U. S. Commission on Civil Rights

Announces New Plan On School Desegregation

News Briefs

ERA LOST

NEW YORK — Following the defeat of the Equal Rights Amendment in New York and New Jersey, Peter Camejo, Socialist Workers Party candidate for president, and his vice presidential running mate Willie Mae Reid, issued a statement saying that "the defeat must ignite renewed and determined efforts by supporters of the ERA all across the country."

Explaining that supporters of equal rights for women are shocked and angered by the setback, they urged that "this sentiment ought not be turned into action from coast to coast."

QUITS RIGHTS JOB

WASHINGTON, D.C. — Peter Holmes submitted his resignation Monday as director of the U.S. Office for Civil Rights, effective Dec. 1.

HELPS UNEMPLOYED

WASHINGTON — A black man who has the military demeanor of a commanding officer is a top staff member of a federal and state program that provided cash benefits to millions of Americans each year who are involuntarily thrown out of work.

He is James E. Radford, a retired Air Force Major, executive assistant to Lawrence E. Weatherford, associate manpower administrator for unemployment insurance at the U.S. Department of Labor.

SDC PROGRAM BEGINS

MILWAUKEE, Wis. — A federally-funded program designed to help poor people cope with rugged Wisconsin winters and rising fuel costs began here Monday under the auspices of the Social Development Commission.

According to SDC associate director Anthony Maggiore, the program's aim is to help senior citizens and other low-income people avoid shutoffs by fuel oil companies and utilities.

Food for Haitian children and their parents in part of the drought-stricken region of the country is provided by the U.S. government and American relief agencies. Altogether, the U.S. is assisting 146,000 of the 300,000 Haitian in the drought area. France, Germany, Canada, and other countries are aiding the rest. New crops were planted in October and the people are now praying for rain. (AID Photo)

Report Assesses Title VI Enforcement By Feds

WASHINGTON, D.C. — The U.S. Commission on Civil Rights Tuesday released an 840-page report assessing Federal enforcement of the wide-ranging Title VI law, and in a separate statement—announced a major new nationwide undertaking to defend school desegregation.

Titled "To Extend Federal Financial Assistance," the enforcement report surveys seven agencies which operate major programs under Title VI of the 1964 Civil Rights Act. Title VI bars discrimination because of race, color, or national origin in federally assisted programs.

The Commission recommended that the President issue an executive order transferring responsibility for coordinating and directing Title VI programs from the Attorney General to the Office of Management and Budget.

Inadequate Directions

Although the Attorney General was ordered to develop standards for Title VI compliance by Executive Order (1964), the Commission pointed out that this still has not been done, "leaving all other Federal agencies with inadequate direction."

Calling the performance of oversight functions on behalf of the President a "recognized institutional role" of OMB, the Commission said that the addition of Title VI responsibilities "would serve notice of a Presidential decision to use all of the powers at the President's disposal to translate the rhetoric of Title VI into action."

The Commission also pointed out that Title VI does not cover sex discrimination and called for an executive order prohibiting sex discrimination under any program of Federal financial assistance.

Agencies covered by the Commission's report included the Extension Service of the Department of Agriculture; the Health and Social Services Division of the Office for Civil Rights of the Department of Health, Education, and Welfare; the Department of the Interior; the Environmental Protection Agency; the Federal Highway Administration and the Urban Mass Transportation Administration of the Department of Transportation; the Manpower Administration of the Department of Labor; and the Law Enforcement Assistance Administration and the Federal Programs Section of the Civil Rights

VIEWS and REVIEWS

by James B. Morris

The People of New York City Should Be Helped

Whoever thought New York City would be in financial trouble? We had come to believe that the New York Stock Exchange, J.P. Morgan, the First National and Chase National Banks and the Rockefellers, and the large number of millionaires living there would be sufficient to prevent the present situation. But apparently political operations and business operation are entirely two different things.

We have long maintained bankruptcy laws which enable business concerns to adjust their business and continue to run. But taxing bodies have had no such laws.

New York City's troubles began years ago when the politicians continue to fool the people by spending more than it took in and continued to pick up the deficit by issuing bonds. The trouble now is that it has overextended its credit.

There are those, headed by President Ford, who say that New York should stew in its own juice.

This is a punitive position and even though the politicians have brought this trouble along, too many people will suffer if some relief does not come.

It seems to me that Congress should help the situation out, but restrict the officials in New York City to the same type of responsibility that a banker would require of a corporation which was seeking a loan to finance its business.

After all, the politicians will eat but many families with children suffer for lack of the ordinary things required to live if assistance does not come.

Too Many Restrictions Often Defeat A Cause

Scandals growing out of Watergate and illegal political contributions made by corporations, particularly in the 1972 election, spawned legislation governing campaign contributions.

These big contributions excited some members of Congress, many of whom had never experienced such large donations for a campaign and don't realize that it takes some big contributions to run a national campaign.

One of the real troubles with the bill is that it so restricts the size of contributions that it will encourage shortcuts in order to get enough to run a campaign.

Labor unions have been restricted from making contributions to political campaigns but they found a loophole by organizing political action committees through which contributions are funnelled to favored candidates and movements.

