Charles Knox Founds Hampton Law College

by Eleanora E. Tate

A Chicago, Ill., college of law named in honor of the slain chairman of the Illinois chapter of the Black Panther Party has been founded by a former Des Moines resident.

The college is the Fred Hampton Community College of Law, 4545 S. Drexel Blvd. in Chicago, and its founder and president is Charles Knox, one of Des Moines' most widely known exponents and achievers of Black consciousness.

The college that Charles

Knox has founded is not another starts-a-dream-stays-a-dream-idea, as have been many so-called projects that Black people have attempted, however.

The college, whose classes are scheduled to begin Sept. 20, will provide a "comprehensive, 33-month (three-year) program" for law students, as well as a program for "para-legals."

It has more than 30 Black Chicago lawyers who will serve as volunteer teachers, and the resources of Black lawyers from throughout the country for its lectures.

A dedication and community awards banquet will precede its formal opening at the Hyatt Regency Hotel in downtown Chicago Sept. 18, with U.S. Representative Ronald Dellums (Dem., California) as guest speaker.

In addition, Joeanna Cheatom of Des Moines will be given a community award at the banquet for "outstanding community leadership" through her work in the bail-bond area in Des Moines.

The Fred Hampton Community College of Law is sponsored by the National Conference of Black Lawyers, a national organization of Black lawyers founded in 1969, and their sponsorship makes the college "the first ever to be sponsored by a national Black legal association," said Knox.

Charles Knox received his law degree from DePaul University in Chicago. He teaches at Northeastern Illinois University in Chicago and is also co-chairperson of the Chicago branch of the Black lawyers association.

The namesake of the college — Fred Hampton — was killed by police in a so-called "raid" in 1969. Hampton's dream, to become "an attorney for his people," was not fulfilled.

But his hope for other Black people to become lawyers is being carried out through the efforts of Brother Knox and the National Conference of Black Lawyers, efforts that "officially" began in 1974 when Knox received the

Saturday Swim Class

Registration for free Saturday morning swimming classes will be held at the six Des Moines high schools at 9 a.m. Saturday (Sept. 11).

Officials of the Des Moines Public Schools said classes will be held for all levels of swimmers, from beginning to advanced.

The classes are open to boys and girls living in the Des Moines School District. School officials said children must be tall enough to stand in the shallow end of the pool.

Fred Hampton Scholarship Award.

"I announced that within two years there would be a law school named after Fred in the city of Chicago," said Knox, who founded the Des Moines chapter of the Black Panther Party in 1969.

But as far back as Black Panther days in Des Moines, Knox said that he recognized the need for Black people to develop and control their own institutions, like the Panther breakfast programs, and its preschool operated here at one time.

Tuition for the law school is $800 a year. Most students will be recruited by community organizations. The college has received "operating approval" from the Illinois Office of Education, and is applying for accreditation from the American Bar Association.

Persons who wish to attend the Fred Hampton Community College of Law dedication and awards banquet may send tax-deductible checks or money orders to the National Conference of Black Lawyers, 111 W. Washington St., Suite 1915, Chicago, Ill., 60602.

Tickets for the event, which also includes a dance, are $25 each. Tickets for the dance only are $5 each. Persons who wish to reserve a table for 10 may do so for $200.

Candidates Divided on Issues

Heat is being generated over the issue of declining enrollment and subsequent closure of schools whose enrollment drops to less than 65%, in the election race for two Des Moines School Board seats.

The six candidates, including two incumbents, are evenly divided into two camps over the issue of failing enrollment.

Three of the candidates, Shirley Brown, Angel Cordona and Marjorie Spevak, felt that it would be necessary to close down some schools, citing as one instance the fixed cost of maintaining a school whose enrollment had declined would leave less money to pay instructors.

Karen Williams, Ora Niffenigger and Harry B. Wagoner, Jr., felt that it would not be necessary, noting the possibility of detrimental effects that the closing of a school would have on the community.

The candidates running for the two three year terms on the Des Moines School Board are: Shirley Brown of 4143, Ovid, Angel Cordona, of 332 Fleetwood Drive, Marjorie Spevak of 5316 Woodland Road, Karen Williams, of 1712 69th St., Harry B. Wagoner, Jr., of 3701 E. 38th Court and, Ora Niffenigger (Incumbent), of 2019 46th St.

