"Market Kraze": Art, Entertainment on July 23

"As far as we know, Market Kraze is the first of its kind in Des Moines," said Ruth Ann Gaines—one half of the Gaines-Rhone Productions, the sponsoring organization.

Market Kraze is scheduled to take place Saturday, July 23 from 10:00 a.m. to 5:00 p.m. in downtown Des Moines at 6th and Walnut.

There have been similar events but this is the first time a Black happening has taken place in what is perhaps the busiest section of the downtown shopping area.

The energy involved in getting it all together was "humongous," explained Gaines, "we had to get approval of the City Council, check on licenses and permits, barricades, a source of power—any number of things. And that's before we began contacting people to perform and participate in the market."

"We use the term market loosely," stated Don Rhone, the second half of Gaines-Rhone Productions, "it's more like a block long street fair."

Market Kraze won't cost anything to see," although there maybe an "artist or three" willing to reap the fruits of their labors. And there will definitely be something to see and hear. There will be fall fashions with Claudia Shepherd and Linda Smart, gospel and blues singers, karate and boxing exhibitions M.C'd by Des Moines boxing great Lamont Lovelady.

Market Kraze, is intended

"to give the Des Moines Black community a chance to showcase its talent."

"Normally when something happens in our community it goes no further than our own backyard," Rhone stated. "Since this will take place in the other communities collective front yard we will be able to avoid some of that backyard isolation."

"And," Rhone added, "it's a good thing to bring the whole family to."

Which, nowadays, is rare.

There will be, "about thirteen" Black artists and

VIEWS and REVIEWS by James B. Morris

A Noble Try

Any effort to improve the economic status of Negro women has merit. And Drake University and the Bankers Life Company are to be commended for setting up a program in an effort to do something about it.

As announced in the Bystander last week Drake has secured a grant of $19,000.00 to carry on the program. And the Bankers Life Company has loaned one of its top Negro employees to head the program.

Just what method is to be followed in carrying out the program has not been announced. But experience has shown, particularly by the large number of individuals who secured training under federal programs in recent years, that not only must these people qualify at least as beginners in apprenticeships but also have a place to practice their training, generally has gone to naught.

It seems to me that it would be far better to include men in the program as few jobs are being passed out to them at this time.

For this reason I hope that the program at Drake succeeds to the extent that it will include men as well as women. I also hope that business and labor will do a better job in offering these people opportunity to use what they have learned in these special projects.

Black Miss Universe, Finally

Over the years, even though a Negro woman was one of the judges, no black girl has been chosen Miss America; no black girl has been chosen Miss Universe.

On several occasions black girls have been chosen to represent their states, but none has gone further.

In recent years, an organization has sponsored a Miss Black America contest insisting that no Negro girls would ever be elected as Miss America or Miss Universe. With this I have never agreed as states have chosen some to represent their state and eventually there would be a selection of a black girl for Miss America and as time went on Miss Universe.

This year it was a great surprise to many that a black girl Janelle Commissiong, was named Miss Universe. Her father was born in Venezuela, no doubt of Spanish descent and her mother in Trinidad, one of the islands off Venezuela where there is a large black population. Anyone who observed the show and heard her qualifications will agree that the judges selected a creditable Miss Universe.

A few years ago after the selection of an Asiatic Miss Universe, my grandson stated that was done to improve international relations. Maybe some will say that this was done to create better relationships between the blacks and whites. But for whatever reason the judges made an excellent selection and thus another milestone in the effort to create better relationships between all races and colors.

Excellent Appointment, Excellent Appointees

Governor Robert Ray has made two important appointments in the state government, both Negroes, Dr. Percy Harris of Cedar Rapids to the Board of Regents and Vincent Chapman, of Des Moines, an employee relations representative with the Standard Oil Company, to the State Banking Board. Both are excellent choices and Governor Ray should be congratulated for these selections.

These are high level appointments placing them in spots where high level policies are made which has not been done in the past.

The appointments are excellent examples of according qualified blacks an opportunity to carry their experience to the source of power and responsibility which has long been sought after as a means of improving the economic and political status of Negroes. And it further emphasizes that within our own borders are men and women among Negroes who are qualified to serve in these posts.

Tolerating Causes Of Looting and Pillaging

The blackout in New York City was a tragedy, particularly, in view of the fact that when it came at a time when necessity for power was great.

Millions of dollars were lost in food and other supplies; millions were lost because everything was paralyzed.

Those who witnessed the televised portion of looting and pillaging by hundreds of people in various parts of the city must have realized that it was a disgrace.

School Breakfast: Who Needs It

by Charmayne White
Charmayne White is the coordinator of the American Friends Service Committee's School Breakfast organizing effort.