It is a reminder of the old Volsted Act which Congress passed several years ago in an attempt to dry up the liquor business in this country. It produced a host of bootlegging establishments and finally criminal syndicates which controlled the flow of liquor in the large cities and added to the difficulty of enforcing the law.

The taxpayers have built up a campaign fund which will no doubt be distributed to only two political parties and thus Independents will find it difficult to compete.

It seems that we are trying to regulate every move in an individual's life which tend to restrict everything he attempts to do.

Unfortunate Exercise of Majority Rule

It is unfortunate that a majority of the members of the United Nations should pass a resolution declaring Zionism as a racist, particularly since there seems to be some hope of gaining peace in the Middle East.

It is unfortunate that the Arab block, along with some African, Asian and South American nations use their overwhelming majority to stir up racial prejudice in the world which tends to create friction between nations.

Israeli Ambassador Chaim Harzog said Israel regards the declaration as "no more than a piece of paper." The issue is not Israel or Zionism, he said, but "the continued existence of this organization which has been dragged to the lowest point of discredit."

This is as it should be.

Several members of Congress, many of whom have little feeling for United Nations, are calling for the U.S. to withdraw its membership in/or reassess its contributions for the maintenance of the organization. This is foolish for there will be enough agony displayed by the friends of Israel and eventually the same countries which need the help of the friends of Israel to survive. United Nations is too valuable to scrap.

Hollowell Files Lawsuits

DES MOINES — Terrance Duane Hollowell, acquitted October 2 in the double murder and robbery at the Downtown Holiday Inn here, filed two lawsuits totaling $65 million Friday in Polk County District Court.

Hollowell, 26, prepared the suits himself and seeks $50 million from the Des Moines police department, the Iowa Bureau of Criminal Investigation and Polk County Attorney Ray Fenton.

The other suit asks for $15 million from the Des Moines Register and Tribune Company and Nick Lamberto, a Register reporter.

In his suit against the lawmen, Hollowell contends he was the victim of a "malicious misperpetration" of a law enforcement investigation and that the state was not justified in filing the murder charge "on the basis of the non-supported testimony of Kenneth Allen Hunter."

Hunter was the state's key witness in the unsuccessful prosecution.

Hollowell contends, in his other lawsuit, that an April 9 article by Lamberto was "a direct, unalterable and unmistakable accusation" that Hollowell robbed the Holiday Inn, "without the benefit of a supportive and corroborative foundation."

A statement from Tommy Farmer, who the state had hoped would testify in Hollowell's trial, was filed in court Friday. Farmer contends in the notarized statement that he gave "false and inaccurate" information to authorities investigating the Holiday Inn murders.

Life Against Money

A poll was taken at Iowa State University recently in an effort to determine the choice of students for the name of the new stadium.

The results showed that the name of Jack Trice, the Negro player who was killed in a football game with Minnesota many years ago, received more than a thousand votes while other names received less than five hundred votes.

Commenting on the results of the poll, one of the officials who will be involved in making the choice, said that less than two thousand students voted; also that there are other buildings on the campus which have no name.

By all rules of the game a majority of those voting wins even though that majority constitutes a small percentage of the possible vote.

If ever there was a person who deserved to be remembered for giving his life to a cause it was Jack Trice and no amount of money can measure against that of a life.

The George Carver building on the campus is a great credit to Iowa State University, for recognizing one of its illustrious graduates. I hope those who are trying to duck the name Trice do not feel that this is sufficient recognition for one group.

Iowa GOP Leaders Meet in Des Moines

DES MOINES — Republican leaders from all 99 counties are scheduled to be in Des Moines this weekend to discuss the party's 1976 campaign program.

Republican State Chairman Tom Stoner said the call for a meeting of the Republican Council was issued to "update progress on current party programs and allow county leaders to review plans for next year. In addition, county leaders will offer their suggestions concerning programs that might be implemented."

Stoner said that county chairmen and co-chairmen from all 99 counties are expected to attend the day-long meeting which will be held at 10 a.m. on Saturday, Nov. 15, at the Hotel Savary in Des Moines.

Gov. Robert D. Ray is scheduled to open the meeting with an overview of the party's goals and concerns in the 1976 elections, and Lt. Gov. Arthur A. Neu will discuss the next year's legislative campaign program and the need to regain control of the legislature.

Among other topics to be discussed are the 1976 campaign plan and budget, the party's caucus and convention process, the candidate recruitment program and the progress on the current voter registration program. Stoner said that the county leaders will have an opportunity to offer suggestions and ask questions about each of the subject areas.

"If we are to succeed in winning legislative seats, winning in Iowa courthouses and electing Republican Congressmen next year, it is essential that we have a solid campaign program constructed on a foundation of ideas from interested Republicans from across the state," said Stoner, who has met individually with many GOP leaders during the past two months seeking suggestions.

Stoner said that in conjunction with the council meeting the Republican State Central Committee will meet after the Council meeting. The main purpose of the Central Committee meeting, he said, will be to discuss ideas and proposals suggested by the county leaders and develop plans for the coming election year.

N. J. Court To Hear Carter Case

TRENTON, N.J. — The New Jersey Supreme Court said Thursday it will hear the appeal of Rubin (Hurricane) Carter for a new trial of his triple murder conviction as soon as possible.

