Metcalfe Handles Machine: Defends Democratic Seat

News Briefs

NATION'S DEBTS

Milwaukee, Wis. — Contradicting statements made by their sect two years ago, representatives of the Nation of Islam said recently that indebtedness and corruption existed under the leadership of the late Elijah Muhammad.

The Nation's debts still total $4.5 million, said Wallace D. Muhammad, Elijah's son and successor. But recently imposed fiscal controls have reduced the debts from a 1973 high of $9.4 million, he said.

DEFEND BUSING

Boston, Mass. — Leaders of the black community in Boston have issued a call for a national probusing march and rally in the Massachusetts city on April 24. The call, released March 9, already has the support of more than 100 prominent black and white supporters of desegregation in Boston and around the country.

WITNESS RECANTS

New Orleans, La. — The key prosecution witness against Gary Tyler during his November 1975 trial in St. Charles Parish, Louisiana, now says the government forced her to lie.

Tyler, a 17-year-old black youth from St. Rose, was sentenced to death after an all-white jury found him guilty of killing a white student at Destrehan High School in October 1974. Tyler is scheduled to be electrocuted May 1.

KLANSMEN CHARGED

Montgomery, Ala. — Three men identified as Ku Klux Klansmen have been arrested and charged with the murder 19 years ago of a black truck driver who was thought to have smiled at a white woman.

Attorney General William Baxley said the crime was a case of mistaken identity. He said three men had mistaken Willie Edwards, Jr., for another truck driver they thought had "smiled at a white woman."

Black Primary Candidates Battle To The Wire For Southside Spot

The Illinois Democratic primary was a political battleground.

On Chicago's Southside, the candidates were clashing down to the wire.

An unprecedented number of assistant state's attorneys and poll watchers were expected Tuesday to be on hand in Illinois' First Congressional District.

Experts predicted that well over half of the 200,000 registered voters would go to the polls to settle the fierce battle between the black candidates; the largest voter turnout in the history of Chicago's Southside district Democratic primary.

In the end, incumbent Ralph Metcalfe had defeated, in a dramatic 2-1 fashion, challenger Erwin France for the Democratic renomination in Illinois' First Congressional District. The two black candidates hammered away at their chosen issues and at each other as the campaign neared a climax, according to a Chicago Defender article.

Delegation Issue

The real issue in the Democratic primary was the presence of 169 Democratic delegate seats at stake in the Tuesday primary. Chicago's Mayor Richard Daley sought to install himself as a potential power broker by capturing a hefty majority of the delegation.

Daley's patronage-fueled Chicago organization unleashed a massive outpouring of votes to give victory to the mayor's major candidate, Illinois Secretary of State Michael J. Hawlett, in the voting for the Democratic gubernatorial nomination.

With Howlett's victory over the incumbent Daniel Walker, Daley regained his standing as undisputed master of Illinois Democrats.

Daley's Candidate Defeated

Metcalfe, 65, was another target of the Chicago mayor. The congressman was once a favorite son of the mayor, but broke with him over the issue of police brutality two years ago.

Frances, Metcalfe's opponent, was backed by Boss Daley in the most bitter of the congressional races contested in the Illinois primary Tuesday.

Endorsements

A former Olympic sprinter, Metcalfe received endorsements from Coretta Scott King, widow of Dr. Martin Luther King, Jr. In a letter, Mrs. King stated that she has "long respected" the U.S. representative's "distinguished record of service."

Metcalfe also received endorsements from one of Chicago's leading black newspapers, the Chicago Defender.

Walter Knox, 7614 Camelot Drive has been appointed as the youth activities director for the Urban Area YMCA. Born and reared in Des Moines, Knox is a graduate of Tech High School and Tarkio College where he excelled in track. He is married to the former Opel Holmes and is the son of Mrs. Walter Knox.

VIEWS and REVIEWS by James B. Morris

Prison Reform Must Be Practical

Today most penal institutions are filled to capacity in many places. Naturally, with less space for each prisoner to live it is easy to understand that this crowding makes it a difficult job for authorities to keep inmates under control.

It appears that prisoners are more belligerent today because they hate constituted authority and take the position that though in most cases, they are the cause of their own situation they blame others for their misfortune.

There are misguided people that feel that the state should provide fabulous quarters for prisoners, even though, in most cases, reasonable facilities are being provided.

After all, people are sent to prison as punishment for crimes committed against the state and against victims. And while they should not be mistreated, it should be made clear that officials are in charge and inmates should not be permitted to run things as they desire. (Of course, there are instances where some of the prison officials have not used good judgment in carrying out their responsibilities.)

I've known men at Fort Madison with life sentences who learned trades during their imprisonment. Released, today they are good citizens in the community and are making an honest living.

Iowa legislators are working with the problem of prison reform because facilities are inadequate. Some legislators wish to build more facilities while others advocate enlarging those we have. Others are advocating more halfway houses and regional correctional facilities. There are some such places today that have made a fair degree of success, while others have been a nuisance to people in the community. It is not difficult to understand the fear of citizens who would be subjected to loose arrangements that would keep them on edge for fear of trouble.

