RECEIVES HELP TO PLAN

WASHINGTON —The NAACP national board will meet in New York City in September to begin considering a successor to Executive Director Roy Wilkins, it was disclosed here at the close of the pioneer civil rights organization's 66th annual convention at four major hotels throughout the Capital. The convention was held June 30-July 4.

News Briefs

WASHINGTON, D.C.— New FBI statistics show that the nation's crime rate soared by 18 per cent during the first months of 1975, and Atty. Gen. Edward H. Levi called the increase "one of the terrifying facts of life."

MONTGOMERY Ala.— (NBNS) U.S. District Court Judge Frank M. Johnson Jr., has approved a $9.5 million settlement of a suit brought by the survivors of the Tuskegee Syphilis Study. The settlement was reached several months ago, but the final hearing and approval of the settlement came only recently in Johnson's court. More than 600 Black men from Macon County, Ala., participated in the U.S. Public Health Service's Tuskegee study which began in 1932 and ended in 1972 where the story surfaced. The men were denied treatment for syphilis in order to study the effects of the disease on the human body.

NEW DELHI, India— Prime Minister Indira Gandhi's government won a preliminary test of strength Monday as it sought Parliament's approval of her declaration of a national emergency and suspension of civil liberties.

RALEIGH, N.C. — Jury selection speeded up Monday in the trial of Joanne Little, the black woman accused of killing a white jailer who allegedly tried to rape her. Two more jurors were chosen Monday, leaving two members of the panel and five alternates to be selected before testimony can begin.

Defense and prosecution attorneys accepted a young white restaurant owner and a black factory worker as the ninth and tenth jurors.

NEW ORLEANS, La. — Members of the Dome Stadium Commission issued a "y'all come" invitation to the public Monday for the August 3 dedication of the Louisiana Superdome.

"No Racial Overtones"

"It was just a tavern disturbance in an area of drinking and raising Cain and officers went in to make arrests. There were no racial overtones," states Capt. William Zinzer of the Des Moines Police Department.

Zinzer was referring to several incidents which took place intermittently late Monday night and early Tuesday in the 1000 and 1200 blocks of University Avenue.

Three persons were arrested, three Des Moines policemen suffered minor injuries and a Cedar Falls man was beaten as results of the incident.

At 1:28 a.m. Tuesday, two patrolmen near Roberts Lounge approached several men who were reported "milling around," police said. According to Capt. Zinzer it was dispatched that "subject(s) was throwing bottles in the street." When officers tried to make an arrest, the police report said friends of the subjects tried to intervene.

A scuffle ensued involving the patrolmen and the intervenors. During the fight, rocks and bottles were thrown at the policemen by spectators, according to police reports. Patrolmen Dale Patch, 24, Curtis Messerly, 28, and Steve Layton, 23, suffered either minor hand, wrist or head injuries and were treated at Broadlawns Polk County Hospital.

Arrested were Elijah O'Neal, Jr., 21, 1104 Nineteenth St., and Darrell Lewis, 18, no address given. They were charged with interfering with the duties of a police officer, aggravated intoxication and assault and battery.

In another incident at 11:30 p.m. Monday, Michael Eugene Edwards of 650 Twentieth St., was arrested on charges of assault and battery and illegal parking.

Merle Weaver of Cedar Falls told police that he and a friend were beaten about 12:30 a.m. Tuesday when they walked inside Robert's Lounge. The lounge's manager, Melvin Harper said that Weaver was in Robert's Lounge but the incident did not happen inside.

Vandals broke $1,000 worth of windows at the Care Cleaners, 1219 Forest Ave., and a car driven by Christina J. Sly, 22, of 1807 Eleventh St., was damaged slightly when it was struck by a bottle or rock as she was driving home through the 1200 block of University, police said. Both incidents occurred about 2:30 a.m.

Capt. Zinzer indicated that Lt. Frank Kaiser talked with several people of the community where the incidents occurred, the tavern owner. "It was nothing more than people getting too drunk," he said.

The police captain said that incidents like those in the 1000-1200 block of University area happen in every section of Des Moines.

Harper feels that most of the trouble is caused by the people on the streets and there would not be many incidents if the corners were kept cleared.

Citizens Submit Measures; Court Appoints Committee For Integration Planning

Omaha, Neb. — Four measures to create more proportional white-black student enrollment in some schools in the Omaha School District were sent to the Board of Education July 17.

Six whites and four blacks have been named to a court-appointed committee to help the Omaha School District formulate its comprehensive plans for the integration of its student body.

A citizens group, headed by Thomas Jackson of Omaha School Community Advisory Board, sent the recommendations to the board for consideration in the Phase 1 plan now being readied.

The measures would:

- * Abolish optional attendance for Technical and Central High schools.

- * Eliminate the seventh and eighth grades at Pershing and Sherman elementary schools and send those students to Horace Mann junior high school.

- * Eliminate ninth grade at North and Central high schools.

- * Abolish the "feeder school" concept which designates junior high schools from which a high school's enrollment will come, and replace the system with boundaries and zones.

The 10-member committee was announced Tuesday by U.S. District Court Judge Albert G. Schatz, who has been named to oversee the Omaha School District's integration efforts, which were ordered by the U.S. 8th Circuit Court of Appeals in St. Louis.