All children need a good healthy breakfast for many reasons. A few of them are:

- They will feel better
- They will study better
- They won't complain of being tired or having tummy and headaches.

When we adults wake-up in the morning we may be hungry or we may not but we know we have a mid-morning coffee break; children do not have a mid-morning coffee break.

There are many children who don't get breakfast in the mornings for one reason or another. They simply may not be hungry when they first wake-up or some may not have anyone there to fix breakfast because of working parents. Some just can't afford to eat breakfast at home.

Parent Support Needed

The School Breakfast program is a very good program. It not only provides a good nutritional meal, research shows it also enables the child to get a better education.

Still, the Des Moines School System has done little to promote the program. Program Director for the D.M. School System Janice Dudley says that if parents want the program they need to talk to the principal because that's where the decision is made for each school.

Therefore, parents' support is needed to get more breakfast programs going in schools.

Right now there are only 10 Des Moines schools participating, 6 elementary and 4 jr. highs.

Those schools are Cassidy, Dunlap, Edmunds, Douglas Learning Center, King, Logan, Goodrell, Hiatt, Hoyt and Callanan. But Logan will be closing when school begins in August.

A Misunderstood Program

There have been a lot of misunderstandings concerning the breakfast program. The breakfast program is not just for poor children; it is for all children.

The School Breakfast program is like the School Lunch program. It is based on an ability to pay scale. Once a parent fills out an application, it will be reviewed. Then the parent will be notified whether or not the child qualifies for free breakfast or reduced price meals which are 10c.

Children whose families are over the income standards have to pay the full amount which is 20c.

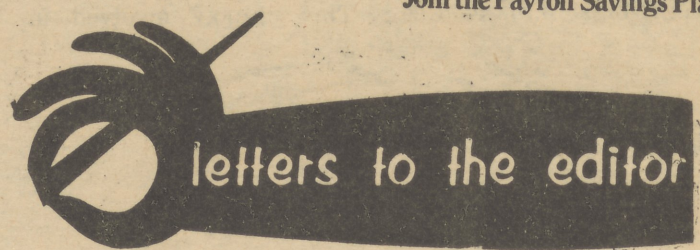

This program can be especially good for the children who ride the buses, because they have to get up so early to catch their bus. So, if you really want to make certain your child gets a good education, why not check into the School Breakfast program.

Report from Iowa - Colorado Club

Hi Des Moines, Iowa:

Well the Iowa-Colorado Club is getting off the ground here in Denver, slow but sure.

We had a very nice Dance at the Airport Hilton - but the turn out was rather spaced. We think our advertising was a little slow.

In the meantime we are not going to give up. Some far range plans for raising funds for the balance of 1977 and the 1978 year are coming up.

LeRoy Humphrey, our President took a quick trip to California to see what and how their Iowa-California Club was doing, hear they had some nice functions this year.

It is so nice to see people in the Club, such as the Anderson Sisters - Gloria - Beverly and Carol. Johnny Colbert - Freddie Oscars to name a few. Be back at you soon.

Frankly, the looting and pillaging seemed to emphasize the low moral thinking of those who took advantage of the darkness and carried away property which did not belong to them and in a manner, in many cases, which can never be replaced.

New York is a great city but too long it has tolerated large areas of economic disadvantage, ignorance, crime and other low standards which are a disgrace to the city and which from one generation to another perpetuates these conditions.

Politicians, both local and national, brag about Harlem and other areas from which they receive their votes and yet seem to do little other than see that they continue on relief. This type of thing must be changed which calls for employment and education so that the moral standards of these people can be built up and learn to rely on their own initiative and earnings rather than depend upon the government for handouts.

Oh yes, I am a proud grandmother for the 9th time. My daughter, Sandie gave birth to a lovely little gal, Teresa Rene who weighed in at 5 lb. 6 oz. July 11th, 1977.

Talent Listed For Iowa State Fair

DES MOINES— Three big rock concerts, appearances by the Captain and Tennille, Dolly Parton, Pat Boone, Henry Mancini, Florence Henderson and Merle Haggard, plus auto races and tractor pulls will highlight the "New Horizons '77" Iowa State Fair, August 18-28.

The three rock groups, all current superstars, are Kansas, the Bay City Rollers and The Beach Boys. The Beach Boys, who appeared at the Iowa State Fair two years ago, broke the all-time attendance record for a Fair concert.

"This year's Iowa State Fair will have an excitement and interest all its own," according to J. D. Taylor, manager. For the past several years, Taylor noted, upcoming Bi-Centennial celebrations and activities "captured everyone's time and attention. Taylor said that has passed and "we're standing on the threshold of a really tremendous future for Iowa. It's a future the Iowa State Fair is ready and eager to share."