The court issued a notice saying it would review the Carter case "on an accelerated basis."

Earlier this year, Superior Court Judge Samuel A. Lerner denied Carter and John Artis a new trial.

Carter, once a middleweight boxing contender, maintains he is innocent of the triple murders at a Paterson, N.J. bar in June 1966, for which he and Artis were convicted in 1967.

Last fall, two key prosecution witnesses who had placed Carter and Artis at the scene of the crime

More Drought Threatens New Crops In Haiti

WASHINGTON (NNPA)—Although new crops have been planted in Haiti within the past few weeks following the failure of those that withered and died before the fall harvest, the outlook is not bright as the drought has resumed, according to William W. Rhodes of the Agency for International Development (AID).

Rhodes, who is chief of development affairs for AID work in Haiti, told NNPA last week that the rains have stopped and another crop failure will result unless they begin again. The drought is affecting some 300,000 farm people in the northwest.

Of this number, the United States is providing food assistance to 146,000. France, Germany, and Canada are assisting the rest. Also participating in the drought relief are the American Red Cross, CARE, Catholic Relief Services, and Church World Service.

recanted significant portions of their testimony. Judge Lerner denied Carter and Artis a new trial, ruling the recantations by Arthur Bradley and Alfred Bello lacked "the ring of truth."

Carter was sentenced to two consecutive and one concurrent life term, which he is now serving in Trenton State Prison with a possible parole date of 1994. Artis received three concurrent life terms that he is serving in Leesburg State Prison with a possible parole date of 1980.

In addition to food, AID is also providing emergency funds for the shipment of food, seed, and supplies by relief agencies. And AID is sponsoring road construction employment for hard pressed rural people in the drought area.

U.S. food shipments, which total about 3,000 tons, consist of bulgar vegetable oil, and high-protein food blends of corn and soya. The latter is for child feeding.

AID has ongoing programs in Haiti to help improve the economic and social well being of the country's rural population. These include agricultural development and low-cost health delivery systems. Last year, U.S. grants and Food for Peace donations for these and other programs totaled $6.2 million.

NAACP Has Temporary Debt Problem

NEW YORK, N.Y. —The NAACP said Thursday its reported financial crisis is a "temporary plight" stemming from the national economic slump in which "black workers have been especially hard hit."

"The NAACP is now feeling the impact," added Margaret Bush Wilson, chairman of the national board of directors of the 66-year-old National Association for the Advancement of Colored People.

Reports that the NAACP was so deep in debt it was "touch-and-go" were played down by the organization's ailing 74-year-old executive director, Roy Wilkins, who said. "We're just a little behind in our bills, that's all."

He said the group would mount a $150,000 fund-raising campaign to try to get the needed money from "the general public, from the branches, from anywhere we can get it."

Chairman Wilson said she issued her statement so that "friends of this veteran civil rights organization would be given the proper perspective on our temporary plight."

Saying the NAACP has maintained its independence through "unfailing support of its members and friends," she noted that layoffs by industries and municipalities, affecting blacks disproportionately, have also hurt the NAACP.

"The hour is not as perilous as some would want to believe, however," she said "So, as we launch our year-end drive for memberships and funds, we call upon all our supporters to contribute generously to our cause... The cause of freedom is dependent upon a vigorous well-financed NAACP to continue the historical flight for justice."

D. M. Native Returns From Tour of Ghana

Carole K. Davis, a native of Des Moines and the first black woman elected to the Berkeley City Council, has just returned from a three-week tour of Ghana. The trip represented her first vacation since her overwhelming victory in the city council campaign.

Ms. Davis, 34, a social worker with her MSW from Howard University, is a consultant with the California Health Department. Prior to her election, she was involved in numerous civic activities, notably as chairman of the city's Health Advisory Board.

Exhausted after her whirlwind campaign, she headed for Ghana on a trip that included a visit with Ambassador Shirley Temple Black, a tour with the Deputy Prime Minister of Surinam, and an emotional trip to Elmina where slaves were kept before being shipped to the colonies.

Speaking with the press on her return, she recounted how guides turned out the lights in the dungeon to let visitors get a feel of the damp underground room where slave prisoners were held.

The councilwoman's trip also accentuated the future and potential of Africa. She participated on an official tour of the Volta Dam, a key to the continent's economic development.

Although many people have talked of backing her in a bid for higher office, she stated that she's happy serving the community as a councilwoman — "As long as I can still find time to go back for a return visit to Africa."

Association and urged all citizens to protect themselves by taking the test for diabetes.

In his proclamation, Governor Ray noted that no one is immune to diabetes and it is possible to have the disease without experiencing any of the symptoms. "In fact," he stated, "according to the best estimates, approximately 40,000 people in Iowa have diabetes and do not know it."

Governor Ray pointed out that diabetes is the fifth leading recorded cause of death by disease, now the leading cause of new cases of blindness and a major cause of heart attacks and kidney failure. D.M. Woman Files Lawsuit Against Hospital

Joyce Shelby of Des Moines has filed a $175,000 racial discrimination lawsuit in U.S. District Court against Des Moines General Hospital.

According to the lawsuit, Shelby worked as the only black ward clerk in the hospital from last Mar. 24 until Sept. '66, when she was fired "without probable cause" and allegedly in violation of her equal rights.

