Fair Housing Litigation Produces Compliance

James H. Blair, assistant secretary for Fair Housing and Equal Opportunity, U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development, Friday hailed a recent consent decree signed by the U.S. Federal District Court for the Western District of Tennessee as "a major landmark in fair housing litigation."

The decree, negotiated by the Department of Justice, HUD, and counsel for the Fogelman Management Corporation of Memphis, will provide free rent or cash settlement to 315 men and women who appeared to have been discriminated against by Fogelman Management Corporation in their attempts to rent apartments in Memphis.

Under the terms of the consent decree Fogelman Management Corporation agrees to comply with Title VIII of the Civil Rights Act of 1968 and to promote equal housing opportunity.

The decree was obtained Feb. 5 as a result of an independent investigation by the Department of Justice and complaints filed with HUD under the provisions of Title VIII.

Commenting on the decree, Blair said: "The real significance of this action is not so much that it may provide cash settlements to 315 people but that, by extension, it will provide housing for those individuals and their families."

VIEWS and REVIEWS by James B. Morris

Condoning Misconduct By Youngsters Criticized

Writing in the Des Moines Sunday Register of February 15 Paul Delaney of the New York Times says "Blacks: Candidates Neglect Rights Issue."

He quotes Vernon Jordan, executive director of the National Urban League, who said, "There are abundant signs of growing indifference, even hostility to the legitimate aspirations of blacks."

The article quotes several Negro Democrats who claim that the host of candidates seeking the Democratic nomination for President have ignored the issues except Senator Jackson of Washington whose attitude has been favorable until recently when he apparently changed his position on busing.

Representative Yvonne B. Burke of California, who was permanent chairman of the Democratic Convention in 1972, was quoted, saying, "The Democratic candidates seem to be taking it for granted that we'll vote Democratic again because there's no other place to go."

The conduct of these candidates is far different from the methods employed in previous campaigns when they courted the Negro voter and were instrumental in much of the legislation that has enhanced the effectiveness of civil rights. The national committees of each of the parties have been noticeably quiet because their positions require that they be neutral.

It is apparent that the candidates fear Governor Wallace because of his past history, his financial support and the strength that has come because of his opposition to civil rights. Then there are those who have defected, to some extent, because of the trouble in the 1960's which left bad scars in many places.

Neither President Ford nor former Governor Reagan has said little, relying on their past records in behalf of civil rights. Essentially Negroes must be interested in sharing in the progress that makes the whole country improve. Their support must be directed toward sharing in it. It is easy to make campaign promises but the record of the candidate should have more weight than anything he may say on the platform.

Candidates Shy Away From the Cause of Negroes

In 1972 several Jewish athletes were murdered at the Olympic games by a group of Arab terrorists. It was unfortunate and naturally produced some international strains.

To date, America has not done well in the competitions in the winter Olympics in Austria and Russia has dominated the scoring. These games were played in Austria where performers on ice have become professionals. No doubt the situation will improve when the Olympics move to this side of the ocean.

It is generally understood that Russia subsidizes their athletes and since East Germany is under their control it is easy to see how they were able to produce a number of professional athletes. In this country our athletes are financed on a voluntary basis.

It is unfortunate that some members of the American hockey team disgraced themselves by rowdism and destruction of property at a tavern while in Germany simply because they were disappointed over their defeat.

American officers have tended to smooth over this conduct claiming that it was simply a prank by young people who were letting off steam. This, to me, appears to condone misconduct and smooths it over by calling it just the work of young pranksters. It is the type of thing that we complain about in the enforcement of law in this country today. It should not be tolerated.

Why Not A Fellow Who Is Down?

Interestingly enough, many people who have made the most commotion about rehabilitating prisoners are the ones who are complaining because former President Richard Nixon has been invited to visit China.

China extended the invitation. Nixon as a private citizen has no special authorization to represent the United States except to be a good tourist as every American should when abroad. Nixon opened up communications between the United States and Peking, China which had been dormant for more than 25 years and thus contributed to an opportunity for the nations to become better acquainted. It was a real diplomatic victory.

These people seem to argue that the fellow who is down should be kept down which is far from our professed moral code of helping the fellow who cannot help himself. To me, any other attitude is hypocritical about Nixon.

Roberson, Forerunner in Civil Rights

"ONE OF THE NATIONS GREATEST MEN, AN INDIVIDUAL WHOSE TIME ON EARTH HAS BEEN SPENT IN THE PURSUIT OF JUSTICE FOR ALL HUMAN BEINGS AND TOWARD THE ENLIGHTENMENT OF MEN AND WOMEN THE WORLD OVER."

editorial The Lesson of Leadbelly

If one didn't know it already, one look at the opening scenes of "Leadbelly," the new Paramount Pictures film, tells you that the director must be someone special. That "special" person is Gordon Parks, the celebrated and talented artist who has contributed so much to photography, literature, and filmmaking.