Named to the committee were:

Dr. Raymond Shaddy of Creighton University; William Ramsey, assistant director of development at Boys Town; Mrs. Della M. Bonner, a former junior high school teacher now active in the Urban League and other community activities; Mrs. M. T. Crummer, an Omaha housewife who has been very active in community affairs involving young people; Mrs. Mary E. Brown, a housewife who is a past president of the Omaha Council of PTAs.

Dale TeKolste of Northern Natural Gas; Tom Norwood, assistant dean in the college of education at the University of Nebraska at Omaha and a former Omaha school teacher; Samuel Crawford of Creighton University, a former Omaha school teacher and administrator; Robert Moriarty, former member of an advisory committee to the superintendent of the Omaha School District and presently employed in the personnel management division at Mutual of Omaha, and Kenneth Young, personnel manager of Control Document Corp., of Omaha, and active in community affairs.

Mrs. Brown, Moriarty and Norwood, served on the Omaha Community Committee. The committee spent six months last year working to devise programs to better balance the black-white ratio in the Omaha schools.

The Board of Education will appeal the circuit court decision to the U.S. Supreme Court, but will go ahead with integration plans in the meantime.

The first phase of the plans, involving integration of the district's teaching staff, is to be implemented this fall and plans are due Monday.

VIEWS and REVIEWS by James B. Morris

An Unfortunate Move Against Israel

When the United Nations was first born, the world had high hopes that it would serve as a strong force for peace. For a number of years, the United States and Russia stood guard over everything with neither country accomplishing very much because of their veto power.

In recent years, operating without fanfare, it managed to help nations in some peace keeping movements and to hold the U.N. together by keeping the nations talking to each other. But the big nations were in control.

Since World War II, a number of new nations have emerged and have become members of the United Nations. Today along with the Arabic, African and Asiatic nations, the combination is in the majority.

Like anything with newly found freedom, these nations have outvoted the former powerhouses and threatened some things that do not help the cause of world peace.

Among them is a move to exclude Israel from membership. Apparently, some of these nations feel that they can settle the Mid-East problems by this action.

Secretary of State Kissinger has made threats of reprisal against those nations, boasting that financial and economic aid may be discontinued if this action is taken. This action, too, has little merit.

The expulsion of Israel from the United Nations would be a serious blow since it would disrupt the cooperation the larger nations have given to enhance the progress of the smaller nations.

There should be no antagonism between various nations as such action would tend to weaken the status of the United Nations.

Higher Postal Rates: What About Better Service?

The nation has been spared a strike of the postal workers. Apparently, the unions got what they wanted, otherwise a strike would have resulted.

Chief Federal mediator, Usery, Jr., called the settlement "a victory for the postal unions and a victory for the postal service." What about the public? It has been totally dissatisfied with service to date.

Undoubtedly, postal rates will be raised and there is little the public can do about it; however, I do feel that with the modern methods costing millions of dollars, the raise will eventually enable the postal department to give the public better service.

When congress created the postal service it was done because of criticism that politics had become so involved that the service was poor and costing too much money.

Picking Out Candidates

As the political conventions and the election draw closer and closer, candidates for the nomination for president of both Democrats and Republicans are beginning to garner support for their cause.

Governor Wallace of Alabama has not announced his candidacy but he appears to be running hard and collecting considerable money to further his cause.

In spite of the bad personal record on progressive and minority causes of Governor Wallace, he continues to draw support from the conservatives. However, the Governor of Florida and other southern leaders have denounced him as unqualified to be president.

President Ford has selected a campaign manager who served in Congress from South Carolina. Apparently, from his attitude toward Vice President Rockefeller, he spends too much energy trying to drive a wedge between the president and vice president. Naturally, this does not help the cause of the Republican party for it must depend upon Independants and Democrats to elect the president in view of the great disparity of registered Democrats and Republicans.

Undoubtedly, Governor Wallace will give the Democratic party a hot potato in view of the fact that much of their great strength lies in the thickly populated cities with minorities who have little regard for the governor and if he carries on in Washington as he has in Alabama, I doubt his ability to govern the country.

Responsibility Of Schools

The County Attorney of Story County has accused the State University of Iowa of special treatment to its students in the matter of law enforcement and favoritism.

ISU responded with a resounding reply that its enforcement officers have jurisdiction of the campus and are entitled to the ordinary duties of a police officer.

However, a very valid response, made by the school which was over-looked by the county attorney, is that the school has the responsibility of helping the large number of students of different backgrounds and experiences which often require varying attention of counselors and officials of the school. And further, that when students are sent from their homes to schools, parents expect that the authority not only will be interested in their academic welfare but also their social and economic problems. This is emphasized by the fact that we have counselors in the schools from the grades up.

Naturally you can find disgruntles who criticize everything—especially those who have fallen by the wayside or have some personal crow to pick.

200 Young Americans To Attend FESTAC '75

Washington, D.C. — Approximately 200 young Americans will be recruited to serve as aides at the second World Black and African Festival of Arts and Culture (FESTAC '75), it was announced recently by Dr. Jeff Donaldson, chairman of FESTAC's North American Zone.

