Regulation Increases Minority Participation In Federal-aid Projects

by
Charles McCauley
Editor

DES MOINES, IA — Five Iowa non-profit organizations have filed a suit in U.S. District Court, Southern District of Iowa alleging "an insidious form of reverse discrimination on a category of persons who may least afford it."

Filed January 9, the suit names Secretary of Transportation William Coleman, Federal Highway Administrator Norbert T. Tremain, Federal Highway Administration (FHA) and the FHA office in the State of Iowa as defendants.

Plaintiffs in the petition are American Road Builders

Association of Iowa, Inc.; Asphalt Paving Association of Iowa, Inc.; Associated General Contractors of Iowa, Inc.; Iowa Concrete Pavers Association, Inc.; and Iowa Limestone Producers Association, Inc.

The non-profit organizations are representatives of 400 heavy and highway construction contractors, and material suppliers in business and labor relations matter in the State of Iowa. Most of the contractors, represented have been involved at different times on various Federal-aid highway projects in Iowa.

The suit contends that on October 30, 1975, the FHA filed a new regulation which for the first time, addressed itself to "employers rather than the employment relationship involving employers."

Provisions of Subpart B

Subpart B of the regulation provides "in part that state highway agencies shall take affirmative action to increase the participation of minority business firms in Federal-aid highway construction. Its purpose was to obtain increased participation by minority business firms in Federal-aid highway construction activity."

The regulation called for the relaxation of minority requirements for prequalification and licensing. Distribution of a list of minority contractors to prime contractor proposal holders of Federal-aid projects was also part of the regulation.

It further required that each prime contractor that intends to sub work on a Federal-aid project at any time contact all minority

More Minority Representation Needed In Government

Des Moines does not have a Negro on the city council or in the state legislature. Two women, both Democrats, served in the legislature before the state was redistricted and the vote was at-large.

The legislature attempted to redistrict the state but the action was declared unconstitutional by the Supreme Court. The Supreme Court prepared its own formula for redistricting the legislature which made it possible to elect members from their own voting area.

In Des Moines there are two districts where a majority of the voters are Negroes but by some maneuvering by the leading Democrats they allowed their representatives to slip into other hands.

Since this situation exists and since it is almost certain that a Republican would be defeated, the Democrats should nominate two strong candidates from these Negro communities and see that they are given the vote sufficient to be elected.

Des Moines voters re-elected Nolden Gentry, a Negro, for a second term on the school board. This election is citywide which indicates that as a good candidate a person can be elected without regard to race.

Let All Des Moines Cooperate With The NAACP

It seems that the Des Moines Branch of the NAACP is headed toward becoming a viable force in the community again. At two recent meetings the Des Moines Branch elevated Maude White to the presidency, even though she had already held the post of vice president, and pledged support to continue the leadership in helping to bring about more liberal conditions in the state.

One item to which the organization may well direct itself is an effort to secure the appointment of minority representations on city and state boards where plans are made so they can know about them as they are being developed.

Prior to the upheavals of the 1960's many city boards included Negro representation and a few in the state. Today there are practically none in the city and some increase in the state.

True, we have a city human rights commission and a state commission but neither has been particularly effective in this area of minority representation; some valid, some not. In a great many instances these commissions find themselves hamstrung by those who are in a position to quiet their activities. This demonstrates that it is always necessary to maintain an organization which does not have these inhibitions and can champion rightful causes without fear of retribution.

The NAACP is an organization that has filled this spot over the years. It can continue with the financial and moral support of the black and the white communities.

Our Help In Cuba Has Backfired

When the United States and Cuba began their troubles due the latter's collaboration with Russia we took upon ourselves to assist the anti-communists out of the country as refugees. Florida was the haven for most of them.

We rushed to shell out millions of dollars to help these refugees get in the country, gave them cash to tide them over in their early stay here and found jobs and made them welcome.

