a religious person, I am very modest. Having confidence in myself and the belief that I can accomplish any challenge before me is a great asset. The sports world finds this 22-year-old Capricorn very energetic while listening to music relaxes me.

Louisiana Tech Graduate

Louisiana Tech University in Ruston, Louisiana is where I earned my bachelors degree in journalism with a minor in English. Newspaper experience was gained from work on the Tech Talk, the student newspaper, and as an intern with the Ruston Daily Leader.

Evers Cannot Be Tried On Chicago Life

Charles Evers

Standing before a jury that included four blacks, attorney Michael Fawer told of Charles Evers' activities in Chicago before Evers returned to Mississippi after his brother, Medgar was killed. But there was nothing to it; the statue of limitations had run out and the Fayette, mayor could not be prosecuted for his Chicago doings.

Evers' attorneys made the point as the trial began on charges that he evaded over $50,000 in income tax between 1968 and 1970. The Southern black mayor faced up to 15 years in jail and $30,000 in fine if found guilty.

Evers' former life of once involvement in prostitution, racketeering and bootlegging in Chicago became a courtroom topic. Prosecutors had charged that he had transferred some Fayette town funds to a bank in Chicago.

Asserting that such a charge was nonsense, Evers' lawyer explained what the former Chicago night club owner did to make the money in the Chicago bank.

The Judge ruled a mistrial in the Mississippi tax case

School Board Presents Plans On Desegregation

The Des Moines School Board is to present a desegregation report to the State Board of Public Instruction today.

The report represents the board's final position on integration of junior and senior high schools. In a special work session Tuesday which was open to the public, several board members felt that more data should be studied before any options or decisions could be made.

There was not enough information on the number of students that would be shifted to another school with a boundary change and the effects that students would placed upon the schools, academically, if changed.

To best utilize high school buildings in an era of declining enrollment is another problem facing the Des Moines School Board. One other problem is that the board may be vulnerable to a desegregation suit based on a decision last week by the U.S. Eighth Circuit Court of Appeals against the Omaha School District.

The Des Moines district's vulnerability could possibly be in the area of faculty assignments, construction of King and Edmunds elementary schools, construction of the Lincoln High School addition and optional attendance areas. These former actions by the board may have caused or maintained segregation according to Nolden Gentry, school board president.

Recommendations contained in the 47-page desegregation report are to modify the racial mix in secondary schools. The proposals effective September, 1976 are:

- * Making the optional attendance area between Merrill and Callanan junior high schools part of the Callanan attendance area.

- * Considering closing heavily black Irving Junior High School.

The Omaha School District was found guilty of intentionally separating students by race. It has a program of magnet schools, voluntary transfer and clustering. Each part of the program is designed to promote segregation.

A Department of Health, Education and Welfare investigation is to determine if the Des Moines district has violated any constitutional or civil rights laws. A suit could be filed against the Des Moines School District if HEW were to report to the Department of Justice any violations.

LHF Accepts $10,000 Donation

Oliver Gillespie, executive director of Living History Farms, accepted a $10,000 donation for the farms from FirstMiss, Inc. on Thursday, June 12.

Jim Penney, Slater branch manager of FirstMiss, presented the check to Gillespie. Area managers Bill Burns and Dan Norgaard as well as dealer sales representative John Gilbert were on hand for the presentation.

"The money will be used to aid in the development of Living History Farms, whose purpose is to tell the story of American agriculture. This contribution is particularly important during our preparation for the Bicentennial celebration," Gillespie said. "It could be used for several things and will certainly be used for the betterment of the farms."

FirstMiss, Inc., a subsidiary of First Mississippi Corporation, specializes in manufacturing diammonium phosphate and anhydrous ammonia for fertilizers. In September 1973, the firm expanded their facilities by acquiring the agricultural division of Atlantic Richfield. With headquarters located in Fort Madison, Ia., FirstMiss operates 63 retail fertilizer outlets in Iowa, Illinois, Indiana and Minnesota.

Limit Medical Graduate; Make Room For Foreigners

The American Medical Association has pretty well controlled the medical profession in this country and has had a great influence on medical school.

Unfortunately because of certain restrictions the number of medical students graduated each year has been exceedingly low and of course, the number of doctors.

For years there has been a shortage of doctors in America. On the other hand in many communities they are without doctors but hospitals are well stocked with foreign doctors. Thus, had there been more graduates from the American medical schools there would be more American doctors in these communities that are without doctors over the country and it would be unnecessary to stock our hospitals with a lot of foreign doctors from countries where they themselves are needed.

Employment For Youngsters

President Ford has signed into law a measure providing funds for summer jobs for youngsters. It is unfortunate that this comes so late in the summer because it will take some time to set up machinery to administer it and also to permit funds to trickle down to the states and the cities and towns.

However, parents should begin at once to secure information, learn the location of the project in their community and see that their youngsters take advantage of the opportunity.

Youngsters need to learn to work. It is a great deterrent to mischief, teaches them the value of going to work on time and doing a good job while there, teaches them the value of the dollar and helps bear some of the expenses that the ordinary family finds it difficult to meet.

Publicity And Open Meetings Help Cause

When the first public meeting was held last year in which the Board of Education offered an opportunity for voters to discuss the desegregation proposals submitted by the study committee practically every speaker opposed it spending the whole time discussing busing.

Since that time when the original proposal was offered by the committee two members of the board have offered alternate proposals; some apponents have offered suggestions to achieve desegregation, all tending to a more sane handling of the proposed program.

Just what will be adopted finally is problematical but it is apparent that these meetings have given the public an opportunity to cool off.

Then too, court action on desegregation in some communities seems to have given some opponents second thoughts and I hope that they realize that the tactics carried on in Boston last year helped nobody and in the end the law prevailed.

People who are acquainted with the history of the Negro in America know that special statutes have been required to make one gain after another even though the constitution, supposedly, was designed to do just that for all citizens.

Supreme Court Hits At Lawyers

The U.S. Supreme Court in a decision Monday held that fixed minimum fees charged by lawyer groups are illegal. This applies only to those communities where bar associations have fixed the minimum fees lawyers in their area can charge for services. This is not the case in Iowa.

The Health, Education and Welfare fixes a schedule above which they will not go in the payment of medicare bills.

The trouble in this case coming from suburb of a Washington, D.C. community, is that the bar association fixed minimum fees. On the other hand HEW fixes a fee limiting the amount they will pay for a service.

New Handbook Helps Citizens Fight Crime in their Schools

The National Committee for Citizens in Education (NCCE) announced Monday an action handbook for citizens concerned by crime and violence in their local schools.

