The facility, built at just over $3 million is adjacent to the five-block King Historical District which honors the late Nobel laureate.

News Briefs

No Busing Funds in Kentucky

FRANKFORT, KY. — There will be no funds in the governor's proposed budget for the next two fiscal years to finance court-ordered busing for desegregation in the Louisville-Jefferson County School System.

Gov. Julian Carrolls made the disclosure following a meeting with antibusing leaders in the capital.

Black Bias Charged

MONTGOMERY, ALA. — The National Education Association has accused the Lowndes County board of education with violating a 1973 district court order to hire on a non-racial basis.

The suit seeks to prevent discrimination against whites in this rural Alabama county and will be fought by a black man who grew up in the civil rights movement.

Branch Library Changes Name With Location

The Mid-City (formerly Model City) branch of the Des Moines Public Library was abustle this week as staff librarians busily carted boxes of books, fishing paraphrenalia (from last year's fishing classes), lamps, chairs, reference files and other library equipment to its new home at 1305 University Ave.

As library co-ordinator of administrative services, Marjorie McAlister put books on their shelves in the new facility. Staffer Erma Boston, with an armful of books, glanced around the new rooms and said, "I'd go on (working) till midnight if necessary. We want to get in here."

Meanwhile in the "old" library at 920 Washington St., staffer Connie Foster and library volunteer Linda Smith packed more boxes, answered the telephone and attended to other duties necessary during moving week.

"I'm not crazy yet," Sister Foster laughed, "but I'm on my way."

Mid-City Library is housed in the former Hardaway's Tonsorial Parlor, J. Edmund Hall's Gifts and Music Shop and an income tax business. The library complex is being leased from Des Moines businessman Leonard Johnson.

Mid-City Library will hold an open house Monday, Feb. 9 through Friday, Feb. 13, with door prizes available each day. Drawing for the grand prize— a $20 gift certificate to any Hinky Dinky grocery— will be held at 4 p.m. Feb. 13.

The library will officially open in its new facility on Monday, Feb. 2. Library weekly hours are 9 a.m. - 8 p.m., Monday through Thursday; 9 a.m. - 5 p.m. Friday and from 1 - 5 p.m. Saturday.

Recruits Black Vietnam Veterans For Angola War

WASHINGTON, D.C. — About 200 black Vietnam war combat veterans in the Washington area are organizing to go to Angola and fight on the side of U.S.-backed forces in the civil war there, according to an article by Leon Dash of the Washington Post.

Funding Needs State Approval

DES MOINES, IA — Funding for police foot patrols on Des Moines near-north side was approved Tuesday night as the Central Iowa Area Crime Commission voted to recommend the plan.

If enough money is available, a police canine unit will also be provided. Proposed money for the programs must await approval by the state crime commission.

Foot patrols would involve funding of $60,000 in federal grants and $20,000 in state and city money, according to a prior report.

The Des Moines City Council last week voted to seek funding for the police foot patrols to fight crime. The council also was seeking a way to increase police manpower under an increasingly tight budget.

The foot patrol program would add 10 officers to the present strength of the Des Moines police force. The additional policemen would patrol the Model Cities and Woodland-Willkie areas north of Des Moines' central

The article stated that the black Army, Navy and Marine Corps veterans recruited include messengers, hospital technicians, a Washington police officer and several unemployed men who are "bitter about their failure to find work there."

Many of the recruits are in their early thirties.

Most of them fought in Vietnam, according to the article, in specially trained infantry units with high esprit d-corps and have had some difficulty adjusting to civilian life.

Larry Mitchell, a Holy Cross Hospital operating room technician is recruiting the veterans. The Congress of Racial Equality (CORE) has made a commitment to provide transportation to Angola, the article states.

business district.

Foot patrolmen, when not answering service calls, would work in an effort to better the relationship between community residents and the officers.

Police-dog Unit

A police canine unit would consist of an officer and a dog. The unit's proposed duties would be to patrol high crime areas and search buildings that have been broken into.

Opponents of the police foot patrols feel that the officers patrolling the near-north side areas would probably be placed in positions of self-defense against residents.

Another drawback is centered in the reaction of area citizens to the canine unit. The police-dog unit could cause problems if the plan is not properly presented to citizens.

Both programs have been controversial issues for members of the city council for several weeks. The police canine unit plan calls for $17,834 in funding.

The Des Moines police force would still be below a level of manpower recommended by a police consultant.

VIEWS and REVIEWS by James B. Morris

Roberson Was Great-- But He Missed The Boat

Paul Roberson, famed actor, athlete and scholar, has died. A Phi Beta Kappa graduate and All-American football end at Rutgers University, a law school graduate from Columbia University, Roberson did not feel comfortable in the legal profession and turned to the stage for his career.

Roberson's unhappy experience in college where he was mistreated did not blight his spirit of freedom and made him rebel against mistreatment of Negroes and which he confronted in many instances as he traveled the country.

About the time Roberson was making great success with his career as an actor, anti-Communism was high in this country. And, in spite of this, Roberson had become acquainted with what Russia proposed to stand for and believe that their attitude toward dark races was far superior to that of America.

Roberson's gesture toward Russia brought him all kinds of grief and practically ruined his career. But he never changed his belief.

Roberson visited the late A. A. Alexander in Des Moines during the course of his travels when a group of friends, (I was present) were invited to his home to meet the actor and chat with him with reference to his views. The more he talked the greater his admiration about Russia was expressed.

Well do I remember, on one occasion, as Alexander and the group saw Roberson off at the Union station, Alexander said, "Paul, I admire your courage, but you are throwing away a fine career." History proves this to be true and he will be remembered as such along with his ability as a great actor.

Why Many Able Citizens Bypass Politics

Robert Bush has been confirmed by the U.S. Senate to head the Central Intelligence Agency. A former Congressman from Texas, Bush has served as minister to Peking, China, U.S. delegate to the United Nations and chairman of the Republican National Committee.

Both Iowa Senators Clark and Culver voted against confirmation. They admitted that Bush is a fine citizen and has been a valuable public servant in all the positions he has held. However, they stated that their opposition stemmed from the fact that Bush has served as chairman of Republican National Committee during the Watergate and political contribution troubles and, as a politician, he might carry it over into CIA operations.

Prior to the coming of our new postal system, practically every postmaster general had been chairman of the national committee of his party. They did not steal the job; they earned it because they had ability and, of course, helped to elect the President.