Fundamentally, prisoners must be handled with sufficient discipline to secure their stay and at the same time given every opportunity to change their attitude.

In years gone by, some prisoners were required to work on the highways, in agriculture, and in forestry. While labor screamed that this took jobs from them, the prisoners did have an opportunity to exercise, and had more opportunity learn to work for a living and their stay in the institution was not a total cost to the taxpayer.

Some say that this was unfair to the prisoners, but at least there was less trouble among them.

Anyone who has been so unfortunate as to be sent to prison should have sympathy and help to restore good behavior. But they must realize that officials did not put them there. Consequently, they should leave their antagonism at the gate and make an effort to help themselves.

Iowa's population has increased so that more facilities should be built to house prisoners.

A Southerner Can Get Votes Without Opposing Negroes

The strong headway former Governor of Georgia James Carter is making for the Democratic nomination for President is remarkable in many respects. It is encouraging for American citizens, both in the North and South, that a Southerner, who has a strong backing of Negroes in his state, can win primaries in both the North and South.

Well I do remember the day when politicians in the South could not be elected unless they opposed the Negro. Gov. George Wallace of Alabama, who is one of Carter's opponents, is one of the last of those politicians of any note who has come into prominence greatly because of his opposition to Negroes.

Fortunately, in those years such outstanding newspapers as the Atlanta Constitution; newspapers as the Atlanta Constitution, Greenville, Mississippi Delta Democratic Times and several individuals consistently encouraged a better treatment of the Negroes apparently without fear of the reprisals from their constituents. It was they and some of the liberal people who continued she fight which has paid off in recent years.

Education and training have led the way toward a better day. But it was the Voting Rights Act which put teeth in the laws regulating voting that brought Negroes to register and vote in all elections, a clincher which forced politicians to consider their vote in elections. It is the main reason that a large number of Negroes are being elected to office in the South today.

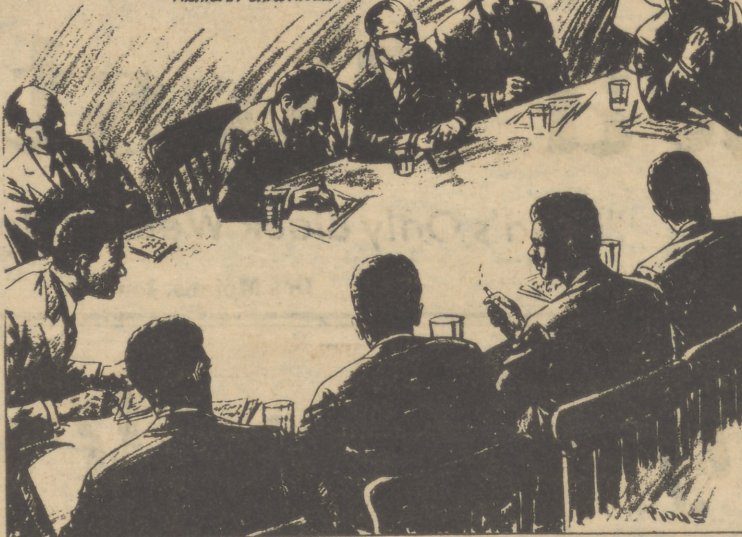

When the late President Lyndon B. Johnson was first elected to Congress he vowed that he would never vote for a civil rights law. But in later years he finally concluded that a man without a vote had no power. When he was elected majority leader of the Senate he vowed to sponsor a civil rights law that would correct that situation. This he did and Lyndon Johnson left office with one of the best

MICHIGAN CHRONICLE

MIDDLETON STATE REP. DEMOCRAT-34 DIST.

What's Happened

The month of February has been a very busy month for the House. Individually and committee sponsored bills to be discussed this session have been placed on the House Calendar as per the Rules of the House, with the exception of bills in the Appropriations and Ways & Means Committees.

My activities this month have included traveling to Sioux City, Davenport, and Cedar Falls to speak to their Human Rights Commissions regarding the findings of the Interim Study Committee on Discriminatory Employment Practices. Previously, I spoke to the Waterloo Commission on the same matter.

As a member of the Joint records on civil rights of any president who has occupied the White House.

Gov. Wallace has a following, North and South, much because some have the attitude of the voters in Massachusetts who, during the primary campaign, took the position that the country was doing too much for the Negroes.

These, we will have with us always, but today it appears that a Southerner can succeed in an election even though he stands for play for the Negro.

Senate-House Committee on Corrections, I also traveled to Fort Madison Penitentiary to observe the conditions there. I have become quite concerned with the situation at Fort Madison and also at the Women's Reformatory at Rockwell City, which I visited recently.

My main interest has been to determine how viable the concept of community-based corrections would be as a solution to the overcrowded conditions at Fort Madison.

As I See It

I feel that it is necessary to explain my vote on HF 1008. Several of my constituents seem upset by my yes vote. The reasons that I voted as I did are:

1. It cleared up the question of whether liquor could be sold by tavern owners or grocery stores without the fifty per cent of gross food receipts which is a requirement to sell liquor on Sunday.