Titled "Violence in Our Schools: What to Know About It—What to Do About It," the handbook outlines the step-by-step actions citizens can take to make their schools safer.

In announcing the handbook, Carl Marburger, senior associate of NCCE, said, "Violent behavior in our nation's schools is soaring. A United States Senate subcommittee recently reported that the level of violence and vandalism is reaching crisis proportions which seriously threatens the ability of our educational system to carry out its primary function. Although the level of violence directed against teachers ... is indeed alarming, the principal victims of the rising tide of crime in our schools are not the teachers, but the students."

Marburger said, "Recent national polls by the Caddell and Gallup organizations show that the physical safety of children is the greatest worry that parents have about education. Congress is considering legislation, several Federal agencies are conducting studies, and many professional education groups are attempting to deal with the problem."

"While these efforts may result in long-term solutions, parents and other citizens—and the students who are the most likely victims of schools disrupted by crime—desperately need help now."

"We hope that the NCCE handbook will provide that help," he said.

"Violence in Our Schools"

outlines in practical language how to start a school security program including gathering information, determining community attitudes, organizing, planning, training, and the involvement of school administrators, teachers, students, and others.

The booklet also includes regional surveys of school crime statistics; do's and don'ts for children's safety; recent Supreme Court decisions on student rights; recent State legislation dealing with the problem; alternatives in public education; how to conduct a survey to determine the level of security the community will support; and sources of information and help.

NCCE is a non-profit, tax-exempt organization dedicated to increasing citizen involvement in the affairs of the nation's public schools. Its current programs include monitoring Federal law on school records which protects the privacy of parents and students; preparing a national report on who controls public education and the role of citizens in school policy; and building the Parents' Network, a national coalition of local parent-citizen groups.

Interested citizens can obtain additional information by dialing toll-free 800-NET-WORK, NCCE's nationwide telephone Contact: Chuck Schultz, 202-785-1460.

Letters to the Editor

TO THE EDITOR

An editorial published May 29, 1975 suggesting that people clear their minds of events such as the Kent State shootings revolts me to the core.

It plays into the hands of those who commit the most despicable crimes of all—the violation of their oath to uphold the Constitution and the laws; and in the Kent State instance had it condoned by a now discredited attorney general.

Only by confronting ourselves with the shameful and depraved such as those at Philadelphia Arkansas, Louisiana Jackson State, at Attica (and other) prisons can we be mobilized to demand the cessation of such crimes against humanity.

It is a generation premature to let bygones be bygones. The Congress has passed no effective legislation to prevent the purchased betrayal of democracy. Nor has the executive department relinquished the policies of the past leading to abuse of the People's trust. No redress has been made to the people who recognized the nature of our involvement in Indo China. No mention has been made of the abrogation of World War II commitments to Ho Chih Minkh.

NEWS OF SAFETY

By Experts At The
Plastic Bottle Institute

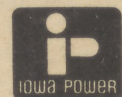

Every year a startling number of children—some 23 million—are injured in household accidents. Often, it's a result of not thinking ahead. Here are some safety tips which should help to keep your child safer.

CURB THE RISING COST OF ICE CUBES.

Give your refrigerator or freezer a break by giving it less work to do.

- Locate your refrigerator away from heat sources like ranges or radiators. Decide what you want before opening the door. It saves as much as 20% on energy.
- Defrost when frost build-up exceeds one quarter inch. Keep your freezer at 0° F. Higher isn't good, colder isn't necessary.
- Make sure all doors seal tightly.
- Allow space between the cooling unit and wall for heat dissipation.
- Clean dust from condenser fins.

Keokuk

Mrs. Kenneth R. Douglas
Reporter

Sunday services were held at Bethel AME Church the past Sunday where the Rev. D. E. Johnson is pastor.

Usual Sunday morning services were at Pilgrim Rest Baptist Church last Sunday with Rev. J. H. Mims, pastor. His text chosen from Revelation 3:14-22 was "The church that made Jesus sick." A nice crowd attended the service.

In the June 5 issue of the Iowa Bystander, the Keokuk subscribers were pleasantly surprised to see the picture of a Keokuk native. Mrs. Cris Oquendo, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Tom Holton, greeted them from one of the many advertisements in the paper.

This week the sick are Mrs. Kathy Colby, and George Galbreath entered St. Joseph Hospital and Mrs. Connie Reed, and Miss Henrietta Oliver entered Graham. At this writing all are showing improvement. Mrs. Tom Sangster and children, Kia and Tom Jr., are visiting her mother, Mrs. Violet Tinder in Milwaukee.

Word was received here during the past week that Mrs. Virginia Young of Los Angeles, a former resident, is in the hospital there and has undergone surgery.

John Porter of Detroit is visiting in the home of his father, Perry Porter.

Miss Sherrie Bunton, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clifton Bunton, was one of five students receiving scholarships to Keokuk Community College. The scholarships are given each year by the Jaycees during their annual Street Fair.

Mrs. Tom Holton spent several days last week visiting relatives and friends in Des Moines.

Harry Mims, Sr., died unexpectedly, Monday June 8, in Graham Hospital. He was born June 1, 1918 in Lexington, Miss., the son of the late LeRoy and Minnie Mims. He married Mary Murff on Oct. 31, 1958. Mr. Mims moved to Keokuk five years ago, and was the custodian of the Westminster United Presbyterian Church. He retired three years ago because of his health. He was a member of the Pentecostal Gospel Tabernacle and the American Legion.

Survivors include his wife, three sons, Tony and Harry of Chicago, and Dwayne at home; three daughters, Betty Mims and Mrs. Gloria Johnson of Chicago, and Yolanda Mims at home; four brothers and six sisters. He was preceded in death by two sisters. Funeral services were held Thurs. at 2:30 p.m. at the Pentecostal Gospel Tabernacle with Rev. Emmanuel Varner officiating. Burial with military rites was in the Keokuk National Cemetery.

Rev. D. E. Johnson attended the Iowa-Nebraska Conference (NAACP) in Des Moines the past week. He was accompanied by Barbara Stewart who represented the newly organized youth chapter of the organization.

Those in charge of the Bible School held the week of June 9-13 at Bethel AME Church are unanimous in praising the acceptance given their efforts.

Mrs. Jackie Scott planned a most interesting and active week for the youngsters of the community. There was music, arts and crafts, games, refreshments, field trips and a picnic. The school staff consisted of Mrs. Magga Johnson in charge of music; Mrs. Jackie Scott, arts and crafts; Ray Bradley Jr., playground director; Mrs.