The public often wonders why too many political officials are just the "run-of-the-mill" while citizens with ability and high standing shy away from running for office because of the abuse they must take during a campaign. Yet, when a man of Bush's character is being considered for an appointment, he is unfairly criticized for the sole reason that he has been a political party chairman.

Lawyers Back to School

The Iowa Supreme Court has ordered lawyers to earn 15 hours toward continued education in the legal profession. The program was designed to help keep lawyers abreast of changing laws so as to better serve their clients.

The Iowa Trial Lawyers Association conducted a seminar at Hyatt House, Fleur Drive, January 15-17. Experts in various fields of the law appeared as lecturers which served to provide the 15 hours of credit in continuing education. Other qualifying seminars will be held later to accommodate lawyers who were unable to attend.

More than 500 lawyers from around the state attended the seminar. It was generally agreed that the seminar was a fine experience in going back to school. Having graduated from law school in 1915, I found it far different going to class in 1976.

Few people doubted that Congress would fail to override President Ford's veto of the Health, Education and Welfare bill. President Ford said he acted to curtail expenditures in Congress. However, since the appropriation dealt with aid for welfare, education and health, it was pretty sure that members would not take a chance of incurring the ill-will of a large share of the voters in an election year.

Congress has told President Ford that no funds would be appropriated to help the anti-communist group in Angola, fearing that to do so might precipitate another Viet Nam.

A Challenge To Black Leadership

"WHILE THE RISING INCIDENCE OF CRIME HAS BEEN A SOURCE OF EMBARRASSMENT TO MANY BLACK LEADERS, FAR TOO MANY HAVE REMAINED AMBIVALENT TOWARD THE PROBLEM. PERHAPS THROUGH FEAR OF PROVIDING COMFORT TO RACISTS MASQUERADING BEHIND A MASK OF LAW AND ORDER, I RECOGNIZE THESE RISKS, BUT I ALSO RECOGNIZE AN EVEN GREATER RISK, THAT BLACKS THEMSELVES MAY CONFUSE THE RIGHT OF BLACK PEOPLE TO PROTEST THEIR UNSATISFACTORY CONDITION IN THE UNITED STATES WITH THE OPPORTUNITY FOR CRIMINALS TO PREY ON EXPOSED CITIZENS."

Forum Panelists Discuss American Work Ethic

The Bicentennial series of American Issues forums held monthly at Des Moines North High School presented another program this past Wednesday night on "the American work ethic."

Panelists for the forum, however, received a special inquiry about their views prior to that presentation.

Each was asked how black people figured in that American work ethic in light of the country's 200th birthday.

Panelist George Lundberg, a commissioner for the Iowa Employment Security Commission, replied, "Black people have been discriminated against because of the 'last on and first off' (hiring patterns). What I see is that black people have taken a step — not a big step — but certainly a step forward, even though the (current) economy has put the brakes on."

Lundberg pointed out that a prime difference between black people's assimilation, if it can be termed that, and that of those European whites like the Irish and Swedish who immigrated to the United States is because "he (the black man) isn't going to give up his heritage to get into the mainstream of life, and this is beautiful."

Lundberg explained that Europeans like the Swedish gave up many of their traditions and adopted American ways and language to get "into the mainstream of life."

History points out, however, that black people were forced to give up much of their African heritage and also that "assimilation" for black people under any condition would be difficult because, for lack of any other factor, a skin colored other than white sets a people apart automatically and permanently.

Howard Beard, the forum's moderator and a civil war history buff, said only that he was a "50-year member of the typographical union" and that his position is the same as that of the union, "which since 1888 has had the rule that they don't distinguish between black and white and male or female."

F. W. Capper, director of community relations for Equitable of Iowa, said that historically the (white) American "did his or her own thing in the beginning because there were not many places where they could go and work."

This individuality evolved into private farming and private business, "but America changed over the years so that (by now) most of us are working for somebody else for a living," he continued.

History also shows that for most black people, "doing his or her own thing" was out of the question since most were legally enslaved until the mid-1800s and then, after being technically freed, found vast discrimination in employment and other areas.

"Black people came to this country not having any opportunities of their own,"

Ford Forgets About Blacks

Edward M. McIntyre, chairman of Richmond County, Ga., board of commissioners, implied that the Presidential election races should have been a central issue for black political delegates at the Third National Institute of Black Elected Public Officials.

He said "overriding in our sight is the economic disaster that threatens black people aided and abetted by bankrupt political leadership." He may as well have been fighting President Ford as the members assembled at the conference. The President's tax proposal is expected chiefly to benefit the working white middle classes and blow by the black unemployed and other low-income groups.

The shaft is likely to be given to most social welfare programs that placate blacks. President Ford is expected to soup up his stingy tax-cut package to enforce slicing of social programs to keep the budget to a paper magic figure of $395 billion for fiscal 1977.

This means no new aid programs for the aged and needy for this year or the next. In fact, President Ford is hoping to hobble us with a five year program. The President's State of the Union message isn't suppose to be for just one year as previous Presidents' have been, but an outline for the next five years.

If re-elected, President Ford plans on squeezing the same black folks for years. The five-year plan is to hold down government aid to the people. In the meantime, reduce taxes for large corporations and middle to upper income individuals.

Capper agreed. "Hopefully—and I say hopefully—today they (black people) do have some opportunities."

Panelist Donald Emanuel, past president of the Des Moines Retired Teachers Association, declined comment. Panelist Gary Ketchum, AFL-CIO representative, was unavailable for comment as of Monday afternoon.

The theme of the next American Issues Forum, to be held at 7:30 p.m. Feb. 25 at North, will be "the business of America." All presentations are open to the public without charge.

Be Specific With Name

If your name is Johnson and you plan to check with the Veterans Administration about possible benefits, better be specific.

The old "name, rank and military serial number" bit will come in handy—especially the serial number—because the VA has about 203,000 ex-GI's named Johnson on its rolls. You'll run into the same sort of problem if your name is Smith (there are around 305,000 Smiths in VA files), or Williams (there are about 150,000 of them).

Bob Winters, director, VA Regional Office, Des Moines, said today that's why the VA urges you and your dependents to use your serviceman's serial number of—if you have had previous contact with the agency—the VA "C" number shown in your return correspondence.

With 34 million veterans' names in VA computer files, the job of matching an inquiry with records showing eligibility is almost impossible unless you supply the essential basic data.

For example, Winters said, if Thomas Brown were to ask the VA about his eligibility for GI Bill educational benefits, but neglected to provide the agency with his service serial number, the VA would be faced with identifying him from among the 2,700 Thomas Browns in VA files.