Shelby charged in the lawsuit that she was fired for reasons "based solely or in part upon race" and as a result, has suffered mental and emotional anguish.

Hospital officials refused to comment on the allegations Monday.

The suit asks the court to reinstate Shelby as ward clerk with back pay and seeks $50,000 actual and $125,000 punitive damages.

East High School is not what people really say and think. The impression is about the black students who attend the Des Moines high school.

Other students say that the East High black student body hasn't a chance with the white students at East because we are always sent home. East is not what people really say and think about it for the black students who go there.

Sure we don't have a black student government president or a black homecoming king and queen, but we have had black students try for these positions. Even if they didn't win, they at least gave it a try.

Sayings are that East is the only school, in Des Moines, that has riots—blacks vs. whites. We get our bad publicity in this aspect, for that is the only thing people know East by—the word riot.

In a way, East High is put down by one of Des Moines

High Schools (which I am not going to mention). More black students attend this school than any other high school in the Metro area. Black students at this high school claim to be more "bad" than blacks at East.

I feel you should go to a school to get a good education, not because it has more minority students and the school is "bad." Being "bad" causes trouble. I know East has bad points, but East has good points, too.

You see, blacks at East do a lot of things that other high schools do not. An Afro Club has been organized by black students at East. We are the only school in the Des Moines public school system to have such a club. We challenge other minority students at the Des Moines schools to form such clubs to get together.

People say we do not have a chance but we do. We have a chance to get a good education. That's all I really want.

Registration Underway At DMACC

Registration for winter quarter at Des Moines Area Community College is underway now, according to college officials. Classes begin December 3.

Telephone registration for part-time arts and sciences students on the Ankeny and Urban campuses is scheduled for November 13, 14, 17, and 18 between noon and 7:30 p.m. To register call 964-6511. Part-time students are those carrying less than 12 credit hours, says Registrar Lynn Albrecht.

Students desiring to attend classes on the Boone campus may register there at any time.

New students in career education and arts and sciences (full-time) may register at the Ankeny campus November 24 from 1 till 4 p.m. Registration at the Urban Campus is scheduled for November 25 from 1 till 4 p.m.

Designated as "open" registration days at Ankeny are: December 1, 9 a.m. till noon and 1 to 4 p.m.; and December 2 — 1:30-4:30 and 5:30-7:30 p.m.

Marketing, both industrial and retail, financial services, health care administration, welding, auto mechanics, and the secretarial programs — secretarial-clerical, executive secretary and legal secretary — will be open to winter quarter enrollees.

Tuition is $135 per quarter for career programs and full-time arts and science students. Part-time students pay $13 tuition per quarter hour. Anyone interested may call 964-6241 for additional information.

Several career education programs are accepting students for winter quarter.

Choral Music Concert

Slated At Simpson

INDIANOLA, IA. — A concert of choral music, featuring Johannes Brahms' "Schicksalslied" (Song of Destiny) and Carl Orff's "Carmina Burana" with full orchestra, will be performed by the Simpson College Choir at 8:15 p.m. Saturday, Nov. 22, and at 3 p.m. Sunday, Nov. 23, in Simpson's Blank Performing Arts Center.

Other works by Orlando di Lasso, Hugo Ditsler, William Billings, Paul Fetler and Dr. Sven Lekberg of Simpson's music faculty also will be included on the program.

The "Carmina Burana" is one of this century's most exciting works for voices and orchestra, according to Dr. Robert Larsen, professor and head of the Simpson music department who directs the 83-voice choir.

The work is based on a 13th century collection of Latin and German poetry written by young men called "goliards" who wandered throughout Europe studying for minor ecclesiastical orders. Dr. Larsen explained. These "monastic pledges" were totally uncloistered and their poetry extols the joys of springtime, the tavern and sensual love, he said.

In the music, Orff has captured a medieval world and expressed it with joy and abandon, Dr. Larsen continued.

Soloists in the performance will be lyric soprano Carol Stuart, instructor of music at Simpson; Douglas Duncan, a tenor who also is a Simpson music instructor, and Daniel Sullivan, a New York baritone who has performed with the San Francisco and Kansas City Lyric Operas and has been an affiliate artist in the Ottumwa area.

Tickets are priced at $2.50 for adults and $1.50 for students.

Reservations may be made by writing the Simpson College music department, Indianola, Ia., 50125, or by calling the department at (515) 961-6251, ext. 637.

Dale Buhl and Ed Wilmowski will be there to bring you all the excitement and color of the events, when the Iowa Education Broadcasting Network (IEBN) telecasts "Highlights from the 1975 Girl's State Swimming and Diving Championships," on Sunday, November 16 at 2:30 p.m. The 90-minute sports special can be seen on all IEBN channels: Ch 11, Des Moines; Ch 12, Iowa City; Ch 24, Mason City; Ch 27, Sioux City; Ch 32, Council Bluffs; Ch 32, Waterloo; and Ch 36, Red Oak.

This year's competition promises to be one of the best, with some of the finest teams in the state entered. Among the top teams competing are: Roosevelt High School, Des Moines; Hoover High School, Des Moines; Valley High School, West Des Moines; and Washington High School, Cedar Rapids.