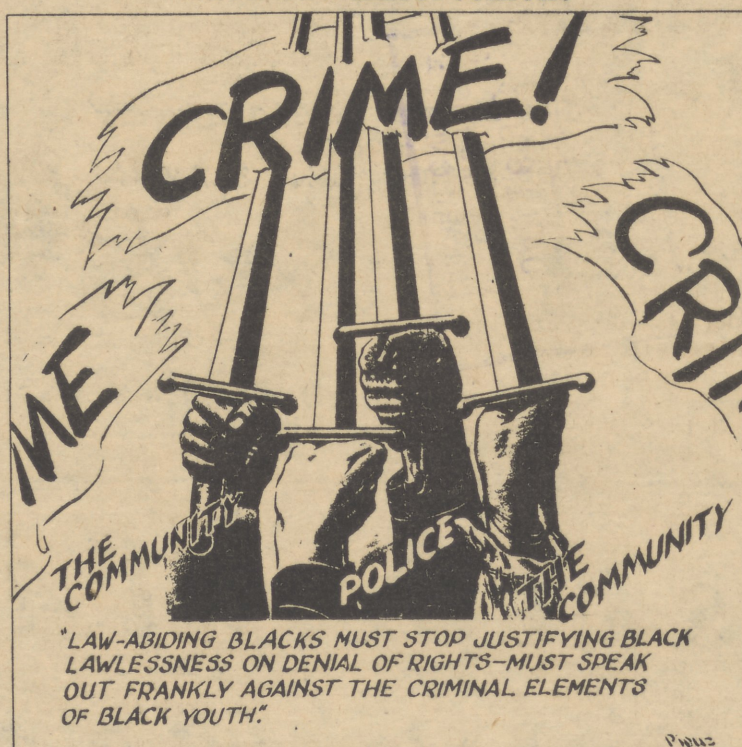

During the administration of President John Kennedy, Russia took a bold step and planted missiles in Cuba. And this, in spite of, the Monroe Doctrine which had been a part of our foreign policy since 1823, President Kennedy took a bold action demanding that the missiles be removed. Russia knew they were clearly in the wrong and complied with the demands.

Today most of the young people in Cuba have grown up during Castro's era and thus when Russia cracks the whip the people move. Thousands of Cubans are pulling Russia's chestnuts out of the fire by fighting with the Communist sympathizers in Angola.

The Bystander said editorially when Cubans were being flown into America that someday we would find the anti-communist Cubans in America and the Communist Cubans in full control of the government in Cuba.

5-County Regional Affirmative Action Conference Held

As a result of comments and requests for technical assistance which have been received from personnel at various levels of management, a Mini-Regional Affirmative Action Conference was held December 3 in Sioux City, Iowa, for intergovernmental agencies in five contiguous counties in northwest Iowa.

The conference was sponsored by the Iowa Civil Rights Commission in cooperation with Western Iowa Tech Community College and the Iowa State Department of Social Services.

Maude Esther White, Affirmative Action director of the Iowa Civil Rights Commission, served as general coordinator of the conference. She was assisted by a 14-member Pre-Conference Planning Committee which was headed by Ralph Klocke and Charles Sweeney, Woodbury County administrators for the Iowa State Department of Social Services.

The conference was held at Western Iowa Tech Community College and Dr. Robert Rice, director of Adult and Continuing Education at the college, served as moderator and facilitator of the conference.

As a result of the coordinative effort of the sponsoring agencies and the planning committee, 87 representatives of management from five counties were provided technical assistance which should enable them to plan and effectively implement Affirmative Action programs in their respective jurisdictions.

Highlights of the conference were presentations made by guest speaker, Dr. Gary Koerselman, chairman of the Iowa Civil Rights Commission and professor of history at Morningside College in Sioux City; and by the keynoter, Dr. Robert Belton, an attorney and director of the Clinical Law Program at Vanderbilt University, Nashville, Tenn.

Perry Swears-in King As EEOC Consultant

WASHINGTON, D.C. — Lowell W. Perry, chairman of the U.S. Equal Employment Opportunity Commission (EEOC), has sworn-in Ruth Allen King as a consultant to the agency. Mrs. King recently retired from the National Urban League after more than 40 years as an employment development specialist.

Chairman Perry said that Mrs. King "is among the top employment development specialists in the nation and the EEOC can certainly sue her skilled services in combating employment discrimination. She has made the guest for equal employment opportunity a life-time endeavor."

In addition to her work with the National Urban League, Mrs. King was a founder and secretary of The Edges Groups, Inc., a New York City group of professional employment specialists and company executives organized to assist organizations in locating, hiring and upgrading minorities and women.

When she retired in October, 1975, a Ruth Allen King Award for Affirmative Action was established and will be presented annually to a company that demonstrates significant efforts in equal employment opportunity. The award was announced at a special dinner honoring the EEOC consultant in New York last September. The event was sponsored by the Metropolitan New York Project Equality.

The swearing-in ceremony took place at 3 p.m. on Tuesday, January 6, 1976 at EEOC headquarters in Washington, D.C.

Health Board Elects Female

Mrs. George Hampel Jr., 7331 Northwest 21st, Ankeny, was elected chairperson for the Polk County Board of Health at the organizational meeting held January 8 at the Polk County Court House.

This is the first time to our knowledge that a woman has been elected to this position as chairperson of the Board of Health. She is serving her third three-year term.

Dr. William G. Jones of Des Moines was elected vice chairperson.

John (Jack) W. Kiburz, a West Des Moines pharmacist, was appointed by the Polk County Board of Supervisors in December to a three-year term.

Kiburz, 46, owner and operator of Kiburz Drugs, was appointed to replace Dr. C. Boyd Granberg, who did not seek another term. Dr. Granberg requested that he not be appointed after nine years on the board in order to participate in a national panel on pharmacy education which will require a great deal of time.

Other Board members are Doris Guess and Daniel Sterrett, both of Des Moines.

