Howard U. Research Seeks NBA Material

Joe Battles, assistant director of Moorland-Spangarn Research Center, Howard University, Washington, D.C. was in Des Moines last week in connection with the collection of information concerning historical material with regard to Negro individuals and organizations.

Battles' research in Des Moines concerned the founding of the National Bar Association in 1925.

James B. Morris, Sr., one of the founders and the only living charter member, made available to Battle such items as the report in the Des Moines Register edition of August 2, 1925 concerning the meeting and election of officers, a copy of articles of Incorporation which are recorded in the Polk County Recorder's office and the work of George H. Woodson, who conceived the idea, invited Negro lawyers of a number of cities and presided at the organization's meeting at the Polk County Court House. He was elected the first president.

Thursday evening, Battles met with a group of lawyers at the Savery Hotel where the purpose of the research center were explained to the group.

The Iowa Civil Rights Commission decided Thursday to obtain the services of Community Relations Service (CRS) of the U.S. Department of Justice to help settle disputes of the agency.

CRS, at no charge, provides technical guidance to communities wishing to establish official commissions or to existing commissions seeking to strengthen on-going programs and/or plan new projects.

The Commission has been in a dispute concerning its executive director, Joseph Tate, a black. The commissioners came close to firing Tate last month.

Amid charges of racism and litigation threats against them, the commissioners decided to have an outside agency look into the problem and evaluate the commission and its staff. CRS will not be in an evaluation situation but act through mediation.

Behind the scenes

Working confidentially behind the scenes, a CRS conciliator and a group of fact-finders will prepare a list of the problems and issues perceived by the individual commissioners and other interested parties.

Donald Burger, CRS regional conciliator, said "the factfinders are not employees of the Justice Department but are experts selected to provide fact-finding expertise to the commissioners. A local newspaper stated that $2500 was being sought by the Commission "to pay Burger and his team" for their services. According to Burger, the Justice Department cannot hire out its services. Only the fact-finders, nonfederal personnel, would be paid.

Fact-finders Recommended

Burger said that he would recommend potential fact-finders who have expertise in management and evaluation and fields of affirmative action."

The fact-finders will accompany Burger "to meetings with the commissioners, commission employees and other Iowans with issues which the Civil Rights Commission needs to attention priorities to."

Burger is currently and will for the next three weeks be meeting with public officials and concerned citizens who believe they have insights into the kinds of issues or problems that ought to be considered by the commissioners in the Bill of Particulars being drawn.

Bill of Particulars are issues of priorities drawn by the mediator (Burger) for the commissioners to consider. From the working paper, the commissioners can decide what action they will pursue in the next few months.

According to Burger, CRS mediation service is patterned on similar expertise of management-labor and applying the same principles to dispute settlements in the civil rights fields. In instances where there are concerted efforts by all parties to a dispute to resolve their differences, the CRS mediation process has resulted in a written agreement.

Cosigned by all the commissioners, the agreement will be shared with the public, as the Commission announces criteria of what they will do and will have their staff to do.

The commissioners will decide what to do with

Iowa 1976 Caucuses

The results of the political caucuses Monday night were surprising in many respects. Former Georgia Governor Jimmy Carter topped the Democratic group while President Gerald Ford and former California Governor Ronald Reagan were close runners in the Republican caucuses, with the President coming out on top.

While Republicans in the Midwest are considered right-of-center they have generally supported liberal social measures but remain well to the right on the financial side. On the other hand, Iowa Democrats have generally been more to the left most of whom were the liberal forces that defected from the Republican party.

The vote for Jimmy Carter was a surprise in view of the fact that he is little known in this part of the country. However, his record in Georgia was outstanding and he consistently took a liberal view on civil rights. He was credited of having received almost a solid Negro vote.

This year the caucuses were well attended because of the confusion and criticism of government that come out of Washington and kept alive by the news media and the efforts of a number of candidates to secure their party's nomination. While caucuses are the beginning of the process of electing a President, much will depend upon what happens at the national conventions.

Caucuses Are Neighborhood Gatherings

I attended a Republican caucus as has been my practice for 50 years. Delegates were chosen to the county convention. More voters were present than had been the case for many years.

An interesting side of the caucus this year was the consideration of resolutions to be sent to the platform committee for the purpose of ascertaining the sentiment of the voters. They directed their attention to the solution of crime and a rollback of the price of mailing a first class letter.

They agreed that Congress should take a close look at the CIA and the FBI, but felt that they were essential to the well-being of American interests both at home and abroad. But the majority felt that there are entirely too many leaks that scatter news to people who are in a position to use the information to commit crimes and to make our foreign policy misunderstood in many instances.

Caucuses are neighborhood gatherings, generally informal, where people discuss their views rather freely. They help to bring back the old practice of knowing their neighbors which we have gotten away from. They have value which not only begin the political movement toward electing a President, but also help neighbors to become better acquainted with the fellow next door.

problems and issues of the Bill of Particulars through voluntary consideration of facts with an ultimate outcome based on voluntary agreement of the parties. CRS does not try to impose action.

Problems Not Different

The problems encountered are not unique to the state's Civil Rights Commission," Burger said, "nor unique to other boards, commissioners and offices in the state government of Iowa." The Commission's problems received more public attention because of the Iowa Civil Rights Commission's work he added.

Burger stated that he will be visiting various parts of the state and will meet with people in private. Interested persons can contact him by calling the CRS office in Kansas City, Missouri at 816-374-2022.

The regional conciliator asks that callers leave name and number if he cannot be reached. He will return calls.

Ben Holman who carries the rank of assistant attorney general is CRS director. He is the only black with seniority of such rank as a Presidential appointee in federal government.

John Perez is CRS regional director in Kansas City. The region covers Missouri, Iowa, Kansas and Nebraska.

Created by the 1964 Civil Rights Act, CRS has found during its nearly eleven years of work in similar disputes that the formalized process of mediation by a third party often leads to effective remedies being implemented.