Peace Efforts In Africa Are Essential

Apparently, the tension between blacks and whites in Rhodesia and South Africa has become so difficult that something must be done to ease the situation.

Several years ago the United Nations passed a resolution condemning South Africa for its total exclusion of blacks from participating in the government or any institutions that would improve their education and economic standing.

The idea of armed conflict between the two is ridiculous because the whites have the modern weapons of warfare while the blacks are armed with spears, sticks and rocks which is a reminder of Italy's conquest of Ethiopia during the second world war. If you do have guns.

Secretary Kissinger has attempted to bring the two sides together in an effort to work out a peaceful solution. And the solution, of course, must be practical.

It would be foolish to expect the natives of Rhodesia or South Africa to take over the governments because they have not been able to secure sufficient training and experience to carry on orderly administration. It must be gradual.

In his effort to work out a settlement Kissinger has solicited assistance of France and West Germany and they have agreed to participate. Many countries have some interest in Africa and any continued upheaval between the blacks and whites is bound to have a repercussion among the races of other states in Africa.

I hope Kissinger's program succeeds as any peaceful settlement is bound to add to the tranquility of nations.

Running For President Develops Restraint

When Huey Long, was a United States Senator from Louisiana, he had the habit of using the word "nigger" in his speeches. This, of course, was obnoxious to many people and a disgrace to the senate itself, which prides themselves as the great august body on earth.

However, he soon got the idea in his head of running for president and began to build up an organization for his campaign.

During one of his bombastic addresses in the senate he proceeded as usual in his vitriolic attitude toward Negroes. A close friend reminded the senator that he could not afford to use such language in the senate since he was running for president. The senator took his friends advice and in subsequent speeches used the word "nigro" in his effort to say Negro.

Not to compare Governor Carter with such indiscretions it turns out that his house man has lived across the road from his mansion in a run down shack for many years. Apparently, reminded that he is running for president, the shack has been torn down and the house man moved to better quarters. (Nobody seems to admit who tore it down or paid the owner for the shack).

Without comparing the two men (Governor Carter is highly respected by the Negroes of Georgia) someone forgot to remove the shack from across the street from Carter's mansion until he became a candidate for president.

Big Crime Prevention Fund Proves A Failure

In 1967 the Nixon Administration created the Law Enforcement Administration in an effort to help states, counties and cities fight the continued rise in the crime rate. Four billion dollars has been funnelled through that group.

In spite of the expenditure of this large amount of money, the crime rate has continued. A group called the Center For National Security Studies has found that it has been a total failure, beyond repair and should be abolished.

Like most of the funds dished out to local governments to cure a problem, much of it has been spent for unrelated services and material. Much of it has been used to increase salaries of public offices and to add more employees to staffs that have little idea about the problems for which they are hired.

Last week the mayor of Detroit, Michigan, appealed to the public to help curb the crime situation because young gangs have gotten out of hand. Some claim this is due to the dismissal of a thousand police officers. Other cities are plagued with the same problem, more or less, and yet New York City, which released two thousand policeman, in an effort to save money, has had no more crime than before.

On the other hand, Detroit is plagued with a series of young blacks who operate in gangs, often with the assistance of seniors who direct their operations.

Like wars, which seldom settle anything permanently, money spent on law enforcement should at least make the detection and punishment for crime more efficient and, also operate so as to create respect for law and order. These things don't eliminate the necessity of bringing up youngsters so that they respect not only themselves but others likewise.

Most people recognize that our crime situation today develops out of permissiveness in our homes, our businesses and churches and the idea built up that liberty is a permit to disregard the rights and property of other people.

The future looks bad when these youth gangs become of age.

However, strong law enforcement which builds respect of law by the public and by the criminals will go a long ways to help reduce the crime rate in this country.

Mention of the name Charles Knox evokes many responses, maybe good, if one is Black; maybe bad, if one is white; maybe good AND bad if one is not sure.

His activities in Des Moines during the 1960s and early 1970s mobilized both races one way or another, and made him a legend, at least in Des Moines.

Knox, founder of the Des Moines Black Panther Party chapter in 1969 (becoming the first Panther chapter in the country to become incorporated as well) attacked the policies and attitudes of both the white power structure and those who represented certain negative aspects of the so-called Black leadership.

He certainly got his share of the new media's time—even though he says he has never granted an interview to any of the media in Iowa.