Auto Accident Kills Civil Rights Leader

Louis S. Smith, 47, long-time civil rights leader and co-founder of Los Angeles' Operation Bootstrap, was killed in an automobile accident outside Kingman, Ariz. Sunday morning (Jan. 4).

Smith's daughter Matilde was also killed. His wife, Marva, and his son, Adam, also involved in the accident, are currently in a Kingman hospital.

Smith became involved in the civil rights movement in 1960, participating in a number of sit-ins and freedom rides in Philadelphia and other areas. In 1964, he headed the CORE organization in Mississippi, and was appointed western regional director of CORE in 1965.

In October, 1965, Smith was the co-founder of Operation Bootstrap, a black self-help organization founded on the ashes of the Watts riots. He left CORE in 1968 to devote full time to Operation Bootstrap, and to serve as president of its Shindana Toys division.

Under Smith, Shindana became the world's largest manufacturer and marketer of black toys, dolls and games.

Smith was a believer in non-violent integration built upon black self-esteem.

'76 Black Political Convention Plans Set

The National Black Political Assembly (NBA) has completed the format and schedule for what may be one of the most significant national meetings in the long history of black people in America.

Some 6,000 delegates and observers are expected in Cincinnati, Ohio for the Third Bi-Annual National Black Political Convention, March 17-21. The first convention was held in Gary, Indiana in 1972.

Theme for the 1976 Black Convention is "Which Way Black Nation; Towards a 76 Political Strategy." The convention will focus on the building of a mass based independent black political movement for 1976 and beyond.

The highlight and most historic moment of the convention will come on Saturday, March 19, when the delegates will be asked to ratify the 1976 black political strategy, adopt the 1976 black political platform, and nominate an independent black candidate for President of the United States.

Though the NBA has yet to decide who is to be recommended to the convention, convention planners are hopeful that the prospective candidate once determined, will be present at the convention to make an acceptance speech.

Ron Daniels, chairperson for the National Black Assembly said that, "the 1976 Black Political Convention and the 1976 strategy will serve a major vehicle to popularize the 'new black politics' among the masses of black people and to establish the National Black Political Assembly as a progressive popular black alternative (pre-party) to the existing major parties."

GE Foundation Gives Grant to U. of Hartford

BRIDGEPORT, Conn.—The University of Hartford, Hartford Conn., has been granted $5,000 by the General Electric Foundation to help support the College of Engineering's program for increasing the number of minority enrollees and graduates in engineering.

William A. Orme, Foundation secretary, said that the Foundation Equal Opportunity grant is particularly appropriate in a city where more than three-fourths of the school population is black or of Spanish surname.

The General Electric Foundation is an independent trust established by the General Electric Company in 1972.

Advertising Doesn't Cost It Pays

The 1930's...Remember?

They were hard times for most Americans. Stock prices and hemlines plunged, and the WPA, the NRA and the CCC became as familiar as FDR.

But somehow life went on. Shirley Temple, Mae West and the Marx Brothers were stars of the silver screen. And Kate Smith, Burns and Allen and "One Man's Family" were heard over the air waves.

In the 1930's, a kilowatt hour of electricity from Iowa Power actually cost about twice as much as it does today, but electricity didn't do nearly so many things.

In the 1970's we are using electricity in ways that were scarcely dreamed of in the 30's and since we are using more, bills are higher. And, we are having to consider how to use energy wisely.

That's why we think the more you understand about energy supply, conservation, and wise energy use, the better it will be for us all.

IRS Offers Toll-free Telephone Service

DES MOINES, IOWA—To help taxpayers get an early start on their 1975 income tax returns, the Internal Revenue Service urged Iowans to take advantage of its year-round, toll-free telephone service for tax help.

Taxpayers can contact the IRS for help by dialing one of the following numbers depending on the call area in which they live. For people living in the Des Moines call area, the number is 284-4850. For those living in the Cedar Rapids call area it is 366-8771 and for those living in the rest of the state the toll-free number is 800-362-2600.

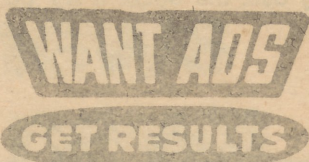

These numbers are also listed in the tax packages or instruction booklets received by taxpayers.

Very often taxpayers can save themselves a trip to the IRS office by making a phone call. However, prior to calling, you should have your forms and records available.

The toll-free lines are staffed by taxpayer service personnel. These employees have been especially trained to answer a wide variety of tax questions ranging from the simplest to some of the more complex or technical areas of tax law.

Telephone service is available from Monday to Friday from 8 a.m. to 4:30 p.m.

Pays Tribute to

The Man Behind the Legend

"I say to you today, my friends, that in spite of the difficulties and frustrations of the moment I still have a dream. It is a dream deeply rooted in the American dream. I have a dream that one day this nation will rise up and live out the true meaning of its creed: 'We hold these truths to be self-evident; that all men are created equal.' I have a dream that one day on the red hills of Georgia the sons of former slaves and the sons of former slaveowners will be able to sit down together at the table of brotherhood. I have a dream that one day even the state of Mississippi, a desert state sweltering with the heat of injustice and oppression, will be transformed into an oasis of freedom and justice. I have a dream that my four little children will one day live in a nation where they will not be judged by the color of their skin but by the content of their character."