Taylor called this year's lineup of Grandstand talent "strong and versatile in appeal." He said every group or performer scheduled to appear is well-known and currently in demand all over the United States and many other parts of the world.

"It's a powerful program," Taylor emphasized, "because there is a type of show suited to everyone's entertainment tastes." He urged people to order reserved tickets as soon as possible, because "we believe they'll be going fast."

The evening lineup for the Grandstand is as follows:

August 18: Dolly Parton at 6 and 8:30 p.m.; August 19: Bay City Rollers at 8 p.m.; August 20: Late Model and Sportsman Stock Car Races at 7:30 p.m.; August 21: Pat Boone Family, 6 and 8:30 p.m.; August 22: Beach Boys, 8 p.m.; August 23: Henry Mancini and Florence Henderson, 6 and 8:30 p.m.; August 24 and 25: Tractor Pulls at 7:30 p.m.; August 26: Captain and Tennille, 6 and 8:30 p.m.; August 27: Late Model and Sportsman

After-thoughts about a summer vacation

Our vacation began with visiting relatives and catching up with our daughter, Linda, in the mornings before she left for rehearsal. We were able to attend the dress rehearsal of the original version of Finian's Rainbow which had not been produced before.

The social comments on segregation had, in the past, been neatly omitted! Their inclusion makes the show much more fun and seem mild in 1977. Our daughter deeply appreciates as much as her parents, the steadfast support and encouragement of Aunt Esther and Uncle Primus who inspire other relatives and friends to see productions off-Broadway as well as on Broadway. Show business has its rough moments.

Norfolk, Va. was our next stop to visit my husband's oldest brother who joined us in a brief visit to the country to meet other relatives. Roots and the ownership of land came up in a most unexpected way.

There is a colony of Mennonites adjoining the farm we visited. The tenant, Mr. Johnson, very upset, explained he had had a visitor claiming to be a genealogist who had traced his roots back to the farm. He informed Mr. Johnson of his lack of a deed causing the tenant to expect eviction.

Johnson explained to us that land developers were pushing the Mennonites to sell. The Mennonites steadfastly refuse. The tenant has neither the right nor the desire. He was reassured that the land would not be put up for sale.

It appears that the genealogist may be a 'hustle' by the realtors who want to build a suburb in Chesapeake, Va. Purchase of the land adjoining the Mennonites would act as additional pressure on them.

We got the impression the South is growing. We were told this is true in the places we visited such as Elizabeth City, Williamston, and Monroe N.C. The next US census may well indicate a shift of population southward.

We travelled by Trailway in North Carolina. There were college students, farmers, women, children, and senior citizens. All were well-dressed. There were no telltale signs of hunger and poverty.

Equally important, person to person relationships across racial lines were pleasant and polite at ticket windows and in the bus station. I still marvel at how completely the change has taken place and wonder why it took so long.

The outlawing of segregation seems to have freed people to be human.

The questions that immediately rise to haunt me — What about the Wilmington 10? What about the fact North Carolina has more Black men on death row than any other state? I'm only reporting what I saw and felt. I once said I could never live in the South. I think I could now. There isn't that much difference anymore.

The rest of our vacation was uneventful, full of peace, quiet and no responsibilities. The best part was no telephone calls interrupting baseball games, meals or sleep! We had a good time. We both agree it's good to be back home even though our twin cats refused to acknowledge our presence for a whole week.

We look forward to a trip to the Museum of Art in Chicago to see the once in a lifetime exhibit of the treasures from Tutankhamon's tomb. The cost of packing, moving, and closely guarding the works of art is so high Chicago is the closest place this exhibit will appear in the Midwest. Make every effort to see it.

Many people were relieved that the B-1 bomber was shelved after much protest. Before there was time to celebrate, something new, something awesome was introduced. The Neutron Bomb. Scientists are explaining the Neutron Bomb. It will kill people without destroying buildings. The Neutron bomb is a small atomic bomb. The radiation will not spread as far. It will cause convulsions, paralyze the nervous system, followed by slow death. Something new, something awesome — property is more important than people — other people. Can it be that our nation is drifting slowly toward first strike.

Poetry

A Star Song

(for Larry)

by CoDean Mitchell

Just in from a hard day of piercing cold stonefaces, taken up and carried along by gentle breezes, that carressed your sunbronzed face, until you are home. Away from the buzz of machine & traffic-light mechanical madnesses, you arrived tired & shaken. Shoes off, a tucked neatly away in a far corner. Just enough time before sleeping to catch up on the evening news, you smile shyly between dinner jokes, sipping coca-cola, and I am away.