2. By voting yes, I was on the prevailing side which is a requirement for filing a motion to reconsider a bill or table it.

My position on the purchase and consumption of liquor by 18-year olds is that 18-year olds are allowed to vote, are liable for signing valid contracts, and can be tried as adults in criminal courts; therefore, they should not be prohibited from purchasing and consuming liquor.

The age for consumption should not be raised to 19. When HF 1008 comes back from the Senate, the drinking age provision should be stricken. If the Senate doesn't do so, I plan to introduce an amendment to strike that provision if it's still in the bill, which would make the bill acceptable.

If HF 1008 does come back to the House still containing the provision for raising the drinking age and my amendment fails, I shall vote "NO" on the bill.

AFSCME Lobbys Senate Labor Bill

DES MOINES, Iowa — The American Federation of State, County and Municipal Employees (AFSCME) has launched a major lobbying campaign in the Iowa Senate to gain passage of a key bill that is critically important to the state's public employees.

The bill (HF 1147) passed the Iowa House March 5 on a 63-30 bipartisan vote and is expected to come up in the Senate soon.

The measure would change the voting requirement of the 1974 Iowa Public Employment Relations Act, the state law which opened the way for the state's public employees to unionize and bargain collectively.

Under the bill, a majority of the public employees actually voting in a union representation election would determine the election outcome. The law presently requires a union to receive votes from a majority of all eligible voters in order to win a union election.

Rep. John Conners of Des Moines managed the bill on the House floor.

"The current voting requirement is unfair and a deterrent to collective bargaining for Iowa's public employees," Conners said. "The law should be changed — no political election or private sector union election requires a majority of those eligible, only a majority of those who vote."

AFSCME, the fastest growing union in Iowa and the nation, strongly believes, like Conners, that the law should be changed so that the majority of those actually voting rules. To achieve that goal, AFSCME staff and members have initiated a full-fledged lobbying program — complete with letters, phone calls and one-to-one visits — in an attempt to win support for the bill from both Republican and Democratic senators.

Crime Against Businesses; Publication Reports Costs

A recent U.S. Department of Commerce publication, prepared by its Domestic and International Business Administration's Bureau of Domestic Commerce, should be of significant value to minority entrepreneurs, according to Alex Armendaris, director of the agency's Office of Minority Business Enterprise.

Statistics contained in the 52-page book, entitled, The Cost of Crimes Against Business, point out that small businesses suffer from crime more than larger firms. The cost of crimes against all businesses was estimated at $23.6 billion in 1975.

In commenting on the losses Armendaris said that although the publication does not contain comparative data on majority-owned and minority-owned business losses, "minority entrepreneurs probably suffer a considerably high ratio of losses since the vast majority of minority businesses are small."

The publication reports various types of crimes committed against businesses and suggests measure that can be taken against them by the person in business. It also reviews federal programs to fight crime, and lists by geographical area and city, victimization rates.

"Since most minority entrepreneurs live close to edge of the profit margin," Armendaris said, "any way of reducing their losses will be a big advantage to them."

The Cost of Crime Against Business is available at $1.10 a copy from the Superintendent of Documents, U.S. Government Printing Office, Washington, D.C. 20402, and from most Commerce Department District Offices.

The Office of Minority Business Enterprise was established in the Department of Commerce in 1969 to serve as the coordinating agency in the Federal Government for minority business affairs and to work with the private sector in the development of minority-owned businesses.

Announce earnings for Bancshares

J. Merrill Anderson, president and chief executive officer of Central National Bancshares, Inc., reported today that the net income of the Company for 1975 amounted to $2,289,445 or $1.19 per share compared to $2,585,645 in 1974 or $1.30 per share.

Mr. Anderson stated that the decrease in the Company's earnings in 1975 compared to 1974 can be attributed largely to the fact that the interest rates in 1975 dropped very substantially. The average daily net sale of Federal funds (overnight borrowings and lendings) of our subsidiary banks in 1975 was in excess of $14,000,000. The rate we received on these funds at the end of 1975 was in the area of 5% as compared to 11% at the end of 1974 and the earnings benefit from this source was significantly reduced.

Black Man Coordinates Florida Campaign Effort

MIAMI, FLORIDA — Sen. Henry M. Jackson (D-W) entrusted the running of his statewide campaign effort in Florida to a black, Yancey Martin, a pro who cut his political teeth with George McGovern's presidential effort four years ago.

Martin quietly assumed command of the Florida campaign five weeks ago when the Jackson national strategy dictated an all out effort in Florida's southern and urban counties.

A longtime civil rights activist and a protege of Rev. Martin Luther King, Jr., the 41-year-old Martin was born in Montgomery, Alabama where he attended local schools before matriculating at Central State University in Wilberforce, Ohio. Graduating with a B.A. in social sciences in 1957, Martin served in the Army in various assignments before resigning in 1965 with the grade of captain and a fluent knowledge of the French language.

He subsequently served as administrative assistant to Rev. Walter Fauntroy at the Washington bureau of Southern Christian Leadership Conference. Rev. Fauntroy is now the Congressional representative from the District of Columbia; deputy director of the minorities division of the Democratic National Committee, and special assistant and minorities coordinator to the McGovern presidential campaign in 1972.