Because of this, reports surrounding this film about the Louisiana farm boy, who journeyed to Shreveport at the turn of the century, are disturbing. These reports are that Paramount is exhibiting something less than enthusiasm for the promotion and exploitation of the Parks film.

"Leadbelly," actually lived in this century. His music became legend. When he left his humble home, he carried all that he owned on his back. This included his guitar. Leadbelly hoped to sing his way into the hearts of the habitués of Shreveport's Fannin Street. He did just that with his "back country blues" ringing out from brothel and bar until hard luck caught up with him and the singer ended up on a chain gang.

From here on, the story is one of prejudice, hatred and hostility. The various circumstances surrounding Leadbelly's life are well woven into a sensitive film. Park's work demonstrates his own sensitivity. It has violence, but not that of the blackploitation films now glutting the market. Dope and sex are not glamorized in "Leadbelly." The film portrays the frustration of a black man attempting to buck a system that slowly tends to wear him down.

That is much of what could happen to artists of the calibre of Gordon Parks. If he is to continue to turn out credible films then major companies must be persuaded to move them into the market. Anything less than that kind of support can only be viewed as evidence that major studios are not appreciating stories that reflect the true heritage of some Black Americans.

Parks wants to make more films of the character of "Leadbelly." We certainly hope he does. But meanwhile, Paramount Pictures must understand the groundswell of support Black America has for films and filmmakers of Gordon Parks calibre.

Letter to the Editor:

Lest we forget - we, the people of the United States, were not the first inhabitants on the North American Continent.

Our democratic form of government was not the first hierarchy on this earth.

The Christian Religion was not the first method of worship in the World.

We were given four freedoms: Freedom of religion, freedom of speech, freedom of the press, and freedom of public assembly. Be thankful for them, believe in them, and preserve them for all posterity.

A Bicentennial reminder: Freedom of religion was one of the basic concepts of our Founding Fathers. Our God has Blessed us. We should humble ourselves before our Creator.

Stay well, keep busy, be happy, and, as they say almost everywhere in Colorado, "Have A Good Day".

NIA, Inc. is the newly formed concert presentation company, based in fashionable, Century City, California, under the direction of Frank A. Evans, Jr., president.

The production and direction of NIA, Inc. in presenting its concert package features, employs a marketing and planning strategy that virtually guarantees the name 'soul acts' they engage, a very successful and profitable avenue of exposure.

NIA, Inc. has set a precedence with their next concert presentation of Bill Withers and Rufus, scheduled for March 3, when they play the Lloyd Noble Center in Norman, Oklahoma.

This performance will mark 'a first' for a black promotion company or promoter presenting a "soul concert" in the facility.

Enroll For Medicare Medical Insurance Before March 31

People who didn't sign up for Medicare medical insurance when they first became eligible or who have cancelled the protection once, can enroll now through March 31 at any social security office, according to William R. Durst, social security district manager in Des Moines.

Medicare medical insurance is offered automatically to people who reach 65 and are eligible for social security benefits—and to disabled people under 65 who have been entitled to monthly social security disability benefits for 24 consecutive months or more. Nine out of 10 people eligible are enrolled in the program, according to Durst.

"But some people decline the protection when they're first eligible," he said. "And some sign up once and cancel later. They can enroll in the first 3 months of any year."

The medical insurance helps pay doctor bills and other medical expenses and is the voluntary part of Medicare, funded by individual premiums and Federal general revenues. The basic premium is $6.70 a month through June 1976. It will be increased to $7.20 for the 12-month period starting in July, 1976.

"People who decline Medicare medical insurance and delay signing up for more than a year pay a higher premium," Durst noted. "People who sign up and cancel later can re-enroll only once."

The medical insurance supplements Medicare hospital insurance. Hospital insurance is funded by social security contributions from workers, employers, and self-employed people.

"People 65 and over who are not eligible for social security benefits can apply at any social security office and get Medicare hospital insurance by paying a premium," Durst said. "The basic premium is $40 a month through June 1976. It will be increased to $45 a month for the period July 1976 through June 1977. People who buy hospital insurance must also sign up for the medical insurance," he said.

People who have worked long enough under social security can get Medicare hospital and medical insurance for themselves and their family if they have permanent kidney failure.

The Des Moines social security office is at Room 293 Federal Building, 210 Walnut Street. The phone number is 284-4500.

OMBE Staffers Hire Law Firm To Fight Job Downgrading

WASHINGTON (NNPA) — Several of the 34 employees of the Office of Minority Business Enterprise, who are scheduled for downgrading, have employed a law firm to fight the action, according to a letter to the agency's director by a member of the firm, Glenn R. Graves.

Those who are initially taking the action, with others expected to join in, are Lewis Giles, Jr., chief of the agency's information service; Herman Flora, program officer; Ms. Sheila B. Adams, chief of administrative service branch; and Hyman L. Jarrett, project officer stationed in Chicago.

Twenty of those facing a loss of a grade are GS-14s at around $32,000 a year. Their new annual salary would be around $25,000. Two are GS-15s at approximately $34,000; the rest range from GS-13 to GS-6, or from $25,000 to $10,000.