Lenna Stewart, Jr., Bible class and Mrs. Ethel Tinder, primary class. The pastor, Rev. Johnson, the members of Bethel in charge, and all who helped to make the effort such a success are to be commended by the community for an endeavor that was very well done.

Mrs. Lois Gay and children, who have made their home in Keokuk for the past several months, are moving to Davenport, Iowa. Mrs. Gay, an L.P.N. has been employed at Graham Hospital for the past year.

Mrs. Connie Reed who has been a patient at Graham Hospital for several days has been returned to her home.

Mrs. Bessie Crowson, who spent the winter in Los Angeles has returned to her home. She was accompanied by her sister, Mrs. Elizabeth Fields, who plans an indefinite stay.

Robert Beecham is a patient in the hospital in Iowa City. Mrs. Mary Lee Tsuffis returned to her home in Webster, N.Y. the first of last week. She was called here due to the death of her father, B. H. Toomes. Her mother, Mrs. Ruth Toomes has accompanied her to Webster for an indefinite stay.

Six local church leaders were honored in the graduation ceremonies of the Quad-Cities School of Religious Studies and Leadership Development on Thursday, May 22, at 7:30 p.m. in the Church of Peace, Rock Island. The commencement ceremonies were conducted by the Missouri School of Religion. The president of the school, Rev. Adrian McKay awarded diplomas of the associate of arts in religion degree to Mrs. Nellie Cheers, Rev. Roy Cheers of Olivet Baptist Church, Rock Island; Rev. William Frison of the Mt. Olive Church of God in Christ, Davenport; Rev. Rosie Lee McQueen of Moses Temple Community Church, Rock Island; Rev. Harold L. Toney of New Hope Baptist Church, Davenport; and Rev. Andrew J. Thornton of Rock Island.

Featured speaker at the ceremonies was Rev. Clarence M. Savoy, former director of Urban Ministry for Churches United of Scott & Rock Island Counties, who initiated the Quad-Cities School six years ago. He is currently pastor of the West Mitchell CME Church in Atlanta, Ga.

The Quad-Cities School of Religious Studies is a unique program in which local religious leaders who have not had other opportunities for college study were enrolled in a series of courses designed to meet their needs as religious leaders. Participating in the program were the Religious Department of Augustana College and the Adult Education Division of BlackHawk College, with the Missouri School of Religion providing accreditation and the degree. Local coordination was under the direction of Churches United, Dr. Otto Schweinberger of BlackHawk College, and Dr. Peter Beckman of Augustana College.

In addition to the graduates, four other students were honored for having completed significant numbers of credit hours in the program, and who will continue their studies so they can receive the AA degree in religion. They were Rev. Gabriel Barber III, of Rock Island; Rev. Lacey Davis of Davenport; Pastor Rena Dawkins of East Moline and Rock Island and Carles Jenkins of Davenport.

Following the ceremonies, which were open to the public, a reception was held in the Church social hall to honor the graduates.

At least seven Davenport residents will be packing their bags soon and departing for the nation's capital to attend the annual convention of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People.

Scheduled to begin June 29 and continuing through July 4, the convention will have the Sheraton-Park Hotel as its headquarters.

Planning to attend the week of workshops, plenary sessions, and social activities are: Glenn and Rochelle Perkins, Josephine Dixon, Mary Smith, Drucella Kimmins, Garnette Jackson, and Andrew Edelen.

The Perkins plan to spend the week following the convention visiting friends and relatives on the East coast. Also, Edelen plans to spend a week with his grandmother who celebrated her 98th birthday on May 2. Andy will take along his 14 year old son, Bernard.

Social Security

QUESTION: I have just filed my 1974 tax returns and I just noticed that my income amounted to more than $2400. I got all of my social security checks last year and I'm wondering if I have to file any report beside my tax returns?

ANSWER: Yes. You will need to file an annual report of earnings for 1974 with the social security office. Your income tax returns go to the Internal Revenue Service and they have nothing to do with the social security checks you get. Your annual report must be filed by April 15, 1975.

QUESTION: I am still in excellent health, although I am almost 70 years old, and I plan to continue working as long as I can. Is there some "bonus" in store for me when I do retire, because of my working past age 65?

ANSWER: You bet there is. First of all, there is a delayed retirement credit for this continued work. Second, once you reach age 72, you can draw your Social Security regardless of how much you are earning. You should contact your nearest Social Security Office for a fuller explanation of both these features.

QUESTION: I got a letter from the Social Security Office a couple of weeks ago reminding me that I was going to be 65 soon (as if I needed reminding) and that I should come in to get my medicare established. Why should I do this, since I am still working full time and don't plan to retire for many years?

ANSWER: You never know what may happen; if illness or disability strike unexpectedly, you want to be sure that your Medicare is ready to go. What's more, if you wait too long, the rate that you'll pay for it will increase somewhat. You ought to get your claim filed no later than the month before you reach age 65.

Martial Arts

The martial arts—Is it sport, religion or weaponry? There are many different answers from different practitioners. But, whatever it is, it's hot.

July's issue of Black Sports looks into the martial arts and happily reports that Black-belted blacks are represented in the top competition or involved in the promotion.

Blacks by the thousands are donning the karateka's baggy white GI in pursuit of the elusive Black belt, the emblem of perfection which distinguishes the true martial arts devotee from the fad follower. Two of the many Black martial arts experts, "Monster Man" Everett and "Mr. Kung-fu" Casel are highlighted in next month's sports magazine.

NAACP Kicks Membership Drive Government Wide

Washington—Representatives of key government agencies met with national NAACP officials to discuss kicking off a government wide membership campaign.

Yvonne Price of the NAACP Washington Bureau and Gertrude Gorman of the National membership staff briefed the group on the national convention to be held in Washington, D.C., June 30 — July 4. The theme is to be NAACP — "You Gotta Belong." This year's membership drive hopes to continue the successful 1974 campaign when the Association's national membership increased by over 30,000.

With the launching of this nationwide drive in more than 1500 communities in all 50 states, the NAACP branch department has sent special campaign kits to each branch with campaign materials to assist them in achieving their membership goals.

Founded in 1909 by a group of black and white men and women to further racial justice in America, the NAACP today has 440,000 members throughout the nation and abroad. It stands as the largest and most active civil rights organization in the world, offering a broad range of local, regional, and national programs.

The Washington Bureau works with the various government agencies, the Congress and the Executive Branch to see that civil rights laws are enacted and enforced. Some of its major victories under the directorship of its chief lobbyist, Clarence Mitchell, has been passage of the 1964 Civil Rights Act and the Voting Rights Act of 1965. The Voting Rights Act is now before the Congress for a ten year extension.