Jewish Leader Cites Full Employment Goal

NEW YORK — The American Jewish Congress this week marked Martin Luther King Day with a call by its present, Rabbi Arthur Hertzberg, urging adoption of federal full employment legislation as "a fitting tribute to the life and work of a great American."

In a statement recalling

Dr. King's "leadership in the struggle for freedom and equality for all mankind," Rabbi Hertzberg declared:

"The American Jewish Congress, on this day of remembrance, pledges itself anew to the building and strengthening of the coalition of commitment that Dr. Martin Luther King symbolized."

Noting that he served with Coretta Scott King as a member of the National Committee for Full Employment, Rabbi Hertzberg said, "The present level of unemployment in this country is intolerable. Blacks and other disadvantaged minorities know all too well that they bear the brunt of joblessness. We must compel the American people as a whole to understand that the security of the nation cannot be insured when so many go hungry."

"We therefore believe that Martin Luther King Day can best be observed by a commitment to obtaining a speedy enactment of effective federal full-employment legislation. We call upon President Ford and the Congress to work together to achieve that goal early in 1976."

Toward that end, the American Jewish Congress leader said, "we support the objectives of the Humphrey-Hawkins Full Employment bill — reduction of unemployment in this country to a maximum of 3 per cent, with the federal government serving as an employer of last resort."

Des Moines TECHnicalities

by
Leslie Talley

In sports, Tech has one good strong point — track. One could say Tech has the best track team in the city.

Last year Mike Anderson, Willis Humphrey, Nate Butts and Riccardo Duncan broke the 440 relay record which was held by North High for many years.

Known as the "Flashy Four," the quartet of speedsters went undefeated in dual and triangular competition last season. Tech won the Urandale Invitational and the Valley Relays.

Des Moines Tech was one of only four schools in the state that qualified for five events in the Drake Relays. Anderson, Humphrey, Robin Butts, Terrill Terrill, Duncan and Marion Butts were sprinters. Other blacks on the track team are Danny Lowery, Randy Western, Jim Talley, Clarence Thomas, Gerald Carr, Byron Wells, Steve Berry, James McNear and Kevin Black.

Females at Tech participated in track last year. They were Yvonne McGregor, Valerie Edwards, Vera Butts, Kim Tindrell, Rhonda Robinson and Benita Dameron.

Edwards represented Tech in district competition and placed third in the 100-yard dash and second in the 220-year dash. Her times qualified her for state competition.

Coach of the team is Steve Carson.

Sixteen of the 31 members of the boys' track team were black. Six of eight girls were black. It looks like Tech is going to hold their record this year.

Ban Out-of-staters For First 3 Days

PIERRE, S.D. — Five South Dakota legislators have introduced a bill to ban pheasant hunters from surrounding states from South Dakota's first three hunting days.

Because the bird population had declined, the Conservation officials say as many as 70 per cent of the pheasants killed during the season are bagged in the first three days.

"An Equal

Grace Potter Deserves Grace

By Mrs. James Page

Several weeks ago, this reporter had been given the opportunity to reflect upon the past with Mrs. Grace B. Potter of 216 Oliver Street, who observed the anniversary of her entrance into a career of education in Iowa at a time when black teachers were a rare commodity.

Grace Potter is gracious, witty, and abounding knowledge. Born June 17, 1891 at Mt. Pleasant, Iowa, she attended Mt. Pleasant High School where she was an honor student. She graduated from Iowa Wesleyan College of Mt. Pleasant with a Ph.B degree.

Graduate study at Chicago University followed. Teaching positions emerged respectively — Buxton, Iowa; Tulsa, Oklahoma; Atlantic City, New Jersey; and Wichita, Kansas.

Mrs. Potter, who believes in filling every moment usefully, held positions of bookkeeper, clerk, receptionist, seamstress, along with her teaching chores.

On July 11, 1925, she married R. G. Potter. The Potters were parents of George Melvin, deceased, and Mary Elizabeth, now Mrs. Frank Spencer, with whom Mrs. Potter resides.

Community and church activities were ever active roles for Mrs. Potter. Girl Reserves Club, Y-Teen Committee, United Matrons Club, Social Improvement Club, Payne A M E Missionary Society (president, secretary, treasurer) Sunday School teacher and assistant superintendent occupied her time.

Totally adjusted to the many changes, Mrs. Potter has witnessed throughout the years, she relates to youths — their problems and concerns. She has counseled several youths in recent periods.

In her spare time, Mrs. Potter does fancy work, much reading, puzzles, reference work for people with questions in the community about history and many other things. (She accepts all calls — checks her data — and reports back).