A racial breakdown of OMBE's 213 employees is as follows: blacks, 127; whites, 48; Spanish-speaking, 16;

Indians, two; and Asian-Americans, one.

Of those slated to be downgraded, 15 are located here, three are in San Francisco, three in Chicago, six in New York City, four in Dallas, and three in Atlanta. More than half are black.

In his letter to Alex Armendaris, OMBE director, Graves expresses concern that the downgrading move is part of a reorganization plan, although the proposed reorganization of the agency is opposed by a Congressional subcommittee.

OMBE Directory Lists Organizations Funded By Agency

Publication of an updated directory of private organizations funded by the U.S. Department of Commerce's Office of Minority Business Enterprise (OMBE), to assist potential and existing minority entrepreneurs in need of business assistance services, has recently been announced.

The 48-page directory, entitled OMBE Funded Organizations Directory, lists 282 organizations. The organizations listed are arranged according to the category of service they provide. This includes national and local business development organizations, private resource centers, city and state OMBEs, construction contractor assistance centers, and minority business and trade organizations, among others.

Also listed are the names, addresses, and phone numbers of individuals to contact at these locations. The services they provide are cost free.

OMBE Director Alex Armendaris said, "This directory is an invaluable guide and source of information to minority individuals who are in need of the kinds of services listed." He said that the organizations funded by OMBE have proved their worth to the minority entrepreneur over the years and that the directory is a handy reference to immediately identify sources of assistance that are available.

Copies of the directory are available in limited quantities from: OMBE Information Service, U.S. Department of Commerce, 14th & Constitution Avenue NW, Washington, D.C. 20230.

The Office of Minority Business Enterprise was established in the Department of Commerce in 1969 to coordinate federal and private sector efforts in the development and expansion of minority-owned business enterprise.

Iowans recover back pay due

U.S. Labor Department investigations during the first six months of Fiscal Year 1976 (July 1, 1975-December 31, 1975) uncovered $610,786 in back pay owned to 3,079 Iowa workers whose rights under employment standards laws had been violated.

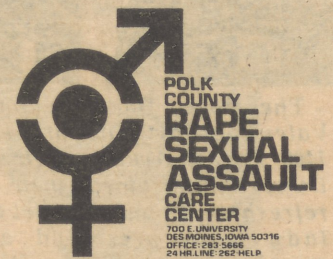

Paul A. Lynn, Des Moines area director of the Department's Employment Standards Administration, Wage-Hour Division, said recently that of the totals discovered, $403,979 was actually recovered for 2,687 workers, the bulk of it through voluntary payments by employers.

Most of the difference between the amount found due by investigators and the amount actually paid back, Lynn said, is still being sought from employers through negotiation or litigation.

Wage-hour officers found the violations in checking employers' compliance with labor standards laws. The Fair Labor Standards Act's provisions cover minimum wage, overtime and child labor rules and a bar on sex discrimination in pay. The Age Discrimination in Employment Act prohibits unequal treatment of workers 40-65 years old.

The following breakout shows the violations uncovered in Iowa in each category: Minimum wage, $210,852 found due for 986 workers; overtime, $180,762 found due for 2,047 workers; equal pay, $217,772 found due for 197 workers; and age discrimination $1,400 found due for 1 worker.

The Rape Care Center exists to aid victims of rape and sexual assaults. Our counselors are familiar with and can be with you during hospital, police and court procedures. CONFIDENTIAL help is available 24 hours every day to assist victims and their families with personal problems or procedures resulting from rape or sexual assaults.

If you are raped or assaulted call 262-HELP and/or the police immediately; DO NOT bathe, douche or change clothes.

IEBN Wins Top Public TV Award

The Iowa Educational Broadcasting Network (IEBN) has been notified that its production "The Others" was named by the Corporation for Public Broadcasting as the "Best Public Television Program of the Year for 1975."

The award was recently given at the annual membership meeting of the 268 stations comprising the Public Broadcasting Service (PBS) in Los Angeles.

"The Others," competing against 165 PBS entries, was also awarded the 1976 Local Television Award for Excellence in the News and Public Affairs category.

Another IEBN program, "The Quietest Voice," was a finalist in the Special Interest category. Both programs were written and produced by IEBN's Emmy-winning producer John Beyer, with cinematography by Ron Burnell and sound by Terry Sparks. "The Others" was narrated by Matthew James Faison.

"The Others" is a documentary focusing on specific problem areas in Iowa's Programs for the developmentally disabled — particularly the retarded citizens of the State. These problems include inappropriate facilities utilizing a hospital model; an unnecessary complicated funding mechanism which often forced disabled people into inappropriate settings; and confusing and contradictory rules and regulations related to development of new facilities.

"The Quietest Voice" is a half-hour documentary concerning the Iowa School for the Deaf in Council Bluffs, Iowa. The program shows the school's teaching method as well as the effect the school and its many activities have on the students enrolled.