Providing first names and middle initials helps, but it often isn't enough. The VA official points out that 35 per cent of the veterans in its files have the following given names: John, Robert, William, James, Charles, Joseph, Richard, George, Edward or Thomas. If your name happened to be Charles Edward Thomas, for instance, the computer might really be confused, since there are nearly 75,000 Thomases in its memory banks.

Veterans with less common names than Smith, Jones or Brown are nonetheless well represented in the VA's files, he said, adding that there are approximately 24,100 Sanders, over 27,000 Myers, about 36,000 Rogers, nearly 47,000 Wrights, around 42,000 Murphys and over 23,000 Schmidts in the VA files, to name only a few.

With more names being added daily, Winters said it's easy to see why the VA need as much specific information as possible, especially the "C" number, about a veteran's service records so that his or her claim for benefits can be processed and completed as rapidly as possible.

However, the VA director said that a search of VA's 34 million name file confirmed that there's only one Santa Claus.

More About Fairplay In Broadcast Jobs

This is a continuation of my discussion last week of what is being done here at the Federal Communications Commission to provide women, blacks, and other minorities with increased job opportunities in the broadcast industry.

It is important to re-emphasize here, that a Notice of Proposed Rulemaking is for the very point of eliciting comments from the public. To make the democratic process work, a Commissioner who feels a document does not go far enough or goes too far, is obligated, I believe by conscience to express his or her views publicly so the public can be aware of their objections.

The public is then entitled to make comment. This is the process and the path that I have followed in this matter by issuing my concurring statement.

For the record, the Commission did not exempt licensees with less than 10 or 15 fulltime employees from filing an employment form 395. I doubt very seriously I would have concurred with the Notice of Proposed Rulemaking if the Commission had gone that far.

Our EEO rules required that all licensees with five or more fulltime employees to file an annual employment report every year and a written affirmative action program every three years at renewal time.

The proposed Notice would exempt licensees with 10 or a few more (remember, I strongly favor the figure "five") from filing only the written affirmative action

Income Tax Laws Change Amounts For Filing Returns

DES MOINES— Changes in Federal income tax laws have resulted in changes in the amounts of income that require the filing of Federal income tax returns.

Donald J. Porter, district director of Internal Revenue in Iowa, said that the filing requirements for 1975 returns are listed on page 3 of the Form 1040 instructions and page 2 of the Form 1040A instructions.

Porter said that the changes in the low-income allowance and the standard deduction. He gave the following examples of new filing requirements.

A single person is required to file a return if program—initially. In fact the Commission clearly states in paragraph 21 of the Notice: "We propose to retain the prerogative, therefore, to require any exempted station, in appropriate instances, to develop and submit equal employment opportunity plans."

In other words, even under the present proposed plan, those exempt may still be required to file the written program if the FCC suspects something, EEO-wise, is amiss. And all licensees will still be required to submit the annual employment report.

Unfortunately the present proposed plan does not move either far enough, or fast enough. It is a beginning, however, formulated by an FCC staff, or both blacks and whites, who despite often spirited and heated differences, hammered out what they believe to be a two option document they could live with.

The seven commissioners being fallible beings then decided which option it preferred. Now you the public must have your say.

Enough time has been wasted and—enough talent.

Did you forget $30 exemption?

DES MOINES—Don't forget that you and any exemptions claimed on your Federal Income Tax return are worth an additional $30 this year.

Donald J. Porter, IRS District Director for Iowa, said many individuals are failing to take the new Credit for Personal Exemptions.

This is found on Line 16b on the 1040 return and Line 13b on the 1040A return. The $30 covers any person who is claimed as an exemption on your tax return. This may include yourself, spouse, children and any other persons you can legally claim as an exemption. The $30 is not allowed for the extra exemption for age or blindness.

If you have already filed your return and failed to take the additional $30 credit it will not be necessary for you to contact the IRS, Porter said.

"The Service Center will credit taxpayers with the $30 credit for each exemption," Porter added. "However, if you haven't filed your return yet please be sure to figure in the $30 credit to avoid unnecessary delays in the processing of your return."

Ford Signs Pension Law

An 8 per cent increase in monthly rates and a $300 increase in annual income limits for Veterans Administration pensioners was signed into law by President Ford, and became effective on January 1.

Bob Winters, director, VA Regional Office, Des Moines, said the action paralleled a similar increase in Social Security benefits last June. Recipients include some one million veterans and 1.6 million veterans' survivors receiving VA pensions.

He said the new law permits pension payments to veterans and widows, without dependents, whose income does not exceed $3,300, and to veterans and widows, with dependents, whose income does not exceed $4,500. For VA pension purposes, countable income includes 90 per cent of Social Security payments.

Similar income limits apply to parents receiving Dependency Indemnity Compensation (DIC) from the VA. Meantime, aid and attendance and housebound rates for veterans and widows on the pension rolls, parents receiving DIC, and widows and parents receiving death compensation were also increased.

The VA official said the new law does not apply to veterans being compensated for service-connected injuries or for widows and children of veterans who died of service-connected causes. These beneficiaries received a hike in monthly payments effective last August by a law enacted earlier in the year.

He said basic payments to pensioners with minimal income now total $173 monthly to a veteran without dependents; $186 with one dependent, and $5 for each of the next two dependents. Widows or widowers without dependents, with minimal income, will receive $117 monthly; with one dependent, $139, and $22 for each additional child.

Ms. Barbara Williams reportedly is the first black woman ever selected by the President's Executive Interchange Program to fill an executive position, as a representative of a major private industry. She is now employed at NASA headquarters in Washington for a one-year period. She was a program manager in the Advanced Systems Development Division for IBM Corporation in Mohansic, N.Y. where she will return after her one-year of duty.

Invites contestants to enter teen pageant

Preparations are now being made for the 5th annual Miss Iowa Teen-ager Pageant to be held at Drake University, Des Moines.

Contestants will be housed at the college from Friday, June 4 through Sunday morning June 6. The pageant itself will be at Olmsted Center, Drake University Auditorium on Saturday night.

The Miss Iowa Teen-ager Pageant is the official state finals to the Miss National Teen-ager Pageant to be held in August in Atlanta, Georgia.

Contestants will be judged on scholastic achievement - leadership; poise - personality; and beauty. There is no swimsuit or talent competition.

Each contestant will be requested to participate in the Volunteer Community Service Program of the National Teen-ager Pageant. This program teaches teenagers to share and to participate in School and Civic affairs. The pageant theme is "What's Right About America."