The press, according to Brother Knox, "has really distorted my efforts toward Black people and building the community. They were particularly disturbed by anyone who wanted to determine their own destiny."

Here, for the first time, is the result of an interview Brother Knox granted in Des Moines Tuesday afternoon. His remarks to this writer were concerned with the need for the development and control of Black institutions, particularly the Fred Hampton Community College of Law in Chicago, which he founded and serves as president.

"We're talking about forging ahead, building the kinds of institutions that can be reflective not only of the community, but also that will begin to arm the community with an arsenal for defense and protecting that given community.

"Our attempt will be to build institutions throughout the midwest. You have to get control of and establish your own institutions. It is no different from what the immigrants did in this country before. It shouldn't be something that's necessarily novel. Frankly, it is the only way that immigrants have been able to survive in this country, and our (Black) status in this country is no different.

"This is a new day—a new day relative to institution building. I think that what we'll begin to see is young people coming forth, using their energies in a very positive way... (and) in a very forceful way.

"We're not just talking about Chicago, so they might as well get ready for us because we're going to be hitting all over the midwest. There will be a college here and there and everywhere else. It's going to be a major thrust with the National Conference of Black Lawyers, along with other kinds of community organizations.

"We will provide the consulting and the expertise.

"Here is a mechanism for those people (who wish to become lawyers) to use their skills. Heretofore such mechanisms did not exist. When others received the training in traditional settings, they went outside of the

"Serious Problems" for Evaders

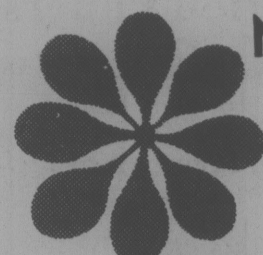

I wish to bring attention to an important workshop at Drake University, Medbury Hall, Saturday, September 11th, at 10 AM.

This workshop will offer three important areas in urgent need of better understanding about the serious problems facing men who resisted the Viet Nam war as exiles, deserters and those who went to prison as conscientious objectors. We who are members of minorities have a special concern for those who received less than honorable discharges.

Such discharges are life sentences to low paying, temporary, dead-end jobs. How are we to understand a greater concern for Viet Nam refugees than for Americans in exile and in prisons now that the war has ended?

Congress must be urged to pass legislation which will correct many injustices and wrongs. We need to know all the facts in order to decide how to cast our votes in the coming presidential election. The workshop is an opportunity to get the whole picture of why amnesty is the only solution to so complex and far reaching a problem.

Older Women Face Special Job Problems

The labor force participation rate of women 45 years of age and older has risen dramatically since 1950, while the rate for men in the same age bracket has persistently declined, according to a study now available from the Women's Bureau of the U.S. Labor Department.

"Mature Women Workers: A Profile" also reports that mature women working full-time, year-round in 1974 earned an average of $7,773, or about half that of men in the same age range.

Barbara Wald, regional head of the Women's Bureau in Kansas City, said that the study reveals the particular problems of older women then seek to return to work. With rusty or outmoded skills, little or no experience, who have been absent from the labor force because of family responsibilities and inadequate counseling and lack of job contacts, these women often must settle for low-skilled and low-paying jobs with little chance of advancement.

"They Had a True Sense of Stewardship" was the title of the lesson Reverend Jacob Reed brought us last Sunday. How many of us are willing to give away all that we have as the first century Christians did in Acts 4:32? God has given us all that we have, our health, our wealth, our talents. How much of what He gives do we return to Him? How much do we use for His glory and not our own glory?

Sunday school is at 10:30 with worship services at 11:30. The Book of Acts is taught every Sunday evening at 7:00. Prayer meeting is every Wednesday evening at 7:00. Sewing class is Saturday at 2:00. A thought to remember, How much do we give to God?

"But for the three years when they're (students) in the Fred Hampton law school, at least during the summers they'll have to do internships in community organizations. Then we will try to encourage the community to make that person accountable, so that you have a total community thrust as opposed to a separate entity, a mystique over here, a law school, without the community being involved.

"That is why our law school sits right in the community, and that is why we want to demystify that whole institutional process. We have brought our skills back and we will train other people to use their skills in the same way.

"Then the community becomes involved with either boycotting the person because he in fact is not accountable, or at least would have no credibility in a given community so that he can't be appointed to certain kinds of boards as representatives of Black people.