In June of 1975 "The Others" received the 1975 President's Award of the Iowa Association for Retarded Citizens. This award is presented annually and recognizes "outstanding contributions to bettering life for persons who are mentally retarded."

"The Others" was originally broadcast on the IEBN stations in January 1975. "The Quietest Voice" was broadcast in October 1975 and will be rebroadcast on IEBN Monday, February 16, 1976 at 10 p.m. The rebroadcast of the program has been captioned for the deaf.

Caribbean Lounge Salutes Mitchell

LOS ANGELES, CA — The year 1976, will be remembered as a bicentennial year, celebrating the 200th anniversary of our country. This year will also be remembered by those who witnessed it, as a birth of a star — Jerry Mitchell.

He'll be recalled for electrifying audiences, and capturing them while he performs. His ability to stimulate those assembled to watch him has caused fellow entertainers to take a second look at him.

Such an event took place Wednesday, January 28. The scene was the Caribbean Lounge, owned by West Coast Queen booking agent, Edgar Charles.

Mitchell sang as only he knows how...exhilarating. As always, he left those in attendance gasping for more. His distinct voice lives up to the old cliché of being "sweet music to the ears."

A host of stars came out to wish Mitchell love, happiness, and success. Among them were members of Bloodstone, and the famed jazz pianist Horace Silver who was also honored. They sat watched, and listened, as Jerry vibrated the soul of everyone who was there.

Mitchell a young man who likes to dedicate his free time to those less fortunate than himself, was presented a plaque for his endeavors. Ms. Reve Gipson, the mistress of ceremony, saluted Mitchell for having a "unique and rare talent" which will carry him to the top.

Mitchell was backed by the renowned band "The Mean Machine" for this historical event. He is coming your way, "look for him", you'll be glad you did.

Jerry Mitchell is a part of Fourth House Music's family with Mable John handling the managerial chores.

Disco Lady Does It Again For Taylor

HOLLYWOOD, CA — The consistency of Johnnie Taylor in keeping his string of hit records intact, continues with his new single release of "Disco Lady," on Columbia Records, that currently is regarded as one of the hottest new releases going.

Only a few weeks old, "Disco Lady" is a solid air-play favorite among the rank and file of soul spinning jocks on the numerous radio stations across the nation, and the disc is currently listed on all three major music trade magazine's "popular music charts."

Additionally, the new single by Johnnie Taylor is a heavy play record on the nation's juke boxes, and it has all the earmarks of being one of the biggest selling singles to-date recorded by the veteran recording artist and entertainer.

"Disco Lady" is a single extract from the new Johnnie Taylor album, soon to be released on Columbia Records under the title of "Eargasm." As Johnnie

Williamson Guests On Dinah!

Fred Williamson—(left) surprised Dinah Shore by having two stunt men, Nick Dimitri (2nd from right) and Gene La Bell, (right) from his latest film, "Journey To Nowhere," break up his singing of the film's theme with a fake fight. Dinah didn't know it was planned, nor did the audience. Few people realized Williamson, whose athletic career and acting abilities are well-known, could sing. He was featured with The Spaniels on their gold record, "Goodnight Sweetheart". Williamson, the most active Producer-director in the industry today, has two films in release, "Mean Johnny Barrows" and "Adios Amigo". "Death Journey" will be released in May and the sequel, "Journey To Nowhere," is being completed for release in July.

The Complete Entertainer

DETROIT — Almost immediately following the release of his current Columbia Records single, "Disco Lady," Johnnie Taylor played a special five day engagement at the Twenty Grand Night Club in Detroit, Michigan, to officially begin his 1976 concert tour, and end his "self-imposed" hiatus to complete the first album for his new record label.