The festival will be held in Lagos, Nigeria from Nov. 22 through Dec. 20 this year. It is the sequel to the international festival held in Senegal in 1966.

Festival aide applicants must be between 21 and 30 years old. Nurses, medical technicians, crowd marshals, secretaries, guides, translators "and others with practical skills will be most in demand," Dr. Donaldson said. Deadline for applications is Sept. 15.

Dr. Donaldson also said that the festival's national essay contest to select 32 high school and college students to attend the festival was "well underway."

Open to high school and undergraduate university students 16 years old and over, the essay theme is "FESTAC '75: Its Impact and Implications."

Thirty-two students—two high school and two college students from each of the eight North American Zone regions—will be chosen and given all-expense paid trips to the festival. Deadline for essay entries is also Sept. 15.

Winning essays will be determined by a panel of judges named by Dr. Donaldson, with winners announced Oct. 15.

Dr. Donaldson said that the International Secretariat, the administrative arm of the festival, will pay transportation costs and expenses for both the aides and essay contest winners.

Essay contest guidelines and applications for the aide recruitment program may be obtained by writing: Ms. Yvonne Chappelle, Staff Coordinator, FESTAC North American Zone, Howard University, Wash., D.C. 20059.

Benjamin L. Hooks FCC COMMISSIONER

This is the first of a weekly column written by Benjamin L. Hooks, a commissioner of the Federal Communications Commission.

Opening Income Door For Black Attorneys

Prior to my appointment July 1972 as the first black member in the history of the Federal Communications Commission, there was a great deal of pressure from the black and civil rights community exerted on the President to appoint a black FCC Commissioner.

Four years ago the National Association of Broadcasters, the organization which represents the majority of radio and television station owners in this country, observed its 50th Golden Anniversary in glittering ceremonies at its Chicago convention.

It is a matter of historical record that blacks and other minorities had little to cheer about. For during the first 50 years of radio and the first 25 years of television, blacks were not represented at all, or were depicted as buffoons, as dumb irresponsibles, or ample bosomed, chuckly loyal servants of the Beulah-type, that did not reflect one wit the totality of black life nor add a modicum of dignity or respect to persons of darker skins.

Actual Lives Missing

This was followed by widespread presentations of athletes and entertainers in the "good guy" roles, and black fist shaking militants, in the bad guy roles. Once again the totality of black life—the struggle of black doctors in combating sickle cell anemia, black educators battling ignorance in the black community, scientists, preachers, businessmen, all working with compassion and dignity to uplift black life—is yet missing to a large degree from the TV screen.

But there are positive ripples to my appointment. When I first arrived at the FCC there were only three black lawyers of some 200 in the General Counsel's office. Today there are 18 and more are due to join.

Drastic Change

Two years ago I had the occasion to address the prestigious Federal Communications Bar Association, an organization almost entirely white, comprised of some 600 lawyers who practice communications law. I told them unless they understand the pain and humiliation of blacks, they can't understand the cries of black militancy and insisted I did not come to Washington, D.C. to enjoy revelry on the cocktail circuit and forget my black brothers and sisters back there in the ghetto. I also urged them to communicate a sense of urgency to their clients concerning the Commission's interest in promoting equal employment opportunities, insisting that if this were done, "a most drastic change in the employment picture would result."

Well, this struck an immediate responsive chord. Soon, afterwards Frank Mullin, then FCBA President, and several other FCBA members met in my offices with then Howard Law School Dean Herbert Reid. Results: The formal setting up of a communications law seminar for two hours credit for junior and senior law students at Howard University.

The FCBA financed and directed the seminar. It also set up summer internships for a number of black Howard University law students, an unprecedented move on their part, enabling these students to get a closeup look at the experience in the hitherto closed (to them) lucrative practice of communications law.

Courts No Part Of IRS

Your federal income tax return has been audited by an IRS examiner and an additional tax of $305 was proposed.

You did not agree with the examiner's decision and you have asked for a District Conference to resolve the dispute. However, no agreement on the amount of tax due was reached during this conference. You took the next step within the IRS and asked for a hearing by the Regional Appellate Division. Again, no agreement was achieved.

Having exhausted the administrative appeals system of the IRS, your next step involves the courts.

After the examiner's findings, you could have gone directly to court but you had hoped to avoid that route by settling with the IRS since most cases are disposed of in this fashion.

Now you begin to examine your options within the courts. You discover that you can take your case to the U.S. Tax Court, the U.S. Court of Claims, or your U.S. District Court. All of these courts are within the Judicial Branch and are not part of the IRS.

If you choose to petition the Court of Claims or the District Court you must first pay the contested tax. If you win your case, the tax is refunded.

Further research reveals that the U.S. Tax Court has a special Small Tax Case Procedure for taxpayers with disputes involving tax of $1,500 or less. This route seems worthy of further exploration.

You decide to write to the Clerk of the Tax Court, U.S. Tax Court, Washington, D.C., 20217, and ask for additional information.

A few days later you have received instructions and a petition form.

The information contains some good news. The court holds sessions in more than one hundred cities and one of them happens to be about 20 miles from your residence. And you needn't have a lawyer to represent you.