"I think we need that kind of thing within our community. Our constituencies need to know that WE ARE accountable — and not above them. When it comes to relating to their problems. It is their problems that give us (lawyers) motion, development and movement. Without their particular problems that exist, there would be no need for our involvement.

"We can't just turn our backs on the community. We, in fact, have to become a part of, and accountable to, the community.

"But it's not just us lawyers. It should be all Blacks who should in fact consider themselves representatives of and accountable to the community.

"And because of the racism in this country, you in fact, are a representative, whether you want to be or not."

DAVENPORT

Visiting in Davenport this past week was Ms. Loretta Striplin from St. Louis, Missouri. Loretta is the great niece of Alethea Freeman and Hattie Buckner, both long time residents of Davenport and members of Bethel AME Church.

Also Marietta and John Payton had the pleasure of having their son, Bobby and daughter-in-law Blanche, visiting with them. Bobby and Blanche and their two sons now reside in Rochester, Minnesota.

Helen Williams of Rock Island, Ill., was feted with an open house on the afternoon of Sunday, August 22nd. The lovely affair was held at Martin Luther King Center, Rock Island. Helen is moving to Tucson, Arizona to be with some of her relatives and enjoy her retirement. There were many friends who joined in wishing her retirement out in Tucson to be a happy one. She received a money tree, lovely cards plus many, many good wishes from her friends.

Ms. Alberta Crump and her daughter, Lisa, just recently returned from Chicago where they spent time with Ms. Crump's older daughter, Cathy, who is a well known singer around many areas. Cathy is now appearing in Miami, Florida and plans to travel to Las Vegas in the near future. Cathy is the granddaughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Julius Collins, Davenport.

Sympathy to NAACP

I would like to make a comment about something I witnessed firsthand at the Iowa State Fair this year. It is my understanding that the Des Moines Branch of the NAACP sponsored the exhibit of Mr. George Norman's BLACK ODDYSSEY. If so, you are indeed to be commended in bringing such a brilliant display of knowledge and understanding to the people who lack those qualities.

It is hard to understand how a group of intelligent individuals could have the foresight to bring Mr. Norman's BLACK ODDYSSEY to the people of Iowa and never officially go to see him and his exhibit themselves. Also, he was led to understand that there would be reliable help for him at all times, and it seems that, through some mixup there were very few people who were able to help Mr. Norman in the way he needed, which was to present themselves in an understanding manner.

There were a few exceptions, which was to your benefit, and to theirs I'm sure. This was the loss of those who could have been there, and my gain, because when I was first there he needed help and I was able to spend some time helping him. For this I would like to thank you, as it was a real joy to be around Mr. Norman and to hear him talk about his deep understanding of our true brotherhood with all mankind.

Mr. Sherwood Brown was one of the fine exceptions, and I feel sure he would agree with me. I would like to extend my sympathy to all the adult members of the Des Moines NAACP for missing your chance to enjoy Mr. Norman's friendship.

I think I would be more than a little ashamed if it had been my responsibility to have help for such a distinguished person and to have left him alone for several days without a chance to have a meal from 9:00 AM to at least 9:00 PM.

IN THE UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT FOR THE SOUTHERN DISTRICT OF IOWA CENTRAL DIVISION PRE-TRIAL STIPULATION CIVIL NO. 74-1-1

MARION EDWARD WILLIAMS, Plaintiff,

vs. PAUL H. CREWS, Individually and as Secretary, Director of the State of Iowa, Board of Pharmacy Examiners, et al., Defendants.

Marion Williams has been charged twice with failure to maintain proper records in the District Court of Polk County.

The first case was a case of first impression in Iowa. Despite the following opinion expressed by the United States Circuit Court, Eighth Circuit, on the merits of the case:

"We would be most reluctant initially to construe Section 204.9 in the context of a criminal prosecution as requiring Petitioner during the last half of 1966 to keep records of his acquisitions and sales of 'class X' drugs in the absence of a specific requirement from the Board of Pharmacy that he and other similarly situated do so. We think that it is certainly arguable that the 'in every case' requirement of the statute means simply that 'in every case' in which the Board requires records to be kept they must reveal certain information. And it seems to us that this may perhaps have been the interpretation that the Board itself, the agency charged with administration of the statute, put upon it."

The Iowa courts imposed the maximum sentence on Williams and he was sent to Fort Madison.