A mini-modeling charm course will be given pageant weekend.

Contestants must be between 13 and 17 years of age as of January 1, 1976. (Born on or after January 2, 1958).

Any teenager interested in entering the Miss Iowa Teen-ager Pageant may write for further information to Mrs. Annette Looper, P.O. Box 31043, Raleigh, North Carolina 27612.

Job Opportunities For Senior Citizens

DES MOINES—Iowans 60 years of age or older and who like to work outdoors, may be interested in the Conservation and Outdoor Recreation Employment for Senior Citizens (CORESC) program.

This program was approved by the last session of the Iowa legislature. Referred to as a "green thumb" program in legislation, it was renamed CORESC to differentiate from the federal government's Green Thumb program.

The Iowa legislature appropriated $250,000 to the Iowa Conservation Commission for the purpose of employing senior citizens of at least 60 years of age to do horticulturally related work on facilities under the jurisdiction of the Iowa Conservation Commission and on programs sponsored by county conservation boards.

Funding of this program presently expires June 30, 1976, but the legislature is expected to extend the funding period to June 30, 1977.

Senior citizens interested in this program may obtain further information by contacting their area Iowa Employment Security Commission office. Most jobs will begin April 1. Prospective employees will be paid $2.20 per hour as provided by legislation. Lower income senior citizens are preferred for employment.

This program provides a good opportunity to employ lower income senior citizens in meaningful work and, at the same time, accomplish some much needed work which would otherwise not be done.

NBA Drafts Bond

The National Black Assembly (NBA) announced last Wednesday that it has resolved who its Presidential candidate will be in 1976.

NBA previously indicated that it was entering presidential politics as independents with no intention of compromising or negotiating with the Democratic or Republican parties. Their thinking then as it is now was that they should offer black people and the American public a choice — an alternative to the bankrupt politics of the predominately white capitalist parties (both branches).

After months of intensive discussion, debate and analysis of a campaign and its possibilities, the NBA resolved that there were only five serious contenders who would conduct the kind of campaign they had in mind.

Based on their interest, availability and issue orientation, they were: Congressman John Conyers, Congressman Ronald Dellums, Georgia State Senator Julian Bond, Social Activist Dick Gregory and Mayor Richard Hatcher of Gary, Indiana.

The National Black Political Assembly (NBPA) Executive Council in consultation with the NBPA State Chairpersons resolved that, "Georgia State Senator Julian Bond shall be the NBPA nominee for President of the United States as an Independent in 1976."

"The nomination shall take the form of a draft movement which will bring

Smile, you're on Can--er, Berry's Camera

There is a young man at Des Moines Tech High who really does his thing with a camera. He is Steve Berry, an 18-year-old senior.

Berry built his own darkroom in his home. Steve said, "I like to create images on film." The Tech senior has five cameras, one which is a Canon STB QL, and another which is a 35mm with a 50mm 1.4 lens, plus other miscellaneous items.

"I like to express myself with a camera," said Steve. Berry has done a lot of photographic work for Tech High such as pictures for the school's newspaper, the Technician.

Berry entered a picture, taken for the Des Moines school's newspaper, in a photo contest given by a school of photography. He received a certificate for honorable mention. The picture was a double exposure of Coach Mounts and the Tech High football team.

In the "1975 is Alive With Spirit" yearbook, Berry produced 154 pictures. Steve also took pictures of couples at this year's homecoming dance. Steve is at almost every Tech game to cheer the team on and to get special pictures for the school to remember.

The result was Blackman standing over the river to complement the quote known only to Tech Students. "Across the River to Victory."

Presently, Berry is in the process of taking graduating pictures of seniors. Berry's core area at Tech is electronic communications. In this area, students are taught repair and maintenance of radio, television, public address systems, tape and record players, TV receivers and transmitters, organ and hi-fi sets.

If Steve does not like one of these things well enough to make it a profession, he has the other to go into. If he does not like either of those, he has one more choice: becoming an officer in the U.S. Army.

Berry is a commanding officer and lieutenant colonel of the Junior ROTC program at Tech. Steve isn't just busy in the school he is also busy in his church. He is a member of the New Creations, a choir at Union Baptist Church. Steve is bass guitarist for the New Creations. He has a green belt in Tae-kwon-do karate.

Berry is a member of Tech High's cross country team and is a high hurdler on the track team.

If you happen to visit Tech and a tall young man points a camera at you, remember to smile for you are on Steve Berry's camera. When Steve is gone, Tech High will certainly miss him, but we will wish him the best. Good luck Steve.

Offers IMPACT Institute For Area 11 Educators

The IMPACT Summer Institute, a unique teaching seminar for Area 11's teachers and school administrators, was given the go-ahead by the Heartland Education Agency Board for a ninth straight summer of operation.

This year's institute will be held between June 7 and July 9 at Jefferson School, 2425 S.W. Watrous Avenue in Des Moines. It will be open to about 110 teachers and school administrators practicing in Area 11. Participants are selected on a first-come, first-served basis.

The institute's two central goals are to first instill methods that teach students to think productively, and secondly, to humanize the teaching-learning process. The institute is staffed by members of Heartland's Educational Services division as well as by

by Sheila Carson

At Roosevelt we have a group of young men who play sophomore basketball.

Comprising group are Doyle Collier, Garner Houston, Gaylord Houston, Dennis Oakley, George Price and Andre Wells.

These young men contribute to the team and you can tell how good they play if you ever catch a RHS sophomore game.

The Houstons and Oakley start and usually score in double figures. Although Collier, Price and Wells do not start, when they get into a game they do just as good or better than anyone else.

The team has a record of 10-0. If they keep playing the way they are now they should be undefeated in Metro competition which would be an honor.

The sophomore team has four blacks from Merrill, which had a good team last year, one from Wilson and one from Callanan junior high schools.

I would like to congratulate our sophomores for doing such a great job. If they can do it as sophomores, they surely can do it when they make varsity and maybe sent us to state.

Various Topics At Women's Health Seminar

Physical fitness, alcohol, the beauty culture, health, eating, aging, and sexuality are a few of the topics which will be discussed during a "Women's Health Seminar" January 29 - March 11 at Drake University.

Participants will meet each Thursday from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. in Drake's Olmsted Center, 29th and Carpenter. Sponsored by the College for Continuing Education, the fee is $50 for 3.5 Continuing Education Units.

The seven courses will be taught by skilled health professionals who will emphasize updated health information for mature women and develop an awareness as to how to get and stay healthy. Topics which have often been neglected in traditional several nationally-known educators brought into central Iowa for the institute. In addition, regular staff from Drake University's College of Education help operate the institute.