Taped at the Fort Dodge High School for telecast at the later date, "Highlights" is an IEBN sports presentation. Produced by Joanne Strouf and directed by Doug Brooker, the program is being produced through the facilities of the IEBN Mobile Unit.

The program is actually a series of vignettes about the people who receive aid from the Des Moines/Polk County Mobile Meals program. The mobile food service is the device used to take a closer look at the lives of one elderly couple and two retired gentlemen - all over 70 years of age. Not only do these four people have a common bond in the mobile meals program, but there is another bond between them as they share their thoughts on aging.

The couple is concerned about the wife's gradual loss of sight; one of the retired gentlemen talks about his religious beliefs; and the other reflects on his work

5th Dimension Split

Marilyn McCoo and Billy Davis, Jr., members of the 5th Dimension singing group since its inception ten years ago, have left the group.

However, the 5th Dimension will remain with two new members, Danny Beard and Eloise Laws.

McCoo and Davis will continue to perform and record as a duo on ABC Records but will also pursue individual careers.

"The decision to leave the group was an amicable one and not something that we thought about doing just yesterday," said Davis. "We've both always had aspirations for solo careers and were fortunate that the compromise we made 10 years ago worked out so well."

Married for six years, Billy and Marilyn were an intricate factor behind the 5th Dimension's musical success. Along with the group's marvelous harmony, Marilyn did lead singing on several of the gold singles and Billy did the same in their albums and in its live performances.

"We both feel we reached our limit performing in a group," noted Marilyn, "and that now was the time to move on. Billy and I want to move into other venues such as acting, but under the structure of the 5th Dimension there was simply no time."

Recording plans for Billy and Marilyn will be announced shortly. Also, a concert and club tour is pending.

William Marshall Will Address "Salem March"

By Lee Ivory
Karen's News Syndicate

(KNS)—One of the world's most distinguished actors and award-winning television producer William Marshall has been selected to address the more than 900 people who will participate in the "Second Selma March," set for November 18, 1975 in honor of the late Dr. Martin Luther King, Jr.

Marshall, who walked with Dr. King on the tragic Selma to Montgomery protest march in March, 1965, kept a journal of events that mirrored the hopes of the people who faced cattle prods, teargas, and vicious dogs in their non-violent attempt to enjoy the dignity of freedom.

The "Second Selma March" is viewed as an expression of undying gratitude to the young Baptist minister whose words forced a nation to examine its innate racist conscience, the project steering committee reported.

"We feel it is again time for America to be reminded that all men are brothers," said Margaret Nash, president of Margarita Productions and chief architect of the commemorative demonstration of love.

William Marshall has long been considered by knowledgeable critics to be an actor of impeccable credentials. An Irish writer in Dublin said: "One feels an anticipatory tingle of majestic things to come." And the tingle lasts until the final curtain when audiences rise, as one, to heap honors upon a man who has been called the best 'Othello' of our time.

Honorary co-chairmen for the "Second Selma March" are California State Senator Nate Holden and Los Angeles County Supervisor Kenneth Hahn, both of whom were instrumental in the recent amendment to the state education code which requires all California public schools to provide a period of instruction on the civil rights movement and the role therein played by Dr. King on January 15th of each year—the anniversary of the birth of the martyred leader.

"The original 'Selma' march was stirring," said Marshall, in a telephone interview. "It was a great spectacle of people descending upon Southern aristocracy and sounding the death knell to their inhumanity with song."

Honorary "Second Selma March" committee members include: Hon. Robert N.C. Nix, U.S. Congressman, Philadelphia; Ms. Ruth Washington, publisher, Los Angeles Sentinel; Robert L. McCobb, founder, McCobb Homes for Boys; James V. Bailey, Emergency Services Director, West Adams Community Hospital; Ms. Regina Jones, publisher, Soul Publications; millionaire private detective W. Lovell Lillard, Chicago; Sammy Davis, Jr., Bel Air, Ca.

Singer-producer Lloyd Price. New York: Hon.

Walter Fauntroy, U.S. Congressman, Washington, D.C.; Bishop H. Hartford Brookins, Los Angeles; Joe Dyer, community relations specialist, KNXT, Los Angeles; Ms. Faith Christmas, Los Angeles Sentinel; Hon. David Cunningham, Councilman, Los Angeles; Ms. Beryl Bridges, administrative aide to the Congressional Black Caucus, Washington, D.C.; Don King, promoter, New York; Hon. Bill Greene, State Senator, Los Angeles, Ca.; Ms. Nichelle Nichols, actress, Beverly Hills; Stevie Wonder, Motown Records, Hollywood.

Hon. Robert Farrell, Councilman, Los Angeles; Hon. Doris Davis, Mayor of Compton, Ca.; Charlie Brown, Atlantic Records, New York; Bob Smith, California Employment community resources coordinator, region 5, Los Angeles; Hon. Louis Stokes, U.S. Congressman, Ohio; Gerry Griffith, Epic/CBS Records, Hollywood; and Hon. Charles Rangel, U.S. Congressman, New York and chairman of the Congressional Black Caucus.