Her mottoes for living are "Love God with all your soul, heart, mind and body and your neighbors as yourself. Do all the good you can to all the people you can just as long as you can."

business enterprises and "affirmatively solicit their interest, capability and prices."

Abused Discretion

A section of the filed petition states that the FHA failed to provide the plaintiffs "any appropriate notice of such rulemaking prior to its issuance and an opportunity to participate in the rule-making process." The plaintiffs feel the U.S. Department of Transportation and the FHA abused their discretion in the matter by not providing them with adequate notice concerning the regulation and an opportunity to be heard.

In addition, the regulation imposes certain compulsory bidding requisites, severe penalties and economic sanctions for subsequent failure of contractors to comply with the order.

Also the suit proceeds that on November 3, 1975 the U.S.

Department of Transportation issued a transmittal. The petitioners feel that the transmittal appears to imply that the prime contractor and Iowa's DOT are obligated to "provide guidance, training and technical advice for business and professional matters to minority construction contractors, subcontractors venders and suppliers."

1978 Goal

By July 1978, the regulation subpart calls for a goal of furthering minority business participation in the licensing of 500 additional minority businesses nationwide as potential contractors.

Based on relative minority population in each state and the District of Columbia, the goal would allow Iowa a minimum assignment of three minority business contractors.

The plaintiffs added that the highway construction industry both nationally and statewide is rapidly becoming a depressed segment of our economy.

"Preferential treatment afforded to minority contractors," according to the petition, "and the desire of the Transportation Department will surely force existing contractors to lose money and perhaps be forced out of business."

Plaintiffs asked the court for a temporary restraining order to keep the defendants from implementing or enforcing the provisions of Subpart B, insofar as its application in the State of Iowa. They also ask how does a prime contractor demonstrate he has taken affirmative action procedures as required by the regulation.

A declaration of unconstitutionality and unlawfulness of the regulation is asked by the plaintiffs.

Ice Baths Aid Open Heart Surgery

The use of ice baths to stop blood circulation for up to an hour during delicate open heart operations is saving the lives of blue babies and other infants born with critical heart defects, a Boston surgeon reported recently. Dr. Aldo Castaneda said the revolutionary approach to treating critically ill babies has more than halved the number of deaths and infants undergoing surgery to correct faults in hearts as small as a walnut.

The ice baths lowers the temperature of the plastic wrapped body to 77 degrees Fahrenheit, then the infant is connected to a heart-lung machine briefly to cook the blood to 68 degrees and the machine is removed. The heart stops beating at 73 degrees.

At normal temperatures, the body can withstand lack of blood circulation for only three minutes before the brain suffers severe damage from the lack of oxygen transported in the blood. But Castaneda said babies weighing up to 16 pounds can tolerate the lack of circulation for at least an hour when kept nearly 30 degrees cooler than normal. The operation has been performed on babies as young as 36 hours and weighing less than five pounds.

Drug Used To Treat Simple Depression

Lithium carbinat, a drug used successfully to treat manic depressives, now has been proved "highly effective" in treating patients with severe recurring cases of simple depression, a New York researcher said recently. Simple depression is the most common form of the depressive illnesses, affecting four to six million Americans annually. Two million Americans suffer from manic depression.

Despite new research findings, Dr. Ronald R. Fieve of the New York State Psychiatric Institute said "only a small fraction"—fewer than 100,000—of the patients suffering from either severe depression or manic depression is receiving lithium treatments. Lithium, a simple salt contained in mineral water, which ancient Greek and Roman doctors used accidentally to treat cases of manic depression, was found by an Australian doctor in 1949 to calm manic patients.

1949 to calm manic patients.
Dr. Fieve said he gives depressed patients at his New York clinic standard anti-depression drugs such as tricyclics plus lithium for the first five or six weeks, then continues them on lithium alone. Sometimes during the first year, if the depression recurs, he gives the standard medicine again. By the end of a year, he said, the number of and severity of depressive episodes decrease.

Nine-Years-Old Seeking Birth Control Advice

Girls as young as nine years old are seeking birth control advice and pose a special problem as to whether their parents should be notified, a planned parenthood leader in San Francisco says. "A whole new policy or special program must be created for girls 9 to 12 years-old who are sexually active and need advice," Dr. Gerry Oliva, medical director for a Planned Parenthood Agency, said.

Dr. Oliva said part of the problem is that her agency's information pamphlets, aimed at reaching adults, are "too complicated for a six-grader to understand." She said the agency has a policy of not telling parents when their children come in for advice or contraceptives. This practice has so far been extended to even the youngest clients. "It is hard not to call the parents when the girls are 9 and 10," she stated.

Dr. Oliva said the trend toward earlier sexual activity "means that parents must advise their children earlier than in the old days. Now, telling a girl the facts of life when she's nine years-old may be too late to stop her from having sex."

She said she learned at a national planned parent federation convention recently in Seattle that other areas of the country are experiencing the same increase in preteen activity. "Agency counselors throughout the country are totally overwhelmed by these kids," she said.