Teacher participants, who are properly registered, may receive six semester hours of graduate credit from Drake University. The cost to each participant is $75.00.

Further information may be obtained by writing or calling institute director Ms. Helen Coe at Agency Offices, 1932 S.W. Third Street, Ankeny (515-964-2550).

Thomas Enjoys Debate Team

Katie Thomas is the only black student on Des Moines East High School's debate team this year. The real name for the debate team is Dramatic Interpretation.

A debater on the team must prepare an eight or ten minute speech which must be memorized word by word. Katie said that she has received help from two teachers, Harley Waller and Ruth Gaines.

"Our debate team has traveled out of state to tournaments as well as to Des Moines high schools in the Metro Conference," Thomas said.

She said, "I really enjoy myself on the trips that the debaters go on. We have lots of fun afterwards." As far as being a member of the debate team Thomas stated, "I have been in debate for one year and I plan on staying in it."

What does debating provide? Katie feels that the debate team provides an excellent experience in speaking before an audience. "It gives me (and it might give you) confidence in myself as a debater," she said. Katie added that she hopes to remain on the squad until she graduates.

Katie Thomas, when not preparing for a debate, enjoys drawing, horseback riding and is a member of the East High track team.

"It's the first time I've ever won anything," says Lorraine Zefron, a graduate student at Drake University, as she receives a $125 check from Greg Packnett, 1505-24th St., a senior in Drake's College of Liberal Arts and chairman of the Student Activities Board's films committee. Mrs. Zefron, 1427-18th St., West Des Moines, received the prize for being the 10,000th person to purchase a ticket to a film in the Bulldog Theatre in the Olmsted Center, since school started last August. The film she saw was "Camelot." Mrs. Zefron takes psychology courses at Drake as part of a cooperative program in mental health at the University of Iowa.

Revises policy for milk, meal programs

A revised policy for reduced price meals and free meals and free milk for children unable to pay the full price of the food served under the National School Lunch, School Breakfast and Special Milk Programs was adopted by the Des Moines School Board Tuesday.

The Des Moines Independent Community School District recently announced its policy for reduced-price meals and for free meals and free milk, for children unable to pay the full price of meals and milk served under the National School Lunch, School Breakfast, and Special Milk Programs.

Local school officials have adopted a family size and income criteria for determining eligibility.

Children for families whose income is at or below the levels are eligible either for free meals and free milk or for reduced-price meals. In addition, families not meeting these criteria but with other unusual expenses due to unusually high medical expenses, shelter costs in excess of 30 per cent of income, special education expenses due to the mental or physical condition of a child, and disaster or casualty losses are urged to apply.

Self-employed farmers and self-employed business men are to report gross receipts less operating expenses.

Application forms are available at the principal's office in each school. The information provided on the application is confidential and will be used only for the purpose of determining eligibility. Applications may be submitted at any time during the year.

In certain cases foster children are also eligible for these benefits. If a family has foster children living with them and wishes to apply for such meals and milk for them, the family should contact the school.

NOW May Hurt Blacks

The formal name for interest-earning checking accounts in NOW (negotiable order of withdrawal). It is presumed that NOWs will be permitted nationwide by 1977. Since Massachusetts and New Hampshire were given authority to offer them on an experimental basis more than two years ago, their popularity among suburbanites has soared.

Between January, 1974 and April, 1975, total NOW balances in the two states have tripled. No doubt in somewhat response to this demand, the number of banks providing this deal more than doubled. Blacks didn't participate in these profits.

The nagging question for the "conscience" ones is who might lose if interest-bearing accounts are permitted throughout the nation? Congress has already declined to grant all financial institutions the authority to offer NOW accounts.

The nation's struggling 38 black banks could be strangled to death if Congress permits NOW accounts. These are predominately retail type institutions. The First Enterprise Bank, San Francisco, (11th largest of the black banks) derives 75 per cent of its deposits from checking accounts.

The sharp increase in cost needed to meet the competition from white controlled banks could blow all black banks into a deep hole. The small interest return to the black individuals with checking accounts in black banks would not compensate for the failure of one black-controlled financial institution.

Each school and the office of the Food Service Department has a copy of the complete policy which may be reviewed by any interested party.

UNCF Colleges' Alumni Hold 30th Annual Meet

Some 800 alumni of United Negro College Fund schools will meet in Daytona Beach, FL February 5-7 for the 30th Annual Conference of the UNCF's National Alumni Council.

Graduates of 41 predominately black UNCF colleges will conduct workshops, meetings and social affairs at the Desert Inn Motel in Daytona Beach.

The theme for the conference is "Crisis 76: Where do we go from Here?" The Opportunity Night theme is "Today's Youth... Tomorrow's Leaders."

The conference chairman is Julius Kidd, secretary of the Bethune-Cookman National Alumni Association. Bethune-Cookman College will host the meeting.

Dr. Milton Curry, president of Bishop College in Dallas, Texas and head of the UNCF Board of Directors, will be the keynote speaker at the opening session of the conference on Thursday afternoon, February 5.

Area high school students will be invited to visit representatives from the 41 colleges Thursday evening and explore opportunities through UNCF schools.

Christopher Edley, executive director of the United Negro College Fund, which is headquartered in New York, will give the status of the UNCF 1975 campaign at the second general session on Friday. Rev. Wyatt T. Walker, pastor of the Canaan Baptist Church in New York City, will be the guest speaker for the Alumni Recognition Banquet Friday evening.

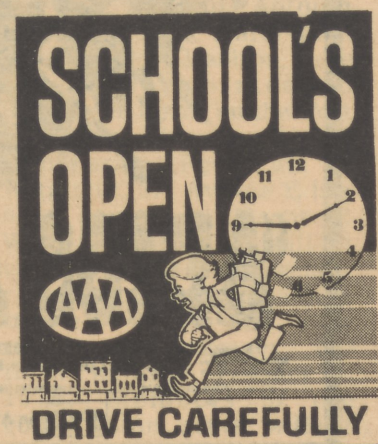

On Saturday, the conference will conclude its workshops and business sessions. A Coronation Ball will be held that night at which a queen will be chosen from representatives of the 41 UNCF schools.

The participants in the Coronation Ball will represent a country in Africa and they will be attired in the native dress of that country. The contest winner will be adorned in jewelry from head to feet in an African custom instead of the traditional crowning ceremony.