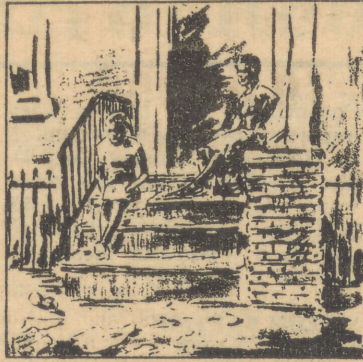

A unique feature of the Small Case Procedure of the Tax Court is that neither side may appeal the decision, nor can the verdict set a precedent for future cases.

You also must send in the petition form within 90 days of the date the IRS sent you its formal "notice of deficiency."

You fill out the simple form and submit the required $10 while specifying the location convenient to you.

The court has been petitioned and you are on your way.

IF YOU DON'T CARE...WHO WILL?

Drake Offers 225 Courses

Drake University will offer 225 courses evenings and Saturdays this fall through its College for Continuing Education, according to Dr. Phillip D. Langerman, dean of the college.

"For persons interested in continuing their education on a collegiate level," he said, "this will be a good time to start. Our 225 offerings present a wide range of educational friends or relatives, or any other premises where the child spends a considerable period of time. In this context, it is important to remember that while lead-based paint is the most important source of lead for most poisoned children, it is not the only source."

As mentioned above, attention to other sources especially dust and dirt must be considered.

Children ranging from ages 8 months through 7 years old should be tested or retested when the Lead Poisoning Screening Aides come around this July. It is extremely important that we get lead out of the child and even more important that we get the lead out of the environment.

Extension Act Ready For Full Senate Debate

With less than three weeks remaining before its key provisions expire, the Voting Rights Extension Act (S. 1279) was approved Friday by the Senate Judiciary Committee.

The bill contains the essential features of the measure the House passed on June 4. It extends the key provisions for another 10 years. It bans literacy tests permanently. And it extends the protection of the law to four "language minorities"—persons of Spanish-heritage, Asian Americans, American Indians and Alaskan Natives.

TIME TABLE: THIS WEEK?

Committee members who oppose the bill asked for three days in which to file their minority views. That means the bill could reach the Senate floor by the middle of this week.

Those sections of the bill provide the federal safeguards for minority group voters and require the states and jurisdictions covered by the Act to clear with the Justice Department all changes in voting laws and procedures before putting them into effect, are scheduled to expire August 6. There is no question that Senate opponents of the Voting Rights Act will seek to filibuster and block final action before Congress takes its summer recess, scheduled to start August 1.

For more information or to register, telephone the College for Continuing Education at 271-2181. Mail and walk-in registration will be accepted through Friday, August 8. Formal registration will be from 8 a.m. to noon Saturday, August 23. Saturday classes begin August 30, and evening ones Tuesday, September 2.

MESSIAH TEMPLE CHURCH NEWS

"What Kind of Ground Are You?" This message, taken from Mark 4:3-20, was delivered by Rev. Zora Reed. The lesson spoke of hard-hearted people and of people with an open heart. The first receive the word of Christ and react immediately and joyfully, but at the coming of trials and tribulations for Christ's sake they wither and die.

The latter yield their hearts continually. They may appear to have little or no spiritual growth, but their roots are going deep into the Lord's will. With their roots firmly planted, their growth will be a beauty to behold.

Do you scoff at Jesus, accept Him but fall away, allow worldly pleasures to choke all spiritual growth, or are you fruitful? What kind of ground are you?

U.S. Farm Exports Climb Value-Wise

U.S. farm exports for the 1975 fiscal year are expected to hit about $22 billion, a shade higher than last year.

However, the USDA says all the gain stems from better prices. Ton-for-ton, shipments are off by about 15%.

Agricultural imports will drop under $10 billion, leaving a favorable trade balance of around $12 billion.

New Farm Trend

"Pick-your-own-produce" farms are on the increase. In Maryland, for example, there are 97 such farms in 20 of the state's 23 counties.

Storm Sewer...Part of Rebuilding Efforts

The Homes of Oakridge is continuing its efforts to better the apartments' area.

Construction is presently underway to put in a storm sewer to drain water away from the apartments, according to Sister Margaret M. Toomey, manager of the Homes.

Iowa Road Builders Co., is handling the construction work. The sewage project will be completed in about forty days but the Homes of Oakridge will continue efforts of landscaping and the rebuilding of sidewalks and retaining walls, which are not in the present contract.

Sister Toomey said that it would take close to $40,000 to complete the construction work. She added that the landscaping and rebuilding work by the Homes of Oakridge will be continued in the spring.

A Community Development Fund for the Homes of Oakridge has $28,000 which will be used to fund the sewage construction.

When the apartments were built, a storm sewer was not added. Over the years, water has eroded away much dirt and tore down retaining walls which were not cemented.

ENTERTAINMENT WORLD

Dr. K: Hit Man

EDDIE KENDRICKS

Eddie Kendricks is no longer concerned with the past. Four albums and countless hit singles after his decision to leave the Temptations, there is unanimous agreement among today's critics that Kendricks is the top contender for the magic circle that already includes such Motown superlegends as Smokey Robinson and Marvin Gaye.