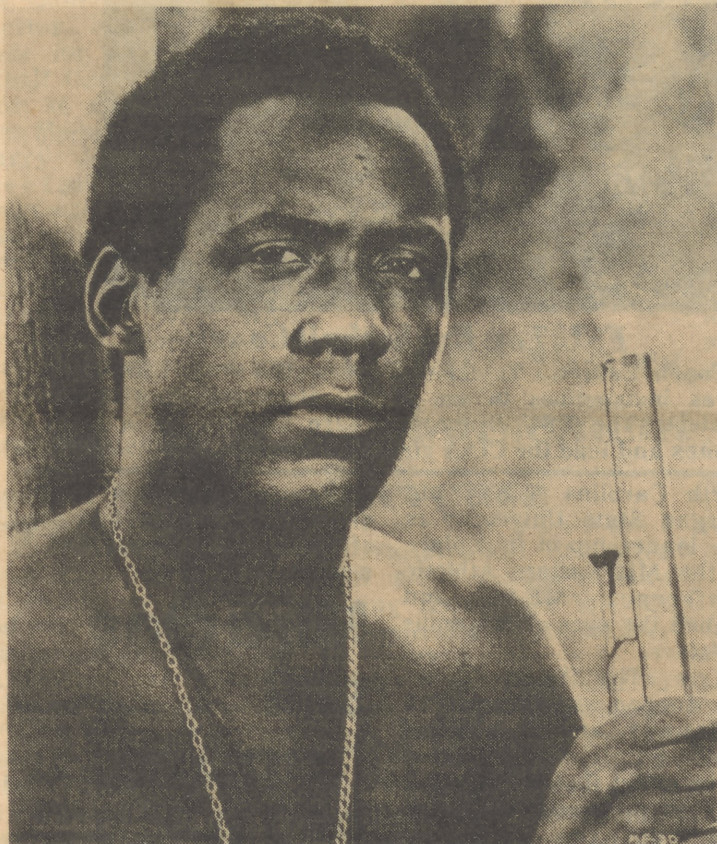

His triumphant return to the status of an active performer was indeed a successful one, as was proven by the SRO crowds at The Twenty Grand Club in the Motor-City, who braved the windy elements nightly attesting to the popularity and drawing power of the renowned vocalist.

For his engagement at the Detroit nightery, he was backed musically by his 10-piece orchestra, under the direction of guitarist/conductor Leroy Hadley, and included Charles Edwards, alto saxophone and flutist; Felix Williams, tenor saxophone; Emmett Stewart, baritone saxophone; Robert Arnold, trumpet; Eddie Taylor, trumpet; William Suler, trombone; John Brinkley, drums; Greg Clark, bass and Darrell Harper, organ and keyboards.

As always, Taylor gave his audience more than their money's worth and the cold climate was immediately forgotten as soon as he hit the stage. His superb showmanship and repertoire, which included such all-time favorites as, "Jodie," "Little Bluebird," "September," "Who's Making Love," "Cheaper To Keep Her," "Who Can I Turn To," "Friday Night," and many others including new material from his soon to be released Columbia album, "Eargasm."

His wardrobe was the epitome of style and taste, in particular, the specially designed white leather tunic suit, that seemingly he was poured into that brought screams and shouts of approval from both the female and male patrons at the Twenty Grand who were diggin' on Johnnie Taylor. The Complete Entertainer."

Roundtree As "Friday"

Richard Roundtree, whose powerful portrayal of the tough private eye, John Shaft, launched a trio of box-office hit movies, brings a new dimension to his acting repertoire in the title role of "Man Friday," an Avco Embassy release based on Daniel Defoe's classic tale of the shipwrecked Robinson Crusoe (played by Peter O'Toole) and the native, Friday, whom he tries to "civilize." Filmed entirely on location in Mexico, "Man Friday" is a poignant, often humorous, story of racial confrontation with contemporary overtones, bringing to life two of fiction's most immortal characters, with unexpected twists that lead to a reversal of the master-servant roles. "Man Friday," which opens in New York City in late February, was produced by Keep Films in association with ABC Entertainment and I.T.C. (an ATV Company). Jack Gold directed from a screenplay by Adrian Mitchell, with Gerald Green and Jules Buck as executive producers. David Korda produced, in Panavision and color.

WHEN WE'RE IN TROUBLE YOU'RE IN TROUBLE

For more than 66 years, black Americans, faced with threats to their civil rights, have turned to the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People.

The NAACP response to these threats would fill volumes. It ranges from the end of lynchings, the abolition of jim-crow, the 1954 school integration decision, equal access to public accommodations and the extension of voting rights, to guarding the rights of blacks on the aircraft carrier, Kitty Hawk, and participation in winning the largest back-pay award ever for black steelworkers in Alabama.

The means to maintain and increase civil rights gains for all Americans are threatened because the NAACP and its programs are now throttled by inflation and the continuing national economic crisis. Yes—when we're in trouble, your civil rights are in trouble. Only you and your like-minded fellow Americans can help maintain the Association in times of stress as the firm and unwavering civil rights bulwark.

LOOK ON SPORTS

As I watch the basketball games on television now, I can't help but compare the game as we played it with the game today. There is no doubt that the players of today are bigger, faster and more adapt at the game. I think that is sometimes a handicap to having the game played as well as it could be played now. There are so many great big men whose main job is to muscle the opposition out of the way and furnish the fierce contact necessary to winning games that, really, clever ball handling and team play sometimes are second to roughness.

True, the game is supposed to be a game of no contact, just as it was in our day. But how can you get ten big people moving as fast as these guys do in such a small space as a basketball floor and not have contact. No way. Today they call a rough game a physical game. A team that can rough house you out of the game as Kentucky did lots of opponents last year, is called a physical team. To me the correct word is rough.

There is no way that officials on the floor are going to see all of the fouls as they are made. And so often the home team gets the edge in calls that could go either way. But as people often point out, if all of the fouls were called, there would be a constant parade to the free-throw line. I don't think so because when both teams realized that they were going to get called close, they would begin to teach finer play and avoid so much contact.