NAACP Branches Meet In Waterloo

WATERLOO, IOWA — The Iowa-Nebraska State Conference of Branches of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People held sessions here Saturday at the Quality Inn.

Representatives attended from Des Moines, Black Hawk County, Davenport, Cedar Rapids, Omaha, Keokuk, and Marshalltown. At 1 p.m. the state conference of branches was convened. At 7:30 p.m. the regular meeting of the NAACP convened.

Lawrence McVoy of Omaha, state conference president succeeding Robert Wright, was speaker at both meetings. Sixty people attended the all-day sessions hosted by the Black Hawk County chapter.

The most important item on the agenda was the raising of funds to reduce the largest national indebtedness. Second on the agenda was the discussion of the present and future concerns around the status of the Iowa Civil Rights Commission.

A committee composed of the presidents of the ten branches will be convened to express the concerns of NAACP to Gov. Robert Ray. Another item on the agenda was discussion of the regional conference which will be held in Davenport in April.

Special guest at the evening session was Jim Hightower of the National Committee for the Fred Harris for President Committee. Hightower gave a short presentation.

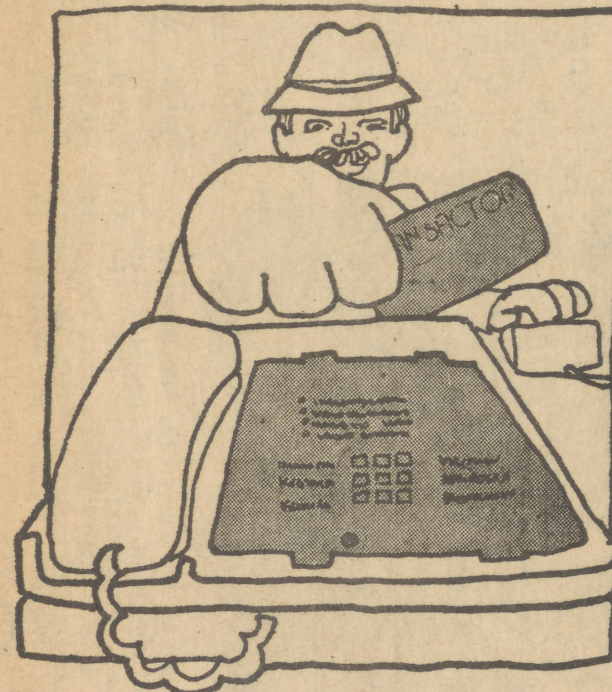

Officers of the Black Hawk County NAACP chapter are Rev. Stanley Kennedy, urban minister; James Anderson, Jr. first vice president and Mrs. Helen Brown, secretary.

LOOK ON SPORTS

College Basketball In Iowa

At last we have the basketball stuff in full swing. Here in the state, the big news is how many games Iowa State will lose before they finally get on the right side. A fellow told me that he doesn't have high hopes for them to do much, but he wouldn't say why. Saturday the team played well enough to have won about half of the games they have lost, but it wasn't good enough. One guy said the Cyclones looked as if they were playing a pickup game with every man for himself. Maybe they will do it right yet. Maybe they will have done it by the time you read this.

Drake can't seem to win one on the road, but the Bulldogs are seemingly unbeatable at home. If they could break even on the road, they could end up as conference champs. We shall see if they really are unbeatable when they meet Iowa U. at home.

The Iowa Hawkeyes are off to their best start in recent years. But how come they have an 11-2 mark, and aren't even in the first twenty? They needed that one at Minnesota to build up their confidence, so now maybe they will finish better than they are supposed to.

On the national scene, just about anybody is apt to become national champs this year. As of right now, it looks as if UCLA won't make it to the shootout for the first time in a decade. But you will recall that they lost some games last year, but won the ones that really counted. Think they can do it again?

With the exception of Indiana at number one, the rest of the ratings seem to jump around from week to week. An example: the team that just about ran UCLA off the floor lost one to Northwestern by a lopsided score earlier in the year, and the Wildcats aren't supposed to be tough. So you would think that on a basis of comparative scores, that the Uclans would likely finish in the Big Ten cellar. All believe that, stand on your head. And each week the Hoosiers have another squeaker to come up with. So far they have managed to do it, but I keep looking for them to slip and throw the Big Ten race up for grabs.

But there are so many good ball clubs around the country that there just isn't any way to pick the best one. Any one of the first twenty-five teams is apt to beat any of the others on just any day. So, who is number one? The polls keep saying Indiana, but the Hoosiers probably won't meet Providence, Marquette, or any of the others now that the conference race is on. Wonder if they play Notre Dame at South Bend?

Around Town

Here at home it looks very much as if the next game between Dowling and Lincoln will be for the top spot. If Dowling can get as many as fifteen points out of Tim Lee, they could take that one. The last time against Lincoln, Lee didn't get over a half dozen points if he got that many, and fouled out. But now he seems to have hit his stride, and if they pay too much attention to him, the Maroons have some other fellows who will be heard from.