"'Strong Men' by Sterling Brown is the poem that came to mind on considering the 'Second Selma March,'" said Marshall, who will speak to the marchers after the walk down Selma Avenue in Hollywood and into the Huntington Hartford Theatre where they will see the debut performance of "Selma," the powerful, joyous new musical written by Tommy Butler.

"Selma" is produced by Butler in association with Joe Hubbard, Jr. Red Foxx is executive producer of the musical which was written by Tommy Butler.

Farmfest Crop Test Results Announced

LAKE CRYSTAL, Minn.—Corn plots averaged over 100 bushels per acre at the FARMEST National Crop Test Center, despite tough 1975 growing conditions. Soybeans produced more than 35 bushels per acre, according to an 11-page tabulation of results now available.

In releasing his report on the unique crop test at FARMFEST, field operations director Doug Leith termed the project "a successful warm-up for field demonstrations at the biggest outdoor agricultural exposition ever held."

Leith emphasized "the test in no way proclaims the superiority of any one company or variety. It reflects results applicable only to our particular soils and the weather conditions we experienced this year."

"People can draw their own conclusions on individual varieties in our report," Leith noted.

Contained among the results are data on 108 corn hybrids and 31 soybean varieties tested here for maturity and moisture content. Leith and FARMFEST 76 executive director Ed Hart will select superior seed for 900 acres of implement demonstrations during the giant Bicentennial exhibition, which runs Sept. 13-19, 1976.

"Our yields were respectable, considering we planted late, and less than an inch of rain fell in a six-week period, which included the critical tasseling time," Leith said. Results were computer-compiled by the Field Agronomy Service Dept. of Pfizer Genetics, Inc. Jacques, Midland, Pioneer, Trojan and Weather Master provided weigh wagons.

Copies of the report are available free from: FARMFEST Test Center, Box 76, Lake Crystal, MN 56055.

DMACC Class

Ranks Fourth

Paul Lowery, superintendent of Des Moines Area Community College, announced this week that graduates of the medical laboratory assistant program ranked fourth in the nation in the Certified Laboratory Assistant Examination taken last August.

The 17 graduates took the examination in Omaha. It consisted of 200 questions and all members of the class ranked above the mean of 134, while individual students placed fifth and sixth overall.

As a class, their national placement was fourth of the 116 programs testing. Total number of students taking the examination was 1,053.

"Our students have universally ranked high in competition with graduates of other institutions in all our programs," says Lowery, "and we are justifiably proud of the level attained by this class of medical laboratory assistants."

LOOK ON SPORTS

"I Don't Believe It!"

There were fifty-nine thousand screaming maniacs in Iowa Stadium last Saturday, and I think that every one of them sat in my section. This was the first time Iowa fans had had a chance to yell like that in seven or eight years, and they let it all out. You see, there comes a time in every athletic career of a team or individual when everything you do just falls into line, and you can do no wrong.

Sometimes that might happen in a practice, and then it may come in an unimportant game, or on rare occasions it happens in a big one, and this was a big one for the Hawkeyes. Unless you are blind or completely out of touch with the world, you know that Iowa won. My seat buddy has been insisting all along that Butch Caldwell was the best quarterback Iowa had. Saturday he was slapping backs and yelling that Butch was the one, and he'd vote for him for president. And it was really this young fellow's show.

Critics say he can't pass, but he threw five on the money, and had another one in the right direction only to have it intercepted by an alert cornerback. Two of his passes were right in the receiver's mitts, but were dropped. Then he turned loose that long pass, about fifty-five yards from where he threw it, and it was right on the money. All the guy had to do was turn and catch it. Our expert said that he had heard that McCallister was always afraid of making mistakes, and Caldwell never thought he would, and if he did, so what? He'd make up for it the next play. He runs well and he can throw well enough that you can't give him the pass, or he will burn you.

You have probably read enough about this big, big win. So they go to Purdue where the Hawks haven't won in thirteen years, and this could be fourteen, Caldwell and all. Hope not.

Head hunting

Iowa State has folks thinking about a new coach. And now the guy has his two toughest games coming up one right behind the other. Odds are that they will lose both games, and then listen to the wolfpack. Bruce Commings has had some tough luck with injuries, but that doesn't count. Injuries or not, folks have to have a head, and it might be the Bruce dome that rolls. And he is a good guy, but forget it. The less said about Drake, the better. The Bulldogs are licking their wounds, and maybe are glad the season is getting near to the end.

Jack Trice Stadium

And now everybody but the folks who have the final say have called the Iowa Stadium the Jack Trice Stadium. The official folks say the students and other common people have no business naming the field, so it looks as if that won't be the name. But keep your fingers crossed. Lightning may strike.

They Did It Again

The boys from Dowling fell on their faces again. Seems like they just can't get going in the playoff games. After the way the Maroons romped through the Metro conference, you would have to say they were the best team in Iowa, and if there wasn't a playoff they would have had the honor unanimously. They do have a fine ball club, but they need to be tested during the regular season to get ready for the playoff competition. Whether we like it or not, the metro teams aren't so hot, or else the other teams around the state are super teams, and I don't believe that.