CRS experience has shown that even when a formalized agreement is not arrived at, the effort contributes to clear perceptions of the underlying issues needing resolution in order for the dispute to be settled by subsequent action.

Earth, Wind and Fire and CBS--Thanks

During the main thrust of the civil rights movement in the 1960's, entertainers, both black and white, marched in the front lines of battles in Montgomery, Birmingham, Selma, and Jackson. Some of the biggest names in the entertainment business contributed their time and talents to provide needed financial resources in support of the NAACP, SCLC, SNCC, CORE, National Urban League, and other groups leading the fight against discriminatory laws and an unjust social system.

As we know, the Nixon years brought a "benign neglect" and a wanton conspiracy to defame and destroy, through the CIA, FBI and other subversive means, the civil rights movement and its most militant leadership. During these dark years, other civil rights-oriented organizations have been weakened by the lack of financial support.

On the second day of the New Year, there was an encouraging sign that at least one aspect of the period of corporate neglect of urban needs may be gradually coming to an end. More than 14,000 persons jammed the Oakland Coliseum to see Earth, Wind and Fire, in the first of a series of "Save Our Cities" benefit concerts.

Earth, Wind and Fire, one of the hottest groups in the country, contributed their services, and so did promoter Bill Graham. And CBS Records picked up the tab for all promotional costs for the concert.

Co-chaired by Dr. Margaret Mead, noted author and anthropologist, and Mayors Maynard Jackson of Atlanta, and Kevin White of Boston, the "Save Our Cities" Committee has planned a series of six concerts to benefit two organizations actively involved in the business of improving the quality of life in our cities—the National Urban Coalition and the National Council of Negro Women.

Top executives of major recording companies serve on the committee and are providing the leadership for this national effort to re-focus public attention on the urban crisis and to mobilize resources to deal with this crisis.

Earth, Wind and Fire, who are products of urban life, and the leadership of the CBS Records Group are to be commended for helping to launch this vitally needed campaign to "Save Our Cities."

HUD news

Minority neighborhoods have been allocated $1.425 billion of the $2.5 billion Community Development block grant programs funds authorized by the Housing and Community Development Act of 1974, according to the first annual report on the program. The funds are committed to some 2,900 communities.

The report shows further that low or moderate income areas are receiving 71 per cent of the entitlement funds. These localities emphasize conventional urban renewal-type activities, combined with housing and supportive public works.

HUD Secretary Carla A. Hills noted that a portion of the funds spent citywide also benefits minority group residents. She said the report shows that the highest priorities in both minority and non-minority neighborhoods are public works and housing. In minority neighborhoods, the focus is on renewal-related activities and public services.

The Housing and Community Development Act of 1974 consolidated seven existing categorical grant programs — urban renewal, model cities, water and sewer facilities, open space, neighborhood facilities, rehabilitation loans and public facilities loans.

A conclusion reached in the report is that the 1974 Act substantially helped more communities than all the combined programs it replaced.

Reduction In GI Home Loan Interest Rate

The maximum interest rate on GI home loans was recently reduced from 9 to 8.75 per cent. What does this mean for the veteran?

For a veteran buying a home with a $30,000 GI loan, the one-quarter per cent decrease in the Veterans Administration interest rate could mean a savings of about $2,000 over the life of a 30-year loan, the VA said.

VA guarantees loans that private lenders make to eligible servicemen, veterans and widows. Officials said this was the 27th change in GI home loan interest rates since the program began in 1944.

This latest reduction in the GI loan interest rate was attributed to an increased supply of mortgage money, according to the VA.

New law gives tax break to low-income families

If your taxable income was less than $8,000 in 1975, Uncle Sam may owe you up to $400. In most cases, family assistance such as welfare doesn't count as income.

Working men and women with low incomes should find out if they qualify for a new tax break called the Earned Income Credit, urges H&R Block, the nation's largest tax preparation service. The company has launched an information program, as has the government, to alert those whom the new law is designed to benefit.

To claim the special payment as a refund or credit, eligible persons must file a 1975 Federal income tax return—even if not otherwise required to do so. It doesn't matter whether or not employers took out Federal withholding taxes since the credit can create a refund.

Individuals who can answer yes to two key questions probably qualify. They are:

1. Was your adjusted gross income (including earned income) less than $8,000?
2. Did you maintain a household the whole year in the U.S. for yourself and one or more children whom you can claim as dependents and who were under 19 years of age or full-time students?

For purposes of this credit, earned income includes salaries, wages, tips, and other employee compensation after the sick pay exclusion, and any net earnings from self-employment income.

A widowed, separated, or divorced mother who took a job as domestic help to maintain a home for her children may qualify. Married couples are required to file a joint return to get the new tax break.

However, if for any reason a joint return can't be filed when you are married and living apart, you are considered single for tax purposes and may qualify for the credit if you meet the following requirements: you file a separate return; you paid more than half the cost to keep up your home in 1975; your spouse did not live in your home at any time during 1975; and for over six months of 1975 your home was the main home of one or more children you can claim as a dependent.

The Earned Income Credit gives those who qualify a 10 per cent refund or credit against taxes owed based on a maximum of $4,000 of earned income. If income exceeds $4,000, any credit determined thus far is reduced by 10 per cent of the excess over $4,000. If you have income of more than $8,000, there can be no credit. For example:

A qualifying individual has adjusted gross income totalling $6,000 of which $5,000 represents earned income already explained. His Earned Income Credit is $200 determined as follows: 10 per cent of the first $4,000 of earned income equals $400; 10 per cent of the excess over $4,000 equals $200; $400 minus $200 equals $200.

Those who believe they may qualify should read the 1975 Federal tax instructions for further information. Free consultation is available from local Internal Revenue Service tax information centers and H&R Block offices.

Last tax season H&R Block prepared eight million returns for taxpayers and eight out of ten were for customers who returned from the previous year.

Civil Rights Figures Issue Warning On Pending Criminal Code

ATLANTA, GA. — Southern civil rights leaders have issued a warning to the black community and to civil rights advocates across the country concerning legislation pending in this session of Congress which they say could turn the U.S. into a police state. The legislation is titled Senate Bill 1.