HUD News

The Government National Mortgage Association (GNMA) of the U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development recently announced that approximately $157 million of mortgage backed securities will be sold at auction on June 24, 1975.

According to Daniel P. Kearney, president of GNMA, the securities in the amount of $157,304, 782.14 will have an issue date of July 1, 1975, have approximately 30-year maturities, and bear interest at the rate of 7.25 percent per annum.

Delivery of the securities will be made on the settlement day of July 15, 1975, with accrued interest.

Bids will be considered for the purchase of all securities in their entirety, not for a portion thereof. The sale will be conducted in accordance with the GNMA Auction Sale Manual, dated December 1, 1974, as amended.

This will be the fifth such auction this calendar year, bringing the total of securities auctioned in this manner to $1.3 billion. Under this procedure, GNMA sells government guaranteed securities backed by mortgages to individual mortgage bankers.

Trudy Holt

Trudy Ann Holt has been doing hair since she was twelve years old.

After many years of training and preparations she is now ready to use her talents to serve the public. Mrs. Holt will begin Sunday, June 22, when she has the grand opening of her beauty salon, "The Miracle Worker Hair Studio." The salon is located at 411 Railroad Street Place in West Des Moines.

For five years Mrs. Holt, of Des Moines, has been a hairstylist. She has spent many years of study and training to perfect her skill. Her first steps of schooling lead her to the Iowa School of Beauty. From there she worked at the J.C. Penny's Company salon where she won a contest for the United States for top sales. Trudy trained for one year in Fort Dodge with Sir Edward Miller.

Returning to Des Moines she went to work for "The Great American Disaster." A year and a half was spent at "The Great American Disaster" before it closed. During that time period Mrs. Holt attended Pivot Point International in Chicago for her master's degree in hairstyling.

Through the Gemby Company in New York, Trudy went to a special training class in St. Louis for the Walter Fountaine training on new techniques of relaxers and defrisage. Fountaine is an internationally known hair stylist and he appeared in the May issue of McCall Magazine.

While in St. Louis, the beauty salon owner was selected as a trainer for the company in the U.S.

Trudy plans to attend another class in London, England soon. Instructors for the training session will be John and Suzan Chadwicks. Future plans for the hairstylist include the desire to design the style of cuts she does.

Through her years of work study, and training, Mrs. Holt has time to mother five children. They are Edward, Jr., Lesia, Harold, Stephanie and Arichicia.

Perhaps you will find time to go by "The Miracle Workers Hair Studio" and meet Trudy Holt, a member of Who's Who in Des Moines.

Money Distribution Provides Summer Jobs

The distribution formula for $20,450,081 to provide summer jobs for an estimated 37,650 young persons in Iowa, Kansas, Missouri and Nebraska was announced earlier this week by the U.S. Department of Labor in Kansas City.

Richard G. Miskimins, who heads the Department's Manpower Administration in the four-state region, said that the allocations are based on the bill passed by the Congress last week. The programs will be operated by the 23 state and local governments which are prime sponsors in the region under the Comprehensive Employment and Training Act (CETA).

The jobs are for economically disadvantaged youths and would be for nine to twelve weeks with a minimum pay of $2.10 an hour.

Prime sponsors received program guidelines and instructions more than five weeks ago, including planning estimates, to permit the hiring of youths for summer jobs on schedule, Miskimins said. He noted that prime sponsors already have the authority and flexibility to use Title I CETA funds to start their summer programs in anticipation of an expected appropriation by the Congress. Some sponsors have carry-over money from last summer's program.

The following allocations for Iowa were announced based on a formula that takes into account area unemployment, poverty level population and previous year funding.

Iowa 3,772,292; Central Iowa Regional Assn. of Local Governments, 557,644; Linn County Consortium, 103,170; Blackhawk County, 125,977; Woodbury County, 177,019; Scott County, 158,014; Balance of Iowa, 2,600,448.

During my collegiate era, I competed in intramural athletics and was a cheerleader for two years. Before you get any weird connotations concerning male cheerleaders ask me about it.

Cheerleading helped me to travel a lot in this country, meet nice people (like some of you, of course) and get exposure on national television when Louisiana Tech was number one in the nation in division two football.

High school days bring back many memories that are to numerous to discuss now. Perhaps you can wait until I write my book. If you cannot wait to meet me I oftentimes will be sitting in a little office in West Des Moines. Maybe you could drop by with a few news stories or advertisements as excuses to see me.

I decided to heed the words of the old man (old people are wise I've come to realize) and come North. I am here, brothers and sisters, so help me out by reading YOUR newspaper.

family away from one another.

You love your family. But sometimes it's nice just to get away in a quiet corner by yourself. Well, Central National understands. So we'll lend you the money to add extra rooms to your house... make a quiet little corner where you can get away. If you want to get your family away from one another (once in a while) ask us about a home improvement loan. Or, if you want something for your home other than a room, we can help. Maybe a swimming pool. Or a new garage. Appliances. New carpeting. Or one of a hundred things. We don't always say yes—there are some things we can't do. But most of the time you'll get the money you need. One catch. You'll have to promise to pay it back. Come in and see one of our installment loan officers. If lending you some money will make you happy, then we're happy. Fair enough?

Humphrey Supports ‘Jackson for ZPresident

(Washington, D.C.—CNS) Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey (D-Minn.), a former leading candidate for President, urged voters to consider Sen. Henry (Scoop) Jackson (D-Wash.) as the Democratic nominee for chief executive at a Jackson fundraising dinner held recently.

Hailing Jackson's voting record in support of human and civil rights, Humphrey told supporters "I suggest to you this evening that much more attention should be directed to the remarkable record of Jackson in advancing and protecting the human freedoms of every American citizen."

"I know. I was there. I remember that in the late 1940's and early 1950's, long before civil rights was a winning issue, Scoop Jackson was standing in the front ranks of those who were fighting for even the most

The former vice-president cited Jackson's votes to abolish the poll tax and segregated hospitals built with federal funds as well as the senator's votes to establish a Federal civil rights commission and a civil rights division in the Department of Justice.

"During the early 1950's, for example, Scoop stood among a handful of House members who voted to abolish the Un-American Activities Committee—a step that finally was taken by the present Congress," Humphrey stated.

"And how many of you remember that in the 1956 Scoop Jackson, then a freshman senator from Washington, voted to create a special congressional watchdog committee to oversee the Central Intelligence Agency?

The proposal lost by better than a two to one margin. But suppose Scoop had won that battle? What a difference that might have made," the senator continued.