Wonder if there were a third man up above the court who could see more than the officials on the floor could, would it make a difference. Maybe the guy in the air could call all of the fouls and let the people officiating on the floor take care of the technical end of the thing. Maybe they will come to that some day. Another reason why today's players are better ballhandlers is the fact that the ball is smaller than it was years ago just as the football is made for passing instead of kicking today.

Iowa Major Colleges

Now that that is out of the way, let's get back to the college games around the state. Last week Drake seemingly had a game with Iowa wrapped up, but decided to sit on a lead and blew the ballgame. Iowa said they made a great comeback, but neglected to say they got some help from the Bulldogs.

Drake blew another one that nearly triggered the thing I have been looking for all season—a riot among the spectators. It happened that the game was practically over or it might have been tough. But they hung on to a good Louisville club Saturday night, and were they happy.

Meanwhile Iowa was taking Wisconsin to the cleaners, and Iowa State was still trying to find out what to do with their scoring ace on the bench. Just when the Cyclones seem to be coming out of it, their main scorer got hurt and hasn't played very much since. In a couple of games the guy's 20 or so points would have brought the team home a winner. When it rains, it pours.

Metro High Schools

Our local high school season is just about to ring down with Lincoln winner of the metro title again. I think Hoover is second and Roosevelt and Dowling are tied for third. Valley is above the rest of the pack and East and North tried to put Tech in the cellar, but the Engineers dodged it by tripping East.

So now we go into the playoffs to determine who goes to the state meet. Everybody wants to know if Lincoln will make it. They blew a game to Pella last week, and that may be what they needed to get them up for the meets coming ahead.

The girls are into their sectional playoffs already with none of the greater Des Moines teams having much of a chance to go too far. I learned that that Cedar Rapids team that I mentioned a while back is rated in the top ten, and might make it back here again. If they do I will have to go to the meet.

In our high schools, the indoor track meets are starting, so we will have some dope on them later on.

Is He the greatest?

I watched heavyweight champ Muhammad Ali explain why he thinks he is the greatest heavyweight of all time last weekend. There was a sequence of the old time champs from John Sullivan to present day fighters and Ali took them all apart, if you didn't see the thing, I had to agree with him on some of the things he said.

The older fellows didn't move at all, and he figured to beat them by moving. The later fellows—Wolcott, Louis Charles and Marciano—didn't punch or think enough so he would have beaten them with brains. I have to go along with his analysis of Marciano who was called the greatest since Dempsey.

He said that the Brockton Buster made his reputation fighting four fellows who were way past their prime anyone of whom would have beaten him in their prime. Wolcott was 38, Charles was 32, Archie Moore was at least 38 and Joe Louis was retired and 37, a shell of his former self as were the others. And that made him, Rocky the greatest? "No way," says Ali, and I tend to agree.

The Brain Behind FSU's Girls Basketball Team

by John B. Henderson
FSU SID

FAYETTEVILLE, N.C. — She may end up being called the greatest coach at Fayetteville State University.

So far this season, her basketball team has a perfect 8-0 record. In fact, since last season the FSU Broncoettes basketball team lost only two games and including last year's 18-2 mark, the team is currently 26-2.

The "basketball brain" behind this phenomenal team is coach Lauretta J. Taylor. An assistant professor in FSU's Health, Physical Education and Recreation Department, Taylor is very popular among the student body and is a highly respected instructor.

So far this season, Taylor's girls have mowed down their opponents like NBA pros. The teams who have been dumped by the Broncoettes are North Carolina A&T, Livingston College, Winston-Salem State, Durham Business College, Shaw University and Pembroke State. Some teams have been played twice.

The main thing the Broncoettes have on their minds this year is taking the CIAA tournament championship which starts today and last until Saturday in Raleigh, N.C.

The Broncoettes have a tremendous amount of talent on the squad this year and have a veteran team. The girls club came in second last year in the CIAA tournament falling to St. Augustine's College, 56-54, at Petersburg, Virginia.

A native Wilson, N.C., the Broncoettes hope that the "brain of basketball" will be around a long, long time to come.

Morgan Leads MEAC Race

North Carolina A & T Aggies came to Morgan's Hill Field House with its No. 1 ranking in the MEAC, its No. 3 ranking in all the national polls and James (The Bird) Sparrow, All-American candidate, averaging 24 points and numerous write-ups in all the national papers. But it seems as if no one told Coach Nat Frazier and the Morgan Bears they were the underdogs.

In fact, from tip-off to final buzzer, Morgan never relinquished the lead.

Coach Lauretta Taylor of Fayetteville State University gives instructions to one of her players during recent contest. The FSU Broncoettes are undefeated in eight games and lead the CIAA girls conference.

North Carolina A & T put Morgan State University in sole leadership of first place in the Mid-Eastern Athletic Conference (MEAC) and opened the eyes of numerous pollsters.

Eric (The Pencil) Evans led Morgan with 25 points, 16 rebounds and 6 blocked shots, but it was one great team effort that pressured A & T in numerous turnovers and kept the Aggies off balance all night.

