Public Meeting Set On DM Affirmative Action Plan

by Jean Harkin

The Des Moines City Council has set March 18, at 7 p.m. at City Hall, for a public meeting on the city's affirmative action policies, with regard to employment. The meeting date is subject to change, if interested parties are unable to attend, according to city clerk, Helen Barlow.

The public meeting was requested by a coalition made up of various organizations, including ACORN, NAACP, CORE, and the American Indian Community Center. The coalition contends that the city's hiring practices are unfair, because promotions and new job openings are filled by "insiders" — city employees or their friends and relatives.

Calling the city's hiring methods the "Buddy System," Charles Martin of ACORN (Association of Community Organizations for Reform Now), spoke before the City Council at its March 3 meeting. He challenged the city's compliance with Affirmative Action guidelines, and asked that city employment opportunities be open to everyone in the community.

Martin read a list of demands to the Council. These included the following:

That all job openings be widely advertised, on television and in the newspapers; and that announcements for these jobs be sent to all groups, organizations, and community centers which request them.

That applications for all permanent and temporary jobs be accepted from the community at large. The names of all applicants who meet minimum specified qualifications should then be put into a pool and selected at random.

And that deadlines for job applications be publicly advertised. Martin told the Council that he had recently brought two youths to

Gloria Scott Helps Celebrate Girl Scout Anniversary

Dr. Gloria Scott, the first black president of The Girl Scouts of America was greeted at the Des Moines airport by Girl Scouts who presented her with flowers to welcome her to Des Moines.

By Carolyn King

March 9-15, 1980 is Girl Scout Week, and more than three million Girl Scouts and adult volunteers will be celebrating the 68th anniversary of Girl Scouting in the United States.

Highlighting the observance in Iowa was the appearance of Dr. Gloria D. Scott, National President Girl Scouts of the U.S.A. (1975-1978); the first black woman to hold that office.

Dr. Scott was greeted at the airport on Saturday afternoon, by Executive Staff members Maxine Grove, Rosetta Green; McCeil King presented Dr. Scott flowers on behalf of the Brownies and future Brownie Kelli King looked on.

Dr. Scott spoke Saturday evening to more than 200 persons in attendance at the National Campus Scouts Conference at Camp Sacajawea in Boone. Dr. Scott is currently vice president of Clark College in Atlanta, Georgia.

A Girl Scout since her youth in her hometown of Houston, Dr. Scott has devoted much of her voluntary activities to Girl Scouting on the local, regional and national level. She served as head of the U.S. official delegation to the 23rd World Conference of the World Association of Girl Guides and Girl Scouts in Iran in 1978.

Dr. Scott is the Advisory Committee on Black Higher Education and Black Colleges and Universities. A member of Delta Sigma Theta Sorority, Inc., Dr. Scott has served on national committees, and has held national offices in the sorority.

A graduate of Indiana University, earning her A.B. and M.A. in zoology and her Ph.D. in higher education, Dr. Scott was honored by her alma recipient of many honors and citations including being named among nine distinguished "Women of the Year, 1977" by Ladies' Home Journal. In October 1976, she was appointed to the National Commission on the Observance of International Women's Year by President Ford and reappointed by President Carter in March of '77.

Dr. Scott is on the board of trustees of the National Urban League, Inc., and the U.S. Dept. of HEW National mater with an Honorary Doctor of Laws degree in May 1977. She received an Honorary Doctor of Humane Letters degree in June of 1978 from Fairleigh Dickinson University.

Dr. Scott spoke about the role of campus scouts, where they are today, where they are going and where they fit in.

Girl Scouts are united by a belief in God, and believe that the

DM Complete Count Committee Named At Opening

At a ceremony marking the final preparation phase for the 1980 Census, Mayor Pete Crivaro cut a length of computer tape, opening the district office in Des Moines from which the 1980 Census of Population and Housing will be directed in this area.

Jim Maas, Manager of the district office, explained that computer tape is symbolic of the Census Bureau's modern electronic equipment that will process the data collected in the census.

"Never before has the national census been so important to the City of Des Moines," said Mayor Crivaro. He pointed out that much of the money the city receives from the state and federal governments depends on the population count.

"Every person who is not counted means we receive less than our fair share of revenue sharing money," he said.

Mayor Crivaro said the new census data will help government and the business community plan for development in the city.

Others attending the ceremony were the newly selected members of the Des Moines Complete Count Committee, and leaders of various civic organizations.

This district office will be headquarters for census operations in seventeen counties; Adair, Adams, Boone, Clarke, Dallas, Decatur, Greene, Guthrie, Lucas, Madison, Polk, Ringgold, Story, Taylor, Union, Warren, and Wayne.

With the official opening, the active phase of the census gets under way in this census district. About 500 crew leaders and census takers will be hired and trained. Detailed arrangements will be made for the enumeration of people in institutions, jails, hospitals, colleges, and places other than homes, all in preparation for April 1 when the actual enumeration begins.

Four days before April 1 the postal service will deliver a census questionnaire addressed to each residence. Each household will be asked to fill out its questionnaire and mail it back on April 1 in the postage - paid envelope that will be enclosed. Census takers will have to call on those households that have not returned their questionnaires within a reasonable time.

There are 384 other census districts throughout the country where this method of enumeration will be used. The Census Bureau estimates that about 90 percent of the U.S. population lives in these districts.

VIEWS and REVIEWS

by Allen Ashby

What with politics and the economy there must be something else to discuss. Last year a small bunch of us met to renew our old YMCA camp ties, and it was suggested that we make it an annual affair. So I have been working on the deal.

I think I have a place to have the thing, the Logan Opportunity Center, and what we need is some plan to see what we will have in the way of a program. I called a meeting for last Saturday night, but I never did make connections with the management of the Center, so the meeting went by the boards.

Then a brilliant idea struck me, or at least, it seemed brilliant to me. Why not have the meeting at the place where I live. I talked it over with the management, and it is OK. So we will have the preliminary meeting at the River Hills Apartments, 700 E. Fifth Street Saturday, March 15, at seven o'clock.

What we want is a general discussion to formulate plans for whatever we are going to do that night (April 26), the time and place to be nailed down. We expect to start calling the fellows we can think of at once and hope for maybe twenty or so to show up.