Even though Hoover lost another game, they could be the spoilers in the Metro race, as could be Roosevelt. The Riders seem to be coming on and will take a good deal of beating before they are licked. East, Tech and North are engaged in a merry battle for the rest of the spots. How will they finish? Don't know.

And while the cage season is heating up, wrestling is just about to break out. The fellows are at it now, and it won't be long before we will have the various title meets. Tech used to be a power in the state in the mat game, but now it looks as if Dowling is about to take over that too. Wouldn't that be something: The Maroons first in football, basketball and wrestling. How do you stop them? They say the secret of their success is dedication and hard work. And I might add that they have some fine athletes. Surely the rest of the schools are dedicated and work hard, but what comes out.

This is different. A fellow said about Roosevelt Grier when he was in town over the weekend: "He looks like a great big teddy bear." Maybe so, but I wouldn't want to meet that teddy bear in a football suit.

Morgan Raises Record To 9-2

Quick now! Who is Steve Trupin and what does he do? Well, anyone who knows football knows Turpin is Morgan State University's All-American punter and third leading receiver on the Golden Bear's football team.

But does everyone know Mr. Do-everything Trupin has one more ability that has the Morgan Athletic Department stirring. Turpin is now a member of the Morgan State basketball team and in his first outing against a nationally ranked Norfolk State team scored 17 points and grabbed 4 rebounds in relief of starter Ivan Young.

Morgan State (9-2) losing their second game of the season (first lost to Fairleigh-Dickinson) to Drexel University in the championship game of the Kiwanis Tournament in Baltimore, Maryland, 62-54, came from a 52-42 disadvantage at halftime and defeated Norfolk State 77-76 at the Scope in Norfolk, Virginia.

Billy Newton and Barry Scroggins did the defensive work, as they forced Norfolk State guards into numerous turnovers.

Eric Evans and Turpin together scored 43 points to keep Morgan in the lead in the final seconds.

Fouls plagued the Morgan team as Young and Arthur Solomon fouled out and Evans and Turpin finished the game with 4 and 3 fouls respectively.

Defeat 1st Christian; Prepare for Tourney

With a 7-1 record, the Maple Street Baptist Church girl's basketball team, the Holy Terrors, get ready to enter into Interchurch Girl's League tournament action Monday night, January 19.

Last Monday night, the Terrors defeated First Christian Church by 15 points in a 40-25 regular season finale. Gracie Edmonds led the Terrors' offensive attack with 20 tallies.

Pat Collins scored eight points. Kim Donnelly and Dorothy Seals netted six and two points respectively in a game where Coach Bud Collins used most of his bench. Sherrie Anderson rounded out the scoring with two baskets for four points.

First Christian was paced by Kathy Morris with 18 points.

Although no one fouled out, the Terrors collected 18 team fouls to five for their opponents.

Participating in the game were Donna Anderson, Kathy Anderson, Melody Bailey, Roxanne Brown, Gina Butts, Lynette Butts, Terrie Collins, Cloreen Horton, and Kim Sharp.

All tournaments games will be at First Christian Church, 25 & University. Holy Terror coaches are Collins, Pat Marshall and Charles McCauley.

Bicentennial Exhibition At Morgan State University

The Morgan State University Gallery of Art is the site of the Bicentennial Art Exhibition entitled "The Black Presence in the Era of the American Revolution, 1700-1800," which began Sunday, January 11 and will last until March 26.

Co-sponsored by the University Gallery of Art, Soper Library and the Pierians (a group dedicated to patronizing the arts), exhibition is from the Smithsonian Institution Traveling Exhibition Series.

The show includes over 250 items—portraits, prints, broadsides, petitions, letters, poems and related objects gathered from public and private art collections across the country.

Through these items, the stories of some of the thousands of black men and women who were part of the American Revolutionary struggle are told.

Also represented are black individuals who made contributions to the development of the arts, sciences, politics and religions of 18th and early 19th century America.

While some of the figures included in the exhibition will be familiar to students, i.e., Crispus Attucks, Phillis Wheatley and Benjamin Banneker—the show represents many other blacks who are seldom in history books.

These range from the rank-and-file soldiers and sailors who fought for the patriot cause, to the slaves who joined British units in response to offers of freedom.

Featured also are the efforts of 18th century blacks to win their liberty through court actions and petitions, and the post-revolutionary war activities of men and women who led the early fight for black freedom.

Marvin Sadik, director of the National Portrait Gallery, and Sidney Kaplan, professor of English at the University of Massachusetts, organized and exhibition.

The major catalog for the show, written by Professor Kaplan, and entitled "The Black Presence in the Era of the American Revolution" is available for purchase from the New York Graphic Society.

MESSIAH TEMPLE

Rev. Jacob Reed spoke on, "The price that was paid for our souls." We always talk about the value of an item, but how often do we think about the price that was paid for our souls? If we do think about it, we only think of the death of Jesus on the cross.