From 1973 until the present Martin was executive director of the Southern Election Fund, Inc. whose chairman is Julian Bond.

Martin also has his own sales, management and consulting firm based in Atlanta, where he resides with his wife, the former Billie Joyce Patterson of Birmingham, and his daughter Monique.

Martin met Sen. Jackson through his work with the Southern Elections Fund.

The regulations cover two sections (301 and 304) out of six in Title III of the Act.

They provide rules for the administration, conduct, and funding of grants to community-based organizations and to segments of the population that are in particular need of employment and training services, including youth, offenders, persons of limited English-speaking ability, and economically disadvantaged persons.

Community-based organizations covered by the regulations include the National Urban League, Inc., Jobs for Progress (SER), Opportunities Industrialization Centers, Inc. (OIC), Human Resources Development Institute, AFL-CIO (HRDI), and the National Alliance of Businessmen (NAB).

With an electric heat pump and proper insulation... you get the best of both worlds.

The electric heat pump uses energy to transfer heat rather than to create it. With the exception of a few of the coldest days of the winter, it actually provides more energy in the form of heat than it uses in the form of electricity.

Couple the energy-saving features of the heat pump with proper insulation, and you have the best of both worlds.

And because most of the electricity provided to our customers is generated using coal and nuclear fuel, electric heat helps save those fuels in short supply.

Pilgrim Rest Baptist Church held morning service the past Sunday. Rev. J. H. Mims is pastor.

The Scripture was from the Book of Jonah and the subject of the sermon was "You may get by, but you won't get away."

Mrs. L. D. Pearl, a visitor from Quincy, Ill., sang, "Precious Lord, take My Hand" and Rev. Mims sang "I woke up this morning with my mind on Jesus."

Mr. and Mrs. William Saulsbury of Evanston, Ill., are guests of Mr. and Mrs. Flournoy Merritt at this writing.

Entering KAH East last week were Mrs. Otis Morris and Rochelle Ward.

Mrs. Frances Pearl has spent the past week visiting her children and grandchildren in Davenport, Iowa.

There was a fire in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ronald McCane on last Saturday. It started in the closet area of the bedroom and there was extensive damage done. Mrs. McCane and her three-year-old son escaped uninjured.

Mr. and Mrs. Monroe Crowson and children, Kenneth and Sonya, of Muscle Shoals, Ala., are visiting in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Lawson and with other relatives and friends.

Xandra Webb, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Reginald Neal, was one of the group of Girl Scouts of Troop 29 presenting burp bibs to the OB department of KAH West last week.

During the past week Mrs. Mary Wallace received word that her grandson, William Irvin Johnson, 26, son of Mr. and Mrs. LeRoy Johnson of Chicago, had been found dead in bed. Mrs. John Parsons, aunt of the deceased, left Wednesday to be with her brother and family during their bereavement.

Pre-School

Mrs. Magga Johnson, one of the teachers in the Keokuk Community Pre-School, had an enlightening article in the daily paper Thursday evening of last week.

The Pre-School meets the needs of middle income families and serves as a bridge between home and school for four and five year olds. The children are in school two hours, three days a week.

The children are taught many valuable things. Primarily, they are taught to like school. This is a very important step toward "getting ready" for the entrance into daily school life.

Mrs. Mary Majors of Keokuk is listed in the 1975-1976 edition of Who's Who in Black America. The current publication lists all her accomplishments and associations.

Word was received here that Mrs. Charles Officer of Moline, Ill., daughter of Mr.

and Mrs. Carl Majors of this city had been appointed as an equal opportunity representative. Effective March 16, she reported to Ronald L. Norsworthy at Deere and Co. in Moline.

Self Culture Club

Mrs. Mary Majors entertained the Self Culture Club at her home on Sunday afternoon, March 14. Mrs. Phyllis Harper spoke to the group regarding her work with the Area 16 exceptional children statewide and nationally.

Mrs. Harper is president of the Lee County Council for Exceptional Children, supervisor of hearing conservation for Area 16 Education Agency, member of the National Advisory Committee for the Handicapped, member of the professional guidelines project advisory committee of the Council on Exceptional Children and a consultant to A. G. Bell Association for the Deaf Education.

An intense and enlightened speaker, Mrs. Harper had little trouble holding the attention of her audience. She lead them through the steps taken in healing with handicapped children. Especially interested in the deaf child, Mrs. Harper explained the difficulty experienced while dealing with the child with a loss of hearing, even a small percentage loss.

She touched on the over-protective parents, the advisability of getting the child into the main stream of learning. How some children, though average or above average mentally are referred to as "mentally deficient" simply because the hearing is impaired.

Everyone there left with a different perspective of the exceptional child. Guests were Mrs. William Saulsbury of Evanston, Ill.;

death of Rev. Richard S. Ruckett last week. Rev. Ruckett was the former pastor of Mt. Carmel Baptist Church, where he served for 14 years.

During his administration a new church and parsonage were built and the mortgages burned.

Youth Program

Payne Memorial AME Church pastored by Rev. Julius Keys, launched a series of services emphasizing youth and children last Sunday.