When you think of how many fellows went through the old Y Camp between 1919 and 1946, the years that were influenced by Quinten Mease, you will get maybe a thousand people. Some of them are gone and some will not be able to make it because they have their things to do.

And there is really an impressive list of fellows who have made it big since their Y camp days. Guys like Jommy Bowman, Bobby Hide, The Howard boys, Joe, now a federal judge, Charles Jr. and Lonnie. Virgil Mann, Floyd Dixon, Bill Cropp, Fred Morrow Jr., Joe Danforth, Roy Stewart, and so many others that I can't think of now, but these will do for openers.

We want to make this Y Camp reunion one of the biggest things around. I will be on hand so I can let in the people who come and will hope they have some ideas.

We are already hearing from fellows from out of the state and the country for that matter. Nelson Thompson, an old camper has said he will be in from Mexico and Elbert Webb has called from New York to find out when the things is to be. When he called, we didn't know anything but the date, and were not sure of where we were going to hold it.

How old will the bunch be? Well, if you could dress yourself, tie your own shoes and make it to the bathroom alone, you could go to Y Camp. So the guys will range from seventies to their fifties.

The other day I got together with a fellow who recalled just about all of the songs we sang at the camp. Ours was a segregated camp. When we came in on the last week in July or the first week in August, the regular staff went home for a vacation, and we had a skeleton staff.

But we had so much fun and were so busy learning new skills that we didn't once think of the fact that we were separated from the regular campers. I am sure we had more fun than the kids do today in their integrated camp that costs maybe ten times as much as we used to pay.

Some kids like Morton Graves, Louie Taylor and such Dave Callister and a few others fought their way to camp. We had a weekly boxing program and the boxers who appeared on the thing received a small sum with the lesser amount going to the loser to be applied on his camp fee, so it was possible for a boy to get his entire camp fee paid for a few black eyes and knots on his head.

Those were the good days, and I hope we can recapture some of that spirit on April 26.

REDLINING - THE INSURANCE INDUSTRY'S JUSTIFICATIONS

Critics, on the other hand, argue that as companies compete with each other by identifying the smaller subgroups within the population who present better risks (to the exclusion of others), they in fact create rating classifications too small to be statistically credible and totally violative of the concept of risk spreading upon which the insurance industry bases its defense.

That which the industry identifies as underwriting principles, they say, are little more than "myths" and subjective "perceptions" based upon "gut feelings" rather than objective data. One example of this subjective behavior, as presented below, is taken from the underwriting manual of one insurance company:

"There is also the type who has never lived anywhere but in a rural area. He commutes to an industrial plant, does odd jobs, lives on relief or lets his wife make the living. You can usually spot his place. Sometimes in the summer he can be seen sitting on his front porch without his shirt. He is not a good risk..."

The practice of assigning higher general rates to policies written within a particular geographic area within certain cities has come under specific attack. Critics charge that insurance companies draw vague conclusions about certain communities, neighborhoods or racial subgroups within a particular area and refuse to provide service therein regardless of the actual degree of risk presented.

Buildings, for example, do not naturally deteriorate because of age alone, and there is obviously no natural reason why buildings of any given age deteriorate more rapidly in one neighborhood than in another within a given city. There are older homes in nearly all communities which are in excellent condition today, they contend, that will not be in the future if owners and potential buyers continue having difficulty acquiring credit and insurance just because of the neighborhood in which they are located.

Agents sometimes will admit that there is no statistical basis on which communities and neighborhoods are rated, but even they continue to use these discriminatory territorial classifications in their sales activities. The primary effect of the practice, it seems, is to provide those consumers who are forced to pay outlandish rates to obtain property insurance with no incentives to prevent or reduce losses, and to make the needed coverage either outside of the price range that many inner-city consumers can handle or unavailable altogether.

Rather than being an economical mechanism to encourage responsible behavior, as it should be, insurance in that context becomes no more than an expensive necessity detrimental to inner-city residents and the property therein.

The arbitrary and subjective practices within the insurance industry which critics see as common throughout involve it deeply in matters of public policy, in such a way as to discriminate unfairly, regardless of the viewpoint taken, against inner-city, often minority, residents of older urban communities and contributes directly to their deterioration. Perhaps the most crucial aspect of that position is the fact that the insurance industry is clearly not a neutral or passive force in society which reacts to changes originating outside of its control.

In not only its underwriting but also its investing capacity the insurance industry exercises considerable influence on the development or deterioration of urban communities and their residents. By the nature of its unwillingness to provide needed property insurance to real property located in the inner-city, it creates obstacles to

HE'S YO PRESIDENT NOT MINE

Before I go off on El Presidente let me respond to the rather lengthy response that was written to me by Mrs. Betty Fitsimmons. Mrs. Fitsimmons you sound like a real nice lady and I hope I don't offend you.

Let me first of all thank you for having enough gumption to write. Most folks would have to be hit in the head with a sledge hammer before they would be inspired enough to write.

Yes you sounded like an idealist. So what; I'm an idealist and a dreamer myself. As Langston Hughes once said, "Life without dreams is a barren field." However, one should not let dreams obscure reality. Gettin' down to the meat of the matter I would say that your liberal conscience was shocked by my strong emphasis on Black progress and development and my constant reference to crackers.

I was beginning to wonder when someone was going comment. As a matter of fact I started to re-clarify that I am not a racist and deplore anyone that is last week.

I have lived in the Model Cities area most of my life and love its diverse racial composition, but the reality of the matter is that the Centremetro target area within the Model Cities is predominantly Black! Model Cities as a whole is not but the Centremetro target area is a predominantly Black area.

Furthermore I strongly believe that Black people must cease being hesitant to speak in black terms about Black issues, regardless of who is so apolitical as to be offended. One of the reasons that the plight of Black people in the U.S. is no longer a top priority is that the spokespersons for the Black masses are afraid to say Black for fear of offending someone.

I have no such fear. When is the last time you have seen or heard someone address a powerful governmental body, be it locally or nationally and speak in strong terms about the plight of our people.

No, minority has replaced Black, and just what does minority mean? Absolutely nothing everybody is some kinda minority. The reason I use Black so much is because it shocks people. People need to be shocked cause they walkin around dead!