The United Negro College Fund is a nonprofit fund-raising group which raises money to help support its member colleges. It was founded in 1944 by Dr. Fredrick D. Patterson and a group of college presidents for the purpose of conducting annual campaigns for the funds needed to help meet the operating expenses of 27 historically black colleges and universities. As other colleges were able to meet the criteria they were accepted into membership; the total number growing to 41 in 1973.

All except one of the UNCF institutions are located in the South. Seven are in Georgia; six each in North Carolina and Texas, five in Alabama, four in Tennessee, three in South Carolina, two each in Mississippi, Louisiana, Florida and Virginia and one each in Arkansas and Ohio.

Brass Construction: N.Y.'s Latest Band

Brass Construction is the latest band to emerge from the thriving New York band and disco scene.

Beginning in 1974 with the national breakthrough of Kool and the Gang and continuing last year with B.T. Express and The Crown Heights Affair, the long dormant nightclubs and discotheques of the Big Apple have suddenly begun to turn out a new wave of funk bands and hit records that have already established a new dance craze and established the sound of the seventies.

Brass Construction has come along just in time to add new dimensions to that sound.

Produced by Jeff Lane with string and horn arrangements by group leader Randy Muller, B.C. has come up with a first album that sparkles with incisive rhythms and brightly original arrangements.

Originally put together while they were all in junior high school in Brooklyn's notorious East New York/Brownsville section, the band has grown together through high school and college with only a few personnel changes. Most of the musicians were introduced to music through the public school bands and stuck to it as one way of keeping off the streets and out of trouble.

Not long after getting established they began finding work and encouragement through working basement parties, school dances and street festivals, playing the latest hits with the ambition to transcend mere commercialism and give their interpretations the touch of originality and individuality.

Their sources of inspiration range from Bach to Coltrane to the Beatles and Jimi Hendrix. Their first album reflects an understanding of the necessities of the marketplace as it opens the way for a bright and creative future.

Two commemorative services honoring the memory of Dr. Martin Luther King, Jr. were held at Rock Island Arsenal (RIA) on January 15, the 47th anniversary of Dr. King's birth.

A morning service was held in the RIA cafeteria for Arsenal Island employees, who were allowed one hour of duty time to participate in the service. Master of ceremonies for the morning event was Leslie E. Smith, RIA Equal Employment Opportunity officer.

Col. L. F. Skibbie, RIA commander, welcomed the attendees; LTC E.H. Maas, staff chaplain, gave the invocation and benediction; and music was provided by the RIA chorus under the direction of Wibbey Fisher. Rev. James C. Wade of Gaines Chapel AME Church was the keynote speaker and gave a soul-stirring address comparing Dr. King, the man among men, with the tall, stately, imposing, majestic California Redwood, the three among trees.

The service ended with a tape of Dr. King's prophetic eulogy sermonized by him at the Ebenezer Baptist Church, Atlanta, Georgia, February 1968.

Victoria Logan sang "Precious Lord" and "The Impossible Dream" and was accompanied at the organ by Mrs. Duke.

Smith addressed the gathering and stressed the importance of the black contribution to the American experience.

Almost Persuaded

Smith noted that because of the legacy left by Dr. King, "America was almost persuaded to judge all people by the content of their character and not the color of their skin; almost persuaded to rise up and live out the true meaning of its creed; almost persuaded to grant to every individual the riches of freedom and the security of justice; almost persuaded to recognize achievement and value in the market place of human resources without consideration of race, color, religion or sex."

Smith closed his remarks by paying tribute to Dr. King with the following statement, "What greater tribute to the Legacy of the Dream of Dr. King than that people of all races gather together and work toward a goal of mutual understanding and advancement of the ideals of freedom?"

Mrs. Norman commented on Smith's address and thanked the attendees for their participation and introduced the committee chairwoman Kathy Zingre and other committee members who were responsible for the commemorative services.

LOOK ON SPORTS

Before I get into the weekly drivel about basketball, I must remind you of an old timer who passed recently. Cecil Stone was a football player at East High way back in the days when schools like West High were boasting that black players didn't finish games against them. He played back in 1915 and 1916, and maybe before that for one year. He and my older brother Lucius, played on the same team in 1916. Cecil's forte was defense. There were lots of little players around then, and Stone never weighed more than 145 pounds. But he would fly into a runaway elephant if it showed up on a football field. There aren't many more of those guys left who faced each other then. They would all be past 75 years, and I would like to hear them get together and compare memories.

And another thing

Did you see George Foreman and Ron Lyle knock each other around like pins in a bowling alley last Saturday? If you like slugfests, it was just that. But I really can't see either man having much of a chance with the champ. The guy is just too fast for both of them. One fellow says if they hit Ali—But that is it, if they hit him.

Back to business

The big news had to be the fact that basketball coach Trickey left or was kicked out at Iowa State. You have to wonder who will be next and what will he do. Probably not too much unless he gets some more horses. People ask me if Gus Guydon has a chance to become head coach. I would have to say no. Now, this is my personal opinion. I just don't think the State of Iowa is ready for a black head coach at any of the state schools. There are to many powerful alumni who wouldn't like it. Oh, yes, the Cyclones dropped another one.

Iowa U. must be just a little bit disappointed. They clobbered Ohio State, and were ready for Indiana, but the Hoosiers simply brushed the Hawkeyes out of the way and that was that. I thought they would lose one, and I still might be right, but who will get the fellows in the red shirts.

Drake learned that one must play a whole game to beat anybody. They forgot that the other night and finished second in a close one that shouldn't have been that close because the Bulldogs should have won it by ten points.

Local stuff

The high school race is really getting complicated. People who were willing to hand the metro crown to Lincoln, or award it to the winner of the next Lincoln-Dowling game, better wait a while. Roosevelt has suddenly come together, and is right up there in the thick of things. They lost a tough high scoring scuffle to the Railsplitters the last time out, and would maybe like to get them in the Riders home gym. So the thing could develop into a three way tie for the top honors.

Dowling has to beat Lincoln to have a chance to stay in things. Roosevelt just could wind up as the winner. Hoover, East and North are scrambling around for whatever they can get from Valley who seems to be right behind the three leaders. Tech just doesn't have that big man in the middle to do much, but if they can get one, they could take it all, but not this year.

The caliber of girls' basketball is getting so they can have a fair chance around the county against the more experienced schools, and that is good. As it is, there are a few females who could play for anybody in the county. Tindrell, McCracken and McGregor could be welcome additions to almost any team. Give the metro teams another year and one of them might make it at least to the sub-state.