Maurice Jennings, the third guard in Frazier's newly found three-guard offense, finished the game with 15 points and gained the respect of everyone in the Field House. Barry Scroggins scored 16 points and Billy Newton ran the offense with 8 points and 7 assists.

VA Fiscal Report Shows Disbursement Increase

The Veterans Administration disbursed over $194.8 million in Iowa during fiscal year 1975, an increase of $16.9 million over the previous year.

Bob Winters, director of the VA Regional Office in Des Moines, reported recently on the federal agency's estimated expenditures in the state. He said that the largest portion, $84.2 million, represented disability compensation and pension checks to veterans, their dependents and survivors.

Approximately $43.2 million provided by GI Bill educational and vocational rehabilitation programs for Iowa veterans, and $54.4 million went toward VA hospital and regional office operating costs, he said.

The remainder was expended for GI insurance and indemnities ($12 million), direct home loans ($235,553), and construction and related costs ($872,903).

The VA has four facilities in Iowa, including hospitals in Des Moines, Iowa City and Knoxville, and a regional office in Des Moines.

Featured speaker will be Patricia Kirkpatrick, R.D., explaining the program of the "Diabetes Education Center" in Minneapolis, directed by Dr. D. D. Etzwiler.

The meeting is open to the public and free of charge.

Intercollegiate Athletics squad.

In addition to the players, GSU coach Eddie Robinson was named "Coach of the Year" in polls conducted by the Mutual Black Network, Jet Magazine, the National Black Network and the 100 Per Cent Wrong Club of Atlanta, Georgia.

Collie J. Nicholson, Grambling's sports information director, was named Black College SID in the Jet Magazine Poll.

The GSU squad finished with a 10-1 season record and was voted national championship honors by Mutual Black Network, National Black Network, Jet Magazine, the new Courier and 100 Per Cent Wrong Club.

Garnishment Limitation Protects Worker's Pay

A worker whose weekly take-home pay is less than $69 may not have any of it garnished for the benefit of creditors, a U.S. Labor Department official said recently in Kansas City.

Doyle I. Loveridge, the Department's regional administrator of Employment Standards, said court-ordered garnishment could take all of the amount above $69 until take-home pay reaches $92 a week. Above that, the limitation is 25 per cent of the worker's pay after legally-required deductions.

The garnishment limitation is vital to the low income worker who needs this protection just to meet minimum living expenses," he said. "Yet many workers and employers do not know that there are legal restrictions on the amount of income that may be garnished or that the amounts have just changed."

The wage garnishment restrictions under Title II of the Consumer Credit

Protection Act limit the amount of an employee's disposable earnings that may be legally garnished. That amount is based on the highest current minimum wage, which went to $2.30 an hour on January 1, 1976.

Disposable earnings—or take-home pay—means earnings less the normal mandatory deductions, such as taxes or social security, Loveridge explained.

Workers or employers needing more information should contact area offices of the Wage and Hour Division, which administers the garnishment limitations, in Des Moines, Omaha, Wichita, Kansas City or St. Louis.

Rev. Everett Cassell spoke last Sunday on the story of the Prodigal Son taken from Luke 15:11-24. The father never stopped looking or praying for the son. He remained faithful in his watch for the son.

The son spent all that he had and then fell to the point where he realized that his father's servants were fed better than he was. Then he realized his lost condition. All of us must come down to our lowest point before we can realize how lost we are.

Then the son became wise and went back to his father and confessed his sins. We must always be willing to confess our sins to our Father who is faithful and merciful in His forgiveness.

Next Sunday the lesson will be given by Rev. Jacob Reed. His text is taken from 1 Peter 2:5, "Sacrifice Unto

Sure, it would be great if all of us could attend all of the council meetings that affect our city. (And you know that you can . . . under Iowa law, all meetings of taxing bodies must be open to the public!)

But let's face it . . . we just haven't got the time! And that's no cop out, either. We have enough going on, with our jobs, families, hobbies, community and church activities. And besides, there is no city or town hall big enough to hold the entire community it serves! Take your own city, for example. Can you imagine everybody trying to find room in the council chamber?

Of course, you could read the minutes "free" in the clerk's office. But imagine the confusion and turmoil if everyone invaded the clerk's office to read the minutes!

Isn't it wise that Iowa law also requires that council and county board proceedings be published in newspapers! You can "attend" every meeting, by reading the official minutes in this newspaper. From the standpoint of time and money saved, these publications are the best bargain in town!

Abortion Curbs in Hospitals Hit

Despite the general legalization of abortion over the past few years, some 30 - 50 per cent of all women seeking abortions were unable to get one, a new study reports. Hospitals - particularly public hospitals - have failed to provide adequate abortion services to meet public demand, according to a nationwide survey by the Alan Guttmacher Institute of the Planned Parenthood Federation of America.

The survey found that by April, 1974, only 15 per cent of all U.S. hospital had performed "even a single abortion," and that between 400,000 and 900,000 women who needed an abortion in 1974 were unable to get one.