Several years later, Williams was again charged with the same crime by the State of Iowa, and a jury found him not guilty. At the same time, he was charged by the United States with a related crime and was found not guilty.

As a result of these numerous prosecutions and the investigations and arrests that accompany them, Williams has been ruined financially. The business he once enjoyed has been lost, and with it, the real estate in which it is located. Further harassment by state officials has followed Williams to his present employment where his current employer is constantly harassed by state officials.

It is Williams' claim that the Defendants in this lawsuit were the controlling persons involved in all of the acts set forth above and that the motivation for such acts against Williams is his color. There can be no question that state action is involved and that such action has resulted in financial damage to Williams. The two principal issues in the trial are:

(1) Were the acts of the Defendants against Williams wrongful; and

(2) Were such acts against Williams a result of his color?

In order to prove that such acts were wrongful and were made as a result of his color, Williams will prove the following facts:

(1) That the Board of Pharmacy in 1968 had a policy that "lack of adequate records" was not serious enough on a first offense to file a criminal charge as provided by law, and it was decided by the Board the least possible penalty which could be imposed would be a seizure action of all controlled drugs. The Board concluded with its statement, "You must keep better records." This policy was not followed in the Williams case. Pre-hearing conferences were being afforded to pharmacists on drug violations as early as January, 1967.

(2) That more than one hundred pharmacies had serious and gross record keeping violations between 1967 and 1973. Thirty-seven were given pre-hearing conferences and given reprimands and nothing was done to the others. The two black pharmacists were turned over to the County Attorney for prosecution.

(3) That "Class X" audits were made only in cities with sizable black populations, and then only of pharmacies located near black neighborhoods: Des Moines (5); Cedar Rapids (6); Waterloo (8); Davenport (6); Ft. Madison (3); Burlington (4); and Dubuque (4).

(4) Evidence will show that Paul Crews was acting in concert with the Board of Pharmacy in the area of who was audited and who was prosecuted.

(5) That the Board of Pharmacy and Paul Crews attempted to deny Plaintiff right to livelihood by refusing to issue Plaintiff's employer a state controlled substances license.

(6) That Plaintiff was the only pharmacist in the state of Iowa ever to be prosecuted on behalf of Board of Pharmacy for failure to keep proper records.

(7) That Board of Pharmacy and Paul Crews maliciously suggested an injunction against Plaintiff prohibiting him from selling drugs during the period of time his conviction was being appealed.

(8) That the Board of Pharmacy and Paul Crews were not satisfied with Plaintiff's conviction and during his appeal attempted to have his professional license suspended or revoked and his business license suspended or revoked.

(9) That Plaintiff was not only never given a pre-hearing conference, but was never communicated with either verbally or in writing by the Board concerning the abuse or potential abuse of "Class X" drugs.

(10) Paul Crews stated that complaints about the abuse of codeine containing cough syrups were received for Des Moines and Fort Dodge, Iowa. He further stated that the fad was halted by the issuance of stern warnings to pharmacists that they could face legal action. Of all the "Class X" audits, none were conducted in Fort Dodge and the complaints about two Fort Dodge pharmacies were cleared up with a warning, Crews said.

(11) That in December of 1968 during Plaintiff's appeal, Paul Crews and the Board refused to issue Plaintiff a pharmacy license. Only by having the Governor of Iowa intercede was the Board forced to issue Plaintiff a license to operate his business.

(12) That the Board of Pharmacy never contacted Plaintiff subsequent to the date of audit (1967) to inform him that his record of purchases of cough syrups appeared to be incomplete. Plaintiff's first knowledge of this was upon his indictment one and one-half years after audit. The Board intentionally misled Plaintiff by renewing Plaintiff's pharmacist license twice during the interim between the audit and Plaintiff's indictment.

(13) In the interim between the January, 1967, audit and his indictment one and one-half years later, Plaintiff had strongly criticized the Des Moines City Council, Police Department and in addition, had sued a Des Moines police officer for false arrest. That case was settled in favor of the Plaintiff.