The service conducted in the downstairs section of the sanctuary. Rev. William Perkins was the speaker with Mrs. Bertha Keys, wife of the pastor, assisting. The Youth Choir participated.

About 40 youngsters and some adults of Antioch Baptist Church recently participated in a renewal conference at Sioux Falls College in Sioux Falls, South Dakota. Pastor Rev. Eugene H. Williams, accompanied the group.

Revival

Revival services will be held for one week at the Mt. Calvary Baptist Church with Rev. Ernest Dering, evangelist from Lexington, Mississippi, as featured speaker. Services are slated to begin at 7:30 each evening.

Rev. Lonnie Branch, chaplain at the Men's Reformatory at Anamosa, was the speaker at Mt. Calvary's morning services

Mrs. Evelyn Bailey, Mrs. Phyllis Harper and Mrs. Kenneth Douglas.

Mrs. Lorenzo Clark is confined to her home by illness at this writing.

Myra "Sissy" Green

Marie Moody, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bert Moody, Sr., of 1403 East Fifteenth in Des Moines, is a 17-year-old senior at Des Moines East High School.

At East, Moody is taking photo journalism, graphic arts and advanced painting preparing herself for Drake University where she plans to pursue commercial art this fall.

Moody recently entered a pencil drawing of a house in a Scholastic Art Awards Exhibition sponsored locally by Brandeis. Her picture was chosen one of the top five artworks from a collection of 900.

She received a gold key and as a Hallmark nominee, her picture was sent to the national exhibition in

Marie Moody

Chicago early this month. Spending a lot of time drawing, Moody said, "I enjoy drawing portraits the most. People are very interesting, especially, when their state of mind is revealed in the expressions."

Outside of art, Moody is a member of the East High track team where she earned her first varsity letter last year. She is also a member of the pep club, art club, and Student Pride Committee.

She is also active in her church. She belongs to Mount Olive Baptist Church where Rev. H. R. Fields is pastor. She is a member of the junior choir and usher board.

Moody is ranked number 34 in a East High senior class of 456 which puts her in the top ten per cent. She is now preparing for the annual tour of the UN sponsored by the United Nations of Greater Des Moines.

The tour is for high school students chosen on the basis of academic accomplishments, extracurricular activities and a theme written on why they wish to be on the tour.

The tour is scheduled during the spring vacation and the students spend the week in Washington, D.C. and New York City.

Well, it looks as if the school year came early for some black students at Des Moines Tech High School. They are the Tech High January graduates.

Out of the whole class of 1976, there were 52 seniors who graduated at the end of the first semester. Being a January graduate means you just do not come to school, but you participate in the commencement exercises in June. For Tech students commencement is May 25.

Ten of the 56 graduates were black. They are Jessie Adair, Mary Bolden, Jack Bryson, Michael Daniels, Rhonda May, Tina May Berry, Denise McGregory, Galen Smith, Grayce Smith and Debbie Tate.

The senior class also had elections of officers and Denise Eubanks was elected vice president. Eubanks duties will include taking care of and being in charge of the senior prom and other social events.

The executive board thinks of ideas and the class votes on them. Anita Brown, Lynette Haynes, Brenda Jenkins and Pam Rumley are members.

Around Roosevelt

By Shelia Carson

Larry Fowler, 18, of 677 Twenty-sixth Street in Des Moines attends Roosevelt High School. The senior played halfback on the Rider football team.

He has earned many honors in football. Fowler was selected as a member of the all-metro first team, and served as co-captain of the Roosevelt football team. His teammates voted him most valuable player.

Among his honors was selection as prep all-American 1975-1976. Recently he was voted Man of the Year, which is an honor that Roosevelt seniors give to the young man who has done the most for the school during his senior year.

In August, Fowler will be playing in the Iowa Shriners' All Star Football Game as a member of the south team.

Fowler, son of Larry G. Fowler, Sr., and grandson of Lafe Fowler said there is a possibility that he will be going to the University of Iowa but he's not sure.

He plans to major in mortuary science or liberal arts. Along with playing football, Fowler also runs track. Last year he was on Roosevelt's 440 relay team that went to state. This year he plans on running on the 440 and 880 relay teams.

Warner Brothers Records showcased its complete roster of black talent (over a four-day weekend) at the Beacon Theatre recently. The highlight of the four days however, was the classy Ms. Dionne Warwick. It was Dionne's first trip to the city in a long time, taking the SRO (standing room only) audience by surprise. They didn't expect her to be that good. Ms. Warwick was in excellent voice singing all of her old hits, as well as cuts from her new Lp "Track Of The Cat."

Speaking to the crowd before performing "Alfie", she said the tune had been recorded by some forty-five singers around the world. However, smilingly she explained, "I was the only one to make a smash hit out of it." Showing great promise as a dancer Dionne worked the stage like the seasoned professional she is. Cathy's Music Review by

Catherine Campbell

Greetings, during the past few months, I have been somewhat out of communications with the New Iowa Bystander. During my vacation I had a chance to visit Denver, Colorado.