Humphrey said, "all of us, today, are much more familiar with Scoop Jackson's courageous stand in behalf of human and religious freedom around the globe—in countries that flagrantly deny those rights to religious and ethnic minorities. I salute him for his courage and determination in this difficult battle."

Still praising Jackson in introducing the 1976 presidential candidate Humphrey said: It is a record compiled over more than three decades of public service. And, it is a record that tells you something about the character of this outstanding American."

Henry Scoop Jackson (D-Wash.) and Mrs. Jackson at a fundraising dinner in support of Jackson's race for the Democratic presidential nomination. The affair was held at the Washington Hilton Hotel. In Ghana Village, Twi for Two Requires Interpreter

By Jerome K. Full

KUMASI, Ghana — Nana Okai-Ababio is the village chief and he is glad to meet visitors who come to Bonwire to admire and buy the distinctive kente cloth woven by the men of the village.

Bonwire is at the end of a rutted dirt road which forks off a main paved road serving the regional center of Kumasi, 170 miles northwest of the capital of Accra.

In his simple house, the chief is surrounded by his counselors, the leading men of the village, and he seats his honored guests to the right and greets them with poise and dignity. His language is Twi, as it is of all the people of the Ashanti tribe, and for most visitors, that means an interpreter. That is fairly easy to arrange for English-speaking tourists. Most of the people of the region and virtually all of the younger generation, speak English and Twi.

Several hundred families live in Bonwire and the village tradition is that its men climb inside the racks to operate the kente looms. The visitor is told that the work is too hard, too tedious for women.

It is, certainly, hard and tedious for anyone. Each of the luminous threads crossing the warp is passed by hand and an hour's work is measured in parts of an inch on a strip of cloth perhaps four inches wide. The strips are then sewn together to create a predominately golden material—heavy, rich and the best quality of traditional dress in all of Ghana.

Visitors see the material in terms of table settings, wall hangings, shawls and, if their budget is sufficient, draperies. Kente cloth is not cheap: a piece 20 inches by 7 feet will run about $30, but yields cents per hour to the artisan who makes it.

Not too many visitors come to Bonwire. The village would like to attract more. Chief Nana Okai-Ababio will tell his visitors that he needs money to build a crafts house where the work may be done, viewed, stored and sold. If he had a further wish, he would want money to build a facility that would accommodate guests and he would like an improved road into the town. But he does not complain.

Life is, perhaps, a little easier for the people in the carving village of Ahwia and the adinkra cloth printing village of Ntonso, both located on a paved highway where travelers may comfortably stop, browse and, if inclined, buy.

Both are also near Kumasi, the capital of the great Ashanti people and the home of their king, the Asantehene. One of the recent Ashanti kings, Prempeh I, resisted the British for 24 years and then was exiled for 28 years, returning here in 1924 for the last seven years of his life.

Kumasi evokes and preserves the history of the Ashanti people in the palace of the Asantehene, the Kumas Cultural Center and in the various museums which record and interpret the life of the people. The Ashantis are the most powerful ethnic group in Ghana and were the last to be defeated (in 1874) by the British occupying forces although, in fact, the Ashanti and the British clashed until 1924.

Kumasi is also a major crafts center, in the city proper and in the villages like Bonwire, Ahwia and Ntonso. Other villages specialize in pottery, another in beautiful items made from sugar cane, another in beads made from handsome roughly cut stones.

Social security payments to people 72 and over aren't affected by their earnings. "But earnings can affect payments to people under 72," Larson said. "They should report any change in their work or earnings on the post card sent to people who work and get social security checks. If the post card is lost, the report can be made by calling or visiting any social security office."

The Des Moines social security office is at 210 Walnut Street, Room 293, Federal Building. The phone number is 284-4500.

"But people earning more than they originally estimated who don't report the change may get social security payments not due them and have to pay back some money at the end of the year."

Social security payments are not affected by earnings of $2,520 or less for the year. Payments are reduced $1 for each $2 earned over $2,520, but no matter how much people earn in a year they can get their full social security payment for any month they neither earn over $210 nor do substantial work in their own business.

For Black Students

Mail Carrier Gets Degree After Nine Years at Drake

Leroy F. Johnson of 1509 23rd Street recently graduated from Drake University. Johnson, a mail carrier, completed nine years of academic pursuit when he received his bachelor's degree in humanities last May.

Being a career postal employee, Johnson has worked as mail clerk, mail carrier and acting foreman of collection and delivery. He was born in Missouri and migrated to Iowa in 1956.

In 1958, he began his employment with the postal service and also was involved in various community activities. He is an associate minister in Des Moines and Fort Dodge, commuting to Fort Dodge twice weekly, and a Boys Club youth director, plus a sponsor for several youth organizations.

With such a busy schedule, Johnson has found time to complete two correspondence courses through the Postal Employee Development Center and to take up deer hunting with the bow and arrow. An avid sportsman, Johnson states that he is looking forward to a summer vacation of camping and fishing with his wife, Barbara, and their three children, ages 3-9, and then get back to the books at the Drake University Graduate School.

Blame for Flight To Suburbs should not be City Schools

NEW YORK — Court ordered desegregation of inner city schools cannot be blamed for white flight to the suburbs, said Dr. Robert L. Green, dean of the College of Urban Development, Michigan State University, and Dr. Thomas Pettigrew, professor of social relations, Harvard University at a June 13 news conference in New York.

Green and Pettigrew, in a prepared statement, criticized the research and recent statements of University of Chicago professor James S.

Coil Graduates

Phyllis Jean Coil, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Coil of 1517 Eighteenth Street is a June graduate of Des Moines Technical School.

During her senior year, Miss Coil was homeroom representative, and a librarian assistant. She was a part-time employee for two summers at the Small Business Administration.

Miss Coil is presently employed at the American Republic Insurance Company.

PHYLLIS JEAN COIL

Coleman, primary author of the 1966 "Coleman Report" on equal educational opportunity.

The two professors took issue with Coleman, indicating that he slanted his data and used opinions rather than fact in stating that white flight is caused by desegregating schools. They added that many variables other than race may be correlated with white flight.

"Among these variables are the increase in crime, the movement of industry from the cities, pollution and urban blight," they said.

Coleman's conclusion that court-ordered integration has been a failure was based on an analysis of 20 cities over a five-year period. However, Coleman's analysis of the next 50 largest cities indicates that increased integration of schools "had absolutely no effect on white flight," Green and Pettigrew reported.

"However, Professor Coleman does not emphasize this data," they said.