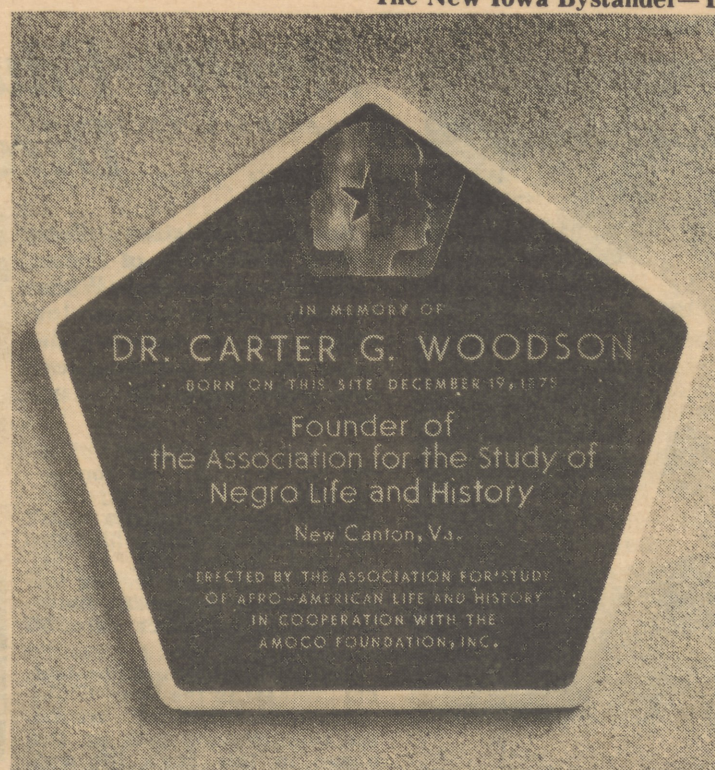

Issuing the joint statement were veteran civil rights figures Julian Bond, John Lewis, Rev. Ralph Abernathy and Bernard Lee. Abernathy and Lee are president and vice president, respectively, of the Southern Christian Leadership Conference.

Bond, Lewis, Abernathy and Lee were active figures in the civil rights movements of the South in the 1960's. They said that if passed, S. 1 "would be a monumental set-back to the civil rights gains of the last 20 years."

They called it the most dangerous legislative threat to the rights of all Americans ever to come before the Congress, and said it would strike hardest at blacks and minorities.

S. 1 is a reworking of the entire U.S. criminal code that was introduced in its original form into the Congress by former President Nixon. It is pending before the Senate Judiciary Committee. Its supporters include President Ford, Senate Democratic

NNPA Head Demands FBI End Harassment

WASHINGTON (NNPA) — "We demand a statement from you that under your leadership, the Federal Bureau of Investigation will not be a continuing instrument of oppression against all black leaders, black organizations, and ordinary black citizens who are determined to struggle against the blight of racism."

This demand by Dr. Carlton B. Goodlett, president of the National Newspaper Publishers Association — the Black Press of America — was made of Clarence Kelley, director of the FBI, last week during a meeting with him in which Goodlett, Jesse Jackson of PUSH and other black leaders took part.

"We await with some concern such a definitive statement," Goodlett added, leader Mike Mansfield, and Republican leader Hugh Scott.

The civil rights leaders said, "S. 1 would outlaw many of the methods of mass, nonviolent protest of the 1960's. It would encourage government harassment such as that directed against the late Dr. Martin Luther King by the FBI. S. 1 would silence press exposure of government secrets, and would turn concepts of criminal justice upside down."

They said blacks would "face an ominous series of repressive laws in today's struggles for justice if S. 1 is passed."

According to the statement, S. 1 protects government employees who commit illegal acts, calls for widespread wiretapping, provides a mandatory death penalty and harsher prison sentences with less parole or probation.

The four said S. 1, a 753-page bill, "is so filled with the repressive taint of the Nixon policies that amendments cannot save it." They called for immediate efforts by people concerned with justice to defeat the measure.

pointing out that the NNPA's 143-member newspapers in more than 90 cities could serve as a vehicle to convey the message to the black masses.

"Black people," Goodlett continued, "have long been aware of the insensitivity of former FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover. The long period of covert and overt harassment and character assassination carried on by Hoover and the FBI were not unknown to knowledgeable blacks years prior to Watergate."

Goodlett then turned to Hoover's vilification and attempted character assassination of Dr. Martin Luther King, Jr., and the reported FBI involvement in the murder of Fred Hampton in Chicago and the killing of four other Black Panther members in Los Angeles.

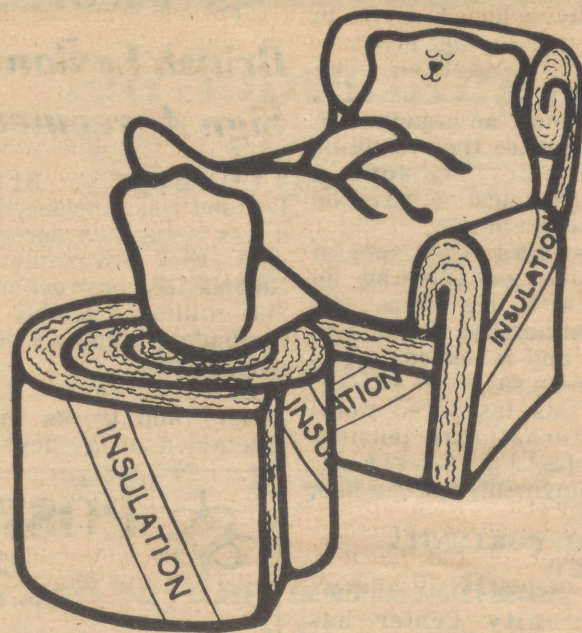

"These events and many crimes yet undisclosed," the Black Press head charges, "have led to a crisis in Black-USA." Further, Goodlett said that through the Congressional Black Caucus, efforts will be made to limit the term of office of FBI directors to six to eight years.