With my mind focused on music, I hunted up the latest sounds. My luck was not so good but thanks to Greg Greenfield, we managed to find every record I was looking for.

After gathering everything, I returned to Des Moines to find the same recordings I hunted for were already here.

The O'Jays' "Family Reunion" is an album that has a little something for everyone, ranging from a religious sound to a type of Marvin Gaye style. The title song should bring back old memories to most of us.

"Theme from S.W.A.T.," recorded by Rhythm Heritage is another one that's bouncing around the top of most record charts. Coming at you with full force, the recording makes you want to pop your fingers, get up and jam a little.

Another finger popping jam is the O'Jays' "I Love Music," which can be purchased on the "Family Reunion" album or on a 45 rpm.

Al Green is back, with his single "Full of Fire," talking about you can dance with the music, you can sing all night long. It has a nice rhythm for bumping or whatever your thing may be.

"Walk Away from Love" is another nice sound. David Ruffin does this tune and if I might add does it very well.

Gladys Knight and the Pips have slowed their beat down quite a bit in "Part Time Love." Gladys raps about needing someone she can lean on and love, someone that digs her just as much. It's a good record for us slow dancers.

Symphonic Soul

Diannah Carroll sings the spiritual "There Is a Balm in Gilead" and conductor James Frazier leads the Festival Symphony Orchestra and the Philadelphia Zion Baptist Church choirs on Symphonic Soul, Monday, April 12 at 9 p.m. on the Iowa Educational Broadcasting Network. The hour-long special is a commemoration of the black contribution to music.

National Theater Company Presents Musical Tribute To Black Entertainers

"Feelin' Good," a musical tribute to the black entertainer in America, will be presented by the National Theater Company at 8 p.m. April 7 in O'Laughlin Auditorium.

The single performance will be sponsored by the Black Studies Program of the University of Notre Dame.

Written by Sean O'Malley and directed by Sue Lawless, the production moves through the history of jazz, the black vaudeville circuit, the black Broadway stage including a parade of music and personalities which span

"Love to Love Ya, Baby" by Donna Summers will probably appeal to the male gender from the start. Going back into time just a touch, you have probably checked out "Gratitude" by Earth, Wind & Fire.

Ramsey Lewis' "Don't It Feel Good" is another dated record, but is still going strong with the hit single "Spider Man." Rufus featuring Chaka Khan is also very popular with the brothers and sisters. The hit single "Sweet Thing" in their latest album has been quite a success.

Barry White as usual has come out with another sure-to-be gold sound. "Let the Music Play" is a sweet album with the title single going strong all by itself.

The Dramatics' "Drama 5" album is one that will put your mind to ease and touch your senses in a delicate manner never done before. "Chocolate Milk" is an album that's a combination of finger popping and very slow music.

Hope I've been of some assistance to you, be sweet, take care of business until next time.

half a century.

From Broadway the performers travel to Harlem's Apollo Theater where practically every black performer of the last fifty years has appeared.

Producers Barry and Fran Weissler selected a young and talented team for their tribute to the entertainer. Cast members are Lillian Harris, Ben Powers, Mychelle Smiley and Ron Taylor, seasoned show business people capable of performing the music and dance numbers that were once a matter of life and death in the struggles, heroism and history of a people.

Author O'Malley is a veteran of four National Theater productions: "The Age of Shaw," "A Connecticut Yankee in King Arthur's Court," "Oliver Twist" and "Celebration USA." Costumes for the presentation are created by Winn Morton who has designed for the Jones Beach Marine Theater as well as numerous regional and Broadway productions.

Tickets will be on sale at the Notre Dame and Saint Mary's offices in the near future.

ALLEN ASHBY

LOOK ON SPORTS

As I watched the girls basketball meet, a fellow asked me why there were so few blacks in the thing. I thought the answer to that was obvious. There just aren't many if any black families living in the towns from which the good teams come. When the big cities get into the meet more, places like Des Moines, Waterloo, Cedar Rapids or Davenport, there is a pretty good chance that there will be some blacks in it. If a couple of our local schools had made it the thing would have had some color in it. And the same can be said of the boys. Unless the bigger schools make it to the state, there won't be many black males.

I never did see the thing of having so many divisions in the boys meet. And I guess that if many of the bigger schools get into the girls meet, they will probably be split up too. In football or track, there might be a need for this division, because of the limited number of players in the small schools. But I can recall when all of the schools were tossed into one hopper, sink or swim, and there were lots of times when schools with barely enough boys to make up a squad won it all. That could happen again, and there would be a real champion.

How do we know that a school like Ames or one of the larger places could beat the class A or AA champs? They can play only five men at a time, and fellows in small towns seem to grow just as tall and as big as they do in places like Des Moines. True, larger schools have more to choose from, but it is also true that only ten players from both sides can be on the floor at once. But, since more divisions mean more dough, the various classes will have to exist.

College Happenings

Maybe Iowa State can't play basketball, or Iowa U. can't play football, but by heck, they can wrestle. They came up as the two top mat teams in the nation, and they had people we know on each team. Time was when blacks were discouraged from trying out for wrestling in the major schools.