From here where I sit encircled by the turquoise splendor of sky and setting amber sun, I touch a small fallen leaf gently, & think of you.

Sundown. Near where you live contented houses huddle together alive and whispering full of secrets like old wives, silhouetting suddenly.

High above you shines the waiting silver of your blinking nightwatch. Naturethings chirp, chant & howl away into the blackness, and you inhale sleep.

Tomorrow the sun will rise & not fail to give light. Peeking behind the charred stretched arms of trees yawning to awake, & break the sky golden with morning, when I think of you, and touch another leaf.

Iowa Masons Elect Ollison Grand Master

Adolph K. Ollison
Grand Master

by Paul V. Best,
Director of Public Relations

The 90th annual communication of the Most Worshipful Prince Hall Grand Lodge of Iowa, F&AM was convened July 14th at the Hotel Burlington, Burlington, Iowa with Sumner Lodge No. 3 serving as host.

With Grand Master Adolph K. Ollison presiding, the Lodge opened in ample form and the dispensation of the business commenced. A prevailing theme eminent throughout the session as expressed by the Grand Master, representing the universal objective of Prince Hall Masons: 'making this world a better place through learning to live as brothers' was very strongly emphasized.

Thursday night, the public reception and banquet was very well attended with his honor Lowell H. Bauer and his wife attending, representatives from the Chamber of Commerce, Ms. Iver J. Bailey, Grand Worthy Matron, OES and other dignitaries and representatives, all indicating best wishes for a most harmonious grand communication.

The most inspiring words of the evening were imparted by keynoter PGM Frank B. Robinson who traced his Masonic roots, vividly describing the mysteries unfolded before him as he applied and was granted his 'franchise', into Prince Hall Freemasonry. With the Wisdom of Solomon, the eloquence of a learned speaker and the diplomacy which can only be acquired as one matriculates through the college of life, PGM Robinson's remarks were so appropo that the uninitiated was inspired.

Being a charitable and benevolent organization, Masons have always placed emphasis on scholarship and have donated thousands of dollars throughout the years to this cause. This year two of the three recipients were from the great city of Des Moines: Ms. Janetta Michelle Cameron, attending the University of Northern Iowa, and Ms. Helen F. Benhart attending A.I.B. Ms. Benhart is a former recipient of the Scholarship.

The third award was granted to Ralph Charles Barnes from Ottumwa who attends the University of Iowa Medical School. Next year it is hoped that more scholarships may be awarded.

As all Prince Hall Masons express the belief in the existence of a Supreme Being, this years Grand Lodge had the good fortune to receive an especial treat: having several selections rendered by the 'Souls of Fire' a travelling group of gospel students from Oral Roberts University, Tulsa, OK. These young people have logged more than 2,000 miles this summer spreading the preachings of Christ, and were thoroughly enjoyed by all.

The 90th communication closed Saturday, July 16th with the election of officers for the ensuing year. Adolph K. Ollison, Grand Master was reelected, while the remainder of his cabinet is as follows:

Deputy Grand Master, Bobby L. Ray, Davenport.
Senior Grand Warden, Cleo D. Morrison, Des Moines.

Junior Grand Warden, Hubert Ross, Burlington.

Grand Secretary, PGM Jake L. Nelson, Burlington
Grand Treasurer, PGM Paul L. Wilson, Des Moines.

Grand Lecturer, Arthur L. McCune, Des Moines.

Appointment of standing committees and other Grand Lodge offices were additionally made at this time:

Grand Chaplain, Robert Burt, Waterloo.

Senior Grand Deacon, Joseph P. Wallace, Des Moines.

Junior Grand Deacon, Roy Scott, Davenport.

Senior Grand Steward, Jack Yarbrough, Ottumwa.

Junior Grand Steward, William Roby, Ft. Dodge.

Grand Tyler, Russell Burt, Waterloo.

Grand Marshall, Hyim Ward, Sioux City.

Grand Pursuivant, George Jackson, Council Bluffs.

Committee appointments:
Chairman Jurisprudence, PGM Frank B. Robinson, Des Moines.

Chairman Comm. Foreign Corresp. PGM Chas. W. Peguese, Des Moines.

Chairman Scholarship & Ways and Means, PGM Lewis A. James, Des Moines.

Chairman Credentials, Albert M. Garrett, Des Moines.

Chmn Grand Master Address, PGM William McKee, Ottumwa.

Chairman Returns, Melvin Conley, Sioux City.

Chairman Fraternal Dead, Manuel Bailey, Marshalltown.