Poor women and rural women had the most difficulty finding hospitals that would permit abortions, the study says. The number of abortions performed in public hospitals amounted to 15 per cent of the demand among the poor. Many rural states reported none or very few abortions performed during 1974.

Nationwide, only 42 per cent of women who sought abortions were able to obtain them, the survey said. The survey concluded that the pattern of abortion services available "perpetuates sharp inequities" in services between the poor and others and between rural and urban women. Lack of adequate abortion services would lead to "illegal or self-induced abortions, unwanted or mistimed births, out-of-wedlock births, school dropouts, precipitous marriages, and other health and social consequences of the unavailability or legal abortion," the report said.

Sugar Control Important To Survival of Diabetic Patients

In what is believed to be the largest mortality study of its kind, a major life insurance company has reported that a prospective, 20-year follow-up of more than 10,000 diabetics showed that blood sugar control is an "important factor" in the survival of the diabetic patient.

The finding, one of the highlights in the long-term nationwide investigation, disclosed that deaths among poorly-controlled patients ran about two-and-a-half times higher than among those who were well-controlled. Diabetes experts are in the midst of a controversy over the significance of control in the development and course of diabetic complications and on survival.

Even when juvenile diabetics under age 30 were excluded from the data, mortality among poorly-controlled patients totalled nearly twice that of the well-controlled group, according to the findings of the Equitable Life Assurance Society of the United States.

The findings, "contrary to the opinion of some clinicians," confirmed that the diabetic, even if well-controlled, is a "heavily substandard risk, with a mortality ratio far in excess of normal," according to the report prepared by Dr. George Goodkin, Equitable's associate medical director.

Overall, there were 1,478 actual deaths compared to 440 expected deaths for standard insured lives, a greater than three-fold difference. Rejected applicants (for life insurance) had a four-fold mortality compared to standard expectations; and accepted diabetics (those who met underwriting criteria for insurability) had a death rate more than one-and-a-half times that of normal.

Among the other highlights revealed by the study were these:

- (1) The finding of albuminuria in a diabetic is "an extremely unfavorable" prognostic sign.
- (2) The mortality risk of hypertension in a diabetic is gravely multiplied when compared to the non-diabetic, especially at ages under 40.

Planting flowers program ready

What better program could you present with a spring coffee than one on flower gardening? The Linn County Extension office has such a program ready for you to borrow called "Artist with a Green Thumb", according to Susan Uthoff, extension home economist.

The program is one of 20 package programs available for anyone to check out for a $1 rental fee. They're part of the Independent Study Program series developed at Iowa State University and a service of every county extension office in the state. "Artist with A Green Thumb" includes 65 color slides and a written narrative. It's designed to last about half an hour. Two free booklets are offered—one on flowering perennials and the other on annuals.

"This program is easy to give," Mrs. Uthoff said. "It's also timely for those who want to start planning their gardens now."

The Second Forty

(A forum about mature women)

by Margaret Brookfield

Have you a problem as a mature woman, or with one? For advice write Margaret Brookfield, Information Center on the Mature Woman, 515 Madison Avenue New York, N.Y. 10022.

* * * * *

Vanity Press

Dear Margaret Brookfield:

Please give me information on how D.L. had her own poems published. I also do some simple writing and would be willing to finance my own booklets personally, providing I know where to submit my work.

Do you know a publishing company that would consider a small order such as this?

M.O.

Dear M.O.:

The woman who published her own book of poems did not reveal the name of her publisher to us. She did write that she had received 18 rejections of her manuscript before she financed the publication herself.

More people seem to be doing that than ever before. In the publishing business these books are called "vanity books." Authors pay anywhere from three-to fifteen thousand dollars to see their own work in print. Only a few of these books actually make money for their authors. But many authors, like D.L., say the satisfaction and pride of having a book with their name printed on the cover is reward enough.

You might look at Literary Market Place, the directory of American Book Publishers, and write to several of the smaller publishers listed. Or you might make a deal directly with your local printer. Good luck!

From Pots to Pottery

Dear Margaret Brookfield:

When my husband retired from regular Army life, we opened a restaurant together. For ten years we worked very hard and saved a great deal. I did all the cooking and he managed the place. Our children were helpful, too, doing some of the shopping and waiting on table after school and on weekends. It was a totally family-involved undertaking and we enjoyed ourselves. Now all four of our children are out on their own— and when my dear husband passed away a few months ago—I felt unable to continue the business, so I sold it.

At first, I felt lost and didn't know what to do with my time. Then I remembered, that as a young college girl, I had an artistic streak and wanted to be a ceramist. So I enrolled in a pottery class at our local community college. It's changed my entire life. I love working with my hands, and I have been able to make beautiful gifts for my children and friends. I know this isn't a question. I simply had to tell you how important it is to remain active in later life.

P.S. I'm in my late sixties. C.T.

Dear C.T.:

Thank you for writing. You are absolutely correct that by remaining active, a person does not have time to feel lonely or depressed. Good for you— and I hope others follow your advice.