According to Coleman, court-ordered desegregation produces resegregation. Green and Pettigrew pointed out that the greatest amount of northern white flight occurred between 1950 and 1970, long before efforts were made to desegregate northern schools.

The two professors also criticized Coleman for stating, without presenting substantiating data, that there is a correlation between school desegregation and private school attendance.

Coleman's statements blaming white flight on fear of disorder "also seem to be based on opinion rather than data," Green and Pettigrew said.

They added that such fear cannot be denied, but the responsibility for disruptive behavior is related to a complex set of factors.

"Initial disorder connected with desegregation generally involves white parents rather than black children, and this disorder seems to be short-lived," they commented.

Recently, Coleman has stated that the courts have gone beyond their Constitutional duty by ordering desegregation.

Green and Pettigrew, however, said that the task of desegregating schools fell to the courts because school boards were not carrying out their responsibilities.

Young Memorial Foundation Announces Six Recipients

Six persons have been announced as recipients for the 1975-76 Whitney M. Young, Jr. Fellowships by the Whitney M. Young, Jr. Memorial Foundation.

The recipients of the Foundation's third annual Fellowship awards are Paul David Escott, Durham, N.C.; Adrienne Maria Foster, San Francisco; Wilburn Hayden, Jr., Greensboro, N.C.; Joyce Mathis, New York; Freeman T. Pollard, Denver and Jeffery T. Sammons, Lincoln University, Pa.

Four Academic Fellowships and two Informal Tutorial Study Grants were awarded. The Fellows were approved by the Foundation Board on the basis of the nominations of the Foundations Selection Committee, consisting of eminent educators and public figures. Members of the Selection Committee personally interviewed the candidates before making their nominations.

In announcing the Fellowships, Mrs. Whitney M. Young, Jr., chairman, and Joseph F. Cullman III, president of the Foundation, noted that the first annual Foundation Fellowships were announced in 1973—just two years after the death of the former executive director of the National Urban League.

The foundation was created following Young's death in 1971. Its Fellowships are intended to memorialize him by providing minority group leadership training and developmental opportunities for men and women who have demonstrated talents and commitment in the broad field of social science, which was Young's professional service and primary interest. The Foundation is devoting special attention to interracial cooperation in the areas of social services, career counseling and training, human resources, communications and government and its related agencies.

Escott, 27, is a history teacher at Duke University and plans to use his Informal Tutorial Study Grant to devote this year to full time reading, analyzing and recording data from the Federal Writer's Project-Slave Narratives and a number of smaller collections of slave narratives. Creating a greater awareness of the need for interracial understanding, Escott plans to emphasize in his work the contributions of blacks and other minorities to America's development.

Miss Foster, 30, will use her Fellowship award to pursue her Ph.D. in clinical psychology. She plans to teach at the

Black Caucus Trio Support Miss Little

Three members of the Congressional Black Caucus have called for the Department of Justice to intervene in the murder prosecution of Joanne Little.

Rep. Yvonne B. Burke, Shirley Chisolm and John Conyers spoke out for Miss Little, a 20 year old black woman accused of the fatal stabbing of her Beaufort, North Carolina jailer, Clarence Aligood.

Miss Little maintains that her actions were in self-defense against a rape attempt by Aligood. The Beaufort County Superior Court has denied a pre-trial motion to quash the murder indictment. Miss Little faces the death penalty.

Rep. John Conyers, chairman of the House Judiciary's Subcommittee on Crime has labelled the North Carolina legal system as, "perhaps one of the most oppressive in the entire country." Rep. Conyers stated that nearly 35% of the nation prisoners on death row await execution in North Carolina, and the overwhelming majority of those inmates are black.

In a statement of members of the media on April 15, Rep. Chisolm said, "A woman's right to defend herself during sexual attack, whether she is incarcerated or not, must be examined in light of such cases as Joanne Little's."

Rep. Burke noted, "We cannot conscientiously ignore Joanne Little's assertions of self-defense, nor the allegations that other women have been subjected to sexual abuse while incarcerated. We believe there is sufficient reason to justify an inquiry into this situation."

Michigan Has Women's Day

Governor William G. Milliken has declared that June 23, 1975 will be observed as Black Women Day in Michigan in honor of the courage and spirit of the black women throughout the United States.

Black Woman Day observance, originated by ENCORE Magazine to honor the American Black Woman, coincides with publication that day of a special 84-page edition of the newsmagazine, the nation's first biweekly edited and published by a black woman journalist, Ida Lewis.

The Governor noted in his Executive Declaration that "The black woman is one of America's unsung heroines. She has carried the pain of slavery in her heart and nourished a seed of hope for freedom. Now, more than ever, we need to call upon the strengths and values that have helped a people over many a mountain, and recall the hopes and prayers that can carry us all into a new land."

The Michigan Chief Executive urged all citizens of his state to "become aware and appreciative of the special qualities which our women possess and display." He noted further that "we need to pause and say to those black women who do their daily work without complaint: 'Well Done.'"

Headed up by Fred Williamson as director, producer and star; the moving sensitive motion picture introduced Jenny Sherman, and stars Roddy McDowall, Stuart Whitman, Luther Adler, and Tony Caruso, with co-starring roles being played by Bob Phillips, Mike Henry, R. G. Armstrong, and Aaron Banks, with a special guest star cameo role featuring Elliott Gould.

Earl Graves Gets Alma Mater Award

Earl G. Graves, editor and publisher of Black Enterprise Magazine, was honored last week as Alumnus of the Year at his alma mater, Morgan State College in Baltimore, Maryland.

A 1958 graduate, Graves holds a B.A. degree in economics, as well as an honorary doctor of laws degree, also conferred on him from Morgan State.

The presentation of the 1975 Alumnus of the Year award was the highlight of the Alumni Day activities which took place May 24. During the 108th Commencement Exercises which followed the next day, Graves was again honored with a citation read by Phillip Savage.

Savage praised Graves' numerous accomplishments by saying, "Within the short span of time that has lapsed since you were graduated from Morgan State you have become the role model for the generation of Morganites which followed you."

Bartels Summarily Removed; Rangel Criticizes Ford Adm.

In a speech prepared for presentation on the Floor of the House of Representatives June 9, Congressman Charles B. Rangel (D-N.Y.) sharply criticized the way in which the Ford Administration handled the dismissal of its chief drug enforcement administrator John R. Bartels, Jr.

"It is inconceivable to me", Rangel said, "that a man of Bartels stature who has done so much to combat the international flow of illicit narcotics into this country should be summarily dismissed without being accorded even minimal due process".