His smooth tenor voice and velvet interpretation of some of today's top songwriters has left a stunning impact on contemporary audiences. Unlike most singers who depend heavily on singles for their successes, Kendricks has increased his following with each album.

With the release of "Hit Man" and his upcoming performance tour, the slender entertainer could emerge not only as America's foremost vocal talent, but a sex symbol of paramount proportions as well.

Six smash singles and four consistently-selling albums later, Eddie Kendricks is within a hair's width of becoming a household name. His last single, "Shoeshine Boy," from his "For You" album, was only the latest in the string of hits that includes "Keep on Truckin'," "Boogie Down," and "Girl You Need A Change of Mind."

Kendricks' latest album, "Hit Man," features more of his finely tuned falsetto coupled with the writing and production of such contemporary studio giants as Barret Strong, Leonard Caston, Kathy Wakefield and Brian Holland (of Holland-Dozier-Holland fame). Early critical and radio response has already focused on "Get The Cream Off The Top" cut.

"I always try to sing about unique things we can all relate to," Kendricks smiles. "On this album, there is a cut called 'Skippin' Work Today' and we can all relate to that. We also did one called 'Body Talk' and I can surely relate to that. Generally, I like my songs to be fun."

What about Kendricks the performer?

"Basically, we try to keep our rhythm tight. On top of that, I try to give the audience what they want. Times are hard these days and audiences are more demanding. You have to work harder, but then the turn-on when you're successful is that much greater."

If the audiences are demanding, Kendricks' audiences seem to be satisfied. At a recent New York appearance, the crowd was so enthused that one girl managed to scramble onto the stage at the climax of the show and started to match Kendricks' every step. It was typical of Kendricks' rapport with his audience that he finished the song with the girl to a frenzied ovation.

With the current release of "Hit Man" and his most vigorous schedule to date, Kendricks appears relaxed. "I can't worry about whether an album is going to sell, or whether this or that single is going to hit. I know I've done my best and that is what counts."

Men become old, but they never become good.

Edith Sloan (left) and Josephine Hulett of the National Committee on Household Employment are Sandar's Elkin's guest on WOMAN, "Household Workers," July 29 at 9:30 p.m. on Channels 11, Des Moines; 12, Iowa City; 27, Sioux City; and 32, Waterloo.

Its History Is Sweet Irony

PARLIAMENT—FUNKADELIC

Due to overwhelming radio station requests response and the unleashing demands of retail record outlets, "Chocolate City," the title track of Parliament's current Casablanca Records LP and the theme of the label's innovative promotional campaign, has been released as a single to consumers.

"The response has been simply fantastic," states Casablanca's Vice President-General Manager of R&B Operations, Cecil Holmes. "Our initial shipment of the single is in excess of 200,000. In addition, the 'Chocolate City' album is rapidly nearing the first quarter-million units."

The history of the "Chocolate City" track is laced with sweet irony. Originally, the label did not plan to release a single from the album. Because of extensive disco play, however, juke box operators forcefully expressed to Casablanca their desire to have the tune pressed for use by their outlets. The company happily obliged by releasing "Chocolate City" as a single for juke-box play only. Then, radio stations told Casablanca they wanted single copies, too. By this time, the label felt it a positive necessity to make the Parliament single available on the consumer level to assuage the intense public outcry for the tune.

Casablanca is also enjoying strong single action from three other residents in "Chocolate City." Noted producer-composer-artist Greg Perry has a strong chart contender in "I'll Be Comin' Back," while Jeanne Reynolds has a national breakout with her latest release, "The Phone's Been Jumping All Day." Meanwhile, James and Bobby Purify have triumphantly returned to the recording scene via "Gonna Give Her All The Love I've Got."

Referring to "Chocolate City" and its message as vital to the total community, Holmes concludes by assenting, "It preaches unity and self-respect, music which entertains and educates. Isn't that what it's supposed to be about?"

You probably don't have to worry about having sophophobia. It means fear of learning, and few people who had it would read this to learn the meaning of the word.

The Second Forty

(A forum about mature women)

by Margaret Brookfield

Have you a problem as a mature woman, or with one? For advice write Margaret Brookfield, Information Center on the Mature Woman, 515 Madison Avenue New York, N.Y. 10022.

Rearing Children

Dear Margaret Brookfield:

I'm the grandmother of two youngsters. When they visit me and my husband, I try to maintain the same rules their parents do at home. But I find that whatever I say, my husband contradicts me. If I tell them they've watched enough television, he says, "Oh, leave the set on for a while." If I refuse them some new toy, he'll buy it for them. Shouldn't we agree on what rules to establish for the children?

H.G.

Dear H. G.:

Before you can settle your differences about how to treat your grandchildren, you'll have to examine those that separate you and your husband. Start by discussing the problem with him to find out if he countermands your rules out of leniency or in the belief that you are too strict with the youngsters. In airing the conflicting attitudes and opinions, perhaps you can devise a way of presenting a united front to the children. Under the present set-up you are confusing the youngsters and dividing their loyalty. You should also discuss this problem with the children's parents.