"Only when blacks have seen manifestations of this new FBI will it be incumbent upon us, individually and collectively, as spokesmen for 25 million blacks, to elevate the FBI and its associated law enforcement agencies to the high pedestal which it once occupied: a federal agency serving the interests of the people, to preserve the law, to preserve order, under the mandate of justice," Goodlett concluded.

NAACP RAPS LEVI

NEW YORK — NAACP Executive Director Roy Wilkins has accused Attorney General Edward H. Levi of "capitulation to ignorance, racism, anarchy and mob rule" for planning to seek a judicial reexamination of the U.S. Supreme Court decision permitting areawide busing to desegregate public schools.

Group Promotes Valentine Image

If what the world needs is "Love sweet love" then there are three young businessmen in Loveland, Colorado, who could well be hailed as modern day Solomons.

These young men have created what could be this year's most unique Valentine's gift idea, the world's largest valentine. The valentine, a striking 2'x3' poster, when unfolded contains five ageless messages of love from the great romantic poets. The messages have been carefully selected so as to appeal to every age group.

Leon Feddersen, the leader of Cupid's Rendezvous, an organization to promote the valentine image, felt a special Loveland valentine would be appropriate in 1976.

"We had the special valentine designed by an artist with 'big' ideas. His creation has five hearts, five verses and is personalized," Feddersen says.

"In this fast-paced world of international tension, escalating prices, unemployment, and the like, we feel our valentine adds a much-needed touch of romantic sincerity — and in a big way. Heaven knows, we all could use a little more love and friendship in our lives," he said.

If you wish to mail your sweetheart one of these unusual valentines, it is available from CUPID'S RENDEZVOUS, 1308 Westridge Drive, Loveland, CO 80537. Just send your name, your valentine's name, along with $5.00.

Health Education Project Directed at Urban Youth

Speaking to sixteen college men at the March of Dimes (MOD) headquarters in White Plains, (N. Y.), Charles Wright, MOD assistant director of youth activities, explored the psyche of the urban youth.

"A day in the life of a black city boy can often be confusing and unfulfilling," says Mr. Wright. "He is uncertain about what the future holds, his family and friends are on his back, and he's not feeling too well because he doesn't know how to take proper care of himself.

"Your job as counselors and big brothers in the Boys' Clubs of America facilities around the country is to pick up the pieces in this boy's life and help him put himself back together."

This talk was part of an orientation workshop launching a pilot project, "Education for Parenthood". The young men, all members of Phi Beta Sigma, a predominantly black service fraternity, are very interested in focusing on black city boys and educating them about the present and future importance in their lives of good health habits.

The "Education for Parenthood" program is a cooperative effort of Phi Beta Sigma, the Boys' Clubs of America, and the March of Dimes. The fraternity provides volunteers; the Boys' Clubs has arranged for program testing at their sites in Chicago, Houston, Pittsburgh, and Washington, D.C.; and the March of Dimes gives funds for training and educational aids.

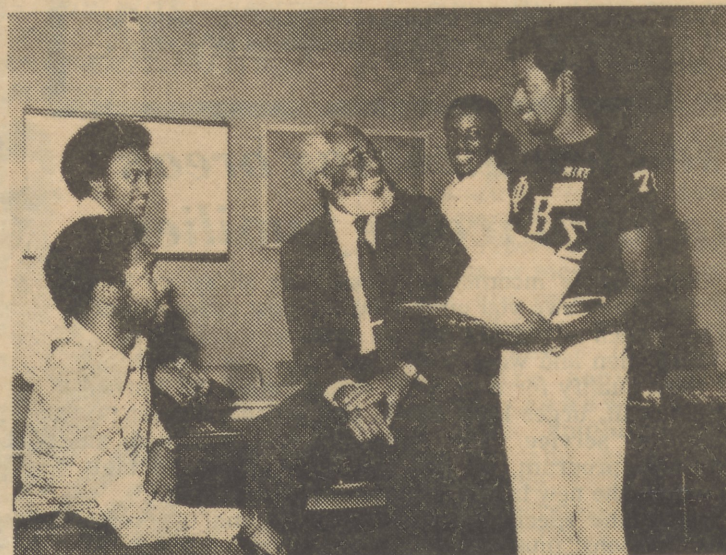

"The four-day workshop marks the beginning of an exciting, innovative program," says Mr. Wright. "Between the enthusiasm of the students and the knowledge we gained from the speakers, we are well on our way to meeting health education needs of boys who will be tomorrow's fathers."

Dr. Calvin Sinnette, Professor of Pediatrics and Director of Community Pediatrics at Harlem Hospital Center in New York City, gave some significant facts in his medical presentation. "Did you know that black babies die at a rate nearly twice as high as that of white babies," asked the doctor, "and that many infants are born junkies?"

He pointed out that the non-white population has an infant mortality rate of 30 per 1,000 births, as opposed to the white infant mortality rate of 15 per 1,000 births. Dr. Sinnette said that prematurity, prenatal infection, poor nutrition, congenital disorders, narcotic withdrawal syndrome, accidents, child abuse, and environmental hazards are underlying causes of this wide discrepancy. Boys in the cities can be made aware of these factors and fully appreciate the need for developing proper health care and good nutrition early in life.

To help the students better understand the boys they will be counseling, Herbert Lowe, assistant director of programs for the Boys' Clubs, coordinated role-playing skits with the trainees. Through value-probing exercises directed by Dr. Cynthia Morton, project consultant, the young men explored other forces at work on both themselves and the boys, like peer pressure, self-identity, and family background.

"Although results will not occur overnight," says Mr. Wright, "we believe the program will be successful and intend to expand it to the more than 250 cities where there are Phi Beta Sigma chapters."

Atlanta Life Acquires Control Of Oldest Black Insurance Firm

RICHMOND, VA. (NNPA)—The Atlanta Life Insurance Company, second largest black-owned and managed such firm in America, has acquired controlling interest in the Southern Aid Life Insurance Company located here.