Maybe if they kicked Dowling out of the conference, and they had to play teams across the state, they would really get battle hardened. Let's see. You could form a fine, tough conference that might involve some travel across the state, but it would be tough. Heelan of Sioux City, Kaumper of Carroll, Columbus of Waterloo, St. Mary's of Iowa City, Assumption of Davenport, Regis of Cedar Rapids and Wahlert of Dubuque. Dowling would be eight, and the winner of that conference title would be good enough to play with anybody. And I may have left off a team or two that might qualify, because the schools could play nine games. Maybe Dowling could get games with the conference champs in this city and some other clubs around.

I talked with a fellow about East High the other day, and he said he had seen all of their games, and he couldn't put his finger on why they didn't do better. He said the fellows seemed to like each other, but they didn't seem to get together like the boys from North and Tech did. Why, he didn't know.

Ali Vs Vysotsky?

NEW YORK, N.Y. — Teddy Brenner, president of Madison Square Garden boxing, said Monday he has received conditional approval from Russian boxing officials for a fight between Soviet Igor Vysotsky, the world's No. 1-ranked amateur heavyweight, and Muhammad Ali.

Brenner said the fight could only take place if Vysotsky, 22, won the gold medal at the 1976 Olympics in Montreal, Quebec, Canada.

Rolly Schwartz, boxing chairman of the Amateur Athletic Union, was asked if such a fight was a real possibility.

"Why not? The Russians play U.S. pros in hockey," he said. "It's just a question of working out the details."

"In my opinion, there's only one heavyweight in the world that can beat Vysotsky, and that's Ali," said Schwartz. "Vysotsky's like Rocky Marciano. He's got an iron jaw. You can hit him in the jaw and he just keeps punching."

Lives and Works In The Same Area

Editor's Note: Regina Worley is a VISTA volunteer working in the Homes of Oakridge community in Des Moines. She recently completed a campaign of volunteer services in Africa. The New Iowa Bystander welcomes her to Des Moines and with the right assistance we hope she continues a wonderful job.

Greetings, I would like to further introduce myself to the communities which this newspaper serves. My name is Regina Worley. I am a VISTA (Volunteer in Service to America) worker. I will be with all of you for about one year.

While I am here I hope to help you share your free time with others as you yourself see fit. That is, I would like to help you volunteer for activities which you will enjoy.

You may like to work with children, counsel people who are having troubles, entertain others, work with your hands to work at home. You may like to talk on the telephone or you enjoy involvement with recreation. Whatever your thing is, it can be done.

Presently, I work and live in the Homes of Oakridge. I asked my supervisor, Joey

Regina Worley

Bishop, if I could live in the area in which I was to work. I did not want to be a so-called "do gooder" during the day and live far away from my job after working hours. By living in the same area with them, I get to know better the people with whom I work.

Since my appointment, I have helped reorganize the Boy Scouts chapter and start a Girl Scouts group in the area. My recent accomplishment was to help senior citizens and those handicapped by asking the health department to set up a flu shot station at the Homes of Oakridge.

I certainly cannot and will not pat myself on the back for these accomplishments. The successful efforts are because of the great people I work with — office staff at Homes of Oakridge, the Willkie House staff, United Way staff, Gateway, Model City, various boards and you, the people of Des Moines, who have so warmly accepted me. I would like to express my thanks to all of you.

In the future, I will be working closely with Linda Kaye Clark, the recently appointed program coordinator for Homes of Oakridge. She has some great ideas for the Homes of Oakridge, so we will be combining our thoughts and efforts to make a better community.

Now that you have met me please let me hear from you. I would really like to meet you. You may call me at 244-1181, come to visit me at the Willkie House, 900 Seventeenth Street, or at the Homes of Oakridge office (244-7702), 926 Oakridge Drive.

Until then I will remain your volunteer.

Black College Presidents

Tell HEW of Parity Need

WASHINGTON (NNPA) — The presidents and aides from 44 black colleges and universities met last Tuesday with the new Secretary of Health, Education, and Welfare, Dr. David Mathews, to press for parity of educational facilities for their students.

While they received no definite promises from Secretary Mathews, former president of the University of Alabama who knows many of the black college heads personally, his office has indicated that there will be followup meetings with these colleges to find ways of meeting their needs.

Speaking for the colleges were: Dr. Charles A. Lyons, Jr., president of the conference sponsoring body, the National Association for Equal Opportunity in Higher Education, and also chancellor of Fayetteville, N.C., State University, who presided; Dr. Roy D. Hudson, vice president of the association and president of Hampton Institute.

Dr. Milton K. Curry, Jr., president of the United Negro College Fund and head of Bishop College; and Dr. Charles L. Hayes, president of Albany, Ga., State College and chairman of the Office for Advancement of Public Negro College Advisory Committee. All of the colleges represented are members of association. Mark Fisher, IV, is its executive secretary.

Gap Widens

Goal set by the speakers was for a leadership partnership between their colleges and the federal government to achieve parity for the historically black colleges by the year 2000. If such a partnership is not set in motion, the college heads expressed fear that the relative gap between the number of whites and blacks who finish college will continue to widen. The gap, they said, widened from seven per cent in 1960 to 13 per cent in 1974.

Major emphasis was placed on the need for more opportunities at black colleges and universities for their students to pursue professional and technical education. For example, there are only two black medical colleges with a third being developed at Morehouse.