But is that all Jesus paid for us? First He left His home in glory where angels were His messengers; then He became sinful flesh with a borrowed cradle, home, and even tomb.

He paid the price for our souls when He battled Satan without sinning. He paid the price with loneliness. He had no wife, no children, and no friends when it came time to die. The last price He paid was His suffering on the cross. We are not our own, we are bought with a price.

Our visitors were Mrs. Florence Mongo, Mrs. Henrietta Posten, and William Reed.

Sunday school is at 10:30 with services at 11:30. The book of Acts is taught every Sunday evening at 7. Prayer services are every Wednesday evening at 7. Join us soon.

The Second Forty

(A forum about mature women)

by Margaret Brookfield

Have you a problem as a mature woman, or with one? For advice write Margaret Brookfield, Information Center on the Mature Woman, 515 Madison Avenue New York, N.Y. 10022.

Too Old To Be Parents?

Dear Margaret Brookfield:

My husband and I are both well into our "second forty," but we can truly say that for us life has just begun. After failing to have children of our own, finally getting ahead financially and then enduring a long waiting period, we have adopted a 10-year-old boy.

He's made our lives complete, but there's one problem. My husband's brother and his wife, who are in their thirties and have two children, tell us that we are too old to take on such a responsibility, that it's not fair to the boy, and that we should have been content with helping our niece and nephew. How can we convince them we are doing the right thing?

A.M.

Dear A.M.:

It sounds to me as though your in-laws resent your adopted son because it means their children will get less from you and your husband, and that their expressions of concern about what is fair for the boy are just so much window dressing.

I'd suggest that you pay them no heed and go ahead and enjoy having a son. Bringing up a happy, healthy boy will be the best proof that you did the right thing.

A Husband's Dilemma

Dear Margaret Brookfield:

I have a problem with a mature woman — my wife. At least, she's mature in years — 55 — but I think very immature in her attitude. We've had a very happy and satisfactory married life, but she says she no longer wants to have sexual relations — that it's not suitable at our age and physically painful for her.

I still enjoy intercourse and don't want to find my satisfaction with somebody else. How can I persuade my wife that sex at our age can still be pleasurable?

B. H.

Dear B.H.:

I think the key to your wife's problem is in her statement that intercourse is painful. When something hurts, it's difficult to enjoy.

Persuade her to see a gynecologist and discuss this problem with him or her. Being past the menopause, your wife may be suffering from an estrogen deficiency which may make the lining of the vagina thin and easily irritated — hence painful during intercourse. If the physician finds that this is her problem, he or she may prescribe estrogen replacement therapy.

The emotional impact of the menopause — loss of reproductive ability and physical proof of aging — may also contribute to your wife's reluctance to have sexual relations. So, even if the physical cause is eliminated, you may have to be patient and understanding for a while until she finds her equilibrium.

Business in the Black

By Charles E. Belle

Regardless of the color of your skin, our country has experienced the longest and deepest recession since World War II. Vietnam with its price inflationary pressure and Watergate with its political pressure on the people contributed to the collapse of our prosperity.

The difficulties of New York City are creating deflationary waves as other cities in the U.S.A. pay higher rates on their borrowings and small black towns are simply denied access to credit markets.

Deflation is not more fun than inflation and could in fact lead to depression. Only to the extent that deflation provides a counteraction to inflation can it be viewed positively. Yet it and other acts may open the door for a thin cause for optimism in 1976.

Congress' big tax bill extending and expanding 1975's tax cut is a strategy for a slow but steady growth in the economy in 1976. Our 200th anniversary as a nation is a national election year. The politicians will be playing to the election ears and promises of prosperity will be a plenty.

However, housing is so bad as to be almost impossible for even those earning between $15,000 to $20,000 a year. The national average for a house is higher than $40,000.

In southern California a new home runs around $51,000, and in New York Metropolitan area about $55,000, and in Washington, D.C. it's about $57,000. The tragedy in housing is that there is nothing under $40,000, so some people cannot buy a home.

Housing which normally is the national economy leader is not likely to be as important in 1976. America's strength will be solidly in Agri-business. Agri-power is more important than Petro-power.

America's rate of inflation is slower than that of many other countries because of a virtual monopolistic control of the world's exportable food supply. Nevertheless, blacks and other unemployed will find the abundant food supply hard to come by in 1976.

Unemployment on the national level is expected to give ground grudgingly to a rate of 7.2 per cent. This will mean little change in the unemployment columns of those of color. The national unemployment rate must break below five per cent before blacks or any other semi-skilled seekers of jobs can sing out and rejoice.

The projection of a decline in the rate of inflation to six per cent delivers very little solace to job seekers. The only interesting sector of the economic sorcerer predictions is for a decline in interest rates to seven per cent. This will provide an opportunity for businesses to borrow and get accelerated economic growth underway during 1976 for 1977.