Surgical Menopause

Dear Margaret Brookfield:

I will shortly undergo a total hysterectomy, but my doctor assures me that the abrupt menopause caused by the operation can be treated with hormone medication. I am too embarrassed, however, to ask him this question: will the surgery affect my sex life?

S.W.

Dear S.W.:

No, a hysterectomy does not end your sex life, only your ability to bear children. (In some operations, just the uterus is removed.) But since your doctor says you will have a "surgical menopause," he probably intends to remove the ovaries which produce the hormone, estrogen. Following such surgery, it is usual for the hormone to be replaced by estrogen medication, to off-set the disturbing symptoms of an abrupt menopause.

You really should try and discuss this with your doctor. But if you are to be embarrassed, perhaps this will reassure you: in the landmark Kinsey Report on "Sexual Behavior in the Human Female," some of the most sexually active women in the samples were found to be in their fifties and sixties and included some who had had their ovaries removed 10-15 years before the research was undertaken.

So, relax. Whatever problem is necessitating the surgery, is going to be relieved — you'll feel better. And you can look forward to a full romantic life.

Guidelines Show How 'Fixed' Ideas Abet Racial Prejudice

NEW YORK — Racial prejudice in schoolbooks results largely from failure to recognize and change accepted attitudes of the past, guidelines against social discrimination in educational materials issued here by a leading textbook publishing house point out.

The 25,000-word statement from Macmillan Publishing Co. is the most far-reaching manual on stereotyped words and pictures in school texts to emerge from the textbook industry. In hundreds of examples the guidelines recommend positive social images to replace outmoded and biased views.

They explain, for instance, the feelings of inferiority that grade school books create in minority children who never see themselves or their families depicted as typical Americans. Children come in all sizes, shapes, races and colors and should be realistically shown as such, the guidelines suggest, and so do "typical" American families.

Children must be free from feelings of racism, conscious or unconscious, and come to grips with the history and heroes of blacks and other minorities in this country, they point out. Stereotyped versions in place of realities — like the inaccurate images of American Indians in Western movies — have no place in the classroom.

Macmillan's guidelines also devote major attention to equal treatment of the sexes and the elimination of other forms of social bias. Examples: It's wrong to imply that children with working mothers are disadvantaged or that all single-parent households are "broken," unhappy families. A child's ability to speak Spanish or other languages should be treated as an asset. Grandparents should be shown taking an active role in family life, not relegated to rocking chairs.

"Educational materials reach millions of children at a time when their vision of themselves and society is taking shape," states the introduction. "The pervasive influence of textbooks on children's self-image gives publishers an awesome social responsibility only recently recognized to its full extent. It is the policy of Macmillan Publishing Co. to publish educational materials that give children an unbiased view of the full range of human potential."

Macmillan has issued the guidelines in a 96-page booklet addressed to its textbook writers, editors, illustrators and educational consultants. They are also being made available to educators and school committees with no copyright restrictions on their use or reproduction.

Happiness Through Health

by
Otto McClarrin

This is the beginning of a weekly NNPA column on health.

SMOKING WOODPULP: In the very near future, some 6,000 Britons will be sampling cigarettes made up of synthetic as well as real tobacco. And by the end of the year, the cigarettes are expected to be available to all British smokers. Derived from woodpulp, the synthetic tobacco was developed at a cost of $10 million by a cigarette manufacturer and a chemical concern.

The synthetic tobacco's tar content is said to be one quarter that of real tobacco, and its nicotine content is zero. The cigarettes in the trial will be from 10 per cent to 50 per cent synthetic, while those that finally go on the market in the British Isles are expected to be 20 per cent synthetic in composition.

DRUNKEN DRIVING: Experts fighting a deadly epidemic of drunken driving fear they are failing to scare drinkers from behind the wheel. According to recent statistics, approximately half of the 55,000 traffic deaths in the United States each year involve alcohol. Especially disappointing has been the failure of the "breathalyzer" laws. The developer of the breathalyzer, Robert Borkenstein of Indiana University, places the blame on poor police enforcement. He says only one in every 2000 violators is arrested.

TENNAGE DRUG USERS: The nation's teenage drug users are less religious, poorer students, and more alienated from their parents than their nondrug using counterparts, according to a National Institute on Drug Abuse study released recently.

CHOLESTEROL DRUGS: High levels of fats in the blood send the risk of suffering a heart attack soaring. So in the past two decades doctors frequently have treated patients who survive one heart attack with drugs to lower cholesterol levels in hopes of preventing another attack.

A major study sponsored by the National Institutes of Health (NIH) shows that lowering levels of cholesterol and triglyceride, another blood fat implicated in heart disease, fails to prevent additional heart attacks or improve the chances of longterm survival among patients who have suffered one or more heart seizures.

In the study, doctors followed 8,341 men treated at 53 medical centers for five or six years. These patients were compared with 2,789 men who also suffered heart attacks but who did not receive antifat drugs. The benefits of drug therapy, said NIH, were vanishingly small. However officials emphasized that the study did not prove or disprove conclusively the value of lowering high blood-fat levels in people who have suffered a heart attack.

CANCER OF THE COLON: Cancer of the large intestine will strike 99,000 Americans this year — more new cases than any other type except skin cancer — and at current survival rates more than half will be dead within five years. Early detection, says the American Cancer Society, is the only hope in sight of making progress against the disease which is the second leading killer among cancers.