I have been trying to keep track of that high school team in Cedar Rapids, but sometimes if it didn't happen in the city, forget it. Maybe the scores will appear in the rundown which is usually pretty complete but you can't get any details.

MILLION-DOLLAR CAMPAIGN TO AID U.S. YOUTH AND U.S. OLYMPIC TEAM

In the current Help Young America Campaign the U.S. public is not only voting cash awards for their favorite youth organizations but also earning a $1,000,000 contribution to the U.S. Olympic Team.

This year the Colgate-Palmolive Co.'s distinguished Help Young America program will divide $365,000 among six of the nation's foremost youth organizations—the national, regional and local units of the Boy Scouts, Girl Scouts, Boys Clubs, Girls Clubs, Camp Fire Girls and 4-H Clubs—according to the share of the votes they receive in the annual balloting.

In addition, to make the 1975 Help Young America Campaign even more impressive, Colgate has offered to give up to $1,000,000 to the U.S. Olympic Team by contributing 25¢ for every ballot received in the Help Young America voting.

The free ballots, which are in supermarkets as well as in the October issue of major magazines, can be obtained also from local clubs and troops of the six youth organizations.

Willie Mays, Goodwill Ambassador for the campaign, heads a group of celebrities touring the United States to encourage adults to vote in this worthwhile youth program from now through this December.

An added inducement to vote in the Help Young America Campaign is the special prizes that Colgate-Palmolive Co. will award to winning voters. By a national drawing from all the ballots, five voters will win $1,000 each, ten will win $500 each, 400 will receive $50 each. And the grand prize to the top winner in the 1975 Help Young America Voters' Sweepstakes is $20,000 plus a family vacation at the 1976 Olympics in Montreal.

The Help Young America Campaign, inaugurated in 1972 by the Colgate-Palmolive Co. to distribute yearly grants to the nation's foremost youth organizations, has been presented a Freedoms Foundation Award, has been lauded in The Congressional Record, and is saluted each year by governors and mayors throughout the United

Committee Members Visit Training Site

The adjacent picture was taken at the Operating Engineers Joint Apprenticeship Committee's training site which is located on 77 acres of land near Pleasant Hill.

The site will be developed for residential construction at a later date. In this manner, the committee will be able to recoup some of their training costs and then move to a new site.

This year, with the aid of CETA funds from the State of Iowa Office of Planning and Programming, there will be two journeyman upgrading classes and one pre-apprenticeship course. All trainees must meet CETA guidelines for entrance into training.

After being trained in the maintenance and operation of most types of heavy equipment the apprentice is then placed with a contractor somewhere in Iowa.

Operating Engineers Joint Apprenticeship Committee members are (l-r.) Jack Keller, Iowa Operating Engineers Apprentice coordinator; Bob Tyson, director for State of Iowa Office of Planning and Programming; Rus Kelso, state supervisor, Bureau of Apprenticeship and Training; Jack DePond, executive secretary, Des Moines Construction Council; James Adams, area representative, Human Resources Development Institute, AFL-CIO; Ernie Comito, director of the Apprenticeship Outreach Program; Richard Madison, Human Resources planner for State O.P.P.; Eugene Woods, director of the Apprenticeship Information Center and Basil Townes, assistant director, Apprenticeship Outreach Program.

EPA Honors 2 Blacks At Awards Ceremony

Two blacks were among 22 individual employees of the Environmental Protection Agency to receive top honors at the recent annual awards ceremony. The presentations were made by EPA Administrator Russell E. Train.

Henry F. Washington, chief, Printing Management and Distribution Office, received the coveted Gold Medal for exceptional service, the agency's highest award, while Douglas D. Campt, assistant director for Registration, Pesticide Programs, garnered a Silver Medal for superior service.

"One of the outstanding functions promoted and encouraged by Washington," declared Train, "was the establishment of the Handicapped Persons Program at headquarters. This program has saved the agency thousands of dollars in machine utilization, supply costs and more important, it has given these people a sense of pride and usefulness in their day-to-day living." After ten years with DSA — where he won several achievement awards — he joined EPA as printing officer. He has been with EPA for four years.

Veneral Disease: Epidemic Running Rampant

Not so many years ago, fear of illegitimate pregnancy undoubtedly dictated some of our social standards. And that may be what kept venereal disease under a degree of control in the United States. During the last decade — the era of new sexual freedom and the pill — VD has soared.

The use of the pill and IUD for contraception likely have a role in the rise of sexual freedom; at the same time they offer no protection against VD as did contraceptive methods in use previously.

Behavioral scientists could have a field day explaining the why's of the VD disease. But the government epidemic fighters are faced with the grim facts: the current estimates from HEW's Center for Disease Control (CDC) in Atlanta are that 2.5 million people contract gonorrhea each year and 80,000 get syphilis. (It's an estimate because many private physicians fail to report cases); the actual statistics show a relentless rise each year, particularly for gonorrhea. Next to the common cold, it's the most prevalent disease in the country. And in its way, just as difficult to conquer.

Penicillin Cures VD

For several years after penicillin was in wide use, health authorities thought they had the age-old VD problem licked. Penicillin does cure VD, and it did curb it for a time. But during the last several years the disease has grown to epidemic proportions and is running rampant now.

Millions of dollars are being spent by federal, state and local health departments trying to prevent and control VD. But for every case detected, another is infected before treatment is given, and another, and another ... Sometimes the trail from a single VD case can lead to a hundred or more contacts.

Venereal disease is a subject many families shun as a topic of conversation (often at the same time it is invading their own homes). They regard it as more a social stigma than a health problem. But a health problem it is, posing a particular threat to young people, women and babies. Venereal diseases can lead to heart disease, blindness, crippling, insanity, sterility, babies born blind or deformed. Often there are no early symptoms, especially in women.

That's why health authorities are trying to bring an understanding of VD to public attention. Their primary aim is to reach teenagers and young adults and get them to visit a physician or clinic to be tested if they are sexually active, because VD can be cured. Also they want to teach them how to prevent the spread of VD, because there are ways. And they want them to know the importance to their lives and others in preventing, finding, and treating VD before it does damage.

Labor Dept. Announces New Business Booklet

A new publication outlining laws which the U.S. Labor Department administers affecting the daily operations of businesses is available to the Rev. Scales attended Forest Park Junior College, Brookes Bible Institute, Western Bible College and Eden Theological Seminary in St. Louis, Missouri.

He is currently attending Southeastern Community College in Burlington and plans to graduate in June.