Let's face it Mrs. Fitsimmons, White folks is scared to deaf of the very word Black. If I told you I was joining a self-defense club you would probable say, thats nice, but if I said I was going to join a Black self-defense club that would conjure up visions of angry niggahs plottin to do somethin to white folk.

The Lily-white National Rifle Association is an acceptable very powerful lobbying force. What would happen if a Black Rifle Association were formed. America would go in shock.

The entire weight of the U.S. military and "intelligence(?)" operations would be bought into play.

If Black people as a group are to progress in Des Moines and America we must not be afraid to call a spade a spade. If we do not raise specific questions we will not receive specific answers.

If we are concerned about the deplorably high Black unemployment rate and we raise questions about the general unemployment rate our real question will remain unanswered because racism which is the cause of the disparity between the Black unemployment rate and the overall unemployment rate will not be addressed.

Mrs. Fitsimmons in conclusion let me state that I adhere to the credo of the Black press. I fear no man but more importantly I hate no man. Hatred is a self-destructive emotion that lays waste to one hating. The people I love come in all races, creeds and

A Black Look At Politics

William S. Morris

The U.S. economy, the Democratic and Republican primaries and caucuses, the Iranian and Columbian hostage crises, the war in Afghanistan, and the Federal budget are grabbing most of the headlines these days. I have already devoted considerable time and space pronouncing on most of these subjects, and how they will affect black Americans.

Balancing the Federal budget, the newest aim of President Carter's anti-inflation policies, will entail considerable sacrifice by certain segments of American society. And since military spending has been increased above the inflation rate, it will inevitably fall to social aid and job programs, and to those who benefit most from them, to suffer the largest cutbacks.

This means, as I predicted months ago, that black Americans will have to make do with a smaller share of the proverbial economic "pie." We will simply have to learn how to exist within an increasingly conservative body politic, and make the most out of shrinking federal budget allocations.

I have probably exhausted the political alternatives available to black Americans in these times of conservative fiscal policies. Thus, for this week, I should like to examine a subject that has baffled and perplexed sociologists, psychologists, and parents for some time.

Briefly, the problem is racial identity and suitable role models for black children. I had touched on this topic earlier, in a previous column, but further analysis is required.

A considerable amount of literature has been written and published on the subject of racial identity, self-worth, and emulation of adult behavior by children. Much of it deals with the improvement of minority peoples' racial self-images and pride in their historical backgrounds.

Yet, despite these "black", and "brown," "is beautiful" movements, self-hatred is still in great evidence in minority communities. Indeed, black-on-black and red-on-red crime rates are approaching staggering proportions in the North, defying any and all conventional treatments.

What many experts fail to recognize is the importance that mass-media broadcasts play in shaping the minority child's self-image. All of us can probably remember imitating a favorite cowboy star or television or radio super hero (heroine), while growing up. Yet, few, if any, of these fictional heroes are black.

Superman, Batman, Spiderman, Roy Rogers, Buck Rogers, and Wonder Woman are all "fine examples of white manhood (womanhood)" - but black run up against "crises of identity" when they try to emulate their "heroes (heroines)". Black children do not have straight blond hair or lily-white skin, and are too young to understand why they are different.

Often, they blame themselves for being "dirty", and this blame can be extended to the parents. As I mentioned a few months ago, even the English language is structured so as to convey negative connotations of certain words (black, dark, evil, dirty, etc.).

Mass-media advertisement only worsens the impact of all this on black children; toys and games are geared toward middle-class white kids and suburban living.

The message of "escapism" is prevalent in current television ads directed at children - "Star Wars" and "Star Trek" paraphernalia are quite popular now, yet these movies and many others with heavy "futuristic" content, totally ignore the plight of peoples of color.

Indeed, there were no black people at all in "Star Wars". These movies allow whites to forget about their problems and reality, projecting their fantasies into the future, where "niggers won't be a problem." Black children can seldom avoid reality and the constant reminder that they are black in a predominately white society.

The problems of chronic unemployment, crime, poverty, and white hostility are impossible to escape from; one cannot "beam up" from the ghetto.

The lovely sister who inspired me to discuss the problem of racial identity in black children is encountering this very same roadblock in her talented young son. Though he is bright and has much potential for success, the child is still black - something he will never be allowed to forget or circumvent.

He will be reminded of it every day by white society. He can never be "like Superman or Spiderman", but hopefully he will proceed despite his "color handicap."

Excellence is difficult for any black child in any field, for most whites will attempt to downplay any accomplishment, regardless of its brilliance. Black Americans can never forget the color of their skins, or their struggles throughout history.

Then again, maybe these are things we, as a people, should never forget.

Free Home Energy Savers Manual Available

Iowans can lower their home fuel bills by following practical advice on saving energy in the Iowa Energy Policy Council's Home Energy Savers Manual.

Free copies of the book are available from utility offices, Iowa municipal utilities, rural electric cooperatives, home heating suppliers and natural gas companies. The manuals can also be ordered through any bank or savings and loan company in Iowa, or directly from the Iowa Energy Policy Council, Lucas Building, Capitol Complex, Des Moines, Iowa 50319.

The 288-page book is designed to take confusion and guesswork out of home energy conservation practices. It contains worksheets, step-by-step instructions, diagrams and forms to help homeowners determine their energy needs, then install energy saving measures.

Practical guides are included on weatherstripping, installation of fireplaces, heating stoves and insulation, improvement of heating and air conditioning systems, and computation of energy tax credits. Chapters on passive energy design and solar hot water systems are also included in the text, along with many other energy-saving ideas.

Supports Black Radio Station

LETTER TO EDITOR:

What Des Moines needs is a Black radio station. We need to have the news, weather, sports and public information reported by Blacks. This station will also help meet the needs of the white listening audiences. That is, whites need to hear Black opinions as well as white opinions in order to get a clear picture of what's happening. In fact, white people have enjoyed our Black stations in the past as much as we have.

Radio is vital for true communication. Newspapers do a good job, but nothing is like the radio when it comes to keeping people informed and up to date on what's going on. Some people would rather listen to what's happening rather than read. Let's put Black radio back into our homes, our cars, on our jobs or any place radio can be heard.