Snuff it Out!

The rise in male cancer deaths is due largely to the increasing rate of lung cancer — 14 times greater than 40 years ago. Do yourself a favor — drop the cigarette habit, says the American Cancer Society.

A Road To Black Independence

The debt that is owed by blacks to blacks is one "for services rendered." It is due now because for far too long, black people have not been paying their share to the literally thousands of struggling black organizations which are doing something to better the life of black people in this country.

Too often the black organization has had to scrimp by on a meager budget or turn to the white community for aid, aid which was often attached to strings which would jerk it back if the black organization strayed too far from the path circumscribed by those who put up the money.

Today is a time for giving for black folk. It is a time in which blacks can make at least a small gesture in letting whites know that we at least want to help support our own. If all black adults would give at least $10 more to their favorite black organization this month, the boost in the total worth of black charities would amount to at least a handsome $120 million — a sum not to be laughed at by anyone.

So let's try it this month. Whether it be a contribution to the Institute of the Black World, the Urban League, the Black Caucus, the NAACP, the Republic of New Africa, the Black Panther Party or any of hundreds of local community organizations — let's skip some little pleasure and give a $10 contribution to a black organization. It might take us one more step toward our own independence day.

We could call it a down payment on the debt black people owe black people.

URGE HELP WITH MOSQUITO CONTROL

The Des Moines-Polk County Health Department urges everyone to help control mosquitoes this summer, said Steve Gunson, Vector Control Specialist for the Health Department. "Mosquitoes develop only in water, and water standing just a few days can produce a hatch," he said. He urges all residents to do the following to help control mosquitoes this summer:

1. Remove, cover or turn upside-down, all containers that hold water, particularly buckets, bottles, tin cans, toys and wheel barrows.
2. Discard old tires or store them indoors.
3. Clean clogges rain gutters; drain flat roofs so no water stands there.

4. Screen all septic tank vents.
5. Change water and scrub vases holding flowers or cuttings at least twice each week.
6. Empty and refill all birdbaths weekly.
7. Make sure house screens fit windows tightly.
8. Repair leaky outdoor faucets.
9. Fill or drain holes in trees.
10. Empty plastic wading pools daily, and store indoors when not in use.

In addition to the above recommendations, spraying your shrubbery, flowers and plants with any of several good chemicals on the market to ruin mosquitoes' daytime resting places would be helpful.

For more information, call the Des Moines-Polk County Health Department. The telephone number to dial is 283-4997.

The sun is a very fine fellow in small doses. Too much could lead to skin cancer, says the American Cancer Society. Take precaution while in the sun; use lotions, wide hats and umbrellas. See your physician promptly when a sore does not heal.

Bricklayer

Apprentice

ABELARDO AGUILAR

Abelardo Aguilar was born and reared in Kennedy, Texas. He went to school there and graduated from Kennedy High School in 1969.

He then enlisted in the U.S. Army and was in Germany for two years. After his discharge from the army, he moved to Des Moines and became interested in applying for the Bricklayers' Apprenticeship Program.

Aguilar was accepted by the Bricklayers' Joint Apprenticeship Committee in 1973. After completing an eight week pre-apprenticeship school, he was employed by the El View Construction Company where he is still working. The adjacent picture was taken on the job site of a new office building being constructed on Second Avenue. In addition to working on the job, he must complete 25 weeks of related classroom work such as blueprint reading before he becomes a journeyman.

Bob Miller, superintendent for El View Construction Company, said that Aguilar is very sincere about his work and has a very good attitude.

THE COLD HARD FACTS ABOUT CONSERVING HOT WATER

Using hot water wisely helps conserve energy and saves you money at the same time.

- A shower uses considerably less hot water than a tub bath, and you get just as clean. Also, if you're shaving or washing at a basin, don't leave the water running.

- Install your water heater as close as possible to the place where you will have the greatest use. All the hot water left in the pipes when you turn off the faucet is wasted.

- Repair leaky hot water faucets. One drop per second adds up to about 200 gallons per month. That's a lot of hot water down the drain.

- Set the water heater thermostat between 150-160 degrees. This will give you the required water temperature for dishwashers and the laundry.

SPORTS

Good Results Come From Best Style

By Allen Ashby

We finished our tennis lessons last Monday at the park. We don't know how much the people learned, but I personally had a lot of fun working with them. They couldn't have learned too much because the thing was on a once a week basis, and we tried to cover all phases of the game concerning forehand, backhand, serve and volley. Maybe some of them caught on, and if one did, that is good.

Chet Williamson and I were talking the other day about how we used to have to work all season on one particular thing, get it, and then the tennis season was over. We had to learn the thing over again the next year, unless we had really long memories. Sometimes we did. So maybe the kids will retain some of what we tried to give them.

Now we intend to try to have an advanced clinic after our Hilltop meet, and see if we can help some of the people who think they know something about the game. You would be surprised at how much one can get from watching people do things and then having it told to him or her what the guy is supposed to be doing wrong. But I have a theory that may not be what everybody agrees with.