The board of directors of the 83-year-old Southern Aid, the nation's oldest black insurance company, last week sold 120,000 of its shares to Atlanta Life and elected AL's president and chief executive officer, Jesse Hill, Jr., as chairman of its board.

Hill was already serving as president of two other Atlanta Life subsidiaries. These are: Peoples Life of Louisiana, largest such firm in that state; and Keystone Life also of Louisiana.

South Aid has assets of approximately $4 million. Atlanta Life's assets are placed at $90 million. And it has offices in Alabama, Florida, Georgia, Illinois, Kansas, Kentucky, Michigan, Missouri, Ohio, Tennessee, and Texas.

The transaction and agreement through which Atlanta Life acquired controlling interest in Southern Aid was consummated with Hill, who represented the purchaser of the stock, and E.S. Thomas, president of the Virginia company.

Thomas stated, "The joining of forces of Southern Aid and Atlanta Life is of great value and significance to all black Americans, especially those in the state of Virginia. A major consideration in our decision to sell two-thirds of our stock to Atlanta life was the concern, assistance and interest of Atlanta Life in Southern Aid Life for several years; and the fact that Atlanta Life will continue the operations of Southern Aid Life as an independent company and provide management support in agency and home office operations, in addition to infusing much needed

BRIDGEPORT, CONN.—The University of Massachusetts, Amherst, Mass., has received $3,200 from the General Electric Foundation for minority engineering scholarships aimed at increasing the number of minority enrollees and graduates from its engineering school.

William A. Orme, Foundation Secretary, said that the grant is part of an estimated $1,071,000 program set up by the Foundation in 1975 to aid disadvantaged, minority youth in gaining an engineering education.

The General Electric Foundation is an independent trust established by the General Electric Company in 1952.

Des Moines TECHnicalities

by

A Tech Tradition

Yvonne McGregor was one of Des Moines Technical High School's most active students. A recent graduate, she was mostly known for playing basketball on the Tech High girls' team.

In her sophomore year, Yvonne was sophomore attendant to the homecoming queen. McGregor also played varsity basketball for Tech when in 1973 the Des Moines public schools fielded female basketball teams.

As a junior, Yvonne played so hard and good that she placed on the All City-Metro second team. During her senior season, McGregor received honorable mention.

Presently McGregor plays for Drake University and scores in the high teens. Yvonne's basketball career still looks good to Tech's girls' basketball coach Gary Jotske.

"I'm glad Yvonne plays college ball," said Jotske. In high school, female players only get two dribbles and Yvonne also plays good defensive ball according to Jotske.

About her background, Yvonne said, "I just played street ball before I went to Tech."

In ninth grade, Yvonne was a cheerleader at Irving Junior High. At Tech, she was a sophomore, junior and varsity cheerleader. During the summer of her senior year, McGregor and the other Tech cheerleaders went to cheerleading camp.

McGregor was voted Miss Cheerleader at the camp by the American Cheerleading Association. Her nickname was Wheaties and I think she ate a lot of them.

Now that Yvonne is gone, Tech has another star on the roundball court - Kim Tindrell. Tindrell is opening a lot of eyes too. When Kim departs, Tech will still have a star for Gaylynn Bruce is doing her thing on the court for the sophomore squad.

Yvonne McGregor started a tradition that will last for a while. She also ran on the girls' track team at Tech.

All the black students at Tech hope that Yvonne stays with her fine profession.

Simpson Shares Grants With Area Institutions

INDIANOLA, IA — Simpson College will receive a share of $6,300 in unrestricted grant money awarded recently to Des Moines area institutions by The Sears-Roebuck Foundation, the Foundation has announced.

Other institutions sharing the money are Drake University, Grand View College and Grinnell College.

Grants totaling more than $22,300 now are being distributed to 25 privately supported colleges and universities in Iowa, according to the Foundation.

The Iowa colleges and universities are among more than 850 private, accredited two and four-year institutions across the country which are sharing more than $1.27 million in Sears Foundation funds during the 1975-76 academic year.

The grants are unrestricted to be used by the colleges and universities in any manner they consider necessary.

In addition to its grant program, the Foundation said it invested more than $850,000 in a variety of other educational activities in 1975. The total budgeted education expenditures of the Foundation was more than $2.1 million for the year.

Tate Speaks At Simpson

Joseph Tate, executive director of the Iowa Civil Rights Commission, presented a lecture on "The Civil Rights Movement: Thrust of the Seventies," at Simpson College, Friday, January 16.

The lecture was co-sponsored by the Office of Minority Affairs; Afro-American Studies; and the organization of Concerned Black Students at the Indianola College.

In his address, Tate emphasized the ideological and tactical differences in the approaches to achieving equal civil liberties for all citizens in society by the movement leaders of the sixties and black American leaders of today.

He suggested that today there is a de-emphasis on dramatic "demonstrations" (sit-ins, picketing, mass boycotting); and rather, a much more sophisticated attempt to reform and work effectively in the social and civil institutions to achieve full equality.

Tate suggested to the Concerned Black Students organization that they "must analyze and master the fundamental workings of the system, and become involved with the black community to assure that the institutions in American society help solve the social and economic problems of black Americans."

Tate said that the overt (open) racism of the sixties has largely been replaced by covert (hidden) discrimination of the seventies which prevents minorities from achieving full and fair employment, good housing and decent education.

The procedures and methods that the Civil Rights Commission employs to combat racism and discrimination in Iowa were discussed by Tate. These include law suits, on-site investigations, law enforcement training, compliance checks, affirmative action hearings and other diverse methods.

Tate, in his conclusion, asked the young students present to become "integrally involved with black people in the community and to develop skills in college that will assist them in assuming responsible leadership roles in the future."

Ten college scholarships for the 1976-77 school year are now available to Iowans majoring in rehabilitation or health-related careers.

The Easter Seal Society for Crippled Children and Adults of Iowa, Inc., is again offering a total of $3,650 in scholarships, Wesley Norton of Muscatine, Society president, has announced.