We need our own station on AM. The last time we had an FM station, people bought FM radios. The station faded out, and the people were still stuck with a lot of expensive radios. If we can't have our own station, we need a part of the white AM stations. Broadcasting our programs should occur during the day time and early evening when the listening audience would be greatest. Surely, white stations will want to cooperate with us in meeting our needs since this is relevant to us.

Will we ever be able to hear the same Black sounds that can be heard in other major cities across the country?

We're always talking about what we don't have. Now is an opportunity to do something about it.

Innovative Grocery Store Opens

by Marcia Ryan

FOOD 4 LESS is a new grocery store in Des Moines, designed to bring its customers a combination of the features of both conventional and discount food stores.

You sack your own groceries but they're checked out through an NCR scanning system which provides an itemized receipt listing each item purchased.

The bare walls and warehouse shelving won't win any decorating prizes but the store sells garden - fresh produce and Tru-tender beef and pork.

Unless you want to pay three cents a bag, bring your own sacks, but you'll take home an average savings of 10-15%, in some items up to a 35% saving.

FOOD 4 LESS is located at 3405 SE 14th, south of the Woolco store and it opened for business on Tuesday, March 11th.

The store hours are 10:00 a.m. to 9:00 p.m. seven days a week.

FOOD 4 LESS features not usually found in reduced - price grocery operations include:

● Personal checks will be accepted, for the amount of the purchase.

● Regular name-brand merchandise is the store's regular stock.

● A coupon swap table is available where customers may exchange coupons they do not want for ones they do.

● Tru-Tender beef and pork will be sold, a special mechanical process which tenderizes the meat without the use of any additives.

FOOD 4 LESS is a bare-walls operation decorated with several signs explaining how "everything we do is designed to provide you with food for less."

GASIFICATION: Turning Coal Into Cleaner Energy

The world's largest reserve of fossil fuel energy is not in the Middle East. It's right here in America. The energy locked up in our nation's coal reserves could supply our needs for hundreds of years . . . if we could use it. But right now, much of our coal — including the kind found in Iowa — can't be used economically. High sulfur content makes it too dirty to burn and too expensive to clean.

A Possible Solution

Most of the pollutants in high-sulfur coal can be eliminated through a process called coal gasification. Instead of being burned directly, the coal is first processed into a combustible gas. Although this gas is too low in heating energy to be used directly in homes as a substitute for natural gas, it's ideal for firing a boiler in an electrical generating plant. The only problem is finding a method of coal gasification that is economical for large scale use.

Iowa Power is helping fund research on a coal gasification method called the KILnGAS®

System. So far, basic engineering studies and a small pilot plant have been successfully completed. The next step will be construction of a large-scale demonstration facility that can be used to produce gas for a power plant. If this experiment proves feasible, it could pave the way for widespread adoption of coal gasification by both electric utilities and many industries.

Making The Most Of What We Have

Development of a practical coal gasification process would allow us to make better use of an energy resource that's in abundant supply right here in our own country — high-sulfur coal. By itself, this won't solve all our energy problems. But it's a step in the right direction.

Many people in show business have one golden period — where all their creative juices and artistry blend together and they make hits — commercial as well as artistic ones. Bob Fosse had this five years ago when he garnered 3 important industry awards — an Oscar for CABARET, a Tony for PIPPIN and an Emmy for LIZA WITH A Z.

By the looks of the reception to ALL THAT JAZZ, his autobiographical current film release, he has hit another golden era, complete with nine oscar nominations. The musical CHICAGO which opened on Broadway three years ago and dazzled audiences here in Des Moines, gleams and glows with Fosse's own brand of erotic brashness and vivacity.

Fosses work is highly sexual and focuses on the physical delights of life while poking fun at our faults and foibles in pursuing the former. CHICAGO is set in the fast paced, gangster land city of the roaring twenties.

It is the story of a shady, little talented chanteuse Roxie Hart (Melanie Adam) who while cuckolding her fat, dull husband murders her lover Fred Casely after he attempts to dump her. Most of the musical is set in the city jail where Velma Kelly (Kristen Childs) and Roxie battle for the attention of famed lawyer Billy Flynn (William McCauley). Flynn not only promises to get them on their feet but into the headlines as often as possible.

The only number that is recognizable is RAZZLE DAZZLE — Billy's tribute to hype and BS — his main line of defense of his usually guilty clients. The colorful characters of the jail house make an amusing and colorful collection of tunes and production numbers come alive throughout the musical. Velma and Roxie finally "beat their raps" and combine their limited talents into a song and dance team as Flynn deserts them both for a hotter item (Go to hell Kitty)

Kristen Childs sparkles as Velma Kelly. I was surprised to see this talented black actress in one of the leads. Only one line about "life in Cicero, Illinois" belied the fact that this was not written for a black woman. She was an extremely talented and vivacious dancer and singer.

Ms. Childs all but steals the show from Ms. Adam played originally by Fosses ex - wife Gwen Verdon. Adams seemed lost in the role — her voice, her acting ability and her looks paled in comparison (no pun intended) to both Verdon and Childs. She is in fact an annoying performer who you can't wait to get off the stage.

McCauley is the old school type stage lead — loud, boisterous, colorful and yet still talented. M.O. Haughey as columnist Mary Sunshine; Donald Morris as Roxies betrayed husband and Jane Judge as Matron Mama Morton add varying degrees of oomph and enjoyment to the evening. You only feel sorry for Morris' lump of a dullard character when he sings his MISTER CELLOPHANE number bemoaning that everyone ignores his presence and sees "right through he."

The dancers and the band were excellent — although the score for this musical is not the greatest. The production numbers shine and prove Fosses a unique and multi talented choreographer - writer - director. CHICAGO is a good evening of colorful entertainment — its just a pity that one of the leads in this road show was so poorly cast.

Black Women's Week Declared

The National Association of Colored Women's Clubs, Inc. (NACWC), the nations oldest Black Women's volunteer service organization, has declared the fourth week in July as "National Black Women's Week." This annual observance is designed as a tribute to the contributions of black women nationwide. The 1980 activities are scheduled for July 27th through August 1st.

"The nation and indeed the world have benefited from the commitments and leadership abilities that Black women have demonstrated for centuries," explained Inez W. Tinsley, President of the association. "The unrelenting efforts of these courageous women to induce progressive and positive changes for the betterment of all is to be commended and remembered."