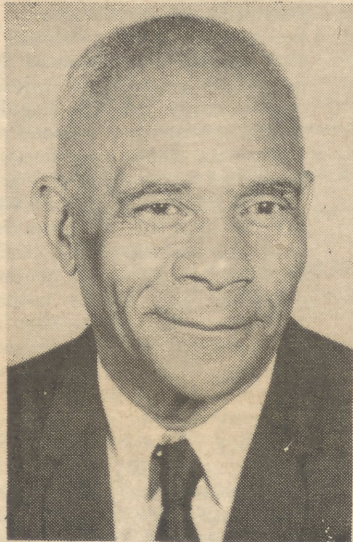

I believe that although the book says there is a certain way to do things, if a player can get results with a style that is between what the book says and his own style, then go with that. Maybe several other people go with this idea too, and is as singular as I think it is. But for now, we are clearing the decks for our Hilltop meet.

THE NEXT BIG HEAVYWEIGHT BATTLE?

Sometime in September or

October, Muhammad Ali and Joe Frazier will square off for all the money in the country. They are to fight for the worlds heavyweight title of boxing. This will be the third time around for them. One fellow says that he didn't think Ali wanted Joe because he knows he will have to be in shape for this one, that he will have to fight all the way, and still may not get anything out.

I have to disagree with that. I can't see a brawler like Frazier giving the Mouth much trouble. The guy is too fast with his hands and feet, and knows what he is doing in the ring. It will be a good battle, better than the one with George Foreman.

There must be a thing between those two guys. Ali has all the money he will need, and so does Frazier. Maybe they just want to really see who is the best, or, pardon me, better man. This might clear it up.

Iowa's Finest In Shrine Bowl

The third annual Iowa Shrine Bowl football game will be played in Drake Stadium in Des Moines Saturday, August 9 at 1:30 p.m.

The annual game stars Iowa's finest high school players from all corners of the state who prove that "Strong Legs Run that Week Legs May Walk." All proceeds of the game are used for the benefit of the Shriners Hospitals for Crippled Children.

Eight Des Moines June graduates are among the 88 all-star high school football players selected by Iowa football game. Bill Hodam of Des Moines Hoover High School is one of the South team coaches.

The all-stars from Des Moines are Steve Haynie, end, Roosevelt; John Goode, center, North; Charles Goodrich, guard, Dowling; Roger Kriebs, tackle, Urbandale; Robin Michelsen, linebacker, East; Douglas Speicher, back, Lincoln; Pat Tuttle, end, Saydel; and Chuck Wheeler, guard, Hoover.

Highway 30 acts as the dividing line which separates the players into North and South teams. The Des Moines representatives will be on the South team. Two-week training camps open July 27 with the North team training at Central College in Pella, and the South squad training at Simpson College in Indianola.

Other South team coaches are Bob Evans, Mt. Pleasant, head coach; Jim Hofman, Burlington; Jim Wharton, Avo-Ha; Loyd Sisco, Waco; and Bob Jensen, Mt. Pleasant.

Coaches for the North team are Phil Johnson, Ames, head coach; Dick Wuest, Decorah; Dick Tighe, Webster City; Bob Varley, Dubuque-Wahlert; John Swanson, Storm Lake; and Keith Bailey, Ames.

Tickets for the August 9 game are being sold by Shrine members to raise funds for the vital work toward helping crippled children. The Shrine now budgets over $20 million annually for 19 orthopedic units and $10 million for three burns institutes.

Cowboys Trade Hayes To 49ers

Dallas Tex. — Bob Hayes, who once terrorized the National Football League with his blazing speed, was traded Thursday by the Dallas Cowboys to the San Francisco 49ers for an undisclosed 1976 draft choice.

Asked at a news conference if he would have done anything differently in his 10 years with the Cowboys, Hayes said, "I'd have been out of Dallas a lot sooner."

The former Florida A and M star once held the world 100-yard dash record of 9.1 seconds.

He had his best season in 1966, the year the Cowboys won their first NFL Eastern Conference championship. That season Hayes grabbed 64 passes for 1,232 yards and 13 touchdowns.

Commenting on his inactivity in recent seasons, Hayes said, "I am just like a used car. Wherever they send me, I have to go."

Hayes' trade did not come as a surprise.

Hayes caught only seven passes for 118 yards and one touchdown last season and lost his starting position to Golden Richards.

STILL IN THERE SWINGING

I've been watching the results of the city fast pitch softball meet. I couldn't help but notice that at least two of the fellows who helped their respective teams a lot have been playing the game maybe longer than some of the other players have lived.

Bud Collins has been throwing his fastball past batters every since I can remember, and Moe Eubanks has been catching for more years than even he will admit. He has put on a little weight, but from reports, still swings a pretty good stick.

The other night he hit a home run, and some fellow said he had to hit them so he could get to first base. But they count. Bud Collins has his own team in the thing, and they do all right. The guy was a fine all round athlete in his day, and now he has coached the Maple Street Baptist girls to a league basketball championship, and has his softball club right in the thick of the city meet. Not bad.

retiring and getting out of the game sooner. With today's money, they don't have to hand in there until they are thirty or over.

They can quit at twenty-five and a lot of them do, so people who don't know think they are past their prime, when the fact is they never did reach it.