The E. L. Peterson Memorial Award is a $500 scholarship and the other nine awards are $350 each, Norton said. The Peterson Memorial Award honors the former police chief of Boone, a past president of the Easter Seal Society and a long-time volunteer for the organization.

Norton said the scholarships are available to any Iowan whether attending college in Iowa or another state. An applicant must be an Iowa resident and a sophomore, junior, senior or graduate student in an accredited college or university during the 1976-77 academic year.

Scholarships are awarded on the basis of financial need, scholastic standing, character and major studies in the broad field or rehabilitation. A scholarship committee of Iowa educators will select the winners, subject to approval by the Easter Seal Board of Directors.

What's New From ISU?

by Ann Harrison

A bright plastic table or a vinyl-covered bean bag chair may recently have been added to your recreation room or bedroom. That plastic furniture needs some special attention and care.

Care is simple. Clean it with a damp cloth. Liquid detergent added to the water is the preferred cleaner. Avoid using furniture polishes or any abrasives. Furniture polish will build up an oily film. The surface of plastics will scratch easily, so avoid any abrasives. For marred surfaces, repair kits are available from some manufacturers to help camouflage some flaws and scratches.

Avoid manicuring nails around plastic furniture. Acetone, a major ingredient in nail polish remover, can dissolve vinyl or ruin a finish. Watch where you eat citrus fruit, too. The fruit, especially the rind, also destroys vinyl.

The U.S. Office of Consumer Affairs warns that a few solar manufacturers are making exaggerated claims. Most misleading claims deal with performance levels advertised by a few product salesmen. These few are giving many reputable solar industry firms a bad name. If you're in the market for solar heating systems, you may want to check with Dave Block, Iowa State University, Department of Architecture, Ames, Iowa

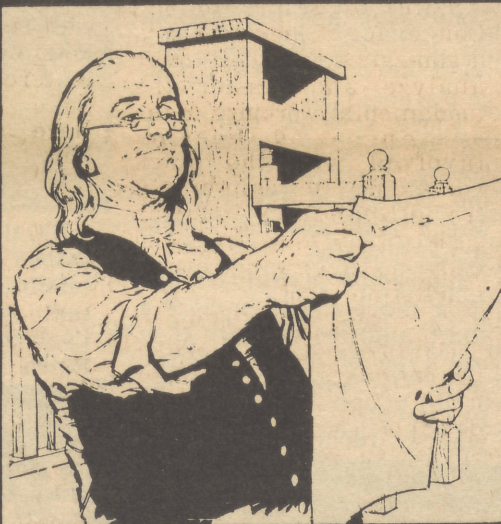

The Energy Reporter, a newsletter from the Federal Energy Administration, had this note: "Treking through the Montana Rockies, with modern conveniences seemingly light-years away, some anxious hikers are discovering what may be the biggest boost to camping since the Coleman lantern.

Perched on a precipice collectors glimmering warmly, is a solar outhouse. This precocious privy has solar cells that convert sunlight into electricity for water-circulation pumps and lamps.

The American Newspaper...

Over 200
Years Old!
Over 200
Years Strong!

Newspapers have been telling the story of this nation since it was born... and they were a major source of inspiration in the difficult period leading to the signing of the Declaration of Independence.

Two hundred years ago, the people read Thomas Paine's rousing editorials which fired up the revolutionary spirit in our land. Today, 200 years later, your local newspaper continues that tradition by telling you the facts about what's going on in and around your community. These too are "the times that try men's souls." No one can afford to be either complacent or uninformed.

Your local newspaper publishes the council and county board of supervisors proceedings that affect you. They allow you to "attend" all the meetings, without really being there. And, your paper brings you the governmental news while it's happening, so you still have time to speak out on issues of interest. (Of course, you can attend these meetings if you have the time... Iowa law requires that all meetings of taxing bodies be open to the public.)

Keeping you up to date on governmental affairs is just one of the duties of a local newspaper. Perhaps Sir Winston Churchill put it best when he said, "A free press is the unsleeping guardian of every other right that free men prize..."

Jerry Mitchell — Off to the Recording Studio

HOLLYWOOD, Ca.—Jerry Mitchell, the Philadelphia born, black belt karate expert and music major came to Hollywood just months ago to launch his show business career.

Upon completion of his press kit, he performed one evening at the New York Experience, a popular private club in Hollywood, and literally laid the audience in the isles. He was visited by the press, members of the record industry and celebrities from radio, television and the motion picture industry.

One star, Tony King, of the popular TV series Bronk, also from Philadelphia, was so enthused over the way Mitchell performed that he immediately took over the stage after Jerry made his exit and pledged his support from one brother to another from the City of Brotherly Love.

The first producer for Crossover Records, owned by Ray Charles, Joel Webster, listened to Mitchell perform and upon the return of Ray Charles from the Orient, Charles opened the doors of his studio to Mable John to produce the first album on this fresh new singer, who has been referred to by the press as a look-alike to Jermaine Jackson. Listen for this dynamic new singer's sound in late February or early March.

If loyalty is any measure of a man's greatness, then Mitchell will one day be numbered with the greatest. While others were shopping, eating turkey and having a joyous time, Mitchell was out in the black community of Los Angeles giving toys and food to the less fortunate children and families, which was sponsored by the L.A.P.D. (Los Angeles Police Department) and for

Ray McCullough's Toys For Tots in Watts, which made a lot of people's holiday a much more happier and pleasant time than they ever thought.

Jerry Mitchell is now part of Fourth House Music's family with Mable John handling the managerial chores.

Marriage is designing own style

The values and meanings each person attaches to marriage are strongly influenced by parents, and the ideas they hold. Because parents of a married couple have had different values, husband and wife may bring different expectations into a marriage, says Bertha Mae Kelly, extension home economist.

This week's Living Married program discusses ways a marriage can be designed to meet both partner's needs and expectations. Titled "Design Your Own Style," the fourth in this 12-part series will be aired at 6:00 p.m., January 25. Channel 11 will carry the program.