More Financial Aid

Also the college heads pressed for more funds for student aid programs. They said they now need $250 million for such aid, instead of the $100 million they are receiving.

Dr. Mathews, who indicated a great understanding of the problems of black colleges, was introduced by Dr. Joffre T. Whisenton, a former teacher of educational psychology at the University of Alabama, whom he has brought here to serve as his special assistant for educational policy. For the past several years, Dr. Whisenton has been with the Southern Association of Colleges.

The following black colleges and universities were represented at the conference: Alabama A & M, Lomax-Hannon College, Miles College, Oakwood College, Stillman College, Tuskegee Institute, Delaware State, Federal City College, Howard, Washington Tech, Edward Waters College, Albany State, Atlanta University, Fort Valley State, Morris Brown, Paine, Southern, Bowie State, Morgan State, Shaw College at Detroit, Alcorn, Rust, Utica Jr. College, Lincoln University of Missouri, Barber-Scotia, Fayetteville State, Johnson C. Smith, Livingstone, Shaw, St. Augustine's College, Wilberforce, Cheyney State, Lincoln, Benedict, South Carolina State, Fisk, Lane, Tennessee State University, Bishop, Texas Southern, Wiley, Hampton, St. Paul's College and Virginia Union.

Title VI

Division, both under the Department of Justice.

Offices Inadequate

The Commission said Title VI offices in most of these agencies "are understaffed, lack sufficient authority to execute their responsibilities, do not require the necessary data for measuring Title VI compliance, and conduct too few preaward and postaward reviews. Where Title VI violations are uncovered, they are often not fully remedied."

In announcing the new school desegregation program, the Commission expressed concern that recent opposition to busing may be used to weaken the entire civil rights movement.

The new program will include a number of projects over the next ten months and will culminate in a "Report to the Nation" next August. The first project planned is consultation on "white flight" and its relationship to school desegregation.

The Commission said that sociologist James Coleman, who has been widely quoted recently on his view that school desegregation accelerates white flight, has agreed to participate in the consultation will be held December 8 at the General Service Administration auditorium at 18th and F Streets, N.W., in Washington. The Commission plans to release a report on school desegregation in Prince Georges County early next year.

Other projects in the initial planning stages are a national school desegregation standard, a nationwide survey of desegregation progress, a national desegregation conference, and hearings in two or possibly three cities yet to be named. The Commission held a hearing in Boston last June.

The Commission on Civil Rights is an independent, bipartisan, factfinding agency concerned with the rights of minorities and women. Chairman Arthur S. Fleming is also Commissioner on Aging of the Department of Health, Education, and Welfare.

Other Commissioners are Vice Chairman Stephen Horn, president of California State University, Long Beach; Francie M. Freeman, an attorney specializing in estate and corporation law in St. Louis; Manuel Ruiz, an attorney specializing in international law with offices in Los Angeles; Robert S. Rankin, professor emeritus of political science at Duke University, Durham, North Carolina; and Murray Saltzman, Rabbi, Indianapolis Hebrew Congregation, Indianapolis, Indiana. John A. Buggs is staff director.

CARD OF THANKS

Sometimes words are but dust in the roaring wind when they try to convey a thought, and thoughts are but straws on the raging sea when they seek to express our thanks.

We wish to thank Rev. H. R. Fields, Pastor George W. Murray, Rev. Henry Bevel, Rev. Albert Fox, pallbearers and honorary pallbearers, Dianetha Hall, Rose M. What was once a heavy burden and oh so hard to bear was made a little lighter, just knowing that you cared. God bless you all.

Unwanted Guests

Dear Margaret Brookfield:

May I offer a suggestion to the reader who complained about unexpected, unwanted and time-wasting guests? I used to come home from work every night to find my neighbor waiting for me at my door. She usually stayed until 7:30 p.m., but sometimes even as late as 9. Here's how I resolved the problem. One night I greeted her cordially, explained that having spent the last four evenings with her I was behind schedule and added:

"While I change my clothes, cook and eat dinner and write letters, why don't you help me by cleaning up my house?" She found a reason to leave but we're still friends.

Now I tell friends and neighbors (not out-of-towners, of course) not to call when my front door shade is pulled down, as I have something special to do and can't be disturbed. The idea caught on in the neighborhood and everyone finds it works beautifully.

P.V.

Dear P.V.:

Thank you for an excellent suggestion which we pass on in the hopes it will solve the drop-in problem faced by others.

P.S. Have you any solutions for readers who live in high-rise apartments and can't rely on the pulled shade signal?

Active at 72

Dear Margaret Brookfield:

I don't know what has come over mom, she's 72 and widowed, and belongs to six senior citizen centers within a five-mile radius. If she isn't off on a bus trip, she's visiting a museum or attending a lecture on nutrition. On weekends, she gets no rest because the many friends she met at the centers get together to chat or go shopping together. Every once in a while, mom complains that she feels tired. She never enjoyed good health but she does see her doctor regularly. I can see her going to one or two centers. But six! Any suggestions?

F.S.

Dear F.S.:

Don't you think if your mother felt ill or found the pace too tiring, she would quit? Unless her doctor says otherwise, her activities and interests are the best (and cheapest) insurance for keeping young and healthy. P.S. Would you rather have her stay home and stare out the window?