Director Public Relations, Paul V. Best, Des Moines.

One of the largest sessions held in recent years, the brethren departed on the square with the fraternal chain of brotherly love ever intact, to reconvene in 1978 at Davenport, Iowa.

SCLU Urges Formation of Minority Affairs Office

Southern Christian Leadership Conference (SCLC) head, Dr. Joseph E. Lowery urged President Carter to include a well staffed White House Minority Affairs office in his White House reorganization plans. "There is a growing concern that published accounts of reorganization plans will leave you without personnel in the White House with any history of sensitivity to and involvement in the struggle for justice and fulfillment for minorities."

"We find this startling and frightening and urge you to reassure the American people of your continued commitment to be responsive to minority needs by appointing a special assistant for minority affairs directly responsible to you and with adequate staff to move effectively in critical areas."

Dr. Lowery expressed hope that Carter's efforts to reform the White House will return the Executive branch of the government to the people of the United States after eight years "as an exclusive clubhouse for the powerful and the moneyed."

Dr. Lowery criticized present arrangements in the White House stating, "One special assistant to the President, no matter how competent, cannot deal adequately with local responsibilities in the District of Columbia, as well as with national minority concerns without sufficient staff." "Published reports indicate that even this office will be shifted," said Dr. Lowery, "We need strong minority leadership in the White House directly responsible to the President, and with adequate staffing."

A goal of $4,012,684 has been set for the 1977 United Way of Greater Des Moines campaign. This year's goal represents a 12.5 per cent increase over the amount raised last year of $3,569,000.

During each of the last three years, United Way has increased local giving by an average of 4.1%, while the cost of living has climbed an average of 8.6%. This differential indicates a dramatic need to re-assess new opportunities for people to help people through the annual campaign, campaign officials said.

I.R.S. Grand Jury Exonerates Representative William L. Clay

Washington, D.C.—Congressman William L. Clay announced today that he had been totally exonerated by the Department of Justice in a case alleging criminal fraud of income taxes.

Congressman Clay said, "in open court in St. Louis, on July 12, 1977, the Department of Justice admitted that the case against me had been terminated, that there was no forthcoming indictment, that the transcripts of the testimony before the grand jury will be impounded and held solely by the U.S. Attorney's office, and that the 'Government shall make no civil use of the testimony or documents produced before the grand jury... without first obtaining a court order."

"In effect," the Congressman continued, "the government has said that there was insufficient evidence to start such an investigation in the first place. I believe that the investigation was a part of an ongoing political plot inspired by those who wish to silence my voice in the community."

"This entire experience has convinced me that drastic changes are necessary in our judicial system. Grand juries have degenerated into tools of the prosecutors who use them to harass, intimidate and persecute those who espouse unpopular causes. I therefore support legislation to either reform or abolish the grand jury system" Congressman Clay said.

The Congressman said "It's a sad day for freedom loving people to see the Government admit in open court that the rights of a U.S. citizen were trampled on by agents of the Government." He concluded, "It's extremely sad because we know the Attorney General will not attempt to determine the culpability of the Federal Judge, the U.S. Attorney or the Commissioner of the Internal Revenue Service who were involved in the abuse of power."

Bankers Trust Individual Retirement and Keogh Plan accounts
now earn a big 7¾% interest!

We want to help you have more money available for your retirement years. So we've just increased the interest paid on IRA's and Keogh Plans from 7½% to 7¾%. And with daily compounding of interest, the effective annual yield is now over 8%.

This increase can mean up to thousands of additional dollars to you when you retire.

If you work for a company with no retirement plan of its own, you're eligible to open an Individual Retirement Account. Each year, you may deposit up to 15% of your income, or $1,500*, whichever is less. Your money will earn our new higher interest, and neither the money you deposit nor the interest earnings will be currently taxable.

If you're self-employed, you may open a Keogh Plan account, and deposit up to 15% of your annual income, or $7,500, whichever is less. Keogh Plans earn 7¾% interest, too. And neither the money you deposit nor the interest earned is currently taxable.

Then, when you retire, as early as age 59½, you can begin withdrawing the funds you've accumulated. You pay taxes only on the amount you withdraw each year. Chances are, you'll be in a lower tax bracket, and will be required to pay less tax. When you reach age 65, your tax burden will be reduced further.

Sound complicated? It's really not. A Consumer Banker at any Bankers Trust location will be glad to sit down with you and discuss your personal needs. There's no obligation, of course.

No matter how many years until your retirement, now is the time to open your IRA or Keogh Plan account at Bankers Trust, so your retirement funds can begin earning our new higher interest rate. With your regular saving and our higher interest, we can help you enjoy a richer, more fulfilling retirement.