Prepare yourself for the program. Several couples will be discussing their marriage designs. Why not take time to list what you value in marriage? Perhaps you value spending a lot of time together. Or maybe you value financial security, or a large family. Can you come up with 20 items? What values does your spouse hold most important? Are they similar?

People change all the time, and marriage style most change with the people. How would your values change if you had to move in with your parents? What if you adopted a new baby? Or, how would you react to taking a job in a different part of the country from your spouse?

If you and your friends would like to form a Living Married discussion group or get a copy of the free Viewer's Guide and discussion booklet call your extension office-284-4158.

LOOK ON SPORTS

Things are back to as near normal as they can be. Drake lost another road game, Iowa split two over the weekend. If the Hawks can split on-the-road games and win most of their home battles, they will make a good showing in the conference.

Monday, they lost one they should have won before it went into overtime. I listened to the announcers yell that no foul was called on what they thought was just that, and I can't help but wonder how much the home crowd influences the officials. Now, I don't mean that the officials cheat, but I have always thought that on any calls that could go either way, the home team gets the nod.

Another way of getting out of tough situations is to call a jump ball. But if you were an official out there in front of a pack of screaming fans, what would you do? Basketball really gets fans worked up. Maybe it is because they are so close to the action. But they can get steamed up. I haven't heard of any fans actually taking after the officials, but maybe they would if things didn't go right in a close game. That may become a feature story some day not too far off.

But things aren't really back to normal. Iowa State finally got into the win column, and I bet they were happy. Some guy asked me if they might go all the way in the conference now. I told the fellow that they would do well to break even from now on.

As I watched the Cyclones, I got the idea that the team lets defense take care of itself, and I wonder if that is good. Most coaches I know of seem to stress defense first on the theory that if you can't score too much on them you just may not beat them. But what good does it do to score a thousand points if your opponents score a thousand and one? Maybe you know. Anyhow, the Iowa State team should be interesting from now until the curtain rings down.

What About Wrestling?

Some guy wanted to know why I didn't say something about the wrestling teams of the two schools. Because I don't know anything about college wrestling. I plan to get up to Ames in a week or two and watch at least one dual meet. After having learned all there is to know about the game by watching that one meet, I shall unload on the mat game. But until then, be patient.

NCAA Findings

It is tough that Thompson of Minnesota got kicked off the team for selling tickets above their price. Maybe the guy needed the dough, and never thought he would get caught, if that is the word. I often wonder what happened to that Illinois basketball player who didn't have an overcoat in the dead of the winter and his assistant coach gave him one. The NCAA found out about it; the coach lost his job, the player got kicked out of school and the whole athletic setup at the school was investigated. Maybe that was really a case of hardship.

Meanwhile, back at the ranch

As the local high schools head into the final half of their schedules, it looks as if that game between Lincoln and Dowling could decide it all. Roosevelt has lost only two games and just may be able to do in both teams which would then scramble the race.

As I see it, Dowling's chances seem to depend on how many points they can get from Tim Lee. The guy can get hot and ruin a game for his opposition. If he can hit his stride from now on, Dowling will be tough for anybody. And again, North, East Tech and Hoover are trying to fill in the rest of the spots, in what order I don't know. Whenever they play each other it is always a tough game, and one can't help but thinking that one of the four is going to have one of those unbeatable nights against one of the leaders. That will make things hard to figure out.

Girls' basketball in the city is about a year away from being able to challenge for the state crown. Do you recall that last year there was a team from Cedar Rapids, the first girls' team from a big school to get to the finals in the state meet? Well, this year they are rated pretty high, and might make it back there again. Our best bet to make it to the finals is Hoover.

The World of Boxing

On Saturday former heavyweight champ George Foreman takes what he hopes will be the first step to regaining his title. He takes on Ron Lyle who was stiffened by the champ a while back. It might make an interesting comparison as to how much quicker Ali knocked out the guy than Foreman does it.

Black news is good news

Heavyweight champion Muhammad Ali and Belgium's Jean Pierre Coopman (right) clown for newsmen, but Coopman's hand may be landing on Ali for the last time as the February 20 bout which the fighters were in New York to sign for has been denounced by the World Boxing Council president as a "public fraud and detrimental" to the game. European authorities are seeking to ban the bout.

The "Eraser" is Gone, But the "Pencil" is Still Here

Morgan State University, with a 11-2 record, doesn't seem to miss Marvin (Human Eraser) Webster at all, especially with Eric (The Pencil) Evans around to pick up where the Eraser left off.

The Pencil or Scooba, as he is called by his teammates, is averaging a neat 18 points, 12.3 rebounds and get this, five block shots per game.

Scooba got his name when he decided to go swimming after basketball practice last year, and caught a cramp while jumping into ten feet of water.

"After he didn't come up for awhile, we got worried and brought the pole out and pulled him up," said Billy Newton, captain of the Morgan team. After that we all decided to call him "Scooba" and the name stuck. Scooba started off the 75-76 season in top fashion as he won Mid-Eastern Athletic Conference "Player of the Week" three times in a row.

During the Howard game in the D.C. Armory, all you could hear were the Morgan fans shouting "Scoo-o-ooba", as Evans twenty-foot jumpers burn the nets.

The 6'9" sophomore is no surprise to Coach Nat Frazier, who recruited Eric from Clinton, North Carolina. "We have always felt that Scooba had the ability to take up the slack left by Marvin," said Coach Frazier, after Evans scored 30 points, 13 rebounds, and eight block shots on C.W. Post in New York.

Evans' statistics are a little misleading because Eric is only averaging 27.5 minutes per game and only played 9 minutes of the University of Maryland Eastern Shore game. Also, you must take into consideration that Morgan does not play run and gun basketball. They are the fourth best defensive team in the nation, as their

McTear Defeats Vorsov In 50

LOS ANGELES, CALIF. Houston McTear jumped to a quick lead and defeated Russia's Valeriy Vorsov in the 50-yard dash Friday night in the Sunkist Invitational track meet.