(14) That Williams was treated differently than other pharmacists, drug wholesalers and others handling controlled substances; and many examples of this differing treatment appear in the Records of the Board of Pharmacy maintained by Paul Crews. Some of those cases are:

(a) That the D.M. Drug Co. audit of January 24, 1969, indicated gross violations and diversion of controlled substances to businesses and institutions not licensed under law; even made sales to the State Executive Council. Drugs sold consisted of "uppers and downers". Only action taken was letter of reprimand and seizure of 69,950 pills. That audit of D.M. Drug Co. revealed shortages of "uppers and downers" totaling 137,300 pills, which also reflects obvious diversion since no thefts were reported and no action was taken by the Board against this firm.

(b) That an audit of the Hilltop Medical Clinic in 1967 shows glaring discrepancies and purchases of "uppers" amounting to 28,600 pills in less than a two-year period, but no prosecution was initiated.

(c) That in the case of a "white" pharmacist with fifteen more serious charges, the Board merely filed a Petition in State Court to have the "white" pharmacist's license revoked.

(d) That the Whitaker Pharmacy, 1103 Army Post Road, Des Moines, Iowa, was inspected by Thomas Hill on November 10, 1972. Of the many Controlled Substances Chapter violations, the only action taken by the Board was another prehearing conference. Mr. Hill stated the following concerning this pharmacy: "Their general attitude towards our inspection and inspector was not friendly. It appears there is an attitude of indifference and that the law is oppressive and impossible to implement." and "They have received previous written and verbal inspection deficiency reprimands."

(e) That after June 30, 1967, hospital pharmacist, Winifred Mote, and Hospital Administrator Ingersoll of Broadlawn Polk County Hospital filled hundreds of narcotic prescriptions illegally through the use of unlicensed interns and without the required federal narcotic license. This pharmacy filled approximately 80,000 outpatient prescriptions a year. Four registered pharmacists worked in this pharmacy, and the Board took no action against anyone.

(f) That on February, 1968, the Sheriff of Black Hawk County informed the Pharmacy Board of a "white" Waterloo pharmacist selling prescription drugs illegally. Paul Crews took no action and the Sheriff turned the facts over to the County Attorney and obtained a search warrant, which revealed said pharmacist had thousands of drugs in his possession. The Board decided a year later to give the pharmacist a ninety day suspension of his license.

(g) That Paul Crews personally witnessed pharmacy law violations in two "white" pharmacies in Des Moines and the only action he took was to invite them in for pre-hearing conferences and give verbal reprimands.

(h) That during August and September of 1967 three Des Moines pharmacies, King's, Seneca, and Hammer were all found to be violating pharmacy laws by a Special Employee of the Pharmacy Board. Mr. Kenefick and Mr. Hughes both signed notices of suspension of pharmacy business license, however, at a pre-hearing conference nothing more than a verbal reprimand was given.

(i) That the second Williams investigation and prosecution was based on Williams' frequent purchases of Dolophine HCL tablets as shown by review of official order forms. However, in 1969 the Reppert Pharmacy, 3501 Ingersoll, Des Moines, Iowa, sold one person 4,603 doses of Demerol, a dangerous narcotic, and 1,800 doses of Demerol to another person the same year, for a total of 6,403 doses in twelve months. Forker Pharmacy, 25th and Forest, Des Moines, Iowa, was also involved in this case.

(j) That on or about January, 1971, at least nineteen practitioners and twenty-two pharmacies were involved in the illegal dispensing of 3,498 50 MG tablets of Demerol, a narcotic drug, to one person. No action was taken by the Board.

(k) That Thomas D. Hill did on or about October, 1972, conspire with Paul Crews and the Board of Pharmacy to cause an unnecessary in depth audit of Williams' Pharmacy, knowing full well they had given him permission to participate in the MIDAC Methadone program.

(l) That Defendants assisted the County Attorney in filing an information on or about January, 1973, and further prepared an extensive eight page "Review Information" on the Plaintiff for the County Attorney and requested a half day briefing session prior to the trial.

(m) That in the follow-up investigation of invoices at the Iowa Drug Co. it was revealed from their dispensing records that 360 four-ounce bottles of Robit. A.C. had been sold to the Plaintiff but no invoices were able to be found at the Iowa Drug Co.

(n) That in the second prosecution of Williams, no consideration was given to the fact that he had pharmacist employees; however, in the case of a "white" pharmacy in Council Bluffs, the owners were not held responsible for the illegal acts of a pharmacist employee.

(o) That Thomas Hill, Paul Crews, and the Board agreed with Edgerly Drug Co. to place an embargo on Williams' drug purchases.