Commenting on the Justice Department's explanation that Bartels was removed because of mistakes in management, the New York Congressman stated, "We all know that major reorganizations within the bureaucracy are often met with resistance by many. It is unfortunate indeed that management problems of this nature have been blamed entirely on John Bartels".

Bartels, who has a reputation for professional integrity had strongly warned that the resumption of the opium poppy production in Turkey will result in an upturn in illicit drug usage in the United States. By maintaining this strong position he placed himself in opposition to the prevailing State Department and Administration position that preserving our diplomatic relationship with Turkey was more important than our strongly opposing their decision to lift the opium ban. "He is being penalized for reporting the facts," the New York Congressman said.

I have evidence from officials in my own city that the use of illicit drugs is already on the upswing and could reach unprecedented proportions by the fall. "We are already seeing the effects of the Turkish resumption. The removal of Mr. Bartels," Rangel concluded, "threatens to further weaken our efforts to stem this renewed epidemic of heroin addiction."

Festival Marks Opening Of the 1900 Horse Farm

The 1900 Farm Days Festival on June 27-29 marks the opening of the 1900 Horse Farm at Living History Farms, located at the Hickman exit on I-35.

Harry and Terry Hoogesteger, the couple living on the 1900 farm and hosts for the festival, will demonstrate basic chores and activities of the 1900 era as well as guide visitors through the area. Attractions include a turn of the century farmhouse, a typical 1900 barn, a garden and croplands.

Points of interest in the farmhouse include typical furnishings, a home remedies display and a 1900 music and literature display. Mrs. Hoogesteger said she would like to give butter churning and treadle sewing machine demonstrations if the crowd is not too large. "Most importantly, we just want to give a basic introduction to the house and area," she said. To lessen the confusion, many of the demonstrations will be set up at the Flynn Mansion area. These attractions may include making rag rugs, quilting, churning butter and sewing on a treadle machine.

Hoogesteger will be giving demonstrations on using horses and horse drawn equipment for farm chores, and he will supervise demonstrations in the 1900 barn. The main attraction will be a demonstration of old tools and barn building equipment used to construct the pig barn. The carpenters who built the barn will also be present to answer questions concerning construction and tools. Old time family games, such as horseshoes and marbles, will be set up on the front lawn of the farmhouse.

RICHARD MAJERUS,
MARGARET L. MAJERUS,
THRIFT PLAN, INC. POLK COUNTY, IOWA,
DEFENDANTS.
TO THE ABOVE-NAMED
DEFENDANTS:

You are hereby notified that the Petition of the Plaintiff in the above-entitled action is now on file in the Office of the Clerk of the District Court of Iowa in and for Polk County, Iowa, claiming personal judgment against Richard Majerus and Margaret L. Majerus, and judgment in rem against the property hereinafter described in the sum of $12,128.08 with interest at the rate of 7% per annum, from and after October 1, 1974, on the promissory note of Richard Majerus and Margaret L. Majerus, executed and delivered to the Plaintiff, who is the absolute owner thereof, and said note and mortgage given to secure said note are due and payable by reason of the failure of the Defendants to pay the installments of principal and interest when due. The Petition further asks for foreclosure of said mortgage of even date and the note of December 30, 1971, on the following described real estate, to-wit:

Lots 133 and 135 in Block 12 in Grant Park, now included in and forming a part of the City of Des Moines, Iowa, and also asking that said mortgage be declared a prior and paramount lien to that of each and all Defendants and further praying for the appointment of a receiver, and for the amount paid by the Plaintiff for legal attorney fees, abstract expenses and all accruing costs of this action, and for such other relief as may be just and equitable in the premises.

You are further notified that the mortgage herein provides that in the event of foreclosure and sale of the property by Sheriff's sale, the time of one year redemption shall be reduced to six months provided that the mortgagee waives any right to take a deficiency judgment. Plaintiff reserves the right to waive all rights to a deficiency judgment prior to Sheriff's sale.

You are further notified that the mortgage herein provides that in the event the Court finds in the Decree that the titleholders who are personally liable on the mortgage have abandoned the premises and the mortgagee has waived any right to a deficiency judgment, the redemption period shall be reduced from one year to sixty (60) days.

The foreclosure Petition of the Plaintiff prays for a writ of possession in the event that any part of the mortgaged premises be sold under foreclosure decree and not redeemed from Sheriff's sale as provided by law without any other additional proceedings.

You are further notified to appear before said Court at Des Moines, in Polk County, Iowa, on or before the 11th day of July, 1975, and that unless you do so appear, your default will be entered and judgment or decree rendered against you for the relief demanded in the Petition.

The Dollar Is All That Counts

By Allen Ashby

I looked at the golfers on the pro tour the other day, and it struck me that a fellow named Jim Dent is about due to come through and stage an upset and win one of the big ones. He has won the long driving championship of the big guys at least once, and if Jim can come up with a good short game, he could make it warm for some of the favorites.

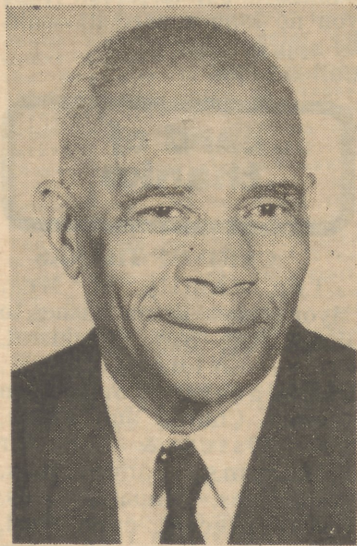

Several times Dent has finished among the top dozen, and that takes some doing to come in ahead of names like Palmer, Trevino, and such. While we are looking to see what Lee Elder does, let's not forget to watch for Jim Dent. He just might qualify for the Masters, too.

And locally, I wonder how many young black boys are playing the game. I haven't been following golf too closely, but I just can't hear of any promising golfers. Ordinarily, even though I don't follow a game very closely, I hear of the guys who are considered good. And I just haven't heard any names mentioned that one should remember.

We are getting a number of kids in the Junior Tennis League, but I can't give any names right off the bat. Some people don't approve of this instant competition, and others think it is the thing. I recall Chet Williamson in the thirties saying that that was the way it should be. If a person didn't take to the game right now, forget him. But Brother Bill and I didn't see it that way. Never did figure out who was right since we both had people who did all right under the two systems.

Folks who thrived on instant competition were in one group, and the people who were brought along were in another. They broke about even in competition as the summer wore on. It seemed as if the kids who were tossed to the wolves had more desire and determination for the most part than the other kids, although this was not always the case, for some of the sheltered kids had everything, too.