After five false starts, which eliminated one of the six runners, the 18-year-old McTear took the lead with his first step and went on to easily beat the two-time Olympic gold-medal winner.

McTear was clocked in 5.1 seconds, one-tenth off the world indoor record shared by three athletes. Vorsov placed second in :5.3 and Don Quarrie of Jamaica third in :5.4.

opponents are averaging 64.2 points per game.

All of these statistics is the reason that, along with Billy Newton, Eric (Scooba or Pencil) Evans is Morgan's All-American candidate for 1976.

Next game is against Virginia State who is the nation's best scoring team with a 103 point average.

Tuition Grant Center Provides Information

INDIANOLA, IA. — An information center for the Iowa Tuition Grant Program has been established in the Office of Admissions and Financial Aid at Simpson College.

The center will assist Iowa college-bound students and their parents who have questions about the grant program and the application process, according to Ivan

Lyddon, director of admissions, and Richard McClintic, financial aids director.

Applications for grants for the 1976-77 academic year must be filed with the Higher Education Facilities Commission by Jan. 31, McClintic said. A Parents' Confidential Statement must be filed through the College Scholarship Service by that date, he added.

A total of $9 million is being made available for students with demonstrated financial need to make up part of the difference between tuition costs at public institutions and those at private colleges or universities in Iowa, according to Lyddon.

The Iowa Tuition Grant program helps make it possible for students to attend private institutions in the state, Lyddon said.

Lyddon urged all Iowa college-bound students to complete the application procedure whether or not they are considering a private college.

Anyone having questions about the grant program may contact the Simpson information center at 961-6251, ext. 624 or 643, or toll-free at 1-800-362-2454. Persons also may stop by the Admissions and Financial Office between 8 a.m. and 5 p.m. weekdays and 9 a.m. to noon Saturdays.

State of Iowa in and for Polk County

Equity No. CE 5-2498
MICHAEL T. NIETERS, ADMINISTRATOR OF THE ESTATE OF FERN LEVINA
BURGETT, DECEASED,
Plaintiff,
Vs.

MARGARET E. DESHON; C. R.
DESHON; FRANK NOBLE, also known as FRANK H. NOBLE; F. H. NOBLE, also known as F.H. "BOB" NOBLE; and all unknown claimants, and all persons unknown claiming any right, title or interest in and to the following described real estate, to-wit: Lot Five (5) in Block Forty-seven (47) in Stewart's Addition to the City of Des Moines, Polk County, Iowa, and all the heirs, spouses, assigns, grantees, legatees, devisees and beneficiaries of each and all of the above-named defendants.

Defendants.

TO THE ABOVE-NAMED
DEFENDANTS:

YOU AND EACH OF YOU ARE HEREBY NOTIFIED that the petition of the plaintiff in the above entitled cause of action now on file in the office of the Clerk of the District Court in and for Polk County, Iowa, claiming that the plaintiff and his decedent is the absolute and unqualified owner in fee simple of the following described property, to-wit:

Lot Five (5) in Block
Forty-seven (47) in Stewart's Addition to the City of Des Moines, an Official Plat, now included in and forming a part of the City of Des Moines, Polk County, Iowa, and locally known as: 1516 Des Moines Street, Des Moines, Iowa, and that the plaintiff is credibly informed and believes that defendants may make some claim adverse to the claim of the plaintiff and his decedent in said property;
that the facts shown that Fern Levina Burgett, Deceased, and Ralph H. Burgett, Deceased, wife and husband, as joint tenants, with right of survivorship and not as tenants in common, were the vendees and parties to a real estate contract by and between Margaret E. DeShon and C.R.
DeShon, wife and husband, vendors, dated November 6, 1941, filed in the office of the

Polk County Recorder on May 26, 1942, and recorded in Book 1683, Page 40, involving the above described property; that the facts show that plaintiff decedent and her husband fully and timely paid all the installments pursuant to the real estate contract and said contract was paid off on or about January 1, 1951; that at that time Fern Levina Burgett and Ralph H. Burgett, both deceased, were entitled to a warranty deed from vendors pursuant to the real estate contract; that the facts show that there was an unrecorded assignment of said real estate contract to Frank Noble, also known as Frank H. Noble, on or about May 1949, and that said installments of the real estate contract were paid to said Frank Noble from May 1949, up to and including January 1951; that there is no record of and plaintiff firmly believes, that said Frank H. Noble never did execute a warranty deed owing to vendees as stated above. The plaintiff in said petition states that none of said defendants or unknown claimants have in fact any right, title or interest in or to the above described premises or any part thereof, or any color or right, title or interest therein, and that the plaintiff and his decedent have been in sole, complete, open, notorious, hostile, actual and undisputed adverse possession of the said premises for more than ten years last past under claim of title and ownership thereof and have been the undisputed and unqualified owner thereof for over ten years, and that by reason thereof and of the lapse of time and the failure of the defendants in failing to assert any pretended claim thereto and in permitting valuable improvements to be made thereon relying upon such possession and ownership, the defendants are estopped from asserting any right, title or interest therein adverse to the plaintiff. The plaintiff in said petition prays for the establishment of his and his decedent's estate and title against the adverse claims of the defendants and that each and all of them and all unknown claimants and all persons claiming by, through or under them be barred and forever estopped from ever having asserting or claiming any right, title or interest in or to the said premises or any part thereof adverse to the plaintiff and his decedent or the plaintiff's title therein, and that the plaintiff and his decedent's title to the said premises be quieted, established and confirmed, and that the plaintiff have all such other and further equitable relief as to the court may seem just.

YOU ARE FURTHER NOTIFIED that you are required to serve upon Harold J.
Crawford & Associates, 701
Insurance Exchange Building, Des Moines, Iowa 50309, an appearance, motion or pleading to the petition by the 26th day of February, A.D., 1976, and within a reasonable time thereafter to file a duplicate with the undersigned Clerk of Court. If you fail to do so, judgment by default will be taken against you for the relief demanded in the petition.