According to Mrs. Tinsley, the fourth week in July marked the first conference of Black Women in America and was initiated by one of the organization's members, Josephine St. Pierre Ruffin in Boston on July, 1895.

A major highlight of the week's observance will be the release of an extensive report, "The Status of America's Black Women." The report will focus on areas in which Federation Club Women have played a major role for human betterment through business, employment, education, family life, health and housing.

NACWC with some 1000 clubs nationwide consists of Black women from many walks of life, including elected officials, government representatives, business leaders and students.

ST. PAUL A.M.E. CHURCH

1201 Day Street Rev. Lewis E. Grady, Jr., Pastor

"No Love that passeth knowledge, thee I need; Pour in the heavenly sunshine; fill my heart; Scatter the cloud, the doubting, and the dread,

The joy unspeakable to me impart."

H. Bonar Prayers coming from the depth of your heart is the key to the kingdom of heaven. Today's generation is being carried and supported by the earnest prayers of their parents and forefathers. Therefore, Rev. Grady urged his listeners to get back to the basics of prayer in his sermon, "The Power Of Prayer", last Sunday, if one is to receive the benefits of Christian living.

On March 14th and 15th, Rev. Grady will be attending the Mid-year Convocation at Wayman A.M.E. Church in Chicago, Illinois. Rev. Marshall Smith, Assistant Pastor of Bethel A.M.E. Church, will be the guest speaker this Sunday.

Prayer Service and Bible Study every Wednesday evening at 7 p.m. Prayer is the key, Prayer lifts heavy burdens. Prayer gives us courage to go on when the way looks dark. Prayer opens doors and melts cold hearts, Prayer wins souls. Prayer brings a response from God. Prayer is not a duty to be preformed; it is a privilege to be used and enjoyed. Prayer is something we need to spend on others. Pray for your family, your pastor, your friends, and your worst enemy. Come to prayer service and let us pray together. When we pray let us remember the sick and afflicted, the shut ins. They are as reported Bro. Jim Patton, Lutheran Hospital, Bro.

Alice Boyd Acts In Superstar Production

Jesus Christ Superstar, a rock opera, will be presented at the Drama Workshop March 12-16, 19-20. A familiar face among the cast members is that of Alice Boyd who, for the second year, will be playing the role of the "Maid by the Fire."

Boyd has also appeared in Finnian's Rainbow, The Music Man, I Remember Mama at the Des Moines Community Playhouse and Sweet Charity at Theater Fabulous.

Besides her involvement with the theater, Alice is a school teacher at Cattell Elementary School, a member of Shiloh Baptist Church where she is supervisor and musician for the Children and Senior Teens Choirs and president of the Matrons. She is also Director of Youth for the Iowa Sunday School & BTU Congress and State president of the Matrons, Women's Convention, I M & E B State Convention.

Boyd is a member of the Iota Zeta Omega Chapter of Alpha Kappa Alpha Sorority and composed "The Debutante's Waltz" used in the Sorority's Cotillion Ball. She is a member of Jack & Jill of America Inc., and the Foundation's member at large for the Central Region representing Iowa, Missouri, Nebraska, Kansas, Oklahoma, Arkansas and Tennessee.

She is also a member of the Parliamentarian Law & Culture Club, National Education Association, ISEA, DMEA. She serves as a member of the planning board of the D.M. Council of Girl Scouts and is arts, crafts and drama instructor at Girl Scout Camp Sacajawea during the summer.

Boyd's two sons are also actively involved in theater — D. Michael Bland, a senior at Hoover has appeared in Norman Lear's Production of "Cold Turkey" and in the Shakespearean Drama Festival. Donald C. Bland II, a freshman at Iowa State University, majoring in Computer and Recording Engineering has appeared in four productions at Hoover High School and is currently in rehearsal for the Iowa State University production of "Jesus Christ Superstar" to be presented this spring.

She is the daughter of Mr. & Mrs. George Clinton who started her early love in the Fine Arts, music, drama and painting.

Also pictured with Boyd is Rick Hemming who will be portraying the role of Jesus Christ. Hemming's theatre experience includes performing and directing in Los Angeles, Hollywood, Los Vegas, Des Moines. He works for Job Service of Iowa, lives in Woodward with his wife Vicki and two children Josh and Cassie.

JESUS CHRIST SUPERSTAR began in 1970 as an album that sold over 4 million copies in the U.S. alone. Then it was staged on Broadway and later made into a film. The brilliant rock opera was highly controversial, asking questions to right and left. Was Jesus God or deluded man or the hero of fools? Was Judas sympathetic anti-hero, hand picked cosmic villain, or cynical modern man?

The production is directed by Freda Nahas with Richard Swope, Musical Director. Cast includes: Perry Caligiuri whose brilliant outstanding performance last year brought him back again this year as "Judas Iscariot;" Carol Gale returning as "Mary Magdalene;" with Rick Carter as "Caiphas;" Casey Gradishnig "Annas;" Michael Stone "Simon Zealotes;" Jack McCue "Pontius Pilate;" Eric Darling as "Peter" and the return of Don Kagin in his "amusing" role as "King Herod;" plus an ensemble of 25 who sing and dance and play the various roles of apostles, merchants, temple ladies, lepers, crowd and Roman soldiers.

Last year's performance played to standing room only audiences — As our hearts and minds turn toward the cross of our Lord Jesus Christ — the chief supporting pillar of the whole church, let us find new meaning in our meditations on the last days of Christ; and let us look up with new hope, and tune our harps, and hold our festive garlands in readiness, while awaiting the mighty moment that shall put an eternal end to all the sadness and anxiety of the human heart.

As this play reminds us of the cross and causes us to look up; the amazing thing is this — on the cross God himself stepped in, to put us in the right with himself again. Jesus, we realize, was God as well as Man. And Jesus took upon himself the alienation, the lostness, the spiritual death that properly belonged to us. Such was his love.

He did indeed hang in the place of judgment, but the judgment he bore was ours by rights. As Man, he acted for the whole race. As God, his action has unending value. It avails for any man, anywhere. And it was the resurrection which set God's seal on the whole business.