Betty Jean, his wife, is employed at the YWCA as a bookkeeper. They have two children, Irving, Jr., 7 and Inez Ella, 2. Rev. Scales and his wife are natives of St. Louis.

public, the Department's Regional Director announced recently.

Richard C. McAviney said that the booklet, "Major Laws Administered by the U.S. Department of Labor Which Affect Business," contains brief summaries of the principal requirements of Federal laws and provides information about the Labor Department officers that can offer detailed explanations and assistance to employers.

"We want to do whatever we can to assist business people with the laws we administer," McAviney said. "In our experience, difficulties that employers face in compliance are frequently due to a lack of understanding of legal requirements as they pertain to their operations and applicability of various laws."

Some of the laws apply to all businesses, others only to those doing business with the Federal government under contracts and subcontracts.

Copies of the 21-page booklet are available on request free of charge from the U.S. Department of Labor, Regional Administration and Management Office, 911 Walnut, Kansas City, Missouri 64106. (Phone: (816) 374-2711)

The Second Forty

(A forum about mature women)

by Margaret Brookfield

Have you a problem as a mature woman, or with one? For advice write Margaret Brookfield, Information Center on the Mature Woman, 515 Madison Avenue New York, N.Y. 10022.

Volunteer vs. Paid Work Dear Margaret Brookfield:

Now that our children are grown and my husband's income is large enough to keep us comfortable, I find great satisfaction in doing volunteer work at our local hospital. A number of my friends, who are very much involved in the women's lib movement, have criticized me for working as a volunteer. They say it is part of the system that demeans women and takes jobs away from those who need to work.

I know that what I do just wouldn't be done otherwise, because the hospital can't afford to pay for the kind of patient service I provide, but my friends are still trying to persuade me to pursue a paid career in the working world. Are they right?

H.V.

Dear H.V.:

It's an unfortunate fact that many institutions, not just hospitals, but also libraries, day-care centers, and museums, don't have the money to provide all the services they would like to. If it weren't for volunteers, the work wouldn't be done.

You are lucky to be able to work without pay; you're not taking a job away from anyone else; so just tell your friends that your volunteer work is your career, and a satisfying one to boot.

In Great Shape

Dear Margaret Brookfield:

I used to be a dancer when I was younger — about 20 years ago. Everyone admired my figure and I was pretty vain. But today I have bulges, a ring around my middle and terrible posture. I'm so ashamed of myself. How did this happen to me when I wasn't looking? Is this just because I got older?

K.G.

Dear K.G.:

Bonnie Prudden, the physical-fitness expert, says "age begins when you slow down, not when you get older." It's never too late to turn the clock back. The unsightly bumps and bulges have accumulated because you apparently became inactive.

It's time to start a regimen of exercise. As a dancer, you kept your body trim and in shape. You can do so again. Join a health club, take long walks, use the stairs instead of the elevator, reach to get things from high shelves and forget the ladder; swim, play tennis, or indulge in any sport that will burn up fat and tighten muscles. But, first, see your physician for a complete medical checkup and get his or her advice and help. Good luck!

That's what makes your local newspaper the best bargain in town! Through its columns, you can "attend" all of the meetings of local governmental bodies that affect you! "BOB" NOBLE; and all unknown claimants, and all persons unknown claiming any right, title or interest in and to the following described real estate, to-wit: Lot Five (5) in Block Forty-seven (47) in Stewart's Addition to the City of Des Moines, Polk County, Iowa, and all the heirs, spouses, assigns, grantees, legatees, devisees and beneficiaries of each and all of the above-named defendants.

Defendants.
TO THE ABOVE-NAMED DEFENDANTS:

YOU AND EACH OF YOU ARE HEREBY NOTIFIED that the petition of the plaintiff in the above-entitled cause of action now on file in the office of the Clerk of the District Court in and for Polk County, Iowa, claiming that the plaintiff and his decedent is the absolute and unqualified owner in fee simple of the following described property, to-wit:

Lot Five (5) in Block Forty-seven (47) in Stewart's Addition to the City of Des Moines, an Official Plat, now included in and forming a part of the City of Des Moines, Polk County, Iowa, and locally known as: 1516 Des Moines Street, Des Moines, Iowa, and that the plaintiff is credibly informed and believes that defendants may make some claim adverse to the claim of the plaintiff and his decedent in said property; that the facts shown that Fern Levina Burgett, Deceased, and Ralph H. Burgett, Deceased, wife and husband, as joint tenants, with right of survivorship and not as tenants in common, were the vendees and parties to a real estate contract by and between Margaret E. DeShon and C.R. DeShon, wife and husband, vendors, dated November 5, 1941, filed in the office of the Polk County Recorder on May 26, 1942, and recorded in Book 1683, Page 40, involving the above described property; that the facts show that plaintiff decedent and her husband fully and timely paid all the installments pursuant to the real estate contract and said contract was paid off on or about January 1, 1951; that at that time Fern Levina Burgett and Ralph H. Burgett, both deceased, were entitled to a warranty deed from vendors pursuant to the real estate contract; that the facts show that there was an unrecorded assignment of said real estate contract to Frank Noble, also known as Frank H. Noble, on or about May 1949, and that said installments of the real estate contract were paid to said Frank Noble from May 1949, up to and including January 1951; that there is no record of and plaintiff firmly believes, that said Frank H. Noble never did execute a warranty deed owing to vendees as stated above. The plaintiff in said petition states that none of said defendants or unknown claimants have in fact any right, title or interest in or to the above described premises or any part thereof, or any color or right, title or interest therein, and that the plaintiff and his decedent have been in sole, complete, open, notorious, hostile, actual and undisputed adverse possession of the said premises for more than ten years last past under claim of title and ownership thereof and have been the undisputed and unqualified owner thereof for over ten years, and that by reason thereof and of the lapse of time and the failure of the defendants in failing to assert any pretended claim thereto and in permitting valuable improvements to be made thereon relying upon such possession and ownership, the defendants are estopped from asserting any right, title or interest therein adverse to the plaintiff. The plaintiff in said petition prays for the establishment of his and his decedent's estate and title, against the adverse claims of the defendants and that each and all of them and all unknown claimants and all persons claiming by, through or under them be barred and forever estopped from ever having asserting or claiming any right, title or interest in or to the said premises or any part thereof adverse to the plaintiff and his decedent or the plaintiff's title therein, and that the plaintiff and his decedent's title to the said premises be quieted, established and confirmed, and that the plaintiff have all such other and further equitable relief as to the court may seem just.