Impact of Energy Program on Poor

Washington, D.C.—What impact will President Carter's proposed energy program have on the quality of life for minority and lower income families? Are these families being seriously considered under the President's plan? What alternative measures can be taken to ensure that minority and poor families are not disproportionately affected by the energy crisis? Various responses to these questions are expressed in a new book, ENERGY POLICY AND THE POOR.

The book, published by the Joint Center for Political Studies, is based on the proceedings of a recent roundtable discussion that brought together 12 experts in the fields of energy or public policy.

LOOK ON SPORTS

When I opened the Reader's Digest for this month I thought I was back in the early forties. Then there were whole bunches of articles about why black athletes were better jumpers, faster runners and such than white boys. There were theories by physiologists, sociologists and I don't know what else as to why this was so. They talked about longer leg bones, different body structure, although I had always thought that every person was born with the same number of feet and hands.

But then a couple of years after WWII the white boys began to take over in the sprints and jumps and the theories were forgotten. But now with black athletes so prominent in sports like baseball, basketball and football, there have sprung up a new batch of theories. Now besides longer legs, they talk of greater upper body strength, and inheritance. The article stresses the fact that blacks are somehow different from whites, and that must be the reason for the large number of them in these professional sports.

I wish some of these learned scholars would look around and see what the black kids are doing from the time they are big enough to do it. The other day I saw a young black boy dribbling a basketball down the street. He was not over 8 or at the most 10. He bounced the ball along the sidewalks until he came to a stop light. Waited patiently for the light to change, all the while bouncing the ball, never missing a beat. When the light changed, he went on across the street still dribbling.

A fellow told me a while back that that is a common sight in the larger cities. So the boys learn to handle a ball before they know how to read, while their white contemporaries are being coached in little league activities.

And all you have to do is go up to Good Park and you will see a basketball game there on the hottest days. On Sundays it goes on all day with newcomers taking the place of the ones who drop out. Now you can see why black kids play pretty good basketball.

Baseball is the same way. Instead of little league ball, ghetto kids play the game with a broom stick and a small ball, so by the time they get to a real baseball, the thing looks as big as a watermelon to them.

And the other day I saw a couple of kids across from Tech High. One boy passed the ball back and the other faded back, set up and whipped out a pretty fair pass to another one. He was critical of himself, saying he was too slow. I asked if they were out for the team, and they said no just having fun. Play like this makes black kids become stars in the various games. And the biggest thing that makes them so tough in the games is that only the very best make it.

A coach or manager will hang on to a mediocre white boy because he may see something in him that tells him the kid will develop. But the mediocre black may as well forget it. With them it is instant stardom or back to the bushes. So with only the best making it, and because they work at the game for fun from the time they can walk, they have to do all right. Maybe you can see why so many blacks are in these games. Then there is the incentive to get something out of it.

A few years ago boxing was about the only way out for blacks who wanted to make it. So we had a whole gang of fine black fighters. At one time blacks held every boxing title from the heavyweight to the featherweight division.

Golden Gloves teams that came to Chicago had from four to eight blacks out of an eight man team. But as things began to open up the guys who had it could make more in other things than they could by fighting, so they moved out of the game.

The other nationalities, Irish, Jewish, Italian, Poles and such went through the same thing. As more opportunities opened up to them, they got away from boxing. Now Asians are taking over, along with Latin Americans.

And the elite whites have turned to tennis. Blacks are struggling to break in there, and if the theories about greater physical differences hold up you will see black players who can bust a tennis ball at two hundred miles an hour, and how in hell are you gonna hit it back.

But in spite of all of these alleged differences, just as soon as a couple of white boys who can run like hell come along, experts will forget all about the things in the Reader's Digest.

Grambling Tigers to Visit Japan

GRAMBLING, LA (SPECIAL)—The genius of a Hollywood scenario writer couldn't have produced a better football script.

Coach Eddie Robinson announced Saturday that the Grambling Tigers will return to Tokyo, Japan on Dec. 4 to close out the 1977 season with the Temple University Owls.

One of the real organizing geniuses of college coaching, Robinson called the Japan trip apocah and the ultimate expression of football as an entertainment form.

The trip will mark Grambling's second football safari to the Orient.

Last fall, Grambling and Morgan State scored an impressive international breakthrough when they became the first NCAA members to play a regular-season grid encounter outside the Western Hemisphere.

A sell-out crowd of 50,000 fans with binoculars, blankets, thermos and undiminished zest packed Korakuen Stadium to give NCAA football solid support in its only contact with the outside world.