There was a fellow who had a wrestling scholarship to the old Des Moines University in his pocket, but a difference of opinion with the admitting officer kept him from attending the school. He was supposed to be the first black college wrestler in Iowa, and was considered to be a certain bet to win the Iowa conference 145 title.

There was a fellow at Iowa State named Bannister who was a middleweight. It was said that he beat the varsity matmen in weights from 155 - 175, but they wouldn't let him on the team. But that was so many years ago, that it doesn't even count now. Now it looks as if black wrestlers are here to stay.

Here at home

I was glad to learn that the fuss about Dowling in the Metro Conference is over. I really believe that the thing that makes the Maroons tough is the spirit we used to have at East High. There it was Lee Township against the world, and to hell with the world.

Dowling seems to have some of that attitude, especially when it comes to local schools. At East, if you made the varsity football team you played in front of your big brother, your uncle, maybe your dad and other relatives, and they all criticized your game. So you know you had to play well. Don't know if it is permissible now, but in the pre-season practices, several of the alumni used to come out and practice against the varsity to help get them ready.

I bet Dowling grads would like to do that if they were allowed to. There is that community pride in the team that I wonder if some of the other schools have. Not the pupils, but the people who live around the school. The football program at the Maroon school is the result of dedication and hard work. The other schools must work hard also, but I wonder if the coaches can handle the fellows with the iron hand that Williams seems to have at Dowling. Would the fellows take it or resent it?

Those are some of the things that the other schools must do in order to catch up to the Dowling football program. But there is another factor. Great teams run in cycles. At one time it was East dominating the scene in football, then North and later Roosevelt. But they all fell by the wayside, and it just might be that the law of attrition will catch the Maroons.

Miles College Wins NCAA Division III Southern Regionals

Miles College Bears won the NCAA Division III Southern Regional title over Transylvania University 87-85.

Stanley Jamieson, senior guard for the Bears, needed no help as he swished a 12-foot jump shot with three seconds left to give Miles the win. Jamieson's shot capped a furious second half that saw 15 ties and 10 lead changes.

The shot made by Stanley ended Transylvania's perfect home mark in NCAA tournament play.

Transylvania had taken its last lead at 85-84 on a pair of Wendell Gividen free throws with 1:17 to play. The Bears then ran 65 seconds off the clock before calling time out with 12 seconds left.

After the basket Transy called their fourth timeout with two seconds left and then called their fifth before inbound the ball. After the fifth timeout, Transy inbounded the ball but signaled for a sixth timeout, one over the maximum. This was a technical foul and Jamieson made the free throw for the final margin.

Jamieson got 18 of his team's high — 28 points in the second half as the Bears defensively. Eugene Berry, who had shot 35 points against the University of the South-Sewanee, ended with 18 points against Transy and was voted the MVP of the tournament. Scoring honors went also to Leroy Merritt who finished with 15 points and William Thigpen for 4 points.

The Bears will play Whittenburg in the quarter-finals in Springfield, Ohio. If they are victorious they will move on to Reading, Pennsylvania to participate in the NCAA Division III finals.

Ali Defends Title

Muhammad Ali will defend his world heavyweight boxing title against third-ranked Jimmy Young in a scheduled 15-round bout in the Capital Centre April 30, Abe Pollin, chairman of the arena board disclosed last week.

Pollin said he would promote the bout and Don King, who has promoted recent fights for Ali, would act as matchmaker. He declined to say how much the champion would receive.

Young (16-4-2) scored his biggest triumph over Ron Lyle, then ranked No. 4, in a 10-round bout in Honolulu, Hawaii.

John Powless who resigned last month in the middle of his eighth year at the Big Ten School after posting only two winning seasons.

Cofield, an assistant at Virginia, signed a five-year contract and will be paid $25,000 his first season.

The 36-year-old Cofield was one of three finalists for the head coaching job at Minnesota last year after Bill Musselman resigned. The Minnesota Human Rights Department is investigating a complaint alleging that the Minnesota school discriminated against Cofield in hiring Jim Dutcher. Cofield did not make the complaint.

Cofield, a native of Carrier Mills, Ill., has named his coaching assistant, William Ryan, who is a head coach at Sun Valley High School in Brookhaven, Pa.

Baha'is Celebrate New Year's Day

A new year begins for members of the Baha'i Faith on March 20, the first day of spring and the beginning of the year 133 B.E.

The letters B.E. mean Baha'i Era; the Baha'i calendar dates from the time of the religion's origin in 1844 in Iran. Since that date, the Baha'i Faith has been established in over 300 countries and territories.

For the Baha'is, New Year's Day is a holy day. Baha'is all over the world call it by its Persian name, Naw-Ruz, and it is one of the nine Baha'i holy days on which Baha'is suspend work. The Baha'is of Des Moines will meet in the Assembly Hall of the Iowa Power and Light Co., 9th and Walnut at 6:30 p.m. on Saturday, March 20, to celebrate Naw-Ruz.

There will be a potluck supper followed by a program and music and will be open to all.