For this Jesus, who died on a cross and rose again three days later, held the key to what life was meant to be, what it could be. Here was someone who was so fully alive that death could not hold him. This is news — the Good News!

Include "Jesus Christ Superstar" in your upcoming activities. An intriguing cast & the greatest story ever told of betrayal, but in a startlingly new but relevant way. A "must see"!

Coors Nuggets Place 2nd In State AAU Meet

by C. King
Coors' Nuggets of Des Moines placed second in the Championship Game of the Amateur Athletic Union's state men's basketball tournament Sunday in Marshalltown, and will advance to the Regionals in Omaha this weekend. In second-round play, Coors Nuggets knocked off Lein Homes of Ankeny, 109-98 with high scorers Tony Jones, 24 points; Tad Dufelmeier 22 and Alex Hanna 19.

The team advanced to the semifinals where they clipped the Jane Boyd Community Center of Cedar Rapids 115-99. Tad Dufelmeier scored 18 points and Carlos Dillard had 16 to spark Coors Nuggets and Craig Davis and Tony Jones both had 14 points and Alex Hanna contributed 13 which placed eight men in double figures.

Sunday's championship game was played against No. 1 Airliner from Iowa City. In that game William Mayfield scored 18 points to lead Airliner past Coors Nuggets.

Who are Coors' Nuggets? Iowa's only black AAU team coached by a black coach, Larry Allen. Allen founded Coors' Nuggets in 1974 and since then the team has been under several sponsors. After coming in second place in the State AAU, they were fortunate to add Coors of Des Moines (Gore Creek Distributor) as their new sponsor.

The Nuggets consist of all former college basketball players such as: Ron Caldwell, former Drake University and all-Missouri Valley Conference player, also voted MVP in the AAU league in 1978; Craig Davis, also of Drake; Dallas Smith, former West Texas State all conference player; Alex Hanna, from Memphis, Tennessee attended Langston University, and led the AAU Tourney in scoring last year 1979.

Other players on the team are Tony Jones, former East High standout, who just returned from playing in Europe. Larry Parker, former University of Iowa standout; Jimmy Allen of Kentucky State University; Ron Oliver, Marshalltown College; Carl Jackson, Talada University in Alabama; Marcus Wilson, Rollins University, Ft. Lauderdale Florida.

In addition, this year, they have four new players; Carlos Dillard 6'5" swing man from Gannon College in Pennsylvania; Paul Jones of North Dakota State; Carl Evert of Drake University; and Tad Dufelmeier of Tech High and Loyola University of Chicago.

The Nuggets are managed and coached by Larry Allen who has been with the team from the beginning. Larry a former Grandview College player has also played and coached the former Newton Nighthawks football team.

Allen has been instrumental in much of the teams success, instilling in them a desire to win and motivating them on to success. Allen, who is from Louisville Kentucky, is employed by Job Services of Iowa as a Community Organizer, working with community agencies, all the high schools, community centers. He is liason between Job Service of Iowa and the black community. Besides coaching, Mr. Allen is also instrumental in helping black high school students to find employment following graduation. Mr. Allen stated that part of his job is to advise the students how to present themselves; how to carry themselves; how to dress; and to try to get them into as many training programs as possible so they can and will apply themselves with the proper knowledge, skills and attitude.

Taking ten stars from ten different teams and putting them together to make one winning team is not an easy task but one than has been accomplished through the skillful coaching of one Larry Allen.

The Nuggets are this year's City Champs! Hats off to the Nuggets and their coach Mr. Larry Allen! Des Moines is proud to have a team of this magnitude to call their own. Best of luck to the Nuggets in their Regional playoffs.

ORDINANCE NO. 9712

AN ORDINANCE to amend the Municipal Code of Des Moines 1979, adopted by Ordinance No. 9616, passed July 23, 1979, by repealing Sections 13-81, 13-88 and 13-91 thereof and enacting new Sections 13-81, 13-88 and 13-91, and by repealing Sections 13-82 to 13-87, both inclusive, and Section 13-95 thereof, relating to rat and pest control.

Be It Ordained by the City Council of the City of Des Moines, Iowa:

Section 1. That the Municipal Code of Des Moines 1979, adopted by Ordinance No. 9616, passed July 23, 1979, be and is hereby amended by repealing sections 13-81, 13-88 and 13-91 thereof and enacting new Sections 13-81, 13-88 and 13-91, relating to rat and pest control, as follows:

Sec. 13-81. STATE LICENSE.

No person shall engage in the business of pest control, extermination, or fumigation, nor shall any person use in any building or other enclosed space a fumigant or a liquid, solid or powdered insecticide or rodenticide for the destruction or control of insects, vermin, rodents or other pests within the city without first obtaining a current commercial pesticide applicator's license issued by the Iowa state department of agriculture.

Sec. 13-88. NOTICE OF COMMENCEMENT AND COMPLETION OF WORK.

The holder of a commercial pesticide applicator's license shall, prior to the commencement of fumigation, notify the police, fire and building departments of the date and hour when fumigation is to commence. No fumigation shall be performed unless notice has been given. Upon completion of fumigation, the above-named departments shall be so notified.

Sec. 13-91. WARNING SIGNS.

Warning signs shall be posted at all entrances of buildings being fumigated, or in which pests are being exterminated. The signs shall be not less in size than 10 by 12 inches, printed red or contrasting colors, and display the skull and crossbones, the words "Danger" and "Poison Gas" in two-inch block type, the type of fumigant and the address and telephone number of the holder of the commercial pesticide applicator's license.

Sec. 2. That said Code be further amended by repealing Sections 13-82 to 13-87, both inclusive, and Section 13-95, relating to pest control licenses.

Sec. 3. This ordinance shall be in full force and effect from and after April 1, 1980, and upon passage and publication as provided by law.

Form approved.

ORDINANCE NO. 9715
AN ORDINANCE to amend the Municipal Code of Des Moines 1979, adopted by Ordinance No. 9616, passed July 23, 1979, be repealing subsection (e) of Section 16-144 thereof and enacting a new subsection (e) of Section 16-144, relating to the regulation of sound amplifying equipment.

Be It Ordained by the City Council of the City of Des Moines, Iowa.