"Tokyo is fantastic," Robinson extolled in extravagant praise. "The people are wonderful and the hospitality is warm and friendly." Grambling football players and members of the famed 165-piece Grambling Tiger Marching Band echoed his sentiment.

Over 2-million spectators watched the band in parades during its six-day stay in Tokyo last September.

All expenses for the two football teams and the Grambling band have been guaranteed by Tele Planning International, Inc., sponsor of the annual event. The company is also responsible for team guarantees.

Expenses alone will exceed $400,000.

The prestigious Tokyo Trip has improved Grambling's position appreciably in the high-stakes, pressurized talent search for blue-chip football prospects.

MESSIAH TEMPLE

The Lord Anointed teachers at Messiah Temple brought soul searching Lessons on why we lose out on our blessings from God. The lessons were taken from the 13th and 14th chapters of Numbers and told how because of unbelief the Israelites lost the blessing of crossing over into the promised land. Christians are still missing out today because of unbelief.

Sister Dolly Cassell then lead the congregation in singing praises to the Lord as we moved into our devotion service. The Lord has blessed Messiah Temple each time service is held because we never fail to pray, read the scripture, and list our voices in praise of His Son, Jesus Christ.

Brother Earlan Bell and his family contributed greatly in our fellowship in Jesus. Brother Bell spoke words of encouragement, lifting our hearts to walk on for Jesus.

Reverend Everett Cassell then brought us the lesson on the serious state of the world and Christians today. We need the love of God in us or we will fail to live as God wants us to live.

The Lord has blessed Messiah Temple to have a revival for the week of July 31 to August 6. If you are a Christian, come and be set on fire for the Lord. If you are not a Christian, come for the healing and saving of your soul.

McGhee Organizes Legal Aid Program for Elderly

The high cost of attorneys in Iowa and other states prevents most elderly people from seeking help with legal problems, the new legal developer for Iowa said recently.

Odell McGhee II said he hopes to remedy the situation in Iowa by organizing a "Network of lawyers and paralegals throughout the state" to assist senior citizens in legal matters.

McGhee, 25; a native of Chicago, was selected about two weeks ago by the Iowa Commission on the Aging to head the newly created program. He was hired under a $20,000 federal grant from Title III of the Older Americans Act.

"Old people are the most important people in America and the most trampled on," McGhee said. "Many live in very poor, rural areas and have no type of legal services available to them at all."

According to the commission's statistics, Iowa has the largest percentage of elderly poor of any state in the nation. About 10 to 15 per cent of the population is elderly and about 43 per cent of these people are below the poverty line.

McGhee said there is a "definite need" in Iowa for legal services to the elderly because so many senior citizens are unaware of the legalities they are faced with in their daily activities. Many are victimized by "high pressure" salesmen who talk lonely, elderly people into purchasing "silly things" like lightning rods, he said.

The program consists of the two phases, McGhee said. Lawyers are recruited for the program from the Young Lawyers Association, the Iowa Bar Association and county bar associations. The lawyers volunteer their services to nursing homes and are paid a minimum rate—about $5 to $10 for office visits by the elderly.

"We feel lawyers have a responsibility to help less fortunate elderly," he said.

The second phase involves paralegals, who are persons trained to interpret basic laws and assess the legal needs of people. McGhee said older persons usually are encouraged to become paralegals because of their ability to relate to senior citizens on both a personal and business level.

"We have 747 different facilities around the state that handle elderly," he said. "It would be nice to have paralegals in the programs to assess and understand the problems, not just solve the problems. This would take the burden off the legal system."

Currently, there are only four areas with some type of legal services, McGhee said. Paralegals, mostly retired teachers or other professionals, have been trained in the Cedar Rapids area. In Des Moines, the Legal Aide Society has been working with elderly Iowans at reduced rates. The organization has agreed to spend 2,400 hours per fiscal year to assist persons referred to them by the commission. A lawyer is working in the Davenport area. Mason City also has various legal services, he said.

Although statistics were unavailable on the number of persons working in the four areas, McGhee said "over $100,000 has been spent in giving legal services."

"Legal services are an up and growing field," he said. "Success has been moderate because many feel they are too busy."

McGhee said the program also focuses on senior citizens who are slightly above the poverty line with an income between $4,000 and $6,000—"which is enough to keep them existing but not enough for attorneys and other needs." Minorities and very poor urban residents "with more legal problems and less assessability than anybody in the state" will be reached too, he said.

He said the program would not be "uniform." The various needs in the different areas would be assessed and different programs would be established throughout the state.

"We want to deal with different problems in different areas and coordinate them," he said.