"All should rejoice together," the sacred Baha'i writings say of this festival which reflects the essential joyousness of the Baha'i Faith. Founded by Baha'u'llah, the glory of God, the Baha'i Faith recognizes the oneness of God and of the creation of God. According to the Baha'i teachings, the human family has been educated over the ages by manifestations of God such as Jesus Christ, Moses, Buddha, Krishna, Muhammad, Zoroaster, the Bab and Baha'u'llah.

Naw-Ruz has a special significance for the Baha'is because they feel that Baha'u'llah and his herald, the Bab, ushered in a new age, a spiritual springtime in which man will reach maturity and establish a peaceful world civilization. The seeds planted by the love and sacrifice of all the divine educators will blossom in this day, Baha'is believe.

"That which the Lord hath ordained as the sovereign remedy and mightiest instrument for the healing of all the world is the union of all its peoples in one universal cause, one common Faith," wrote

Baha'u'llah. Because of his teachings, Baha'u'llah, who was born to a wealthy family, was stripped of all his wealth, jailed, tortured, and exiled. His wife, children and many of his followers suffered with Him. He died in exile in Palestine in 1892. The world center of the Baha'i Faith is in Haifa, Israel, on Mount Carmel, across the bay from the tomb of Baha'u'llah.

Despite those persecutions, Baha'u'llah wrote many volumes in which are contained such principles as the equality of men and women, the harmony of science and religion, the need for the elimination of all forms of prejudice.

Baha'is are enjoined to pray daily, develop kindness and courtesy, and refrain from gossip because it destroys unity. The future world order, Baha'u'llah wrote, will have a world court, an international auxiliary language, universal compulsory education, and a uniform monetary system.

By following these principles, Baha'is are guided to a new way of life. They use the principles when they consult together, for there is no clergy in the Baha'i Faith and all authority comes from elective, consultative bodies.

The rhythm of Baha'i life is guided by a new calendar. Based on the solar year, the calendar consists of 19 months of 19 days each (361 days). The remaining days (four in ordinary and five in leap years) are Intercalary Days, dedicated to hospitality, gift-giving, and charitable activities.

Each of the 19 months is named for an attribute of God: Glory, beauty, perfection, grace, justice, mercy, and others. Each month begins with a gathering called a feast, which is a time for prayer, community consultation and joyous fellowship.

The calendar and these principles, upheld by faith in the singleness of God and in the authority of Baha'u'llah as God's messenger for this age, knit Baha'is of every

Family Members Honor Wade With Dinner, Party

Saturday, March 13, Mr. and Mrs. Hollie Cherry and the Wades held a second soulful dinner, at Logan Opportunity Center.

The dinner was for Charles W. Wade, Sr., the day before he was to be ordained as a deacon at Union Baptist Church.

A total of 73 persons were present including Rev. and Mrs. H. I. Thomas and family, Rev. and Mrs. H. R. Fields, Wade's children, sister, brothers, nieces, nephews, grandchildren, in-laws and many friends. On Sunday, March 14, after the ordination service and Wade was ordained as a deacon, a surprise gift was presented to him at the home of his daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Cherry. Family members and friends left the church for the Cherry residence to be there before Mrs. Elisanetta Cherry and Wade arrived, which was part of the surprise.

As Wade and Mrs. Cherry entered the door, the surprise was set up, which consisted of a money tree, made by Richard Delaney (grandson) and decorated with money that was donated from family members and friends.

There was a beautiful yellow and white cake with a big cross in the center. Decorative writing read "Congratulations, Deacon Charles Wade." His grandchildren gave him cards and posters they made for him and he also received other cards.

Coffee and cake were served. The family sat around and had a joyful reunion.

And now a look at the local news.

When it comes to local reporting of the news, eight out of ten people turn to their local newspaper for a complete report.

People turn to local newspapers for a full report on all local news. Where's the fire? Who got married? Who won last week's football game? All this, and a complete report on your City Council, school board meeting, or a possible bond issue, is news in your community. And, your local newspaper reports it.

People believe strongly in newspapers for several reasons: newspaper reading is a habit with most people; it's part of the daily routine; people regard their newspaper as a friend they can't do without.

With over 80% of all adults, and 70% of all teen-agers reading a newspaper every week, no other news medium can match local newspapers for speedy, thorough saturation of your town.

what today's consumer needs... a banker to bank on

At Bankers Trust, we'd like you to know us on a first-name basis. That's why we're introducing a new concept called Consumer Banking. From now on, a member of our Consumer Banking staff will be available to help you with your personal financial planning.

Our Consumer Bankers will explain bank services and help you make the best use of them. For instance, they'll acquaint you with our MoneyManager program — a Bankers Trust service that helps you save money, while you're earning money! To qualify for the MoneyManager program, you simply maintain a balance of $500 or more in a Bankers Trust savings account. You receive eight additional banking services free! These services include free checking, a free safe deposit box (where available), free travelers checks and preferred rates on consumer loans.

Speaking of loans, your Consumer Banker will be on hand to give you valuable advice about borrowing money. He can help you when you decide to borrow for any important purchase — whether it's a new car, home improvement, or a special vacation.

Stop in soon at one of our offices and ask to meet your Consumer Banker. Then get to know him . . . or her . . . on a first-name basis.