Section 1. That the Municipal Code of Des Moines 1979, adopted by Ordinance No. 9616, passed July 23, 1979, be and is hereby amended by repealing subsection (e) of Section 16-144 thereof and enacting a new subsection (e) of Section 16-144 relating to the regulation of sound amplifying equipment, as follows:

Sec. 16-144. REGULATION OF SOUND EQUIPMENT AND SOUND AMPLIFYING EQUIPMENT.
(e) Application standards.
(1) Type A permit — general standards. A type A permit may be issued for sound equipment emitting music or human speech registering not more than 60 dB (A)'s when measured at the real property boundary of the private residence nearest the sound equipment and measuring not more than 100 dB (A)'s at a distance of 50 feet from the sound equipment. Sound equipment permitted under a type A permit may be used only in areas of the city zoned for nonresidential use and only between the hours of 9:00 A.M. and 2:00 A.M.
(2) Type B permit — sound trucks — general standards. Sound trucks may be operated only under a type B permit. A type B permit may be issued for sound equipment mounted upon a motor vehicle and intended for use upon city streets provided that the sound equipment emits only music or human speech registering not more than 80 dB (A)'s when measured at a distance of 100 feet from the sound equipment. Sound equipment permitted under a type B permit may be used only in non-residential areas from 9:00 a.m. to 9:00 P.M.
(3) Type C permit — parks — general standards. A type C permit may be used for sound equipment emitting music or human speech registering not more than 60 dB (A)'s when measured at the real property boundary of the private residence nearest the sound equipment and registering not more than 100 dB(A)'s when measured at a distance of 50 feet from the sound equipment. Sound equipment permitted under a type C permit may be used only in public parks owned and operated by the city, or public grounds owned and operated by another governmental body, from 10:00 A.M. to 11:00 P.M. for events authorized and approved by the park and recreation board or other body having jurisdiction over the park or public grounds.
(4) Type D permit — school grounds — general standards. A type D permit may be issued for sound equipment emitting music or human speech registering not more than 60 dB(A)'s when measured at the real property boundary of the private residence nearest the sound equipment and registering not more than 100 dB(A)'s when measured at a distance of 50 feet from the sound equipment. Sound equipment permitted under a Type D permit may be used only on school grounds, or in conjunction with a school sponsored activity, from 10:00 A.M. to 11:00 P.M. for events authorized and approved by the school authorities having jurisdiction of the grounds.
Sec. 2. This ordinance shall be in full force and effect from and after its passage and publication as provided by law.

motivating force in Girl Scouting is a spiritual one.

The Girl Scout program is built on a foundation of proven values, is designed to help a girl make intelligent choices for herself, her career, her future, and brings to each girl an awareness of her own personal worth and a chance to grow as an individual.

Girl Scouts in Moingona Council, headquartered in Des Moines and serving 12,000 girls and 3,000 adults in a 26 county area, has developed an awareness program called "Reach for a Rainbow" designed to help the girls understand and appreciate the similarities and differences of the ethnics of color.

If the rainbow had but one color, how uninteresting it would be. But in the rainbow are all colors, together they make this wondrous arc. With the rainbow in mind, Girl Scouts endeavor to become conscious of the problems and contributions of all of the colors that make up our country.

Girl Scouts become aware of what they can give of themselves and what they can gain from understanding all groups of people. The ethnics of color in our society do not always stand on level ground, but instead in history's hollow. Girl Scouts try to even the ground and prepare all young women for equalitarian roles in society.

NATURAL GAS BILL SAVINGS

A savings on natural gas bills in March will be realized by many Iowa Power customers, according to Dallas Hamerlinck, Assistant Vice President - Communications.

An estimated $1,890,000 will be refunded this month by a onetime reduction of 5.03 cents per Ccf for residential customers. For the average residential customer using about 200 Ccf of natural gas this will mean a reduction of about $10 on the Purchased Gas Adjustment (PGA).

ALLEN ASHBY with a LOOK ON SPORTS

By the time you read this the NCAA basketball meet will be down to four teams. And it is anybody's guess as to which four. I have argued all season that there was no one dominant team in the country. If the strong independents had to play in a conference, they might not have such fine records.

Two of the best went down over the past weekend. Unless you were in a hole and had pulled it in after you, you had to know that both Notre Dame and DePaul, were beaten in cliffhangers. UCLA, the team that many thought should not be in the meet, knocked off DePaul when you read this will be getting ready to face Ohio State. Ought to be some game. Missouri had to go two overtimes to beat Notre Dame, and so it went.

You must have been abreast of the doings of the Iowa team, and they will be on the line come press time. Any team in the lineup has a chance to take it all. For the first time in a long time there is no clear cut favorite.

Many experts pick Kentucky because they are so physical (rough) and can afford to lose so many men through fouls. Writers say they can trade fouls with a team and come out on top. That seemed to be Notre Dame's battle plan, but it backfired.

If I had to pick, I would choose Kentucky and the winner of the Indiana - Purdue game to be in the final game. Now, we will see what happens.

Grambling and Alcorn let folks know they were in the meets. They each won a game before bowing out, Alcorn with a 26-2 mark. Not bad. But for years we have contended that these black schools could play basketball with anybody in the country. In the days when blacks couldn't play in very many conferences, several black cagers went south to play the game, so the black schools got some fine players from Ohio, Indiana, Illinois and the eastern states.

Those that stayed in the northern schools had to settle for intramural ball, so they usually won the intramural championship because they had fellows capable of playing varsity basketball. But that is changed now, and it isn't a bit unusual to see two teams with a total of eight out of ten players on the floor black.

I have to think that pressure makes the coaches sometimes come up with a good white player so the alumni and the town people won't feel too bad.

Black schools couldn't play with the major schools in football. Too many one hundred forty or fifty pound backs and linemen. The guys were good, but just too small. But not now. Yes, black school athletic programs have come a long way.

And what conference do you think has the most teams in the two big meets at this writing? The Big Ten. Now, do you believe them when they claim to have the toughest cage conference in the country?

Iowa may have had problems in football, but they are tough in wrestling and basketball. And Iowa State is right behind Iowa in the mat game, and they have a fellow in gymnastics that helps them be in the top three in the sport. Young Gallimore won three individual titles in the Big Eight meet, so you just know he has to be good.