Haley to Serve In Key Role In Negro College Fund Drive

Alex Haley, author of "Roots," will serve as national vice chairman of the United Negro College Fund's annual campaign, it has been announced by Morris B. Abram, chairman of the board.

Winner of a 1977 Pulitzer Prize and the National Book Award, Mr. Haley will play a prominent role in the campaign to raise $15-million for the 41 predominantly-black colleges affiliated with the United Negro College Fund, according to Mr. Abram.

A. Dean Swift, president of Sears, Roebuck and Company, is general chairman of the national fund-raising drive. Lewis W. Foy, chairman of Bethlehem Steel, and John R. Opel, president of IBM Corporation, are serving with Mr. Haley as national vice chairmen.

Describing his special concern for the health and vitality of black colleges, Mr. Haley cited his father's experience as a student.

"My father was the first member of his family to attend college. It was a private predominantly-black school that is now affiliated with the United Negro College Fund," said Mr. Haley. "If my dad had not been able to attend a black college, then my brothers and I would have grown up on a sharecrop farm. Instead, my father became a professor and we grew up in a home full of books."

Christopher F. Edley, executive director of the United Negro College Fund, lauded Alex Haley's literary accomplishments as "a milestone in the understanding of black heritage and American history."

"We are particularly honored to have Alex Haley as a leader of our national campaign," said Mr. Edley. "His writing reflects a man of strength and character who is extraordinarily proud of his people. He is especially concerned that disadvantaged youngsters get a chance to enter the mainstream of American life. We share this desire. With Alex Haley's support we are certain to reach that goal."

The United Negro College Fund, founded in 1944, is the largest black-oriented fund-raising organization in America.

It's national advertising slogan is "A mind is a terrible thing to waste."

Williams

From page 1

At the time of her abduction and slaying, Powers was attending a wrestling meet at the Des Moines YMCA when she disappeared after leaving her mother to wash her hands. Several people saw Williams, an escaped mental patient and self-proclaimed minister, leave the YMCA with a large bundle, and authorities were searching for Williams when he surrendered.

Although Des Moines
police told Williams' lawyer they would not question his client during the car trip back to Des Moines, Lemming said he thought there was a chance the girl the girl was still alive and thus sought William's aid in finding her by delivering his now famous "Christian Burial" speech.

Lemming told Williams
the weather was getting bad and snow threatened to make discovery of the girl's body difficult. Lemming then asked Williams to take police to the body since her parents were entitled to a "Christian burial for the little girl who was snatched away on Christmas Eve."

Since the Supreme Court ruled Williams' rights were violated when he was persuaded to take police to the body, this fact was never mentioned in his retrial.

But Judge Denato decided prosecutors were permitted to use evidence obtained from the body during the retrial on the grounds the body would eventually have been discovered.

It is this ruling defense lawyers objected to and will base their appeal on.

During the trial, defense lawyers did not dispute the claim by prosecutors that Williams disposed of the girl's body, but they tried to show the actual sexual molestation and killing was committed by a sterile male, since no sperm was found on the girl's body. Recent medical tests have shown Williams is fertile.

At state expense, the defense requested the body of a former YMCA janitor be exhumed from his burial place in Minnesota, apparently in an attempt to tie him with the murder, but no evidence obtained in this autopsy was given during the trial.

Trial observers found the conflicting medical testimony about whether the sperm would have been preserved or destroyed by the freezing weather at the time of the murder created some doubt Williams was guilty but Williams' decision not to take the stand in his defense probably ruined his chances for aquital.

Leadership Fete Honors Civil Rights Advocates

The Leadership Conference on Civil Rights led by Chairman Clarence Mitchell recently hosted one of the most successful affairs the nations capital has witnessed in many years.

Whether measured by the number of guests who attended, (over 400) the number of honorees, (an even 100) or just the generous enthusiasm exhibited by the crowd, it all added up to a highly successful and popular evening. Army Secretary, Clifford Alexander summed it up when he said he hoped these people being honored realized that they would not be holding these jobs if it had not been for the Leadership Conference.

No one really minded the continued crowd noises as HUD Secretary Patricia

Roberts Harris reflected on her attendance at the first LCCR meeting in 1949. Nor did they intend to drown out such succeeding speakers as Special Assistant to the President, Midge Costanza,
Assistant Attorney General, Drew Days III, Under
Secretary of State Lucy Benson, the newly appointed chairman of the EEOC, Eleanor Holmes Norton, the

just sworn-in Commissioner of the Civil Service Commission, Ersa Poston
and a host of other speakers.
It was just, as both honorees and guests readily agreed, a very special occasion for those that have supported, worked and hoped so long to bring to reality the opportunities that the Human rights forces now seem to be on the brink of accomplishing.