That the Defendants' response, is in the form of a general denial and a privilege as a result of their position with respect to the actions taken.

A full and complete list of Plaintiff's exhibits will be filed shortly.

LOOK ON SPORTS

The Hilltop closed tennis tournament came to its end last Sunday at Good Park. The thing had dragged out longer than it was supposed to, largely because most of the fellows playing had to work late and couldn't get started to play until 4:30 or 5 in the afternoon.

It was as hotly contested as any of the other ones, and had some added features. The double elimination, besides giving each fellow two chances at the top spot, came up with what I think has to be a record, at least in this meet. I don't know when the winner had to win four sets from the loser.

Dan White had trounced Tony Stingley in the earlier matches and sent him to the loser bracket. Well, the guy with the warped legs fought his way out of that mess and got Dan in the finals. All White had to do was win and the thing was over. But Stingley acted like he came to play and didn't give his opponent a chance in the first set.

In the second set, White almost made it back, but fell short. So they had to go at it again. And again Tony squeezed out the first set, and staved off a rally by White to take the marbles.

If anybody had offered odds that Tony would win four straight sets from White, he would have found no takers. I saw it happen and I didn't believe it.

If I were to try to talk about the game of either player, I would think that Stingley's weakness lies in the fact that he doesn't like to reach for a shot off either hand. This causes him to drop his racket head and net the ball. Then he sometimes hits his overheads hard when he should play them safe and wait for a good shot.

White is too much on the defensive. He must become more aggressive and with his game will be really tough if he can do this. He has to try to put his shots in certain places and move in on them. Maybe next year.

The two finalists faced each other in the doubles finals, and this time Stingley had to win but once to wrap it up. He was paired with Michael Walden and White had young Martin on his side. Well, sir, they went after each other as if they meant it, with Walden and Stingley taking the first seven games. Then Martin and White began to slam balls and collared the next five. So it went at a set apiece. But the team of Tony and Mike pulled out the match after fighting off a furious rally by White and Martin.

On the whole it was a good meet considering the circumstances, and there was a lot of good tennis out there.

And Now

I have been so busy with tennis that I let the football season slip up on me. There isn't much I can say about the local high schools that won't be said by somebody else, but I will try to get in a word edgewise when I can.

For openers we watched Drake drop that one to New Mexico State. This one the Bulldogs really gave away, or at least it looked like that to me. But maybe they were thinking about Iowa State coming up Saturday. This might be a much better game than folks think. Might see you down or up there. Iowa U goes against an Illinois team that would like to prove itself.

I have given the Hawks four games this year, but for the life of me, I don't know which four to pick. But they better not come up with two or three games, or there might be another coach next year.

And then comes the Muhammad Ali brawl with Ken Norton. Lots of folks think Norton might take the champ, but I believe that is wishful thinking. On the two fights I saw of Norton on television, he will have to improve his speed one hundred percent to have a chance. He is tough and will be well conditioned so if it goes the distance, might have a chance to pull it out in the late rounds. And I said might.

Pioneer Bowl in Japan

Tokyo, Japan will be the site of the first American collegiate regular season football game played outside the Western Hemisphere as the Bears of Morgan State University meet the Tigers of Grambling State September 25 in Koraken Stadium, home of the Yomiuri Giants of the Japanese Baseball League.

Henry C. Lattimore, head football coach at Morgan, will be attempting to lead his squad to its first victory over Grambling in eight years and the Bears are promising to add a few new offensive wrinkles in their bid to break the Grambling win streak. This contest will mark Mr. Lattimore's coaching debut with the Bears.

Dubbed the "Pioneer Bowl", the game will be sponsored in connection with the Japanese celebration of the American Bicentennial. The game also marks the growing interest among Japanese in the sport of football. The prominence of Morgan and Grambling sweatshirts, decals and banners, as well as the growth of organized football in Japan, are signs that the sport may quickly become a leading Japanese pastime.

Forty-eight Morgan players, many of whom have never traveled abroad, will make the trip to Tokyo, and Morgan athletic officials are working hard to minimize any effects of "cultural shock" which might hamper the Bears' performance against Grambling.

In addition to making final arrangements on the game contract, Earl Banks, Morgan athletic director and former award-winning Bear football coach, recently returned from a preliminary trip to Tokyo armed with an assortment of aids in understanding Japanese language and culture which were promptly shared with Morgan players.