When I think of people today just picking up a racket and becoming instant tennis teachers, I wonder why we were born so soon. We taught the game because we wanted to develop players, and no sacrifice was too great to bring along a promising youngster. Today I watch people who were not even very good players teaching for money, and I know what is wrong with the entire setup of athletics in America. The dollar is all that counts.

Boxing, too.

Talking with George Bourland the other day, and we recalled how he used to try to develop amateur boxing. The guy used most of his money, and got very little help to keep his gym open. He really had to improvise, and sometimes had to use money that he must have needed for other things to keep things going. But he turned out some tough boxers, and at least three of them could have made it big in the pros.

Another thing about George's boxers: they were always in condition. They never got tired and lost in the last round because of that. He worked them until they nearly hated him. It paid off in that a boy was never hurt while George was training him. Very few of his boys got knocked clear out or wore out during a bout. But then again, today, it is that we teach you for x number of dollars.

However, one fellow says that he has worked with kids, and he doesn't think most of them want to pay the price to become good. He says he has worked kids, and as soon as he made them work what they thought was too hard, they went home. But still guys keep cropping up in the Golden Gloves bouts. Although Morton Graves, who must have referred five hundred fights, says most of them are not ready or don't know what to do. He has said that he was surprised at the lack of ordinary intelligence shown by some of the fighters.

Why

Today it would seem that there are so many things for kids to do that they just don't know where to start. There are so many distractions. Kids who could play for most of the good teams in team sports aren't thinking about school. They never want to get out of the playground area where they are really good, and they could be anywhere else.

A young girl who played tennis at Penn College told me the story I have heard from so many other people about kids who are natural athletes and can't get to school because of other interests. And there aren't enough dedicated people to try to pull them out and help them. Those who might help sometimes get lost themselves, and put the career and bucks ahead of helping kids. I sometimes wonder if they are really so far wrong.

Oh, Yes

Every Friday night there is a bowling bunch called the Road Runners who meet at the Grand Lanes for what they call cash bowling. I don't know just what this consists of, but some night I am going to stay around long enough to see what it is all about, and you shall get a full report.

Connecticut. Atlanta's mayor Maynard Jackson proclaimed race day as BAR Team Day in honor of Scott's fine performance. Len Miller says, "Benny is running at the front everytime he races and everyone is watching our progress. It won't be long now."

BAR was formed in 1969 to increase black participation in and black awareness of auto racing. In order to do this BAR feels the team must get to the pinnacle of American auto racing, the Indianapolis 500.

Penn Relays

The Penn Relays, held at Franklin Field in Philadelphia, Pennsylvania have long been the official temple to which track disciples come to worship.

It is the Mecca of the track set, a mandatory pilgrimage for all the faithful. Black Sports Magazine was at the meet and reports on the highlights of this exciting yearly event in its July issue.

Functioning very smoothly was North Carolina's stellar hurdler, Charles Foster. In the 180-yard high hurdles race, Foster took the gold medal with a 0:57.2 timing. Another potential Olympian, sprinter Reggie Jones of Tennessee flashed his credentials in winning the 100. And in the Ben Franklin Mile, Wilson Waigwa from the University of Texas at El Paso came from third place at the sound of the gun less than 220 yards from the finish to close in on Rick Wohluter, the 880-yard world record holder and Tony Waldrop who ran a 3:53.2 at the Penn Relays a year ago.

Waigwa won in 3:57.7 Wohluter trailed in 3:58.1 and Waldrop in 3:58.9 despite a massive blister on his left foot due to a lost shoe.

Bucks Trade Jabbar to L A

Kareem Abdul-Jabbar, pro basketball's most imposing figure and perhaps the most valuable player in the sport, was traded Monday by the Milwaukee Bucks to the Los Angeles Lakers in return for center Elmore Smith and three other players.

In satisfying the 27-year-old Abdul-Jabbar's wishes to get out of Milwaukee, the Bucks received the 7-foot Smith, guard Brian Winters and two highly-touted draft picks, 6-8 Dave Meyers of UCLA and 6-5 Junior Bridgeman of Louisville.

In addition to the four players, the official announcement made at simultaneous news conferences said the Bucks would also receive "future considerations." Those considerations were not outlined, but one source said some money was involved.

Sheepdog Trials Are this Weekend

Living History Farms will hold their annual Sheepdog Trials on June 22 at 1 p.m. at the farms.

Sponsored by the farms and by the Iowa Border Collie Association, the trials are open to all interested individuals. Nyle Sealine, secretary-treasurer of the Iowa Border Collie Association, will direct the event.

Participating dog owners will stand at the top of a hill during the trials, while dogs herd sheep down the hill and into a pen. Owners may use hand signals, whistles and voice commands, Sealine said.

Entry fees will be $5 for the professional class and $2 for the novice class. Trophies and ribbons will be awarded to winners of the novice class, and trophies and prize money will be awarded to the professional class winners.

About 1,500 people attended the trials last year, and more are expected this year, Sealine said.

Black American Racers, Inc. (BAR) of Trenton, New Jersey, the nation's leading black auto racing team, will be competing at the Watkins Glen Grand Prix Course July 11, 12, and 13. Benny Scott, of Hollywood, California has been entered in the team's new Viceroy Lola T-224 for the Glen Triple Header Weekend.

Black American Racers and Benny Scott have announced their plans to be the first black team and black driver ever to compete in the famed Indianapolis 500. Scott will be competing in the Glen's VW Gold Cup Series Race on Sunday, July 13. BAR has been using the 150 mph Viceroy Lola super vee formula car as a training ground for the larger 200 mph Indianapolis machines.

"All of the characteristics of the car are the same as an Indianapolis car," comments driver Benny Scott, and the VW Gold Cup Series provides some of the closest competition and hottest racing action that has ever been seen at Watkins Glen."

Since his first race for Black American Racers, one year ago at Watkins Glen, Benny Scott has established himself and the team as the leading professional black racers in America. Earlier this year Scott captured the fastest qualifier spot at Monterey, California's famous Laguna Seca track. He became the first person ever to average over 100 mph around the tight 1.9 mile road course and the first black in history to sit on the pole in an international auto race. His second place finish earned him fifteen championship points.

Team president Len Miller feels, "The whole team is looking for our first victory. We came close at Laguna Seca, but we are coming to Watkins Glen in search of that first place checkered flag and everyone knows we won't quit until we win."

In previous VW Gold Cup action Scott has driven the BAR's Viceroy Lola to a third place finish in Atlanta, second at Laguna Seca, tenth at Daytona, and sixth at Lime Rock,