But you have to know that the big news is that Muhammad Ali wants to try another comeback. People interested in his welfare ought to tie him up and put him in a cellar until that foolish urge passes. At thirty eight and after a long layoff, the guy will have one hell of a time getting back in any sort of condition.

As one veteran fighter put it, you can see the punches coming and can't do anything about it until they land. And if one should land upside Ali's head, it might scramble his brains enough to make him a pitiful figure, and I don't believe that even people who don't like him want to see that happen.

The high schools? They will be in full swing when this comes out. And the daily papers will be full of how it happened.

The Davis Cup results in Argentina prove that the top twenty tennis players in the world are too evenly matched to try to call one over another. That big mug will be passed around like a football.

City Hall to apply for summer employment, only to be told that there were already enough applications taken, and no more were needed.

Another demand was for the public meeting with the City Council, the coalition, and other interested parties.

In responding to Martin's remarks, Crivaro said he felt "the city has been trying to work things out," and that many of the coalition's concerns are being looked at, in a proposed new Affirmative Action plan. He said that he and City Manager Richard Wilkey have both met privately with Herman Wadsworth of the NAACP, concerning the city's employment policies.

Robert Willis, ACORN member, and a city employee for twenty-four years, has spoken out, in various forums recently, in opposition to the city's hiring system. He said he has seen the city's new Affirmative Action plan and that it is basically no different than the old one, except for having "more words in it."

Willis stated that in his opinion the city's policy is "totally ineffective." As an example, he said that the new policy calls for evaluating department heads on affirmative action guidelines, without setting up any standards or a reporting system for such evaluations.

Willis acknowledged that the city's proposed new plan does call for media advertising of job openings and states that preference will be shown for "protected classes," such as women and minority groups.

However, said Willis, there is a "Catch 22" in the new policy. According to him, the "buddy system" is not actually being eliminated for labor positions and for jobs requiring minimal qualifications in education and training.

Willis explained that in those types of jobs, promotional appointments are given to people already permanently employed by the city. In order to become a permanent employee, a person must first be a temporary city employee. And since the city does not actively recruit for temporary or seasonal jobs, the possibilities of employment are "almost totally eliminated for women and minorities."

According to Willis, the only job openings that are advertised by the city are for entrance Civil Service positions, most of which are technical or require a certain amount of education or training.

There are 24 other census districts in which the remaining population lives. These districts are outside the large cities and their suburbs. Here mail carriers will distribute unaddressed questionnaires at each residential mail box. Household heads will be asked to fill them out but hold them for census takers who will begin picking them up March 31.

However, all districts are alike in one respect in that some households will fall into a sample and be asked to provide more information about each person and about the housing. In places of 2500 population or more, one-in-six households will be in the sample. In areas with populations of less than 2500, one in every two households will fall into the sample. This large sample in less populated areas is necessary in order to provide statistically adequate data for use as the basis for Federal revenue sharing program allocations. Households not in the sample will receive the "short" form which has seven population questions about each person in the household and 12 housing questions about the dwelling.

The Census Bureau says that having the questionnaire in the home over the weekend before it is to be mailed back on April 1 enables the family to fill it out when all members are likely to be present and can provide accurate information about themselves and the housing.

Members of the Complete Count

Committee and the group they represent are:

colors.

I hate nothing but injustice. If you are indeed of liberal conscience and idealist in nature then surely you realize that Blacks as a community and as a people have been shortchanged and that we as a community and as a people must move as a conscious unit to change that situation.

That is why we must color colorless words like progress and speak in terms of Black progress.

I sure didn't mean to space out like that. I ain't got too much room to talk about Jimmy boy. Perhaps it better that I don't. I'm so angry at that red-necked, southern, plantation mentality peckerwood, (sorry Mrs. Fitzsimmons and all good white folks) that I'd probably say something that would get me in big trouble!

Did y'all here about the proposed budget cuts to balance the budget? Why its ridiculous. The vast majority of it would be from social programs.

Jobs, senior citizens drug abuse centers and the like would all suffer. Yet not one thin dime would be cut from the military! Ya know sumthin' else? Most of the cuts occur in departments that headed by Niggahs! CETA is headed by a Niggah and they would get cut $800 million dollars.

H.E.W. is headed by a Niggah and they would also be cut hundreds of millions dollars. The S.B.A. is headed by a Niggah and they'd be cut. And these Niggers runnin round heah whoppin fo Carta. Sayin things like look at all the Knee-gros he's put in high positions. He put'em there so they'd be his hatchet men and implement the budget cuts.

When we raise hell we'd be confronted by a house Knee-gro. Just like the masta's on the plantation used to have their Black slave drivers beat the impudent slaves. Carta's got a slavemaster mentality. Personally I rather be beat by a cracker than a fellow Niggah. I'd rather have my paycheck taken by a white man instead of a Brotha.

I'm gonna close now. I'll probably write more on this next week. I just wantcha to know that I'm THE ANGRIEST BLACK MAN IN AMERICA TODAY!!!

THOUGHTS AND COMMENTS

equal business and housing opportunities for the nonwhite population of those areas.

Further, when an insurance company utilizes the financial investment resources available to it to invest in a suburban shopping center rather than an inner-city housing development, that decision has ramifications upon the regeneration or deterioration of metropolitan neighborhoods which have a definite and measurable effect upon all of society, rather than simply the profit margin of the company in question.

It may be debatable whether or not the net effect of discriminatory practices of the insurance industry are positive or negative in practical application, but it is certain that the industry itself does directly affect societal conditions, rather than just respond to that which independent social forces have created.

It would seem obvious to me that the lives and livelihood of urban dwellers, especially as regards opportunities available to minorities, are, to a large extent, a function of decisions made or actions taken (or not as the case may be) by one of the most powerful institutions in the social and economic structure of the country.

It would seem then that insurance redlining is a very real problem that better education of and communication with the consumer has no hope of alleviating or eliminating. It would also seem obvious that because redlining is by nature a social phenomenon, there is little that random and essentially disorganized individuals can do to alter it.

Progressive action by public officials on all levels of government, the insurers themselves and community organizations is the only answer. Next week I will examine the sorts of actions which will eliminate the problems and make recommendations for the future.
